I have just finished making a braided rug—this week with five strands and it is quite pretty.

I have started another one with seven strands.

Red Rose: I see you are making rugs, too. You want to try one with seven strands some day. You twist the rags the same as with five strands.

It has been very stormy this winter up this way and it keeps me in the house pretty well. I only get out Saturdays and Sundays. I am the mother of four children so you see I have enough to do to keep me busy.

I will now close with best wishes from

ROSY POST (Jan. 12.)

EASY TO PUT OFF OUR DUTY.

Dear Social Corner Sisters: How negligent I have been in not doing my bit for the Corner by writing but I have been so busy and how easy it is to put off calling on the shut-ins when just a little chat means so much to the ones who would be with us if they could. I have missed going to the gatherings.

What a long winter we have had, and in the early fall I read in the paper we were going to have an open winter. Will someone please tell me what the definition of a closed winter is? I have never heard Mr. Bonis find fault with the weather but I think he will be more than pleased this year to see the bluebirds and robins as he has been confined to the house with a bad cold almost all winter.

Hoping the sick are all well.

I'm sending a poem, The Song of the Unsuccessful, with this letter. It is one that Charles Gardner spoke about when he was here attending Pomona Grange.

ROVER.

PREVENTING MILK IN OYSTER STEW FROM CURDLING.

Dear Editor and Sisters of the Social Corner: I would like to become a member of the Corner if there is room for one more. Will send a recipe so [illegible]

Do any of the sisters [illegible]

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Day's total sales, 906,600 shares.

20 industrials averaged 104.43, net loss .22 high 1923 106.23; low 96.96.

20 railroads averaged 89.19 net loss .17; high 1923, 90.63; low 84.85.

Market Was Irregular

New York, March 9.—Irregular and general indecisive price movements characterized trading in today's stock market, sales failing below the million share mark for the first full session in the last 10 days. Public participation in the market was reported as negligible.

Marking up of the call money rate to 5 1-2 per cent. after an opening rate of 4 3-4, accelerated the usual week-end profit taking and also encouraged considerable selling for the short account. The reaction also was attributed in some quarters to distribution by people because of apprehension over the possibility of an early increase in the local federal reserve rediscount rate, despite the fact that the reserve ratio is the highest since last November and the rediscounts the lowest in two months.

American Locomotive was conspicuously strong, rising 3 points to 135 1-2, a new high record. Baldwin closed 1-4 higher at 140 1-2 after touching 141 3-4 at the other shares in that group were unable to hold their earlier gains.

Fresh buying power also made its appearance in the oils, Conden rising 1 3-8 to 67 1-4, its est price of the year. California petroleum also infused in a brief period of strength, touching 26 1-2 but falling back later to 27 7-8, un 7-8. Revival of speculative interest in the sugar shares resulted in Manati jumping to 67 and closing 3 points higher at 65 1-2.

Stromberg Carburetor featured the specialty list with a gain of 3 3-8 points bt with the exception of Hupp Motors un 1, all the popular automobile stocks lost ground, Hudson dropping 1 1-2, Pierce Arrow preferred, 1 1-4 and the prior preferred, 2 1-4. Other conspicuous strong spots were the Market street railway issues, Otis steel preferred, Otis elevator, General Cigar and Associated dry goods, all up to nearly 3 1-2 points.

Rails move irregularly, within narrow limits.

The time money market was moderately active with 5 1-4 per cent. demanded for all maturities. Only a fair amount of new commercial paper is coming into the market, Prime names commanding 4 per cent.

The increased demand for sterling bills sent the demand rate up to $4.70 1-2 but trading in the other exchanges was quiet and fluctations small.

STOCKS.

The following is a summary of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange up to 2 P. M.:

	Sales.	High.	Low.	Close
Allied Chem & D	70	78	78	78
Allis Chalmers	400	48¾	48¾	48¾
Allis Chalm pr	200	86¾	86¾	86¾
Am Ag Ch	200	34¾	33¾	33¾
Am Beet Sugar	100	44¾	43	44¾
Am each Mag	100	56¾	53¾	55
Am Can	100	102¾	102¾	102¾
Am Can pr	100	114¾	114¾	114¾
Am Car & F	100	185	185	185
Am Cot Oil	100	16¾	16¾	16¾
Am Cotton Oil pr	100	30¾	30¾	30¾
Am Hide & L	100	13	12¾	12
Am Int Corp	100	23¾	23¾	23¾
Am Tel & Tel	100	135¾	134¾	134¾
Am Tobacco	100	136¾	136¾	136¾
Am Woof	100	104¾	104¾	104¾
Anaconda	100	52¾	51	52¾
Atchison	100	103¾	103¾	103¾
Atchison pr	100	90¾	90¾	90¾
Balt & Ohio	100	44¾	43	43
Beth Steel	100	69	69	69
Beth Steel	100	70¾	69¾	69¾
Brook Rap Tr	100	7¾	6¾	6¾
Brook Rap Tr. ctf	100	8¾	8	8
But Cop & Z	100	10¾	9¾	10
But & Sup Cop	100	35¾	35	35
Canadian Pacific	100	146¾	146¾	146¾
Cent Leather	100	38¾	38¾	38¾
Cent Leather pr	100	75	75	75
Chandler Motor	100	73¾	73¾	73¾
Ches & Ohio	100	74¾	73¾	73¾
Ches & Ohio pr	100	104	103¾	104
Ch & Gt West	100	6	6	6
Ch & Gt West pr	100	14¾	14¾	14¾
C M & St P	100	35¾	35	35¾
C M & St P. pr	100	43¾	43	43
Ch & N W	100	36	35¾	35
Ch & N W pr	100	111	111	111
C R I & P	100	36¼	36¼	36¼
Chile Cop	100	29¾	28¾	29¾
Chino Cop	100	30¾	29¾	29¾
Cosden	100	62¾	60¾	62¾
Cosden pr	100	109	105¾	109
Crucible Stel	100	83¼	82	82¾
Del & Hudson	100	118¾	117	117
Dome Mines	100	41¾	41¾	41¾
Erie	100	12¾	12¾	12¾
Erie 1 pr	100	13¾	19	19
Erie 2 pr	100	14¾	14¾	14¾
Fisher Body	100	130	130	130
Fish B Ob pr	100	99	99	99
Gen Electric	100	155¾	155¾	155¾
Gen Edectric w I	100	11¾	11¾	11¾
Gen Motors	100	14¾	14¾	14¾
Gen Motors 6 p c	100	86	86¾	86
Great North Or	100	38¾	38¾	38¾
Hudson Motor	100	42	39	39
Hupp Motor	100	27¾	27	27¾
Illinois Cent	100	115¾	115¾	115¾
Inspir Cop	100	41¾	41	41
Int Harvester	100	94	90¾	92
Int Mer Mar	100	10¾	10	10
Int Mer Mar pr	100	49	49	49
Int Paper	100	64¾	64¾	64¾
Int Paper pr stp	100	73¾	73¾	73¾
Kennecott Cop	100	43¾	42¾	43¾
Keystone Tire	100	3¾	3¾	3¾
Lehigh Valley	100	65¾	64¾	65¾
Martin Rock	100	14	14	14
Maxwell Mot A	100	62	61¾	61¾
Miami C Co	100	28	28¾	28¾
M K & T pr	100	40¾	40¾	40¾
Mo Pacific	100	17¾	17¾	17¾
Mo Pac pr	100	46¾	46¾	46¾
Nat En & St	100	70	70	70
N Y Air rake	100	37	36¾	37
N Y Air Brake A	100	60¾	60¾	60¾
N Y Central	100	92¾	92¾	92¾
N Y, N H & H	100	19¾	19¾	19¾
Nor & West	100	114	113¾	113¾
North Pacific	100	79¾	79¾	79¾
Pacific Oil	100	46¾	45¾	45¾
Penn R R	100	46¾	46¾	46¾
Pierce Oil	100	4¾	4¾	4¾
Ry St Spring	100	130	129¾	129¾
Rep Con C	100	15¾	15¾	15¾
Reading	100	74¾	73¾	73¾
Replogle Steel	100	28¾	28	28¾
Rep I & Steel	100	61¾	60¾	61
Rep & St pr	100	96¾	95¾	95¾
South Pacific	100	83	83¾	83¾
South Ry	100	23¾	23¾	23
South Ry pr	100	69	68	69¾
Tenn C & C	100	13¾	13¾	13¾
Tobacco Prod	100	54¾	54¾	57¾
Tobacco Prod A	100	34	33¾	33¾
U S Rubber	100	61¾	60¾	61
U S Steel	100	108¾	107¾	107¾
West Pac	100	19	19	19
West Union Tel	100	114¾	114¾	114¾
West Air Brake	100	114¾	114	114
Wes Mfg	100	64¾	63¾	64
Willy O'land	100	7	6¾	6¾
Willys O'land pr	100	51	50¾	50¾
Worth P & M	100	38	38	38

Bond Market

New York, March 9.—Fresh buying power was again lacking and bond prices generally were lower in today's relatively quiet dealings. Bond dealers reported that the weakness was due in part to the competition for investment funds provided by the large amount of new securities offered since the first of the year. Some of the selling also was believed to be traceable to liquidation by investors who are in need of funds to meet their income tax requirements.

U. S. government bonds, with the exception of the Victory 4 3-4s, which were unchanged, lost ground, the losses ranging from four to eight cents on $100. Foreign bonds were firm, Japan 4s advancing 1 1-4 points and Belgian 8s, 1.

Railroad mortgages called to respond to publication of further favorable car loadings and earnings reports. Most of the active loans receding fractionally. Oregon & Washington 4s were down one point and Denver & Rio Grande consolidated 4s 1 3-8. New Tor, Westchester & Boston 4 1-2s advanced 1 1-2 points. Industrial liens generally were weak. Cerro de Pasco 6s dropping 2 1-4 points and General Electric 5s one point. Colorado Industrial 5s advanced one point.

Total sales (par value) were $9,432,000.

Announcement was made that the recent Duquesne Light Company issue of $15,000,000 first preferred stock, 7 per cent. cumulative class A, has been sold. The Pennsylvania railroad is said to market in connection therewith additional treasury shares to the amount of two per cent. holdings.

Metal Market

New York, March 9.—Copper quiet; Electrolytic, spot and future, 13 1-2 @ 13. Tin firm. Spot and future, 41.75@ 41.75. Iron steady; prices unchanged. Lead steady; spot 6.70 @ 6.75. Zinc steady. East St. Louis spot and nearby delivery 7.75, Antimony, spot 8.00.

Money

New York, March 9.—Call money firmer; high 5 1-2, low 4 3-4; ruling rate 5 1-2; closing bid 5 1-2; offered at 5 3-4; call loans against acceptances 4 1-4.

Cotton

New York, March 9.—Cotton—Spot quiet; middling 24.75.

Chicago Grain Market

Chicago, March 9.—Lively purchasing in which a house with eastern connections took the lead, brought about and advance in the price of wheat today notwithstanding declines earlier. The market closed firm, 3-8 to 7-8c net higher, with May $1.18 1-2 to 1.19 3-4 and July 1.16 3-8 @ 1.16 1-2. Corn gained 1-2 to 7-8c. Oats finished unchanged to 1-4c up, and provisions unchanged to 10c down.

At first, British accounts of the government report on farm reserves of wheat tended to make the wheat value fall, and so too did gossip implying betterment of the crop outlook for domestic winter wheat. The fact that stocks in this country were continuing to accumulate and that for at least the time export demand was almost all at the lowest premiums this season had a further bearish influence. After values had fallen something more than 1 cent the May delivery, however, a brisk upturn began.

SOCIAL CORNER

(Continued from Page Nine)

fore you put in the milk, and you will have no more trouble. I am Rural Aunty is a rug maker. I am interested in rugs, particularly braided ones. If this escapes the waste basket I may call again. Will take for my pennname

ELECTA. (Jan. 14.)

ANOTHER CORNER MEMBER.

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: The Social Corner page is very interesting to me, and I should very much like to join you. I am very tiny, so won't take up much room, also talk but little (?) so won't make much noise.

I am interested in crochet work and usually have two or three kinds ready to work on. If I am very tired I pick up a simple narrow pattern but if I am feeling pretty good I take a wider, more complicated pattern. In that way I get quite a bit done. I also piece the old-fashioned bedquilts and enjoy it.

What nice times you must have at your gatherings.

Best wishes to all.

PEGGY ALDER.

SOMETHING OF LIFE ON THE PRAIRIE.

Dear Editor and Sisters: May I join your circle? I have often read the interesting letters and have wondered if I could write one that would

NOTICE

THE [illegible] CO.

[illegible] Wednesday, March 7th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 14th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 21st, [illegible] Wednesday, March 28th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 4th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 11th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 18th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 25th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, May 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, May 30th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 6th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 13th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 20th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 27th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 4th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 11th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 18th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 25th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 1st, [illegible] Wednesday, August 8th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 15th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 22nd, [illegible] Wednesday, August 29th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 5th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 12th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 19th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 26th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 3rd, [illegible] Wednesday, October 10th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 17th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 24th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 31st, [illegible] Wednesday, November 7th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 14th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 21st, [illegible] Wednesday, November 28th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 5th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 12th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 19th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 26th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, January 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, January 30th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 6th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 13th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 20th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 27th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 6th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 13th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 20th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 27th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 3rd, [illegible] Wednesday, April 10th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 17th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 24th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 1st, [illegible] Wednesday, May 8th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 15th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 22nd, [illegible] Wednesday, May 29th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 5th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 12th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 19th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 26th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 3rd, [illegible] Wednesday, July 10th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 17th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 24th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 31st, [illegible] Wednesday, August 7th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 14th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 21st, [illegible] Wednesday, August 28th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 4th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 11th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 18th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 25th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, October 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, October 30th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 6th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 13th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 20th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 27th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 4th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 11th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 18th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 25th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 1st, [illegible] Wednesday, January 8th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 15th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 22nd, [illegible] Wednesday, January 29th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 5th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 12th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 19th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 26th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 5th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 12th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 19th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 26th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, April 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, April 30th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 7th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 14th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 21st, [illegible] Wednesday, May 28th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 4th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 11th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 18th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 25th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, July 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, July 30th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 6th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 13th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 20th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 27th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 3rd, [illegible] Wednesday, September 10th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 17th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 24th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 1st, [illegible] Wednesday, October 8th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 15th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 22nd, [illegible] Wednesday, October 29th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 5th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 12th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 19th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 26th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 3rd, [illegible] Wednesday, December 10th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 17th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 24th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 31st, [illegible] Wednesday, January 7th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 14th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 21st, [illegible] Wednesday, January 28th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 4th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 11th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 18th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 25th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 4th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 11th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 18th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 25th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 1st, [illegible] Wednesday, April 8th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 15th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 22nd, [illegible] Wednesday, April 29th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 6th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 13th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 20th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 27th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 3rd, [illegible] Wednesday, June 10th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 17th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 24th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 1st, [illegible] Wednesday, July 8th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 15th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 22nd, [illegible] Wednesday, July 29th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 5th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 12th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 19th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 26th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, September 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, September 30th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 7th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 14th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 21st, [illegible] Wednesday, October 28th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 4th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 11th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 18th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 25th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, December 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, December 30th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 6th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 13th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 20th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 27th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 3rd, [illegible] Wednesday, February 10th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 17th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 24th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 3rd, [illegible] Wednesday, March 10th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 17th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 24th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 31st, [illegible] Wednesday, April 7th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 14th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 21st, [illegible] Wednesday, April 28th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 5th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 12th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 19th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 26th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, June 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, June 30th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 7th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 14th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 21st, [illegible] Wednesday, July 28th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 4th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 11th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 18th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 25th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 1st, [illegible] Wednesday, September 8th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 15th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 22nd, [illegible] Wednesday, September 29th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 6th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 13th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 20th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 27th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 3rd, [illegible] Wednesday, November 10th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 17th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 24th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 1st, [illegible] Wednesday, December 8th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 15th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 22nd, [illegible] Wednesday, December 29th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 5th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 12th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 19th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 26th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, February 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, March 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, March 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, March 30th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 6th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 13th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 20th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 27th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 4th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 11th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 18th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 25th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 1st, [illegible] Wednesday, June 8th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 15th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 22nd, [illegible] Wednesday, June 29th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 6th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 13th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 20th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 27th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 3rd, [illegible] Wednesday, August 10th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 17th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 24th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 31st, [illegible] Wednesday, September 7th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 14th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 21st, [illegible] Wednesday, September 28th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 5th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 12th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 19th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 26th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, November 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, November 30th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 7th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 14th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 21st, [illegible] Wednesday, December 28th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 4th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 11th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 18th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 25th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 1st, [illegible] Wednesday, February 8th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 15th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 22nd, [illegible] Wednesday, March 1st, [illegible] Wednesday, March 8th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 15th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 22nd, [illegible] Wednesday, March 29th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 5th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 12th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 19th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 26th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 3rd, [illegible] Wednesday, May 10th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 17th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 24th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 31st, [illegible] Wednesday, June 7th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 14th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 21st, [illegible] Wednesday, June 28th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 5th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 12th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 19th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 26th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, August 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, August 30th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 6th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 13th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 20th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 27th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 4th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 11th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 18th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 25th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 1st, [illegible] Wednesday, November 8th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 15th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 22nd, [illegible] Wednesday, November 29th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 6th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 13th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 20th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 27th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 3rd, [illegible] Wednesday, January 10th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 17th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 24th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 31st, [illegible] Wednesday, February 7th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 14th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 21st, [illegible] Wednesday, February 28th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 7th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 14th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 21st, [illegible] Wednesday, March 28th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 4th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 11th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 18th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 25th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, May 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, May 30th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 6th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 13th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 20th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 27th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 4th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 11th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 18th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 25th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 1st, [illegible] Wednesday, August 8th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 15th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 22nd, [illegible] Wednesday, August 29th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 5th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 12th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 19th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 26th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 3rd, [illegible] Wednesday, October 10th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 17th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 24th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 31st, [illegible] Wednesday, November 7th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 14th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 21st, [illegible] Wednesday, November 28th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 5th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 12th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 19th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 26th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, January 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, January 30th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 6th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 13th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 20th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 27th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 6th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 13th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 20th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 27th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 3rd, [illegible] Wednesday, April 10th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 17th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 24th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 1st, [illegible] Wednesday, May 8th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 15th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 22nd, [illegible] Wednesday, May 29th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 5th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 12th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 19th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 26th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 3rd, [illegible] Wednesday, July 10th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 17th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 24th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 31st, [illegible] Wednesday, August 7th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 14th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 21st, [illegible] Wednesday, August 28th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 4th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 11th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 18th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 25th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, October 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, October 30th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 6th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 13th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 20th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 27th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 4th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 11th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 18th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 25th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 1st, [illegible] Wednesday, January 8th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 15th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 22nd, [illegible] Wednesday, January 29th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 5th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 12th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 19th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 26th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 5th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 12th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 19th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 26th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, April 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, April 30th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 7th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 14th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 21st, [illegible] Wednesday, May 28th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 4th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 11th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 18th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 25th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, July 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, July 30th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 6th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 13th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 20th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 27th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 3rd, [illegible] Wednesday, September 10th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 17th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 24th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 1st, [illegible] Wednesday, October 8th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 15th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 22nd, [illegible] Wednesday, October 29th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 5th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 12th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 19th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 26th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 3rd, [illegible] Wednesday, December 10th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 17th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 24th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 31st, [illegible] Wednesday, January 7th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 14th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 21st, [illegible] Wednesday, January 28th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 4th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 11th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 18th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 25th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 4th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 11th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 18th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 25th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 1st, [illegible] Wednesday, April 8th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 15th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 22nd, [illegible] Wednesday, April 29th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 6th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 13th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 20th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 27th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 3rd, [illegible] Wednesday, June 10th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 17th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 24th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 1st, [illegible] Wednesday, July 8th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 15th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 22nd, [illegible] Wednesday, July 29th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 5th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 12th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 19th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 26th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, September 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, September 30th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 7th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 14th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 21st, [illegible] Wednesday, October 28th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 4th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 11th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 18th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 25th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, December 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, December 30th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 6th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 13th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 20th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 27th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 3rd, [illegible] Wednesday, February 10th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 17th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 24th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 3rd, [illegible] Wednesday, March 10th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 17th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 24th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 31st, [illegible] Wednesday, April 7th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 14th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 21st, [illegible] Wednesday, April 28th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 5th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 12th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 19th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 26th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, June 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, June 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, June 30th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 7th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 14th, [illegible] Wednesday, July 21st, [illegible] Wednesday, July 28th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 4th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 11th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 18th, [illegible] Wednesday, August 25th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 1st, [illegible] Wednesday, September 8th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 15th, [illegible] Wednesday, September 22nd, [illegible] Wednesday, September 29th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 6th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 13th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 20th, [illegible] Wednesday, October 27th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 3rd, [illegible] Wednesday, November 10th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 17th, [illegible] Wednesday, November 24th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 1st, [illegible] Wednesday, December 8th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 15th, [illegible] Wednesday, December 22nd, [illegible] Wednesday, December 29th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 5th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 12th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 19th, [illegible] Wednesday, January 26th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, February 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, February 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, March 2nd, [illegible] Wednesday, March 9th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 16th, [illegible] Wednesday, March 23rd, [illegible] Wednesday, March 30th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 6th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 13th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 20th, [illegible] Wednesday, April 27th, [illegible] Wednesday, May 4th, [

A Bulletin For Sale Advertisement Will Sell It

BORN.

HIXON—In New Haven, March 5, 1923, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. James A. Hixon (Elizabeth Fitzgerald, formerly of Norwich).

FUNERAL NOTICES

NELSON—In Norwich, suddenly, March 7, 1923, Chloe J. Tyler Nelson, wife of Sterling Nelson, aged 67 years. Funeral service at the parlors of Church & Allen, 15 Main street, Sunday, March 11, at 2 p. m. Burial in Yantic cemetery.

Church & Allen
15 MAIN STREET
FUNERAL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS
Lady Assistant
HENRY E. CHURCH
WM. SMITH ALLEN
Telephone 328-2

CUMMINGS & RING
Funeral Directors and Embalmers
321 Main Street
Phone 328-3 Lady Assistant

GAGER
FUNERAL DIRECTOR AND EMBALMER
PROMPT SERVICE—DAY OR NIGHT

The Henry Allen & Son Co.
38 MAIN STREET
Funeral Directors and Embalmers
Lady Assistant Telephone 616-2
DAVID H. WILSON

Shea & Burke
Funeral Directors
41 Main Street

HOURIGAN BROS.
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
Norwich and Jewett City

FLORISTS

WHEN flowering shrubs, plants and vines Madewood Nursery Co Tel. 2003. Free delivery. apr5d

POULTRY

FOR SALE—Thoroughbred R. I. cockerels. Leaure Mayflower Poultry Farm, 51 Town St., Norwich Town. feb19d

FOR SALE—Hatching eggs from stock of White Leghorns that averaged 240 eggs per season, and won first prize at Storrs this Tel. 837-13. Walter G. marl0d

FOR SALE — Wyandotte eggs for hatching; Oval Knight strain. Mrs. Harry Hall, R. D. 4, Norwich. Tel. 39-12 Jewett City Div. mar10d

FOR SALE or exchange for poultry; 200-egg Cyphers incubator, also two 500-egg incubators. C. M. Beebe, Norwich Town. Phone 1142-2. mar10d

FOR SALE—Eggs for hatching; White Wyandottes, Martin's strain direct; Mammoth Pekin ducks. Flint Brooding, Plain Hill. mar10d

FOR SALE—Oven farm's R. I. Red and Single Barred Rock breeding cockerels; fine quality; price reasonable. Bryan L. Fuller, Baldwin Corner, East Great Plain. mar10d

FOR SALE—Barred Rock cockerels. Jabez Potter, Griswold, Conn. mar10d

FOR SALE—Hatching eggs from carefully mated, heavy laying Silver Cup Strain White Wyandottes; pens headed by cockerels direct from Martin, Boston, Mass. Also a few choice cockerels for sale. Mrs. Frank Bliss, Norwich Town, Conn. mar10d

FOR SALE—Marie Colony brooders; there are no substitutes; top and bottom automatic draft control is patented; great fuel features; chicks thrive better; get catalog free from agents; discount prizes. C. C. Sperry Co., Danielson, Conn. apr6d

BABY CHICKS; free feed; popular breeds; prepaid guaranteed delivery; send for catalog. Hay Clark, R. Hartford, Ct. 3m6d

HALE BROTHERS' baby chicks White Leghorns, Rhode Island Reds, Barred and White Rocks; heavy laying strains; attractive postpaid; catalogue. A. B. Hale, Glastonbury, Conn. dec29d

LOST AND FOUND

LOST—Black setter dog; tag No. 2119. Steve Shea, 161 Central Ave. mar10d

FOUND—I have in my possession tan and white shepherd dog. If owner does not call by Mar. 15, same will be disposed of according to law. A. J. Lilla. Phone 13-4 Lebanon. mar10d

LOST—In Broad Theatre, Monday night, lady's handbag containing money, papers etc. Finder leave at this office and receive reward. mar10d

LOST—Tuesday, between Norwich, Greeneville and Goodyear, black tool box containing hand and phonograph parts. Finder return to Schwartz Bros. mar8d

FOUND—At Elmville, 3925 tire on rim. Owner claim and pay charges. William H. Stone, Killingly, Conn., R. D. 3. Tel. Danielson 207-13. mar8d

BEAUTY PARLOR

HAVE your superfluous hairs, warts and moles removed by New York experts at The Boston Store Tuesday and Wednesday coming only. mar10d

YOUTH RENEWED

Quickly restored through our Permanent Oil Wave, Bobbed Hair in Ringlets or Deep Marcel Wave. Guaranteed six months.

MME. LACHENBACH'S,
3 Washington Square.

TRUCKING

SPECIAL NOTICE — Moving and teaming, trucks for hire. 22 Cliff St. or Conn. Tel. 617-12. jn6d

ARTHUR H. LATHROP
Auto Trucking and Teaming Furniture and Piano Moving.
28 Shetucket St.

C. H. JOSLIN, 293 West Main St. Wagon, everything anything. Special attention given to moving cellars and machinery. Tel. 1353-2. nov24d

Long Distance Moving and Expressing. Stackhouse, 17 Boswell Ave. Tel. 1341.

TRAINING and moving, long distance moving a specialty. Chas. L. Ford, 313 Main St. Phone 794.

C. H. DOOLITTLE & SON,
Phone 424.
Long Distance Moving.

A Bulletin Want Advertisement Will Get It

WANTED—Female

WANTED—Young woman with seven years' experience in furniture business desires position; understands all kinds of insurance, and has had experience selling. Address Box 307, Bulletin. mar10d

WANTED—Experienced stenographer in local office; good permanent position for capable, conscientious worker. Address Box 1010, Bulletin. mar10d

WANTED—Position as housekeeper for small family or companion to elderly woman, by middle aged Protestant woman; best of references. Write Box 134, Bulletin. mar10d

TYPISTS—Hours $26-$36 weekly, spare time, copying authors' manuscripts. Write R. J. Carlton, Authors' Agent, Tallassee, Ga., for particulars. mar10d

WANTED—Women to do fancy work at home, spare hours; material furnished; good PAY; stamped envelope brings particulars. Underwood Art Goods Co., Portsmouth, Ohio. mar10d

WANTED—A girl after school hours to care for child and assist with housework. Inquire at 285 West Main St. mar10d

WANTED—Local concern desires experienced bookkeeper; permanent employment, with good salary for accurate young woman. Address Box 302, Bulletin mar10d

WANTED—Housekeeper, family of three Americans. Address P. O. Box 168, Sterling, Conn. mar10d

WANTED—A cook for The Tea Room, 65 Broadway. mar8d

WANTED — Middle aged American woman for general housework; reference required. Address Box 312 Norwich. mar7d

WANTED—American woman who understands housekeeping thoroughly would like a position as housekeeper; references given. Address M. V., 250 Main St., or Phone 732 Willimantic, Conn. mar6d

WANTED—Male

SALESMEN—What of 1923? As a division salesmanager each four men you break in selling roofing cement, paint, auto truck and tractor oil nets you over $100 per week; choice of territory. The American Oil & Paint Co., Cleveland, O. mar10d

WANTED—Distributors; quickly develop own independent business handling Scotmints yeast candy; new Ford automobile free; exclusive territory. Scotmints Co., 64 Scotmints Bldg., Jersey City, N. J. mar10d

WANTED—Men needed for U. S. mail service; $114 to $180; experience or correspondence unnecessary. Write E. S. Bishop, Drawer 570, Joplin, Mo. mar10d

SALESMEN—Sell "Perry" dependable fruit trees and shrubbery; steady work; complete co-operation; commission paid weekly; write for terms Perry Nursery Co., Brighton, N. Y. mar10d

AGENTS—$5 to $15 daily easy; new wide seam hosiery; agents raising money; you take orders, we deliver and collect; your pay daily; samples free to workers. Mac-O-Chee Mills Co., Suite 4321, Cincinnati, Ohio. mar6d

SALESMEN — Manufacturer wants commission salesmen to sell hardware and implement dealers, threshers, roofers and others canvassing in rural territory; good proposition and commission on repeat orders. Address President, 20 N. LaSalle St., R-706, Chicago. mar10d

WANTED—Partner with capital to invest in development of real estate; fine location; low commission in demand; references exchanged. Address Box 4, Central Village, Conn. mar10d

WANTED—Man to sell trees, shrubs, roses; full or spare time; commission weekly. Brown Bros' Nurseries, Rochester, N. Y. mar10d

WANTED—Firemen, brakemen; beginners $150-$250 (which position?). Railway, Bulletin. mar8W

GET U. S. government jobs; railway mail clerks, city carriers; $1,400-$2,300 year; steady; common education; list positions free; write immediately. Franklin Institute, Dept. 31-W, Rochester, N. Y. mar3d

WANTED—Married man with small family for dairy farm. N. E. Whiting, 50 Main St., Norwich. mar9d

LOCAL representative wanted for Lightning Electric Cyanite, battery cannot freeze, corrosion and sulphation eliminated, lengthens life of battery. Lewis F. Bailey, Distributor, Box 201, Groton, Conn. mar8d

WANTED—Wooden weavers. Knowles loom; second hand for card room; fulling mill and napper operators; male spinners; finished percher; steady employment; no labor trouble. The Mianus Woolen Co., Cos Cob, Conn. mar7d

WANTED—A job on farm or in hotel. Alex Malasch, Baltic, Conn., R. D. 271. mar5d

WANTED—Man on dairy farm. W. F. Clark, Lebanon. Tel. 18-4. mar3d

WANTED

A FEW GOOD RELIABLE LABORERS FOR STEADY INSIDE WORK

PHONE 1716.

WANTED

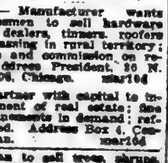
TWO MEN TO WORK IN GRAIN STORE — ALSO TWO TEAMSTERS.

Apply
YANTIC GRAIN AND PRODUCTS COMPANY
3 Cove Street

WANTED
EXPERIENCED DRIVER
FOR 2½ TON AUTO CAR.
SALARY $30.00 PER WEEK.
Continental Products Co.
865 NORTH MAIN STREET

MUSIC

ERNEST E. BULLARD
Teacher of the Violin
Phone 127-4
Blue Plains
I Have a Few Outfits to Lend.



HELEN L. PERKINS
TEACHER OF SINGING
Phone 582-6 Studio, Allen Bldg.

COAL AND WOOD

FOR SALE—Slab wood, stove length. Phone 1241-5. mar8d

FOR SALE—Best dry hard wood; lengths as cords; lowest prices. Phone 945. jan16d

COAL AND SEASONED WOOD and kindlings in any size or small quantities. Phone or call J. B. Easton, Wilson St., formerly Parker Lane. oct27

A Bulletin Want Advertisement Will Get It

WANTED—Miscellaneous

WANTED—Rags; subscribe in town and clean; 150 products, circulars among scraps, tales, articles, easier, sellers; no advance in prices; no bond required; starting right now; write W. T. Raymond Co., Cr. 219, Philadelphia, Penn. mar10d

YOUNG and pretty girl, worth $25,000, will marry (X-B), X-1912, Wichita, Kansas. mar10d

PRETTY maiden, 19, worth $20,000, will marry. Club, Box 25, Orford, Fla. mar10d

THE LEADING Matrimonial Club; best, largest, established 19 years; thousands wealthy members wish marriage; confidential description free; only honorable, sincere people of both sexes need write. The Old Reliable Club, Mrs. Wrubles, Box 10, Oakland, Calif. mar10d

MARRY—Thousands congenial people worth from $1,000 to $50,000, seeking early marriage; descriptions, photos, introductions free; sealed; either sex; send no money. Address Standard Cor. Club, Grayslake, Ill. mar10d

WANTED—The J. R. Watkins Co. will employ lady or gentleman agent in Norwich; Watkins products are known everywhere and our salespeople make big incomes; investigate this opportunity; full particulars and valuable sample mailed free to hustlers who mean business; write today. The J. R. Watkins Co., Dept. 99, 64 Washington St., North Easton, Mass. mar10d

MARRY RICH—World's leading correspondence club for lonely people; many worth to $400,000; quick results guaranteed; confidential list free. Honorable Ralph Hyde, 54, San Francisco. mar10d

AGENTS—We will pay you to distribute religious literature in your community; steady work; man or woman; experience unnecessary; act quickly. Universal Bible House, Philadelphia. mar10d

WANTED—.... cottage house with garden; Greeneville section preferred. Write House, Bulletin. mar10d

WANTED—Furniture, stoves, etc. and antiques. Ward Bros., 45 Jackson St. Williamntic. Tel 683-3. mar14Th7h3

LOUIS D. WARD pays big prices for used furniture and antiques. Box 210, Norwich. fy12Th7h8

WANT to hear from owner having farm for sale; give particulars and lowest price. John J. Black, Chippewa Falls, Wis. mar3S

RANCHES, worth $50,000, wants wife. Ladies, write H-Box 5 Club, Cimarron, Kans. mar3d

YOUNG LADY, worth $50,000 pretty, will marry. K-Box J Club, Cimarron, Kans. mar3d

MARRY for wealth, happiness; hundreds rich. All ages, countries, wishing to wed; photos free; 26 years' experience. Mrs. Warn, 808 Lankershim Bldg. Los Angeles, Calif. mar3S

WOULD you write a wealthy pretty girl? Stamped envelope, please. Lois Sproul, Cleveland, Ohio. feb17d

WANTED—Vaults and mausoleum to clean. H. L. Harris, R. F. D. 1, Box 118. apr3d

TESTIFY the barber told me the biggest theatre in the world was in Buenos Aires, South America. I thought to myself where is the best def and dumb barber. Van Koven mild cigar 10c straight. After Dinner cigars 5c straight. Pagani's Smoke Shop, opp. Westworth's. mar2d

MIRRORS resilvered is my own shop, at M. A. Sadusky's, 15 Bath St. Phone 719. mar7

WANTED—Old books and antiques. C. J. King, Norwich, Conn. Box 195. Phone 2112. mar5d

MIRRORS resilvered; glass for every purpose. Norwich Glass Co., 5 Bath St. Tel. 2163. feb21d

WANTED — Second hand furniture; highest prices paid. Norwich Furniture Co., 6 Main St. Telephone 1016-2. jan15d

INTERNATIONAL R. E. and Realty Agency, real estate of all description, persons, steamship tickets, notary public. John G. Cheneski, Agt., 160 North White St., Pulaski Hall Bldg. mar6d

WANTED—Highest cash prices paid for second hand furniture, household goods, antiques, glass, linotype and tools; if you believe in selling, N. Weisberger, 51 Market St. Phone 437-2. mar6d

WANTED—Second hand antique furniture; best prices paid. A. Bruckner, 102 Franklin St. Phone 712-3. may26d

WANTED—Antiques, tools and second hand furniture. H. E. Tiger, 56 Franklin St. Phone 717-2. jan31d

WANTED—Second hand furniture and stoves, etc. and second hand furniture and tools; highest prices paid. Kronenberg, successor to King, 44-46 Water St. Phone 1208. mar6d

WANTED

To rent or lease a house of seven or more good sized rooms, modern, and with steam or hot water heat; Chelsea Parade section preferred; occupancy by May 1st. Write BOX 575, Bulletin. mar8d

WANTED — WEAVERS
Will Take on a Few Learners
THE FALLS COMPANY
Yantic Street

TO RENT

TO RENT—Board and room at 51 Broadway. mar10d

TO RENT—Heated rooms for gentleman. Steiner Res., 77 Church St. mar10d

TO RENT — Tenement of five rooms, with improvements. Inquire at 261 West Main St.

TO RENT—Six-room tenement, all improvements; garage if desired. Inquire 66 Mt. Pleasant St., Mosnick. mar8d

TO RENT—Five-room tenement for young couple, all improvements. Box 16, Bulletin.

FOR RENT—Large front room, reasonable; 196 School St. mar8d

TO RENT—Apartment of four rooms and bath, for adults; heat and hot water furnished. 175 Broadway. Phone 1655. mar1d

TO RENT—Small furnished apartment. Mrs. Congdon, 83 McKinley Ave. mar1d

FOR RENT
STORE ON
FRANKLIN STREET
In Alling Block
Inquire of
N. Tarrant & Co.
Phone 170—117 Main St.

PAINT AND WALLPAPER

CHAIN WALLPAPER CO., 81 Wilson St., rear Broadway Theatre. 15c, 18c, 25c, paper, in combination; new, best of each. H. McClenathan, Mgr. feb9d

FOR SALE—Paint, $1.75 per gal.; paper $1.50 grade; wallpaper, 10c per roll. Max Blazer, 133 West Main St., next to Fire Station.

ARCHITECTS

C. H. KELLY, Architect, Norwich Savings Society building, Norwich, Conn.

A Bulletin For Sale Advertisement Will Sell It

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Two-family house, all modern improvements, 2 tenements of 5 rooms each, all in first class condition, 2 garages, lot 50x150 feet. Price $6,000. Terms reasonable. Inquire of owner, 19 Lincoln Ave. mar10d

FOR SALE—Large assortment unusual cut flowers, also blooming plants for Easter. Plant Garden Co., Norwich. mar10d

FOR SALE—Large assortment unusual cut flowers, also blooming plants for Easter. Plant Garden Co., Norwich. mar10d

FOR SALE—Light, ashless coal, especially suitable for furnaces. Call or write W. F. Raymond Co., Cr. 219, Philadelphia, Penn. mar10d

FOR SALE—Ford touring car, new 10-room house, bath, running water, large orchard, garage, chicken house. Phone Lebon 6-F-2. 3-6m10d

FOR SALE—Hay and corn fodder. A quality. Phone 1241-5. mar8d

FOR SALE—Three 30x3½ 1-2, $17.50; 31x4, $15; 32x4, $16; 34x4, $16; all first, guaranteed. The Johnson Co., 107-109 Franklin St. mar7d

FOR SALE—A light, pleasant business in good location, suitable for young man or man and wife, no cash capital required. Address C. J., Bulletin. mar7d

FOR SALE—At once, for cash, six-room cottage in good repair, near Connecticut college, five minutes from trolley, forty min. to Shetucket St.; has electric lights, pump in sink, furnace in cellar, verandas on three sides. If interested, write Box 586, Bulletin. mar7d

FOR SALE—Cottage of six rooms and bath, in excellent condition, together with barn, garage and small tract of land, located on Main St., Uncas; price $4,200. Box 34, Bulletin. mar4d

FOR SALE—Four young, nine tenements, renting for $1,728 per annum; $5000 cash required, to yield better than 10 per cent. Also 39 building lots in select district, from $100 to $500 per lot. Address, R. Dove Realty Co., mar4d

FOR SALE—Tomato and Cucumber plants, Hubbard squash plants. Frank Palmisano, Greeneville. mar3d

FOR SALE—15 acres of land, good year's cutting, with wood road. For further particulars, write R. F. D. No. 1, Box 139. Goodyear, Conn. mar3d

FOR SALE—Brand new Victor phonograph, all latest styles, at 30 per cent discount; guaranteed. Talking Machine Shop, 26 Franklin St. feb26d

FOR SALE—Two new model Brunswick phonographs used for demonstration purposes, can now be bought for half price. Talking Machine Shop, 26 Franklin St. feb26d

FOR SALE—New pianos $295 up, new player $395 up. The Talking Machine Shop—Norwich, Conn. feb26d

FOR SALE—Beautiful mahogany Sonora, fully guaranteed player piano with free bench, free rolls and free delivery, only $495 on terms to suit; investigate. Plant-Cadden Co., Norwich. feb23d

FOR SALE—Upright piano in A-1 playing condition; fine value for $95, on terms. Plant-Cadden Co., Norwich. feb23d

FOR SALE—New cottage house, seven rooms and bath, lot 60x160 feet; price for quick sale $6,000. Phone 1415-5. jan9d

FOR SALE — Herring-Hall-Marvin safes for office and household use; all sizes. Plant-Cadden Co., Norwich. nov4d

Offering Three New Houses

8 rooms, 2 baths, steam heat; very large lot with garage.

7 rooms and bath, extra large living room with fireplace; glass enclosed sun porch.

6 rooms and bath; steam heat. Ample garden space.

Many good homes available right now; prices are interesting. See us soon.

COIT & SHOLES
The Franklin Square Brokers
Telephone 2288

A REAL BARGAIN

100-acre high land; two miles R.F. from village, milk and cream sold at door; 40 acres sure crop plow and mow land, 60 acres pasture and woodland; 100 apple trees, 1,000 cords wood, 7-room house, best condition, new stock barn; price $3,700; $500 cash.

TELONE AGENCY,
Willimantic, Conn.

FARM FOR SALE

Farm of 100 acres, land well divided and in high state of cultivation, keeping over 30 head of stock; large house, and barn to-to accommodate 40 head; several other buildings, including large silo, and all in excellent repair; running water to buildings; abundance of fruit; an opportunity to get possession of a profitable dairy farm with no outlay to buildings; 10 minutes' drive from Franklin Square. For particulars,

FRANCIS P. DONOHUE,
Shannon Bldg. Phone Norwich.

FOR SALE
No. 7 Cliff Place
House of 7 rooms and bath.
Central location.
PRICE $8,000
APPLY TO
James L. Case
66 SHETUCKET STREET
Telephone 688

A Bulletin For Sale Advertisement Will Sell It

FOR SALE

WOULD YOU LIKE TO SEE a field of healthy, vigorous, rapid growing, true to name POTATOES, that will produce a big crop, growing on your farm?

Plant Dimock Orchard Certified Green Mountains

A. E. Sheldd
CONNECTICUT DISTRIBUTOR
NORWICH, CONN., R. F. D. No. 1
Telephone 1042-13

FOR SALE
TO CLOSE AN ESTATE
Property at Norwich Town
TWO HOUSES (THREE TENEMENTS)—ABOUT 35,000 SQ. FT. OF LEVEL LAND — SEVERAL GOOD HOUSE LOTS. LOCATED ON TWO STREETS. THREE MINUTES' WALK FROM TROLLEY.
PRICE $3,800
R. S. BARTLETT
25 ANN ST. 44 SHETUCKET ST.

FOR SALE
MAIN ST. FIRE STATION

The fire commissioners of the City of Norwich will receive sealed bids up to and including Tuesday, March 27th, 1923, for the Main Street Fire Station and the lot of land on which it stands, located on Main Street next to the Merchants Bank. Said real estate is carried on the books of the City of Norwich at Eighteen Thousand Dollars and is about 40 feet front and 80 feet in depth. The sealed bids may be left with the Chief of the Fire Department at the Central Fire Station of whom also inquiry as to further particulars may be made. The commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids and any bid that may be accepted will be accepted subject to the ratification by a City meeting.

ANSON R. GROVER,
EDWARD CROOKS,
WILLIAM H. ALDRICH,
Fire Commissioners of the City of Norwich

SPECIAL
BROWN AND GRAY
SUITS
100 per cent. all-wool, with 2 pair Pants, at sensational low prices—$16.50.
Spring Top-Coats, 100 per cent. wool, lined with silk — $16.50.
L. POLLOCK, 327 Main St.
OPPOSITE POST OFFICE

FARM FOR SALE

148-acre nicely divided into tillage, woodlot and pasture; 14 head tuberculin-tested stock; one horse, tools, wagons, poultry, everything ready for business; now shipping milk to Boston; six-room house, hardwood floors downstairs, bathroom, running water, electric lights, telephone and splendid furnace, barns, tool house, full of ice 1 1-2 miles north of Brooklyn Village, on main road to Voluntown; school across the road; all kinds of fruit trees and small fruits; maple brook, shocks to make syrup; good house use, spring-fed pond, good fishing; all for $6,000, or will sell farm separately. For further particulars as to terms, etc., inquire of J. D. Potter, owner, Brooklyn, Conn. mar9Th7t

FOR SALE
Large, Roomy House, 13 Rooms, Steam Heat, Electric Lights—Barn on premises—Corner Lot—in best residential section of the city. $6,000.

Grover & Burdick
2 MARKET STREET

$750 Cash Payment
BUYS A TEN-ACRE FARM, 7-ROOM COTTAGE HOUSE, BARN, 5 HENNERIES, FRUIT. IMMEDIATE POSSESSION. SEND FOR FARM BULLETIN—CHOICE OF 400.

WILLIAM A. WILCOX
FARM SPECIALIST
WESTERLY, R. I.

FOR SALE
ONE ACORN RANGE WITH GAS ATTACHMENT
ONE ROUND TABLE
ONE BUREAU
SIX CHAIRS
50 Water Street

For Sale
Six-family apartment house, all modern improvements, garage for 10 cars, located on Broadway; monthly rental $360; a good investment at price asked. Several one and two-family houses; most of locations; prices attractive. Two desirable farms, consisting of 150 acres each, stocks etc., 20 acres level land on state road.

JAMES E. BOWEN,
Real Estate, Insurance and Investments,
Thayer Bldg., Franklin Square.

PRINTING

PRINTING of all kinds promptly and neatly done at reasonable prices. The Bulletin Co., Franklin Square.

A Bulletin For Sale Advertisement Will Sell It

FOR SALE

FOR SALE
Three Apartment Houses. No. 45 Union St. Annual rentals $984.00. Price $7,000.00. Splendid central location.
THOS. H. BECKLEY
278 MAIN STREET
PHONES

FOR SALE
Large, Roomy House, 13 Rooms, Steam Heat, Electric Lights—Barn on premises—Corner Lot—in best residential section of the city. $6,000.

Grover & Burdick
2 MARKET STREET

FOR SALE
Two Apartment Houses, No. 45 Union St. Annual rentals $984.00. Price $7,000.00. Splendid central location.
THOS. H. BECKLEY
278 MAIN STREET
PHONES

FOR SALE—Horses

FOR SALE—Horse, buggy and harness; prices reasonable. Max E. Freyer, Vergason Ave. Phone 1038-2. mar6d

FOR SALE—Dapple gray horse, wt. 1300, single or double. Philip Dubuc, Jewett City, R. D. No. 1. mar6d

SALE NOTICE

I have 15 Horses—some of all kinds—that I want to dispose of right away to make room for another carload which will arrive March 9th. Come and see them. You cannot beat the prices for the kind of horses they are.

ELMER A. PIERSON.
Tel. 536-3. feb14d

FOR SALE—Automobiles

ONE of the most popular closed cars ever designed is the Franklin demi-sedan and demi-coupe; they actually combine the protection of a closed car with the ability and performance of an open car; the body is designed by the same coach builder who originated America's first production sedan; it is roomy, airy and comfortable; the four doors make easy entrance; the outlook through the wide areas of glass is pleasing, and ventilation is perfectly controlled; for hot weather use, the window panels are easily removed and side curtains can be used in their place; for sudden storms. H. E. Anderson, 51 Maple St., Danielson, Conn. Tel. 240. mar10d

THE D. & M. MOTOR CAR CO. can overhaul and repair your car; they quote the lowest prices in the city; service 1st class; guaranteed. 279 Main St. Phone 1449-4. mar7d

FOR SALE — 1916 5 cyl. Cadillac 5 pass. touring car, with shock absorbers and other extras, total mileage 30,000 miles, mechanically as serviceable as new. W. S. Allis, 301 Broadway. mar2d

FOR SALE—Two Ford touring, Chevrolet touring, two Oldsmobile touring, Gilbert touring, Dodge touring, Paige 6-66 touring, Hudson touring, Essex coach. C. V. Tomlinson, 66 Broadway, Norwich. feb23d

AUTO WRECKING
PARTS FOR ALL CARS
NEW AND USED TIRES
Norwich Auto Wrecking Co.
471-473 NORTH MAIN STREET
Near Scott & Clark Phone 2179

CARS SOLD ON TERMS OR CASH
ADAMS TAVERN GARAGE
T. EYMER, Jr., Prop.
THE BEST IN USED CARS
THE BEST IN AUTO PAINTING
W. LAMBERT, PAINTER
122 WEST TOWN STREET
Telephone 638-3.

AUTOMOBILE ACCESSORIES

FOR SALE—Ford homecomb radiators, all brass, guaranteed $11 up. The Johnson Co., 105-109 Franklin St., Norwich.

NORWICH Auto and Truck Paint Shop; all work guaranteed. Joseph Furry, Prop. 56. Phone 1297. mar7d

AUTO TOPS, radiator covers, curtains, side covers and tire covers, repairing. Phone 1297. mar7d

This is the time to have us put the radiator in A-1 shape for the coming season. Have us clean the radiator, stop all leaks, strengthen where vibration is affecting it, remove dents and other injuries.

Skilled service in every phase of radiator service, at moderate cost.

WILLIAM E. SHANLEY
480 MAIN STREET, NORWICH

OVERHAULING
AND REPAIR WORK
OF ALL KINDS
Automobiles,
Carriages, Wagons,
Trucks and Carts
Horseshoeing, Painting, Trimming, Upholstering and Wood Work
Blacksmithing in All Its Branches
Scott & Clark Com.

A Bulletin For Sale Advertisement Will Sell It

FOR SALE

WITHOUT RESERVE—Public Auction sale of Saleyards, 48 Main St., Willimantic, Conn.

AUCTION
Wednesday, sale of personal property on WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1923,
at 11 o'clock a. m. sharp,
on my place, at Shetucket, formerly owned by Mr. Allen, east of Norwich, Conn., on the Westerly highway.

50 — HEAD OF CATTLE — 50

consisting of 17 choice cows, one new milch with calf by side, several due to freshen early and the balance in the ordinary various stages of production; 7 yearling heifers; 3 two year-old Holstein bull calves, extra fine quality Ayrshires and Holsteins; 15 sheep, several ponies and fat calves, 3 large fat steers, 1 first class farm horse, 1 driving mare, 1 pair of team horses, 1 dump wagon, 1 pair of team harnesses, 1 dump cart, 1 mowing machine, several rolls of wire fencing, and some barbed wire; also a few small tools; 1 grindstone.

10 Tons Mixed Oats and Hay,

200 Bushels of Corn on the Cob.

Auctioneers' Statement: We wish to state that this will positively be a clean-up sale of the above described personal property; no reservations, no restrictions, no limit as Mr. White is vacating the farm this month. No rubbish will be sold. The sale will be quick, clean and interesting.

Terms cash. A caterer will attend. If stormy, postponed to first fair day at the same hour.

LESTER A. MAINE.
R. F. D. No. 1, Norwich, Conn.

INSURANCE

E. H. HARRIMAN the financier once said to a stock speculator who wanted a tip on the stock market that the best time to buy copper was between 10 and 13. We say to you that the best time to INSURE is NOW, THIS MINUTE—DON'T DELAY!

B. P. Learned & Co.
No. 28 Shetucket Street
Assuring Insurers Since May 1846

ALL KINDS OF
INSURANCE
HAROLD S. BURT
128 LAUREL HILL AVENUE
PHONE 508-3

J. L. LATHROP & SONS
28 Shetucket Street
INSURANCE OF ALL KINDS

BUILDING

HARDWOOD FLOORING, parquet and strips laid and scraped; all kinds of carpenter work done; estimates given. Ivar Johnson, 117 Maple St. Phone 609-12. mar8d

WILLIAM S. YOUNG, Contractor and Builder, 2026 West Side Building, 50 West Main St. Phone 631. de-7d

TRANSPORTATION

AS AGENT for the Cunard S. S. Co. I will secure passports, furnish clients with guide from one of the best hotels in New York, who will transfer baggage, see that passage have proper visa and see you to your berth on the boat. Joshua Taylor, Agt., 169 High St. Phone 1435-4. mar2d

NORWICH-WESTERLY BUS LINE.
NICK MOONEY, Prop.
Telephone Westerly 2467.
Leave Westerly 8 and 11 a. m., 2 and 5 p. m.
Leave North Stonington 8.30 and 11.30 a. m., 2.30-5.30 p. m.
Leave Norwich 9.30 a. m., 12.30, 3.30, 6.30 p. m.
Leave North Stonington 10.15 a. m., 1.15, 4.15, 7.15 p. m.
FARES: Norwich-Westerly, 75c; Norwich-North Stonington, 45c. jan19WS

CIGARS

CIGARS—
Wholesome Cigars are $75 per thousand. C. F. CONANT, 11 Franklin St.

CHIROPODIST

A. G. ERICKSON, F. S., Chiropodist, Foot Specialist (corner your feet) Suite 7-8 Allen Bldg., 321 Main St., Norwich. Phone 1161-4. mar1d

PAWNBROKER

RELIABLE LOAN CO.
LICENSED PAWNBROKER
67 Franklin Street
Norwich

Luggage, Trunks, Suit Cases, Brief Cases, Etc.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Montville, within and for the District of Montville, on the 6th day of March, A. D. 1923.

Present—DAN D. ROGER, Judge.

Estate of Carrie P. Bartlett, late of Montville in said District, deceased.

Ordered, That the Administratrix give the creditors of said deceased to bring in their claims against said estate within six months from this date, and notify a notice to that effect, together with a copy of this order, on the outmost nearest to the place where said deceased last dwelt, and in the town of Montville, by causing the same to be inserted in the Norwich Bulletin, a newspaper having a circulation in said District, and make return to this Court.

DAN D. ROGER, Judge.

The above and foregoing is a true copy of record.

Attest: SUSAN M. PROUTY, Clerk.

NOTICE.—All creditors of said deceased are hereby notified to present their claims against said estate to the undersigned at 64 Russell Road, Norwich, Conn., within the time limited, in the above and foregoing order.

MARY J. LAMBERT, Administratrix. mar10d

A Bulletin To Let Advertisement Will Find

LEGAL NOTICE

CANTERBURY TAX NOTICE

Notice is hereby given to all persons liable to pay taxes in the town of Canterbury on the grand list of 1922 that I have a rate bill with warrant annexed for the collection of thirty (30) mills on the dollar, also for the collection of personal tax of $2 on all persons over the age of 21 to 60 years.

Said taxes become due, March 1st, 1923.

I will meet the taxpayers at my office in the Town Clerk's office, Wednesday, March 21st, 1 to 3 p. m.; also Saturday, April 28th, 1 to 3 p. m.

At LaChapelle's Store, Garfield, Friday, March 24th, 10.30 a. m. to 12 m.

At Packer's Store, Westminster, Saturday, March 24th, 1 to 3 p. m.

At Packer Postoffice, Tuesday, March 27th, 12 m. to 2 p. m.

At South Canterbury Postoffice, Thursday, March 29th, 12 m. to 2 p. m.

On all taxes not paid on or before April 1923 interest and fees will be added from the time they become due, as the law provides.

All personal taxes must positively be paid on or before the 1st day of May, 1923. All persons failing to comply with this notice will be dealt with according to law in such cases made and provided. See Chapter 260, Section 5, Public Acts 1909.

Meet me at above places and save all expense.

JAMES E. TOWNE, Collector.

Canterbury, Conn., this 24th day of February, 1923. mar10d

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Norwich, within and for the District of Norwich, on the 9th day of March, A. D. 1923.

Present—NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

Estate of Mary S. Barnes late of Norwich, in said District, deceased.

Adele M. Ford of Norwich, Conn., appeared in Court and filed a petition praying, for the reasons therein set forth, that an instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased be admitted to probate.

Whereupon, It Is Ordered, That said petition be heard and determined at the Probate Court Room in the City of Norwich, in said District, on the 14th day of March A. D. 1923, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and that notice of the pendency of said petition, and of said hearing thereon be given by the publication of this order once in some newspaper having a circulation in said District, at least three days prior to the date of said hearing, and that return be made to this Court.

NELSON J. AYLING Judge.

The above and foregoing is a true copy of record.

Attest: HELEN M. DRESCHER, Clerk. mar10d

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Norwich, within and for the District of Norwich, on the 9th day of March, A. D. 1923.

Present—NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

The Administrator C. T. A. having presented in Court and filed a written application praying that said estate is now in settlement in said Court, and praying for an order to sell certain real estate belonging to said estate, fully described in said application.

Whereupon, It Is Ordered that said application be heard and determined at the Probate Court Room in the City of Norwich in said District on the 14th day of March A. D. 1923 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon and that notice of the pendency of said application and of said hearing be given by the publication of this order once in some newspaper having a circulation in said District at least three days prior to the date of said hearing, and that return be made to the Court.

NELSON J. AYLING Judge.

The above and foregoing is a true copy of record.

Attest: HELEN M. DRESCHER, Clerk. mar10d

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Norwich, within and for the District of Norwich, on the 9th day of March, A. D. 1923.

Present—NELSON J. AYLING Judge.

Estate of Samuel Lambert, late of Norwich, in said District, deceased.

Ordered, That the Administratrix cite the creditors of said deceased to bring

CLOUDY TODAY, RAIN AT NIGHT OR SUNDAY.

Norwich

NORWICH, [illegible]

The Bulletin.

Norwich, Saturday, March 10, 1923.

THE WEATHER.

Conditions.

A disturbance of considerable intensity was central north of Lake Superior Friday night and moving eastward, and another disturbance was over the southern Rocky mountain and southern plateau regions, while a third was over Alberta. High pressure prevailed over the Atlantic and east gulf states.

The temperature was higher Friday east of the Mississippi river except in portions of the Atlantic states, while colder weather overspread the plains states, the central Rocky mountain region and Nevada.

There will be considerable cloudiness Saturday and Sunday over the states east of the Mississippi river, and precipitation, mostly in the form of rain, is probable over the greater portion of this area. However, the weather will remain fair in the Atlantic states south of Maryland until Saturday night.

The temperature will rise in the Atlantic states Saturday, while it will fall in the lower lake region and the Ohio and middle Mississippi valleys Saturday night and Sunday and in the Atlantic and east gulf states except the Florida peninsula Sunday.

Winds.

North of Sandy Hook and Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Increasing southeast and south, becoming fresh to strong, and weather overcast Saturday.

Forecast.

For Southern New England: Increasing cloudiness and warmer Saturday, probably followed by rain Saturday night or Sunday; colder Sunday.

Observations in Norwich.

The Bulletin's observations show the following changes in temperature and barometric changes Friday:

	Ther.	Bar.
7 a. m.	16	30.60
12 m.	30	30.70
6 p. m.	26	30.70

Highest 34, lowest 16.

Comparisons.

Predictions for Friday: Fair and continued cold.

Friday's weather: Fair; some warmer; northwest wind.

SUN, MOON AND TIDES.

	Sun		High Water.	Moon
Day.	Rises.	Sets.		Rises.
	a. m.	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.
6	6.12	5.43	11.42	9.01
7	6.09	5.44	12.13	10.13
8	6.16	5.44	1.31	11.22
9	6.13	5.45	2.28	Morn.
10	6.12	5.46	3.34	0.26
11	6.10	5.46	4.46	1.26
12	6.09	5.48	5.54	2.19

Six hours after high water it is low water, which is followed by flood tide.

TAFTVILLE

Lee Fuller is able to be out after being laid up with the grip for the past week.

Miss Louis Paradis is seriously ill with pneumonia at her home on South A street.

Thomas Grimshaw of North Fourth avenue is out again after an attack of the grip.

Miss Bertha Monty entertained the Camp Fire Girls Thursday evening at her home at Riverside grove.

Alderic Marion of South B street has accepted a position with William Chevalier.

Claude Leathers of Danielson has been a recent guest of Warren S. Sharples of North Second avenue.

A number of local people were in Hartford, Friday, to attend the hearing on the 48 hour bill at the state capitol.

Mrs. Eugene Tetreault of New Haven is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Paradis of South A street.

NORWICH TOWN

The March union service of the First Methodist Episcopal church, and the First Congregational church, is to be held Sunday evening, at 7.30 at Chester church, with Ce two pastors Rev. James B. Aldrich and Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey in charge.

Preceding this, at 6.30, the Young Peoples Christian Endeavor society, of the Methodist church, will unite with the Young Peoples C. E. society of the Congregational church. Lewis Aldrich of the Methodist society, will be the leader. The topic will be The Stewardship of Self, Substance and Service. Matthew 25:14-30; I Peter 4:10.

Funeral services for Mrs. Julia A. Gay, widow of Jonathan P. Gay, were held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at her late home on Sturtevant street, with a large attendance of relatives and friends. Rev Gurdon F. Bailey, pastor of the First Congregational church officiated and also conducted the committal service at the burial in Yantic cemetery. Church & Allen were in charge of the arrangements.

Mrs. Gay who had been a resident of Sturtevant street about a year, died on Wednesday, following a short illness. She was born in Montville, July 7, 1843, the daughter of the late Andrew Miner, of Borah and Almira Gardner Miner of Norwich. A great many years ago she was united in marriage with Jonathan P. Gay, who died several years ago.

Mrs. S. L. Bonney has moved from Huntington Lane to Harland Road.

Ninth Birthday Party.

Thursday evening Miss Mary Fahey was pleasantly surprised by a number of her little friends at her home on North Main street in honor of her ninth birthday. Games and dancing were enjoyed by the little tots after which refreshments were served by the hostess.

EASTER CARDS

The early buyers select with comfort and have the best to choose from.

Our new assortment is the cream of the productions and is now ready for your buying.

The Cranston Co

CAN SELL AT AUCTION NORWICH OFFICES OF SHORE LINE TROLLEY

Authority for Robert W. Perkins, receiver of the Shore Line Electric Railway Co., to sell at public auction the Norwich office building and land of the company on Main street at Burnham square, was passed by Judge C. L. Avery at the superior court motion list in New London on Friday.

Mr. Perkins testified that the Eastern Connecticut Power Co., of which he is president, had made an offer of $30,000 for the property, which had been appraised at $35,000 and that he considered it to the best advantage of the Shore Line Electric Railway Co. to sell it. The date of the auction was fixed as April 17.

Receiver Perkins was also authorized to sell small tracts of land in the towns of Old Lyme, Old Saybrook and Madison for the sums of $25, $250 and $100, respectively.

Accepts Receiver's Report.

Judge Avery approved and accepted the report of the National Bank of Commerce, receiver of the Highland apartments in Granite street, New London, owned by Giosue Duca and Agostino DiNoto of Los Angeles, former contractors. The report showed that the receiver had collected $15,423.16 in rents from the beginning of the receivership to March 1 and that there is a balance on hand of $7,083.61.

Judge Avery authorized the payment of $2,484.27 in taxes for the levies of 1920 and 1921 from this balance and also the payment of $490 for fire insurance premiums.

Attorney Frank L. McGuire for the receiver and Attorney Arthur T. Keefe, for the Land Mortgage & Title Co., of Hartford, argued the matter of payment of $17,000 interest by the Land Mortgage & Title Co. to Lomas & Nettleton of New Haven on the first mortgage and Judge Avery ruled that the matter should come up on a distinct application by the Land Mortgage & Title Co.

Judge Avery entered an order for the continuance of the business of the Arnold Electric Co. of New London for four months by the receiver, J. N. Lapointe. The court accepted the report of the receiver from Oct. 23, 1922 to Feb. 6, 1923, showing a balance on hand of $280. The court also entered an order allowing claims presented to the receiver except the claim of the Saldman Co. of New Haven, which was disallowed to the amount of $2,693 on a claim of $9,-604.66.

Judgment of strict foreclosure was entered on a second mortgage in the case of Newfield vs. William Relyea of New London. The amount of the mortgage and interest is $3,-549.58 and the property consists of a three-story dwelling at 508 Ocean avenue.

Judgment for the plaintiff for $3,-349.41 was entered in the case of the Brunswick Balke Callender Co. against Sharaf.

A motion that George K. Maurer, administrator, be substituted as a party plaintiff in the case of Engeman vs. Hering, was granted.

SPEAKS ON WORKING TOOLS AT Y. M. C. A. NOON MEETING

Although the attendance was all could be expected last week at the Lenten noon meeting at the Norwich Y. M. C. A., the second in the series Friday noon had a still larger number present, and the interest was very marked. Dr. J. Romeyn Danforth of New London, who is delivering this series of talks, selected as his topic for this week, Working Tools and the large audience present was simply charmed with the contents of and the delivery of the message which was intensely spiritual. In brief he spoke as follows:

"Man has been described as a tool-using animal. When you think of the mind which is needed for the invention and use of tools you find there is much in this description. Among the most interesting discoveries of long gone days are the tools used in the past. The man, the tool and the product make three links of a strong chain.

The tool is that which the man has devised to aid him in carrying out a plan and realizing an ideal. So the tool links the man to his ideal. But to the man whose ideal is only pleasure all tools are toys. He is not living; he is only playing. He who plays with an edged tool is likely to cut himself. Often he also cuts someone else.

Our working tools are presented to us progressively. The art of living is not all learned at once. Sometimes our tools are gradually taken from us and sometimes they are snatched from our hands all at once. Then the accounting comes as to material well used and material spoiled. God has a big factory, but his cost accounting system is perfect.

To the ascetic the body is a foe; to the libertine a toy; to the real man it is a wonderful tool, and he wants to keep it fit and do the most and the best with it. It is just that which the Y. M. C. A. works out in its efforts and also pictures in its triangle.

The working tools of a carpenter were doubtless given to Jesus. Their use was made plain and practical by Joseph. Then the time came when our Master left the shop in Nazareth and all Palestine became his work-room. Human lives were his material and he built the beginning of the kingdom of heaven. He makes us his fellow workmen. His ideal he shares with us. By the bench of our human effort he labors along with us. He is with us in our business; He is with us in our offices; He is with us on the street; He is with us in our homes. He desires that we shall use the tools He gives us to help those of our brothers who are less fortunate than we are and in the building of His kingdom, He desires that we should have a large share with Him.

Rev. A. N. Foster offered the opening prayer, and George Ashley accompanied the singing as pianist. Inasmuch as Dr. Charles E. Jefferson of New York, who recently preached a series of stirring sermons here, is celebrating this week his twenty-fifth anniversary of his pastorate at the Broadway Tabernacle, the meeting at the "Y" Friday voted to wire him hearty congratulations.

Next Friday noon, the topic of the noonday luncheon talk will be "The Credible God, and the talk as usual will be preceded by a buffet luncheon.

WORSTED MILL WORKER HAD BAD ARM INJURY

The following workmen's compensation agreements have been approved by Commissioner J. J Donohue:

Shetucket Worsted Co., Baltic, employer, and Henry Douville, Baltic, employe, bruised right arm, at rate of $13.94.

Shetucket Worsted Co., Baltic, employer, and Frank Love, Baltic, employe, left forearm practically amputated, both bones broken, tendons severed, Feb. 13, 1923, at rate of $17.76.

Charles L. Wilson, New London, employer, and David Morton, employe, finger infected, at rate of $16.39.

M. J. Daly & Sons, Waterbury, employer, and William Mitchell, 87 Spring street, employe, two ribs broken, at rate of $9.45.

General Navigation Co., Inc., New London, employer, and J. G. Skipworth, New London, employe, fractured ribs, at rate of $8.99.

International Silver Co., Factory C, Norwich, employer, and Joseph Grochowski, 91 High street, employe, infected hand, at rate of $14.40.

Kramer Bros., Norwich, employer, and Amos Miner, employe, ring finger crushed, at rate of $12.

VIEWED SCENIC POINTS ON TRIP TO HAVANA

Mrs. Amos A. Browning, is spending the winter at Miami, Florida, and Miss Sarah F. Browning, who has been touring in the south recently made a trip to Havana, Cuba, via Key West and the noted Keys route.

While there they toured the city, visiting Morro Castle and the famous Chinese district; viewed the Casino, and took a fifty mile drive through the surrounding country. The finest of weather attended their stay.

MECHANICAL ENGINEERS ADOPT CODE OF ETHICS

A code of ethics adopted by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers has been forwarded to the Norwich association, whose members approve of its adoption.

In the announcement of the code the American society says:

That the dignity of their chosen profession may be maintained, it is the duty of all engineers to conduct themselves according to the principles of the following code of ethics:

1. The engineer will carry on his professional work in a spirit of fairness to employes and contractors, fidelity to clients and employers, loyalty to his country and devotion to high ideals of courtesy and personal honor.

2. He will refrain from associating himself with or allowing the use of his name by an enterprise of questionable character.

3. He will advertise only in a dignified manner, being careful to avoid misleading statements.

4. He will regard as confidential any information obtained by him as to the business affairs and technical methods or processes of a client or employer.

5. He will inform a client or employer of any business connections, interests or affiliations which might influence his judgment or impair the disinterested quality of his services.

6. He will refrain from using any improper or questionable methods of soliciting professional work and will decline to pay or to accept commissions for securing such work.

7. He will accept compensation, financial or otherwise, for a particular service, from one source only, except with the full knowledge and consent of all interested parties.

8. He will not seek unfair means to win professional advancement or to injure the chances of another engineer to secure and hold employment.

9. He will cooperate in upbuilding the engineering profession by exchanging general information and experience with his fellow engineers and students of engineering and also by contributing to work of engineering societies, schools of applied science and the technical press.

10. He will interest himself in the public welfare in behalf of which he will be ready to apply his knowledge, skill and training for the use and benefit of mankind.

EMPOWER PRESIDENT TO APPOINT SPECIAL COMMITTEES

At the meeting of the directors of the Norwich Chamber of Commerce at the Wauregan hotel this week, the application of George Brenn, submitted by Nelson Parker, was approved and accepted. Mr. Brenn was voted into membership. Reports of progress were made on the industries, Thames river, Academy, equitable taxation and proposed revised train schedule.

Following the recommendations made by the members at the last membership meeting after Mr. Howland's address, the president was authorized to appoint three special committees, one to investigate the city's adequate water supply, another to investigate the city's need for additional fire apparatus and improvement of the fire alarm signals, and a third to investigate the building laws and regulations particularly relating to special fire hazards.

The directors approved the following resolution, copy of which will be sent to Senator E. Rogers of New London:

"Resolved, That the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce of Norwich, believing in the value of the work of the Connecticut Bureau of Child Hygiene of the State Department of Health, does hereby endorse the bill for an appropriation by the Connecticut legislature of an amount sufficient to make the federal aid under the Sheppard-Towner Act available for Connecticut."

The directors also endorsed the purport of an enabling act now before the state legislature for the zoning of cities and towns in Connecticut. Some consideration was given by the directors to the Community Chest plan, which is a plan employed in many cities to take care of all the benevolent and charitable organizations and to eliminate the methods now used for raising these funds by conducting drives of one nature or another. Further consideration will be given this matter later on.

GROTON BOYS DROWNED IN OLD QUARRY HOLE

James Cade and Francis Batch, both five years old, were found with hands clasped at the bottom of the pool in an old quarry hole on Thames street, Groton, Friday afternoon after a search party had spent three hours seeking them. The bodies were found upright under the ice.

It is believed that the boys had been exploring the neighborhood of the quarries and had ventured out on the ice holding to each other in comradeship. A hole in the ice indicated where they had plunged through into six feet of water.

Francis is the son of James H. Cade of 36 Baker avenue, and James is the son of Mrs. Annie E. Batch of 43 Baker avenue.

NEWS FROM THE LODGE ROOMS

FORESTERS.

Court City of Norwich, No. 38, is to hold its Pack Chief Rangers night on March 13th, and the committee in charge of arrangements has worked hard to make this night a success. All members of the court have been notified of the meeting and it is expected that a large number will attend the meeting. Grand court officers will be present and will be the principal speakers of the evening.

The entertainment committee has arranged an attractive program to be furnished by local talent, and at the close of the meeting refreshments will be served.

The court is also making plans for March 27th when a large class of candidates will be initiated by the degree team. This night will be another banner night in the history of Court City of Norwich.

OWLS

Norwich Nest, No. 1396, met in regular session Tuesday evening at Owls Hall on Main street. President John Wain presided, and routine business was transacted, and several committee reports were heard. Plans for future whists were made and after the meeting a social time was enjoyed.

Fifteen tables of whist were played Friday evening at Owls' hall, the whist being given by Norwich nest, No. 1396. Prizes were awarded as follows: White counters—First, Mrs. William Farrell; second, Mrs. Harry H. Hill; third, Mrs. Herbert Brown. Green counters—First, Miss Mary Walz; second, Mrs. J. A. George; third, Charles Johnson.

RED MEN

Mohegan tribe, No. 64, held its meeting Wednesday evening in the hall in the Steiner block with Sachem Joseph A. George in the chair. Following the regular business session two candidates were worked in the adoption degree by the degree team directed by Degree Master George Farrell. Several applications for membership were acted upon.

Plans were also made for the working of the degrees of Hunter and Warrior at some meeting in April. Following the business session a social hour was enjoyed.

L'UNION ST. JEAN BAPTIST

An evening of whist with 20 tables was conducted Thursday under the auspices of Lafayette Council, No. 207. Ice cream and cake were served by the committee. Those to take the prizes were the following: ladies first, Mrs. Mary Lavalle, 41; second, Miss Mabel Gladue, 40; third, 39, Mrs Barnet Breen; fourth, Miss Yvonne Sabourin, 38; consolation, Mrs Mary McKelvey, 16; gentlemen first, J. E. Rochette, 47; second, Rudolf Caron, 38; third, Frank Rochette, 38; fourth, E. Jolicoeur, 36; consolation, George Le Blanc 15.

WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS.

Sedgwick Woman's Relief corps met in regular session Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Buckingham Memorial with Senior Vice President Mrs. Clara Burke in the chair, owing to the illness of the president. There was a large attendance and considerable routine business was transacted. It was voted to give $10 to the Salvation Army building fund, $5 to the Boy Scout fund, and $5 to the Allentown hospital for disabled soldiers. The meeting closed in the usual manner with a salute to the flag and the singing of "America."

MOOSE.

Norwich lodge, No. 959, met Friday night at Moose home, at which time the following officers were selected: Dictator, George J. Goepfert; vice dictator, J. T. F. Burns; treasurer, C. O. Wright; prelate, A. Kaminski; trustee for three years, B. Wunderlich; delegate, George J. Goepfert; alternate, E. A. DeRusha.

The committee recommended that the installation of officers take place on the second Sunday in April.

A report of progress was made by the committee in charge of the trip to the state convention to be held at South Manchester on June 15. It is expected that Norwich lodge will send a large delegation to the convention.

EAGLES.

Norwich aerie, No. 847, held its regular meeting Monday evening, when reports were heard from the various committees. Progress was reported on arrangements for the 20th anniversary of the inception of the aerie on April 16.

Twelve applications were voted upon and the committee announced that there would be a large class initiation on March 26.

The next meeting, to be held at the home March 19, is open to members and their friends, and Judge Thomas O'Donnell of Kansas City, Kas., is to be the speaker. State officers are also to be present at the meeting and it is expected every member will be present.

MOOSEHEART LEGION.

Norwich chapter, No. 124, held its regular session Thursday evening at Moose home with Senior Regent Rose Carter in the chair. Regular routine business was transacted and it was voted to contribute $5 to the Salvation Army building fund and $5 to the Boy Scout fund. Plans were made for a whist to be given by the chapter next week, and announcement was made that the next regular meeting would be held on March 22. Following the meeting, a social hour was enjoyed.

DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS.

The senior vice president, Miss Lillie E. Wolf, presided over the meeting of Clara Barton tent, No. 7, held on Monday evening. One candidate was initiated and the new officers elected for the remainder of this year were installed by Department President Mrs. D. Louise Atterbury, as follows: President, Miss Lillie E. Wolf; senior vice president, Mrs. Genie Evans; junior vice president, Mrs. Alice Brinkman; patriotic instructor, Mrs. Ethel MacDougal; first color bearer, Mrs. Carrie Prentice; second color bearer, Mrs. Lillian Drake.

Mrs. Atterbury, who was elected corresponding secretary, will be installed at the next meeting by the new president, Miss Wolf. Mrs. Jennie Newbury acted as guide to Department President Atterbury during the installation. This is the second installation of officers for Clara Barton tent since the first of this year, it having been necessary because of the vacancies caused by death of two members, Mrs. Josephine Hiscox who was installed president, and Mrs. Lillian Jewett, who was installed corresponding secretary at the annual meeting in January.

Through Mrs. Atterbury the tent was presented a beautiful silk bedquilt, biscuit design, by Marshall Yewett, in memory of his wife, by whom the quilt was made.

A discussion was held regarding the sixth anniversary of the tent, which falls due this month. It has been proposed that it be observed by having a social time, plans, however, not having been definitely settled.

This meeting was held one evening earlier than usual, to enable members of the tent to attend the reception to Division Commander of the Sons of Veterans Charles N. Stephens, of Stratford, given by Jared E. Avery camp, No. 26, Sons of Veterans, of New London.

TAKING DOWN COPPER ON NORWICH & WESTERLY

Dismantling of the Norwich and Westerly trolley line between Hallville and White Rock has been proceeding by taking down the copper wire which has been sold by the receiver of the line. The copper bonds from the rails will be taken out as soon as the weather permits work on the ground.

The trolley line right of way has been purchased for a pole line by the Eastern Connecticut Power Co. In one part of the line in North Stonington, where the owner, a New York man by the name of Hewitt, granted the trolley road a right of way on condition that it should revert to him in case it was ever given up for trolley uses, the Power Co., has bought a right of way over this land, but what is not taken in this way goes back to Mr. Hewitt.

URIC ACID

Does [illegible] Gause [illegible]

[illegible] Lumbago, Pains [illegible] Joints, a WEAKENED, tired [illegible] FORTIFIED [illegible] one of the first symptoms [illegible] Without it we could not live! Disease [illegible] We are [illegible] perfect [illegible] could [illegible] Nature always [illegible] perfect [illegible]

But say look! The Inner Mysteries of Rheumatism, just published, tells the real truth about Rheumatism. Tells what actually DOES cause it and how it is now being successfully treated in all its different forms and stages by entirely new, advanced scientific methods.

The writing of this annual book is the result of my twenty years study, experimentation and research in this disease and I want every sufferer of RHEUMATISM, NEURITIS, SCIATICA, GOUT, etc., no matter in what form or how chronic, to read it. Therefore, although valuable, I will gladly send one complete copy only of the book absolutely free. If you will send your address or that of any sufferer you may know, plainly written, to

H. F. CLEARWATER, Ph. D.,
292-G Water St. Hallowell, Maine.

"GRAND TO HAVE YOUR HEALTH"

says Mrs Jenny Evans of Detroit, Mich. "Few of us appreciate our health until we lose it. Mrs. Evans worked in a factory, but owing to a weakness, and pains in her back, she was forced to give up work. She says: "A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made me well. It is grand to have your health, to feel well all the time and to go around like other women, without that awful torture of female troubles." Women who are suffering from such troubles should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the tried and true medicine now recognized everywhere as the standard remedy for female ills.

THOMPSON'S END

I watched the hills drink the last color of light
All shapes grow bright and wane on the quiet air.
Till deep the valleys crept where dusk came
And swept the circle of my seeing bare.
Its intimate beauty like a wanton's veil
Took from the void as from an empty face.

I felt as heavy on all being fell
And my one body pitted against space.
O heart more frightened than a wild bird's wings
Beating at green nets in my fiery flesh!
Left on the quiet nothingness of things.
He set no more against the flooding dark;
There thousand-wise seem in that cloudy sky
Stars that are worlds look out and see you not.

—Louis Adams in The New Republic.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

"What of your poems?"

"One man took the entire edition."

"He must be a great lover of literature."

"I don't know about that. He's a junk dealer."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"Education is a great thing," said Bingston. "There's Ballington, graduated in social welfare at Yale, and now he's head of the biggest prison in the country."

"Right," said Kingsley, "and one of his ten-year tenants is a classmate who won all the medals for handwriting and took up forgery."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

It was a beautiful little lake. The man who had purchased it stood on it and he said: "I have a dock for the motorboat and asked if there was any timber in the neighborhood. They told him there was plenty of hickory.

"Build it of that," he directed, "and I'll name it Hickory Dickory dock."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Hostess—"Such a shocking book! The characters so exquisitely drawn; the psychology of the heroine simply delicious and there's a philosophy running through it, a wonderful revelation of the human soul."

Friend—"When did you read it?"

Hostess—"Oh, I haven't read it yet, but I've read every review of it."—London Opinion.

"How did the tortoise happen to beat the hare?"

"Dunno."

"An idea occurs to me."

"Well?"

"Maybe the hare got held up for speeding."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

KALEIDOSCOPE

Attendants in leprosariums practically never develop leprosy.

In Oregon alone is found one-fifth of the standing timber in the United States.

In order to gain promotion, British soldiers must read literature of high quality. Among the books listed are works of Shakespeare, Doyle, Scott and Southey.

In Dutch weekly periodicals, it is customary to caricature scientific and professional men in the public eye with prominence equal to those in political life.

The United States now owns about one-quarter of all the volcanoes in the world. There are about 417 active volcanoes and we possess 166, besides hundreds of smoking peaks.

There are 36,511 American soldiers, sailors and marines buried in eight cemeteries in Europe. Six of the grounds are in France, one in Belgium and the other in England. Of the dead only 1.80% or about 7 per cent., are unknown.

The smallest passenger carrying balloon in the world, recently completed at McCook field, near Dayton, Ohio, by three government licensed air pilots, weighs less than 125 pounds and can be carried easily by one man. A hand propeller causes the balloon to rise and descend as the pilot desires.

The great war record of the 28th division, composed of the national guard troops of Pennsylvania, was officially recognized recently when the war department gave the authority to carry a streamer on their regimental flags of the six major operations in which they took part in the world war.

Let Us Help You Save Money On Your Week-end Purchases

SIX STORES UNDER ONE ROOF — FILLED WITH SEASONABLE FOODS

ARMOUR'S SUGAR CURED SMOKED SHOULDERS Pound 12½c

NATIVE MILK-FED VEAL

SHORT CUT LEGS Pound 22c
SHOULDER CUTS VEAL TO ROAST, lb. 19c
VEAL CHOPS, lb.... 29c
VEAL CUTLETS, lb.. 39c
VEAL FOR STEWING Pound 12½c

SWIFT'S SPRING LAMB

SHORT CUT LEGS Pound 32c
MEATY FORE-QUARTERS, lb..... 20c
LOINS LAMB TO ROAST, lb..... 28c
LAMB CHOPS, lb.... 29c
LAMB FOR STEWING Pound 12½c

1 lb. LIVER 1 lb. BACON, FOR 25c

FRESH PIG PORK LOINS To Roast, lb. 17c

FRESH PORK SHOULDERS Pound 13½c

MOHICAN

STEAKS, lb.., 25c Cut From Best Steer Beef Sirloin, Round, Porterhouse

LEAN POT Roast Beef, lb. 10c

Fine Cuts Steer Chuck Roast Beef, lb. 14c

Freshly Ground Hamburg STEAK, 2 lbs.. 25c

PRIME RIB Roast Beef, lb. 29c Boneless—No Waste Rolled—Ready for Oven

ONE TON LEAN CUTS Corned Beef, lb. 7c

PREPARED BUCK-WHEAT, 3 lb. pkg.... 29c

SAUER KRAUT Can 15c

HAWAIIAN PINEAPPLE Can 28c

EVAPORATED MILK 2 tall cans 21c

HOT FROM OUR OVENS MOHICAN BEST BREAD, 1 lb. lf. 5c

FINEST MEADOW-BROOK CREAMERY BUTTER Cut From Tub 2 Pounds $1.05

PURE SILVERLEAF LARD, 3 lbs... 40c

Large, Freshly Gathered EGGS, dozen.. 45c

Philadelphia Cream CHEESE, 2 pkgs..... 27c

IMPORTED SWISS CHEESE, lb..... 45c

FRESH MINCE MEAT 2 pounds 35c

FRESH CREAM, ½ pt. 20c For Whipping

DELICIOUS RIPE Strawberries.. 55c Quart Basket

FLORIDA LETTUCE 2 heads 25c

CELERY HEARTS 2 bunches 25c

ISLE OF PINE GRAPE FRUIT, 5 for 25c

JERSEY SWEET Potatoes, 4 lbs. 25c

FRESH SOLID Oysters, pint.. 35c

FRESH COD STEAK, lb..... 20c

Ford

LOWEST PRICES

In the History of the Ford Motor Company

Chassis	$235
Runabout	269
Touring	298
Truck Chassis	380
Coupe	530
Sedan	595

All Prices F. O. B. Detroit

At these lowest of low prices and with the money now refunded, Ford cars are a bigger value today than ever before. Now is the time to place your order for reasonably prompt delivery. Terms if desired.

THE IRVING E. BOGUE CO.
NORWICH, CONN.

THUMMS

FOR YOUR NEXT BREAKFAST TRY A HOT [illegible] AND [illegible]

Norwich Bulletin.

VOL. LXV—No. 61 POPULATION 29,685 NORWICH, CONN., MONDAY, MARCH 12, 1923 EIGHT PAGES—64 COLUMNS PRICE TWO CE

TWO FRENCHMEN MURDERED IN THE MINING TOWN OF RUHR

One of the Victims Was a Lieutenant, the Other a Railroad Man—Each Body Had Five Bullet Wounds in It—No Trace Has Been Found of the Slayers—Burgomaster, Assistant Burgomaster, Chief of Police and Two Other Town Officials Are Being Held as Hostages—A Penalty of at Least 100,000,000 Marks Will be Imposed Upon the Town.

Recklinghausen, March 11 (By the A. P.)—Two Frenchmen, one an officer and the other a civilian railroad man, were assassinated last night in the streets of the mining town of Buer, near Recklinghausen.

Each body when found had five bullet wounds in it. One of the victims was Lieutenant Coltin of the Chasseurs, and the other M. Joly, chief of the Buer railroad station. No trace has been found of the slayers.

Unrest and discontent among the population of the Recklinghausen district has been smouldering for several days, and last night's shootings are considered in French quarters to have been in consequence of this. Today feeling was running high on both sides. The slaying of the Frenchmen is considered the most serious affair since the occupation of the region began.

General Laingelot, commanding the district, ordered the arrest of the burgomaster of Buer, the assistant burgomaster, the chief of police and two other town officials. All of them are being held by the French as hostages.

The French authorities asserted today that the penalty of at least 100,000,000 marks would be imposed upon the town of Bauer; that all the cafes, moving picture shows and other public places would be closed, and that German civilians will not be permitted on the streets after 7 o'clock in the evening until the excitement subsides.

Indications of renewed active resistance among German individuals were reported by the French intelligence officers during the past week. Several German secret organizations with headquarters here are said to have been formed to oppose the French in every way possible. One of these is known as "The Young Germans." Several of its leaders have been arrested. Most of the members of the organization are declared by the French to be young miners or factory workers.

The mines in the Recklinghausen district, most of which are state mines, continue in operation, but with reduced production. Although figures are not available the French say that a limited number of miners go down the shaft daily but work only three hours, spending the remainder of their time playing cards or in other amusements, notwithstanding the fact that they are receiving full pay. The sending of the men to the mines is said to have been adopted in order to keep them off the streets.

Several persons have been arrested in Bochum in connection with the discovery of a box of hand grenades in the German prison. A stick of dynamite was found recently under the gas meter in a schoolhouse occupied by the French. The French are busy engaged in trying to locate the sources of these explosives.

HOW GERMANY TREATED FRANCE FOR INDEMNITY IN 1871

Paris, March 11 (By the A. P.)—Raymond Poincare, premier of France, in a statement to The Associated Press today declared that Germany's recent complaint that the French and Belgian occupation of the Ruhr is illegal and in violation of the rights of man seemed strangely ill-founded when the world recalled what Germany was ready to do in 1871 had France not paid her indemnity to Germany.

The premier added that official documents proved that Germany wished to reinforce her army of occupation in France to a degree necessary to guarantee her rights, and that she was even ready to resume the war by mobilizing a half million men.

The premier was asked his opinion of the memorandum recently forwarded the powers by the government of the Reich, contesting the legality of the Franco-Belgian occupation of the Ruhr.

"I shall not answer that personally," replied the premier, "for my words might be suspected of partiality. I prefer to give you an irrefutable opinion, for it is from a German statesman, placed by the Germans among the very highest. I refer you to Bismarck himself."

Poincare took from his desk and opened a volume and turned the pages until he found a pamphlet in the German language entitled "Diplomatic Acts, 1871 to 1914."

"See for yourself," said the premier. "Note that these documents are dated August, 1871. Germany is victorious. France is in a full political crisis. Bismarck fears theirs will be overthrown and that another government may arise in France unfavorable to the treaty of Frankfort. What does the iron chancellor do? He immediately plans a reinforcing of the German army of occupation. Just read for yourself!"

The telegram cited by M. Poincare showed that Bismarck on August 27, 1871, sent to Waldersee, German Charge D' Affaires in Paris, the following message:

"If the present crisis in France means a political upheaval, we believe we are authorized to strengthen the German army in France in a measure necessary to our rights."

To this telegram, according to the copy shown the correspondent, Bismarck added this confidential postscript:

"For your personal information. I would like to say that if the French political situation becomes uncertain we do not think it prudent to await an act of aggression by France, but as soon as the maintenance of peace appears doubtful we will immediately proceed to the resumption of hostilities by mobilizing 500,000 men."

Bismarck followed up this telegram with a letter declaring that Germany would engage in military operations the moment the execution of the treaty of Frankfort seemed imperilled, declaring it was quite natural the preparations might result in a new declaration of war, or a new war.

"The quicker we move forward," the letter continued, "the less it will cost us to retake the positions occupied in February. But let France beware. A second war will be conducted with less German restraint than the first, and would naturally be followed by long and rigorous occupation of a considerable stretch of French territory and by German administration of the same."

"These historic documents," observed M. Poincare after the correspondent had finished reading them, "need no comment. Others could be cited almost without end."

"Thus," said M. Poincare, "if France had not met her obligations, Germany planned effective seizure of guarantees and a return of the German armies to French territory more than three years after the end of the Franco-Prussian war. Today France is merely acting in a smaller manner with, however, the great difference that the French measures are plainly authorized by the treaty of Versailles.

"No methods of the brutality which Germany planned at the time of Bismarck had France not fulfilled her engagements would ever be resorted to by France. And the United States and the rest of the world may rest assured that the occupation of the Ruhr will always preserve the same pacific character which has dominated that occupation since its inauguration."

In conclusion the premier declared that French political circles were deeply interested in how the American people regarded the question of the Ruhr. He said he had been vastly pleased by the reception of the telegrams from Washington indicating that the action of France and Belgium each day was being better understood and more favorably interpreted throughout the American continent.

"I have brought these telegrams to the attention of the foreign affairs commission of parliament," said Poincare.

HUGE DEMONSTRATION OF THYSSEN EMPLOYES

Hamborn, March 11 (By the A. P.)—Fritz Thyssen today was the center of a huge demonstration of his employes. The demonstration occurred at August Thyssen's works here at the moment the Franco-Belgian engineer commission was making a forced inspection of the plant. Thousands of officials and workmen who had ceased work on the entry of the commission greeted the appearance of Thyssen with prolonged cheering. The commissioners decided they had been ordered to ascertain the amount of stock on hand at the Thyssen plant, and when the management refused them permission to inspect the works they forced their entrance under a guard of troops. All the sirens of the plant were blown continuously during the three-hour visit of the commission. Work was resumed after the commissioners departed.

CONDITION OF INDUSTRIAL AND FINANCIAL MARKETS

New York, March 11.—Irregular movements in the stock market in which the industrial averages established new peak prices since the spring of 1920, a reactionary tendency in the bond market with a materially reduced volume of new offerings, new high records in the cotton market, and an irregularity of the foreign exchanges were the principal developments in this week's financial markets.

Striking testimony to the improvement in business was furnished by statistics made public during the week. These revealed that February pig iron production, bank clearings, railroad car loadings and automobile production were the largest of any other February in commercial history and greatly in excess of February of last year. There was a marked reduction also in the number of commercial failures.

Speculative fears that another increase in the local federal reserve rediscount rate was impending were dispelled by the bank statement of Thursday, which showed that rediscounts were at the lowest figures since the middle of January and the reserve ratio of 82.2 per cent. was the highest since last November. While bankers generally are of the opinion that the next change in the rate will be upward in response to the expanding needs of business which show no signs of abating, the increase is not looked for before late spring or summer months.

POSSE WITH BLOODHOUNDS OUT FOR WIFE MURDERER

Pompton Lakes, N. J., March 11.—A posse of 200 men with bloodhounds were engaged tonight in a wide hunt for John Manning, a steeple jack, suspected by police of stabbing his wife to death at her home here last night. The woman, with knife wounds in his body, was seen to run from her home to the street, calling for help and expired in the snow.

The countryside about Pompton Lakes was scoured this afternoon for the alleged slayer, but no clue was found. The man hunt was resumed early tonight when a large group of citizens and farmers joined the police in the search.

Police believe jealousy was the motive for the slaying. They revealed that the woman had frequently been seen in the company of a clergyman, who they say, left Pompton Lakes some time ago after receiving threatening letters from an alleged anonymous writer.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Bringing Gen. Biddle's Body Home.

Cherbourg, March 11.—The body of Major General William Phillips Biddle of the United States marine corps, who died at Nice, February 26, was sent homeward today on board the steamer President Monroe. Interment will be at Arlington cemetery.

Leader of Syndicalists Killed

Barcelona (March 11.—(By the A. P.)—Salvador Segur, leader of the syndicalist party and known as "Noy del Sucre," was killed last night by a band of unknown assassins. Another syndicalist known as "Comas," who was with him, was seriously wounded, and a boy who happened to be passing also received a bullet wound.

Pope Blessed "The Golden Rose.'

Rome, March 11.—(By the A. P.)—(By the A. P.)—Pope Pius today solemnly blessed "the golden rose" which is to be sent to Queen Victoria of Spain by the pontiff in a revival of the ancient custom of honoring a queen who during the year has performed the most pious deeds for the church.

Prince Managing Cigarette Factory

Beneva, March 11.——Prince Charles Max Lichnowsky, who was German ambassador to Great Britain at the outbreak of the World war, has just accepted employment as the manager of a cigarette factory at Baden-Baden, according to a despatch received here. The prince is said to have lost most of his large fortune since the end of the war.

150 GREEK NAVAL OFFICIALS AND MEN WERE DROWNED

Athens, March 11.—(By The A. P.) It is estimated that 150 Greek naval officers and men were drowned yesterday when the Greek transport Alexander capsized and foundered during a fierce gale between Salamis and Piraeus. The transport had on board 250 officers and men, on furlough from the Greek cruisers Georgic Savaroff, Kilyis and Lemnos. During the voyage a fierce gale was encountered. Three huge waves struck the Alexander, which turned over. An explosion of her boilers followed and the ship foundered. A smaller vessel which preceded the Alexander successfully weather the storm.

When the Alexander capsized many craft hastened to the rescue, but a majority of those on board the transport were lost owing to the smaller vessels being unable to get through the high seas. There were heartrending scenes on the admiralty pier at Salamis throughout Saturday night, where crowds watched the bringing ashore of bodies that had been picked up. A public funeral was held at Salamis today.

There was some confusion Saturday night in despatches from London and Athens regarding the Greek naval disaster. One London despatch described the vessel sunk as a tugboat while the Athens message said it was a small steamer with 400 persons on board. Both the despatches, however, said about 200 persons had been lost and others on board saved with difficulty.

KIDNAPPED BOY HAS BEEN RESTORED TO PARENTS

Albany, March 11.—Leo Minkin, 3, kidnapped by a newly employed housemaid Thursday afternoon, reached home and mother one minute before 7 o'clock, last night. His father, City Judge Leopold Minkin, brought the boy from Newburk, where the nurse-maid, Angelina Tavano, alias "Mary Conk lin," had taken him to rear as her own because she "loved him"—and was drugged."

It is expected that the girl, whose home is in Dundee Lake, N. J., will be arraigned on a kidnapping charge tomorrow morning.

Police said she had admitted taking the boy and that the case against her is "clear and simple"—as clear, perhaps, as scars of drug injections which the police said were revealed by examination of the girl's body today, and simple, probably, because the girl said:

"I took him. I don't know why I took him. I was drugged. I was out of my head when I did it. I loved him, and if loving him would make him my own, he would be mine, too."

Back in his home today, Leo repeatedly asked for Mary." He apparently was none the worse for his experiences, as he said he had had a "good time." He spent the day in reviewing home surroundings.

ACTORS OPPOSE SUNDAY THEATRE PERFORMANCES

New York, March 11.—Unanimous endorsement of the stand against Sunday theatre performances, which was taken by the council of Actors' Equity association, was voted today by 1,200 members of the association.

The members requested the council to forbid the mto play on Sunday, even in territories where performances are legal, except for bona fide benefits.

Grant Stewart, recording secretary, in explaining the equity's stand, said the death of Frank Bacon in Chicago was an example of what happened when an actor is forced to appear seven days each week.

BOMBING PLANES ARE TO BREAK ICE GORGE

Port Jervis, N. Y., March 11.—Two government bombing planes are expected to arrive here tomorrow to bomb and break an ice gorge in the Delaware river. Ice formed in a narrow gorge nearly five miles long, has backed up the river waters, which now threaten to flood this city.

The crew of a plane from the Aberdeen, Md., field today flew to the gorge on an inspection trip. They hopped off for Maryland this afternoon after reporting that bombing by plane was feasible and that two planes would arrive early tomorrow to dynamite the ice.

32 CASES SPINAL MENINGITIS IN OAXACA CITY, MEXICO

Mexico City, March 11.—Four new cases of spinal meningitis were reported Saturday from Oaxaca City, bringing the total up to 32 cases. There have been 18 deaths there from the disease, according to the advices received from the department of health.

STOWAWAY MAKES SEVENTH TRIP FROM GERMANY

New York, March 11.—The "world's champion stowaway" is here again.

Hans Breitlauch, 22, completed his seventh trip from Germany today on the President Roosevelt which docked at Hoboken after a story trip from Bremen. He was taken to Ellis Island to await deportation.

Rapid Expansion of Business Activity

Building Construction Set a New High Record for February.

New York, March 11 (By the A. P.)—Evidences of the rapid expansion of business activity have multiplied during the past week. Reports on pig iron production during February show that a new high record for the month has been set and that the capacity of the furnaces active at the close of the month was equal to just about the highest rate attained under war conditions. Last month also set a new high record for February with regard to building construction. In addition, weekly reports on railroad car loading continue to show a movement of freight unprecedented at this season of the year. It would appear, therefore, that production is at the record level, and that it is still increasing.

Commodity prices meanwhile, and not unnaturally, remain firm. Both Dun's and Bradstreet's indices moved upward during February, the advance in the general level amounting to something like 2 per cent. Examination of the component groups of the indices discloses the fact that the gains have been general. It is clear, furthermore, that the trend toward higher levels has been continued during March.

With business so active and prices firm, there have been many signs of increased public participation in the speculative markets. Pronounced activity has been apparent both in stocks and in cotton. Values have shown considerable power of resistance to the attacks of bearish professionals. The movement in both of these markets came to a halt toward the close of the week, profit-taking and short selling producing an irregularly downward trend. Nevertheless, it is generally considered thato the character of the markets has undergone a distinct change since the first of the year and much interest is being displayed in the course of events during the next few weeks.

BEAT HIS WIFE AND HER MOTHER TO DEATH

Philadelphia, March 11.—Emanuel Silva, police llege, today beat his wife and her mother, Mrs. Mary Rames, to death with a mallet in the cellar of his home and when the police arrived tried to take his own life by firing two pistol bullets into his head. Physicians said tonight that his death was expected momentarily. His 14 year old daughter escaped by breaking away from her father and leaping from a second story window.

A hole three feet deep and six feet long was found in the cellar and the police expressed the belief that Silva had planned to kill his whole family, bury them in the cellar and flee the country. He recently had sold his house and yesterday drew all his money from the bank, the authorities said. The mother, an only child, told the police that her father had finished digging the hole Friday night. She could assign no reason for his actions.

After killing his wife and mother-in-law, Silva went next door for his daughter who was attending a party there. When they entered their own home the child said her father guided her in his arms and started for the cellar. She managed to break away, ran to her room on the second floor and got the door locked as Silva reached the top of the stairs. Then, she said, when her father tried to break in the door she jumped from the window and gave the alarm.

HIGH TEMPERATURE PUZZLES PHYSICIANS

Escanaba, Mich., March 11.—Surrounded by physicians, Miss Evelyn Lyons, appeared today to have won in her fight for life last night though her temperature still hovered around 115 degrees.

Early evening she was seized with intense pains which in spite of all the doctors could do continued throughout the night.

Numerous hypodermics were administered but they aparently had no effect and finally were abandoned. Her temperature today continued to run 115 plus and her pulse was estimated at between 160 and 170.

This morning Dr. Woodyatt of Rush Medical college and Dr. Morris Fishbein arrived from Chicago and were in consultation throughout the day with Dr. Defnet, attending physician. They made several visits to the bedside of the patient but would make no statement when they left for Chicago tonight exceept to say that a statement would be made upon arrival in Chicago tomorrow. Dr. Defnet declared after the conferences that he believed his patient would recover.

FRENCH CAMPAIGNING AGAINST COMMUNISTS

Paris, March 11.—(By the A. P.)—Acting on search warrants issued by a magistrate investigating charges against certain anarchists recently arrested, the police today visited the offices of the federation of young communists, where their official newspaper is printed. They also went to the homes of M. Sellier, a municipal cocunillor, and M. La Porte, who are now under charges of inciting army recruits to disobedience.

Anti French tracts have been found posted and in circulation among the troops in the Ruhr. These appealed to the soldiers to rebel. One tract was found to be identical with a manifesto drawn up by the anarchist organ here. Hence the suspicion that the tracts had their origin in Paris.

ROUND-UP OF IRISHMEN AND WOMEN IN ENGLAND

Liverpool, March 11.—(By The A. P.)—Acting on instructions from the home office and in pursuance of a concerted plan, there was a big round-up of Irishmen and Irish women in different parts of the country, mainly in London, Manchester and Liverpool Saturday night and today. More than 100 of those apprehended were transferred to a British cruiser here and sent away, supposedly to Ireland.

OBITUARY.

John J. S. Rodgers.

Philadelphia, March 11.—John J. S. Rodgers, commissioner of conciliation in the federal department of labor, died at his home here today. He was 63 years old. For twenty-five years prior to his appointment in the labor department he had been commissioner of the bureau of immigration in this city.

$100,000 Drive for Anti-Saloon League

Campaign Opened in New York by William H. Anderson, Superintendent.

New York, March 11.—A campaign for contributions to a $100,000 "freedom fund" with which the Anti-Saloon league of this state proposes to make itself independent of John D. Rockefeller, Sr. and Jr., was launched tonight by William H. Anderson, superintendent of the league.

Mr. Anderson explained his intention was to pour the prospective $100,000 into that pocket of the league's treasury which has been depleted by the withdrawal of the support, real and "mythical," of the Rockfellers. He divides the fund into four sections:

"The first to take the place of the $25,000 which the Anti-Saloon league has received from the Messrs. Rockefeller during its fiscal year expiring April 30, 1923, and which Raymond B. Fosdick, their representative, has apparently assured the press will be cut off.

"The next two sections of $25,000 each are to take the place of the approximately $50,000 cut in the contributions of the Messrs. Rockefeller nearly two years ago and immediately after Mr. Fosdick was elected by them to supervise their gifts to the Anti-Saloon league only a few months after his public attack upon the enforcement program of the churches and the league.

"The fourth section will be the mythical last $25,000 of the $100,000 a year which Mr. Fosdick alleged in the papers to mislead the public into thinking was contributed by the Messrs. Rockefeller but which, in fact, although needed, was never given."

When the $100,000 shall have been obtained Mr. Anderson expressed a conviction that his organization would be "effectively and permanently independent of the hostile hired men of the philanthropically inclined friends of law and order."

Persons who have not heretofore contributed to the league will be asked to enlist in the "dry" army, and "those who have" will be asked if they thought the fight was over, will be asked to reenlist, to make up whatever may be lost by refusal to allow any representative of large financial interests to control the policy and management of the Anti-Saloon league and betray the moral convictions of its church constituency by making its activities conform to the wishes of the wealthy beer and wine 'wets' of New York city."

POLICEMAN WAS FORCED TO USE HIS REVOLVER

New York, March 22.—Hurled bodily over the shoulder of Patrick Cotter, 200-pound laborer, and falling at the edge of a landing six stories high, Patrolman Frank Johnson whipped his pistol from his belt and felled his assailant with a bullet before the attack was resumed. Two other men who had joined in the fight against the policemen were cowed with the arrival of other officers, while a third and the wife of the man who was shot escaped.

Patrolman Johnston was called to the house, an uptown tenepment, by Mrs. Cotter who said there was a "free for all fight," in the apartment, that the men had been drinking and her husband had thrown her out.

Cotter was wounded in the chest, but it was said that his condition was not serious.

SACCO COMPLETES 25TH DAY OF HUNGER STRIKE

Dedham, Mass., March 11.—Nicola Sacco, convicted with Bartolomeo Vanzetti of the murder of a paymaster and his guard at South Braintree, completed the 25th day of his hunger strike in the Norfolk county jail here tonight. His condition was little changed and few signs of weakness were apparent, Dr. A. M. Worthington, who examined him late today, asserted.

Sacco reaffirmed his determination to carry on his strike until the end if her were not released. The hearing on motions for a new trial for Sacco and Vanzetti will be resumed next Friday.

Food was brought to Saccos cell three times today as usual, but it was not touched. He drank his usual quantity of water.

URGING WIVES NOT TO DO HOUSEHOLD DUTIES

Mexico City, March 11.—(By the A. P.)—Married women are urged to go on strike and refuse to perform their domestic duties if their husbands vote in the approaching elections in Vera Cruz or exercise any of their political rights. The appeal to the women is contained in a manifesto, an agitator who was imprisoned several months ago at Vera Cruz on a charge of incitinf a rict, according to El Universal. The manifesto is issued in the name of international communism.

RUM RUNNERS ARRESTED AFTER EXCHANGE OF SHOTS

New York, March 11.—Residents of Riverside drive, near 139th street and North River were aroused early today when police exchanged shots with six man the officers surpsed transferring a cargo of liquor from a motor launch to a truck.

The boat disappeared after 40 cases had been thrown overboard. No one was injured. The six persons were released for examination March 19.

EPISCOPAL THEOLOGICAL SCHOOL NEEDS $1,000,000

Boston, March 11.—Bishop William Lawrence, of the Episcopal diocese of Massachusetts, national chairman of the campaign to raise a $1,000,000 endowment fund for the Episcopal theological school at Cambridge, announced tonight that the objective had been reached.

Of the sum of $1,010,000 received, the announcement said, $468,080 is in cash and securities, and the remainder in pledges of five years or less.

DR. JAMES R. DAY IN A CRITICAL CONDITION

Syracuse, March 11.—Dr. James R. Day, chancellor emeritus of Syracuse university was in a critical condition tonight, according to word from Atlantic city, where the noted educator and churchman was stricken with influenza and heart trouble. Prayers were said today in many churches of Syracuse for the recovery of Dr. Day. Mrs. Day and Miss Imogene Day are at the adside. Dr. Day is 77 years of age and was in his usual good health when he left for the seaside resort a fortnight ago.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS

Gene Wayland, one of the best known trainers of race horses in the country, died at Havre de Grace, Md.

Gold withdrawals aggregating $1,911,000 for shipment to India, were in the strong boxes of the Majestic, sailing Saturday for Europe.

Negotiations looking to the acquisition of the Porto Rican-American Tobacco company by Tobacco Products corporation are under way.

Joseph S. Howe, from 1887 until 1913 town clerk, treasurer and tax collector of Methuen, Mass., died, aged 90 years.

Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt, a bride of four days, is ill with diphtheria at the Sandy Farm estate of her husband in Portsmouth, R. I.

Two women were killed and a man was seriously injured in a mysterious explosion in Fairfax, Okla., which wrecked the home of William Smith.

Prince Friedrich Wilhelm Von Lippe, the German nationalist agitator, was tried by a courtmartial in Werden, and fined 7,000,000 marks.

Earth shocks estimated to be about 1,000 miles distant on the Pacific coast, were registered at the National observatory at San Jose, Costa Rica.

Ganna Walska, singer, who in private life is Mrs. Harold F. McCormick, rejoined her husband in San Diego, Cal., after a concert tour in the east.

A judgment discharging from custody the British steamer Ister and her cargo of whiskey, seized at Halifax, N. S., a week ago, was handed down in the admiralty court.

The democratic party in New York state gained 65,794 enrolled voters during the past year. The republicans lost, their enrollment figures showing a decrease of 137,921 from last year's.

Frank Burek, charged with the murder of his wife Mary, in their home in Holyoke, Mass., waived examination in district court and was held for the grand jury.

A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed by the Stanford Hotels company of Fall River. Liabilities were listed at $34,985. No assets were given.

Bottle fishermen boasted that runners from Northern New Jersey and Long Island Friday had made a successful sally to the rum fleet off Ambrose channel.

The British foreign office gave official and absolute denial to reports that the French government or the allies had ever considered contracting for American Negro labor in the Ruhr mines.

Mrs. Elta Kauffman, 57 widow of Abraham Kauffman, New England knitting mill owner, fell dead from heart disease in her apartment in a beach front hotel in Atlantic City, N. J.

Alexander P. Moore, former Pittsburgh publisher recently appointed ambassador to Spain and Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, were among the passengers sailing Saturday on the George Washington for Europe.

The department of agriculture has collected a total of $66,477 in excess profits of dealers on the 1918 wool clip and distributed $360,365 of this amount to more than 100,000 wool growers throughout the country.

Official announcement was made by Alfred Cote, president of the Nashua (N. H.) local of the United Textile Workers, that the strike of mill operatives, begun February 14, 1922, had been called off.

Net income of $277,166 for the year 1922 is disclosed in the annual report of the Pacific Mail Steamship company, made public yesterday, as compared with a deficit of $495,591 in 1921.

A Massachusetts legislative committee voted "leave to withdraw" on a bill to place a statue of Major General Clarence R. Edwards, U. S. A., retired, former commander of the Yankee Division overseas, in the state house.

George L. Dillaway of Boston, an attorney was arrested on an indictment warrant alleging larceny of $15,000 from the Franco-Boston Navigation Co. in 1922.

A truck supposedly loaded with leather is in custody of the police department of Salem, Mass., with a large quantity of assorted liquors, valued at $6,000.

Miss Rose Lee Saltonstall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Saltonstall of Boston, was married Saturday to William C. Potter, president of the Guaranty Trust company of New York.

District Attorney Thomas C. O'Brien of Boston, has begun an investigation into the affairs of the Greater Boston Mortgage corporation, under inquiry by a shareholders' committee.

A school of instruction in the art of self-healing, the first in this country to teach the use of conscious auto-suggestion as practised by Emil Coue of France, is to be established in Boston.

Walter G. Smith of Philadelphia, former president of the American Bar association, has been awarded the 1923 Laetare Medal of Notre Dame university.

Abraham S. Kubitsky, a poultry dealer, was indicted by the grand jury of Boston, for bribery because of his sending gifts to Dr. Patrick H. Mullowney, deputy health commissioned, just before last Christmas.

A large drug and liquor seizure was made by the police at a dwelling on Condor street in the East Boston district and four persons arrested were taken to the district court to answer to charges of violating drug and prohibition laws.

The annual report of the United States Rubber company for 1922, made public yesterday, discloses net income, after payment of interest and other charges, except dividends on the preferred stock of $7,692,039 compared with $493,811 in 1921.

Alexander S. Melior, assistant fire chief in Bridgeport, was seriously injured when he fell on jagged glass while crawling through a window at the furniture store of M. Quinn and company, where flames caused damage of $10,000.

SIX SAILORS WERE SWEPT OVERBOARD AND DROWN

Two Members of the Crew of the Fishing Schooner Helen M. Coolen Lost Their Lives During the Terrific Storm of Last Week—Schooner Later Foundered on the Banks—Sixteen Members of the Crew Were Rescued by the Schooner Elizabeth Howard, Which Had Lost Four of Her Crew.

Halifax, N. S., March 11. — The Gloucester fishing schooner Elizabeth Howard limped into this port today with sixteen of the crew of the lost Nova Scotia fishing schooner Helen M. Coolen safe on board, but with a tale of the loss of six lives during the terrific storms of last week on the North Atlantic.

The Elizabeth Howard reported that the Helen M. Coolen foundered on the Banks not long after two of her crew had been swept overboard, caught in the same terrific storm as the sea struck the Howard, carrying off four men and everything moveable.

Captain Dan MacDonald, of the Howard, brought his vessel into port showing plainly the effects of terrific buffeting by heavy seas. He related that late Wednesday night while off the northeast bar of Sable Island, "the graveyard of the Atlantic," the vessel was caught with the full force of a gale.

A great sea boarded the vessel after midnight and in the darkness and the blinding snow the cries of the men overboard were heard faintly. Buoys were thrown out and when a lull came the schooner moved about showing flares but no trace of the men was found.

When the wind abated the roll was called and four men failed to respond to the muster. On Thursday the Howard started for Halifax to make repairs and report the loss of life. As she groped her way through the stormy sea she sighted a schooner flying distress signals and wallowing in the heavy sea. The Howard bore down on the helpless craft, which proved to be the Nova Scotia fisherman Helen M. Coolen, which had lost two members of her crew in the storm.

The vessel was in imminent danger of sinking, so duries were put out by the Howard and sixteen of the Coolen's crew were taken aboard. Soon afterwards the Coolen foundered and the Howard set sail for Halifax.

The Elizabeth Howard was an unsuccessful contended for the honor of representing the American fishing fleet in the annual international fishermen's race, going down to defeat at the hands of the Henry Ford, which subsequently lost to the Canadian defender Blue nose.

PRESIDENT HARDING HAD RESTFUL SUNDAY

Palm Beach, Fla., March 11.—At a little white church with green shutters and shingled roof, externally not greatly unlike thousands of such places of worship scattered through out the small towns of America, President Harding today attended services.

It was the first Sunday of his Florida vacation and the President and Mrs. Harding spent it as quietly or even more restfully than a Sunday at the White House. The chief executive during the morning rested and read aboard the Pioneer, the vacation houseboat, which was anchored during the night in Lakeworth, midway between Palm Beach and West Palm Beach. After church and luncheon both he and Mrs. Harding with the other members of their vacation party made themselves comfortable and the cruise southward was resumed.

The expectation was that when the Pioneer cast off at 2 o'clock this afternoon that the next stop would be at Fort Lauderdale, about 40 miles below here for a round of golf tomorrow. From that point the trip is to be made without stop to Miami, the southern terminus of the vacation cruise which will probably be reached sometime Tuesday.

The president was accompanied by former Director Dawes of the budget and Brigadier General Charles H. Sawyer, both members of the house-boat party. Mrs. Harding did not leave the houseboat.

Announcement yesterday that the president proposed to attend church here crowded the little non-sectarian edifice known as the "Royal Poinciana Chapel." Several hundred were gathered waiting to get within the doors when the president arrived.

"IZZY" AND "MOE," IN DISGUISE, MAKE RAIDS

New York, March 11.—Disguised in a week's growth of board, old clothing and hobbling around with crutches, "Izzy" Einstein and "Moe" Smith, prohibition agents extraordinary, today raided fifteen cafes, restaurants and near beer establishments, arrested 19 men and seized liquor valued at $.0,000.

Hobbling into establishments frequented by patrons of small means, Einstein and Smith purchased drinks. When the librations were served, proprietors were arrested and liquors seized.

In one cafe, the proprietor fled with a bottle of whiskey in his hand. He was pursued two blocks before being overtaken by Smith, who discarded his crutches in the chase.

The agents invaded a dance hall where a masked ball was in progress and made their largest haul, when liquor and wine valued at $35,000 was seized.

Four trucks of liquor was labelled and taken to a government warehouse as evidence.

MEETING OF ROOSEVELT MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION

Harrisburg, Pa., March 11. — The "Living Memorial to Theodore Roosevelt" is an established fact and its activities are increasing, Governor Pinchot, chairman of the committee on the Perpetuation of Roosevelt's ideals, of the Roosevelt Memorial association, said today after a meeting at which plans for bringing the message to all the public were discussed.

The Memorial association already is doing extensive work in spreading the knowledge of Roosevelt's character and career and the activities under the "living memorial" will include the compilations of selections from his writings for use in the schools, preparing a complete Roosevelt biography, establishing a Roosevelt Museum at his birthplace and the assembling of a memorial library of manuscripts, books and all articles relating to him.

BRITISH SCHOONER ROBBED BY PIRATES

Halifax, N. S., March 11.—Pirates held up and robbed the British schooner Eddie James, of six hundred cases of whiskey and $6,000 in cash and also carried off the supercargo of the schooner when she was at anchor off New York on March 2, Captain Mosher of the James said when the schooner arrived here today.

OLDEST LIVING WOMAN IN NEW ENGLAND

Willimantic, March 11.—Former Mayor Herbert E. Chappell today visited his mother, Mrs. Marie Horton Chappell in Scotonk, Mass., where she was celebrating her 103th birthday. He took her 103 carnations as a tribute. Mrs. Chappell is believed to be the oldest living woman in New England.

WATERBURY BARS THE NOTED RADICAL, TRESCA

Waterbury, March 11.—Carlo Tresca, noted radical of New York, was prevented from addressing a crowd of 3,000 Italians at a mass meeting here today by police under orders from the superintendent of police. Tresca was similarly prevented three weeks ago and endeavored through attorneys to secure an injunction to prevent the police from interfering with today's meeting, but Judge Isaac Wolfe of the superior court refused to issue it.

With Tresca were his brother Mario, Pietro Allegra of New York, Rev. F. C. Lauderburn of Berkeley Divinity school of Middletown, Rabbi Lewis Brown of Waterbury and Roger S. Baldwin of Woodbury, son of former Governor Simeon E. Baldwin. The three latter are members of the American Civil Liberties union, which had been furnishing Tresca with legal aid and has announced that it will test case will be made of the two Waterbury affairs to determine the free speech issue.

Roger S. Baldwin, in introducing Tresca, announced that he would read the declaration of rights from the state constitution, and this he attempted to do but was stopped by the police.

Tresca was not arrested, but two men who attempted to enter the hall were arrested for carrying concealed weapons. Tresca announced that he would come here again to speak, first endeavoring to secure an injunction. He also threatened to bring civil action against the Waterbury officials for interfering with his speech. Members of the local fascist organization in the audience hissed Tresca and Allegra, who attempted to speak, calling the latter many insulting names.

PHYSICIAN PRONOUNCES GOMPERS OUT OF DANGER

New York, March 11.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, confined to Lenox Hill hospital since last Wednesday with pneumonia, is out of danger, his physician, Dr. G. G. Fisch, said today. "Mr. Gompers," he said, "has made good progress and may be considered out of danger. He is still weak, however, as is usual in cases of this illness."

The labor chief is expected to be able to leave the hospital the latter part of the week. He will go to Florida to recuperate. Two sons, Samuel, Jr., and Henry, of Washington, D. C., visited their father at the hospital today.

FEAR THAT PRIEST HAS BEEN KIDNAPPED

Virden, Ill., March 11.—Rewards totaling $1,500 were offered today by Catholic residents of Virden and vicinity for information in connection with the disappearance in St. Louis last Monday of the Rev. J. A. Vranlak, of Virden. The day brought no new developments which would shed light on the mystery. Search for the priest has been abandoned here by his family and congregation but hope of finding him alive still is held.

One reward offers $500 for information leading to the finding of Father Vranik, dead or alive. The other promises $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the parties guilty of abducting, injuring or killing him. The money has been deposited in a local bank.

FEDERAL FARM LOAN BOARD IN CONFERENCE

Washington, March 11.—The federal farm loan board and the presidents of the federal land banks with whom it has been in a three-day conference, expect to discuss with Secretary Mellon tomorrow conclusions reached with respect to starting operation of the new intermediate farm credits banks authorized under recently enacted legislation. The board has given assurance that the new federal credit system designed to extend financial aid to agriculture will be ready to lend a hand to the farmers by the time spring planting begin.

Indications today were that the general scheme of carrying out the law's provisions, agreed upon at the conference but still held in confidence, lacked only the approval of the secretary of the treasury in a general way.

GOV. TEMPLETON STILL SUFFERS WITH GRIPPE

Waterbury, March 11.—Governor A. Templeton is still so ill with grippe that he is not expected to be at the capital for several days, dinner which had been arranged in his honor by the local republican organization awaiting his arrival here tonight, has been postponed to the following week.

WILLIMANTIC

NORWICH BULLETIN
Willimantic Office
31 Church Street Telephone 1000

Mrs. Bridget Daugherty Connelly, one of Willimantic's oldest and most highly respected residents and the widow of Timothy Connelly, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. David F. Ahern, No. 155 High street, Friday night. The deceased, who died after a short illness, was 76 years old and leaves one daughter, Mrs. David Ahern, two sons, John of this city and Timothy Connelly of Stonington, and several grandchildren.

The funeral services for Mrs. Cora (Markham) Caya were held Saturday morning at the late home, No. 20 Milk street, at 8.45 o'clock, followed by a requiem high mass at St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock. Rev. E. O. Mathieu was the celebrant. The church choir rendered special music and Mrs. Joseph F. Gaudreau presided at the organ. Many friends and relatives were in attendance at the services and numerous floral pieces were in evidence. The bearers were: Omer Caya, David Caya, Nelson Laurence, Louis Messier, Joseph Cyr and Henri Caya. The remains were placed in the receiving vault of St. Joseph's cemetery. Rev. E. O. Mathieu conducted a committal service.

Mrs. Carine Taft Warner, died at her home in South Coventry Saturday morning. She was the wife of David H. Warner and was born in Burrillville, R. I., April 12, 1851, the daughter of William and Arrena (Logee) Taft. She had been a resident in Coventry for about four years. Besides her husband, she leaves one sister, Mrs. Minerva Kimball of East Thompson; one son, David H. Warner, Jr., of Storrs; and one daughter, Mrs. Ruth King of Windsor, Vt.

The funeral of John C. Ayer was held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at his home in South Coventry. Rev. Charles G. Johnson officiated. Burial took place in the Nathan Hale cemetery. Avery and Van Zandt, successors to Jay M. Shepard were in charge of the arrangements.

The special town meeting for ratifying or disapproving the action voted upon at a special meeting, appropriating $18,000 for a new bridge over the Natchaug river at the lower end of the city, to replace the one known as Horseshoe bridge, and $8,000 for the erection of a receiving vault at the new Willimantic cemetery, were held Saturday afternoon. Town Clerk Fenton called the meeting to order at 3 o'clock and there were fifteen men and six women present. The voting was by ballot and continued from 3 o'clock to 5 o'clock. Lyman Maine and John Stoughton were in charge of the ballot boxes. When the votes were counted up later in the afternoon it was found that both appropriations had been ratified.

Several cases were heard in police court Saturday morning. The first was that of Anthony Latusek of No. 1 Mills street, in whose room officers of the local department found three quarts of moonshine. He entered a plea of not guilty to the charges of possession, intent to sell and actual sale of liquor. His case was continued until this (Monday) morning and bonds of $200 were furnished by the father of the accused, John Latusek of Ash avenue.

The continued case of Edward Goulette, charged with assault on James Walker was resumed Saturday. Mrs. Ouelette was first to testify. She claimed that Walker had been like a brother to her and that on two occasions her husband had sent her to Walker to borrow money. She stated that she was 17 years old. She did not know just how long they had been married but she had a baby and her husband had never provided for it even after she had had him arrested for non-support.

James Walker then took the stand and told of meeting Mrs. Ouelette after he had left the Quidnick-Windham company plant where he is a night watchman, to go to his lunch. After a brief talk with the woman they parted and he was then assaulted by Ouelette.

Edward Ouelette, aged 19, testified that he had assaulted Walker, but believed that he had good cause as Walker, who had once been his friend, was now too familiar with Mrs. Ouelette, who was always out nights.

Judge Foss severely reprimanded Mrs. Ouelette for her past conduct and warned her that familiarity with other men would finally cause her to be sent to the State Farm for Women. The court stated that Walker probably got what he deserved. Ouelette was fined $1 and costs with the costs remitted.

Henry Clouthier was charged with assaulting Bertram Melvin in the city yard on Watson street. Clouthier said that Melvin had often insulted him and often called him a yellow French quitter. Friday an argument arose and he grabbed Melvin and administered a few sound punches.

Melvin stated that he had been struck twice by the accused but could not remember much about the affair. Friday night he wished to withdraw the charge against Clouthier, but at the instigation of the superintendent of streets, Irving M. Ford, it was allowed to remain.

Superintendent Ford testified to his coming into the yard and witnessing the fight. He wished to have the arrest made in order to put a stop to the perpetual trouble which was occurring in the city yard.

Clouthier claimed that Ford did not witness the fight as he ran upstairs as soon as it started.

Clouthier was found guilty by Judge Foss and fined $1 and costs, which he paid.

Thomas Rudden, who gave his address as Colchester, pleaded guilty to the charge of intoxication. The arrest was made by Officer McLean after Rudden had insulted several people. He was fined $10 and costs, totalling $17.15.

The fifth car from the end of a long train of freights entering this city late Friday night, dropped a brake beam and toppled from the trucks near the Bridge street crossing of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railway and blocked traffic for several hours. The freight train had stopped between the Bridge street crossing and the Quidnick-Windham company's private crossing and was just getting under way when the car left the trucks and fell over. The car was loaded with hay. The wrecker from East Hartford was sent for and some time after 12 o'clock the damaged car had been repaired and traffic resumed.

The campaign to raise $1,000 to pay off the mortgage on the A. M. E. Zion church on Spring street has been under way for about ten days and up to date Rev. David E. Overton reports the receipt of $200. That amount is considered fairly large considering the poor weather conditions which have prevailed. Noah Webster, treasurer of the Willimantic Savings Institute, is prepared to receive donations and give receipts for the same. The parishioners are very grateful for those who have already donated and express a hope of reaching their goal within a short time.

Engine Company No. 1 was called out Friday night for a fire in a small barn owned by Mrs. A. T. Walker and situated in the rear of 220 Spring street. A stream of water was turned onto the blazing structure and after an hour's fight the blaze was extinguished. It is believed that fire caught from an overheated stove. The barn was used to store a truck, a Ford tractor, oil tanks and a gasoline tank, belonging to the state highway department. The truck and tractor were damaged to some extent.

President Charles W. Hill headed a delegation of twenty-five members of the American Thread association which motored to Westerly, R. I., Saturday. Both men's and girls' bowling teams were scheduled for a match with the aggregations representing the William Clark Mills association in return engagements. A reception was tendered the Thread city visitors on their arrival there.

The athletic meeting of the junior department of the Y. M. C. A. was concluded Saturday morning with a quarter-mile run won by Stanley

(Continued on Page Three, Col. Six)

Take BEECHAM'S PILLS for Constipation

THE HURTEAU AND BOSSE CORP.
HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS
FUNERAL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS
816 Main Street, Willimantic, Conn.
Phone 641-2

JAY M. SHEPARD
Successor to Fillmore & Shepard
Funeral Director & Embalmer
50-52 NORTH ST. WILLIMANTIC
Lady Assistant. Tel. Connection

Killourey Bros.
FUNERAL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS
86 Union St. Willimantic, Conn.
Phone 236 (Lady Assistant)

ASTHMA
No cure for it, but welcome relief is often brought by—
VICKS VAPORUB
Over 17 Million Jars Used Yearly

THE H. C. MURRAY CO.
MURRAY'S BOSTON STORE
WILLIMANTIC, CONN.

CHASE AGRIPPA
A NON-SLIPPING MATERIAL THAT PREVENTS RUGS FROM SLIPPING ON HARDWOOD FLOORS
Hard wood floors are both the pride and despair of housewives. So easily kept clean and so attractive, they are the modern ideal in homes. They have one decided disadvantage, they are treacherously slippery when small rugs are used as floor coverings.
A small rug looks so innocent when lying flat on a hardwood floor, but it is full of tricks—step on it and it will slip and you generally go with it.
Chase Agrippa ends all this and eliminates the only valid objection that ever has existed against hardwood floors.
On Sale Here at the Floor Covering Department

THE WIDE-AWAKE CIRCLE

Boys' and Girls' Department

Rules For Young Writers.

1—Write plainly on one side of the paper only, and number the pages.
2—Use pen and ink, not pencil.
3—Short and pointed articles will be given preference. Do not use over 150 words.
4—Original stories or letters only will be used.
5—Write your name, age and address plainly at the bottom of the story.

POETRY FOR THE WIDE-AWAKES

Company for Dinner.

Company for dinner!
That is just the time
Someone spills the water,
Brother acts like crime.
Sister's all for crying,
Baby smears his food
On his bib and high chair
And just won't be good!

Company for dinner!
Mother's so polite,
Though she's mighty rattled!
Nothing's going right.
Dressed 'em up so cunning,
Made their faces shine!
Wishes their behavior
Was just half as fine!

Company for dinner!
Pretty soon, I know,
When the dinner's over
Off to bed they'll go.
Just to see them sleeping,
Sweet as they can be,
Never'd think they'd act so
When there's company!
—Anne Campbell, in Detroit News.

The Sandman.

The rosy clouds float overhead,
The sun is going down;
And now the sandman's gentle tread
Comes stealing through the town.
"White sand, white sand," he softly cries,
And as he shakes his hand
Straightway there lies on babies' eyes
His gift of shining sand.
Blue eyes, gray eyes, black eyes and brown,
As shuts the rose, they softly close,
when he goes through the town.

From sunny beaches far away—
Yes, in another land—
He gathers up at break of day
His store of shining sand.
No tempests beat that shore remote,
No ships may sail that way;
His little boat alone may float
Within that lovely bay.
Blue eyes, gray eyes, black eyes and brown,
As shuts tiff rose, they softly close,
when he goes through the town.

He smiles to see the eyelids close
Above the happy eyes.
And every child right well he knows—
Oh, he is very wise!
But if, as he goes through the land,
A naughty baby cries,
His other hand takes dull gray sand
To close the wakeful eyes.
Blue eyes, gray eyes, black eyes and brown,
As shuts the rose, they softly close,
when he goes through the town.

So when you hear the sandman's song
Sound through the twilight sweet,
Be sure you do not keep him long
Awaiting on the street.
Lie softly down, dear little head,
Rest quiet, busy hands.
Till, by your bed his good-night said,
He strews the shining sands.
Blue eyes, gray eyes, black eyes and brown,
As shuts the rose, they softly close,
when he goes through the town.
—Margaret Vandergrift.

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDE-AWAKES.

Very few of us realize what a wonderful invention of man is the great ship which carries us across the oceans to far distant lands. No doubt many of the Wide-Awakes have seen great oceangoing liners, and perhaps some of you have made journeys on them.

Some of these great steamers are really floating palaces. Some of them are as high as 15-story buildings and are a fifth of a mile long. Did you ever wonder how much coal it takes to supply the steam to carry one of these big ships across the Atlantic ocean? The coal that takes a great ship across the Atlantic requires 22 long trains, each carrying 300 tons, to haul it from the mines to the coaling wharf.

It requires a crew of nearly 1,000 to operate a ship like the Mauretania. There are nearly 400 men employed in the engineer's department alone. There there are 70 sailors, 350 stewards and 50 cooks, in addition to the stewardesses, telegraph operators, printers, telephone operators and a band. The passengers that such a ship carries number about 2,000.

From these figures it will be seen that it requires a vast amount of food to feed all the people on board during the journey. Here is part of the food supply that one ship carried on a trip across: 2,000 fowls, 150 turkeys, 350 ducks, 90 geese, 130 pigs, 40 oxen, 80 sheep, 10 calves, 60 lambs, 200 snipe, 200 pheasants, 400 pigeons, 250 partridges, 800 quail and 250 grouse, besides all kinds of vegetables and fruit.

When we stop and think that not very many years ago ships like those we have today were unheard of, we can begin to realize what a wonderful age we are living in. Science and invention are doing things today that people a few years ago said were impossible. If everybody had felt the same way about new ideas, we would still be crossing the Atlantic ocean in sailing vessels. This shows what hard work and determination to succeed will do.

The boys and girls of today have opportunities that their parents and grandparents did not have when they were children. Don't neglect your opportunities, Wide-Awakes. Study hard, get as good an education as you possibly can. Don't let seemingly impossible tasks frighten or discourage you. Go at them with a will and determination and you will succeed.

WINNERS OF PRIZE BOOKS.

1—Estella Brand, Preston—Mildred and Elsie.
2—George Abrahamson, Preston—Try and Trust.
3—Mildred Kinns, Voluntown—The Girl Scouts' Triumph.
4—Alice Nygren, Lisbon—The Girl Scouts' Rally.
5—Sarah Gill, Jewett City—The Camp Fire Girls at Long Lake.
6—Henry U. Yeomans, Attawaugan—Bound to Rise.
7—Irene Parent, Taftville—The Camp Fire Girls on the March.
8—Geneva Olsson, Danielson—The Girl Scouts' Rally.

LETTERS OF ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

Ida M. Woods, Voluntown—I am writing this to thank you for the prize book you sent me. I have started reading it, and find it very interesting.

Esther Kresowitz, Columbia—I received your book that you sent me, The Girl Scout Rally. I find the book very interesting. I thank you very much for the book.

Charles German, Columbia—The book you sent me is very interesting. It is one of the most interesting books I ever read. I thank you very much for it.

Joe Kresowitz, Columbia—I received your book, Strong and Steady. I read it, and it is one of my best books I read. I thank you very much for the book.

Clarissa Loring, Central Village—I have received your book of the Story of the Stuffed Elephants. I have read it and it was very good.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE-AWAKES.

What I Saw in New York.

Dear Uncle Jed: As March is coming near it makes me think of St. Patrick's day and the good time I once had when I went with my father and mother to New York. It was on St. Patrick's day. We were visiting my aunt and uncle. In the afternoon my sister and I went to see the St. Patrick's parade which they always have on that day.

The next day we went to Bronx Park zoo and saw all kinds of animals. We saw groups of woodchucks which we then thought queer but now think very common. We saw a monkey and there was a table near it. The monkey tipped the table over and sat on one leg and eat an orange. We saw some big boas that looked very horrid. We thought that every camel only had one hump but we found out that there were camels with double humps. Then we saw the growling lions and the deer with branch-like horns. We saw many other kinds of animals but I could not tell about them all.

After we had seen all the animals we went to look at the birds and plants. We would have gone down to the aquarium which my father says is very interesting, but we did not have time. That afternoon we went home very much pleased with what we had seen.

GEORGE ABRAHAMSON, Age 11.
Preston.

In Fourth Grade.

Dear Uncle Jed: I have never written to you before. I am in the fourth grade in school and I like to study my lessons. I have two younger brothers who also attend school and two little sisters and a baby brother at home.

We have a nice dog whose name is Rover. When I say, Good morning, Rover, he will put up his paw and shake hands.

Last fall I had three large rabbits. Their names were Peter, Brownie and Fluffy. Later Brownie had three baby rabbits. They were pretty; two were white and one was black, but the little ones died and I sold the old ones.

TONY DELMONICO, Age 10.
Moosup.

Has Radio.

Dear Uncle Jed: Perhaps you will be interested to hear about my radio. I have a radiet set and loud speaker. I have heard as far west as Kansas City, Missouri, and Davenport, Iowa. Every night I like to hear the bedtime stories. I enjoy hearing the songs from the Bubble book every Sunday night. After the bedtime story I listen to the musical programme. I hear some violin solos, bands, singing and great men speak. I think I would be very lonesome without my radio.

CHARLES SIMONEAU, Age 11.
Danielson.

About Our School.

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about our school and some of my outdoor sports. I am in the sixth grade in school. We bring cocoons to school to use for observation and have put them under a glass.

We are saving money and putting it into the Chelsea Savings Bank. I have four dollars to my account now.

We have won two banners for the month of February. The Voluntown Center and the Wylie school bought some banners and the school that has the best attendance is the cleanest and has the most money to put in the bank for the month gets the banners. They are the attendance, thrift and the cleanliness banners.

We gave money for the Red Cross and we have received a Red Cross enrollments card, and a calendar.

FLOYD C. BARBER.
Moosup.

Education.

Dear Uncle Jed: Do all the Wide-Awakes realize how very important education is? It is one of the greatest necessities in life. Probably you have read that our forefathers had to work very hard. This was because they had very little education. If the Wide-Awakes don't want to work hard I think they will have to go farther than grammar school. You could go a year or two in high school. This would do you a great deal of good I presume. When you finish grammar school if you go straight to work you probably will get good pay, but I think you will have to work hard for your money. If instead of going straight to work, you take a high school course you can earn just as much money, or more by easy working. That is why I think education is important. Now when you have heard my story don't you think education is important? I hope all the Wide-Awakes will try to go a step or two farther and get a better education.

ALICE NYGREN, Age 13.
Lisbon.

Sliding.

Dear Uncle Jed: Plainfield is a great place to slide. I go to school every day, and when I get home I take my sled and there is a great big hill about a half a mile long and it is fine coasting down it. There is a lot of boys and girls every night after school sliding down hill. I got my sled for Christmas. My grandma gave it to me.

LAWRENCE ASHLEY, Age 11.
Plainfield.

My Travels.

Dear Uncle Jed: I have traveled quite a little and I will tell you about some of my journeys. When I was two years old I went to Monta Cello, N. Y., where I got sick eating green apples. My mother then took me home, which was in New York, to see a doctor. The next place I went to was Davenport Centre, N. Y., which is in the Catskill mountains. I stayed there for three years and then went back to New York city. The third place I went to was Newburgh, N. Y., which is some of Niagara. I stayed there a while and then went to Niagara Falls, N. Y., just then was built by New York city roads. After that I went to Jamestown, N. Y., where I stayed for a year and then went to Fredonia, N. Y., where I stayed for a year and then went to Dunkirk, N. Y., where I stayed for a year and then went to Buffalo, N. Y., where I stayed for a year and then went to Rochester, N. Y., where I stayed for a year and then went to Syracuse, N. Y., where I stayed for a year and then went to Albany, N. Y., where I stayed for a year and then went to Troy, N. Y., where I stayed for a year and then went to Schenectady, N. Y., where I stayed for a year and then went to Utica, N. Y., where I stayed for a year and then went to Rome, N. Y., where I stayed for a year and then went to Oneida

HOPPE AND SCHAEFER MEET TONIGHT IN FIRST BLOCK FOR BILLIARD TITLE

New York, March 11—(By the A. P.)—Masters of the cue, Willie Hoppe, champion, and Jacob Schaefer, challenger, today finished preparation for their match for the world's 18.2 balkline billiard championship, starting tomorrow night in the grand ballroom of Hotel Pennsylvania. The match is to be held in three blocks of 500 points, one block to be played each night.

In predicting new records in the challenge match, veteran billiardists recite the evolution of the professional billiard game from straight-rail to 18.2 in order to prove that nothing is impossible of accomplishment by the masters.

Charles C. Peterson, of St. Louis, noted trick shot expert, and an associate of Hoppe, has produced from his scrap books for the Associated Press, the story of evolution of the game since the first championship straight rail tournament on a 5x10 table was played in the United States, in New York, June, 1872.

The billiardist, Garnier, won that tournament with a grand average of 7. In November of the same year the late Jacob Schaefer, father of the young Marcel who meets Hoppe this week, lost to George F. Slosson in a championship match. Slosson had a high run of 45. The stars soon mastered this game, and it was laid away on the shelf in 1890, when Schaefer defeated McCleery, of San Francisco, 3000 to 15 in a handicap game. Schaefer counted his 3000 points in three blocks of 1,000, played succeeding nights without a miss. Schaefer had perfected the "rail nurse" and 'twas said of him that he could have counted for years and years without a miss if he had had the strength.

So they invented balkline. The first balkline was 2 inches from the cushions. As the players mastered the games the lines were extended to 10, 13 and 14 inches. Still it was easy. Then the 18.1 game was inaugurated, but did not meet with favor and was abandoned temporarily, and 14.1 was adopted. Various sorts of handicaps were imposed.

Young Hoppe arrived about this time. Big runs were common. A noted billiardist named Parker introduced the anchor block, 3 1-2 x 7 inches in the anchor spaces, to prevent the anchor nurse. Peterson then discovered a kiss nurse in the anchor territory showing that the possibilities of runs were unlimited. His shot, although not permitted in the rules, in that he did not pause between the counts, caused another change. Peterson made 1,000 counts in four minutes 37 seconds on his kiss nurse shot.

Those who feared of this feat scoffed at it, and Peterson had to exhibit it several times. Then the anchor block dimensions were changed to 7x7 inches, such as is used today.

WITH JEWETT CITY BOWLERS

March 8th bowling scores on local alleys:

Aspinook 2nd
Kingaly	92	102	102	297
Carange	104	90	120	314
Symington	86	109	89	269
Rioux	99	131	85	315
Robertson	97	102	90	290
Totals	472	536	477	1485
Lucky Five
Thompson	85	78	101	264
A. Raney	90	108	94	292
Ouga	100	124	99	323
G. Raney	140	108	128	376
Miller	143	122	119	384
Totals	543	540	541	1629
J. C. League
W. Raill	116	101	115	332
W. Guillotte	86	89	80	255
W. Lachapelle	105	94	114	313
W. Fontaine	90	95	125	310
E. Guillotte	103	98	85	286
Totals	600	477	519	1446
Ninigret
Marshall	106	103	86	300
Johnson	122	99	105	326
A. LeClaire	116	96	95	307
Dison	103	126	106	340
H. LeClaire	95	108	109	312
Totals	537	537	507	1595

Seven members of the local rifle team journeyed to Mystic Saturday, where some fine targets were made in a contest with the team from that town. An even break was the result. The scores:

Mystic
	offhand	prone	total
Davis	24	23	47
Ballou	23	25	48
P. Morgan	23	25	48
Sanford	24	24	48
C. Morgan	24	25	49
Brown	20	26	47
Wilson	21	25	46
Jewett City
	offhand	prone	total
W. Marshal	22	25	47
A. Stebbins	23	25	48
D. Ballou	23	25	48
M. Berkenshroder	22	25	47
Paul Geist, Jr.	24	23	47
E. S. Hiscox	25	22	47
Charles Palmer	25	25	50

Charles Palmer made the only perfect score. Palmer and Hiscox were perfect at off-hand.

NEW LEADERS STEP OUT IN BOWLING TOURNEY

Milwaukee, Wis., March 11—Today's competition in the annual tournament of the American Bowling Congress brought out new leaders. The flat fwellers number 27 who took the lead last night, with a score of 2,579, was driven down to third place, and the Plankinton Globe number 1, assumed the leadership with a score of 2,760.

W. Szalski, a member of the Plankinton Globe number 1, was the first man to get a score of 600 or better in the meet. He had games of 222, 182, and 196 for a total of 602.

Only five man teams are scheduled to bowl up to Friday, on which day the competition in the singles and doubles will start.

FIRPO ALL SET TO MEET BRENNAN TONIGHT

New York, March 11—Luis Angel Firpo, heavyweight champion of the Argentine Republic, put on the finishing touches today in preparation for his bout with Bill Brennan in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

The fifteen round go will either make or break Firpo as a drawing card in the United States. If he wins there are some who say he will be the logical man to buck Jack Dempsey in a struggle for the world's champion-ship belt. If he loses the sporting fraternity is wondering which ship he'll take to Buenos Aires.

Aside from its importance as a possible preliminary to a championship match, as well as its international aspect, the scrap tomorrow night will be a battle between the young and the old. Firpo has few years to his credit, with a consequent lack of experience. But he is powerful and furthermore he is game and packs a terrific punch.

Brennan, on the other hand, has passed his heyday, so far as boxers go, but he has retained a lot of knowledge that he picked up in one ring or another. He is onto the trick of the game and can usually tell from a good long distance what is likely to happen next.

The South American's previous showings in this country have not been all that his backers desired, but as Tex Rickard says, he has had time to improve. Jimmy de Forest, Firpo's trainer, has been secretly teaching him scores of those tricks that Brennan knows so well. It is generally understood that these executive sessions have been largely devoted to instruction in the mental side of pugilism.

SIX-DAY RIDERS WILL GET PRIZES TODAY

New York, March 11—The prize winners of the international six-day bicycle race will receive their money tomorrow at Madison Square garden. Alfred Goullet of Newark, N. J., and Alfred Grenda of Tasmania, the Australian-American team which caught the Lands-Gastman team in the last minutes of the grind, during one of the wildest sprints ever seen at a six-day race and captured first place, will get the largest purse.

Lands and Gastman earned the second place award. The two Jersey riders, little known to the bicycle followers, took the huge gathering by surprise about half an hour after the sprint session had started and lapped the field.

Peter Van Kempen of Holland and Oscar Egg of Switzerland, which finished third, up to 10:30 o'clock Saturday night were the big favorites. The unexpected break for the front of Gastman and Lands, and then the great last-minute riding of Goullet and his partner, Grenda, upset the standing of Van Kempen and Egg. The Hollander and the Swiss rider always stood on good terms with the crowd.

HERRMANN SURPRISED AT HEYDLER'S ACTION

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 11—President August Herrmann, of the Cincinnati Baseball Club refused today to comment on the action of President Heydler, barring pitcher J. C. (Rube) Benton, from the National league, a dispatch from the Reds' training camp at Orlando, Fla., stated. Mr. Herrmann said he would not commit himself until he received the official finding of Commissioner Landis, reinstating Benton, which he expects to reach him in a day or two. Judge Landis himself is expected to visit Orlando this week.

"Of course," said Mr. Herrmann, "I was quite surprised at the action of Mr. Heydler, for I had supposed that the ruling of Commissioner Landis would be final in the matter. That was why I sent Benton down here when the judge gave out his favorable decision. In a day or two I shall have all of the facts at hand and then I shall be ready to make a statement on the case."

Meanwhile Benton will continue to practice with the team.

MOLLA MAY MEET SUZANNE AT NICE

Nice, France, March 11—(By the A. P.)—Another opportunity for Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, the American champion, to meet Suzanne Lenglen, the world's champion, will be afforded in the Nice tennis championship tournament which opens tomorrow.

Both Mrs. Mallory and Mlle. Lenglen are in the upper half of the draw, and providing Mrs. Mallory succeeds in eliminating her opponents in the first three rounds, the former rivals should come together in the fourth round on Thursday. There seems to be small likelihood that Mlle. Lenglen will not defeat all the players who face her.

HAWK CAPTURES SINGLES TITLE AT JACKSONVILLE

Jacksonville, Fla., March 11—After having been beaten two straight sets, Dr. F. G. Hawk, of Philadelphia, this afternoon won three sets in a row from S. Howard Voshell of New York, former national indoor champion thus winning the singles championship in the Southeastern tennis tournament here. The scores were 4-6, 5-6, 9-7, 6-3, 6-2. Voshell and Beale C. Wright of Boston, defeated G. Carlton Schiefer of Philadelphia and Frank P. Ferguson of New York, 6-1, 6-1, 6-1, in the finals in the doubles.

RICHARDS WINS BERMUDA TENNIS SINGLES TITLE

Hamilton, Bermuda, March 11—Vincent Richards today won the singles final in the Bermuda tennis championship, defeating Lawrence B. Rice, of Boston, the titleholder, 6-2, 6-3, 6-0.

Miss Gladys Hutchings and Mrs. F. G. Gosling, won the women's doubles from Miss Mayme MacDonald of Seattle and Miss Virginia Campbell of Philadelphia, 6-2, 6-1.

Cuticura Soap
—The Healthy—
Shaving Soap

TODAY'S SPORTS

RACING

Meeting of Jefferson Parish Fair Association at New Orleans.

Meeting of Cuba-American Jockey Club, at Havana.

Meeting of Tijuana Jockey Club, at Tijuana.

BILLIARDS

Willie Hoppe vs. Jake Schaefer, at New York, for 18.2 championship.

BOWLING

Annual tournament of American Bowling Congress, at Milwaukee.

GOLF

Opening of annual spring tournament at Miami, Fla.

Women's championship tournament at Hot Springs, Ark.

BASKETBALL

National A. A. U. championship tournament opens at Kansas City.

TENNIS

Women's national indoor championship opens at Boston.

FENCING

Foils team championships, at New York Fencers's Club.

SKATING

Middle Atlantic indoor championships, at New York.

BOXING

Army championship tournament, opens at Chicago.

Luis Firpo vs. Bill Brennan, 15 rounds, at New York.

Joe Lynch vs. Harold Smith, 10 rounds, at East Chicago.

Terry McHugh vs. Frankie Mack, 12 rounds, at Buffalo.

Andy Chaney vs. Battling Reddy, 8 rounds, at Harrisburg.

Billy Miske vs. Harry Foley, 10 rounds, at Hot Springs.

HAGEN AND KIRKWOOD WIN AT DAYTONA

Daytona, Fla., March 11—Walter Hagen, British open champion, and Joe Kirkwood, Australian trick shot artist, today defeated George McLean, professional of Grassy Sprain, N. Y., and Pete Harmon, of New York, in a 36-hole exhibition match of the Clarendon course.

Hagen and Kirkwood won four up. Hagen also won a cash prize of $100 for low score on the last 18 holes. Making the course in 73, one above par. McLean drew a 79; Kirkwood a 79 and Harmon a 78 on the last 18.

GIANTS WIN FIRST GAME OF 1923 SEASON

San Antonio, Texas, March 11—Working the first five innings in the face of a strong warm southerly wind, before a crowd of 2,700 fans, the world champion New York Giants romped to victory over the San Antonio Bears, (Texas League) 21 to 14, today in the first exhibition game of the season.

Hits of the game were nearly evenly apportioned, the Giants getting 21 while the Bears garnered 19.

PINEHURST COURSE RECORD AGAIN BROUGHT DOWN

Pinehurst, N. C., March 11—Emmet French, Southern Pines and Youngstown professional, played a great round of 32-34—66 on the championship course at Pinehurst today, in a professional four-ball match in which French and Willie Wilson won by 2 and 1 from Herbert Langerblade and Bert Croll. French and Wilson had a best ball of 63, which is the lowest best-ball total ever achieved here.

Exhibition Game

At Montgomery: Philadelphia Athletics 3; Milwaukee Brewers(American Association) 2.

At New Orleans: New York Americans 0, New Orleans(Southern) 1.

Batteries—Roetteger, Pipgras, Johnson, Suggs and Hoffman, Bengough; Thomas, Walker and Dowie.

Sarazen Starts Movie Work

Los Angeles, March 11—Gene Sarazen, national open and professional golf champion arrived here today to begin work on a biographical motion picture which will portray his career from caddie to champion.

McGuiggan to Lead Nine

Potsdam, N. Y. March 11—O. T. McGuiggan of Holyoke, Mass., has been elected captain of the Clarkson Tech baseball team for next year. He plays a guard position.

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

Gastman-Lands finished second and Egg-Van Kempen third.

Ernest A. Pye, former idol of bike race fans in the Antipodes, died Saturday after a long illness.

Yale's wrestlers won an easy victory over Princeton Saturday night, 23 to 8 taking 5 of 7 firsts, four of them on falls.

Northwestern University's swimming team Saturday defeated the University of Illinois 47 to 21. Northwestern took first in five events and Illinois first in two.

Philadelphia defeated New York in the Inter-City Court Tennis championships Saturday at the Racquet club, winning the first two of the three matches played.

Goullet and Grenda won the six day bicycle race, sprinting to the lead in the last ten minutes after they had been left a lap in the rear by Gastman and Landa.

Mrs. Mytra MacFarquhar, an employee of the Erie Railroad's machine shop at East Buffalo, has been chosen manager of the shop baseball team for the season of 1923. The team was undefeated last year.

Jack Blackburn, negro veteran of more than 150 battles of the prize ring has admitted that old age, the nemesis of every fighter, has dug into his lungs and taken the most essential of all things—wind.

R. Lawrence Smith and John McE. Bowman of the National Horse Show association have been invited to judge horses and ponies at the New York Spring horse show in April. There will be about twenty-five such classes in the prize list.

Frank Schloegel, driving Verner Johnson's team won the Saskatchewan dog derby here when he finished the second lap of the 150 mile course Saturday night, covering the total distance in twenty hours and twenty-four minutes.

Forty persons were injured Saturday when part of a 12-foot barrier surrounding the playing field collapsed during the progress of a soccer cup match between Charlton and Bolton, which was won by the latter, 1 to 0 at London.

Aboard the sailing recently claimed by C. B. Irwin Saturday broke the world's record for a mile and a quarter going the distance in a private sweepstakes at the Tia Juana track in 1:39 3-4. The previous record was 1:42.

Derrill Pratt, one of the last Detroit Americans to start for the Augusta training camp, left for the South Saturday. The Tiger second baseman has been assisting Coach Ray Fisher in training the University of Michigan nine at Ann Arbor.

"Baseball practice of the Fordham University nine, which has been conducted for the last two weeks under the direction of Capt. Harry Schermerhorn, beginning with today's session will be held under the direction of Tom Keady, Fordham's new baseball mentor.

Babe Adams, the veteran Pirate pitcher was nursing an injured jaw at the Hot Springs training camp Saturday. Advices from the springs said Adams had been on the field only fifteen minutes when he was struck by a batted ball. He expects to resume training Monday.

Floyd Herman, Red Sox recruit, towers six feet three and a half inches and wears the halo of a .416 hitting average with Omaha last year. The big boy's home is in Pasadena, Calif. He throws fortune of the men in the plays first base and bats and throws left-handed.

Dave Bancroft, shortstop of the New York Giants and field captain, who had been reported as a holdout during the first part of the training season, and who arrived in San Antonio Friday night, has affixed his name to a contract, completing the infield that helped the Giants win the 1922 world title.

Manager Tris Speaker has the distinction of being the first member of of the Cleveland Indians to knock a ball over the training camp wall at Lakeland, Fla. During Saturday's workout Speaker caught hold of one of Edmondson's fast ones and lifted it over the right field wall, a distance of approximately 400 feet, according to advices received here.

John W. McGrath of New York, and Les March, of Toronto, have been selected to referee the finals of the United States Amateur Hockey association between Boston A. A. and St. Paul, W. S. Haddock, president of the organization, announced Saturday night. Two championship games will be played at St. Paul March 13 and 14, and two in Boston, March 22 and 24.

Rube Benton, formerly an American association baseball player, may be eligible to play in organized baseball as decided by K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner, but he is "not the type of character or player," wanted in the National league, according to John A. Heydler, president of the National league who telegraphed to Garry Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati club, an order barring Benton from the league.

TRIBUTE TO VICTIMS OF THE WARD'S ISLAND FIRE

New York, March 11.—City and nation joined today in paying final tribute to the men who lost their lives in the Ward's Island insane Asylum fire three weeks ago.

Funeral services for twenty of the victims, five of them ex-service men, were held in the chapel of Bellevue hospital.

Only one body in the twenty was identified, that of Pete Tappas, a former soldier, the others were burned past recognition. His casket, draped with the Stars and Stripes and placed on a gun caisson, headed the procession to Evergreen cemetery. Behind the caisson came four others, each bearing the flag covered coffin of a man believed to have been an ex-soldier. Following these came fifteen hearses bearing the bodies of the unidentified.

Thousands of persons lined the streets near Bellevue. Five hundred men of the Sixteenth Infantry marched in the procession as did members of American Legion posts throughout the city.

At the cemetery burial services were conducted by clergymen of the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths.

Today's was the first public funeral for fire victims since 1911 when eight girls in the Triangle Shirt Waist girls, who lost their lives with 142 factory fire, were buried.

TRIAL OF WILLIAM Z. FOSTER TO BEGIN TODAY

St. Joseph, Mich., March 11.—(By The A. P.)—Michigan's law for the suppression of criminal syndicalism will receive its first test tomorrow morning when William Z. Foster of Chico, goes on trial in Berrien county circuit court charged with advocating the overthrow of the United States government.

Foster, who came into prominence in 1919, as leader of the unsuccessful nation-wide steel strike, is one of thirty-two men and women arrested as the result of an alleged secret convention of the communist party held in the lonely sand dunes twenty miles south of her last August. He is the first to be placed on trial.

More than a score of the best known radical leaders from all parts of the country have gathered here for the trial. Among those here who may appear as witnesses for Foster, and who are awaiting trial on similar charges, are Rose Pastor Stokes, Charles E. Ruthenberg, Max Reacht, Edgar Owens, William F. Duane, Max Lerner, Seattle, Earl Browder, Alex H. Georgian, and, Norman H. Tallentire.

Louis Patterman of Westerly has been dismissed as a patient from the Lawrence and Memorial hospital in New London.

SUZANNE LENGLEN WINS TITLE FROM MISS McKANE ON MENTONE COURTS

Mentone, March 11—(By the A. P.)—Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen today defeated Miss Kathleen McKane 6-2, 7-5, in the final of the women's singles in the Mentone tennis tournament.

Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory and Miss Blake were eliminated in the semi-finals of the women's doubles by Mrs. Satterthwaite and Mrs. Beamish. The score was 6-3, 8-6.

Mlle. Lenglen in defeating Miss McKane demonstrated that she still is supreme in European tennis. Miss McKane is acknowledged by all the experts to be the player developed in Europe in recent years. She had been looked upon as a serious contender for Lenglen's crown and as certain to win one set in the match and perhaps defeat the champion. The English girl disappointed her many admirers, as she did not give Lenglen as hard a match as the score would indicate.

The match did not furnish any spectacular tennis.

Miss McKane admitted to friends after the match that she needs a little more experience before she can hope to defeat the French girl.

"I suppose I shall be thirty years old before I can win a set from her," declared the little miss, who is now 23 years old.

Mlle. Lenglen had a grievance against her spectators today, claiming they were unfair and showed their preferences with great partiality. "They even applaud when I make a double fault," she declared.

Mrs. Mallory, although playing today in much improved form with Miss Blake as a partner, could not get up to the point where she could aid in staving off defeat from Mrs. Satterthwaite and Mrs. Beamish. Today's game was the first in which Mrs. Mallory had reached the semi-finals since she began playing on the Riviera. She showed flashes of her old-time form during the play, driving with much of her former power and netting and outing with much less frequency. Her good play was especially noticeable during the first set, when she twice won her service and looked like the Molla of Forest Hills and Wimbledon.

In the final of the men's singles F. Gordon Lowe defeated Leighton Crawford, 6-3, 6-3, 7-5.

JEWETT CITY

John E. Phillips, the senior deacon of the Baptist church here, has received a handsomely printed and bound copy of a sermon preached at the Baptist church in Antrim, N. H., April 2, 1923, by Rev. S. G. Hastings.

This sermon is of general interest, because the preacher's death occurred very shortly after its delivery and of especial interest for the reason that Rev. S. Goodwin Hastings, was for several years the well beloved pastor of the Jewett City Baptist church.

This sermon, his last, served to touch the keynote and fundametal principals regarding the relationship of the church of today, and the world-wide fraternal organizations. Not a man or "orders and lodges" himself, Mr. Hastings, spoke better than he knew. There are some outstanding sentences that are attracting other than local notice, and in places far removed from those where his keenness of vision more well known years ago. He said:

"Many Christians now hold a sort of resentful attitude toward the various fraternal organizations which have come into existence, outside of the church to meet the social needs of men."

"The problem of the church now, so far as the social life is concerned, is now how to root out and antagonize and displace fraternal and social organizations, but how to bridge over the chasm between them and the church."

Churches and fraternities are looking more kindly as each other.

Ministers are not infrequently members of fraternal organizations.

Fraternities more often than formerly appear in church on special occasions dressed in their regalia.

Prominent church members are not infrequently prominent in the fraternities.

The church cannot now hope to repair wholly the loss it has incurred through neglect of the social life but it can do much to save itself from further losses along this line."

The warm southern wind struck the borough a little after sunrise Sunday. It recalled the "Chinook" told of in stories of the north.

Under its mild draft, with the mercury 40 to 44, the drifts settled, snow melted rapidly and the water ran freely in the streets, while the gardens and open lots, each depression showed a miniature lake of snow water.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bitgood of Pachaug are enjoying a fine crate of oranges nad grapefruit direct from Florida, with the compliments of their friend, Captain W. S. Christopher.

A man from the Danielson power plant was in town Saturday to check up some matters of interest to his company. Several laymen, still insisting that the Shepard fire in Providence had to do with the disturbance of the local lighting system Thursday evening asked the Danielson man to explain. He knew his business to the last word and declared that no possibility existed of any connection in the two occurrences. The operation of the local circuit breakers was due to trouble in Danielson alone.

In accordance with the law, Judge A. M. Brown held a session of the juvenile court, in chambers, Saturday morning. There was a technical violation of the game laws by a local lad.

The story is told, that the boy, faced a suddenly presented proposition, that many an older hunter would have found it hard to pass up.

While hunting crows two of which he had show, he mounted a pile of brush to get a better sight at a third. All in a twinkling, out burst from under the shelter upon which he stood a big cock pheasant. Being notified, Game Warden W. A. Palmer did what the state expects him to do, and a considerate judge, under the circumstances exacted only the payment of costs. The boy declared he meant no wrong and would benefit by the good advice of the judge.

The insistent infractions of the game laws by the wilful and crafty pot hunters, is a different matter, and would likely meet with sterner justice.

Mrs. Charles T. Armstrong and Mrs. Henry Olsen, have been in Bristol, Conn., during the past week, attending a meeting of the state D. A. R. as delegates from Anne Brewster, chapter of this place.

Mrs. Perly Milvin goes to New York today (Monday) for a visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gallup were in Groton on Sunday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Gallup's brother-in-law, Eugene Partelo. A week ago Mr. Partelo was hit by an auto driven by Dr. Dimon in New London and died as a result.

Miss Mabel Wilcox, the librarian at Slater Library, has placed a box upon a table near the desk to receive any contributions towards the million dollar Louvain Library Restoration fund. This fund is to restore a shrine of learning wantonly destroyed, to provide Belgium's greatest university with a working library, to memoralize on Belgium's roll those Americans who gave their lives in the great war and to immortalize America's homage to heroic defence of liberty.

Spencer Johnson cut his hand with an axe on Saturday, necessitating five stitches to close the wound.

Miss Alice Barnett's room in the Riverside Grammar school was judged by the teachers on the lower floor in a preliminary speaking contest Friday. Catherine Jodoin was announced as first and Stella Ziebienski as second. The following programme was given:

A Happy Farmer Lad, Arthur Gray; My Little Yellow Dress, Stella Ziebienski; My Dolly, Catherine Jodoin; Wasn't It Funny? Russell Carpenter; The Secret, Isabelle Heneault; The Kid Has Gone to the Colors, Helen Davis.

Guests who attended the Masonic Ladies night on Friday evening from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Appelt of Webster, who were entertained at Mr. and Mrs. Robert Willis'; Miss Dorothy Moore of Webster at Mr. and Mrs. George Gills; Mrs. T. B. Keen of Norwich at Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hiscox's; Mrs. Stephen Green of Hartford at Mrs. W. G. Duce's; Mrs. W. R. Burdick of Mystic at Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Brown's; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jenkins of Norwich at Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goring's; Miss Elizabeth Eddy and Claude Durfey of Providence at Mr. and Mrs. Frank Durfey's; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tillinghast and Miss Dorothy Tillinghast of Plainfield guests of W. H. Payne; Pearl Morgan of Hartford at Mrs. C. F. Morgan's; Leslie Ward of Norwich at Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Jeffers'; Miss Helen Phillips and Miss Ruth Rathbun of Lisbon.

Mrs. John Reardon of Norwich, was a Sunday visitor in the borough, the guest of her mother and brothers and sisters.

The Dorcas circle of the King's Daughters meets with Miss M. A. Burdick, Tuesday evening, at which time the members are expected to bring their Easter offerings.

Mrs. Annette Wilbur, of Groton, was a caller in the borough Sunday.

WILLIMANTIC

(Continued from Page Two)

Sawicki. His time was one minute and 15 seconds. C. Redman and D. Eason were tied for second place. The team ranking was as follows: Yanks, first; Pirates, second; and Reds, third.

The various committees of the senior class for class day met during the past week and chose the following teachers to act as supervisors: History, Miss Dorothy Berry; will, William O. Brooks; prophecy, Miss Muriel Kennedy; ivy, Hartley Simpson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Smith have arrived at their home in North Windham after their trip to South America. The most southerly point touched was Buenos Ayres. Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Lyon stopped in New London; Samuel Chesbro, another member of the party, arrived home Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Larrabee of Prospect street is the delegate from Anne Wood Elderkin chapter, to the state conference of the D. A. R. in Bristol.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Easterbrooks of Lewiston avenue are entertaining their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Deumann and daughter, Audrey of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Edward H. Carlsen and family have moved from 8 Cottage place to 417 Prospect street.

Mrs. Dwight W. Ide of High street is recovering from her third attack of grip this winter.

Edgar E. Bass of the Windham National bank has been confined to his home on Prospect street for several days with the grip.

WILLIMANTIC MAN HELD FOR CRIMINAL COURT

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, March 11—John Desrosier, aged 23, of 121 Main street, was arraigned in the local police court Saturday morning on the charge of attempt to break and enter. Judge Frank H. Foss found probable cause and bound the accused over to the next criminal term of the Windham county superior court under bonds of $1,000.

Desrosier's appearance in court was the result of his arrest about 3.15 o'clock Saturday morning in a barn between the Dion property on North street and Church streets. Desrosier was found entering the barn after an exciting chase through alleys by Officer Frank McLean of the local police department, who stated that he saw the accused attempting to force an entrance into the H. C. Murray Company store through a window in the rear of the Murray building and between that and the Chronicle block.

There have been several breaks in business blocks since New Year's night and the patroimen have been especially alert in an effort to find those responsible. The officers have been keeping a close watch on the alley in question but until Saturday morning no results were obtained.

Two previous breaks have occurred in that alley and those responsible seemed to prefer Saturday mornings as they apparently believed that cash would be left in the registers for the Saturday business.

Officers McLean and Lariviere met on Main street about 3.10 o'clock and upon hearing strange noises in the alleyway they began an investigation.

Officer Lariviere went up North street and came out in an alley which leads from the Murray building to the barn mentioned. Officer McLean ran up Church street and focussing his flashlight into the narrow alleyway in the rear of the Murray block he saw the man in the act of removing the glass from the window. The officer started towards the intruder but the latter jumped over a wood door which blocks the other end of the alley and McLean shot. Judging from the cry which issued from the fleeing man Officer McLean thought that he had hit him and retracing his steps he ran around Main street and up the alleyway where the man had disappeared.

The burglar had gone, however, and a few minutes later he fell into the hands of Officer Lariviere as he, according to the officer's testimony, attempted to enter the barn. Officer McLean arrived at the spot shortly after and Desrosier was taken to the police station and locked up.

Upon taking the witness stand Saturday morning, Officer Lariviere told of his going up North street and into the alleyway where the barn is situated. He heard McLean's revolver shot and soon after he saw a man running into the barn. The officer stated that he caught Desrosier just as he was entering the barn.

Officer McLean testified to his going up Church street and by the use of his flashlight, of recognizing the man Desrosier, at work at the window. He ran after him and when the accused jumped the fence, witness shot at him and then hurried around to another alley and while searching there he heard Officer Lariviere call to him.

In their testimony the officers stated that the putty from three sides of a pane of glass had been removed and was partly off on the fourth side.

Upon searching Desrosier at the police station a penknife was found in his pocket, and the blade was well covered with putty. There were also putty marks in the accused's fingernails.

James P. Bath of the H. C. Murray testified that it was the same window which was broken when the store was robbed last February 23.

Officer Thomas Grady also testified that it was the same window.

Upon taking the witness stand in the court Desrosier began his defense by stating that Officer McLean had little use for him and that he did not see why he should be lied about. He stated that in company with eight or nine others he had attended a dance at the Windham High school on Friday night and he left there shortly after midnight. He and another man came down street in the witness's car and stopped at the Wood Cafeteria and later went to the New York Lunch on Railroad street. About 2 o'clock he left Ovila Martin with whom he had been talking. He stated that he had been drinking and was so sick that he did not dare go home in that condition so he went up into the barn in question to have a nap and sober up. He said that he was very familiar with the barn and had been there before to get horses. He woke up about an hour later and as he was leaving the barn to go home Officer Lariviere stopped him and he was taken to the police station and locked up.

Prosecuting Attorney Harvey then questioned Desrosier at length. When asked how the putty got on his hands and in his fingernails, the accused said that on Friday afternoon he had played with a ball of it at the garage where he kept his car. Asked how he tore his trousers, he stated that he tore them getting into his car when leaving the high school. Prosecuting Attorney Harvey then introduced bills of purchase of two automobiles, a Ileo on Jan. 7, and a Studebaker on Feb. 27, found on the person of the accused after his arrest. In answer to questions, Desrosier testified that he paid for the cars with money which his father gave him. Desrosier admitted that he had not worked for four months. He claimed that he drank moonshine once in a while and denied being in the alleyway on any occasion.

Judge Foss found probable cause and bound Desrosier over to the next term of the superior court. The accused was taken to the county jail later in the forenoon.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

SATURDAY'S MARKET.

New York, March 11—Speculators for the decline succeeded in depressing prices in today's brief session of the market short selling being aided by heavy profit taking of professional traders. These realizing sales were based in part on the fear that income tax payments next week would result in higher money rates with the possibility of further liquidation of shares in which paper profits had been established.

The decline, while conducted in an orderly fashion, without any indications of general weakness, was construed in some quarters as proof that the recent rise had been overdone, leaving the market in a weakened technical position. One of the most significant developments of the day was the report that odd lot business had been materially increased in the last few weeks, indicating an expanding public interest in market operations. Professional operators, however, continue to dominate the general dealings.

Some of the popular shares which closed fractionally lower were U. S. Steel common, Baldwin, Crucible, Studebaker, U. S. Rubber, Anaconda, American Woolen, Union Pacific, Reading and New York Central. American Locomotive dropped 1 1-2 points and American Can 1 1-8.

As usual, there were several points of individual strength, gains of one to 3 1-4 points being recorded by American Tobacco and B. Rupp Motors and the Market Street Railway issues, buying of the latter being influenced by reports that New York bankers were leaving for the west next week to complete arrangements for the sale of the traction properties to the city of San Francisco.

The monthly tonnage statement of the U. S. Steel Corporation showing unfilled orders of 7,823,989 tons at the end of February, an increase of 373,213 over those at the end of the preceding month, was better than expected. It showed the largest number of unfilled orders on hand since January, 1920, despite the fact that the corporation is known to have refused a large amount of business during the month.

The continued good demand for sterling resulted in another advance of one-quarter of a cent in the demand rate to $4.70 3-4, but trading in the other European exchanges was irregular and quiet with only nominal changes in rates.

The weekly clearing house statement showed decreases of $66,147,000 in loans, discounts and investments and $116,418,000 in net demand deposits and increases of $3,255,000 in cash in own vaults and $3,798,000 in the reserve of members in the Federal Reserve bank. Aggregate reserve totalled $531,191,000, thereby converting a deficit in reserves of $885,660 last week into excess reserve of $18,131,680 this week.

STOCKS.

The following is a summary of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange up to 2 P. M.:

	High.	Low.	Close
Allied Chemical	78¾	77¾	77¾
Am Ag Chem	32½	32	32¼
Am Beet Sugar	43¼	42¾	43¼
Am Bosch Mag	55	54	54
Am Can	102¾	102¼	102¾
Am Can pr	113¾	113¾	113¾
Am Cotton Oil	16¼	16⅛	16⅛
Am Tel & Tel	123	124⅛	125
Am Tobacco	157¾	155⅞	157¼
Am Woolen	104¾	104⅜	104¼
Anaconda Cop	53⅝	51⅝	53
Atch T & S	103	102¾	102¾
Atch T & S F pr	90	90	90
Balt & Ohio	43⅝	42¾	43⅛
Balt & Ohio pr	60	60	60
Beth Steel B	99¾	98	98
Beth Steel pr	97	97	97
Beth Steel 8 pr c	110¾	110¾	110¾
Brook Rap Tr	7	7	7
Brook Rap Tr ctf	6⅜	6⅜	6⅜
Brook Rap Tr ctf	6⅜	6	6
Butte Cop & Z	19	9⅝	9⅝
Butte & Sup	24⅝	24⅜	24⅜
Canadian Pacific	148⅝	148⅛	148⅛
Cent Leather	39	38⅛	38⅛
Cen Leather pr	78¼	78	78
Chandler Motor	73	73	73
Ches & Ohio	73⅝	73⅛	73⅛
Chi & West pr	14¾	14¾	14¾
Chi M & St P	25	24⅝	24⅝
Chi M & St P pr	43¼	42⅞	43
Chi & N'west	85⅝	85⅛	85⅛
Chi R I & P	36	35⅛	35⅛
Chile Copper	29⅝	29¼	29¼
Chino Copper	29⅛	29⅛	29⅛
Cosden	63	63	63
Cosden pr	109¾	109	109
Cosden pr	109¾	109	109
Crucible Steel	82⅝	81½	81⅝
Dome Mines	41¾	41	41
Erie	19	19	19
Erie 1 pr	19	19	19
Great North pr	78½	78⅛	78⅛
Great North Ore	33⅛	33	33⅛
Hudson Motor	80⅜	80	80
Rupp Motor Car	23½	23⅛	23
Inspiration Cop	40⅞	39⅝	40⅛
Illinois Central	115⅛	115¼	115⅛
Int M Mar pr	42	41⅜	42
Int Paper	54⅜	54	54⅛
Kennecott	42⅜	42⅛	42⅜
Keystone	8½	8⅜	8⅜
L

1796 1917

NORWICH BULLETIN and Courier

127 YEARS OLD

Printed every day in the year except Sunday. Subscription price 12c a week; $6.00 a year; $3.00 for six months.

Entered at the Postoffice at Norwich, Conn., as second-class matter.

Telephone Calls.
Bulletin Business Office, 480.
Bulletin Editorial Rooms, 35-2.
Bulletin Job Room, 35-3.

Willimantic Office, 27 Church St. Telephone 210.

Norwich, Monday, March 12, 1923.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

All rights of republication of special dispatches herein are also reserved.

CIRCULATION

WEEK ENDING MARCH 10th, 1923

11,708

PUT SALVATION ARMY FUND OVER TOP.

Norwich has been keenly interested, and justly so, in the campaign which the Salvation Army has been conducting here for the past two weeks. The purpose has touched the hearts and the pocketbooks until the city is elated to know that the $12,000 necessary to assure the building has been secured, and nearly half of the budget requirements have been pledged.

Having raised $13,357.14 there remains to be secured but $1,642.86 to go over the top and insure not only the Salvation Army building but the budget for the year. It is quite necessary that this budget requirement should be met, rather than to leave the work of the local and its new building with a handicap from the very start.

Norwich has thoroughly realized the necessity for a Salvation Army headquarters and the wisdom of providing it. It isn't believed that it will be willing to let the job go unaccomplished.

The extension of the campaign for the next three days gives an opportunity for those who have not been solicited but who desire to help this commendable movement to make their contribution.

It also permits of 16 givers of $100 each, or 160 givers of $10 each, to send the fund over the top with flying colors.

The season is a most worthy one and Norwich is deeply enough interested in the work of this organization to see that the job which has been so well begun is properly finished.

What is intended to give gamesome zest to the excellent work that the Salvation Army is engaged in cannot fail to appeal to the people of this city. The generous response that has been made attests not only the appreciation of the organization but a desire that it be properly financed and aided in doing a still better efficient service.

Having carried the effort well down the home stretch the duty of the community is to see that it realizes a successful finish.

FIGHTING POISON LIQUOR.

Reference is made from time to time concerning the increasing volume of poison liquor that is being discovered in the country in violation of the prohibition law and in place of the bonded goods. The number of sudden deaths therefrom mounts upward in spite of the horrible examples that have been set. The widespread demand for anything that takes the place of the former beverages, and the eagerness with which certain ones are endeavoring to supply the desires for the big profits that are to be obtained thereby, has resulted in all kinds of concoctions being put out with little or no attention being given to the presence or absence of quick poison.

Those who are ready to drink any thing are the victims, and it is for the protection of those who seem unwilling or unable to guard themselves against those who put forth the poison that legislation is being sought in five of the states, Kansas, Ohio, Michigan, Iowa and Oklahoma, whereby the sale of liquor that causes death will be regarded as murder or manslaughter and the penalty in case of conviction will be the same.

Whether such a law will serve to break up the traffic in such dangerous beverages remains to be seen. Just why those who have been served poison liquor should want to shield those who were willing to take life for the sake of the dollars they might collect is difficult to understand yet there are many of those instances as well as others where little or nothing is known about the quality of the liquor until someone is found dead.

The states which are striving for this legislation are apparently determined to correct conditions and realize the importance of laws carrying heavy penalties to aid them. They are apparently not overlooking the enforcement of the Volstead act, but when death is the result of the business in which certain one are engaged for the profit that can be gleaned they see the need of giving added protection to those who are willing to protect themselves.

AVIATION STUNTS.

Those who delight in taking chances can undoubtedly be accommodated in connection with the army aviation service. It is necessary that army aviators know how to handle their machine in all positions and be able to resort to all kinds of tricks in dealing with an enemy, or escaping from him if it comes to that expedient. There is no limit to the chance taking that the army aviator must take in emergencies and to be prepared he must know how to do stunts.

Just what this means is indicated in the explanation by S. T. Moore, a balloon officer in the American expeditionary forces, of what sort of a situation is facing the fellow who gets up to go on army aviation in spite of the fact that parachutes are not provided. He says:

"Suppose you are flying at 5,000 feet and your motor stops. You have the choice of two things to do. You can stay with your machine and try to land it, or you can jump. If you stay with the machine you will probably crash to the ground and be killed. If you jump you will probably be killed. Your chances are about even. Which would you do?"

Any one who would answer that question in the affirmative is the kind of a man the army wants for aviation service, for he is the kind of a man who will be willing to take the hazards the employment offers. He might well say, "Right of you will be killed outright each year so long as you work for me. In addition two of you will be maimed or your health shattered each year. On account of the hazards of your work I will pay you 50 per cent more than I pay my other employes, because they do not experience the dangers to which you are exposed. I retire all my employes at the completion of 30 years' service on three-quarters pay."

Whatever encouragement may be found in such a presentation of the features of an army aviator's job doesn't have to be held out to certain ones. Even though they know what has happened to others they are confident that they can do different. Such dispositions haven't served to alter the result to any great extent. Those who have devoted their attention to the doing of stunts have invariably had short careers. That is no regardless of the army service, although it is to be noted that the aviator who has nothing to do with the hair raising feats do so with a much greater degree of safety. The chances which they take are decreasing from year to year, and while it may be that practice makes perfect in connection with the doer of stunts the element of danger is too great to be played with and not expect that the penalty will be exacted. It, however, furnishes an outlet for those who cannot refrain from such chance-taking.

WHERE INDEPENDENCE IS NEEDED.

During the war this country found that it was dependent upon others for its dyestuffs. It knew it before but it hadn't realized just what it meant. It hadn't anticipated having such a source of supply cut off. The experience was enough to warn it not to be caught again and it isn't likely to be. It is now a producer as well as a big consumer of dyestuffs.

Much the same situation surrounds the rubber industry. Rubber is not a new product but it has been grown elsewhere. We have used much rubber but not such great quantities as in the past two decades when the fast increasing automobile industry has created a big demand. We have been dependent upon others for our rubber and we still are. We didn't seriously dream that the supply was likely to be cut off. It hasn't been stopped but it is bound to be seriously affected in more than one way by the British order restricting the output of rubber plantations.

If there was not a great dependence upon these plantations which the British control the effect might not be so serious, but with the British controlling about 80 per cent of the world's rubber supply it spells dependence in big letters. Already it has accomplished almost a 300 per cent increase in the price.

We have again awakened to this dependence and through the appropriation that has been made for an investigation of the situation important facts should be learned looking to our independence of the British supply in time. That cannot come over night. We must find where adequate supplies of rubber can be produced. Possibly it will be in the Philippines or some other American territory where conditions are favorable. British restriction, however, should work in time to our advantage.

TURKEY'S NEW PLAN.

Inasmuch as the representatives of the Angora government at Lausanne refused to sign the treaty terms it was a foregone conclusion that no better result would be obtained from the Angora assembly. There were certain features that could be approved and there were others that could not. The Angora government in rejecting the treaty has stood firmly back of its conference representatives.

As if not to let the matter drop there the Angora government has, however, presented an alternate proposition which if the allied nations enter into a discussion of it will mean the consideration chiefly of those points upon which much stress was laid at Lausanne.

The indications are that Turkey wants peace if it can obtain it on its terms concerning the economic sections. Such modifications as it has made in the Lausanne treaty will come up for consideration at another conference if it works out the way it desires. Whether Turkey is bound to remain adamant concerning the clauses to which it takes exception can only be determined by giving it a chance to show its hand. There are indications that Turkey wants the benefit of peace but it balks at accepting it with some of the penalties applied.

The situation in the near east should be dealt with and possibly it might be accomplished by getting around the table again, but in seeking peace Turkey isn't doing so on its knees.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Note the price of eggs and you must realize that spring cannot be far away.

If a New York man can bottle the heat of the sun, why should there be any more fear of a coal strike?

It is five years since the Cyclops mysteriously disappeared. The secret seems to have been well hidden.

The man on the corner says: Nothing assures the right kind of a climate like a well gotten out prospectus.

Only a few more days now before the 40 additional days of winter indicated by the groundhog will have expired.

Buying an embassy in Paris while the francs are low is good business, but the same might be said about acquiring similar property in Berlin.

The chilly winds of March are still on top but it will be only a few days before the cows will be in the meadow and the cowslips in the brook.

Now that the filled milk bill has been passed by congress there seems no good reason why any state should not adopt filled coal legislation. The fireproof fuel must be excluded somehow.

That quarry hole in Groton is a menace to the lives of the boys in that borough. It is not only a good place to keep away from but one where better protection would seem to be called for.

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

To prevent milk from boiling over, rub the edge of the saucepan with butter.

To make the most of a fowl, turn it on its breast instead of its back when roasting.

Water in which potatoes have been boiled is excellent for freshening black silk.

A cloth wrung out in vinegar and water cleans a carpet, and saves time in dusting.

A charming use of fur was noted on an evening dress, the bare arms having an epaulette of gold lace finished with a ruffle of lace and a band of fur.

Garden tulips were introduced into Britain through Holland in the sixteenth century.

An airman moving at nearly 100 miles an hour was passed easily by swifts in full flight.

Old whisk-brooms, when the worn part is cut off squarely, makes splendid sink brushes.

Save all the waxed paper that crackers and bread come wrapped in to roll out pie crusts or biscuits on. This saves washing the bread-board.

To prevent cream from dripping on the table cloth from the pitcher, rub a little butter on the lip of the pitcher.

Do not forget that paper absorbs juices. Therefore always remove paper from meat before putting away.

Keep a bottle of gasoline handy to use in cleaning the bathtub and wash basin. Saturate a cloth and wipe them out. You will never use the scouring cleanser after trying this.

Stewed fruit very often becomes an unappetising color when turned into an open bowl. But this can be prevented by squeezing a little lemon juice of the fruit, which should cover it completely.

Grease spots on suede shoes can be removed with petrol. Most marks are best treated with the cloth-ball commonly used to clean dresses. It should be rubbed very hard into the leather and brushed off lightly—just as a white skirt is cleaned.

LOOK OUT FOR HOT DISHES

Oftentimes when hot dishes are placed on the table mats the heat will make the tablecloth stick to the varnished table. This can be avoided by cutting pieces of cardboard the size of the mats and putting under them. It is scarcely noticeable and is a great help. Instead of setting hot utensils on the oilcloth on the kitchen table, a board is very conveniently used.

WORTH KNOWING

When two glass tumblers or two cups stick together so that there is danger of breaking them in getting them apart, put cold water in the inner one and hold the outside one in hot water, they will separate at once.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

A suggestion for the sick room is as follows: Buy a small amount of prepared soil from the florist. Fill an ornamental pan or jar half full of the earth; fill the jar with water (keep filled) and place this on the radiator.

There is nothing so detrimental to the appearance of a well-groomed woman as to see her bring out a soiled gay looking powder puff when she applies that needed touch of powder. A puff can be washed in soapy water and if rinsed thoroughly it will remain soft and fluffy.

Well shaped eyebrows are a great improvement to any face. Oriental women stain the eyebrows and lashes with elderberries or with a burnt cork or clove.

A very little touch at the outer corners of the eyes will lengthen the appearance and a very delicate line on the edge of the under lid gives brilliancy. The latter, however, should be indulged in only in the evening, as artificial light softens the effect which the broad light of day gives a woman a doubtful appearance.

USE NEW AIR CELLS

Blowing exercises are advocated by a medical authority for the purpose of inducing his patients to improve their lung capacity. To effect this he says:

"Stand in front of a lace curtain or a short distance from a strip of paper suspended from the ceiling. Then fill your lungs and blow steadily until the curtain or paper moves with the current of air.

"Needless to say, it isn't the blowing but the filling of the lungs which must be done in order to blow that causes the development of the lungs. This exercise will open many air cells and whole areas of lung tissue which have seldom been used before. Practiced two or three times a day, the exercise will lead to the habitual use of increased lung tissue.

"By the way, do not overdo the blowing exercise at first. If you do your chest muscles may become very sore and lame.

"Blow till the object moves and then step back two feet and try again. Gradually increase the distance and very shortly you will have enlarged your lung capacity and will have materially increased your weight.

VOGUE FOR GRAY

Gray velvet ribbon girdles or sashes combined with lavender or orchid velvet ribbon with artificial flowers forming the center of the knot are the smart things for spring. Grossgrain ribbon also combines in bows and girdles and sashes with a velvet ribbon. An effective bow tying a single knot loosely at the end of each loop of ribbon.

GAY COUCH PILLOWS

In a room where the upholstery is rather brilliant the pillows are apt to be black or gray or brown, in velvet with gold, but in a somber room, especially a brown one, one long sofa may have a dozen orange and yellow pillows with one perhaps in gold brocade.

SIGNS OF SPRING

In the straw hats just appearing one may read the millinery signs of spring. It seemed that one of the favorites is to be a black silk straw, which is most effective for any sort of hat, but especially for the tailored model. Some of the latter are rimmed only with a band of the same straw around the crown.

DICTATES OF FASHION

Many printed voiles and chiffons in bright colors, on black gray, blue, or white grounds.

Matelasse for frocks and separate capes with colors of summer fure is being worn, particularly in white.

Dotted swiss is beginning to make its appearance. Ginghams are seen less than usual.

Printed linens in pastel, shades, sheer chiffon voiles in Rodier effects and stripes and gayly colored figures are being used for morning dresses.

Handkerchief linens in plain colors with fine needlework and entre deux faggoting and hemstitching are noted on the beach.

That crepon, crepe Romain, Canton and Roshanara crepe for morning and afternoon dresses.

Many printed crepes, both in white grounds, with vari-colored figures and in Paisley and oriental Egyptian designs.

Rodier cotton knubs with red, blue green and yellow or black figures on ground of white, blue or yellow.

White batists or handkerchief linen embroidered with colored tambour cotton simulating batik prints.

Silks and silk and wool in jacquard weaves in plain colors or combinations black and white and gray and white being stressed.

Much dull leather is used, either cut out, fringed, colored or embroidered.

Evening gowns of taffeta and faille of the bouffant period are occasionally pataled in treatment.

Among the varied trimmings are included loose panels, a great deal of pleating, cut-out work, embroidery and cordings.

Straw hats, as well as candy cloth and other fancy braids are being worn.

Veils are embroidered in color, small flowers being the motifs.

A blue twill dress and a Deauville collar faced with henna and the fairly long, turned back sleeves also had henna facings. Another twill frock showed the popular tiered sleeve.

GAY WITH RIBBONS

Among millinery creations from Paris which are arriving on every steamer in slightly locked trunks of buyers and others responsible for the fashions in America, and worn by the well-dressed women who are returning from a trip abroad, are proof that this is a ribbon year for millinery.

Ribbon cabachons, tubing, ribbon flowers, ribbon embroidery, ribbons in bows and furls and swirls, ribbons in every conceivable and inconceivable manner of trimming are this year's contribution to style from the home of fashion. In weaves the moires and failles predominate. Wide ribbons and narrow seem equally as popular. Among the popular shades are almond green crushed berry, Titian, Mephisto red, oakwood or sandalwood, clover harlequin green, sulphur, oriole Egyptian blue and gray.

BANDANNAS FOR HATS

Bandannas which have proved so popular are being used extensively in the south in place of hats. Swirled around the head and tied in a way most becoming to the wearer, the bandanna follows in the wake of the tight silk turban which was so popular during the last year. Bandannas made of squares of silk or chiffon with edgings of ribbon to match the ribbons used on the dress carry out the decorative scheme of the well-dressed girl very effectively.

LAUNDRY HINTS

Starch marks may be taken out of linen by applying lemon juice and salt. Moisten the salt with the half of a cut lemon and rub over the mark, rinse with water, and repeat the process until all hint of the stain has disappeared.

When the ironing is done, wash off the irons, scrubbing them with a coarse brush to remove any flecks of soot or specks of dust, and dry them well before putting them away. It is well to leave them on the stove for a few moments so as to make sure there is no dampness left to produce rust spots.

Chamois leather should be washed in warm water in which a pinch of baking soda has been dissolved. The chamois is not only cleansed, but its softness, which is often lost in the process of washing is retained.

In hanging out clothes in cold weather, add a little salt to the rinsing water and the clothes will not freeze to the line.

KEEPS WALLS CLEAN

To keep wall paper from becoming blackened from hot-air furnaces try this. Purchase as many wire dish drainers as you have registers; cover with thin, unbleached muslin, a few pins only being required to fasten the muslin covers occasionaly, but your paper and curtains will not be blackened. Wire dish drainers may be purchased at any 10-cent store.

TO REMOVE STAINS

To remove machine oil from white silk, wet a cloth in coal oil and touch the spot with it; no trace of the oil will remain.

To remove ink stains from colored cotton cloth without injuring material, mix dry mustard and water to a paste. Spread over the spot and allow to remain fifteen minutes, wash and rinse well and the stain will disappear.

Coarse sandpaper and a little elbow grease will take the brown spots from your kitchen sink, when soap and cleaning powder fail.

USE BITS OF RIBBON

No bit of ribbon is too small or too old to keep. Ravelings from old ribbons make good fillings for pillows, sachets and articles that need soft padding. The tiniest bits of fresh ribbon can be utilized for flowers for lingerie, for trimmings of dresses, wraps and hats.

TO REMOVE OIL AND GREASE FROM STONE

Cover with a few hot cinkers two or three times; then cover for several hours with a mixture made as follows: Two parts unslacked powdered lime; two parts Fuller's earth, and one part pearlash. Make into a stiff paste. Keep away from all kinds of metal work. First scrape all loose grease away from the stone, then make a strong alkali by boiling 1-2 lb. of caustic soda in a bucket of water, and apply with a brush or mop. When all the grease has been removed wash down with soap and water; then take a piece of unslacked lime the size of an egg. Put it into one gallon of skim milk and wash the stone with it. It should then be of a good color.

CONCERNING WOMEN

Women wearing high heels are barred from public golf courses in San Francisco.

Thirty per cent. of the women students at Washington State College are earning all or part of their expenses while attending college.

Looms costing from $40 to $100 apiece are becoming popular among English women, who are interested in weaving their own tweed materials.

"Each one teach one" has been adopted as the slogan of the Nebraska Federation of omen's Clubs in its campaign to eliminate illiteracy in Nebraska by 1930.

Few men know more about sheep than Mrs. M E. Vessey, who for more than 20 years has managed big sheep ranges in Washington, personally attending to every detail of the business. At times she has had as many as 10,000 sheep under her care.

HERE'S A TRICK

If a sliced onion and carrot are cooked with veal it will be found that the flavor of the rather tasteless meat is much improved. Veal cutlets rely for their flavor on the vegetables also that is usually served with them.

TRY THIS

Keep two hen-holders in use and change each time a fresh apron is used. This prevents the hand from becoming drawn and tired.

RECIPES

Escalloped Oysters: 1 quart or 2 dozen oysters, 1 1-2 cups bread crumbs (from the center of a stale loaf), 1 1-2 cups cracker crumbs, 1-4 cup melted butter, 1-4 cup cream, 1-2 cup oyster liquor, salt and pepper, slight grating nutmeg.

Pick over and drain from liquor the oysters. Add butter to bread and cracker crumbs. In the bottom of a buttered dish place a layer of crumbs, over this a thick layer of oysters, adding half the cream and oyster liquor. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Repeat and on top of the second layer of oysters have a layer of crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes.

Always have only two layers of oysters, as any more would leave the middle layer under-done, while the top and bottom layers would be over-cooked.

Potato Soup: Scald two-thirds of a cup of sweet milk with a small slice of onion and mix the milk with one-fourth cup of hot mashed cooked potatoes. Melt one-half tablespoon of butter, add to it one -half tablespoon flour, one-fourth teaspoon of salt and a few grains each of pepper and celery salt, then combine this with the hot milk-and-potato mixture. Bring all to the boiling point, strain, and serve. If it is desired to enrich this some still more, just before serving pour the hot soup onto beaten egg-yolks, or onto one whole egg well beaten.

Today's Anniversaries

1710—Dr. Thomas A. Arne, who wrote Rule Brittania, born in London. Died there, March 5, 1778.

1829—Sir Alexander Mackenzie, the famous explorer of Canada, died in Scotland. Born there about 1755.

1862—Andrew Johnson arrived at Nashville to take up his duties as military governor of Tennessee.

1867—American bark Rover wrecked on coast of the island of Formosa, and his captain and crew massacred by the natives.

1883—Henry Bergh, founder of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, died in New York city. Born there May 2, 1930.

1894—Justin McCarthy was re-elected chairman of the Irish parliamentary party.

1916—William M. C. Dawson, former governor of West Virginia, died at Charleston, W. Va., Born at Bloomington, Md., May 21, 1852.

1920—Several hundred Japanese were massacred by bolshevists in Siberia.

1922—Catholic prelates marched in first religious procession in Rome in 52 years.
Governorment troops captured 1,500 revolutionaries in Rand district, South Africa.

Today's Birthdays

William Cabell Bruce, the new United States senator from Maryland born in Charlotte county, Va., 63 years ago today.

Hon. Thomas A. Low, minister without portfolio in the Dominion cabinet, born in Quebec, 53 years ago today.

Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, late United States senator from New Jersey, born at Raritan, N. J., 54 years ago today.

Gen. Robert H. Stevenson, one of the few surviving general officers of the Civil war, born in Boston, 85 years ago today.

Annette Abbott Adams, the first woman to become assistant attorney-general of the United States, born at Prattville, Calif., 46 years ago today.

Rt. Rev. Joseph Schrembs, Catholic bishop of Cleveland, born in Bavaria, 57 years ago today.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Gen. Robert Hooper Stevenson, who celebrates his 85th birthday anniversary today, is one of the few surviving general officers of the American Civil war. Gen. Stevenson was born in Boston, and except for the time spent in the war has lived in that city all his life. He served as captain, major and lieutenant-colonel of the famous 24th Massachusetts regiment. He was brevetted colonel and brigadier-general for meritorious service. After the war he was one of the prominent members of the textile and banking businesses of New England, but retired from active participation in his extensive business connections some years ago. In his home city he has been prominently identified with many philanthropic and other movements looking to the public welfare.

How Far Will Your Money Go?

If you are not able to give a large sum for Near East Relief, give a small sum. You need not be afraid that any sum will be too small to be helpful, writes one of the workers.

Seven cents pays for three pounds of grits and that pays a refugee for a day's work on the streets of Alexandropol.

Eighteen cents was the food of rations for each one of 10,535 people in Erivan for a week.

Twenty cents gives an orphan food and shelter for a day.

Less than $5 a month supports an orphan in the huge orphanage at Alexandropol. This sum includes the cost of food, clothing, shelter, education, medical service, electric lights, water supply and police protection.

Six dollars pays that salary of a native teacher for a month.

Six dollars buys a barrel of flour that will make 300 loaves of bread—food for 300 days.

Fifteen dollars builds a hunt in a refugee village under the shadow of the Acropolis.

One hundred dollars supports an orphan for a year.

One hundred dollars will convert an abandoned waterworks into a school and community center in a village of refugees from Cilicia.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Comment by M. B. M.

Mr. Editor: I saw in the column written by the Man Who Talks a few days ago, a short paragraph stating that it is reported on good authority, that the world war made in this country 22,000 millionaires. It is very significant, and is still more so in the light of the scriptures and the signs of the times of our day. James 5:1-6, gives a good picture of this class of grafters, especially verse 3, which reads, "Your gold and silver is cankered; and the rust of them shall be a witness against you, and shall eat your flesh as it were fire. Ye have heaped treasure together for the last days."

And I think Mr. Treland must have forgotten to read verse 32 of 1 Cor. 14; when he says that Paul was speaking of his own practice. I think he will see in that verse that Paul says that 'If any man think himself to be spiritual, or a prophet, let him acknowledge that the things I write unto you are the commandments of the Lord.' This verse is just after the verses which have been under discussion, and which many overlook.

I cannot see that Paul's words written to another preacher, was any proof that they were allowing women to teach. Paul could have given advice without this being the case. Could he not?

M. B. M.

Norwich, March 9, 1923.

Wives of Famous Men

Elizabeth Bourcher, Wife of Oliver Cromwell.

To history Oliver Cromwell is known as a Puritanical and mercilessly severe leader of the English Revolution and as the stern head of the commonwealth. To his friends and family he was known as a loving husband and a gentle father.

At the early age of 21 he married Elizabeth Bourcher, whose father, a knight, was a wealthy London merchant. The fact that Elizabeth had not the strength of character and unbending will of her husband made her more beloved by him, and throughout their entire married life his devotion never waned. Once, after 30 years of domestic felicity, she complained that he seemed to act in an indifferent manner. Cromwell is quoted as saying: "Truly, if I love you not too well, I think I err not too much on the other hand."

Cromwell's affection was fully reciprocated. Elizabeth's devotion to her husband was as strong as his was for her. She wrote to him after many years of wedded peace: "Truly, my life is but half a life in your absence."

For 38 years they lived together in harmony and bliss. Although their life was saddened by the loss of three of their children, their joy was never marred by any domestic discord. Perhaps the finest example of Elizabeth's gentle disposition was the fact that she lived with Cromwell's mother for the first 11 years after her marriage, and got along most amicably with the strict old lady and her sister-in-law. From there they moved to St. Ives, where they had their own farm.

Stories That Recall Others

Psychology

Robert is only eight year old, but he had some ideas of his own and he dislikes compliments about his flaxen hair. At school he overheard some of the teachers say that anything could be accomplished with a knowledge of "self-applied psychology." On returning home he said:

"Mamma, where can I get a book that tells about self-applied si-si-kolegee?"

"Why, Robert, what do you wish to do?" she asked.

"I want to see if it will turn my hair black." was the answer.

All in the Day's Business

Jones ordered custard pie. The waiter handed out a blak with a top as black from scorching it resembled burned toast.

"No, not for mine," growled Jones. "I can get 'em burned at home. Give me lemon."

A moment or two later the counterman was sprinkling powdered sugar over the burned pie and a few moments later the piece of pie, carefully camouflaged was on the table of another customer.

Judge Webb Next to Retire From the Bench.

Governor Templeton will have a superior court judge to appoint during his administration as a result of the rejection in the house last week of a proposed constitution amendment extending the age limit of such judges from 70 years to 75 years. The amendment resolution passed the house two years ago and required the approval of both branches of the general assembly at the present session in order to be legally submitted to the required referendum vote. Had it been approved by the people it would have had the effect of leaving on the bench Judge James H. Webb of Hamden, who becomes 70 years old next year.

Whether two more superior court judges are to be appointed during the present administration will depend on the action taken by the legislation before the judiciary committee to add two more such judges to the number now provided by law.

Most people manufacture their own luck—be it good or bad.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for Calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little sugar-coated tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c

DAMASCUS STEEL PRODUCTS

Hack Saw Blades that don't break. Butcher Knives that a hammer won't break; sharpen with a file.

STEAK KNIVES
COLD CHISELS
PINCERS, PLIERS, ETC.

THE HOUSEHOLD
BULLETIN BUILDING
74 FRANKLIN STREET
TELEPHONE 531-4

SMALL, BUT IMPORTANT

People Invariably Notice a Neat Starched Collar and Clean Linen

The COLLARS we launder give you that confidence which comes from good grooming—they have just the proper body and flexibility, and are shaped on one of the latest collar molders which leaves the right shape for the space. Your collars will wear the longest by our new methods.

SILK SHIRTS—Washed and Ironed entirely by hand. All kinds of shirts done most carefully.

Buttons Sewed On — Mending and Repairing FREE

The Troy Steam Laundry
OF NORWICH, INC.
PHONE 831
282 Franklin Street F. RUSSELL SMITH, Pres.

We Sell and Recommend Wirthmore Poultry Feeds
One quality only—the best
D. T. PHILLIPS
Phone 648-3 HAMPTON, CONN.

BABY CHICKS DESERVE A GOOD START

Their first meal should be

WIRTHMORE
BUTTERMILK
BABY CHICK FOOD

It contains all the necessary food elements to induce healthy growth and lusty vitality and bring chicks safely through the hazardous early stages.

The Right Start Is Everything

For this reason—don't experiment. You can give WIRTHMORE BUTTERMILK BABY CHICK FOOD as home other chicks can out of the shell—and be SURE they will thrive on it. It is not only nourishing—it helps to ward off white diarrhoea, bowel trouble and leg weakness.

Made in New England for New England People

Wirthmore Poultry Foods are used and recommended by New England's most successful breeders because of their unusual quality and satisfactory results. The Wirthmore Egg Record Book is filled with valuable and interesting information for the poultry owner. Mailed FREE on request.

Buy WIRTHMORE POULTRY FEEDS from your nearest Wirthmore Dealer—NOW!

ST. ALBANS GRAIN CO. St. Albans, Vt.
CHAS. M. COX CO. Wholesale Distributors Boston, Mass.

WE SELL AND RECOMMEND
WIRTHMORE FEEDS
TO MAKE HENS LAY, WEIGH AND PAY

YANTIC GRAIN & PRODUCTS CO..... Norwich
YANTIC GRAIN & PRODUCTS CO..... Yantic
BALTIC GRAIN & COAL CO..... Baltic
GREENEVILLE GRAIN CO..... Greeneville
MOOSUP GRAIN CO..... Moosup

YOUR BODY NEEDS "HOUSE-CLEANING"

IT'S spring house-cleaning time—and your body needs it as much as your home. Your blood is sluggish and clogged with impurities, your vitality is low, you are weak, flabby, and easily tired.

Let Gude's Pepto-Mangan, the most effective spring tonic known, purify your blood, tone up your system, and start you off for the spring ready and fit for every task and every pleasure.

Your druggist has it, in both liquid and tablet form.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan

THE CHELSEA SAVINGS BANK
Franklin Square, Norwich, Connecticut

AN EXTRA DIVIDEND of 1-4 of 1 Per Cent. has been declared by the Board of Directors of this Bank in addition to the REGULAR DIVIDEND, which is at the rate of 4 Per Cent. per annum.

ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-NINTH CONSECUTIVE DIVIDEND

FRANK

For Colds, Influenza and as a Preventive

Take

Laxative Bromo Quinine tablets

The First and Original Cold and Grip Tablet

The box bears this signature

E. W. Grove

30c.

Norwich, Monday, March 12, 1923.

VARIOUS MATTERS

Light vehicle lamps at 6.30 o'clock tonight.

Six Boy Scouts were awarded 100 per cent. duty pins by Scoutmaster Charles Noble at the regular weekly meeting in Groton. There were 16 scouts and six visitors present.

Tutenkhamen's religion will be discussed in the Trinity college chapel Wednesday morning for the students by Professor Edward P. Humphrey, head of the history department.

The U. S. civil service commission announces an open competitive examination for assistant examiner, patent office, on April 4, 5 and 6. Entrance salary ranges from $1,600 to $2,000.

"Canada in the Great World War" in six volumes is among the new books received at the State Library. The set was published under the direction of the Canadian Military Advisory commission.

At a meeting of the New London branch of the Connecticut Council of Catholic Woman, the members voted to contribute the sum of $15 toward equipping the new vacation house in the Berkshires.

New incorporations include the C. J. Crowley Co., Inc., of Bristol, paints and decorating, capital $50,000; to begin with $4,900: incorporators, Charles J. Crowley, John J. Kalcher and Catherine M. Farrell.

100 reserved seats and 300 gallery seats at 50c remain unsold for "Kathleen Mavourneen" at Broadway Theatre, Wednesday night. Choice of these seats can be secured at St. Mary's Rectory.—adv.

Mrs. Cutler of Needham, Mass., wife of Roger W. Cutler, who stroked and captained the Harvard varsity to victory in 1911, is one of the five candidates for membership on the board of selectmen of her town.

One of the best records established since the organization of the department of motor vehicles was set during the first two months of this year, according to a report just issued by the department officials.

A number from this state will attend the convention of the New England Association of Purchasing Agents to be held in Boston Monday at which Major General Clarence R. Edwards will be one of the speakers.

The Association of Teachers of Mathematics in New England which met Saturday at Hartford presented an interesting series of talks pertaining to the practical teaching of mathematics in secondary schools.

The annual banquet of the Sophemore Dining club, the honorary Trinity college second year society, was held Friday evening. The banquet was one of the most successful of those held in recent years.

Land and buildings of the Hartford park department are valued at $4,252,000, according to an inventory statement filed with Comptroller E. E. Lamb, with Bushnell park, valued at $2,000,000 leading the list.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Greene of Waterford are spending a vacation in St. Petersburg, Fla. Mr. Greene will return Wednesday night but Mrs. Greene expects to remain in Florida for a couple of months longer.

Hartford insurance companies suffered an aggregate net loss of about $50,000 as a result of the fire that swept the Shepard department store in Providence Thursday night, causing damage of about $1,500,000.

Frederick P. Latimer, Jr., son of Judge Frederick P. Latimer of New London and Groton and Ernest E. Forbes of Norwich, are among the Yale students in the honor roll. Both achieved places in the third rank.

Miss Katherine Ludington of Old Lyme will preside at the banquet preceding the address of Lord Robert Cecil at the annual convention of the National League of Women Voters, to be held in Des Moines, Iowa, April 9-14.

In honor of his completion of forty years' service in the employ of the state, A. J. Wright, chief clerk in the office of the state board of education, received a large bouquet of forty carnations Saturday from his associates.

The annual meeting of the Connecticut Dental association will be held in Hartford April 19, 20 and 21, according to Notices sent out by President John P. Barton and Chairman Joseph A. Bray of the programme committee.

Two eggs, each eight by six inches and each weighing four ounces, were laid by one hen in the coop of M. J. Sims of York avenue, Westerly several days ago. According to Mr. Sims the bird has performed similarly at various times.

Speaking at the sixteenth annual banquet of the Connecticut Association of Amherst Alumni at Hartford, Professor William J. Newlin, secretary of the Amherst faculty, discussed the proposed plans for the development of Amherst college.

Members of the Rhode Island Citizens' Historical association joined in the observance of the 40th anniversary of their organization at a luncheon held Friday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock at the Young Women's Christian association, Providence.

President James L. Case of the National Association of Insurance Agents was one of the speakers before the ...nt gathering of the Illinois Asso...tion of Insurance Agents and the ...nois Insurance Federation at ...ringfield several days ago.

If we have a series of cloudless evenings for the next fortnight or so, an absorbing occupation among star gazers will be watching for the mysterious zodiacal light. The zodiacal light is due to be manifested at its best during the next fortnight.

Mabel Frances Henderson, the one year and 33 day old daughter of Thomas J. and Stella Rogers Henderson, died Saturday at the home of her parents, 9 Buell street, New London. The child is survived by several brothers and sisters besides its parents.

Governor Templeton and Mrs. Templeton have had, as their guests for the past few days, Mrs. W. L. Pressey and Mrs. Josephine Balsey, relatives from Chicago, who stopped in Connecticut on the return trip from St. Augustine, Fla., and Washington.

Edwin Clifford Chipman, M. D., president of the home Memorial association, died at the hospital Friday evening at 3.45 o'clock. His illness dates back to Feb. 17th, when he was operated upon at the hospital, and on March 5th a major operation was performed.

A favorable report will be made to the General Assembly by the legislative committee on insurance on a bill incorporating the Connecticut Plate Glass Insurance company of Torrington, with an authorized capital of $25,000 and power to increase it to $200,000.

A meeting was held at the home of Mrs. T. L. Haynes in Old Lyme of women of old Lyme and Black Hall, who are members of the Episcopal church, for the purpose of forming a branch of the women's auxiliary in connection with St. Anne's chapel, Black Hall.

PERSONALS

Reginald J. Long of Providence was a week-end guest of Norwich friends.

Officer William Ryan, who has been off duty because of a severe cold, is again on his post at night on Franklin square.

Officer Charles Smith has returned to his post at police headquarters after being out for several days with a severe cold.

Miss Sybil Righter and Mrs. Morris Stepner of Boston were guests of Mrs. Jennie Fox of 209 West Main street over the week end.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Michael Conway.

Ellen Casey, widow of Michael Conway, died Saturday morning in the home for the aged in Hartford, where she had lived for several years.

Mrs. Conway was the second wife of Mr. Conway and for many years made her home at 47 Lafayette street, Norwich. Mr. Conway at that time being employed at the Yantic cemetery. She is survived by two step-sons and a step-daughter, Mrs. Agnew Smith of 47 Lafayette street. There are also other relatives.

H. Perkins Topliff

H. Perkins Topliff died at the home of his son, Frederick H. Topliff, in Occum, Sunday morning at 2:40 at the age of 81 years. His death followed a complication of diseases and the effects of advanced years, for although failing in health for the past year no rapid change had taken place until within the past two weeks. He has made his home with his son since early fall. Surviving him are three sons, Frederick H. Topliff of Occum, Arthur C. Topliff, Providence, R. I.; Harrison F. Topliff, Fall River, Mass. Two sisters, Mrs. H. P. Palmer, South Hadley, Mass.; Miss Rose J. Topliff, South Hadley, Mass., and five grandchildren.

Mr. Topliff was born in East Windsor, April 1, 1842, the son of Harlow and Sarah Topliff. His parents removing to South Coventry during the same year, his boyhood and young manhood days were spent in Coventry and he received his education in the public schools of the town, Ellington High school and the Monson Academy of Monson, Mass. Adopted teaching as a profession, he first taught in the town of Columbia, and a year later accepted a position in the high school of Kingston, R. I. Returning to Connecticut he taught in the Brooklyn graded school as principal and Woodstock Academy of Woodstock, later going to Wauregan graded school as principal. While at Wauregan a threat trouble developed which necessitated his leaving the school room after a quarter of a century of successful teaching. Returning to South Coventry several years were spent in farming and upon regaining his health he entered the insurance business with offices in South Coventry and Rockville, the former office being of a 35 year duration. In 1905 he accepted a position as overseer of outside work with the Wauregan Company at Wauregan, filling this position for 15 years and at the conclusion of this period he returned to the South Coventry homestead, remaining until last August when his happy 54 years of married life were broken into by the death of his wife. He removed to Occum and made his home with his son up to his death.

Mr. Topliff was a born disciplinarian, quiet and sympathetic, strong in his religious belief and character, interested in all church work and broad and willing to give a helping hand to all uplifting agencies. He was a member for many years of the South Coventry Congregational church, serving the church as deacon for a score of years, and superintendent of the Sabbath school during the same time He was superintendent of a community Sunday school held at Mansfield Depot, and while living at Wauregan he was superintendent of the Congregational Sunday school there. He served as a director of the Connecticut S. S. Association for 20 years. After resigning as a director he was appointed an honorary life member of the association and until prevented by failing health was always present at the annual conventions of the association, spending no little of his time in Sunday school work throughout the state, giving many a discouraged worker encouragement by his strong personality and faith.

During his reclining years many were the expressions of friendship and love expressed by those who in earlier years had been under his direction in the school room, now filling places of trust in many varied lines of work and in many locations, proof that the interest taken by him in his scholars had not been taken in vain.

Although not of a grasping nature his interest in the town of his choice led him to fill several positions of trust, representing the town in the legislature of 1868 at which time he was a member of the educational committee which formed and put through to a successful conclusion the free school law which has meant so much to the educational work of the state during the intervening years.

While he was in the insurance business in Rockville he served the city for two years with credit in the position of superintendent of its night school.

FUNERALS.

Byron M. O'Brien.

There was a large assemblage of the late Byron M. O'Brien's relatives and friends at his funeral at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Groton Heights Baptist church. Rev. George R. Atha, pastor of that church, and Rev. J. Romelyn Danforth of the First Church of Christ, New London, officiated. The mourner included a large representation from Home Rebekah lodge, Fairview lodge, I. O. O. F., and the New London lodge of Elks. The bearers were Julian D. Moran, Milton M. Baker and Samuel M. Prentis of the Elks and Charles E. Tubbs, Alvah S. Geer and William H. Chapman of the Odd Fellows. The committal services were held in Cedar Grove cemetery, New London, where the body was laid in the vault.

Mrs. Sterling Nelson.

Funeral services for Mrs. Sterling Nelson were held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the parlors of Church & Allen, 15 Main street, relatives and friends attending. The service was conducted by Captain Carpenter of the Salvation Army and during the service hymns were sung by the quartet of the Salvation Army of South Manchester. Burial was in Greeneville cemetery, where a committal service was held. The bearers were Edward Crooks, Levi R. Gorton, Robert McNeely and Thomas Atterson.

ARTHUR GATES GOING INTO ADVERTISING LINE

Arthur H. Gates, formerly of this city, for the past 27 years connected with the interest of Armour & Co., in New Haven, has resigned his position as manager of the office at 72 Fair street and will shortly move to New York where he will henceforth be connected with specialists in advertising.

Mr. Gates first joined with the Armour interest in Norwich and after seven years service there went to New Haven. He has been manager of this district for a number of years.

WEEK-END AND TAG DAY BRING SALVATION ARMY TO $13,357.14

At a union Thanksgiving and praise service held at the Central Baptist church Sunday evening, A. W. Nicol, executive secretary of the Salvation army drive, reported that up to Sunday $13,063.14 had been received in cash and pledges and $1,371 in a legacy, or a total of $13,357.14 toward the $15,000 goal of the building fund of the Salvation Army. It was announced that the drive would be continued until Wednesday night when it was hoped the $15,000 would be raised.

Following a prayer by Rev. Charles H. Ricketts there was orchestral music by the South Manchester orchestra of the Salvation Army, and the South Manchester quartet favored with a selection.

The first speaker of the evening was Rev. David A. Pitt who welcomed the people in the church and said it was fitting that the Thanksgiving service be held at the Central Baptist church, as two weeks ago the start-off meeting was held in the church.

A. W. Nicol then took charge of the meeting and on behalf of the Salvation Army thanked the people for their support, and then called upon Harry N. Clark, chairman of the drive committee, for a few words. Mr. Clark said that it was a great pleasure to see the prophecy fulfilled and that Norwich people had responded so generously to the call.

Mr. Nicol than introduced Max Hanover as one of the workers to whom much credit is due for the spirit shown in the drive. Mr. Hanover thanked every church for the support rendered and said that the people of Norwich had indeed gained a great victory and by this drive all sects had been more closely united, welded together in one great cause for Christianity. Norwich has responded, he said, and we will now have a haven for the needy, a place where the outcast can find help that will restore him to health, happiness, to his family, and make him the man that God intended him to be. May God bless you all for assisting in putting this campaign over a success.

Commandant H. White of South Manchester next spoke and said that the workers in South Manchester appreciated the splendid effort of the local people, and on their behalf he wanted to thank the people of Norwich for their generous giving.

The principal speaker of the evening was Brigadier Wallace Winchell, of New York city, who spoke in part as follows: Nothing can be accomplished in this world without effort, and Norwich people have shown their willingness to get back of the Salvation Army in this successful campaign. The big thing in life is not what your people were or what they did, but what you are doing. Many people proved their patriotism in the great war but there still remain great problems to be solved. Christianity has solved the problems of the past and must solve those of the future.

The Salvation Army has its problems to solve, but has always worked hard to accomplish them. Years ago, said Brigadier Winchell, when I was in charge of Connecticut the Salvation Army didn't get money as they have in Norwich today; more often they got rotten eggs, and even in his time as a Salvation Army worker he had been mobbed many times, and even jailed for conducting an open air meeting.

In spite of that, the work in those days often brought blessings not received in these days. Even in the World war the Salvation Army did not get into France without a struggle. Secretary of War Baker refused to allow the Salvation Army to go overseas but through the efforts of a great lawyer, saved by years of struggle by Brigadier Winchell, President Wilson issued orders that put the Salvation Army in France.

I was sent overseas to meet with Hoover who was to get me into Belgium where I could carry on the work among the prisoners, but I was unable to get me inside the German lines. It was then that I came across some Belgians that had been underrailroaded into Belgium by that wonderful heroine, Edith Cavell, who laid down her life in the work, and the Germans had me signed as a spy. An official of the Hamburg-American Steamship Line whom I had met when down and out in the Bowery, obtained permission for me to go in, and I obtained pictures in Belgium that are being shown by the New York Board of Education, that were taken against military orders by Germany.

There were only about 200 Salvation Army workers in France, but they so co-operated with the officers that they gained their confidence and when the boys came up for the offensive drives they found the workers there with the doughnuts and coffee. It is the same problem, that is good in time of war is good in times of peace. This same work for good done by the Salvation Army and many missions in the slums is saving many from becoming bolshevik in tendency, perhaps saving this country from being undermined. It is not preaching alone that counts, its getting down and solving the problems of the people, finding them work and aiding them.

In New York when unemployment reigned Mayor Hylan appointed a committee, with Major Underwood of the Salvation Army at the head, to spend $125,000 to aid the unemployed, lest they become a menace to the city. Now we have employed agencies and have more jobs to offer than we have men to fill them.

There is the problem of the underprivileged boy. In my district once they hung in gangs, and a step over the line meant gang fights, broken heads, and sometimes murders. In Jersey City I went and worked among these people, although I had been warned that I would be mobbed. Irish and Polish people in that district fought daily and in one fight I was beaten up by a Polish woman who wielded a heavy pan. I bought some roses, gave them to the Irish girl, and somehow she saw the spirit and gave them to the Polish woman she had fought with and they became fast friends. I got up auto parties and had Polish children go into the Irish district and give away flowers that had been sent to me by the hundreds by people in the state. Now there are no more gang fights there and the people get along wonderfully well together. It was the spirit of Christ that did it.

I told the German officers that if they would drop roses and flowers onto London instead of bombs they would win the war, but they couldn't see things my way.

Then there is the prison problem. I know of a professional pickpocket who skipped bond and later served time in Columbus, Ohio, for 8 years, and when he came out the New Jersey authorities took him for the old offence. He told the judge that the laws to protect society made criminals out of the prisoners, rather than aided them to become better men, and the judge turned him over to me. He had been converted in jail by Salvation Army workers, and lived a true Christian life until his death. Great men in New Jersey among them the judge that sentenced him sent flowers to his funeral.

The Christ who died on Calvary lived for the world, and today the world is crying for a saviour. When the people who would not believe cut open the heart of God on Calvary they found only a stream that was cleansing and healing.

On Calvary we saw Christ suffering misery that the people misunderstood Him. On one side was the unbeliever who said, if you are the Son of God save yourself and me, too. On the other side was the thief, despised by the people. The despised one turned to the one suffering misery and said, with faith, when thou comest into thy home remember me and my depths of despair. The man of misery, Christ, answered, this day art thou with Me.

Faith is what we need, the faith to keep on, to work for good in this world and bring before the people the saviour they are crying for.

Campaign Notes

A campaign worker issued the following notes Sunday night

Here's an item of excitement for you, that the women have reached the wonderful total of $4,800. And still flowing in.

In spite of the most unfavorable weather conditions, Tag Day on Saturday was an unqualified success and yielded $500. Bravo, ye young ladies, weathering the storm and bringing the tag ship to safety. And for the services of Mrs. Charles Preston and Mrs. Eben Learned a heart vote of thanks.

Miss Arline Cobleigh, our energetic stenographer, turned tagger too, and made a big hit. Wonderful how persuasive these campaigners get when wound up and make "I can't do it," into "it's done." And that's the story of the stenographer.

As we told you "John" stalled quite a few with his tags and although weary with a hard day's work came through far from disconsolate.

Did you hear about the fine time at the Trinity Methodist church on Sunday morning? Well, good things were the order of the service, including selections by the South Manchester orchestra and a rousing talk by Commandant White, the officer-in-charge of South Manchester corps. As one good turn deserves another, if at any time we can serve you, Mr. Graham, look us up. The S. A. never sleeps so you can call any old time.

Here's what Brigadier Winchell thinks of Sunday night's service at the Central Baptist church: "A great meeting and a wonderful representation of public spirit, with the success of the campaign no longer in question."

One word to Captain Schwartz: $233 and you'll bring down the house with $1,000. For a man of your calibre that's easy.

Workers please hit the train for headquarters Tuesday and Wednesday and give up the benefit of all your takings. We promise to sing the doxology on Wednesday night.

INTERESTING MEN'S HOUR CONDUCTED AT Y. M. C. A.

The men's hour at the Norwich young men's Christian association Sunday afternoon was enjoyed by a good audience. After several selections by Swaan's orchestra, and two popular hymns, Emery H. Davis read the scripture lesson, and this was followed with prayer by the general secretary. Moving pictures of nature study were shown which proved instructive and included A Trip to the Moon, in the West Indies, and The Painted Desert of Arizona. In connection with the pictures, the beautiful poem by Bliss Carmen entitled Vestigia was read and was impressive.

Between the reels, Secretary Edwin Hill made a brief talk and said in part as follows:

The reel A Trip to The Moon suggested to me the topic Mounting Up. It must be a wonderful experience to mount up in the flying machine, and they tell us that this mode of travel is yet in its infancy. Years ago a four-story building was considered a marvel, and yet today the modern skyscraper is a common sight in our great cities. The art of building has been mounting up and up until it would seem as if we could mount no higher. It is interesting to study the climbing of some men. We naturally think of Abrahan as a great climber, as one who, though surrounded by many handicaps, yet steadily mounted up until he reached the highest place in the gift of his great country. The brief statement regarding Lincoln "from the log cabin to the White House" tells a great story. Lloyd George is another shining example of mounting up. He was born of common parentage and had his hard experiences but finally became the prime minister of our mother country. Charles Schwab, the steel magnate, started as a poor boy and began work in the steel industry by pushing a wheelbarrow for about a dollar a day, while today he has mounted to the leadership of a great steel plant and is known as a great authority in his line.

One of our Norwich business men has been constantly pushing ahead in his business and mounting up, until about a year and a half ago, when a national organization of insurance men wanted a president, this man was chosen for that high office. One of our young men the past week received a splendid appointment by the state which places him in the front rank of the banking circles. He has been mounting up through the years and is worthy of his elevated position. I believe God is pleased when men make the most of their talents and thereby mount up and become successful in their line of endeavor; but there is another phase of development, of growth, of mounting up, that pleases Him more, and that is the development of our spiritual powers, suggested by the message "they that wait on the Lord shall renew their strength, they shall mount up with wings as eagles, they shall run and not be weary, they shall walk and not faint." The highest development is the development of the soul.

America is making great strides in material things, but she is moving all too slowly in spiritual things; we are weakest at this point. We must consult the Bible more and obey its admonitions; we must pray more, and we must certainly follow the leadership of Jesus Christ more closely if we are to be the individuals and the country that we should be. We are building in sorrow or joy, a temple the world may not see; which time cannot mar nor destroy; we build for eternity.

Trolley Hit Automobile.

E. L. Baldwin of 117 Broad street reported to the police Sunday that at 9 o'clock in the morning his automobile was struck by a Falls trolley car on Franklin street, and that the motorman of the trolley did not stop to ascertain whether or not any damage had been done to the machine. The trolley was headed towards the Falls and Mr. Baldwin was riding down Franklin street, his automobile being filled with relatives and friends.

The damage to the machine was reported as slight.

LEGISLATIVE MEANINGS OF INTEREST HERE

The following are legislative meetings to be held in Hartford this week that are of interest in Eastern Connecticut:

On Thursday the agricultural committee will give consideration to several bills concerning examiners of milk, manufacture of filled milk and defining the quality of standard milk.

On Tuesday the appropriations committee will consider the bill concerning the fees of deputy sheriffs and on Wednesday an act making an appropriation for the completion of disconnected sections of state aid highways.

On Thursday before the cities and boroughs committee bills concerning the charter of New London will be heard. One of these bills will take away from the city manager power to make appointments without the approval of the city council and is likely to provoke some discussion. A large number is expected to be present from that city.

The committee on education will have before it bills concerning the employment of children during school hours, on Friday.

On Friday the committee on finance will listen to the request of the borough of Jewett City for authority to issue bonds, and on Wednesday the Storrs bill exempting certain towns fro the state tax.

On Tuesday the committee on fish and game will consider several bills that have been introduced concerning the licensing of fisherman which has been approved by the fish and game commission and by the fish and game association from all parts of the state. These include:

Tuesday, License to fish in inland waters. S. B. 213 (Senator Gibbs), licenses to fish in inland waters. S. B. No. 219 (Senator Ash), licenses to fish by angling in inland waters. S. B. No. 103 (Senator Ellis), the lincensing of fishermen. H. B. No. 410 (Mr. House), amending an act concerning meetings and duties of the state board of fisheries and game. H. B. No. 412, authorizing the state board of fisheries and game to receive gifts of property and to hold the same in trust for the purpose of said commission.

On Thursday, March 15, 2:00 p. m. H. B. No. 343 (Mr. McQuade), an act concerning bount on wild animals. H. B. No. 251 (Mr. Hutchins), an act concerning fishing in Alexanler lake.

The committee on judiciary will on Tuesday have before it bills introduced by Mr. Darbie of Killingly and Senator Bidwell of East Hartford, concerning the reimbursing holders of liquor licenses.

On Wednesday the labor committee will hold a continued hearing on the bill introduced by Senator Gibbs, concerning hours of labor of telegraph operators and train dispatchers.

On Wednesday in the hall of the house the committee on military affairs will have before it the act concerning the soldiers' bonus.

On Tuesday and Wednesday the roads, rivers and bridges committee will have before it the bills concerning highway matters in all parts of the state. One bill introduced by Senator Suisman of Hartford, which will be heard on Wednesday concerning the licensing of automobile repairmen and mechanics

A full list of all hearings is on file at The Bulletin office.

BIRTHDAY PARTY IN PRETTY EASTER SCHEME

A pretty birthday party, carried out in an Easter scheme of yellow and blue, was given Saturday afternoon from 3.30 to 5 o'clock for Master Grant Denison at his home, 41 Happy street.

The little guests who celebrated his ninth birthday were Masters William King, George Ranger, Wilfred Bussey, Charles McNamara, Billy Sanders, John Botham, 3rd, Wilbert Perkins, Gilbert Denison, James Kenefick, John King, Jr., Kenneth Sanders, Charles Cruthers, Jr., and the Misses Katherine Adams, Frances Higgins, Ilva Ranger, Nancy Pitcher, Deborah Parker, Frances King, Jennie Richards, Mary Peckham, Helena Crandall, Mary King, Lois Bussey.

Mrs. W. H. Denison was assisted by Mrs. John Bowman, Mrs. Gerard Ranger, Mrs. William Sanders, Mrs. Fred Cruthers in entertaining the little people and in serving the refreshments of sandwiches, cookies, fancy cakes, ice cream, bon bons and milk.

Among the games played Deborah Parker won the prize in the donkey game and Helena Crandall in the peanut hunt. Dancing was enjoyed during the afternoon.

Ferns, daffodils and pussy willows were used in the floral decorations in which yellow and light blue with a shower of yellow ribbons from the dome over the table in umbrella effect. The centerpiece was a large decorated birthday cake containing nine candles set in nine yellow rosebuds held by nine Easter chicks. The place cards were Easter bunnies and the favors were yellow baskets filled with Easter eggs. There were caps of yellow crepe trimmed in light blue, made Russian style.

GRADUATES WITH HONORS AND RECEIVES SCHOLARSHIP

Miss Bessie Roslyn Fox, daughter of Mrs. Jennie Fox of 209 West Main street, graduated last Tuesday from the Mt. Sinai Training School for Nurses, N. Y.

She received the $100 Guggenheim prize scholarship and two medals for efficiency. Miss Fox graduated from the Norwich Free Academy in 1920.

Was Former Thompson Pastor.

Rev. Newton I. Jones, a former pastor at Thompson, this state, died last Wednesday at Groton, Mass. He had been in the ministry for 48 years. Mr. Jones retired from the ministry only last August, and he went to reside in Groton in order that he might be near his son, Chandler T. Jones, a graduate of Amherst college, and now in charge of the English and French departments at Lawrence Academy.

Realized $37.50 at Whist.

Mrs. Abraham Curland gave a successful whist at her home at 80 Broad street Sunday afternoon, $37.50 being netted for the benefit fund of the Rose of New England auxiliary. There were prizes for every table, these being donated by Mrs. Abraham Curland, Mrs. Alexander Manes, Mrs. Alexander Pasnik, Mrs. Elkin Smith, Mrs. Joseph S. Tennen, Mrs. Israel Rabinovitch, Mrs. Abraham Silverberg, Mrs. Harry Salomon and Mrs. David Trachtenberg.

Xens Held Meeting.

The Xens held their regular meeting Friday evening at the First Baptist church, routine business being conducted. The committee in charge of the food sale reported that arrangements had been made with C. V. Pendleton for the headquarters for the sale. Following the meeting, a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the entertainment committee, Mrs. Edward Briggs, chairman.

Realized Good Sum from Whist.

At a recent meeting of the Woman's auxiliary of Robert O. Fletcher post, No. 4, American Legion, President Mrs. George Fraser presided. Considerable routine business was transacted and the whist committee reported that a good sum of money had been realized from the whist held recently. Plans for the future were made, after which a social time was enjoyed.

Greatest Danger Follows Grip

Weakened Victims Fall Easy Prey to Other Diseases

The getting well stage of grip, pneumonia or other illness is the most dangerous of all.

The body, weakened by the disease is wide open to attacks of other lurking germs.

That is why all the organs of the body must be kept in their best working order, not only to drive out the poison left by the disease, but to help the patient regain strength.

After any illness Father John's Medicine builds up the body because it is all pure wholesome nourishment.

Father John's Medicine has had 67 years' success for colds and throat troubles, coughs and sore throats, and as a tonic and body builder.

A Mother's Experience

"After an attack of pneumonia the doctor ordered me to give my baby Father John's Medicine and as a result he regained health and strength. I always give it to my children whenever they catch cold." (Signed) Mrs. Geo. Homeberger, 1054 Pike St., Reading, Pa. Father John's Medicine is an ideal family medicine for all who are weak and run-down.

HOME MISSION MEETING REVIEWS NEGRO'S PROGRESS

At the meeting of the missions department of Park Congregational church, which was held on Friday afternoon in the parlors of the Hugh Henry Osgood Memorial, Miss Alice W. Coggswell presided in the absence of the chairman, Mrs. Allan Latham.

Following the singing of the opening hymn, the devotional exercises were led by Mrs. George D. Colt.

The president of the Woman's Federation, Mrs. Henry T. Arnold, said that a short business meeting would be necessary, and announced that a grand piano had been purchased for the Sunday school room and partly paid for from the music fund established by the late Major R. P. Learned. The upright piano has been placed in the primary room.

Changes in the officers have been made owing to the resignation of the treasure, Mrs. Raymond B. Sherman, Mrs. Rollin C. Jones has been transferred from the office of recording secretary to become treasurer, and Mrs. W. Tyler Browne elected by the board as recording secretary. Mrs. Arnold announced that the parish house department will have an evening of moving pictures next Friday in place of the afternoon meeting.

Contributions of clothing were solicited for a missionary box to be packed very soon.

The report of the secretary was read by Mrs. Rollin C. Jones, following which Miss Coggswell announced that books and magazines were desired for the meeting on the second Friday in April for distribution among the foreign born farmers. Mention was made of the Easter sale to meet the appointment for home missions.

As an introduction to the topic of the afternoon, a group of three negro spirituls was sung by Miss Idella Scott, Mrs. Frances Evans and Mrs. Louise Hall of Mt. Calvary Baptist church choir. Their melodious voices were harmoniously blended in Swing Low, Sweet Chariot, and Steal Away. The solo part in Carry Me Back to Ole Virginny was sympathetically sung by Miss Scott, the others joining in the chorus.

The text book for home missions entitled The Trend of the Races was reviewed by Miss Helen Marshall, who prefaced her remarks by saying that the book was written by Dr. George Edmund Haynes, a negro who had received degrees from Fiske university, his M. A. from Yale, a Ph. D. from Columbia and had also studied abroad and in the school of philosophy. In recognition of his ability the secretary of labor had appointed him director of negro economics.

The book commenced with "life as it was," and the work of Miss Moore an early missionary (near the Mississippi river) was touched upon, who had established a magazine called Hope and her work was among the women.

The author quoted the statement of Viscount Bryce regarding the great advance of the negro during the first 50 years after the Civil war, saying that it had been greater than of any Anglo-Saxon people and that "they should be judged, not by the heights they had reached, but by the depths from which they had come."

Illustrating their advance, and with the changing conditions in the south, the author stated that there were 920,000 more farms tenanted or owned by negroes than in 1860, and since the first patent granted to a negro in 1834 there were 800 patents credited to them, the latest being lubricating cups for the oiling of machinery. Among the scientists an authority on magnetics had been associated with Hudson Maxim, and to show that the negro was capable of being fitted for every field of endeavor, instances and names were given of those who had become well known in literature, music and dramatics, and as artists the work of one had been given a place in the Louvre. As explorers they had accompanied expeditions from those of Columbus to Peary, and had been in our War of the Revolution, of 1812, in the Civil war, and in the Cuban war, the Tenth cavalry had come to the relief of Colonel Roosevelt. In the World war negro soldiers had been cited for bravery and won the croix de Guerre, and their services and stevedores and to home as farmers and buyers of Liberty bonds had proved their patriotism.

In 1920 there were 55,000 business enterprises operated by negroes, and they have established small banks and large insurance companies. Education has progressed rapidly and now it is estimated that there is only about 25 per cent. who cannot read and write. In 1920 the southern legislatures appropriated 13 millions from their funds for schools.

The races do not understand each other as in the old slave days and if there is to be inter-racial peace, the white race must work not for the negro but with him and treat him with courtesy and respect.

Five Arrested.

Joseph Gurley, Manuel Ross, Charles Carpenter, Agnes Hall and Manuel Secora, all colored, were arrested Saturday night at Secora's house on North Main street on a breach of the peace charge. Gurley had his hand cut by glass and had to be attended by a doctor at police headquarters.

Arrested on Broadway.

Dr. Harry McLaughlin of Jewett City was arrested in this city Saturday night on Broadway near Crescent street by Officer Charles Ebbets on the charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. The machine became stalled when the self-starter failed to work and Officer Ebberts made the arrest when his attention had been called to the efforts to start it.

Charles McLaughlin, an attorney of Hartford, who was with his brother in the machine, claims that he and not the doctor was driving the car.

Attended D. A. R. Conference.

In attendance Friday and Saturday at the annual conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution were Mrs. A. N. H. Vaughn, regent of Faith Trumbull chapter of this city, Mrs. George A. Ashbey, Mrs. E. Allen Bidwell and Mrs. Harvey M. Briggs.

Leak Into Toggery Shop.

Water from a leaky roof came through the ceiling and down the walls into Harry Lahn's Toggery Shop at 164 Main street Saturday afternoon, doing considerable damage to stock. The electric lights were short-circuited by the water, also.

CLOSED!

UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE BECAUSE OF WATER DAMAGE

LAHN'S TOGGERY SHOP

164 MAIN STREET

Opposite Woolworth's

The Chelsea Savings Bank

Norwich, Conn., March 2, 1923.

A special meeting of this Corporation will be held on Monday, the 12th day of March, 1923, at 11:00 o'clock A. M. to consider a revision of several of the By-Laws.

FRANK HERSTEAD, Secretary.

The Porteous & Mitchell Co.

COMPANY

Fashiongrams From Paris

McCall Printed Pattern 3124

The newest skirt is this one which is wrapped around itself in such a fashion that seams are unnecessary and the effective side drapes may ripple in every breeze. A deep collar to the blouse and a shirred girdle are other new touches.

Sketched from McCall Printed Pattern 3124, 46c.

The Porteous & Mitchell Co.

Spring's Newest 3-Piece Suits

Here are the new spring suits in three piece models which have swept into popularity wherever fashion leads. Some have the new reversible coats. All are in novel textures. The most attractive made up in the new Tricotine sham cloth, Jerseys, Poiret Twills, etc.

PRICES $25.00 TO $40.00

Caron's Specialty Shop

You can get prompt attention and good service at the

EATON CHASE CO.

129 Main Street, Norwich

They carry the best quality of hardware and electrical goods, including radio parts.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

In the field of sports and diversions the present week is an important one. Tuesday evening, at the Casino alleys here, brings the first of the events—10 games of the 20-game bowling series arranged between Frank Barber of Danielson and Fred Dugas of Taftville. The second set of games in this series will be rolled at Taftville Thursday evening.

Wednesday evening brings the Bulkeley High school team of New London to Danielson for a basketball game with the Killingly High school team. On Friday evening the Danielson Rod and Gun club, with a membership now nearing 200, has its banquet at the Attawaugan hotel and the guest of the evening will be Supt. J. W. Titcomb of the state fish and game commission. This banquet is to be held at 7 o'clock, for many of those who will attend have planned also to be present at the boxing exhibition scheduled to be held the same evening in the town hall. So those who are interested in sports will have ample entertainment this week.

Danielson's population has received a recent boost through the arrival here from Canadian points of families that are to find employment in one of the big manufacturing plants. This harks back to the period of about 40 years ago when large numbers of Canadian families came to Danielson and located, finding occupation in the textile plants of the town. Many of these families prospered very materially and their industry is represented today in dozens of homes and other properties in the borough and the surrounding territory. For a score of years past, however, there have been few arrivals from Canada, so the recent coming here of a few families who are to be followed by others is of more than passing interest. There are 20 children in two of the families recently arrived.

If the weather man were in a prisoner's dock and the Danielson public was sitting as a jury to determine his fate, there isn't any doubt that the verdict would be that he be shot at sunrise, if some agile-minded person could not think of a quicker fate. That snowstorm of Saturday was about the last straw in the way of discouragement over the manner in which winter is hanging on. The season has been so hard and long drawn out that it is actually true that the weather is having a bad effect psychologically on many people—and is slowing up spring trade, which showed real signs of activity when the first fine days of March came.

This morning a force of special workers will resume the task of making permanent repairs in the terminal room of the central telephone office, damaged by fire last Thursday night. All the telephones have been back in service since Friday, but the service was restored through making emergency hitches. These will now be replaced with permanent repairs, and the work will in no way interfere with the continuity of service.

A dozen or more persons, resident in Goodyear and vicinity, will be in the town court today to answer to charges that they have harbored unlicensed dogs or allowed dogs for which they are responsible to roam. These court cases are the outgrowth of disregarding repeated warnings that prosecutions would follow for those who continued to disobey the law.

Attention of hunters is called to the fact that the closed season on skunk, raccoon, mink, otter and muskrats begins next Thursday, March 16, and that these fur-bearing animals cannot be legally taken on and after that date. Wednesday is the last day of the open season. The rule applies to trapping as well as to shooting. During the period between March 15 and April 1, all seasons for hunting or fishing are closed, excepting that foxes may be taken. Attention to the approaching closed season was called by Deputy Game Warden F. E. Kies, who is desirous that all who hunt or trap might have their memories refreshed on this matter.

Also this week brings the end of the period allowed for filing income tax returns. These must be in the office of the internal revenue collector at Hartford not later than Thursday. The rush on Saturday to fill out returns was indicative of the fact that many have not as yet attended to this important duty.

Baseball stories from the southern training camps are contributing to stirring the imagination of players in all the villages hereabouts. As is the case very early each spring or very late in the winter, there is talk of forming a mill town league. This may or may not be done. It has been tried in the past and at times has been successful, but the difficulty is always with the introduction of "ringers," who are given a job in some plant in order to bolster up the ball team and one team starts that the others follow suit.

It may be encouraging to some who are wearied of winter to know that Ira A. McDaniel has a letter from his home in Athens, Ohio that spring plowing is under way in that southern section of the state. So better weather if even for southern New England may be anticipated with more or less confidence sometime between now and Labor day.

Sunday afternoon at his home in Attawaugan funeral services for Edwin Waterhouse were conducted by Rev. J. W. Carter of that place and were attended by numbers of relatives and friends. The body was entombed at Grove street cemetery in Putnam. The bearers were Edwin Wood, William Lewis, Vincent Adams and Henry Davis. L. E. Kenedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Funeral services for Frederick Raymond Mitchell were held at his home in Attawaugan Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. J. W. Carter officiating. Among those attending the funeral was a number of former associates of Mr. Mitchell in railroad work. The body was entombed at Grove street cemetery in Putnam. The bearers were George Mautolfla, Clarence James, Earl Ballard and Everett Carver. Louis D. Kennedy was the funeral director.

Israel Tetreault, 73, died suddenly Sunday afternoon at his home on North Main street when his heart failed after an attack of acute indigestion. Mr. Tetreault was born in St. Mary's, P. Q., and had been a resident in Killingly for more than fifty years. He leaves his wife, who is recovering from a severe illness, and three children, Ernest Tetreault, an engineer of the New Haven road, Mrs. A. J. Hall of Dayville and Miss Lillian Tetreault of Danielson.

Mrs. Dora Thompson, 28, died suddenly Sunday morning at her home on North street. She had been ill for a few days but her condition was not regarded as critical. She was a native of Lancashire and the wife of Arthur Thompson of this place. The family formerly lived at Goodyear. Mrs. Thompson leaves her husband, a son, Arthur, and a daughter, Margery.

Large numbers of Polish residents are expected to attend the special Lenten services arranged especially for them at St. James' church this afternoon and evening.

At the Father and Son banquet Tuesday evening at the Methodist church Attorney Harry E. Back will respond to the toast Our Sons—It Is Great to Be Their Dads. Norman Brearley will respond to a toast on Camp Woodstock, the Y. M. C. A. summer camp for this county.

Miss Blanche Gauthier was a visitor with friends in Norwich on Sunday.

In Galilee was the subject at the vesper service at the Congregational church Sunday.

John A. Dillon of Providence was a visitor with friends in Danielson over Sunday.

While the pressure for coal has eased off a bit there is still a heavy demand for the fuel, which is not coming through too plentifully as yet.

Even bags of salt weighing over 50 pounds have not been sufficient to thaw out one of the drains in Main street. The state highway department is endeavoring to clear out these drains against the time when the real breakup of the winter comes.

Overtime work is now being done in a number of mills in this and surrounding territory, and the milimen say that this promises to be a busy year in the textile trade.

George A. Landsmith of Pawtucket was a visitor with friends in town over the week-end.

COUGH
Try PISO'S
Astonishingly quick relief. A purely vegetable preparation. Different from all other remedies in its effects. Does not disorder the stomach, nor constipate. 30c and 60c at druggists.
F. W. TILLINGHAST & SONS, Agents for P. & F. W. Tillinghast, General Village, Conn. GUARANTEED PRODUCTS

PUTNAM

According to Attorney J. F. Carpenter, prosecuting attorney of the city of Putnam, Putnam may soon be offered a piece of land consisting of about 12 acres, for public park purposes. Who the prospective donor may be has not been divulged but it is said that the property that may be conveyed to the city for park purposes is located somewhere near the old golf course. This site is near the swimming hole known as Tourtellottes and if the park becomes a fact it may solve the problem of a place for bathing which has been under consideration for some time. At present the only available bathing place is in Roseland Lake, Woodstock, the source of Putnam's water supply and each year years hears rumors that bathing is to be forbidden in the lake.

The question of acquiring the Heath property adjoining the Putnam Country club and the advisability of building a sun parlor and dining room on the club house will be discussed at the annual meeting of the Putnam Country club to be held in Red Men's hall, Tuesday evening. Reports for the year will be read and officers will be elected, after which there will be dancing and refreshments.

At Mashmoquet inn, Pomfret, next Thursday evening, there will be a dinner and whist for the benefit of the Day Kimball hospital nurses' home.

Local members of Putnam lodge of Elks are interested in the effort on the part of Webster members to organize a lodge of their own in their home town. At present Putnam lodge has jurisdiction over the territory from Moosup on the south to Webster on the north, including Dudley and Southbridge, Mass.

The annual meeting of the Putnam Men's Glee club will be held in the gymnasium of the Congregational church, Wednesday evening at 6.30 o'clock. There will be solo and community singing. Following a banquet officers for the year will be elected and George B. Chandler, secretary of Connecticut Chamber of Commerce will give an address on "The International Situation." At ten o'clock adjournment will be taken to the Bradley theatre where the members will be guests of Manager Jacob Alperet, who is a member of the club.

Putnam lodge of Elks has nominated officers as follows: Exalted ruler, Archibald Macdonald, Jr.; esteemed leading knight, A. Graydon Sharpe; esteemed loyal knight, James E. Murray; esteemed lecturing knight, William E. Hughes; secretary, Thomas J. Howarth; treasurer, A. Newton Vaughn; tyler, Hector Duvert; trustee to three years, Lucius D. Merriam; delegate to national convention, Lucius P. Merriam; alternate, Ralph E. Thurston.

Three petitions for divorce have been filed with the clerk of the Windham county superior court. Viola Lachapelle of Hubbardson, Mass., asks for a decree from George A. Lachapelle of Putnam alleging that her husband deserted her May 15th, 1916, and also alleges intolerable cruelty. The custody of two children is asked.

Mrs. Blanche Lamotte of Putnam asks for a decree from Arsene Lamotte also of Putnam and also asks for the custody of three minor children. A similar allegation is set forth in the suit as one for intolerable cruelty. Attorney J. F. Carpenter represents the petitioner and the defendant is represented by Attorney Ernest C. Morse.

The third case is that of Aaron Vial vs. Mary Vial. The parties, who live in Killingly, were married December 25th, 1917. The grounds alleged are desertion in 1918.

Chief Ralph E. Thurston of the Putnam fire department has preferred charges to the common council against Alfred Bardier, a fireman, and asks that Bardier be dismissed from the department. Chief Thurston alleges that Bardier failed to obey orders at the Donahue block fire and states that he will furnish evidence of insubordination when a hearing is held at which time Bardier will be given an opportunity to be heard in his own behalf if he so wishes.

The debris caused by the Donahue block fire has been entirely cleared away and the cellar is now clear. It is anticipated that work will be begun on a fire proof building in the very near future on the site of the former wooden structure.

Lowell D. Ross, Main street, is seriously ill at his home with double pneumonia.

Harry Roberts, employed in Mansfield's grocery store is at his home with two displaced bones in the vertibra caused by lifting a heavy bag of potatoes.

The school nurse has made her report for the month of February as follows: New cases, 6; discharged, 6; treatment for skin diseases, 11; treatment for injuries, 2; home calls, 45; exclusion, 1 for mumps, one for precaution, two for severe colds. All of the children have been examined for skin diseases and physical examinations have been begun in Israel Putnam school.

Putnam railroad employes were at Attawaugan, Saturday morning, to attend the funeral of Raymond Mitchell, who died in a sanatorium in Norwich Wednesday after an illness of 18 months. Mr. Mitchell was for years employed at the N. Y. N. H. & H. railroad depot in this city. The bearers were all railroad men and included Everett Carver, George Montville, Earl Ballard and Clarence James, all of Putnam.

Snow and slush kept the Saturday influx of out-of-town traders away from Putnam and the stores did but little business over the week end. The weather has been costly to local business men for the past month.

Miss Arinda W. Enyard, a resident of this city for about 30 years, died Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Converse after an illness of several weeks, pneumonia finally developing a few days ago.

Miss Enyard, who was formerly of Plainfield, N. J., originally came here for the benefit of her health. She leaves a sister, Mrs. Carrie Carroll, of Plainfield, N. J., where Miss Enyard's father died about a year ago. Miss Enyard was about 60 years of age.

EAST PUTNAM FARM DESTROYED BY FLAMES

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Putnam, March 11. — A fire that caught on the roof from a spark from the chimney totally destroyed the Torrey homestead in East Putnam Saturday morning. Only a few of the household goods in the lower story were saved. The loss will be between four and five thousand dollars, partially covered by insurance.

The house was occupied by Olin Torrey and Ernest Torrey and their families. The house was built about 1782 and had always been in the Torrey family. It was the birthplace of Attorney Charles L. Torrey of Putnam whose law office and law library were totally destroyed by fire when the Donahue block burned on February 22nd last. The house was owned by the estate of Charles D. Torrey.

The Torrey brothers had been to the woods to bring out a load of cord wood. As they neared their home on the return trip they saw that the roof of the house was on fire. They tried to extinguish the fire with buckets of water but it gained fast headway and soon the building was wrapped in flames.

In the house were Miss Carrie Torrey, an invalid, who had to be carried to a neighbor's house in her chair. Also an old gentleman, Danielson P. Jordan, 92, father-in-law of Olin Torrey who had recently removed from Danielson to make his home with his daughter and son-in-law. Mr. Jordan refused to leave the house until his bank books were recovered and had to be led from the building. The bank books were later rescued.

People gathered from miles around and gave what assistance they could in taking out household articles. It was early seen that the old house was doomed.

The house stood on land at one time owned by Yale college and was sometimes called "College Farm." When it was purchased by the Torreys the money received was the first endowment that Yale college had ever had.

The barn on the farm was on the opposite side of the road and was not burned although several times it was threatened by flying embers and sparks. The occupants of the house have been temporarily taken in to the home of neighbors.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

The public schools of the Springs were in session on Saturday to make up a part of the time lost by closing school on account of the shortage of coal and the illness of teachers.

Miss Lillian Bowden has sold a woodlot above Staffordville to Parsons & Harrington, lumbermen of Nashua, N. H.

Stafford people are pleased at the favorable report of the committee on roads, rivers and bridges of the general assembly, including in the trunk line system of highways the road from West Willington through the towns of Ashford, Eastford and Woodstock to Quinebaug and the Massachusetts state line.

The senior class of the local high school held a successful food sale at the Hanley store on Friday and added materially to their funds for the Washington trip.

Miss Mary Fitzpatrick has been spending a few days in New York city.

John Dobson of Stafford Hollow is recovering from an attack of grip.

Henrietta Webster of the Hollow has been ill for several days with grip.

CLARK'S FALLS

John Perry was in Westerly on business last Thursday.

Cassius Collins was in the city on business recently.

Quite a number of people in this vicinity have been suffering with grip or influenza. E. P. Chapman is quite seriously ill, while A. A. Bill was confined to the house for some time.

BROADWAY
TODAY—Matinee and Night
ALSO TUES. NIGHT
Newest Grotto Musical Show
"The Glorious Girl"
Wednesday Evening, March 14
St. Mary's Church Presents
"Kathleen Mavourneen"
THURS., FRI., SAT.
EXTRAORDINARY ENGAGEMENT
THE ACT OF A 1000 LAUGHS
CLIFFORD
THE HYPNOTIC MARVEL in
"Hypnotic Humor"
HE—Will Amaze You—Will Startle You—Will Do the Impossible.
WATCH FOR FREE ATTRACTIONS IN WINDOW OF THE SCHWARTZ FURNITURE STORE STARTING THURS., AT 1 P. M.
4—OTHER ACTS—4
—ALSO—
DOROTHY DALTON
—IN—
"DARK SECRETS"

Today Tuesday Wednesday
BREED THEATRE
Today Tuesday Wednesday
THE STARTLING PLAY OF TODAY THAT SHOCKED BLASE BROADWAY
WHO ARE MY PARENTS?
A VITAL PROBLEM OF AMERICAN SOCIETY PORTRAYED IN A POWERFUL DRAMA OF EMOTIONAL APPEAL—A High Tension Drama of the Hour!
PATHE NEWS — Up-to-the-Minute News Topics
PRICES DURING THIS ENGAGEMENT:
MATINEES 15c and 25c—EVENINGS 20c and 35c

MATINEE TODAY AT 4 P. M.
The Glorious Girl
The Magnificent Spectacle With 161 Norwich Beauties
BROADWAY THEATRE
Monday and Tuesday, March 12-13
500 Good Seats for Tuesday Performance at Box Office Now

NEW LONDON COUNTY GAME WARDENS HAVE RESIGNED

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 11.—Louis and John Ramistella, deputy game wardens have resigned. The resignation of the officers came about because of their arrest recently by B. W. Talbot, a constable of Haddam for alleged violation of the hunting law in seeking game after sundown. Talbot was acquitted, but he did not stop here, taking the matter up with the fish and game commissioners and members of the legislature, with the result that the resignation of the two deputies followed.

George L. Chaffee of 271 Montauk avenue, is confined to his home with inflamatory rheumatism. He has not been able to be about since last Tuesday and that's affliction, for him as he has always been active and a constant attendant at the Harbor club.

The Misses Josephine and Mary L. Rice have purchased the residence occupied by William H. Starr and family in Bellevue place many years. The Misses Rice have resided at 102 Montauk avenue in the Collins house. The first named is principal of the Nameaug school and her sister is a seamstress.

Ernest Schiffler or Schiffer, accused of sabotage, was to have come to trial in the police court Monday morning on a most serious charge of inciting to riot men employed on the New Haven railroad, and with urging the disabling of rolling stock of the road and in other ways to hamper the operation of the road, but the case has been continued by agreement between the attorneys until next Monday, the 20th. Schiffler has been prosecuted on an exactly similar charge at New Haven and is now held in bail of $5,000 for appearance to answer before the superior court for New Haven county. He has given a bond of $5,000 to appear in the police court here when his case comes to a presentation.

It is understood that Schiffler was in New London and that he addressed striking shopmen here and used the incendiary language that is complained of. The railroad company is understood to have the witnesses that they believe will prove the case against Schiffler, several of them having heard what he said to the shopmen who are unwilling to work and who, it is claimed, will not allow others to labor. At least the charge is made that they threatened them and used means to keep them away from the employ of the railroad company.

Assistant Chief Rose has expressed the belief that some day or at least some night this city will regret that it has not secured an aerial ladder for the use of the fire department. He has advocated such a piece of fire fighting apparatus and before the present form of city government was adopted the purchase of the ladder was as good as made. Then came the change and false economy stopped the purchase of it. The present management of the city seems to be opposed to spending money if there is any way to avoid it even if it is obvious that the expenditure would guard against losses of property and perhaps of life.

Chief Rose declares that it was all "good luck" that averted the loss of life at the time when Mary Collins Crocker was taken from the upper story of the Goldsmith building at the corner of State and Main streets when that building was afire some months ago. The fire, fortunately, occurred in the daytime, and there was an abundance of assistance to rescue the woman. Clarence Thompson, a member of the Niagara company, and one of the councilors of the city at present, did the trick of rescuing Mrs. Crocker. He recognises the necessity of securing the aerial ladder, but he has not been able to prevail upon the city's manager to buy it. Chief Rose talks of the purchase whenever such talk is likely to be effectual. He can be pretty emphatic in what he says, too.

Myles Donohue has brought suit for damages against E. D. Steele, Inc., and the case is understood to be assigned for trial during the coming week. In the spring of 1921 Donohue was arrested charged with obtaining $27 from the Steele clothing store on a worthless check. The case dragged along till the early fall when it was nolled. Now Donohue claims he was unjustly accused and seeks to collect a money damage for the entire such asserting

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 11.—Louis and John Ramistella, deputy game wardens have resigned. The resignation of the officers came about because of their arrest recently by B. W. Talbot, a constable of Haddam for alleged violation of the hunting law in seeking game after sundown. Talbot was acquitted, but he did not stop here, taking the matter up with the fish and game commissioners and members of the legislature, with the result that the resignation of the two deputies followed.

George L. Chaffee of 271 Montauk avenue, is confined to his home with inflamatory rheumatism. He has not been able to be about since last Tuesday and that's affliction, for him as he has always been active and a constant attendant at the Harbor club.

The Misses Josephine and Mary L. Rice have purchased the residence occupied by William H. Starr and family in Bellevue place many years. The Misses Rice have resided at 102 Montauk avenue in the Collins house. The first named is principal of the Nameaug school and her sister is a seamstress.

Ernest Schiffler or Schiffer, accused of sabotage, was to have come to trial in the police court Monday morning on a most serious charge of inciting to riot men employed on the New Haven railroad, and with urging the disabling of rolling stock of the road and in other ways to hamper the operation of the road, but the case has been continued by agreement between the attorneys until next Monday, the 20th. Schiffler has been prosecuted on an exactly similar charge at New Haven and is now held in bail of $5,000 for appearance to answer before the superior court for New Haven county. He has given a bond of $5,000 to appear in the police court here when his case comes to a presentation.

It is understood that Schiffler was in New London and that he addressed striking shopmen here and used the incendiary language that is complained of. The railroad company is understood to have the witnesses that they believe will prove the case against Schiffler, several of them having heard what he said to the shopmen who are unwilling to work and who, it is claimed, will not allow others to labor. At least the charge is made that they threatened them and used means to keep them away from the employ of the railroad company.

Assistant Chief Rose has expressed the belief that some day or at least some night this city will regret that it has not secured an aerial ladder for the use of the fire department. He has advocated such a piece of fire fighting apparatus and before the present form of city government was adopted the purchase of the ladder was as good as made. Then came the change and false economy stopped the purchase of it. The present management of the city seems to be opposed to spending money if there is any way to avoid it even if it is obvious that the expenditure would guard against losses of property and perhaps of life.

Chief Rose declares that it was all "good luck" that averted the loss of life at the time when Mary Collins Crocker was taken from the upper story of the Goldsmith building at the corner of State and Main streets when that building was afire some months ago. The fire, fortunately, occurred in the daytime, and there was an abundance of assistance to rescue the woman. Clarence Thompson, a member of the Niagara company, and one of the councilors of the city at present, did the trick of rescuing Mrs. Crocker. He recognises the necessity of securing the aerial ladder, but he has not been able to prevail upon the city's manager to buy it. Chief Rose talks of the purchase whenever such talk is likely to be effectual. He can be pretty emphatic in what he says, too.

Myles Donohue has brought suit for damages against E. D. Steele, Inc., and the case is understood to be assigned for trial during the coming week. In the spring of 1921 Donohue was arrested charged with obtaining $27 from the Steele clothing store on a worthless check. The case dragged along till the early fall when it was nolled. Now Donohue claims he was unjustly accused and seeks to collect a money damage for the entire such asserting and annoyance as was in his opinion unjustly imposed upon him. He declared his innocence when he was arrested and has insisted since then that the transaction was legitimate and that he should not have been put to the trouble he was and that he should not have been heralded as dishonest in the eyes of the people of this city.

New London must find a way of making the sidewalks safe in times of snow and ice. It is believed this can be done, but it will require a change in ordinances to bring that about. Saturday evening and Sunday morning the walks were in as dangerous condition as they have been during this winter of continuously slippery walks. And the cleared walks were more dangerous than were those from which the snow had been removed. There have been several damage suits against the city brought by persons who sustained injuries by falling and there are others still to come to trial. In two cases the plaintiffs have lost their cases, because the defense set up that the city had not been negligent in the matter and because all that could reasonably be done had been done to make the sidewalks safe.

The jury that heard a case before Judge Allyn L. Brown, took the ground in deciding upon the evidence presented that where snow had been removed from the walk and where sand or ashes had been thrown upon the surface and that surface was not broken or uneven, all that could be reasonably be expected of the city had been done to make the walks safe for pedestrians. The attorney for the city claimed that to rule against the city in the case on trial would be virtually to compel the city to insure its residents against accident whenever they went upon the sidewalks. But while the city won the cases referred to it will not be so fortunate in some other cases to come to trial, perhaps. Many property owners do not remove snow from their walks from the beginning to the end of winter. They disregard a duty that should devolve upon all tenants or owners. Ice is allowed to collect and nothing is done to render that ice from being absolutely dangerous. Indeed a cat couldn't walk over some of the walks without falling, so treacherous is the surface. That was the condition Saturday evening and Sunday morning. Sand was what was needed, but it was what wasn't used.

An ordinance that will compel the absolute making of the walks safe would do the trick, but whether the city has any such authority as is necessary is very doubtful. The city claims control of the sidewalks, it directs of what material the walks shall be composed and the width of them, and it orders that the walks shall not be obstructed to travel. The city in other words has complete control of the walks, and in that event the question is asked why the city should not take care of the walks. There are many who hold that the city is bound to take the snow from the walks and they refuse to do the work, casting aside pride and the convenience and safety of those who use the sidewalks.

So the question must be the subject of legislation by the general assembly sooner or later, or the city must pay damage suits, for a jury like that which sat in the superior court and decided in favor of the city will not always be obtained.

Olga Petrova, who won much fame on the silver screen, and who now has written and is appearing in a drama called Hurricane, gave the play its premier in New London Saturday evening. The company went from here to Montreal, Canada. The audience that greeted Mme. Petrova was not a large one, but it was fairly enthusiastic. It was an "orchestra" audience, the play not appealing to the gallery and the balcony though it was such that hereafter it will receive its greatest approval, from the patrons who find seats above the main floor.

Police Lieutenant Benjamin A. Beebe, in Lawrence hospital receiving treatment for a condition brought on by shock, is believed to have done his last police duty. He is so far advanced in age that his ability is said to be impaired seriously and he will not desire to continue on the active police force even if he recovers from the effects of the shock. Lieutenant Beebe has reached the age of four-score years, a time when few men are able to be about without doing even the most

HOME OF PARAMOUNT PHOTOPLAYS
Matinee 1:15
Evening 7-9:45
Matinee 10c
Evening 20c-25c
TODAY, TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY
ONE OF THE YEAR'S BIG PRODUCTIONS
A GEORGE MELFORD PARAMOUNT SPECIAL

Star Cast Includes:-
Leatrice Joy
Jacqueline Logan
Raymond Hatton
George Fawcett
Albert Roscoe
JESSE L. LASKY PRESENTS
"JAVA HEAD"
A GEORGE MELFORD PRODUCTION
A GREAT BIG SPECIAL WILL APPEAL TO ALL. LAVISHLY MADE WITH A CAST THAT MEANS PERFECTION—THE ACTION CARRIES HALF WAY 'ROUND THE WORLD.
IT IS JOSEPH HERGESHEIMER, THE GREAT WRITER AT HIS BEST—READERS OF THE SATURDAY EVENING POST WELL REMEMBER "JAVA HEAD"—AND NOW—
What a Picture in 8 Acts!
COMEDY, "TEA N. TEA"—NEWS

BOSTON AUTO SHOW
MARCH 10-17

CAN'T FIND TRACE OF NEW LONDON YOUTH

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, March 11.—Robert S. Brown, a youth of 17 years, can't be located by his relatives or friends and they fear that he has met death. His home was at 27 West High street in this city. Young Brown was last heard from when he was in Baltimore on the 13th of December last at which time he wrote to his home here, saying he would come to New London for the Christmas holiday. He didn't appear and no word has come from him since. He was then employed on a Red Ball Transit company barge. His parents are alarmed lest he has drowned or met with foul play. Brown was sometimes known as Robert A. Strickland. He is a fine appearing youth and has a fair education, not being the sort of boy who would be apt to disappear in the way he has.

Six of the nine honorary degrees conferred by Cambridge University, England, last June were given to men especially known for their service to science.

AMUSEMENTS

Bruce Thomas

"Who Are My Parents" is available at Breed Theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday with each evening's performance. It is the feature at the Breed theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday and was written by a mysterious author who prefers to be known as "Mr. X." The writer has demonstrated very clearly that he knows human nature and understands the value of appealing to the highest instincts of patrons of the screen.

The story has to do with a stern and uncompromising father attempting to rule the life of his young daughter. By so doing he brings her and himself only unhappiness. Betty Lewis, yielding to her father's will, does not wed the man whose wife she becomes of an earlier marriage. This confusion leads to serious consequences and there are many bitter tears shed by a broken-hearted mother until she and her child are united.

The production was directed by J. Searle Dawley. A finely balanced case, in which, a new comer to the screen, Miss Peggy Shaw, a former Ziegfeld Follies beauty, has a leading part, Roger Lytton as Colonel Lewis, Florence Billings as Barbara Draper, Niles Welch as Ken Tyler and Adelaide Prince as his mother are others in the cast. Florence Haas and Jimmy Lapsley, a pair of precocious and delightful youngsters, have an important share of the acting honors.

The Pathe news completes the bill.

Hypnotic Marvel Coming to Broadway Thursday

Professor Clifford, the recognized peer of hypnotists, has been booked to headline the super program scheduled for the last half of this week at the Broadway theatre. Clifford is the Jack Dempsey of the hypnotic profession for when he puts them to sleep, like Dempsey's victims, they stay asleep for hours. During his stay here, he will give demonstrations of his supernatural powers in the show window of Schwartz Furniture store, when he will hypnotize a young woman and leave her in the window in a deep trance for several hours when she will be brought to the theatre and aroused from the spell in full view of the audience.

In addition to Clifford's act there will be four other fine B. F. Keith vaudeville attractions and a photoplay feature with Dorothy Dalton in Dark Secrets.

POPULAR AMATEUR PLAYERS IN "THE GLORIOUS GIRL"

Among the principals and cast appearing in the "Glorious Girl," big musical comedy to be staged at the Broadway theatre, March 12th and 13th, will be found some of the best musical and dramatic talent Norwich affords.

The part of "Alice" the girl of the Curio Shoppe, will be taken by Mrs. Mabel Buckingham, whose vocal and dramatic ability is well known to Norwich audiences, having so successfully featured in "The Cameo Girl," last season. When the curtain rises "Alice" will be at her place in the Curio Shop ready to serve those who are seeking curios and works of art. Her lines are subtle, and critics have said that the part of "Alice" is one of the best written vehicles seen in an amateur theatrical.

"William," Dyle Fillmore stands in the wings, ready to run in and greet his aunt, "Mrs. Winterfield" and is eventually win the hand of "Alice," who proves to be the heroine in rescuing a valuable painting from a team of society crooks. Mr. Fillmore's voice will be heard to good advantage in several quartet, duet and solo numbers.

"Margaret," niece of "Mrs. Winterfield," engaged to the Duke, (Alexander Finlayson) will be portrayed by Mrs. Olive Potter. Mrs. Potter's pleasing personality will add much to the "Glorious Girl," production and her singing of "Snow White" and "A Letter Carrier" are most charming.

"Van," the chauffeur, secretly in love with with Margaret, is taken by rank Crowell. "Van" is decidedly a character part and Mr. Crowell has shown unusual tact in the development of this role, as well as featuring in several song numbers with "Alice," "Margaret" and "William."

Mrs. William Crowe, Jr., as "Mrs. Reginald Winterfield" will be a delight throughout the evening. Desirous of her niece "Margaret's" marriage with the "Duke" for social prestige many funny situations arise and her conversations with the "Duk" will prove interesing. Mrs. Crowe is also to sing "Coue, Coue, Coue."

The anxious "Duke" (Alexander Finlayson) awaits his cue and comes bouncing in to meet the audacious Mrs. Winterfield, and to pursue his conquest for the hand of "Margaret." Mr. Finlayson, in original Scottish attire and with his natural accent and splendid interpretation of this unique role will be a big feature of the production.

Virginia Sheldon as "Molly" and Tyler Stanton as "Steve" assuming the role of two society crooks, will win a round of applause with every appearance. Miss Sheldon and Mr. Stanton will appear with the Bowery Belles in a novel crook dance and the comical situations arising in their plot to obtain the picture will keep the audience in an uproar of laughter.

Scenic artists and carpenters have completed hanging the massive drops and curtains of velour, silk, satin, silver and gold cloth, and everything is in readiness for the matinee this afternoon and performance tonight and tomorrow night. Special electrical equipment has been brought to Norwich and beautiful electrical effects will greet the audience at every turn. Final rehearsals have been held and proved exceptionally smooth. Maurice A. Baker, writer of the music, arrived in Norwich last evening, and will be present at all performances.

Don't fail to see The Glorious Girl which will be the feature production of the season.

Excellent seats available and now selling at the box office, at the theatre.

"Java Head" at the Strand Starting Today.

A great big George Melford Paramount Special will open a four-days engagement at the Strand starting today. "Java Head," that sensational story by Joseph Hergesheimer, which made such an apparent hit with the readers of the Saturday Evening Post, has for a star cast Leatrice Joy, Jacqueline Logan, Raymond Hatton, George Fawcett and Albert Rossel.

A cast, an author and a director make this one of the real big special attractions of the year. It's swift action carries you way around the world and visits the most picturesque part of America. A picture that is well worth seeing and one that you will long remember.

The comedy is Tea N. Tea, an up to date news will furnish more entertainment.

Men's Bible Study at Y. M. C. A.

The weekly Bible study class for men at the Y. M. C. A. will be held on wednesday evening at 6.15 when a 35 cent supper will precede the study. These studies are calculated to help men to successfully fight the battles of life.

It is estimated that there are now in Australia [illegible] of the Commonwealth [illegible] America.

A Bulletin For Sale Advertisement Will Sell It

BORN

BOSS—In Westerly, R. I., Feb. 27, 1922, a son, George William, to Mr. and Mrs. William Ross (Arline J. Vars).

DIED

EMYARD—In Putnam, March 10, 1922, Arinda Wilson Emyard, daughter of the late Isaac E. and Caroline Gilmor Emyard.

KINGSTON—In Taftville, March 11, 1922, John Newton, aged 71 years and 6 months.

Notice of funeral hereafter.

[illegible]—In Bozrah, March 9, 1922, [illegible] P. Watrous, wife of James E. [illegible], aged 40 years.

FUNERAL NOTICES

[illegible]—In Fairport, N. Y., March [illegible], Mary, widow of Levi S. [illegible].

Funeral services at Church & Allen's, 19 Main street, Norwich, Thursday, March 16, at 2 p. m. Burial in Pachaug cemetery.

LINDSAY—Entered into rest in Oakdale, March 11, 1922, Alma A. Schofield, widow of Thomas Lindsay, aged 56 years.

Funeral services at the house of her brother, F. C. Schofield, Montville Center, Wednesday afternoon, March 14, at 2 o'clock.

CLIFFORD — Suddenly, in Norwich, March 10, 1922, Katherine Clifford of Taftville, daughter of Michael and Katherine Clifford, aged 43 years and 3 months.

Funeral at her late home on School street, Taftville, Tuesday, March 13, at 8:30 o'clock. Requiem high mass at Sacred Heart church at 9 o'clock. Burial in family lot in St. Mary's cemetery.

CONWAY—In Hartford, March 10, 1922, Ellen Casey, widow of Michael Conway, formerly of 47 Lafayette street, Norwich.

Requiem mass in the chapel of St. Mary's Home for the Aged, Hartford Monday morning, March 13, at 8 o'clock. Burial in the family lot in St. Mary's cemetery, Norwich, on arrival of funeral cortege.

BUTLER—In Oneco, March 11, 1922, E. Perkins Topliff.

Funeral Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Frederick H. Topliff, Oneco. Burial at convenience of the family.

BELCOURT—In Groton, March 10, 1922, William Russell Belcourt husband of Ella Wooster and father of Mrs. Cora E. Clark of Voluntown, in his 83d year.

Funeral and interment in Fairview cemetery, New Britain, Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all my friends for all the kindnesses to me during my late bereavement, to the Hugh H. Osgood Post, Captain Carpenter and comrades of the Salvation Army; also for the floral offerings. These expressions of sympathy are all appreciated by me.

STERLING NELSON.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of expressing our appreciation for the many acts of kindness by our friends and neighbors during the illness and death of our wife and mother.

MR. ANDREW FEMMER,
MRS. IRVING CRUTHERS.

Church & Allen
16 MAIN STREET
FUNERAL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS
Lady Assistant
HENRY E. CHURCH
WM. SMITH ALLEN
Telephone 322-3

CUMMINGS & RING
Funeral Directors and Embalmers
305 Main Street
Phone 390-2 Lady Assistant

GAGER
FUNERAL DIRECTOR AND EMBALMER,
PROMPT SERVICE—DAY OR NIGHT

The Henry Allen & Son Co.
56 MAIN STREET
Funeral Directors and Embalmers
Lady Assistant Telephone 410-2
DAVID H. WILSON

Shea & Burke Funeral Directors
41 Main Street

GEORGE G. GRANT
UNDERTAKER AND EMBALMER
Tel. 1202. Providence St., Taftville.

HOURIGAN BROS.
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
Norwich and Jewett City

FLORISTS

TREES, flowering shrubs, plants and vines. Meadowood Nursery Co. Tel. 906-3. Free delivery. apr14

TO RENT

FOR RENT—Five-room tenement. Inquire 66 Spring St. mar15d

TO RENT—Heated rooms for gentlemen. Steiner Hall, 77 Church St. mar16d

TO RENT—Six-room tenement, all improvements; garage if desired. Inquire 99 Mt. Pleasant St. Mapleton. mar9d

TO RENT—Apartment of four rooms and bath, for adults; heat and hot water furnished. 176 Broadway. Phone 1095. mar9d

TO RENT—Small furnished apartment. Mrs. Congdon, 53 McKinley Ave. mar14d

FOR RENT
STORE ON
FRANKLIN STREET
In Alling Block
Inquire of
N. Tarrant & Co.
Phone 170—117 Main St.

PAINT AND WALLPAPER

CHAIN WALLPAPER CO., 31 Willow St., rear Broadway Theatre; 10c, 15c, 25c, bought in combination; new, best of goods. F. H. McClenathan, Mgr. jan31d

FOR SALE—Paint, $1.75 per gal. regular $2.50 grade; wallpaper, 10c per roll. Kies Store, 153 West Main St. next to Five Corners. mar14

THERE is no advertising medium in Eastern Connecticut equal to The Bulletin for business results.

A Bulletin Want Advertisement Will Get It

WANTED—Female

WANTED—Girl for general work in restaurant, at the Dwelling Ice, 116 Franklin St. mar14d

WANTED — Experienced stenographer in local office; good, permanent position for capable correspondence worker. Address Box 1034, Bulletin. mar16d

WANTED—Position as housekeeper for small family or companion to elderly woman, by middle aged Protestant woman; best of references. Write Box 100, Bulletin. mar16d

WANTED—A girl after school hours to care for child and assist with housework. Inquire at 316 West Main St. mar16d

WANTED—Local concern desires experienced bookkeeper; permanent employment, with good salary for accurate, worthy woman. Address Box 102, Bulletin. mar16d

WANTED—Housekeeper. Family of three Americans. Address P. O. Box 163, Stirling, Conn. mar9d

WANTED—A cook for The Tea Room, 65 Broadway. mar14d

WANTED — Middle aged American woman for general housework; reference required. Address Box 518 Norwich. mar7d

WANTED—Male

WANTED—Increase your income! Sell insurance covering all accidents and diseases; liberal and full coverage policies; premium $5 yearly, upward; pensions, death benefit; direct home office contract; liberal commissions; write now for district. National Accident Society, 130 Broadway, New York City. Established 1865. mar13d

WANTED—On a dairy farm, near city, man capable of running milking machine, tractor and farm machinery; tenement furnished. N. E. Whiting, 94 Main St. mar13d

WANTED—A man to work in kitchen. Apply to Chef at Wauregan Hotel. mar13d

WANTED—Partner with capital to invest in development of real estate; fine locality; good tenements in demand; references exchanged. Address Box 4, Central Village, Conn. mar16d

WANTED—Man to sell trees, shrubs, roses; full or spare time; commission weekly. Brown Bros.' Nurseries, Rochester, N. Y. mar16d

WANTED—Firemen, brakemen; beginners $150-$250 (which positions?) Railway, Bulletin. mar18W

LOCAL representative wanted for Lightning Electrolyte, battery cannot freeze, corrosion and sulphation eliminated, lengthens life of battery. Lewis P. Bailey, Distributor, Box 301, Groton, Conn. mar9d

WANTED—Woolen weavers. Knowles looms; second hand for card room; fulling mill and napper operators; mule spinners; finished percher; steady employment; no labor trouble. The Mianus Woolen Co., Cosob, Conn. mar7d

WANTED—Man on dairy farm. W. F. Clark, Lebanon. Tel. 12-4. mar8d

WANTED

A FEW GOOD RELIABLE LABORERS
FOR STEADY INSIDE WORK
PHONE 1778.

COAL AND WOOD

FOR SALE—Slab wood, stove lengths, good dry slab wood, $4 a cord. Phone 1241-4. mar13d

FOR SALE—Best dry hard wood; lengths or cords; lowest prices. Phone 541. jan16d

COAL AND SEASONED WOOD and kindlings in large or small quantities. Phone 504 or 1121-2. R. Shapiro, Willow St., formerly Yantic Lake. mar11d

POULTRY

FOR SALE—Hatching eggs from pure bred White Wyandottes, $1.50 for 15, $5 per hundred. Charles Norton, R. D. 1, Danielson, Conn. mar13d

FOR SALE—Thoroughbred R. I. cockerels. Inquire Mayflower Poultry Farm, 51 East Town St., Norwich Town. may1d

FOR SALE—Hatching eggs from stock of White Leghorns that averaged 204 eggs last season, and won first prize at county fair. Tel. 937-13. Walter G. Watkins. mar14d

FOR SALE—Barred Rock cockerels. John Potter, Griswold, Conn. mar16d

FOR SALE—Magic Colony brooders; there are no substitutes; top and bottom automatic draft control is patented; fire proof feature; chicks thrive better; get catalogue from agents; discount prices. C. C. Hewitt Co., Unionville, Conn. feb24

BABY CHICKS; free feed; popular breeds; prepaid guaranteed delivery; send for catalog. Roy Clark, E. Hartford, Ct. jan24

HALL BROTHERS' baby chicks White Leghorns, Rhode Island Reds, Barred and White Rocks; heavy laying strains; chicks postpaid; catalogue. A. B. Hall, Wallingford, Conn. dec26d

LOST AND FOUND

FOUND—Saturday morning, a lady's wrist watch, which owner can have by proving property and paying charges. Joseph Bigos, 1 Thames St. mar13d

LOST—Black setter dog; tag No. 70117. Steve Shea, 361 Central Ave. mar16d

LOST—In Breed Theatre, Monday night, lady's handbag, containing money, papers etc. Finder leave at this office and receive reward. mar16d

LOST—Tuesday, between Norwich, Mosang and Goodyear, black tool box containing tools and Phonograph parts. Finder return to Schwartz Bros. mar9d

BEAUTY PARLOR

HAVE YOUR superfluous hairs, warts and moles removed by New York experts at The Boston Store Tuesday and Wednesday, March 13 and 14. mar16d

TRUCKING

GEORGE LAMBERT — Moving and trucking, dumping, trucks for hire. 21 Cliff St. or Occum. Tel. 817-13. ja26

Res. 1214. [illegible]
ARTHUR H. LATHROP,
Auto Trucking and Teaming, Furniture and Piano Moving.
Shetucket St.

C. D. JOSLYN, 208 West Main St. Will move everything anywhere. Special attention given to moving boilers and machinery. Tel. 1552-2. mar6d

Long Distance Moving and Expressing. Elmergreen, 17 Boswell Ave. Tel. 1241.

TRAMING and moving, long distance trucking a specialty. John T. Ford, 351 Main St. Phone 794.

C. H. BROMLEY & SON,
Shetucket St. Phone 32K.
LONG DISTANCE MOVING.

BUILDING

HARDWOOD Flooring, parquet and strips laid and scraped; all kinds of carpenter work done; estimates given. Ivar Johnson, 187 Maple St. Phone 869-13. jan16d

WILLIAM C. YOUNG, Contractor and Builder, 326 Work and Jobbing. 10 West Main St. Phone 871. dec6d

THERE is no advertising medium in Eastern Connecticut equal to The Bulletin for business results.

A Bulletin Want Advertisement Will Get It

WANTED—Miscellaneous

WANTED—Witnesses of collision between trolley car and automobile, Broadway, Ave. and Franklin St., at 9 o'clock Sunday morning. Box A 1, Bulletin.

WANTED—Five-room tenement for young couple, all improvements. Box 16, Bulletin. mar9d

HIGHEST prices paid for used furniture and antiques. Louis D. Ward, Box 849, Norwich. jan5TuW

WANTED—To rent cottage house with garden; Greeneville section preferred. Write House, Bulletin. mar10d

TIDY the barber, tell me the biggest theatre in the world was in Bonnie Aires, South America, so I thought it myself where is the best del and then barber, Van Koven mild cigar 10c straight, After Dinner cigars 5c straight. Pagani's Smoke Shop, opp. Woolworth's. mar8d

MIRRORS resilvered in my own shop, at M. A. Sadasky's, 15 Bath St. Phone 710. mar7

MIRRORS resilvered; glass for every purpose. Norwich Glass Co., 6 Bath St. Tel. 2162. feb21d

WANTED — Second hand furniture; highest prices paid. Norwich Furniture Co., 6 Main St. Telephone 1914-3. ja31d

INTERNATIONAL S. S. and Realty Agency, real estate of all description, ingersoll, steamship tickets, notary public. John G. Chaseki, Agt., 160 North Main St., Pulaski Hall Bldg. nov4d

WANTED—Highest cash prices paid for second hand furniture, household goods, antiques, store fixtures and tools; try me before selling. N. Weissinger, 124 Market St. Phone 537-5. apr6d

WANTED—Second hand antique furniture, best prices paid. A. Bruckman, 103 Franklin St. Phone 712-3. may30d

WANTED—Antiques, tools and second-hand furniture. H. B. Tiger, 55 Franklin St. Phone 717-4. jan31d

WE BUY and pay highest prices for second hand furniture and books. Kremens, successor to King, 44-46 Water St. Phone 1385. sep12d

WANTED

To rent or lease a house of seven or more good sized rooms, modern, and with steam or hot water heat; Chelsea Parade section preferred; occupancy by May 1st. Write BOX 575, Bulletin. mar6d

WANTED — WEAVERS
Will Take on a Few Learners
THE FALLS COMPANY
Yantic Street

AUTOMOBILE ACCESSORIES

FOR SALE—Ford honeycomb radiators, all brass, guaranteed. $11 up. The Johnson Co., 107-109 Franklin St., Norwich. feb1d

NORWICH Auto and Truck Paint Shop; all work guaranteed. Joseph Ferry Pond St. Phone 1397. oct12

AUTO TOPS, radiator covers, curtains, slip covers and tire covers, reupholstering, all kinds of autos. Jos. Annarumma, Fond St. Phone 1397. mar14d

OVERHAULING AND REPAIR WORK
OF ALL KINDS
Automobiles, Carriages, Wagons, Trucks and Carts
Mechanical Repairs, Painting, Trimming, Upholstering and Wood Work. Blacksmithing in All Its Branches
Scott & Clark Corp.
507 TO 513 NORTH MAIN STREET

FOR SALE—Horses

FOR SALE—A carload of horses will be sold at auction on what is known as the Mike Lavine farm, one mile from Colchester, on New London turnpike, Thursday, March 16, 1922, at 1.30 p. m.; ages 4 to 9 weighing from 1200 to 1600 lbs. At 10 a. m. all horses will be hitched and driven. All horses guaranted. Farmers' Co-operative Shippers. C. C. Kribbs, Sales Manager. mar13d

FOR SALE—Horse, buggy and harness; price reasonable. Mrs. H. Freyer, Vergason Ave. Phone 1039-2. mar8d

JUST ARRIVED
Twenty-eight Horses, weighing 1200 to 1700 lbs. I think they are as good a car of horses as I have ever had—gentle and ready to go to work. Some nicely matched pairs. Come and see them.

ELMER B. PIERSON.
Tel. 636-5. mar12d

FOR SALE—Automobiles

FOR SALE — 1915 8 cyl. Cadillac 5 pass. touring car, with shock absorbers and other extras; total mileage 30,056 miles, mechanically as serviceable as new. W. S. Allis, 205 Broadway. mar8d

FOR SALE—Two Ford touring, Chevrolet touring, two Oldsmobile touring, Liberty touring, Dodge touring, Paige 6-66 touring, Hudson 4 pass. coupe, Essex coach. C. V. Pendleton, 45 Broadway, Norwich. feb27d

AUTO WRECKING
PARTS FOR ALL CARS
NEW AND USED TIRES
Norwich Auto Wrecking Co.
471-473 NORTH MAIN STREET
Near Scott & Clark Phone 2110

CARS SOLD ON TERMS OR CASH
ADAMS TAVERN GARAGE
T. ETHIER, Jr., Prop.
THE BEST IN USED CARS
THE BEST IN AUTO PAINTING
W. LAMBERT, PAINTER
122 WEST TOWN STREET
Telephone 618-3

INSURANCE

IT MAY MEAN YOU

You may be the next victim of a fire. Don't take chances. The small annual premium is negligible to the fire protection from money loss it affords. Take out a policy to day.

Isaac S. Jones
INSURANCE AND REAL ESTATE AGENT
RICHARDS BUILDING
91 MAIN STREET

A Bulletin For Sale Advertisement Will Sell It

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Dwelling, with or without improvements, in handy, quiet section of the city of Norwich. We claim the best service will be obtained from our agency in securing loans and arranging easy terms. Burdick & Macneil, Thayer Bldg., Norwich. mar13d

FOR SALE—A large list of farms located in eastern Connecticut towns, ranging in size from less than 10 acres to more than 300, and in price from $1,500 to $16,000. Burdick & McNicol, Thayer Bldg., Norwich. mar13d

FOR SALE — Household furniture, rugs, curtains, etc.; also some antiques. 193 West Thames St. Phone 1463.

FOR SALE—Brand new full scale mahogany upright piano, very special at $245; fully guaranteed; terms $2 weekly. Plaut-Cadden Co., Norwich. mar10d

FOR SALE—Large cabinet model mahogany talking machine; bargain for $45 on easy terms. Plaut-Cadden Co., Norwich. mar10d

FOR SALE—Hay and corn fodder. A. Smith, Noank, Franklin, R. D. 1. Maxhoney Farm. ar10dm

FOR SALE—Ten standard varieties of strawberry plants, including Howard No. 17, Premier, Corsican, Pearl, the latest berry grown, and Progressive Everbearing; reduced prices; catalogue free. S. E. Holdridge, Norwich, Conn., R. D. 4, Tel. Norwich Div. 1448-4. feb17SW

FOR SALE—Upright used piano, bargain for a quick buyer, $125, convenient terms, or a special discount for cash. Schwartz Bros. mar9d

FOR SALE—New stucco house on Elizabeth St., with large lot and henhouses, convenient to school and mills; town taxes only. Call 318 Elizabeth St. Phone 474-14. mar9d

FOR SALE—Tires, 28x3 1-2, $7.50; 32x4, $13; 33x4 $14; 34x4, $15; all firsts, guaranteed. The Johnson Co., 107-109 Franklin St. mar9d

FOR SALE—A light, pleasant business in good location, suitable for young man or man and wife; moderate capital required. Address C. J., Bulletin. mar7d

FOR SALE—At once, for cash, six-room cottage in good repair, near Congregational college, five minutes from trolley, very near Thames river, has electric lights, pump in sink, furnace in cellar, veranda on three sides. If interested, write Box 506, Bulletin. mar6d

FOR SALE—Cottage of six rooms and bath, in excellent condition, together with barn, garage and small tract of land, located inside city limits; price $4,300. Box 24, Bulletin mar6d

FOR SALE—Four stores, nine tenements, renting for $4,122 per annum; $5,000 cash required, to yield better than 10 per cent.; also 30 building lots in best district, from $100 to $600 per lot. Address M. R., care Bulletin. mar6d

FOR SALE—15 acre farm, near Goodyear village, with stock and tools. For further particulars, write R. F. D. No. 1, Box 129, Goodyear, Killingly Conn. Phone 42-4 Danielson Div. mar3d

FOR SALE—Brand new Pooley phonograph, all latest styles, at 20 per cent. discount, only at The Talking Machine Shop, 24 Franklin Sq. feb26d

FOR SALE—Two new Model Brunswick phonographs used for demonstration purposes, can now be bought for half price. Talking Machine Shop, 24 Franklin Sq. feb26d

FOR SALE—New pianos $295 up, new players $395 up. The Talking Machine Shop, Norwich, Conn. feb26d

FOR SALE—Beautiful mahogany 88-note, fully guaranteed Player piano with five bench, five rolls and free delivery; only $495 on terms to suit; investigate. Plaut-Cadden Co., Norwich. feb23d

FOR SALE—Upright piano in A-1 playing condition; fine value for $95 on terms. Plaut-Cadden Co., Norwich. feb23d

FOR SALE—New cottage house, seven rooms and bath, lot 50x100 feet; price for quick sale $6,000. Phone 141-2. jan9d

FOR SALE — Herring-Hall-Marvin safes for office and household use; all sizes. Plaut-Cadden Co., Norwich. nov4d

FOR SALE
MAIN ST. FIRE STATION

The fire commissioners of the City of Norwich will receive sealed bids up to and including Tuesday, March 27th, 1922, for the Main Street Fire Station and the lot of land on which it stands, located on Main Street next to the Merchants Bank. Said real estate is carried on the books of the City of Norwich at Eighteen Thousand Dollars and is about 40 feet front and 50 feet in depth. The sealed bids may be left with the Chief of the Fire Department at the Central Fire Station of whom also inquiry as to further particulars may be made. The commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids and any bid that may be accepted will be accepted subject to the ratification by a City meeting.

ANSON R. GROVER,
EDWARD CROOKS,
WILLIAM H. ALDRICH,
Fire Commissioners of the City of Norwich

Offering Three New Houses
6 rooms, 2 baths, steam heat; very large lot with garage.
7 rooms and bath, extra large living room with fireplace; glass enclosed sun porch.
6 rooms and bath, steam heat. Ample garden space.
Many good homes available right now; prices are interesting. See us soon.
COIT & SHOLES
The Franklin Square Brokers
Telephone 2288

FARM FOR SALE

Farm of 100 acres, land well divided and in high state of cultivation, keeping over 30 head of stock; large house, and barn to tie up over 30 head; several other buildings, including large silo, and all in excellent repair; running water to buildings; abundance of fruit; an opportunity to get possession of a productive dairy farm with no outlay to buildings; 10 minutes' drive from Franklin Square. For particulars,

FRANCIS D. DONOHUE,
Shannon Bldg., Phone. Norwich.

FOR SALE
No. 7 Cliff Place
House of 7 rooms and bath.
Central location.
PRICE $6,000
APPLY TO
James L. Case
40 SHETUCKET STREET
Telephone 578

ARCHITECTS

W. T. MEAD, Architect, Room 5, May Bldg., Buildings, supervision, appraisal. tu8d

A Bulletin For Sale Advertisement Will Sell It

FOR SALE

FOR SALE

The very desirable property known as the Lyman homestead, consisting of 12-room house and about three acres of very choice garden land. This property is located at 436 Washington St., at Peck's Corner. Price very reasonable. For further particulars, inquire of

JOHN A. MORAN,
Real Estate Broker.

FOR SALE
$3,600 will buy six-room cottage with all city improvements, with lot 100x385, located near Pulaski Hall, only 10 minutes' walk from Franklin Square. For full particulars, see

A. V. COVELLO,
Real Estate and Insurance.
Tel. 1527-3. 196 CHAPMAN.

FOR SALE
TO CLOSE AN ESTATE
Property at Norwich Town
TWO HOUSES (THREE TENEMENTS)—ABOUT 35,000 SQ. FT. OF LEVEL LAND — SEVERAL GOOD HOUSE LOTS. LOCATED ON TWO STREETS. THREE MINUTES' WALK FROM TROLLEY.
PRICE $3,500
R. S. BARTLETT
23 ANN ST. 44 SHETUCKET ST.

FOR SALE
ONE ACORN RANGE WITH GAS ATTACHMENT
ONE ROUND TABLE
ONE BUREAU
SIX CHAIRS
50 Water Street

A REAL BARGAIN
100 acres high land, two miles RR station and village, milk and cream sold at door; 40 acres sure crop plow and mow land, 60 acres pasture and woodland; 100 apple trees, 1,500 cords wood. 7-room house, best condition, new stock barn; price $3,700; $500 cash.
TEYONI AGENCY,
Willimantic, Conn.

For Sale

Six-family apartment house, all modern improvements, garage for 10 cars, located on Broadway; monthly rental $360; a good investment at price asked.
Several one and two-family houses; finest of locations; prices attractive.
Two desirable farms, consisting of 150 acres each, stocks, etc., 20 acres level land, on state road.

JAMES E. MOORE,
Real Estate, Insurance and Investments,
Thayer Bldg., Franklin Square.

PRINTING

PRINTING of all kinds promptly and neatly done. Estimates promptly and cheerfully given. The Bulletin Co., 64 Franklin St. mar14d

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

FAMILY MEN NEED MONEY

"I am a family man," is a statement to be proud of, but being a family man brings expenses that can only be met out of future earnings.

We help family men meet emergencies and pay off old debts by lending them up to $300, at legal rates on home furniture or secured notes, repayable in easy installments.

Our Aid Is Confidential and Immediate.

Call, Write or Phone 1-6-6-4

BENEFICIAL LOAN SOCIETY
56 STATE STREET
NEW LONDON

IMMEDIATE LOANS

To the great number of honest people who need credit to pay overdue debts or to give their families opportunities they otherwise could not have. We lend up to $300 at legal rates on home furniture without removal, repayable in convenient installments. Our aid is immediate and confidential.

CALL, WRITE, OR PHONE 1-6-6-4.
Beneficial Loan Society
56 STATE STREET
NEW LONDON, CONN.

CIGARS

CIGARS.
Whitestone Cigars are $70 per thousand. J. F. CONANT, 11 Franklin St.

CHIROPODIST

A. G. THOMPSON, F. S., Chiropodist, Foot Specialist (protect your feet). Suite 1-6 Allen Bldg., 331 Main St., Norwich, Conn. Phone 1164-4. mar14d

WHEN YOU WANT to put your business before the public, there is no medium better than through The Want-ad columns of The Bulletin.

A Bulletin For Sale Advertisement Will Sell It

AUCTION

WITTER BROS., Public Auctioneers, Office and Salesrooms, 43 Main St., Danielson, Conn.

AUCTION

Vacating sale of personal property on

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 1922,

at 11 o'clock a. m. sharp,

at my place of residence, located about four miles east of Norwich, Conn., on the Westerly highway.

10 — HEAD OF CATTLE — 10

consisting of 17 choice cows, one new milch with calf by side, several due to freshen early, and the balance in the ordinary various stages of production; 2 yearling heifers, 1 fine yearling Holstein bull; the cattle are mostly Ayrshires and Holsteins; 15 sheep, several young and fat calves, 4 large fat wheelers, 1 first class farm horse, 1 express wagon, 1 pair of team harnesses, 1 tip cart, 1 mowing machine, several rolls of wire fencing, and some barbed wire; also a few small tools; 1 grindstone.

10 tons Mowed Oats and Hay.

200 bushels of Corn on the Cob.

Auctioneers' Statement: We wish to state that this will positively be a clearance sale of the above described useful personal property; no reserve, no restrictions, no limit as Mr. Maine is vacating the farm this month. No rubbish will be sold. The sale will be quick, clean and interesting.

Terms cash. A caterer will attend. If stormy, postponed to first fair day at the same hour.

LESTER A. MAINE.
R. F. D. No. 1, Norwich Conn.

TRANSPORTATION

TOURS
LET US PLAN YOUR VACATION.
We have some very attractive West Indian, European and Pacific tours. Step in and get some literature.
GROVER & BURDICK,
Real Estate and Insurance,
Steamship Agency,
No. 1 Market St., Upstairs.

NEW YORK
VIA
NEW LONDON LINE
FARE Comfortable Staterooms Ready for Occupancy at $3.38 7:30 P. M.
Leave New London Daily (Except Sunday) 11 P. M.
Due N. Y., Pier 40, N. R., 7 A. M.
Reduced rates on automobiles when accompanied by passenger.
The New England Steamship Co.

LEGAL NOTICES

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Norwich, within and for the District of Norwich, on the 9th day of March, A. D. 1922.

Present—NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

Estate of John C. Morgan, late of Norwich, in said District, deceased.

The Administrator c. t. a. appeared in Court and filed a written application alleging that said estate is now in settlement in said Court, and praying for an order to sell certain real estate belonging to said estate, fully described in said application.

Whereupon, It Is Ordered That said application be heard and determined at the Probate Court Room in the City of Norwich, in said District, on the 14th day of March, A. D. 1922, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon and that notice of the pendency of said application and of said hearing thereon, be given by the publication of this order once in some newspaper having a circulation in said District, at least three days prior to the date of said hearing, and that return be made to the Court.

NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

The above and foregoing is a true copy of record.
Attest: HELEN M. DRESCHER, Clerk.
mar10d

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Norwich, within and for the District of Norwich, on the 9th day of March, A. D. 1922.

Present—NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

Estate of Samuel Lambert, late of Norwich, in said District, deceased.

Ordered, That the Administratrix cite the creditors of said deceased to bring in their claims against said estate within six months from this date, by posting a notice to that effect, together with a copy of this order, on the signpost nearest to the place where said deceased last dwelt, and in the same Town and by publishing the same once in a newspaper having a circulation in said District, and make return to this Court.

NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

The above and foregoing is a true copy of record.
Attest: HELEN M. DRESCHER, Clerk.
mar15d

NOTICE.—All creditors of said deceased are hereby notified to present their claims against said estate to the undersigned at 24 Russell Road, Norwich, Conn., within the time limited in the above and foregoing order.

MARY J. LAMBERT, Administratrix.
mar10d

GERTRUDE BURGESS SHAFFER vs Ralph Shaffer. Supplemental Order of Notice.

State of Connecticut County of New London, ss. Feb. 16, 1922.

Upon the complaint of the said Gertrude Burgess Shaffer, claiming, for the reasons therein set forth, a divorce, now pending before this Court, having been returned thereto on the first Tuesday of January, 1922.

It appearing to and being found by this Court that Ralph Shaffer the said defendant, is absent from this State and gone to parts unknown, and that notice of the pendency of the complaint was given as required by order of notice heretofore issued, and now the plaintiff asks for a further order of notice in the premises.

Therefore, Ordered, That notice of the pendency of said complaint be given by publishing this order in The Norwich Bulletin, a newspaper printed in Norwich, Conn., once a week for two weeks, successively, commencing on or before the 5th day of March, 1922.

By order of Court.

JOHN H. WALKER,
Temporary Clerk of the Superior Court for New London County. mar8M

DISTRICT OF COLCHESTER, ss. Probate Court, March 9th, 1922.

Estate of Mary L. C. Whiting, late of Colchester, in said District deceased.

Upon the application of Alice J. Hussey, Administratrix de bonis non, praying that a hearing be held upon the annroval and acceptance of her final account as Administratrix on said estate, as per application on file more fully appears it is Ordered, That said application be heard and determined at the Probate Office in Colchester, in said District, on the 15th day of March, A. D. 1922, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and that public notice be given of the pendency of said application, and the time and place of hearing thereon, by publishing a copy of this order once in some newspaper having a circulation in said District, and by posting a copy thereof on the public signpost in the Town of Colchester, in said District, at least five days before said day of hearing.

JOHN CONDON, Judge.
mar13d

A Bulletin For Sale Advertisement Will Sell It

PAWNBROKER

RELIABLE LOAN CO.
LICENSED PAWNBROKER
57 Franklin Street
Norwich

Luggage, Trunks, Suit Cases, Brief Cases, Etc.

LEGAL NOTICES

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Norwich, within and for the District of Norwich, on the 10th day of March, A. D. 1922.

Present—NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

Estate of Lessie N. Goodell late of Norwich, in said District, deceased.

The Administratrix c. t. a. appeared in Court and filed a written application alleging that said estate is now in settlement in said Court, and praying for an order to sell certain real estate belonging to said estate, fully described in said application.

Whereupon, It Is Ordered, That said application be heard and determined at the Probate Court Room in the City of Norwich, in said District, on the 16th day of March, A. D. 1922, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and that notice of the pendency of said application and of said hearing thereon, be given by the publication of this order once in some newspaper having a circulation in said District, at least three days prior to the date of said hearing, and that return be made to the Court.

NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

The above and foregoing is a true copy of record.
Attest: HELEN M. DRESCHER, Clerk.
mar13d

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Norwich, within and for the District of Norwich, on the 10th day of March, A. D. 1922.

Present—NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

Estate of Edward C. Madden, late of Norwich, in said District, deceased.

Ordered, That the Administratrix cite the creditors of said deceased to bring in their claims against said estate within six months from this date, by posting a notice to that effect, together with a copy of this order, on the signpost nearest to the place where said deceased last dwelt, and in the same Town and by publishing the same once in a newspaper having a circulation in said District, and make return to this Court.

NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

The above and foregoing is a true copy of record.
Attest: HELEN M. DRESCHER, Clerk.

NOTICE.—All creditors of said deceased are hereby notified to present their claims against said estate to the undersigned at 9 Boswell Ave., Norwich, Conn., within the time limited in the above and foregoing order.

M. ELIZABETH MADDEN, Administratrix.
mar13d

NOTICE

The legal voters of the Town of Preston are hereby warned to meet in Town Meeting at the Town House on Saturday, March 17th, 1922, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of laying a tax on the grand list as last perfected by the Assessors and Board of Relief; also to transact any other business proper to be brought before said meeting.

ARTHUR M. FULLER,
IRVING W. FOOTE,
APPLETON MAIN,
Selectmen.

Dated at Preston, March 10, 1922.

TAX NOTICE

TOWN OF FRANKLIN.

I have a warrant to levy and collect a tax of 30 mills on the dollar on the grand list last perfected, said tax due and payable to me on Monday, March 20, 1922.

For the purpose of collecting the same I will be at the Town Hall on Monday March 20, from 2 to 5 p. m., and at my home from 10 a. m. to 12 noon on Saturday, March 25, and at the Sodom School from 3 to 5 p. m. on Monday, April 3.

Dated at Franklin, March 6, 1922.
C. H. LATHROP,
Collector.

WESTERLY

Arrangements have been completed for the annual formal inspection of the 247 Co. U. S. A. C., R. I. coast artillery. The inspection will take place Tuesday evening, Col. C. L. Wells and staff, consisted of Major G. A. Taylor, Major John D. Wells, Captain Cruickshank and Sergeant-Major Moore will assist the inspecting officers. Captain Samuel W. Anderson, C. A. C., U. S. A., and Sergeant Leatherbrad will prepare the local company for inspection. Captain Christie McConnell of the local company has assigned Sergeant George Downing and Sergeant Vincent Waters to aid in the inspection.

Frank Mallaney was arraigned before the third district court Saturday on a warrant issued by Chief of Police Thomas B. Brown, charging him with being an idle person. He pleaded not guilty and was obliged to furnish bail for the sum of $500 for appearance in court next Friday morning. The police report that he has been boarding at a house on Pierce street, formerly occupied by David Roberts who was bound over for the superior court in Washington county on a charge of keeping a disorderly house.

Mrs. Elizabeth Crandall is receiving congratulations on having reached her 93nd birthday. Mrs Crandall was born in Westerly and has resided here for all her life.

State Deputy John J. Hollander was a recent visitor to Little Rhody Council No. 86, Sons and Daughters of Liberty at Caledonian hall. Six new candidates were initiated in the council and the new ritual service was used.

Deputy Federal Tax Collector Dower has given notice Monday will a his last in the court house. He will be here all day for the purpose of assisting all who desire to make a tax return. Mr. Dower will return Tuesday to Providence.

The P. S. Barber Hose company responded to a fire alarm rung in from Box 46 at about ten o'clock Saturday night. A fire had started in the shoe shine parlors in the Walton block on West Broad street. The fire which was shortly distinguished is said to have been started by someone carelessly throwing a cigarette butt on the floor. The fire was soon extinguished and very little damage was reported.

EIGHTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF NOANK BAPTIST CHURCH

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Noank, March 11.—Rev. Richard M. Vaughan of Newton Theological institute preached both morning and evening at the 80th anniversary of the Noank Baptist church Sunday. In the morning his subject was The Basic Beliefs of the Baptists, and in the evening The Divine Purpose in History.

On Wednesday, March 14, Fellowship day will be observed at the church with a roll call of members, and a supper will be served.

A party of young people of the Methodist church went to Gales Ferry Friday evening to attend the meeting of Mohegan Trail circuit, a section of the Epworth league. The trip was made by auto truck, about 20 making the trip.

Deacon R. P. Sawyer, who has been ill, is somewhat improved.

Royal White of Wickford, R. I., has been visiting relatives in the village.

Miss Bass of Groton Long Point has gone to Fairhaven, Mass., for an indefinite period.

A Bulletin To Let Advertisement Will Rent It

What Is Going On Tonight

"The Glorious Girl" at Broadway Theatre.

Uncas Lodge No. 11, I. O. O. F., meets in Odd Fellows' Hall.

Thames Union, No. 137, U. S. of C. and J. of A., meets in Carpenters' Hall.

Battery E, 102d F. A., meets at State Armory.

Norwich Lodge, No. 846, B. P. O. E., meets in Buckingham Memorial.

Thames Lodge, No. 126, K. of P., meets in Steiner Hall.

Moving Pictures at Strand Theatre.

Moving Pictures at Broad Theatre.

TODAY'S EVENTS

This is the festival of St. Gregory the Great.

Centenary of the birth of Gen. John Pope, distinguished Civil war commander.

Centenary of the birth of Gen. William Harn Perry, a noted Confederate commander.

This is the day of the annual municipal elections in several of the chief cities of Maine.

Today is the 35th anniversary of the great blizzard of '88, which the old timers in New York and New England still regard as "the greatest event in the line of a snow storm."

The eighth annual Southwest American Live Stock Show, one of the largest and most important of the annual exhibitions of its kind, opens in Oklahoma City today for a week's engagement.

The minimum wage case affecting the hours and wages of women, in which a number of states have filed briefs, is set for oral argument in the Supreme Court of the United States.

The trials in the cases of the 23 alleged Communists charged with violating the Michigan anti-syndicalism laws are scheduled to begin today at St. Joseph, Mich., William Z. Foster, well-known radical leader, is the first to be tried.

ANNOUNCEMEN

RAIN OR SNOW TODAY;
CLOUDY, COLDER TOMORROW

Norwich Bulletin

NORWICH, CONN., MONDAY, MARCH 12, 1923.

FULL ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES

The Bulletin

Norwich, Monday, March 12, 1923.

THE WEATHER.

Conditions.

The storm that was central over Missouri Sunday night will move rapidly northeastward and be attended by rains almost generally over the states east of the Mississippi river Monday and by strong shifting winds and probably gales in the lower lake region, the Ohio valley and Tennessee, and increasing southeast and south winds on the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic coast, and it will be preceded by rising temperature in the Atlantic States north of South Carolina Monday, and it will be followed by a change to lower temperature in the upper Ohio valley the lower lake region and in the Atlantic states, north of Florida on Tuesday.

The indications are for mostly fair weather in the Washington forecast district Tuesday, except for local rains or snows in the lower lake region.

A storm of marked intensity, of allied extent, was central over Missouri Sunday night, and moving rapidly northwestward. The temperature was higher Sunday in the west gulf states, and it was lower in the central Rocky Mountain regions and portions of the Canadian northwest. Elsewhere there was little change in temperature.

Winds.

North of Sandy Hook: Increasing east and southeast and weather overcast, thick with rain or snow Monday.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Increasing southeast and south; probably becoming strong and weather overcast and thick, Monday.

Forecast.

For Southern New England: Rain or snow Monday; Tuesday cloudy and somewhat colder.

Eastern New York: Rain in south and rain or snow in north portion, with temperature rising Monday; Tuesday cloudy and colder.

Observations in Norwich.

The Bulletin's observations show the following changes in temperature and barometric changes Saturday and Sunday:

	Ther.	Bar.
Saturday—
7 a. m.	35	29.90
12 m.	36	30.00
6 p. m.	38	30.09
Highest 38, lowest 35.
Sunday—
7 a. m.	38	30.06
12 m.	44	30.10
6 p. m.	40	30.20
Highest 44, lowest 38.

Comparisons.

Predictions for Saturday: Increasing cloudiness and warmer.

Saturday's weather: Snow and rain, southwest wind, clearing at night.

Predictions for Sunday: Possibly rain and colder.

Sunday's weather: Fair, stationary temperature, northwest wind.

SUN, MOON AND TIDES.

Day.	Sun Rises.	Sun Sets.	High Water.	Moon Rises.
	a. m.	p. m.	a. m.	a. m.
12	6.07	5.49	5.20	2.27
13	6.05	5.50	6.13	3.09
14	6.04	5.51	7.08	3.48
15	6.02	5.52	8.00	4.28
16	6.00	5.54	8.46	5.05
17	5.59	5.55	9.26	5.34
18	5.57	5.56	10.03	Sets.

Six hours after high water it is low water, which is followed by flood tide.

TAFTVILLE

Funeral services for Frederick Furpple were held at his late home on Merchants' avenue Saturday morning at 8.30, followed by a requiem high mass at Sacred Heart church sung by Rev. U. O. Bellerose. There was a wealth of beautiful flowers and the attendance was large. The bearers were Joseph Langevin, Joseph St. Germain, Bernard Hasler, Henry Michaud, Archie Michaud and Arthur Michaud. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery. Undertaker George G. Grant was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Robert Walker of Occum road has resigned his position with the Ponemah company.

Ponemah council, K. of C., met Sunday afternoon in their rooms on Providence street.

Miss Eva Durand has been ill at her home on South B street.

Mrs. Joseph Burke and son of Norwich have been recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gley of Lisbon.

George W. Weller, Jr., has purchased a plot of land in Lisbon from Mrs. Nicholas Krauss.

Miss Katherine Clifford, 43, of School street, died suddenly at the home of the Misses Osgood of Rockwell Terrace, Saturday afternoon at 4.45. Her death was a shock to her wide circle of friends in this village. Miss Clifford was born in Taftville, the daughter of Michael and Katherine Clifford and was a life long resident of this village. She was a member of the Ladies Sodality, Children of Mary of the Sacred Heart church. Although by nature quiet and retiring she had an art of making friends and retaining them. She is survived by two sisters, Miss Hannah Clifford and Mrs. Arthur Swain, and two brothers, James and John Clifford, all of Taftville.

Miss Regina Fagnant of North Third avenue and Milton Osborn of Norwich were quietly married in Willimantic Saturday afternoon and are spending their honeymoon in Hartford. The groom is employed by the United States Finishing company and the bride is the daughter of Arthus and Albin Fagnant and has been employed in the weaving department of the Ponemah mills.

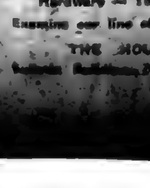
Mr. and Mrs. Theodore R. Sage of Norwich spent Sunday with Mrs. Sage's father, Edmond Bissonnette of North B street.

In the artgravure of the Hartford Courant of Sunday appeared a picture of Mrs. James O. Vandermark of Waterbury attired in a Russian costume in which she appeared in the Concordia ball which is one of the largest social events of the Waterbury winter season and which she was awarded first prize. Mrs. Vandermark was before her marriage Miss Emma Henderson of this city. She is the daughter of Mrs. Jane Henderson of Boswell avenue and sister of Mrs. Anthony Bernard of Greeneville.

Copyright 1916 The Picture Advertisers, Box 17 Oregon City, Oregon

The Picture Tells The Story

Need a Plumber?
Tel. 187
J. P. BARSTOW & CO.
22 Water Street



GLASS — PUTTY — PAINT
Hardware — Tools — Cutlery
Examine our line of Aluminum Ware
THE HOUSEHOLD
Bulkeley Building, 29 Franklin Street

CEMENT ADDITION TO SWAN GARAGE COLLAPSED; LOSS PLACED ABOUT $800

The new concrete addition to the A. C. Swan Co. garage on Main street, at the corner of White's court, collapsed Sunday evening about 7.30 o'clock, cement beams, girders, posts and floors of two upper stories dropping to the street level floor. The damage was estimated between $700 and $800.

Dr. W. B. Casey, who was standing across the street at the time, had his attention attracted by a cracking sound followed by a dull rumble as the two upper stories in process of construction sank into a mass of steel and concrete. The street level floor caught the whole load of about 60 tons' weight and held it from going through into the cellar.

L. M. Young of the Connecticut Engineering and Contracting Co., which was erecting the building, was notified immediately after the collapse and come to the place to make an investigation. From what he was able to see Sunday night, Mr. Young said it looked as if there had been a fault in the cement in the supporting pillar at the front corner of the building, next to White's court. This was probably due to freezing of the cement after it was poured, he suggested, for the cement was poured in freezing weather. Heat was used between the floors after the cement was poured, but this naturally would not reach the outside of the pillars, which were exposed to the cold. Mr. Young said that his cursory examination Sunday night showed that the floor slabs, beams and girders had held all right, and the most likely explanation seemed to be that the corner pillar had crumbled.

About 10,000 brick, weighing about 15 tons, were piled on the upper floors Saturday, but there was no break where the brick were piled, as would have been the case had the cement floor or beams broken under the load.

CITY BIBLE CLASS IS HOLDING ATTENDANCE LEAD

For two successive Sundays the City Bible class of the Central Baptist church has led the Men's forum of the First Baptist church of New London in the attendance contest going on between them. Every member of the Norwich class is out boosting for attendance and they hope to show a clean pair of heels to the men of the Whaling City.

On the first Sunday of the contest the Norwich class attendance was 241 per cent., while the New London class reached 227 per cent. On Sunday the Norwich class jumped ahead again with an attendance of 155, or 304 per cent., while New London jumped to 73, or 281 per cent. The contest continues throughout the remaining Sundays in March.

The leader of the class at the Central Baptist church Sunday was Judge H. H. Pettis, and it was announced that next Sunday Harrison Noyes would be the leader and speaker. The record for attendance at the City Bible class is 179, and every member is out to beat that figure and keep Norwich ahead of their New London rivals.

AUTOMOBILE SHOW HAD GOOD SATURDAY CROWD

In spite of the storms on Saturday there was a good attendance at the Norwich automobile show at the state armory afternoon and evening. Every dealer showing the cars he handles reported many fine prospects for future sales and other dealers reported sales made during the show. The musical programs each evening were in charge of Herb Smith's orchestra and as in previous years Mr. Smith provided most excellent programs.

The attendance at the show Friday evening sent the attendance records for previous shows into the background, and the large attendances of Saturday simply swelled the totals beyond that of last year.

People who attended the automobile show stated that it was the best ever held in the city, the display of cars being larger than in previous years, and the various makes of cars offered for sale increased in numbers over 1922.

PRESIDENT CASE ATTENDING INSURANCE AGENTS' MEETINGS

President James L. Case of the National Association of Insurance Agents was one of the speakers before the joint meeting of the Illinois Association of Insurance Agents and the Illinois Insurance Federation, held at Springfield, on Tuesday. On Wednesday he spoke before the agents of Kankakee, Ill., and on Saturday evening was the guest of the Cleveland Ohio, Insurance club. From Cleveland, President Case left directly for Asheville, N. C., where the mid-year meeting of the National association takes place on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. From all indications the meeting will be well attended and the insurance agents of North Carolina have promised to leave nothing undone to make the meeting the best ever.

SEEING IT THROUGH IN THE NEAR EAST

The following persons in different sections of the city have signified their willingness to receive and pass on contributions for the Near East Relief: Mrs. C. D. Sewin, 28 Bliss place, treasurer; N. A. Gibbs, Thames National bank; Mrs. F. E. Ricketson, Taftville; Mrs. Henry W. Lanz, 314 Central avenue; Manning store, Yantic; Mrs. F. A. Bill, 100 West Thames street; Mrs. H. E. Higgins, 21 Fairmount street; Mrs. W. H. Dawley, 3 Robbins court; Mrs. A. S. Comstock, 92 Williams street, and Miss Louise C. Howe, 9 Williams avenue.

Five dollars per month provides food for one orphan; $15 per month provides clothes, shelter and food for one orphan.

NORWICH WOMAN AND SOLDIER ARE ARRESTED

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 11.—Corporal Joseph J. Hickey of Fort Wright and Mrs. Florence C. Gudeshan of No. 135 Roosevelt street, Norwich, wife of Charles Gudeshan, are locked up at the police station, charged with adultery. They will be given a hearing in the police court Monday morning.

Hickey and Gudeshan woman were taken into custody at the Arlington house on Golden street Sunday afternoon by Detective Sergeant Charles Hammond, following a complaint being made at the police station by Gudeshan that his wife had eloped with Hickey. The couple had registered as man and wife and when the officer arrived at the place the room they occupied was locked.

WELL KNOWN NEW LONDON PHYSICIAN DEAD

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 11.—Dr. Edwin C. Chipman of No. 233 Williams street died at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital Friday night, following two operations for prostratic trouble. The second operation was performed the 5th inst and a few days later acute diabetes developed. The physician passed into a deep coma a few hours afterwards and never regained consciousness.

Dr. Chipman was 62 years of age and is survived by a wife. He had been a practitioner in New London many years and at one time was health officer, succeeding Dr. John T. Blank when the latter was appointed state health officer.

MONTVILLE MAN HELD FOR BREACH OF PEACE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 11.—A Montville millhand was arrested Sunday evening, charged with breach of the peace in forcing his attentions upon Mrs. Mary Zavatska of No. 28 Cedar street. The fellow will be given a hearing in the police court Monday morning.

According to Mrs. Zavatska, her attacker came to her home during the absence of her husband and attempted to assault her. She ran from the house and told her story to Patrolman George Laboue and the accused was taken into custody.

EXPECT INSPECTION VISIT AT THE COUNTY HOME

Senators and representatives from the towns of New London county, with the county commissioners are expected to make an inspection visit today (Monday) to the county home in this city with a view to learning the condition of the buildings there. It is expected the party will number about 30 and plans have been made to entertain them at dinner at the home.

At the meeting last week in Hartford of the county representatives the county commissioners reported the need of a new building at the home which would probably cost about $65,000, and the visit of the representatives is at the invitation of the commissioners in order that the legislators from this county may obtain first hand information of the situation.

Y. M. C. A. ANNIVERSARY MEETING AND CAMPAIGN

The annual anniversary meeting of the Norwich Y. M. C. A. will be held on Sunday evening, April 15th, with the churches uniting. This will be followed by the one week campaign for the current expense fund of the association for the coming year.

Tea For Virginia Guest.

On Sunday evening, about twenty friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ockrey, including several from out of town, were entertained at a pretty tea, served at the Washington House, in honor of Joseph O'Neil of Harrisburg, Virginia. The tea tables were very attractively decorated with sprigs of brilliantly colored flowers with corresponding colored vases, and illuminated by candles.

Mrs. Ockery was attractively attired in a clinging gown of silk. She was assisted in receiving by the Misses Gladys Williamson and Mary Hussey. Miss Williams wore a lovely creation of georgette, while Miss Hussey was similarly gowned in silk.

Fined in Police Court.

E. Karaylanis was fined $23.50 Saturday morning in the city court for violating the gambling laws. Eight men were in court charged with frequenting the place, the cases against three of them being nolled without costs and five of them paid $7.24 to Clerk Bailey.

A local man paid $14.50 for being drunk, and a Montville man was fined for a similar offense.

A man brought in from Yantic by Constable Fenton for drinking to excess is to appear in court this (Monday) morning.

TRY ONE TODAY

RADIO PROGRAMS

Monday, March 12, 1923.

KDKA Pittsburgh (360 Meters).

6.15 p. m.—Dinner concert by the KDKA Little Symphony orchestra, Victor Saudek, director.

7 p. m.—News. Weekly survey of business conditions, prepared by the national industrial conference board. Report of the New York stock exchange.

7.15 p. m.—Men's evening, conducted by the J. G. Bennett company, Pittsburgh, Pa., consisting of articles of special interest to men.

7.30 p. m.—The Visit to the Little Folks by the Dreamtime Lady.

7.45 p. m.—Features of particular interest to men.

8.15 p. m.—Address by a prominent business man.

8.30 p. m.—Concert by Dorothy Donelly, contralto; Clair Anderson, basso; and the KDKA Little Symphony orchestra, Victor Saudek, director.

WJZ Newark (360 Meters).

6 p. m.—Business and industrial conditions in the United States as observed by the national industrial conference board.

7 p. m.—Bedtime Stories by Thornton Burgess.

7.15 p. m.—Stories from St. Nicholas Magazine.

8.56 p. m.—Concert by Vera Thamm, soprano, of New York city.

9 p. m.—Program arranged by Doubleday Page & Co.

9.15 p. m.—Audio vs. Radio Frequency Amplification, by M. C. Batsel.

9.30 p. m.—Concert under the direction of Charles D. Isaacson. Special gala opera recital under the conductorship of Remo Taverna, "Rigoletto," opera by Verdi. Story of the opera narrated by Charles D. Isaacson during the course of the music.

9.55 p. m.—Arlington time signals; weather forecast.

10.01 p. m.—Continuation of program under direction of Mr. Isaacson.

KYW Chicago (400 Meters).

(Central Time.)

5 p. m.—News and sports.

6.30 p. m.—News, financial and final market, and sport summary. Topics of the Day, furnished by Pathe exchange.

6.50 p. m.—Children's Bedtime Story. Silent Night. News, sports and children's bedtime story furnished by the Chicago Evening American.

WGY (Schenectady, N. Y. (370 Meters)

(Eastern Standard Time.)

12 m.—U. S. Naval observatory time signals.

12.30 p. m.—Noon stock market quotations.

12.45 p. m.—Weather report on 485 meters.

2 p. m.—Music and household talk.

6 p. m.—Produce market and stock market report and quotations; news bulletins.

7.45 p. m.—Musical program by the WGY Instrumental quartet.

WHAZ Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y. (400 Meters).

8.15 p. m.—Dramatic presentation of Richard Brinsley Sheridan's famous comedy, The Rivals, through selected readings by the Masque of Troy, which last autumn broadcast, Peg o' My Heart from station WHAZ with such success.

WBZ Springfield (422 Meters).

7.30 p. m.—Kiddies Animal Guessing contest.

7.45 p. m.—Preparation of Federal Income Tax, by Thomas McGarry, tax consultant. Business conditions as observed by the national industrial conference board.

8 p. m.—Concert by Wadsworth & Healey's orchestra of Hartford, Conn.: M. Haverback, director, violin; Thomas Healey, piano; William Dietrich, banjo and clarinet; James Kennedy, saxophone; Byron Cutler, trumpet; Carl Arens, trombone; Charles Lawrence, saxophone; Howard Hausmann, trumpet; Philip Flagg, drums and tympani.

WGI Medford Hillside, Mass. (360 Meters).

5 p. m.—Twilight Tales, read by Uncle David.

5.30 p. m.—New England forecast, furnished by the U. S. weather bureau.

6 p. m.—Late news flashes: early sports news.

6.15 p. m.—Code practice, lesson No. 19.

6.30 p. m.—Boston police reports. Amrad bulletin board. Wool market news.

6.45 p. m.—A Village School. Satayanda Roy of Calcutta, India. Eighty-first Tufts college lecture.

LISBON TOWN TAX OF 30 MILLS VOTED

Saturday afternoon the voters of the town of Lisbon voted in town meeting to lay a tax of 30 mills, of which 25 is for current expenses, and 5 for the town debt. Senator James Graham presided and Harry Hull acted as clerk.

Made Trouble for Trolleys

The trolley men experienced considerable trouble Saturday on local runs due to the snow and slush that accumulated on the rails. On the Yantic line at McKinley avenue, the West Side run on West Main street, and on the Taftville line at St. Mary's cemetery the slush was deep and water splashed upon the motors often short circuiting them, putting the car out of commission. This necessitated the sending out of extras to bring in the cars that had gone "dead" and delayed traffic for a time.

The storm however, failed to disrupt the service to any great extent, and Saturday shoppers found the service nearly perfect in spite of the handicaps under which the trolleys were operated.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE-AWAKES

(Continued from Page Two)

birds, it would help the poor little things a lot.

Now if every Wide-Awake saved pennies until they get six cents they could buy a pound of chick feed to help them.

You know spring is quite near and in a little while the birds can provide for themselves, but let us help the poor little things a while longer, for they may die if we don't.

MILDRED KINNE, Age 10.
Voluntown.

My Snow House.

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to the Wide-Awake Circle. I made a snowhouse one day, and I made some windows in it. I put some dolls' chairs in it. It looked very pretty. We are going to have a club every Saturday afternoon if the snow doesn't melt.

ALICE A. SANGER.
Norwich.

Abraham Lincoln.

Dear Uncle Jed: Abraham Lincoln was born in a log cabin in Kentucky, on Feb. 12, 1809. The cabin consisted of but one room. His father was a poor man, who could hardly write his own name. The little baby had been named after his grandfather, Abraham Lincoln. When he was seven years old, his father moved to Indiana. Here he lived in a poor log cabin. It had only three sides, fourth was open to the weather.

There was no chimney. The fire was built out of doors in front of the open side. Such a cabin was called a "half-face camp." There was no floor. Above the room was a little loft and this was Abraham's bedroom. Do you think that there was anything so grand as a stairway in Lincoln's home? No, indeed! The little fellow had to climb up on pegs driven in the wall. His bed was a pile of dry leaves in a corner. When he was ten years old he could drive a team of horses, handle a plough, chop wood and also helped his father making chairs, shelves and cabinets. He was always ready to help the women by carrying water, making the fire and tending to the baby.

AMELIA BURSZTA, Age 10.
Baltic.

A Walk in the Woods.

Dear Uncle Jed: One day after school, my mother, sisters, brother, and I took a walk out in the woods. While there we all found some hazelnuts. My mother found some strawberries. We were all surprised to see them at that season of the year.

HELEN E. SCHROLL, Age 9.
Danielson.

Best Day of My Vacation.

Dear Uncle Jed: I have not written to the Wide-Awakes for a long period so I hope this story will interest them all.

One pleasant morning last summer, uncle, four girls and I started out for a day with the huckleberries.

After a long, long tramp up hill all the way, we at length reached our destination.

We were soon inside the pasture and the big black huckleberries appeared in such quantities that we worked busily until our pails began to fill rapidly.

We had not seen uncle for a long time, and thinking that we had wandered off and got lost we called "Uncle, Uncle!" He quickly appeared and told us not to be afraid as we could not lose him, for we made more noise than a boiler factory.

The day soon passed, and on our way back uncle entertained us with stories.

We stopped at the Old Furnace Brook, and shoes and stockings flew into the air as into its cooling waters we waded. After this we went part of the way barefooted; but put on our shoes and stockings later, to avoid home lectures.

There were other days spent at city beaches, but this was the best spent in company with schoolmates, and within the boundaries of Killingly.

MAE HIGGINS.
Danielson.

The Boston Store
Norwich Reid & Hughes Co. Conn

One Week of Mark-Down Prices

BUY YOUR NOTION AND DRESSMAKING SUPPLIES FOR LESS MONEY

This is the semi-annual event for the woman who does home sewing and appreciates the chance to save on these very necessary articles. Every item advertised is standard merchandise at less than standard prices.

PINS AND NEEDLES
Alliance, De Long, Clinton and Safeguard Safety Pins. Sizes 00 to 3—
Values 5c and 6c..... FOR 4c
Values 7c and 8c..... FOR 6c
Values 10c and 12c..... FOR 8c

COMMON PINS
Tiger, was 3c..... FOR 2c
Waldorf, was 5c..... FOR 4c
Superba, was 10c..... FOR 7c
Alliance, was 12½c..... FOR 9c
Kirby Beard, was 15c.. FOR 12c

10c NEEDLES
Sharps ..... FOR 8c
Darning Needles..... FOR 8c
Millinery Needles ..... FOR 8c
6c Baby Bunting Safety Pins 4c
Goldfinch Safety Pins, value to 12½c a card..... FOR 8c

TOILET PINS
On Cards, Books and Cubes
10c value ..... FOR 8c
20c value ..... FOR 15c

HAIR PINS
National Cabinets in bronze or black. Value 10c... FOR 8c
Fancy Cabinets—
Value 5c ..... FOR 4c
Value 10c ..... FOR 7c
Value 15c ..... FOR 12c
Hump Hair Pins—
Sizes 1 to 5 ..... FOR 4c
Size 6 ..... FOR 8c
15c De Long Cabinets.. FOR 12c

HAIR CURLERS, ETC.
West. Electric Curlers
Card of 2 ..... FOR 8c
Card of 5 ..... FOR 21c
Magic Curlers—
Value 15c ..... FOR 11c
Value 35c ..... FOR 27c
10c Ever wave Curlers.. FOR 8c
10c Nell Brinkley Curlers FOR 8c
10c Kid Curlers ..... FOR 8c
25c Kid Curlers ..... FOR 19c
10c Kurly Kews ..... FOR 8c
Curling Irons—
19c value ..... FOR 15c
25c value ..... FOR 19c
50c value ..... FOR 42c
Shell and Amber Hair Pins—3 PKGS. FOR..... 10c
De Long and Alliance Pins 3 PAPERS FOR 10c

DRESS FASTENERS
10c Fasteners ..... FOR 8c
Including De Long, Alliance and Wilsnaps.
10c Hooks and Eyes... FOR 8c
Including De Long and Alliance
10c Atlas Hooks and Eyes FOR 7c

THREADS
Coats' Sewing Machine Thread, all sizes. FOR 55c DOZ.
Clark's Sewing Machine Thread, sizes 50 and 60 FOR ..... 55c DOZ.
J. J. Clark's Sewing Machine Thread, all sizes. FOR 35c DOZ.
King's Basting Thread 3 FOR 25c
17c Shamrock Linen Thread FOR 10c
25c Barbour's Linen.. FOR 21c
20c Kerr's Lustre Twist FOR 17c
10c Aunt Lydia's ..... FOR 8c
7c Giant Linen Finish.. FOR 5c

ALL DARNING COTTONS AT SPECIAL PRICES
Willington Basting Thread.
An odd lot—while it lasts—
FOR ..... 40c DOZ.

TAPES AND BINDINGS
Hat Elastic—
Value 5c a yard..... 2 FOR 7c
Value 12½c a yard.... FOR 10c
Best Elastic Web—
8c and 10c values..... FOR 7c
12c and 14c values..... FOR 11c
15c to 20c values..... FOR 15c
English Twill Tape —
10c and 12c value..... FOR 9c
14c and 16c values..... FOR 12c
18c and 20c values..... FOR 15c
25c value ..... FOR 20c

BIAS FOLD AND LINGERIE TAPE AT SPECIAL PRICES
DRESS LININGS
39c White Nainsook Linings 29c
50c Batiste Linings..... 41c
89c White Tussah Linings... 75c
$1.00 Jap Silk Linings..... 83c

ALL COTTON OR SILK SKIRT BELTING AT SPECIAL PRICES
Hook and Eye Tape—
19c value ..... FOR 15c
25c value ..... FOR 20c
30c value ..... FOR 25c
6c White Cotton Tape 2 FOR 5c
10c Dutch Linen Tape.. FOR 8c
12½c Silk Finish Tape FOR 10c
25c Snap Fastener Tape FOR 21c
29c Taffeta Seam Binding... 25c
10c Ric Rac Braid..... FOR 8c
12½c Ric Rac Braid.... FOR 10c
15c Ric Rac Braid... FOR 12½c
15c One Bias Seam Tape... 10c

DRESS SHIELDS
Omo Shields—
Size 3, value 43c..... FOR 36c
Size 4, value 46c..... FOR 39c
Gem Shields—
Size 3, value 42c..... FOR 36c
Size 4, value 46c..... FOR 39c
Size 5, value 54c..... FOR 47c
Gem Operas—
Size 3, value 42c..... FOR 35c
Size 4, value 46c..... FOR 39c
Naiad Shields—
Size 2, value 33c..... FOR 27c
Size 3, value 39c..... FOR 31c
Size 4, value 43c..... FOR 36c
Kleinert's Tu Pair Brassiere, value $2.50 ..... FOR $2.19
Kleinert's Eton Brassiere, value $1.50 ..... FOR $1.29
$1.50 Omo Brassiere Shield $1.29
$1.50 Naiad Brassiere Shield $1.29
29c Sanitary Belts..... FOR 25c
39c Sanitary Belts..... FOR 29c
50c Sanitary Belts..... FOR 41c
75c Sanitary Belts..... FOR 63c
50c Sanitary Aprons... FOR 41c
75c Sanitary Aprons... FOR 63c
$1.00 Sanitary Aprons. FOR 84c
$1.50 Sanitary Aprons FOR $1.29

HOSE SUPPORTERS
50c Daphne Pad Supporters 41c
Sew-on Hose Supporters,
15c value ..... FOR 10c
20c value ..... FOR 12½c
25c value ..... FOR 17c
50c value ..... FOR 41c

ALL VELVET GRIP SUPPORTERS AT SPECIAL PRICES

LITTLE JACK RABBIT

By DAVID CORY

Uncle Lucky Lefthindfoot.

Uncle Lucky Lefthindfoot, the old gentleman bunny, was the dearest, kindest sort of a person you ever knew. He lived in a little white house on the corner of Lettuce avenue and Carrott street, Rabbitville, U. S. A. Just back of his little white house stood a tiny garage in which he kept his Luckymobile, the fastest car in all Rabbitville. Sometimes it went so fast that the hind wheels couldn't keep up with the front wheels and then, of course, the old gentleman rabbit had to honk the horn and put on the brakes to avoid a dreadful accident.

After the meal was over

Every morning, the Old Red Rooster crowed under the bedroom window to wake up "dear Uncle Lucky," as everybody called him, and while little Miss Mousie got breakfast ready, the old gentleman rabbit slipped his big diamond horseshoe pin into his purple cravat and buttoning up his pink waistcoat, hopped down into the little kitchen where little Miss Mousie was setting the breakfast table while the turnip tea was singing on the stove.

After the meal was over, the old gentleman rabbit carefully tied his blue silk polkadot handkerchief over the top of his wedding stovepipe hat and under his chin to keep Billy Breeze from blowing it off his head. Then, with a "Goodbye, little Miss Mousie!" he hopped into the garage, where the Old Red Rooster was brushing the dust off the cushions on the Luckymobile with his feather tail duster.

"Ha, ha!" laughed the old gentleman rabbit, hopping into the Luckymobile, "I'm going to take Little Jack Rabbit out for a ride," and, giving the horn a honk or two, he hurried out through the little gate in the white picket fence, down Lettuce avenue till he came to Cabbage street. Then, turning to the right, he soon reached the Shady Forest. Down the winding trail, he went, in and out among the trees until at last he reached the dear Old Bramble Patch.

"I'll be out in just a minute!" shouted Little Jack Rabbit in answer to the three honks of the Luckymobile horn, "I've almost finished polishing the front door knob."

"Don't hurry," replied the old gentleman rabbit, hopping around to the kitchen door where Lady Love, the little rabbit's mother was tidying up the little kitchen.

"Here comes Uncle Lucky," chipped the little Black Cricket from the woodbox by the kitchen stove.

"Here comes Uncle Lucky!" sang the three Little Grasshoppers, while the pretty canary from her gold cage twitted a song of welcome and the hollyhocks nodded their heads to the old gentleman rabbit as he hopped up the little back porch to the kitchen door.

And, if Jack Frost doesn't paint the wooden Indian's nose a sky blue pink, I'll let the barber cut the old gentleman rabbit's hair on the Fourth of July.

(Copyright 1923 by David Cory.)

MUNYON'S PILE OINTMENT

NOTICE

My wife, Ellen Morin, of 14 Oak street, Danielson, having left my bed and board without just cause, and having failed to return, I desire to give herewith formal notice that I will not be responsible for any bills contracted by her after this date.

Danielson, March 12, 1923.
mar12d ERNEST MORIN.

COOKS On All Subjects All Kinds
Subscription to all American and European Publications.
SHEA'S NEWS BUREAU
UNION SQUARE

POETRY

HEREAFTER.

Have you not heard of the land where
Beauty and Love are eternal,
Where from the fathom of life nothing is ever withdrawn,
Save that a some pure stream, with imperceptible current,
Glides through the Lake of Peace into the Ocean of Joy?
Alas, yes this wonderful Earth—that land has never existed:
Here is no lake of peace, here is no ocean
of joy;
And if the rivers flow, they move to their own destruction.
Lured into enmity men feud with the wrecks of the Past.
Not in a group like ours one orb with his mindful of planets
Riding observantly along, lost in a corner of Space.
Nor in such nobler worlds as the gorgeous suns of Orion.
Not in these uttermost orbs never to be noted or known—
Not in all these is the land where Beauty and Love are eternal.
Where in a dream of delight spirits united abide.
For there is never an orb but is moulded of changeable matter,
Shaped by the lapse of time, bound to its own little curve,
Fused into form after form, one mould succeeding another.
But, whatsoever it be, dead as the heart of a stone,
These cannot yield us our quest, the limitless life that we long for,
These cannot offer a place meet for the souls of the just;
Nay, we may search with our eyes through the splendid expanse of the heavens
Roving from star to star, wistfully seeking a home;
But there is none to be found, nor can be, in such a Creation.
Made but of tangled stuff, drifting like us to its doom.
Look to the light of God, the core of ultimate Being,
Safe from the chrialdom of sense, apt to be touch'd with decay;
There, only there, is the land where
Beauty and Love are eternal;
There is our haven of rest, there is the home of the soul.
—Arthur Munby, in Boston Transcript.

LOVE'S FLIGHT.

Go forth, O Guest of ten sweet, sunny years,
Nor leave
One ray of hope, one softened thought, behind;
Go forth into the cold, alone, forgot,
Nor let me grieve.

Go forth, O Guest, thought to keep alway
Mine own,
To walk beside me down the tranquil years,
Or help, with mutual love, where'er the way
Was rough, or lone.

Go forth! I bar the door with steady hand,
My heart,
Nor let one team dim eyes too sad to weep,
And so we part.

Go forth! The empty room, where once you reigned,
Is still;
No footfall falls across its silent floor;
Go forth, and let me strive, through the gray years,
To do God's will.
—Helen Woodward Pratt, in Waterbury American.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Mother—No, Bobby; for the third time I tell you, you can't have another chocolate.

Bobby (in demair)—I don't see where father gets the idea that you're always changing your mind!—London Opinion.

"How did you know that was a District of Columbia automobile?"

"I can distinguish any of 'em in the distance," replied Farmer Cornstead, "by the rattle of their numerous tags."—Washington Evening Star.

Motorist (frantically flagged on a lonely road)—What's the matter? Is the bridge out?

Native—It's my missus, mister. She's going to prayer meetin' an' she's got some grease on her coat. She wants to know would you let her have a half-a-pint o' gasoline.—Life.

A young lady whose knowledge of baseball was first hand watching a game which was proving very disastrous to the home team. Finally she turned to her escort and exclaimed:

"Isn't our pitcher grand? He hits their bats no matter where they hold them."—Everybody's Magazine.

Lawyer—What do you think absent-mindedness is?

Witness (slowly)—Well, if a man who thought he had left his watch at home took it out of his pocket to see if he had time to go back and get it, I would call him a little absent minded.—Answers, London.

KALEIDOSCOPE

The first religious newspaper ever issued was the Herald of Gospel Liberty, which was published by Elias Smith, of Portsmouth, N. H., in 1809.

Fishes in the sea of Galilee are in the habit of going about in shoals of more than an acre in extent and so closely packed that it is impossible for them to move freely.

A rich quicksilver vein, said to extend more than seven miles on the surface and to vary from two to six feet in width has been discovered in the upper Goto archipelago of Japan.

As a memorial to the men of California who took part in the world war, a $1,000,000 replica of the French palace of the Legion of Honor is to be erected on the highest hill in Lincoln park in San Francisco, overlooking the Golden Gate. One part of the structure will house the uniform and sword which Marshal Joffre wore at the battle of the Marne.

FOR YOUR NEXT BREAKFAST
TRY OUR HOME-MADE SAUSAGE
THUMM'S DELICATESSEN
46 Franklin Street

VOL. LXV—No. 62 POPULATION 29,685 NORWICH, CONN., TUESDAY, MARCH 13, 1923 TEN PAGES—70 COLUMNS PRICE TWO CENTS

MANY LIVES SNUFFED OUT BY STORM IN THREE MIDDLE WESTERN STATES

In Madison and Chester Counties, Tennessee, 19 Persons Were Killed—Damage in That Section Was Placed at $250,000—At Least Nine Deaths Were Caused by Wind Storm in Southern Kentucky—Three Fatalities and Dozens Injured in Ohio—Thousands of Dollars Damage in Indiana.

Jackson, Tenn., March 12.—Twenty known dead and property damage expected to reach $250,000 is the toll known to have been taken by a storm of cyclonic proporations which swept through sections of Madison and Chester counties last night, wrecking at least two town—Pinson and Dyersburg.

Of the 20 victims, 15 were killed at Pinson and five at Dyersburg, a check late today showed. Most of the seriously wounded are in Jackson.

AT LEAST NINE DEATHS IN SOUTHERN KENTUCKY

Louisville, Ky., March 12.—At least nine deaths resulted from the wind storm which swept south Central Kentucky last night and early today from reports received here.

Reports from Richmond said that three persons lost their lives in that vicinity when the wind lifted a small farm house with three adults and 10 children from its foundation, carried it fifty yards and hurled it to the ground in splinters.

Mrs. Bowling Green came a report that Mrs. Jennie Dossy, 31, and Mrs. Margaret Cox, 51, were killed and Mr. Dossy was probably fatally injured when the storm blew down their residence near Brownsville in Edmonson county.

An unverified report from South Union, Logan county, said that a man, his wife and children also lost their lives in the storm.

Dennis Boggs, 9, was killed and five other children injured, two seriously, when the roof was blown from the high school building at South Portsmouth, Ky., and carried into the school yard where the children were playing.

Telegraph and telephone lines in many parts of the state were prostrated. Paducah was isolated from Louisville until late in the day.

At Lexington the betting shed at the Kentucky Racing Association track was wrecked, plate glass store fronts shattered and telephone poles and trees felled.

At Winchester, a wall of a school building was demolished, plate glass windows were blown in and trees uprooted. One man was slightly hurt. The wind tore away a corner of a bedroom in a dwelling where a young woman slept. She was unhurt.

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS DAMAGE IN INDIANA

Indianapolis, Ind., March 12—Damage, which will run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars, was done by the wind and rain storm which swept over Indiana early today, according to reports received here over crippled wires. While persons were reported injured in many sections, no word of any fatalities had been received early tonight.

Business buildings, residences and barns were unroofed and wrecked in many localities and livestock on farms were killed, but the heaviest sufferers it was said, were the telephone, telegraph and intrurban companies. Poles were swept down by the dozens and the wire service companies called out all their emergency forces in an effort to clear their lines tonight.

THREE KILLED, DOZENS INJURED IN OHIO

Cleveland, Ohio, March 12—At least three persons were killed, dozens injured and heavy property loss sustained in Ohio from the heavy wind storm that swept the state today, according to late reports received here.

The dead: Dennis Boggs, 9, South Portsmouth; James Baker, 3, Steubenville and Ira Eschelman, 40, Massillon, Ohio.

Six persons were injured in Cleveland, three seriously.

TISBO & BRO. LIABILITIES $1,000,000, WITH $1,000 ASSETS

New York, March 12.—Federal Judge A. N. Hand today appointed Bertha Rembaugh receiver for Vincenzo Tisbo & Brothers, steamship agents, and called private bankers, the four members of which, three here and one in Italy, have mysteriously disappeared, leaving behind thousands of clamoring depositors, whose claims are estimated from $500,000 to $2,000,000.

The petition for receivership estimated liabilities of the firm at $1,000,000 and assets at $1,000. The receiver's bond was placed at $1,000.

Another petition for involuntary bankruptcy was filed by counsel for three other creditors, who said they had entrusted $2,445 to the Tisbos to buy Italian lire for them.

A development today in the mysterious disappearance of the Tisbos, which has brought anxiety to thousands in New York's Little Italy, was the announcement that Riccardo Tisbo, who represented his brothers at Vitonto Italy, had disappeared from there.

District Attorney Banton has appointed an assistant to question persons who had financial dealings with the Tisbos, to determine whether there had been any illegalities in connection with the so-called "bank."

"Unless we can show that there was intent from the start to obtain money by trick and device as happened in the case of '500 per cent' Miller and Charles Ponzi of Boston we will not be able to prosecute successfully," said Mr. Banton.

According to officers of the Italian Discount and Trust Company, the Tisbos never made heavy deposits at that bank, their largest balance being $20,000 some time ago. For the past year their deposits seldom exceeded two hundred dollars. Their account now is overdrawn about ten dollars, it was said.

ELIHU ROOT HONORED BY GOVERNMENT OF GREECE

New York, March 12—The government of Greece has conferred on Elihu Root, chairman of the trustees of the Carnegie Corporation, the Grand Commander of the Royal Order of George the First, and on Dr. Henry S. Pritchett, acting president of the corporation, the Cross of Commander of the same order, as a mark of appreciation of the Carnegie Corporation's action in granting a building in which to house the priceless Geonadius library.

M. Tsamados, Greek minister to the United States, presented the insignia to the recipients.

CHARGED WITH SWINDLING TWO ELDERLY WIDOWS

Worcester, Mass., March 12—Charged with swindling two elderly widows of $8,000, representing their savings of a lifetime, Benjamin E. A. Marion, 24, of New York City, was arrested this afternoon at the home of his alleged victims, Mrs. Charlotte Deland and Mrs. Mary J. Allard. The police claim Marion went to the house today seeking additional funds from the two women whom he had interested in a stock transaction. Marion was held in $10,000 bail for appearance in Central District court.

SUIT FOR $17,500 AGAINST "JACKIE" COOGAN'S FATHER

New York, March 12.—A suit for $17,500 was started today against John Coogan, father of "Jackie" Coogan, boy film star. John F. Connolly, the complainant, declared that amount was due him for services as Jackie's personal representative and general business manager.

Connolly asserted the boy actor received not less than $250,000 while under his management, and that he was to receive 7 1-2 per cent of Jackie's earnings. He said he had been paid but $1,700 on account.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS

An airplane equipped with skis landed on the snow covering army field at Framingham, Mass.

Net earnings of the Canadian Pacific Railway CoCmpany for the year ending December 31, 1922, amounted to $36,301,691.

Jerome B. Lucke, a veteran newspaperman, and long on the staff of the New Haven Journal-Courier, died in New Haven in his 81st year.

The Rubber Association of America notified Secretary of Commerce Hoover that it would assist the department of commerce in making a world survey for new sources of crude rubber.

London to Australia by airplane in six days is regarded possible by the British air ministry, which is about to ask the aircraft industry for bids on building a great metal airplane to initiate the experiment.

Dr. Thomas Kittredge, well-known surgeon and former surgeon-general with the rank of brigadier-general of the Massachusetts national guard, died at his home in Salem, Mass.

Two women were killed and a man was slightly injured when a freight train struck an automobile at an unguarded grade cross at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Customs receipts for the port of New York for the fiscal year are averaging $1,019,317.31 a day as compared with $714,663.17 for 1921-22.

Fire destroyed the six-story ware-house, storehouse and offices of the Canadian General Electric company in Toronto.

Governor Charles A. Templeton is now confined to his home in Waterbury with a sore throat, the aftermath of an attack of the grip.

Prof. Charlton Miner Lewis, professor of English literature at Yale university, and one of the noted teachers of English of the country, died at his home in New Haven.

During the fiscal year ended June 30, 1922, 52,524 Jewish immigrants arrived, and of these 52,416 were destined to near relatives, 635 to friends, while 473 had neither relatives nor friends.

To take from congress power to de-clare war and to maintain the army, navy and militia, was proposed by the Women's Peace Union of the Western Hemisphere to Senator Borah last week.

The Sterling Chemistry laboratory, Yale's new $2,000,000 building now practically completed, will be dedicated by the university on April 4, the 119th anniversary of the delivery of the first lecture on chemistry at the college.

Eighteen days have elapsed since the disappearance of Miss Jeanette Breazeale, a 22 years old nurse and daughter of a Rutgers college professor and not a clue has been found for police to work upon.

Sir Thomas H. Esmonde, Free State senator, whose residence at Gorey, County Wexford, Ireland, was burned to the ground, says that rare pictures and other valuable were removed from the house some time ago.

Appeal will be taken to the Mani-toba court of appeals by the International Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers against the judgment handed down Saturday by Justice Galt, declaring that organization to be illegal and "in restraint of trade."

Dr. John R. Turner, dean of Wash-ington Square College of New York University, was notified that he had been appointed chief economist of the tariff commission.

Hudson Bridge Hastings of Wel-lesley Hills Mass., had been appointed professor of administrative engineering at Yale university, it was announced last night.

John D. Appleby, divisional prohi-bition chief for New York and New Jersey, who was transferred to Boston on March 1 in the same capacity, has submitted his resignation to become effective March 15.

The Susquehanna Silk Mills Cor-poration, Sunbury, Pa., announced an increase in wages in the form of a ten per cent bonus, effective at once, and is in addition to the ten per cent granted last fall.

The American destroyer Overton, a member of the squadron on duty in near eastern waters, went ashore off Jaffa, it is reported in Jerusalem. She is understood to have been refloated.

Despondent over the death of his young wife, which occurred in Bristol recently, Frank Weiss, 27, of Halifax, N. S., committed suicide some time Sunday night in a rooming house in Hartford.

Angelo Eneste, 23, of New Haven, who was arrested on a charge of carrying a loaded revolver while seeking admission to the meeting at which Carlos Tresca was to speak in Waterbury, was held for the superior court under bonds of $2,000 in the city court.

An iron casting weighing several hundred pounds which was in the air fell through collapse of the crane and killed Vito Guarano, a laborer, who was beneath it in the S. H. Barnum foundry, New Haven.

With a single exception jail sen-tences were imposed on saloon keepers and the keeper of a meat market, by Judge W. J. Malone in Bristol, on conviction for selling liquors. The exception was a clerk for the butcher who received a fine of $200 and costs.

The vestry of St. John's Protestant Episcopal church of New Haven, has voted to extend a call to the Rev. Chauncey C. Kennedy of Christ Episcopal church of Stratford to succeed the Rev. Dr. Stewart Means, who resigned after serving as rector for 40 years.

ON THE VERGE OF DEATH WHEN RESCUED AT SEA

Freport, N. Y., March 13.—Bergen Smith, Jr., and Harry Matthews, who put out to sea on March 4 in a small motorboat and who were believed to have been drowned, were landed today at Long Beach by a schooner from the Bahamas which had picked them up on the verge of death.

They reached Freeport in a taxicab, Matthews delirious from drinking salt water, and both turned into bed. This afternoon, able to tell his story for the first time, Smith vigorously denied reports that they had been engaged by a boatman to put out to a rum fleet off Jones Inlet, and declared they had gone out for fishing only.

Smith said they had put out a week ago last Sunday. Something suddenly went wrong with their compass, and they confessed themselves lost.

To save gasoline, they killed their motor. Then they drifted until Friday, when the schooner picked them up.

Five days of anguish passed, Smith said. A heavy snowstorm swept over their craft; a stiff wind whipped the freezing spray over the two men; their bodies were bruised and bleeding from the tossing they received.

Some raw potatoes, a pie and a gallon of water were the only provisions aboard. These soon were gone.

Then the boat started to leak. Smith said they were forced to rip the linings from their overcoats in order to plug the seams. Day and night they pumped.

Smith claimed to have suffered chiefly from lack of sleep. His companion, he said, was a landlubber, and he did not dare leave him the duty of manning the pumps. Moreover, Matthews soon became delirous after drinking salt water.

On the third day a steamer passed on the horizon. The pair hoisted a burlap bag on an oar, but the steamer was too far away to see them.

On the fifth day, as hope fast was fading, the Bahama schooner was sighted. Frantically the men waved their signal again. It was seen.

Smith declared they had been treated like kings aboard the rescue craft.

YALE FRESHMEN CREATED DISTURBANCE IN COMMONS

New Haven, March 12.—Yale freshmen tonight abandoned their letter writing campaign against compulsory eating at the "Commons" and staged a half hour demonstration in their dining hall in which bread was hurled about, large quantities of dishes were smashed and one table was dumped unceremoniously into a corner. About 500 members of the class added their voices to the uproar. Authorities at the "Commons" took no action but waited until the demonstration ended of its accord.

During the bloodless "riot" a sign was hoisted on which a skull and bones had been drawn, while underneath was written: "This man ate at Commons."

Yale freshmen have been protesting for some time against the rule inaugurated last year compelling them to eat at the university dining hall. Student publications have been carrying many letters from freshmen complaining of the quality of the food served, and protesting against what is regarded as "paternalism" on the part of the college authorities. Tonight's demonstration is believed to have been planned as a more vigorous protest than letters have proved to be in the opinion of the freshmen.

SAMUEL GOMPERS ON ROAD TO RECOVERY

New York, March 12.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American federation of Labor, who has been seriously ill of influenza and bronchial pneumonia, was reported by attendants at the Lenox Hill hospital tonight to be well on the road to recovery. He would be able to leave his bed within a few days, it was said.

Supplied Irish Rebels With War Materials

Explanation of Week-End Raids in England and Scotland—100 Prisoners.

Dublin, March 12 (By the A. P.)—The Free State government tonight issued the names of 100 prisoners taken in the week-end raids in England and Scotland, and brought here on British warships.

The prisoners, who were taken into military custody on their arrival at the north wall, are declared by the government to have been engaged in a conspiracy to supply the Irish irregulars with war materials and thus support the rebel campaign of destruction.

DEPORTATIONS SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION IN COMMONS

London, March 12 (By the A. P.)—John Joseph Jones, labor member, moved adjournment of the house today to debate the question of the wholesale arrests of Irishmen in England and Scotland and the deportation of the prisoners to Ireland.

Mr. Jones and J. Ramsay MacDonald, the labor leader, who strongly supported him, both pressed the government on the legal aspect of the deportations; they desired to know the precise authority on which the police had acted and whether the home secretary had taken proper steps to safeguard the rights and and liberties of the deportees.

Mr. MacDonald pointed out that the restoration of order in Ireland act was passed in 1920 when British troops were in control in Ireland and the British ministers were responsible for the administration of Ireland. That was no longer the case, and parliament must satisfy itself that the action of the government in this matter was not in accordance with convenience, but with the law.

The home secretary, William C. Bridgeman, replying, said he would leave the legal aspect to be dealt with by the attorney general, and proceeded to read a number of seized letters as proof of the offenses alleged against the persons deported. Considerable laughter from the Irelorite benches and suggestions that the letters were fabrications provoked the secretary to retort: "It may be very amusing to the honorable members opposite, but to the British people it is not."

HOUSE OF COMMONS SUPPORTS DEPORTATIONS

London, March 12 (By the A. P.)—By the substantial majority of 108, the house of commons tonight supported the government in its action in assisting the Free State government by deporting to Ireland a number of Irishmen and Irish women residing in England and Scotland suspected of aiding the campaign of the irregulars in Ireland, according to the evidence adduced, of acting against the British government.

The ministers had to sustain strong criticism on the legal and political aspects of the case, the labor and liberal members particularly objecting on the ground of infringement of the liberty of citizens and the fact that no period has been announced as to the internment of those persons placed under arrest.

HUNTING FOR SEVEN BANDITS IN NEW JERSEY

Kearney, N. J., March 12.—Police of nearly every city and town in New Jersey and state troopers tonight joined in the hunt for seven bandit raiders who looted two stores here and at Lynchurst early today and escaped after a revolver battle with three policemen, two of whom were wounded.

Several robberies similar in character to those of today which were reported during the last several weeks already are being laid at th door of this gang.

The two policemen who were wounded are expected to recover.

A CLAIM FOR FIGHTING PLANES SUPPLIED AMERICA

London, March 12.—The British Aeroplane company today presented to the Anglo-American inventions commission a claim for Bristol fighting planes supplied to America during the war.

Sir Duncan Kerley, counsel for the claimants, said the United States decided to produce the machine on a large scale and ordered 2,000 of the planes from the Curtiss company, but "unfortunately" it was decided to install Liberty-12 engines, "which were 400 pounds too heavy for the Bristol fighter."

"There was in the United States," he asserted, "not a lack of ingenuity, but far too much of it. There were too many people who were able to improve anything on earth, and they were all willing to do it."

BIG SEIZURE OF OPIUM AND LIQUOR AT BOSTON

Boston, March 12—The special duty squad of the customs force of inspectors descended today on the American steamer Surugs, which docked here yesterday from Hamburg and after a hurried search of the vessel departed with 38 packages of opium, valued at $25,000 and a quantity of liquor. The Chinese steward of the Surugs was arrested.

Garbed in greasy overalls and made up as longshoremen and stokers, the customs men, who were led by Deputy Surveyor Thomas F. Finnegan, penetrated to the recesses of the ship.

The opium, in one-pound cans, was found in hiding places in various parts of the vessel. The liquor was also well distributed, inspectors said. Further search of the vessel will be made tomorrow.

OBITUARY.

Sidney V. Osborn.

Branford, March 12.—Sidney V. Osborn, who represented this town in four sessions of the general assembly, died of pneumonia today. Mr. Osborn was a grain and feed merchant and was known widely in this section. In the legislature he had served on a number of committees, having once been house chairman of that on agriculture, and in the 1921 session on appropriations committee. He was greatly interested in the Branford Battery and through his efforts a new armory was secured for it.

Mr. Osborn was a member of the New Haven Commandery, K. T., and of Lafayette Consistory, A. A. S. R., Masons of Bridgeport.

Girl "Faked" The 114 Temperature

Deceived Medical Profession by Concealing Hot Water Bottle Under Arm.

Escanaba, Mich., March 12.—Escanaba's fever case was declared a hoax today by Harry J. Defnet, the attending physician, today—said that Miss Evelyn Lyons, "the girl with a temperature of 114" deceived the medical profession by means of a hot water bottle.

Dr. Defnet last week gave the Associated Press a signed statement on which he said the temperature readings of 114 were correct.

HOW THE PHYSICIANS DISCOVERED DECEPTION

Chicago, March 12.—Dr. Morris Fishbein of the American Medical Association, and Dr. R. T. Woodyat, of the Presbyterian hospital here, who returned today from Escanaba after an investigation of the case, declared the high temperature recorded in the case of Miss Evelyn Lyons, of Escanaba, has been "faked" by a small hot water bottle concealed under the patient's arm.

The girl according to Dr. Fishbein, was formerly a nurse and was familiar with temperature readings. She would remove the thermometer from her mouth during tests and wave it about, he said, simulating hysteria and touch the water bottle with it, causing the mercury to shoot to the top of the tube.

"We found this to be another case of 'hysteria' and much enjoyment in reading reports in newspapers of her own case," said Dr. Fishbein.

"While supposedly making one test of her temperature to fool her, we made another test to check and found the second to show normal temperature. Upon taking another test under her arm we again found a normal temperature. Then we found the water bottle."

"Not only Dr. Defnet, the attending physician, but others called into consultation, were completely fooled."

Before the discovery of the hot water bottle, disclosed by Dr. Defnet and Dr. Snyder, the latter was deceived as Dr. Defnet had been, a statement which he wrote on Saturday as a result of an investigation started by the Escanaba Daily Mirror and the Associated Press revealed.

ASKED TO BASE VERDICT ON EVIDENCE, NOT SEX

Mineola, N. Y., March 13.—A jury, asked by the state to return a verdict based on evidence, not sex, was picked today to try Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Wells, on a charge of second degree murder, in connection with the shooting of James B. Pettit, at the Massapequa inn, of which he was proprietor, two months ago.

Counsel for Mrs. Wells, including former Assistant District Attorney Helen P. McCormick of Kings county, asked talesmen whether they would be prejudiced because Mrs. Wells was living with Pettit, although not married to him. None of the jurors said the pair's domestic arrangements would influence their judgment.

Talesmen also were asked whether they would fear criticism if they acquitted the defendant, should anyone accuse them of sparing her because of her sex. Two women—Mrs. Lillian S. Raizen and Mrs. Paulette Saludes—within the last few weeks were found guilty in New York of second degree murder after going to trial on first.

The history of the Wells case, briefly, is: Mrs. Wells went to live at the Massapequia inn with Pettit on June 25, 1921. Pettit, a crack shot and ardent outdoor sportsman had separated from his wife, Mrs. Madge Pettit, who lived in East Orange, N. J., but contributed to her support.

On the night of Jan. 7, Mrs. Wells ran to the home of a neighbor and said something had happened to Pettit. Investigation revealed him dead in his room, shot through the heart. Mrs. Wells said Pettit had threatened to kill her and she fled. She contended that he shot himself after her departure.

DRUGS VALUED AT $19,000 SEIZED IN WASHINGTON

Washington, March 12.—Counsel for four members of the Edwards Trading Company, Inc., arrested today after police had seized thousands of dollars worth of cocaine, opium and heroin in a raid on their premises, told United States Commissioner MacDonald all of the material seized had been "purchased at public or private government sales."

He admitted the defendants "may have slipped up" in getting the required permit to sell narcotics, although their business was legitimate.

The four members of the firm were held under bonds ranging from $3,000 to $10,000 on charges of conspiring to defraud the government and with violation of the Harrison narcotic law.

The total value of the confiscated drugs was placed at $19,000.

TRAFFIC TIE-UPS IN RUSH HOUR IN NEW YORK

New York, March 12—Four different traffic tieups delayed thousands of subway travelers during the homegoing rush hour tonight. Police reserves were called to restore order and to prevent injury to women and girls caught in the pushing, shoving, whirl of persons trying to clamber aboard trains.

A short circuit on a Brooklyn line caused the first tie up and a rush of passengers for trains at Brooklyn bridge caused another delay. A broken shoe-brake on the Interborough line at Fourteenth Street caused a tieup of ten minutes, and damage to signal lights at Bowling Green halted trains for seven minutes.

ABUSES INFLICTED ON AN INSANE PATIENT

Boston, March 12—Abuses inflicted on John M. Weeks, of Cambridge, an insane patient at the Westboro State Hospital, who died in the institution March 15, 1920, after being mistreated by two attendants who later were convicted of manslaughter, were recited to the legislative committee on ways and means today during the hearing on a bill to recompense the parents of Weeks.

Weeks' parents testified that their son had been strangled with a towel until he became unconscious and that the "water cure" was administered by attendants until he became so weakened that he died.

ALLIES TO EVACUATE WHEN GERMANY BEGINS PAYMENTS

Declaration Made After a Conference of Premiers Poincare and Theunis—French and Belgians Agree on Measures of Repression and Penalties in Case Fresh Attacks Are Made Upon the Troops of Occupation—The Two Governments Have Decided Not to Accept German Promises and to Evacuate Only in a Gradual Way.

Brussels, March 12 (By the A. P.)—By declaring this afternoon that they are ready, when Germany begins payment, to evacuate the Ruhr and the territory recently occupied on the right bank of the Rhine, the French and Belgians believe they have dealt a big blow to German propaganda, entirely contraverting the German statement that they were actuated purely by political motives in occupying the district.

The formal declaration, given out in the form of a communique following today's conference of Premiers Poincare and Theunis, began by saying that the representatives of the two governments were meeting to discuss current questions concerning the Ruhr and the recently occupied territory on the right bank of the Rhine. The conference had taken the necessary measures to expedite deliveries of coal and coke to France and Belgium and the program agreed upon would be executed progressively in accordance with directions prepared by the two governments.

Questions referring to the administration of the railroads have been settled, the communique announced, and measures of repression and penalties in case of fresh attacks upon the troops of occupation had been mutually agreed upon, as had the rules for the export and import licenses.

After setting forth the decision of the two governments not to accept German promises and to evacuate only in a gradual way, following Germany's execution of her reparations obligations, the communique concludes:

"The two governments are resolved not to quit these territories without obtaining from the German government assurances against any penalties being inflicted upon Germans who have collaborated with the allied authorities.'

It was noted in some quarters that no mention was made of the Rhineland in the statement.

As regards the evacuation, it is pointed out that the same principle is applied as when the Germans evacuated French territory after the franco-Prussian war, the troop withdrawal being carried out progressively as the French paid the indemnity. The Franco-Belgians say: "What we want now from Germany is action, not promises."

With this political side of the conference settled, the rest of the meeting was devoted to the immediate aspect of the situation, especially to obtaining coal for Belgium and coke for France from the Ruhr. Stipulations were made that any German workmen helping to load coal at the mines would not be allowed to become the objects of German reprisals when the Ruhr is evacuated.

At the present time there are being sent into the Ruhr several thousand foreign workmen for use in case Germans cannot be found to perform the task of loading coal. More than 3,000 of these workmen are said to have arrived in the district already, among them Poles and Italians.

RUHR MINING MAGNATES DESIRE TO NEGOTIATE

London, March 13.—The Duesseldorf correspondent of The Daily Mail says that the desire of the Ruhr iron and coal magnates to negotiate with the French was voiced with significant emphasis today by Fritz Thyssen in the course of an interview.

"I understand," says the correspondent, "that Herr Thyssen approached the government several weeks ago with a proposal for negotiations based on a foreign loan the third of which would be handed over to France. Chancellor Cuno refused to consider it.

"Herr Thyssen still believes that a foreign loan would be the most satisfactory method of meeting the French demands. Admitting that Germany must pay, he suggested the appointment of a commission to decide the total liabilities and to arrange for the flotation of a loan, either in Great Britain or America, with the German export trade as a guarantee.

"France could hold the left bank of the Rhine as a pledge, quitting the Ruhr and leaving the Germans free to fulfill their obligations."

MEMBER OF REICHSTAG PLACED UNDER ARREST

Berlin, March 12.—(By The A. P.)—The French authorities in the Ruhr have arrested Fraulein Maria Luders, a member of the reichstag, at Hagendecke, near Hagen. A communication received from Fraulein Luders complains of the treatment to which she has been subjected.

W. Z. FOSTER ON TRIAL FOR ADVOCATING CRIME

St. Joseph, Mich., March 12.—(By the A. P.)—William Z. Foster, of Chicago, was placed on trial in circuit court here today charged with assembling with an organization "to teach and advocate the doctrines of criminal syndicalism."

Three other charges of the indictment, accusing Foster of advocating crime and violence, have been dismissed by the court. Conviction carries a penalty of 10 years in prison, a $5,000 fine or both.

Selection of a jury for the case, which grows out of a raid on the communist convention held secretly in the isolated sand dune country 20 miles south of St. Joseph last August, may be completed by tomorrow night.

Prosecutor Charles W. Gore, of Berrien county, tendered a panel of 9 men and 3 women to Frank P. Walsh of New York and Washington, chief of counsel for the defense, within two hours after court opened. Mr. Walsh's examination of the veniremen proceeded cautiously, when court adjourned tonight he had challenged two for cause, both maintaining they held fixed opinions.

The examination by both state and defense covered a wide range of questions from local politics to international affairs. The state questioned the prospective jurors particularly as to whether they had read propaganda for the defense, mailed to voters throughout the country during the last few days by the American Civil Liberties Union, of New York. Although 15,000 letters were said to have been mailed to as many voters here only one of the panel called for jury duty recalled having seen the pamphlets.

Eight of the ten defendants who surrendered Saturday, including Rose Pastor Stokes, Edgar Owens, Max Bedacht, Robert Minor and Ella Bloor, have not yet arranged to give the $1,000 bonds required. In the meantime they are at liberty on their own recognizance.

NICOLA SACCO WEAKENS FROM HUNGER STRIKE

Dedham, Mass., March 12.—Nicola Sacco, awaiting court action with Bartolomeo Vanzetti on appeals of their counsel from their conviction for the murder of a paymaster and his guard at South Graintree in 1921, tonight ended the 26th day of a hunger strike begun in protest at the law's delays. Jail attendants said Sacco was visibly weaker today.

With nothing to sustain his strength but a gallon of water daily Sacco has taken to bed to conserve his waning powers, it was reported at the Norfolk county jail tonight he can walk, but prefers to rest on his cot most of the time.

The prisoner's wife called at the jail this afternoon and spent two hours in van efforts to induce Sacco to take food. He persisted in his determination to fast until the court rules on his case.

Motions for a new trial for Sacco and Vanzetti will be heard on Friday.

CHURCH AND STATE IN ITALY IN HARMONY

Rome, March 12.—Signor Cremonesi, in has new capacity as royal commissioner of the municipality of Rome, today visited Cardinl Pompili, vicar of Rome. This almost unprecedented event is considered as of great significance in its bearing upon the relations in Italy between the church and the state.

REGULATIONS BY FEDERAL FARM LOAN BOARD

Washington, March 13.—The federal farm loan board, charged with administration of the new government financed intermediate credit banks, completed today the regulations which are to serve as the guide for the system's operation, in aid of the farmer.

The sixty million dollars capital, authorized by the law creating the new banks, automatically has been accredited to the farm loan board by the treasury and indications were given, following a conference today between Commissioner Lobdell of the board and Secretary Mellon, that a million dollars will be turned over to each of the twelve banks immediately upon the issuing of charters.

Additional funds, up to the aggregate of sixty millions, will be supplied as needs arise.

A construction of the law's provisions, made public by the Commissioner said:

"Direct loans cannot be made to individuals. Direct advances may be made to cooperative marketing associations or livestock associations secured by warehouse receipts for staple agricultural products or by chattel mortgage on livestock.

"No such loan may exceed 75 per cent of the market value of the agricultural product or livestock.

"Loans may be rediscounted for national and state banks, savings banks, trust companies, agricultural credit corporations and incorporated livestock loan companies.

"No paper can be rediscounted upon which the borrower has been charged a rate more than one and one-half per cent. in excess of the discount rate of the intermediate credit bank of the district.

"In making advances on warehouse receipts, the credit banks can accept only receipts from bonded government warehouses or satisfactorily bonded warehouses operating under satisfactory state supervision and regulation. This should lead to broader interest and greater activity in the development of warehouse facilities and proper regulation.

"No loans will be made for a longer period than nine months, until the system is thoroughly tried out."

SPARK FROM A TORCH CAUSED $250,000 FIRE LOSS

Pittsburgh, March 12.—A spark from a torch used by a structural worker late today caused a fire which, fanned by a fifty-two mile-an-hour gale, swept through the plant of the Federal Enameling and Stamping Company, at McKees Rocks, a suburb, leaped across an alleyway destroying many small homes and seriously damaging the plant of the W. L. Singer Ice Company. Twenty-three girls, working in the enameling shops when the fire broke out, were rescued by firemen. A check of employes after the fire was brought under control showed three girls missing, but authorities believed they would be located later.

The loss was estimated at $250,000.

VON BEHR CLEARED OF CHARGE OF ASSASSINATION

Stockholm, March 12.—Hans Henning Von Behr, arrested here late last month on the allegation that he was concerned in the assassination of Dr. Walter Rathenau, the German foreign minister, has been cleared of the charge after an investigation by the authorities.

WILLIMANTIC

NORWICH BULLETIN.

In the city court Monday morning Anthony Latusek of No. 5 Milk Street was found guilty of having in his possession liquor with intent to sell and also with selling a qts. Latusek was fined $50 and costs in each case, amounting to $186.23 which he paid.

The case was one continued from Saturday of last week when the accused pleaded not guilty to the charges.

Lieutenant Allan MacArthur testified that following complaints against Latusek, a search warrant was made out and in subsequent raid disclosed two quart jars filled, a decanter and a bottle partly filled with moonshine.

Jan Utkievics testified for the state that on several occasions he had bought liquor from Latusek and he identified a decanter as one he had seen at the house. He said the drinks cost him twenty cents.

Latusek said that his wife had been operated upon two weeks ago and that he had purchased alcohol to use in bathing her, buying it from a man whom he did not know. He did not intend to sell the stuff, but one time a man came for some and left some money.

Judge Foss then imposed the fine.

Mrs. Marie Chappell, the oldest person in New England and probably the oldest in the entire country, celebrated her 108th birthday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank B. West on County street, Luthers Corners, Scotland, Mass., Sunday.

The elderly lady received a number of her relatives and friends informally. Among the guests was her son, Herbert R. Chappell, ex-mayor of this city, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Chappell went by train to Scotland and as is his custom he presented his mother a bouquet of carnations, one representing each year of her life and one extra, forming a floral piece of 109 flowers.

Despite her advanced age Mrs. Chappell walks about the lower part of the house without assistance. Mr. Chappell stated that the only change which he found in his mother as compared with last year, was that her hearing and eyesight had become a little weaker. Her mind is strong and vigorous and she keeps well posted on the current events of the day.

Sunday was an exceptionally fine day in Scotland and a large number of the residents of that place called on Mrs. Chappell to wish happiness and continued good health. Mrs. Chappell expressed herself as greatly pleased when a dozen children between the ages of 7 and 10 (one century younger than herself) called at the house to wish "Grandma Chappell" all the good things and to shake hands with her. Mrs. Chappell was the recipient of a shower of cards and gifts.

Mrs. Chappell was born in Rehoboth near Swansea, Mass., March 11, 1814, the daughter of Eliphet and Mary (Chase) Horton. She married Ralph Chappell in Providence in 1847. He died in South Windham, 1883, and his body lies in the Windham Center cemetery.

Mr. Chappell was a building contractor by occupation. Their son, Herbert R. Chappell, was born in Providence on December 27, 1850 and he was fourteen months old when the family moved to South Windham in February 1865.

Mr. Chappell was a building contractor in partnership with the late Dwight E. Potter and most of the pretentious buildings erected in Willimantic and surrounding territory from 1859 to 1880 were erected under his supervision.

Mrs. Chappell continued to live in South Windham after her husband's death, in 1888 she located with her daughter, A. Frances, who married Frank B. West in Rhode Island. Until Mrs. Chappell reached the century mark, she often made trips to visit her son in this city.

The Willimantic Ministers Union meeting held Monday forenoon in the Congregational Church House was attended by fourteen clergymen. The meeting was called to order at 10:30 o'clock by Rev. John Pearce, pastor of the local Methodist church. A short business session was held. Rev. David H. Overton, pastor of the A. M. E. Zion church, explained the plan of a campaign to reduce the mortgage of his church on Spring street and asked for the moral support of the union.

Rev. Harry S. McCready, pastor of the local Congregational church delivered an address on "The Church and Literature" and Rev. William G. Thayer of Hartford, director of Religious Education of the Connecticut Baptist Convention spoke on the work that had been done for the past year and outlined the plans for the future. A delegation of young women of the church served a fine dinner at one o'clock.

The ministers present included: Revs. William G. Thayer of Hartford, John H. Knott of Chaplin, A. Avery Gates of Hampton, William Wollworth of Liberty Hill, William Brown of Windham, F. W. Kline of Mansfield Depot, Rev. Charles G. Johnson of South Coventry, T. Newton Owen of Columbia, Arthur W. Clifford of Windham Center, John Pearce, David H. Overton, W. C. Norris, F. F. Foshay and Harry S. McCready fo this city.

Joseph Vegiard, died at his home, 95 Mansfield Avenue Sunday night after a brief illness. He was 60 years old. The deceased was born in Marieville, Canada, the son of Treffle and Marie (Mercier) Vegiard. He was a member of St. Mary's parish and also a member of the League of Sacred Heart, Conseil Florimond, No. 74, Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amerique, St. Jean Baptiste Society and the Association of the Holy Cross. He had made his home in this city for the past fifty years and was employed by the Smith and Winchester Company of South Windham. The deceased leaves seven children, Miss Olivine Vegiard, and Mrs. Cyril Houle of this city, Mrs. Henry Mongeau of Saylesville, R. I., Mrs. William Bosse and Mrs. Arthur Bosse and Joseph A., and Louis C. Vegiard of this city; two brothers, Treffle of this city and Henry of Saylesville, R. I., one sister, Mrs. Honorie Lafleur of Montreal and nine grandchildren.

Pierre Chasse died late Sunday night at St. Joseph's Hospital. The deceased had been ill for the past three weeks. He was born in Southbridge, Mass., September 16, 1864, the son of Cyrien and Phelomene (Lamotte) Chasse.

The Huteau-Bosse Corp., prepared the body for burial and it was taken to the late home at 23 Carey street. The deceased was a devoted member of St. Mary's parish and had been a resident of this city for the past 34 years. Up to the time of his illness he was employed in the spooling department of the American Thread Company and previously worked at the Windham Silk Company's plant.

He was a member of the Foresters of America, the Loyal Order of Moose and a member of the B. P. O. E. band in which organization he was very popular. The deceased is survived by eight children, Mrs. H. Roy and Mrs. Jeannette Caisse of Central Falls, R. I., Mrs. Raymond Herrick, Mrs. Daniel Shearer and Alice and Alma Chasse of this city; Gerome Chasse of Buffalo, N. Y., and Arthur of New Jersey; two brothers, Victor and Joseph of this city; one sister, Mrs. Delia Moran of Jewett City and seven grandchildren.

The funeral services for Mrs. Bridget Dougherty Connelly were held on Monday morning from the home of her daughter, Mrs. David P. Ahern of 185 High street and were followed by a requiem high mass at nine o'clock at St. Joseph's church. Rev. John E. Clark officiated. Special music was rendered by the church choir with Miss Edward R. Portelance presiding at the organ.

Rev. Father Clark conducted a committal service at the receiving vault in St. Joseph's cemetery where the body was placed. The bearers were: James S. Donohue, James E. Twomey, Daniel Grady, James McGlone, John O'Rourke and John Fitzgerald. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Killourey Brothers.

Mrs. Cecile Carpenter Hall died early Monday morning at St. Joseph's Hospital. The deceased was born in Stafford, March 10, 1886, the daughter of Charles and Rose (Desaubey) Carpenter. She leaves her parents, her husband, Arthur W. Hall; and infant daughter and four brothers, Henry, Leon, Harry and Andrew Carpenter of this city. The remains were removed to the late home on Bricktop Road.

Mrs. Anna Pedro, aged 50, died early Monday morning in St. Joseph's Hospital. Shea leaves her husband, John Pedro, nine children, Anna, Catherine, Hannah, Susan, Helen, Pauline, John Andrew and Peter. The body was convey to the late home in North Coventry from where the funeral will be held.

Joseph the infant son of Joseph and Anna (Grcyzian) Masth died Saturday night at the home of his parents, 123 Quarry street. The funeral was held from the late home at three o'clock Monday afternoon. The remains were placed in the receiving vault in St. Joseph's cemetery. Killourey Brothers were in charge of the arrangements.

The funeral of Mrs. Lydia C. Manning was held from the home of Mrs. Nathaniel Manning in Lebanon Monday morning at eleven o'clock. Rev. Mr. Foster officiated. Burial was in the Lebanon cemetery. Avery and Wattendorf successors to Jay M. Shepard were in charge of the funeral arrangements.

A tax rate of 27 1-2 mills was levied on the 1922 grand list at a special town meeting of the town of Mansfield held at the hall in Spring Hill. The rate last year was 25 mills. Archibald W. Buchanan, was chosen as moderator. It was explained that the budget expenses for the town would be $37,000, which is an increase over last year and that the 25 mill tax would not raise the necessary amount. With very little opposition, the 27 1-2 mill tax rate was voted upon. That rate will raise a little over $40,000 and the balance will be applied to the town indebtedness which is now $49,000. The debt was reduced $4,000 last year.

The annual country fair of Willimantic Lodge, No. 13, B. P. O. E., will be held the latter part of August this year and promises to make history for the local lodge. There will be eight automobiles given away at the closing of the fair which as usual will be held at Ell's Park on Pleasant street.

A special meeting of the members of St. Paul's Episcopal Church will be held Wednesday night at the church for the purpose of selecting a rector to fill the vacancy caused by the removal of Rev. Walter F. Borchert to Edgewood, R. I., March 1st. The committee has one candidate in view and his name will be presented to the congregation. He has preached at the local church on several occasions and it is understood he would consider a call from the local church.

Sunday morning a telegram was received that Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Dewar were spending their honeymoon at Albany, N. Y., Mrs. Dewar was Miss Sue D. Beebe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Beebe of Lewiston avenue.

Wilbert C. Ruby of Willington has purchased the General Orrin Holt place in East Willington, sold by their heirs to Mrs. Angeline Baldwin now of Warrington. The place includes a fine farm in the Fenton River Valley and a large dwelling with elaborate Corinthian columns famous a few years ago. The vice-president of the United States was a guest there when Gen. Holt was in Congress.

The past few days have been busy ones for Deputy Income Tax Collector Leon T. Wilson of Putnam and Ernest Gates of New London who are on duty at the selectmen's room in the town building. Saturday they met over five hundred people and assisted them in making out their returns. A large number were also on hand Monday despite the inclement weather.

Mrs. George A. Bartlett was in New York Monday.

Rev. and Mrs. F. F. Foshay are entertaining Mrs. Foshay's mother, Mrs. Whitman of Marlborough, Mass.

THEATRE JANITOR FINES FOR NOT HEATING BUILDING

Willimantic, March 12—"I'll go to jail and rot there before I pay a fine for that charge", exclaimed Ike Rosen, in police court Monday morning when Judge Foss fined him $50 and costs after convicting evidence had been introduced against him as agent and janitor of the Strand Theatre building in that he had failed to sufficiently heat the building in accordance with the statute requirement of 68 degrees above zero, on various dates between February 4 to 11. The case is one which was continued from February 21 to Monday morning.

When court adjourned Monday, Rosen was asked if he had his case prepared or had engaged counsel. He replied that he did not know that the case was to come up on Monday and that he had done no wrong. Judge Foss explained that the court did not desire any arguments.

Louis J. Coriarty, lessee of the theatre, was the complainant. He stated that he leased the building on March 30, 1922; and that it was not properly heated during October. At that time action was brought against Rosen but the case was nolled when it was learned that the property had been turned over to one of his sons.

Coriarty complained that the building was poorly heated from February 6 to 21 and that patrons were forced to leave during performances on account of the cold especially during the afternoons when the temperature readings were from 46 to 53 degrees. There are seven radiators in the building, four on the lower floor and two in the balcony and one in the lobby.

Mr. Coriarty stated that the lease called for the heating of the theatre by the owner.

John Shannahan was called to the witness stand and stated that he had attended several show at the theatre, mostly in the afternoon and he found it very cold and the thermometer often read as low as 53 degrees. On a number of occasions he stood up against the radiator to keep warm.

Officer Lariviere testified that one night he was called into the theatre about nine o'clock and the thermometer read 54 degrees.

Officer Nicholas Orlando, G. Raymond Young, violinist at the theatre, and Leroy Webster, pianist, in turn testified to the low temperature which has been prevalent at the theatre.

Prosecuting Attorney Harvey announced that there were a number of other witnesses for the state but he believed that the evidence already heard was sufficient.

Rosen's total assessment totalled $61.75 .Although several of his friends pleaded with him to settle, he refused to pay and was taken to the county jail.

WILLIMANTIC POLICE CHIEF GETS SALARY INCREASE

(Special to the Bulletin)

The regular monthly meeting of the board of aldermen was held Monday night in the council chamber with a full attendance. The meeting was called to order at 8.15 by Mayor Charles A. Gates. The monthly report of the chief of police, Daniel J. Killourey, was read and showed a total of 15 arrests and 155 complaints. The report of the street department showed a total expenditure of $1,498.74. Both reports were accepted as read.

A communication was read from Harold H. Hutchins who claimed damages sustained by his wife, Alice J. Hutchins when she slipped and fell on a slippery sidewalk. The matter was referred to the claims committee. The board voted to accept the resignation of W. H. Nichols as a member of engine company No. 1.

A Hartford salesman appeared before the board and explained a safety device for gas meters. The device or similar ones is being installde in practically every city. It stops the flow of gas in case of fire.

The application of Roy Cables of Prospect street for appointment as a call member of Engine Co. No. 1 was accepted and Mr. Cable was appointed.

It was resolved to authorize the mayor to borrow from time to time the sum of $10,000 to defray the current expenses of the city. The resolution was introduced by Alderman Sullivan.

A resolution introduced by Alderman Jackson was read by which the city approves of the bill providing for an increase of salaries for the police court officials. By a vote the resolution was rejected but it was voted to reconsider it and Frank H. Foss, judge of the police court was called upon for remarks.

Judge Foss explained that he was not present at the meeting in regard to the resolution in question but that he realized that Willimantic paid a very small salary to police officials as compared with many cities of smaller population. He did not, however, wish to plead for an increase. Upon taking a second vote the resolution was approved.

A resolution introduced by Alderman Jackson and adopted increases weekly salary of the chief of police to $40. Alderman Jackson introduced another resolution which was adopted whereby the fire committee will investigate the matter of installing suitable gas safety devices in gas meters of the city and the committee will confer with the Rockville-Willimantic Lighting company in regard to the matter.

A resolution introduced by Alderman Jacobs was adopted, which authorizes the street committee to purchase the necessary amount of road oil for repairing the city streets. Another resolution introduced by Alderman Jackson was adopted authorizing the fire committee to procure the assistance of the city engineer in drawing up the building code for the fire districts.

It was voted to authorize the chairman of the water committee to purchase such water pipes deemed necessary.

Alderman Jackson introduced a resolution whereby the light committee would make a tour of the city to assess the installation of city lights where deemed advisable. The resolution was adopted.

Mayor Charles A. Gates expressed his thanks to the board of aldermen for their sympathy expressed in beautiful floral tributes upon the death of his father, Theodore Gates.

The meeting was adjourned at 9.35.

CHESTNUT HILL

Miss Bertha Gates and Miss Ruth Bolton of Worcester were guests of the former's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Chappell, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Kilbourne of Willimantic spent the week end with Mrs. Anna James.

Mrs. Frank Tufts of Willimantic recently visited her aunt, Mrs. C. H. Tate.

Gurdon T. Chappell is ill with grip.

Mr. Libby, the new school supervisor in Lebanon, was visiting the schools in the northern section of the town the first of the week.

R. H. Reynolds, a former station agent here, now stationed at East Wallingford, called on friends here last Sunday.

An obligation of any sort is a mortgage on your time.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean white ointment made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts. Seldom fails to deliver results. 35c and 65c, jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.

Better than a mustard plaster

TODAY'S EVENTS

One hundred years ago today, died Saint Vincent, the great British admiral.

One hundred and twenty-five years ago today the first service was held in Trinity church, New York.

Fifth Ohio Regiment of Toledo marked its seventy-fifth birthday today, having been organized on this date in 1848.

Dr. William Fairfield Warren, eminent theologian and first president of Boston university, celebrates his 86th birthday today.

The thirteenth annual convention of the Southern Cattlemen's association opens today at Roanoke, Va., and will continue for three days.

At the annual town meetings in New Hampshire today the voters will pass upon a proposed amendment to the state constitution designed to facilitate tax reform legislation.

Corrections Opening Today

Boston, Mass.—New England Motion Picture Theatre Owners.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Lotus Male Quartette and Reader Last of Y. M. C. A. Course, Wednesday, March 14th.

Again and again the local Young Men's Christian Association has experimented with male quartettes, but never has any given such universal satisfaction as has the famous Lotus Quartet of Boston. For many years the personnel has remained the same, and with constant work together in concert, lyric and churches, this combination had justly earned the title, "A wonderful quartette."

The quartette is made up as follows: Robert Martin, first tenor; William Hicks, second tenor; Nelson Raymond, baritone and Frank Cannell, bass. Their program this season is new and is bound to enthuse and delight the large audience that will doubtless hear them on this occasion, Wednesday, March 14th, at the Y. M. C. A.

They bring with them for this concert, Miss Blanche Robinson, who they consider a great reader. Tickets 75 cents at Y. M. C. A.

Following is the program for March 14th.

Onward ..... by Gobel
Lotus Quartette
Half Hour in the Bands ..... Hanson
Blanche Robinson
The Road to Mandalay ..... (Kipling)
Nelson Raymond
Night ..... Kiss
Morning
Lotus Quartette
Poems ..... By Blanche Robinson
Up From Somerset ..... Lansdown
Frank Cannell
A Calm Summer Night ..... Gobel
Lotus Quartette
The Proposal
Blanche Robinson
The Blind Fiddler ..... Thomas
La donna Mobile ..... Verdi
William Hicks
The Old Rugged Cross ..... Arranged
Lotus Quartette

Mr. Frederick Lester will accompany on the piano.

Clifford, the Hypnotist, Coming to Broadway Thursday

Vaudeville's most wonderful act, Prof. J. J. Clifford, internationally known as the poet of hypnotism, has been engaged for the headline attraction the last half of this week at the Broadway theatre.

During his stay here Prof. Clifford will give three public demonstrations in the window of Schwartz Furniture store, the Thursday afternoon he will induce into hypnotic slumber a pretty young woman. He will do this in the store window, in full view of the crowds outside and promises that the subject will remain inert for several hours. In time for the evening performance she will be carried to the Broadway theatre and awakened by Prof. Clifford in full view of the audience.

Prof. Clifford maintains that concentration is not essential to a hypnotist and guarantees to put any subject to sleep effectually who will appear on the stage with him. This is a challenge to skeptics.

There will also be four other star Keith acts and a photoplay feature starring Dorothy Dalton in Dust Secrets.

Java Head Pleases All at the Strand

A picture that is 100 per cent. entertainment was presented at the Strand for the first time yesterday to immensely pleased audiences and many favorable comments were passed. The picture is Java Head.

Java Head is a George Melford-Paramount special with a great cast of stars, including Leatrice Joy, Theodore Logan, Raymond Hatton, George Fawcett, Albert Roscoe and others.

It has a world wide appeal with action that carries the characters all around the world in the short space of eight acts.

It is a typically Paramount special being lavishly costumed and furnished with the very latest imported Parisian styles.

Those who have read the story of Java Head in the Saturday Evening Post will surely want to see the picture.

A comedy and news will also be presented.

Broad Theatre

Heart throbs and pleasing pictures of child life are found in the plot of "Who Are My Parents?"—the William Fox production which is the feature at the Broad theatre today and Wednesday.

Written by a new author who prefers to be known as "Mr. X," the picture has proved one of the big hits of the year. The unbroken thread of human interest running through the plot had won it a heart welcome from screen patrons. It was received by the press and public during its New York run with warm commendation.

The picture's vital question is one's right to forbid his daughter to marry the man she loves, is one of the main motives of the story.

J. Searle Dawley directed the picture, which is a big special from every point of view. While thoroughly domestic in its atmosphere, it shows the strongly contrasting atmosphere between the rich and the poor, and the opportunity for elaborate and beautiful settings has not been lost.

Rose Lytton, Florence Billings and Miss Welch are among the leading members of the cast. A new screen star, Percy Haswell, a former "Ziegfeld Follies" beauty, has won new honors by her work in this picture.

"Have you ever served on a jury in a criminal case?" demanded the district attorney.

"No, sir," replied the talesman under examination.

"But my notes show that you served on the jury when Pete Shortsword was tried for murder."

"Yes, sir—but we acquitted him."—American Legion Weekly.

DENTIST
Dr. F. C. Jackson
SPECIALIZING IN PAINLESS EXTRACTING
715 MAIN STREET, WILLIMANTIC

THE HURTEAU AND BOSSE CORP.
HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS
FUNERAL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS.
814 Main Street, Willimantic, Conn. Phone 641-2

JAY M. SHEPARD
Successor to Fillmore & Shepard
Funeral Director & Embalmer
60-62 NORTH ST. WILLIMANTIC
Lady Assistant. Tel. Connection

Killourey Bros.
FUNERAL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS
26 Union St. Willimantic, Conn.
Phone 262 (Lady Assistant)

THE H. C. MURRAY CO.
MURRAY'S BOSTON STORE
WILLIMANTIC, CONN.

The New Spring Frocks Demand A Correct Fitting Corset

Corsets do more than aid fashion's expression in outer garments—they give an abundance of comfort as well.

In the following makes: THOMPSON'S GLOVE-FITTING, W.-B., STYLISH STOUT, YOUTH LINE, NEMO, LA RESISTA, AND TRIO GIRDLE, will be found in all the new Spring modes, in variety to take care of every corset problem.

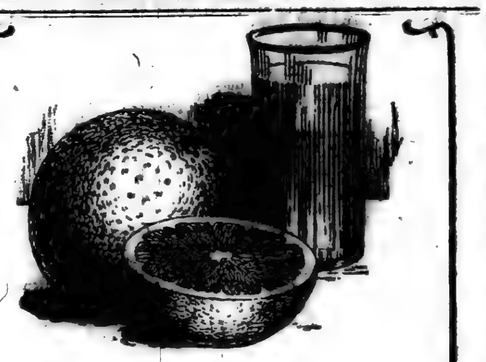
SORE THROAT
Gargle with warm salt water then apply over throat
VICKS VAPORUB
Over 17 Million Jars Used Yearly

Dainty Confidences you'll enjoy

A full sheet of Domino Cane Sugar Products gives you a wonderful opportunity to vary your menus and make them more delightful and different! There are clean, cane sugars of the highest quality for every need: Domino Syrup and Domino Molasses for delicious spreads and for cooking flavors of exceptional quality; Domino Sugar-Honey and Domino Cinnamon and Sugar for spreads and preparing desserts that are especially pleasing.

IMPORTANT—
Every woman will appreciate our Sugar Etiquette Chart and the helpful book of Domino Syrup Recipes. We will gladly send you both of these, together with the interesting "Story of Sugar" and a book of gummed labels for your preserve jars. They are free upon request. Address American Sugar Refining Company, 117 Wall St., New York, N. Y.

American Sugar Refining Company
"Sweeten it with Domino"
Granulated, Tablet, Powdered, Confectioners, Brown; Golden Syrup; Cinnamon and Sugar; Sugar-Honey; Molasses



Heavy with the juice which is rich in vitamines and many other food elements

Sealdsweet Florida Oranges

At your fruit dealers—insist on having Sealdsweet Florida oranges and grapefruit.

For gift copy of new recipe book, address Florida Citrus Exchange, 720 Citrus Exchange Building, Tampa, Florida.

Sealdsweet FLORIDA

To Stop Falling Hair

You can easily clean your head of dandruff, prevent the hair falling out and beautify it, if you use Parisian Sage says Lee & Osgood Co., who guarantees it.

FIRPO KNOCKS OUT BRENNAN IN TWELFTH WITH RIGHT TO HEAD

New York, March 13.—Luis Angel Firpo, giant heavyweight from the Argentine, was a notch nearer a title match with Jack Dempsey tonight by his victory over Bill Brennan, Chicago veteran, whom he knocked out in the twelfth round of a slashing bout at Madison Square Garden.

The South American outgeneraled and outboxed by his more experienced rival for a good share of the contest, brought the bout to a sudden conclusion by an attack of tiger-like fury. Pummeling Brennan about the ring in the final round with a battery of rights and lefts to the head that landed with crushing force, the South American finished the fight with a smashing right to the side of his opponent's head. It was a blow worthy of a Tarzan and Brennan lay inert for several seconds after the count of 10. He had to be helped to his corner.

Firpo's dramatic victory drew forth tumultuous cheering from a throng or more than 12,000 that taxed the garden to capacity. He was surrounded by a group of ardent countrymen who were only prevented by the police from lifting him to their shoulders in triumph.

Firpo's terrific punching ability, especially with his right, was the factor that enabled him to overcome the greater defensive skill and ring generalship of his opponent. Still crude in his footwork and boxing ability, he showed marked improvement over the form he displayed on his previous appearance in this country, and proved that he can take as well as give punishment.

The Argentinian started the fight as though he intended to make it a quick finish, forcing Brennan to the defensive in the first four rounds with an aggressive attack to the head and body. He had Brennan hanging on in both the third and fourth rounds, but in the fifth the veteran came back and turned the tables with a baffling rain of blows.

A bad gash which Brennan opened over his rival's left eye, causing a steady stream of blood, seemed to worry the South American. He lost some of his aggressiveness and in the fifth and sixth rounds was an easy target for Brennan's jotling jars and uppercuts, while the veteran blocked most of Firpo's rushes.

Both slowed up in their pace in the next three rounds, with Brennan landing the most effective blows. The Chicagoan continued his aggressiveness in the tenth and eleventh and although Firpo tried desperately to stem the tide, he was outboxed and outfought at close quarters.

Game and fighting back under the hottest of Brennan's fire, Firpo demonstrated his resourcefulness and remarkable stamina by staging his victorious rally in the twelfth round. The knockout was delivered after two minutes and thirty-seven seconds of fighting in the final session.

The Fight in Detail

Round One—Firpo landed the first blow, a left to the head. They sparred and Brennan blocked several right swings. The South American was the aggressor and pummelled Brennan about the head in a corner. Brennan drove Firpo back with a hard right to the body.

Round Two—Brennan jolted Firpo with a left to the chin but the South American came back with a two-fisted assault that drove Brennan to the ropes. Firpo punished the Chicagoan with hard blows to the head and he crowd in an uproar.

Round Three—Brennan shot in several lefts but drew a series of rights to the head in retaliation. Firpo drove his opponent to the ropes and landed several damaging body blows. The South American was fighting furiously as the bell rang.

Round Four—Brennan halted Firpo's rush with two hard lefts to the head. The Argentinian whipped over a right uppercut that dazed his opponent and followed with several smashes to the head. Firpo unloosed a two-fisted attack, sending Brennan to the ropes.

Round Five — Brennan swapped rights with Firpo at close quarters but was sent back by a right uppercut. The Chicagoan blocked most of Firpo's swings and bothered the South American with a left jab, one of these shots opening a nasty cut over Firpo's left eye.

Round Six — Brennan had Firpo swinging wildly as he opened a fresh flow of blood from the South American's injured eye. Firpo came back with a smashing drive and the two exchanged blows at a terrific pace in close quarters. A left uppercut staggered Firpo.

Round Seven—Firpo took a hard right to the body and a left to the head. The South American landed a right to the jaw but missed most of his swings. They spent most of the round clinching.

Round Eight—Firpo shot in a hard right to the ribs and pummelled Brennan about the head and body as he took the aggressive. Brennan shot in a left jab but drew a stiff body punch in return. Firpo was booed for swinging at his opponent's jaw as they backed from a clinch.

Round Nine—They exchanged rights to the head and Firpo cut loose with a two-fisted attack that rocked Brennan's head from side to side. Brennan smoked a hard right to the jaw and opened a fresh flow of blood from the cut over Firpo's eye with a stiff left.

Round Ten—Brennan forced Firpo back with a jabbing attack to the head. The South American missed two terrific right swings. Brennan took two rights to the body and then shot in a hard wallop to the ribs. Brennan scored with a right uppercut that staggered the South American. At one point in the round Firpo gesticulated in protesting Brennan's apparent butting.

Round Eleven—They opened the round at a fast pace, trading hard blows to the head. Brennan ducked a left hook and dug into Firpo's ribs with his right. Firpo landed his left but took a hard right to the jaw in return.

Round Twelve—Firpo rushed from his corner and landed three smashing rights to the head. Brennan whipped over a right uppercut and shot in a right to the body. He forced the Chicagoan to hang on with two hard rights to the head. As quick to sense his advantage, Firpo turned loose a battery of rights and lefts that sent Brennan staggering to the ropes, unable to clinch. Brennan tried to duck out of his rival's reach but was caught by a right swing to the jaw. The South American leaped in like a tiger and sent Brennan crashing to the floor with another powerful right for the count.

COLDS ARE CONTAGIOUS

Coughs and colds are contagious and require prompt treatment, as they spread or develop into flu and grippe. Take no chances when you can get Foley's Honey and Tar for a few cents and quickly check coughs and colds. The constantly increasing demand for Foley's Honey and Tar, for three generations, has made it the largest selling cough medicine in the world. Contains no opiates—ingredients are printed on the wrapper. Refuse substitutes. Insist upon Foley's. Foley & Co., Chicago.

SWEDISH KING TO PLAY IN NICE TENNIS TOURNEY

Nice, March 12.—(By the A. P.)—King Gustave of Sweden has sent in his entry to the Nice Lawn Tennis club as a participant in the southern France open tennis championships. This is the first time in the history of tennis that a reigning monarch will take active part in the championship play of a tennis tournament.

Incidentally, the identity of the mysterious "Mr. G." which has been puzzling the tennis fans along the Riviera for the past 24 hours is revealed by the announcement that King Gustave is to compete. Tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock the king paired with Mr. Hunter of England, will meet Mr. Twist and Colonel Dunkerley of England in the first round of the men's doubles. The program for this event reads "Mr. G. and Mr. Hunter versus Mr. Twist and Colonel Dunkerley." The Swedish monarch is 64 years old.

King Gustave was up bright and early this morning and appeared at the Tennis club at 11 o'clock and informed "Papa" Langlen, father of Suzanne, who is secretary of the club, that he would be on hand tomorrow to fulfill his engagement.

SIXTEEN COUNTRIES ENTERED IN DAVIS CUP TOURNEY

New York, March 12.—The total number of nations entered for this year's Davis cup contest today reached sixteen, when Argentina's challenge reached the United States Lawn Tennis association. The new total is two more than the record set in 1922. Cable dispatches previously had announced that the South American republic would take part in the international championship play for the first time.

The Argentinians specified their desire to be drawn in the European zone, joining eleven other nations already listed for competition in that area.

The Argentine team will enter the Davis cup contest as champion of South America. Recently it won the Latin-American Olympic games title by defeating Brazil, and later retained possession of the Mitre cup, corresponding on a smaller scale to the Davis trophy, in a series of matches at Buenos Aires in which teams from Chile, Brazil, Paraguay took part.

Chile was defeated in the challenge round.

OXFORD ORDERS SHELL FOR RACE WITH CAMBRIDGE

London, March 12.—(By the A. P.)—Oxford university has sprung a big surprise, according to a published report today, by abandoning the new shell built especially for the annual race with Cambridge and ordering another to be constructed as rapidly as possible.

The abandoned shell had many new features which were expected to be of great advantage and was successfully tested on the small waters of the Henley course, but it was found to be too shallow for use in the tidal waters between Putney and Mortlake, where the Oxford-Cambridge race will be rowed, as it shipped water constantly.

The new shell is expected to be ready Wednesday but, as the race is set for March 24, the crew will not have much time in which to get accustomed to it.

HAUGHTON SIGNS CONTRACT TO COACH COLUMBIA

New York, March 12.—Percy D. Haughton, who, on Saturday accepted an offer to become head football coach at Columbia university, has signed a two-year contract calling for an annual salary of $15,000, according to reliable reports today. Columbia football authorities, in announcing the engagement of the former Harvard mentor, refused to divulge details of the agreement.

Haughton, it was pointed out today, will have absolute control of the gridiron game on Morningside Heights, when he starts preliminary work April 10. No miraculous results are expected this year, but university men are confident that the new coach will lay the foundation of a system that will put the blue and white firmly on the football map in the future.

THE WEEKLY SHOOT OF VOLUNTOWN RIFLE CLUB

The weekly shoot of the Voluntown Rifle club was shot at Kaufman's range on Saturday. George Sheldon made high score for the Edmond medal, 93 out of a possible 100. John Kaufman made high score in the 50 shot match, 494 out of a possible 500. All this shooting was done offhand. The scores:

John Kaufman, 494; George Sheldon, 483; Charles B. Palmer, 483; Joseph Herbert, 480; John D. Hall, 479, Rudolph Magrey, 478; James F. Hall, 476; Fred Stebbins, 472; Walter Benjamin, 450; Gilbert Miner, 448; Jim Hopkins, 446; Ted Dupont, 443; prone, Floyd Magry, 484.

HEAVY SEAS PREVENT SPEED BOAT RACE

Miami, Fla., March 12.—After bucking through rough seas and windy weather all the way from Miami to Key West in the $10,000 power boat race, Gar Wood and A. C. Newby have called off the event and will return to Miami, a message from Key West says. The boats left here at 7 a. m. reached Key West at 1.35 p. m. The Shadow VI, owned by Carl G. Fisher, broke a glass well and was forced out of the race. Marionette, owned by E. B. Boemph of Miami, broke a steering wheel and quit, while Mate of Mine, owned by F. J. Oaius of Racine, Was., could not buck the stiff waves and also quit.

PLAYERS SAY LANDIS SAID BENTON WILL PLAY

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 12.—Cincinnati National league recruits, who arrived at the Reds training camp last night, said Judge K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, told them on a train yesterday, a dispatch from Orlando, Florida, to the Times-Star says today.

Judge Landis is quoted as saying: I'm running the game and Benton is going to play ball."

Judge Landis was on his way to Belleair, Fla.

MLLE. LENGLEN AND MISS RYAN WIN DOUBLES TITLE

Mentone, France, March 12.—(By the A. P.)—Mlle. Susanne Lenglen and Miss Elizabeth Ryan today won the finals in the women's doubles championship from Mrs. Beamish and Mrs. Satterthwaite. The score was 6-2, 6-1.

Miss Ryan also was a victor in the finals of the mixed doubles, in which she has paired with Randolph Lycett of England.

Iowa Wins Pistol Shoot

Boston, March 12.—Iowa state defeated Boston University, in a telegraphic shoot, the result of which was made known here tonight. Iowa scored 1897 points to 1855 by Boston University.

TODAY'S SPORTS

RACING

Meeting of Jefferson Parish Fair Assn., at New Orleans.

Meeting of Cuba-American Jockey club at Havana.

Meeting of Tijuana Jockey club, at Tijuana.

TENNIS

Women's national indoor championship tournament at Boston.

BENCH SHOW

Annual show of Tri-State Kennel club, at Huntington, W. Va.

GOLF

Annual spring tournament at Miami, Fla.

BILLIARDS

Willie Hoppe vs Jake Shaefer, at New York, for 18.2 balkline title.

BASKETBALL

National A. A. U. championship tournament, at Kansas City.

BOWLING

Annual tournament of American Bowling congress, at Milwaukee.

BOXING

Carl Tremaine vs Joe Schwartz, 10 rounds, at Windsor, Ont.

Frankie Murphy vs Nate Siegel, 10 rounds, at Boston.

Frankie Maguire vs Charley Fitzsimmons, 8 rounds, at Harrisburg.

NO UPSETS IN FIRST DAY'S PLAY AT LONGWOOD

Brookline, Mass., March 12.—The first days play in the annual woman's national indoor lawn tennis championship tournament ended without overturns on the Longwood Cricket club's covered courts at Chestnut Hill today.

A surprising development impended when Miss Ceres Baker, the youthful New Jersey player, led Mrs. Frank H. Godfrey of Brookline, three games to two in the third and deciding set of their first round encounter. Mrs. Godfrey, who recently won the Southern Florida single title, and who vanquished Miss Leslie Bancroft at Palm Beach rallied with defeat close at hand and her sharply angled shot in the closing game was superb.

Miss Lillian Scharman of Brooklyn, N. Y., advanced more easily than the other seeded players, losing only two games in as many sets. Miss Bancroft was closely pressed throughout by her Longwood clubmate, Mrs. J. G. Corbiere, while Mrs. B. E. Cole, 2nd., of North Andover, played excellent tennis to defeat Miss Brenda Hedstrom of Buffalo, N. Y.

RAY CONFIDENT HE WILL BREAK OUTDOOR RECORD

Rochester, N. Y., March 12.—A prediction that he will break the world's record for outdoor tracks in the mile run was made by Joie Ray, Chicago's crack distance runner, here this afternoon. Ray stopped over here long enough to break the city record for the mile by making the distance in 4.23 on a twenty-four lap track. He finished fresh, taking things easy all the way. The former record was 4:32:2.

"I would have broken the record last summer," "Chesty" Joie said. "only when I was right the track wasn't. I expect to beat it sometime this summer, possibly at the A. A. U. outdoor championships in Chicago, provided conditions are all right."

Ray left here tonight for Chicago where he plans to compete in several more meets before the indoor season ends.

"I thought I would retire at the end of the indoor season," Ray said, "but I can't get the running game out of my head and I'll be competing again next year."

BIG CROWD EXPECTED AT BARBER-DUGAS MATCH

(Special to The Bulletin)

Danielson, March 12.—There will be a driving of bowling fans on the Casino alleys here Tuesday evening March 13, to see the first of the games to be rolled between Fred Dugas of Taftville and Frank Barber of this place for a side consideration of $200 each. Ten games will be rolled here this evening and ten more at Taftville Thursday evening.

Danielson fans seem as confident that Barber will defeat Dugas as they were that he would win over Fillmore, the Norwich bowler. Barber appears to be in fine form and his admirers here look for him to pile up a good margin in the first set of games scheduled with Dugas. Dugas is very much of an unknown quantity to Danielson fans, but their confidence in Barber is so strong that they are betting that Barber will be returned the winner in the series about to start. This series, incidentally, is of much interest in bowling circles and is sure to attract a large attendance.

GULIAN TO COACH FOOTBALL AT HAVERHILL

Providence, R. I., March 12.—Minese "Mike" Gulian, captain of the 1923 Brown university football team and the favorite of many experts for an All-American position at right tackle last season, announced today that he will accept the contract recently offered him to coach the Haverhill, Mass., High school football team next fall. He will go to Haverhill the last of this week to complete negotiations and sign the contract, which calls for his coaching of the football eleven only.

YALE AND NAVY MERMEN MEET ON SATURDAY

New Haven, March 12.—Final arrangements have been made for the Yale-Navy swimming meet at Annapolis, Saturday night, March 17, it was announced here tonight. The Navy has agreed to bar freshmen swimmers from the team in accordance with a request made by the Yale athletic authorities.

The meet will determine the collegiate championship of the United States, neither Yale or the Navy having been defeated this year.

"KID COTTON EXONERATED ON PISTOL CARRYING CHARGE

New York, March 12.—Sylvester "Kid" Cotton, former Negro heavyweight boxer, was exonerated of violating the Sullivan anti-pistol law at hearing before Magistrate Frothingham today.

Cotton, arrested while settling a dispute with another negro with his fists, charged someone intent on "framing" him had slipped a pistol into his pocket.

Williams Beat Sandow.

Baltimore, March 12.—"Kid" Williams, former bantamweight champion, defeated Sammy Sandow of Cincinnati here tonight after 12 close rounds of fighting. Williams had the advantage in five of the rounds, Sandow in four, and three were even. Sandow was two pounds heavier than his opponent.

Wakefield Beats Dixon.

Cambridge, Mass., March 12.—Clunning Wakefield of Spokane, Wash., defeated William P. Dixon of New York, varsity captain-elect, for the squash racquet championship of Harvard today. Wakefield won three sets to two.

SCHAEFER TAKES FIRST BLOCK FROM HOPPE WINNING 506 TO 2

New York, March 12.—Jake Schaefer, challenger, tonight defeated Willie Hoppe, champion, 506 points to 277, in the first block of their 1,500 point match for the world 18.2 balkline billiard title.

The challenger, in fine fettle took the lead on a 86 count in the first inning, and with two runs, one of 100 in the second and one of 139 in the fifth inning, enjoyed a handicap the champion could not overcome. Hoppe was erratic and never was able to get the feel of the table. He made many brilliant shots, but his inaccurate driving kept him in trouble. Schaefer's mastery of direction and speed made his runs appear easy. He was left spread formations several times, but after cunning driving managed to gather. Neither player engaged a close game, and comparatively few counts were made in free territory.

The summary:

Schaefer—86, 100, 0, 4, 139, 0, 1, 68, 1, 26, 75, 20.

Hoppe—25, 20, 1, 0, 44, 0, 1, 84, 0, 43, 1, 38.

Totals: Schaefer 506, Hoppe 277.

High runs: Schaefer 100, 139. Hoppe 84, 44.

Average: Schaefer 41 8-12. Hoppe 23 1-12.

Harvard Oarsmen in First Row.

Cambridge, Mass., March 12.—Harvard oarsmen had their first practice of the season on the water when the first and second eights rowed two miles, in half mile stretches, over the Fort Point channel in South Boston today.

Crews three and four continued training on the rowing machines.

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

Those half-line boxing decisions in New York of late have made rough going for the champions.

Soldier Bartfield, the veteran middle-weight, will test George Ward of Elizabeth, at Brooklyn Thursday night.

In the same show Kid Norfolk, one of Leo Flynn's dusky meal tickets, will take on the Jamaica kid.

Frankie Mack of Hartford has been re-matched with Terry McHugh at Buffalo, March 26.

Spencer Gardner, the Newport bantam, is having a great season in New York city. He is fast and clever.

John Kneusel, champion of Switzerland, has arrived in this country. He is a lightweight and has 30 consecutive victories to his credit.

Joe Lynch will not box in Chicago Monday, but will meet Joe Burnam the 19th in the Windy City. Eddie Meade, his manager, says Joe needs a rest.

It seldom happens that a big league player of the calibre of "Stuffy" McInnis becomes a free agent.

"Ferny" Reid of the Yale hockey team is another athlete who wears spectacles while engaged in competition.

The Willie Hoppe-Jake Schaefer championship contest has aroused greater interest than any other billiard match in many a day.

Young Marcel, it is said, will take a good vacation before he re-enters the ring. Fear of permanent blindness is said to be the reason.

Mickey Brown who recently returned from Australia, has been matched with Young Manty in New Bedford for March 26.

In the Boston "selling-player" race George W. Grant finally beat out Harry Frazee by disposing of the entire Braves outfit at one swoop.

Pancho Villa, the Filipino boxer, is not so anxious to return to Manila now that he has lost the flyweight title to Frankie Genaro.

Manager McGraw asserts that the Baltimore club will not be able to collect the $65,000 for Bentley if the latter fails to report to the Giants.

Supporters of Roche are declaring that once he gets his strength back following his pleurisy attack, that he will at once demand that his match with Kaplan be put on.

Some pretty clever golfers are found among the New York Yankees, which team has a larger number of club wielders than any other major league outfit.

John Lucas is anxious to get in as good shape as he was when he met Salvator the last time. Johnny is training hard, acting as partner for Jimmy Cooney.

Mike McTigue may not be a top-notcher, but his coming bout with Battling Siki ought to give the boxing fans a line on Siki's ability as a battler.

The flyweight championship of the world is almost sure to remain in the United States after Jimmy Wilde meets Pancho Villa in New York next June.

Harry Payne Whitney's Enchantment is likely to be a favorite for the forty-ninth Kentucky Derby, which will be run at Churchill Downs on May 19.

Representative athletes of more than twenty colleges of the south will compete in the southern intercollegiate track and field championships at Montgomery in May.

President Clark Griffith believes his Washington team will prove a surprise in the American league this season, even if the experts don't rate the Senators very highly.

Coach Moller of Harvard is training five crews for the college regatta season. Webb, Henry and Brown are the last year's varsity men on the first crew this year.

Fergus Reid, Jr., of Baltimore, center of the Yale hockey team, will lose an eye because of an injury received in last night's game at Princeton.

The Connecticut State trapshooting tournament will be held at Hartford June 8-9.

Sammy Bienfield, a former prominent amateur flyweight, has turned professional and is seeking engagements with New York flyweights. Sammy has compiled a most enviable record in the simon pures, having engaged in over 100 contests, losing but four decisions.

Looks as though Coach Hood of the now famous Passaic high school team did not have all the confidence in his team that the public is led to believe he has. He has refused an invitation to enter the Skeeter schoolboys in the national interscholastic tourney at the University of Chicago, April 4 to 7.

The Northern Massachusetts and New Hampshire State Football Association has approved the innovation of indoor soccer to the extent of permitting teams representing America and Scotland to schedule an international game to be played in the Armory.

The champion stallion, stake for three year old trotters, carrying an estimated value of $10,000, promoted by the American Association of Trotting Horse Breeders, has been awarded to the Forest City Livestock and Fair company to be raced at their second grand circuit meeting of the season at North Randall track.

E. F. Woodward, of Houston, former trapshooting champion of Texas, and joint holder of the world's record on shooting double targets, scored high average on shooting doubles in 1922, raving an average of .9434 on 725 pairs. Mr. Woodward is one of the best double target shots in the world. In 1921 he was second in the averages to Davd Fauskee, of Worthington, Minn., breaking more than 90 per cent.

The recent London covered court championship, won by Maj. J. G. Richie, furnishes another example that tournament tennis is not confined to the young. Maj. Richie is 53 years of age. This record is parallel by Horace Rice of Australia, who at the age of 50, won the Metropolitan championship at Strathsfield open meeting last October. Mr. Rice first won this title 24 years ago and his latest victory was his 11th in the same event.

New York city is fast acquiring a monopoly in the boxing championship business. Champions who either reside in New York or make that city their headquarters include Frankie Genaro, the new flyweight titleholder; Joe Lynch, bantam champion; Benny Leonard, lightweight; Mickey Walker, welterweight; Johnny Wilson, middleweight; Gene Tunney, light heavyweight, and Jack Dempsey, the heavyweight champion.

TAFTVILLE VILLAGE LEAGUE

K. of C.

Gladue	107	98	106—311
Troland	96	89	96—281
Pepin	111	92	87—290
J. White	94	119	90—307
F. White	106	106	115—327
Totals	513	504	494 1576

Blue Birds

Jodoin	104	97	104—305
Fitz	116	102	113—321
Brooks	100	119	100—319
Coleman	100	100	97—297
Edwards	118	98	114—328
Totals	537	578	528—1283

T. S. S.

Wojda	92	110	105—307
Caron, B.	136	108	89—333
Dupuis	85	116	102—303
L. Caron	112	108	120—340
Brown	90	135	104—319
Totals	574	567	520 1601

P. W. C.

O'Brien	98	128	116—322
Landry	123	104	122—349
Archambeault	103	96	74—273
Euerner	121	108	98—327
Enos	107	110	117—333
Totals	552	526	537 1605

Blue Birds

Jodoin	94	127	85—306
Fitz	111	124	115—350
Brooks	94	110	80—284
Coleman	101	117	120—338
Edwards	151	96	109—356
Totals	551	574	509 1634

J. B. Martin

H. Gley	95	80	96—271
L. Flynn	90	125	112—325
R. Pilling	113	99	142—354
F. Gley	101	92	86—279
Armitage	109	90	109—308
Totals	508	484	545 1537

BRATTLEBORO MARKSMEN WIN FROM LOCA CLUB

The Brattleboro Rifle club defeated the Norwich Rifle club in their two stage match which was finished on March 7th.

Palmer of the Norwich club was high man defeating his told team mate Earle A. Barnard of the Brattleboro Rifle club. Both of these men were members of the famous rifle team of the Connecticut Agricultural college in 1914. With the exception of the Quinnipiac Rifle club of New Haven, the Brattleboro club is the best in New England

Following are the scbres:

Norwich Rifle Club

	Prone
Charles B. Palmer	194
F. W. Holmes	194
Allyn M. Brand	191
L. A. Stebbins	189
J. A. Bidwell	188
Total	956
	Standing
Charles B. Palmer	193
Sargent	181
Allyn Brand	179
L. A. Stebbins	164
J. A. Bidwell	163
Totals	871

Brattleboro Rifle Club

	Prone
Earle A. Barnard	200
Clarence Bruce	200
F. W. Ryan	200
Allan G. Ellstrom	200
Pearl F. Clapp	199
Roy B. Miner	199
(Tie Score)
Totals	998
	Standing
Earle A. Barnard	180
H. D. Wilbur	177
Pearl F. Clapp	171
John D. Sullivan	170
Clarence Bruce	170
Totals	868

Total score for Brattleboro 1867, defeating Norwic hby 39 points.

Norwich won the offhand match by 3 points, but was completely out-gunned in the prone match.

The next match of the Norwich Rifle club is with the West Bend, Iowa, teams.

Squaw-Flower.

A variety of trillium is called squaw flower. It is also called bath-flower, birth-root and three-leaved nightshade. This dark trillium grows coarse and rank compared to the wake-robins. The blossoms are a dull red, with white stamens. The leaves are much larger than those of the painted trillium, though the general shape is the same—a diamond design.

FIVE BIG BOUTS — 32 FAST ROUNDS

Town Hall, Danielson, Friday Evening, March 16th

Auspices CASINO AMUSEMENT COMPANY

FEATURE BOUT—10 ROUNDS AT 158 POUNDS

HONEY GIL WAGNER, of Hartford vs.

SAILOR ANDRE, of Framingham

SEMI-FINAL—8 ROUNDS AT 138 POUNDS

DICK BELL, OF POUGHKEEPSIE vs.

FRANK STARKIE, OF PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

6 ROUNDS AT 112-114 POUNDS

WILLIE O'DOWD, OF CENTRAL VILLAGE vs.

YOUNG RHODY, OF PASCOAG

4 ROUNDS AT 138 POUNDS

BATTLING DUMAS, OF PUTNAM vs.

OSCAR SUPERNAULT, OF WAUREGAN

4 ROUNDS AT 120 POUNDS

TOMMY WOODS, OF PLAINFIELD vs.

YOUNG BERNIER, OF DANIELSON

GENERAL ADMISSION, $1.20—RINGSIDE, $1.80—TAX PAID

PROVISIONS OF STATE BOXING COMMISSION OBSERVED

MEET YOU AT THE RINGSIDE — THE HOME OF ACTION

ANNOUNCEMENTS

St. Mary's Players in "Kathleen Mavourneen" at Broadway Theatre Wednesday Night

Kathleen Mavourneen, a four act Irish comedy will be presented by St. Mary's players at the Broadway theatre Wednesday evening. The advance sale of tickets has been heavy and without doubt every seat in the house will be taken when the curtain rises up on the first act. The majority of the characters taking part have been identified with St. Mary's players for the past three years and a repetition of last year's success as evidenced in the production of "My Wild Irish Rose" will attend the performance of this year's offering.

The scene of the play is laid in Ireland. Peasant and gentry are entangled in their world old antipathy for each other. Happy moments, sadness and thrills are cleverly intermingled to produce a performance portraying Irish wit, loyalty and lightheartedness that will find a ready response at this time of the year—the birthday of Ireland's patron saint. Not the least feature of the play will be the singing and dancing of the lads and lasses, not to mention the solos that will be rendered by well known soloists from St. Mary's parish.

The cast: Kathleen O'Connor, Mrs. Sheila F. Murphy; Miss Dorothy Kavanagh, Miss Clare L. Coughlin; Kitty O'Lafferty, Miss Molly V. Driscoll; Bernard Kavanagh, James E. Murphy, Terence O'More, Nicholas J. Spellman, Shamus O'Connor, Edward T. Connelly, Father Cassidy, Henry J. La Fontaine, Barney Reynolds, Horace F. Corning, Juller, Timothy J. Driscoll.

Lassies: Katherine Lee, Mae Riley, Julia Gallagher, Mae O'Brien, Retta Gadle, Agnes Bresnahan, Eleanor Donovan, Betty Howarth, Hannah McCarthy, Mae Mitchells.

Lads: Walter La Fontaine, William Riodon, Joseph Portelance, Arthur Portelance, William Carroll, John O'Rourke, Edward Sullivan, Ray Reed, Henry Boyd.

Soloists: Eleanor Donovan, Horace F. Corning, Henry J. La Fontaine, Edward T. Connelly, Sadie A. Driscoll.

Clog dancer: Mae Mitchell.

The proceeds of the play will go towards the new St. Mary's Memorial church. Ample trolley service both to and from the playhouse will be cared for.

MERROW

Mr. and Mrs. Asa Burdick and two sons were recent dinner guests of Mrs. Edgar Williams, Mrs. Ivan Wilcox and Miss Merrow.

Those on the sick list are Mrs. Jennie Millard, Mrs. Paige Wilcox, Mrs. Edgar Williams and Mrs. H. E. Dimock.

Harry Hopkins has taken over the driving of the school team, as Mr. Burdick has resigned.

A few days ago Mrs. Ivan Wilcox gave a birthday surprise party in honor of Mr. Wilcox. About 16, including friends and relatives, were present. Refreshments of coffee, doughnuts and candy were served. Mrs. Wilcox read a poem she wrote which was very interesting. Mr. Wilcox received many useful presents.

Mrs. Clifford Shaw has returned from the Stafford hospital, where she has been a patient.

Mildred Moriarty is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gergler.

Assessor Burdick, who has bought the Phillips farm on Hampton Hill, is moving there this week.

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN NORWICH

With the backbone of winter broken the outlook for a banner year in building lines is very bright and a number of projects whereby property in the heart of the business district will be improved is being considered. During the past week the heavy snow and sleet storm hampered the outside construction work to some degree but the work on the interior continued with marked progress. There was one setback in the building line when the addition for the A. C. Swan Co. at the junction of Main and Cliff streets collapsed under the weight of 15 tons of brick stored on the second floor. The excess weight and weak corner support were the contributing causes for the collapse. The work of clearing up the debris will be started immediately and the work will be delayed for about two or three weeks.

At the office of Fire Marshal Howard L. Stanton two building permits were granted during the past week and three applications for building permits were filed. A permit was granted to George Boucher to erect a frame garage for E. Cohen on Laurel Hill avenue. The garage will be 13x20 feet and will be of frame construction with matched boarding and composition shingle roof.

P. F. Sweeney has the contract for alterations to the store at 288 Main street for the Alling Rubber Co. The whole store front has been pulled out and a new plate glass front is being put in. The brick front is also being changed.

John Anderson of 139 Elizabeth street has filed an application to erect a frame garage on his property. The garage will be 12x18 feet with a stone foundation. C. J. Baldwin has the contract.

An application for a building permit has been filed by Contractor George Boucher for Henry Allard for an addition to Mr. Allard's property at 230 Palmer street. The addition will be 14x21 feet and will conform to the present building in construction. The frame will be of spruce with cedar clapboards and composition shingles. The interior will be plastered and will have an oak floor.

A. Cohen of 231 Laurel Hill avenue has filed an application for permission to change the present dwelling house into a store. The front of the building will be extended four feet and a plate glass front and new entrance will be put in. The exterior finish will be in composition shingles. George Boucher has the contract.

The work on the Disco block is well along and the exterior work is practically completed. The staging on the outside is being taken down and work is now going on in the interior in finishing up the offices and other rooms.

The work on the new theatre is expected to go forward with a rush during the next few weeks when the weather will permit of the outside work.

REAL ESTATE SALES AND MORTGAGE LOANS

In Norwich duging the past week there were 10 sales of real estate as compared to 30 sales for the corresponding week in 1922. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $5,800 and $83,930.

There were six sales of real estate as compared to three sales for the same week a year ago. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $18,300 and $46,250.

THE STATE SITUATION.

Unless all signs fail the time is close at hand when the record of building permits issued in the important towns of the state will read very differently from what they have during the previous weeks of the year, for, if only a fair percentage of the projects which are now in contemplation go ahead with the advent of spring, it will mean a goodly volume of building business. In the week just closed in the larger centers, there were issued 101 permits for buildings costing $391,439, comparing with 111 permits in the corresponding week of 1922 for buildings costing $215,135, and 104 permits in 1921, when the buildings cost $304,606.

NEW LONDON.

Henry E. Russell has donated the sum of $3,500 to the Lawrence Memorial hospital for finishing the first floor of the new maternity ward annex. F. W. Mercer is the president of the board of trustees.

Negotiations are in progress between the Home Memorial Hospital and T. S. McGinley for the purchase by the hospital of the Pequot Manor property which Mr. McGinley recently bought at public auction. If the deal goes through, the building will be arranged for a hospital, the work to include the installation of a new plumbing and heating system and the erection of a new roof and interior improvements.

A local builder has been awarded the contract to erect a building on Water street for Baker & Crawford. It will be a two-story structure, of brick and steel construction.

The building at the corner of Main and State streets has been leased for a term of years by S. A. Goldsmith to Schulte, Inc., the cigar dealers. The building is to be remodeled April 1st to provide seven stores on the ground floor. A local contracting firm has the contract for the steel girders and the building of the partitions. As the stores are leased, the occupant of the store will be obliged to arrange for the erection of the fronts and other interior work.

Work is progressing rapidly on the garage on Church street for Sydney M. Sullivan. The new building, as has been previously noted, is of brick and steel construction, 50x160 feet. Mr. Sullivan is considering plans for extending the garage through to Federal street removing the frame house now on the site.

Building Permits.

N. M. Baker, frame addition, Connecticut avenue, $500.

E. L. Streeter, Jr., frame house, Ocean avenue, $6,000.

E. L. Benson, brick addition, Hobron street, $2,000.

PUTNAM.

Arrangements are being made by Wolf & Kaminsky for the erection of a new business block on Main street. The structure will be of brick, three stories high, with five stores on the ground floor offices on the second floor and an assembly hall on the third floor. The approximate cost will be $65,000.

ROCKVILLE.

Revised bids have been submitted on plans drawn by Architect W. B. Chambers, of New York, for the new schoolhouse to be erected in the West district, by the H. Wales Lines Co., of Meriden, and the Lawrence & Coe Construction Co., of Hartford. The matter has been referred to the school board for their consideration. The building committee is composed of George P. Wenheisser, Arthur T. Bissell and Fred W. Bradley.

NIANTIC.

The legislative committee on appropriations will make a favorable report for an appropriation of $55,000 for the erection and furnishing of a cottage to accommodate 25 at the Connecticut State Farm for Women. Mrs. Ida M. S. Thompson, Hartford, is chairman of the board of direc-

NORWICH BULLETIN and Courier

127 YEARS OLD

Norwich, Tuesday, March 14, 1922.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

CIRCULATION
WEEK ENDING MARCH 10th, 1922
11,708

THE COUNTY HOME.

Some years ago through a realization of the conditions at the county home and the need of giving the children better protection against fire a brick addition to the institution was erected. It meets effectively the needs for which it was built but it does not eliminate the fire hazard there. There are wooden buildings in use which constitute what has been referred to as a fire trap by those who are charged with the responsible task of caring for and safeguarding the many children who are sent there.

It is because of the recognized lack of protection that attention has recently been called to the matter and the question of an addition that will overcome the hazards brought before the representatives of New London county. It is through such a body that action must come. It rests with the members of the legislature from this county to determine the need of such an improvement and authorize its construction.

The county commissioners have delayed asking for such action until they feel unwilling to assume the full responsibility of continuing the use of the present wooden buildings any longer.

From the inspection of the institution made this week by part of the county representatives a first hand knowledge of the situation has been obtained. If the county had the funds on hand there would be no doubt as to what action would be taken concerning this matter. The county is in a position to get along without a tax unless some such expenditure is authorized but the addition would call for an expenditure that would amount to about a three-quarter mill tax on the towns of the county.

The first consideration, however, seems to concern the safety of the children at the county home and whether there is unjustified risk in maintaining them in the present wooden buildings. It isn't always wise to wait until some horrible lesson has demonstrated the necessity for action.

THE BLIZZARD OF '88.

It being the 35th anniversary of the memorable blizzard of 1888 this week, remembrances of that severe storm are bound to hold a conspicuous place in the list of tales of the past that are brought to the front. There were blizzards before and there have been since, but they didn't match that of '88. There was no preparation for it, and it would have done little good if there had been, for the depth of snow was sufficient to stop transportation and interrupt communication for days. There have been storms of great severity since that time when there may have been greater actual damage done, for while there was a high cold wind and oodles of snow it was the heavy snowfall and the immense drifts that caused the greatest trouble rather than the destruction of property and trees from an icy storm.

Memory always jumps back to the '88 storm when comparison is sought for the near blizzards that have been experienced since that time. It was some time ago but it can never be forgotten by those who trudged through it, those who were obliged to dig out of it or those who were snowbound because of its generous distribution of the beautiful. It is also bound to be regarded as a storm of the first magnitude by those who have heard about all the discomforting features that were caused by it. It was a storm that set the standards for anything of its kind. It isn't the case that a storm that doesn't measure up to the famous blizzard goes by unnoticed but till it is equalled or exceeded anything else must be a second rater or less. In the vernacular of the street it is necessary for the weatherman to go some before he can hope to repeat a storm like that of March 12, 1888. And so far as known there has been no expressed desire to have him undertake any such stunt.

HANDLING OUR SHIPS.

Having created the shipping board and given it a task to perform it is to be expected that it will proceed to administer its duties in the prescribed path until it receives orders to the contrary.

Ways were presented which it was believed would operate for the good of the merchant marine and result in much economy for the nation but congress didn't take the same view of it. It therefore means that the same expensive methods of operating the ships or keeping them tied up must be followed, unless other methods within the rights of the shipping board can be devised. Plainly it doesn't indicate that the expenditures of the shipping board are going to be greatly reduced. Rather does it indicate that while it is endeavoring to do its best that the heavy deficits will have to be met by the government until the vessels are disposed of. When that will be or how great a sacrifice will have to be made to accomplish it will be known in time. We have made millions upon millions in our merchant marine. We have obtained what was for long years largely sought, and now that we have the ships that are able to keep the American flag on all the seas the outlook for doing so is not promising.

Other countries are looking forward to the time when we decide to give away the fleet. They recognize what better competition such cheaply acquired vessels might offer in international traffic, but they see in such a course the unwillingness of this country to do for its shipping what is being done by other countries and see the return of the day when they will be doing as large if not larger worldwide transportation business than before the war.

Having failed to get support for the plan whereby money could be saved to the government and private capital could be interested in shipping the shipping board must keep its hands to the wheel and do the best it can under the circumstances.

THE SALVATION ARMY BUDGET

With but two days remaining in which to provide the Salvation Army with sufficient funds to acquire its new home and carry on its work for the year, the people of Norwich and vicinity must be alert to the importance of properly finishing a task that has been admirably carried on.

Having provided for the purchase of the home the local Salvation Army is left in much the same position as a poor man who has been given an automobile to aid him in his work but who has no funds with which to keep it in operation.

It is but a small sum that is required to complete the fund that will provide for the year's budget for the Salvation Army and make it possible for the organization to devote its entire attention to the effective service it renders in the community.

How great is the community's sanction of its work and how much it desires it continued is reflected by the gifts which have already been made. The job should be completed. The few hundred dollars that remain to be subscribed in order to stand back of the work as enthusiastically as the people have stood back of the idea of a permanent headquarters are bound to be a most valuable community investment. Help the Salvation Army to maintain that spirit of always being ready to carry on.

STREAM POLLUTION.

When the members of the state chamber of commerce show by a majority vote that they are in favor of the regulation of the pollution of the streams of the state it indicates a recognition of the condition that exists and the opposition that prevails to permitting it to get worse.

Because the different sections of the state have been favored with rivers which could be converted into great sewers for carrying off the pollution of the city and its industries there has been no other thought given to the matter. While it was possible for the streams to overcome such pollution at one time the situation has been growing worse for years as the cities have increased and the number of industries dumping their refuse into the rivers has multiplied.

Investigations have been made regarding the problem of pollution but as yet no steps have been actually taken to check it though the demands for it arise every year. It is a big problem that is growing bigger each year. The correction of the condition involves the expenditure of much money and the longer the delay in tackling it the greater is going to be the cost of corrections.

It is easy to understand why the members of the state chamber of commerce should believe that steps should be taken to change the conditions. It means that the influence of this state body is certain to be back of the efforts that are undertaken, and it seems probable that many features of any programme are certain to receive the endorsement of the organization even though there might be some difficulty in getting definite approval for all of them. Approval of an idea and getting to work on it are, however, frequently far apart.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

If the boosting of sugar is due to manipulators, isn't it possible to get to the robbers?

Judging by the verdict of the New York jury the open season on men in the metropolis has been closed.

"Man Caught in Jam Loses His Left Leg" says a headline. A boy caught in jam usually gets something.

The man on the corner says: The important question now is how long before it can be referred to as last winter.

The claim is made that Turkey seeks peace. The world will be better satisfied when there is some real evidence of it.

When insurance companies refuse at insure bootleggers they rate them quite as undesirable as risks as they do the human flies.

Uncle Joe Cannon is back in Danville and from now on Danville, Ill., is going to be a bigger news center than it has been for a long time.

It having been decided that Isadora Duncan lost her American citizenship when she married, there's not likely to be any protest over it from these shores.

There is no good reason why Canada should keep within its borders all the current from hydroelectric possibilities any more than it should insist that all its wheat must be consumed at home.

Now that South Carolina has voted pensions to the slaves who were faithful to their masters during the war perhaps "slaves" of one kind or another in all the other states will make similar demands.

Philadelphia is one of those cities where laxity has prevailed in the enforcement of auto regulations. Wholesale arrests being made now may amount to something if the policy is kept up. Otherwise it will be only an empty gesture.

HANDSOME MUFFLEBY

"Yes, I know I'm late!" burst out the breathless young woman who was the very last to arrive.

Just as I was ready to leave the house a colly-vanger came to our door, my mother not being home, I answered the bell, and I became so interested in his wares that I forgot how time was flying. He had the loveliest line of——"

"Why, don't you know it's awfully dangerous and risky to engage in prolonged conversation with a strange man at your door, even if he does have something to sell?" asked the distractingly fascinating girl at whose home the embroidering and knitting sisterhood were meeting. "Mrs. Grabbe was telling me yesterday how a man who——"

"But suppose the peddler really does have something you'd want to buy?" asked the girl who was knitting a silk sweater.

"Don't buy it anyway!" firmly pronounced the fascinating pretty one. "Just simply say, through a crack in the door, while you keep your chain latch in place, 'I'm not interested!' and shut the door!"

Just then the back door bumper sounded and the pretty girl arose.

She opened the door the four inches allowed by the chain latch, grim determination on her face as she began primly: "No, thank you, I'm not interested—" then gave a stifled gasp of embarrassed surprise as she hurriedly unfastened the latch and threw open the door. The exceedingly handsome young man on the other side of the sill stared and seemed unable to find words. Then he collected himself hastily.

"Pardon me, I represent the Muffleby photo studio," he exclaimed. "Wouldn't you—that is, er, I think you ought to have your picture taken!" and he gazed at her with admiration, forgetting to show the samples he held.

"Do you?" murmured the fascinatingly pretty girl, the grim determined look having given way to something else.

"I should say so!" ardently affirmed the good looking canvasser. "Why, you ought to have them taken every day! There isn't a girl on the campus——"

The pretty girl widened her eyes.

"Yes, I know I'm late!" burst out the breathless young woman who was the very last to arrive.

Just as I was ready to leave the house a colly-vanger came to our door, my mother not being home, I answered the bell, and I became so interested in his wares that I forgot how time was flying. He had the loveliest line of——"

"Why, don't you know it's awfully dangerous and risky to engage in prolonged conversation with a strange man at your door, even if he does have something to sell?" asked the distractingly fascinating girl at whose home the embroidering and knitting sisterhood were meeting. "Mrs. Grabbe was telling me yesterday how a man who——"

"But suppose the peddler really does have something you'd want to buy?" asked the girl who was knitting a silk sweater.

"Don't buy it anyway!" firmly pronounced the fascinating pretty one. "Just simply say, through a crack in the door, while you keep your chain latch in place, 'I'm not interested!' and shut the door!"

Just then the back door bumper sounded and the pretty girl arose.

She opened the door the four inches allowed by the chain latch, grim determination on her face as she began primly: "No, thank you, I'm not interested—" then gave a stifled gasp of embarrassed surprise as she hurriedly unfastened the latch and threw open the door. The exceedingly handsome young man on the other side of the sill stared and seemed unable to find words. Then he collected himself hastily.

"Pardon me, I represent the Muffleby photo studio," he exclaimed. "Wouldn't you—that is, er, I think you ought to have your picture taken!" and he gazed at her with admiration, forgetting to show the samples he held.

"Do you?" murmured the fascinatingly pretty girl, the grim determined look having given way to something else.

"I should say so!" ardently affirmed the good looking canvasser. "Why, you ought to have them taken every day! There isn't a girl on the campus——"

The pretty girl widened her eyes.

"Great!" exclaimed the good-looking agent, rapturously.

Meanwhile the embroidery and knitting circle decided, individually and collectively, to investigate the absence of their hostess. The pretty girl heard them coming and turned apprehensively.

"You'll have to go now," she warned. "Bring Dick up Friday night and tell him to have Margie Trenton come, too. He's sort of engaged to her, you know." By the time the circle had reached the kitchen the pretty girl was busily locking the door upon the retreating back of a handsome young man with a wildly palpitating heart, who decided to call it a day and look up Dick Toddler.

"Well," demanded the knitter of the silk sweater, "who was it, some kind of an agent? Of course, you simply told him you were 'not interested,' but how is it that it took you so long to get rid of him?"

The distractingly pretty girl blushed. "Because," she replied, defensively, "this one was so intelligent and observing and—and unusual, that I had to say something entirely different to him."—Chicago News.

A Little Talk on Thrift

A Sensible Plan of Conduct.

It is not always from the great and successful alone that we hear words of eternal truth. The story is told of an obscure young man who, upon finishing college, obtained an engineering position with a railroad in Northern Canada. An accident caused his death and among his effects was found a carefully prepared plan of life. Owing to limited space, quotation of the full text of the young man's manuscript cannot be made here, but the following sentences carry a lesson of such value that they should be given wide dissemination:

"To believe that success lies within myself, in my own brain, my own ambition, my own courage and determination. To expect difficulties and to force my way through them; to turn hard experience into capital for future struggles."

And then at another place one finds the following:

"To keep my future unmortgaged with debts; to save as well as earn. To cut out expensive amusements until I can afford them. To steer clear of dissipation, and guard my health of body and peace of mind as a most precious stock in trade."

It would be well if every young man could map out such a sensible plan of conduct and adhere to it unswervingly. There could be no failure where such a creed prevailed.

Self-reliance, courage, determination, economy of money and health, and self-respect. These are the qualities any young man must have if he accomplishes real success.

And when we analyze them we find that they comprise true, constructive thrift.—American Thrift Society.

Today's Birthdays

Lord Plumer, one of the 12 field marshals of the British army, born 66 years ago today.

Dr. William F. Warren, first president of Boston university, born at Williamsburg, Mass., 90 years ago today.

Rt. Rev. William P. Remington, Episcopal bishop of eastern Oregon, born in Philadelphia 44 years ago today.

Rt. Rev. Joseph L. Glass, Catholic bishop of Salt Lake City, born at Bushnell, Ill., 49 years ago today.

J. Franklin (Home Run) Baker, who has announced his retirement from baseball, born at Trappe, Md., 37 years ago today.

Today's Anniversaries

1741—Joseph II, of Austria, who wrought bravely, but in vain, for political reforms in his realm, born in Vienna. Died there, Feb. 20, 1790.

1778—The treaty of alliance between the United States and France was officially announced.

1815—Gen. Jackson received news of the treaty of Ghent and learned for the first time that his victory at New Orleans had occurred after peace had been concluded.

1823—Earl St. Vincent, the great British admiral, died. Born Jan 9, 1734.

1829—Richard Coke, governor of Texas and United States senator, born at Williamsburgh, Va. Died at Waco, Texas, May 14, 1897.

1872—Matthew H. Carpenter of Wisconsin was elected president pro tem of the United States senate.

1901—Benjamin Harrison, twenty-third president of the United States, died at Indianapolis. Born at North Bend, O., Aug. 20, 1833.

1918—German government announced that American property in Germany would be seized in reprisal for seizure of German property in the United States.

1922—That the interstate commerce commission could not authorize or compel the abandonment of a strictly state railroad was ruled by the federal supreme court.

Avoid Rubber Mats

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Herbert S. Hadley who expresses the fear that criminal prosecutions incident to prohibition enforcement will bring about a complete disorganization of the courts of the United States, is a brilliant lawyer who has been honored with the governorship of Missouri and is now associated with the law school of the University of Colorado. Born in Kansas in 1872, Mr. Hadley received his scholastic training in the state university at Lawrence and at the age of 22 graduated from the law school of Northwestern University with highest honors. Beginning the practice of his profession in Kansas City, he became first assistant city counsellor before he was 30 and in 1901 became prosecuting attorney. In the last-named office he acquired a wide reputation for his remarkably vigorous and successful prosecution of legal offenders. Subsequently, as attorney-general of Missouri, he won fame by his successful prosecution of anti-trust cases. In 1909 he was elected to the governorship.

Wives of Famous Men

Harriet Bailey Stanwood, Wife of James G. Blaine.

One of the most difficult careers for a woman to follow is that of the wife of a man in the highest stratum of politics. Understanding, tact, diplomacy, are the paramount requisites. Without these she is more likely to be a hindrance than a help to her husband. A woman who was born for such a career was Harriet Bailey Stanwood, the wife of James G. Blaine whose stormy career in the waters of national politics known to every living American today.

Mrs. Blaine, who was born and educated in Augusta, Me., met James Gillespie Blaine in 1845 at Millersburg, Ky., where she was teaching in a girls' school. Mr. Blaine was also teaching, being stationed at the Western Military Institute in a nearby town. The community of interest aroused through their work brought them very close, and in 1850 they were married. From Millersburg they went to Philadelphia, where Blaine taught in the Institute for the Blind.

During Mr. Blaine's long career in politics his wife remained faithfully at his side, always gracious and helpful in many campaigns. When in 1856, he was made secretary of state by President Garfield, and in 1884 he received the republican nomination for president, he declared that his success was due to his wife. Mrs. Blaine had an intense interest in the political life of the nation, and a most interesting collection of her letters to her children has been published in two volumes. The charm and fluency of these missives make it quite evident that Mrs. Blaine, had she chosen, might have achieved great success in the literary field. Following is an example of her brilliant style:

"We dined at the Allisons last night—dull dinner. Mrs. R. talking self and nursery, and Paris salons and Oscar Wilde, and cotillions (pronounced French fashion) to which her girl, the latter with a medieval lily in her hand and looking, do you know, exactly like a figure out of stained glass—goes unprotected, until this paragon of dullness should get there."

Stories That Recall Others

Would Love To Hate Him

Two girls, short-skirted, bob-haired, bright-eyed and talkative sat in a motion picture theatre while on the screen before them a story of love was unfolded.

Kondon's
GRANULAR JELLY
FREE

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A Longsome Soldier

Mr. Editor: I am writing you this letter and would like to know if you would put my name and address in your good paper. I am a longsome soldier over here in Honolulu, H. I. and would like to correspond with some nice people.

GABRIEL E. KOENIG
Second Supply Sgt.
11th Med. Regt.
Schofield Bks.
Hawaiian Island, Feb. 25, 1922.

A Tribute to H. Perkins Topliff

Mr. Editor: I have known H. Perkins Topliff somewhat intimately for over forty years, and held him in high esteem as a personal friend as an exemplary and earnest Christian, deeply interested and enthusiastically carrying on Christian work, as he had opportunity. His interest in young people was manifested in a very helpful and efficient manner in connection with the position of a public school teacher, and as Sunday school superintendent. For a period of years he was a member of the executive committee of the Connecticut Sunday School association, rendering valuable service in its councils and in field operations. His cheerful enthusiastic spirit was always an inspiration to those with whom he was associated.

W. H. HALL.
West Hartford, Conn., March 13, 1922.

How Farmers May Become Bankrupt From Purchase or Ownership of Woodlots.

Mr. Editor: Will the farmers, the owners of cut over forest lands, peacefully submit to the confiscation of their property by taxation?

Labor unions have excessively inflated wages, cities and towns are inflating taxes, but a Divine Providence has established the laws for the farmer and the forester, and no man can change those laws or repeal them. I assisted in cutting over a certain tract of timber land 44 years ago. Just 20 years from that time the land including the timber was sold to a lumber operator for $1850. Last year after the lot was cut over I purchased the land for the sum of $125. A few months later, a bill for taxes was received of $18.40, which would practically confiscate the property in the term of five years at 3 per cent. interest and taxes. Should this land be held for another growth of timber under present conditions, and should the tax remain the same, viz. $18.40 annually, the lot at the expiration of 40 years, (the time required for another growth of timber) at 6 per cent. interest and taxes the cost would be $18,405.95, and the value of the same at the present price for timber lands would be approximately $3,000, resulting the loss to the owner of $15,405.95. If this lot were a 160 acre lot instead of 40 acres the cost would of course be doubled or $36,810.10 and the value at the actual loss to the owner for the privilege of ownership, of $26,810.10. And the above is based on the initial cost of the land at $3.50 per acre. If anyone doubts this statement, let him figure it out himself. The conditions are not as favorable as they were 40 years ago on account of the blight on the chestnut sprouts, and no one knows what will come in to take their place. If the above tract was entirely free from taxation and located in the town of Stafford, Conn., where I live, and at an initial valuation which the assessors insist upon placing on such lands viz. $5 per acre the cost to carry 160 acres at an initial cost of $500 for a 40 years' growth would be at 6 per cent interest on the investment without any tax whatever, $16,907.28, and the market value at present price for timber land, approximately $4,000. This would mean a loss to the owner of $12,907.28. Now there are, according to a statement from the Connecticut forester, 1,500,000 acres of such lands in the state of Connecticut as well as millions of acres in the other New England states and the question is what's to be done with them. It certainly means ruin to the owners under the present conditions.

Our president has suggested that the matter of forestry be taken up for consideration, and such action should not long be delayed.

There are many, many places which, in the memory of the writer, 60 years ago, were reasonably productive farms but are now desolate. It is my opinion that the first step to be taken is the matter is to relieve all such lands of taxation, thereby inducing some people who might make good citizens to locate on them and restore the farms to useful production, at least a part of them, and thereby eventually add to the welfare of the towns. The land is the foundation of all wealth but, as before stated, is subject to laws which no man can change. The people are not satisfied with the natural laws, but want to make them to suit themselves, even if they have to change their clocks to make it appear that they are running things. But sooner or later all those experimenters will have to get back to natural conditions. It is time that the people stopped to consider whither we are drifting, before the ship goes down.

C. P. BRADWAY.
West Stafford, March 9, 1922.

Christ and Caste, by Rev. E. W. Bishop, D. D., Lansing, Mich.

Mr. Editor: Please allow me to correct an impression that must have been made by a former notice of mine that the above pamphlet was for free distribution.

A letter from Dr. Bishop now informs me that the first edition having been exhausted the demand was such that two large editions have been printed, and likely a fifth will needed, and that the ladies are furnishing the paper, it being cut and stamps for orders at a distance.

Respectively yours,
JOHN TROLAND
Norwich, March 13-22.

CHILD TRAINING

An Experiment in Discipline.
By Nellie Fitch Kingsley.

When our eldest daughter was three years old she contracted a habit of running away to play with a small neighbor in her sand pile, though she had one of her own.

I had always held to the rule of making no promises of reward or punishment, which were not fulfilled, and of explaining the reason for my action beforehand.

One day after many reminders I said to her, "Mary, I have told you how necessary it is for me to know where you are all the time, and how wrong it is for you to go away without asking me. And that I cannot trust you to do this so have decided if you run away again to bring you home and tie one end of a long rope to your waist and the other end to the porch. This is the best plan I can think of to help you remember what you must learn to do."

A few days later she ran away again. Another child brought her home. I took her to my room to get her story, knowing there was a long struggle before me. I used every device I could think of to persuade her to tell me where she had been without asking my permission, but without success. Finally I told her all the events of her morning to her utter dumbfounding. Then I said, "Why don't you tell me about this yourself?" Her answer was instant and conclusive. "Because you said you would tie me to the front porch and you always do what you say, and I didn't want people to know that you could not trust me."

I saw my Waterloo. If I kept my promise I might injure her self-respect and make her sullen. If I broke my word I might weaken my authority—that bugaboo of Puritan parents. I thought hard and fast and then said, "Why did I say I would tie you to the porch?"

"To make me remember not to run away." "Do you think it would make you remember?" "I don't know." "Can you think of something else to do which would make you remember?" Quite promptly came the answer. "Yes, I think if you would tie a piece of rope around my wrist for a week, and not tie it to the front porch I would never run away again." With an agonized apology to that Puritan ancestry, I said, "Well try it."

We did. It worked. When friends or playmates asked her why she wore the piece of rope on her wrist she told them quite simply and fully. She never disobeyed from that day nor questioned my authority by so much as a flick of an eyelash—except once but that is a different story.

Seventeen years later as Mary, then home from college, and I spent a beautiful night discussing her life experiences and training, she said, "I can't remember any specific ways that you taught me girls how to know right from wrong, but while we did wrong many times, we sinned deliberately. How did you do it?" I replied, "Think it out." Presently she said, "Well, you always made us decide for ourselves after you had talked it over with us. Was that the way?" And I think it was.

Morals and patriotism would be taught in a special course of instruction in the public schools of Arkansas under a bill introduced in the state legislature by one of the two women members, Mrs. E. J. Hunt, of Pine Bluff.

Bulletin's Pattern Service

4268

4268
A DAINTY SET FOR THE LITTLE GIRL'S WARDROBE

This comprises a neat yoke dress that may be finished with or without the ruffle, and a petticoat and comfortable drawers. One may use voile, lawn, batiste or crepe for the dress and drawers or nainsook for petticoat and drawers. It will require 1 5-8 yards for the dress, 5-8 yard for the drawers, and 1 1-8 yards for the petticoat of 36-inch material for a 2 year size.

The pattern is cut in four sizes: 6 months to 1 year, 2, 3 and 4 years.

Send your order to The Bulletin Pattern Dept., 1153 Fulton St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Here's your protection against Colds

This Cascara Bromide Quinine acts at once and gives quick relief. It checks Colds in 24 hours—Grippe in three days

WARNER Brothers

Corns Go

The dainty way to end a corn is to apply Blue-jay. Then the pain disappears. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in clear liquid and in thin pieces. The action is the same. At your druggist

Blue-jay

NOTICE

My wife, Ellen Morin, of 14 Oak street, Danielson, having left my bed and board without just cause, and having failed to return, I desire to give herewith formal notice that I will not be responsible for any bills contracted by her after this date.

Danielson, March 12, 1922.
mar13d ERNEST MORIN.

BOOKS On All Subjects All Kinds
Subscription to all American and European Publications.
SHEA'S NEWS BUREAU
UNION SQUARE

DAMASCUS STEEL PRODUCTS
Hack Saw Blades that don't break. Butcher Knives that a hammer won't break; sharpen with a file.
STEAK KNIVES
COLD CHISELS
PINCERS, PLIERS, ETC.
THE HOUSEHOLD
BULLETIN BUILDING
74 FRANKLIN STREET
TELEPHONE 691-4

RED PEPPERS STOP PAIN OF RHEUMATISM

When you are suffering with rheumatism so you can hardly get around just try Red Pepper Rub and you will have the quickest relief known.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers. Instant relief. Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Frees the blood circulation, breaks up the congestion—and the old rheumatism torture is gone.

Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, costs little at any drug store. Get a jar at once. Use it for lumbago, neuritis, backache, stiff neck, sore muscles, colds in chest. Almost instant relief awaits you. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.

THE CHELSEA SAVINGS BANK
Franklin Square, Norwich, Connecticut
AN EXTRA DIVIDEND of 1-4 of 1 Per Cent. has been declared by the Board of Directors of this Bank in addition to the REGULAR DIVIDEND, which is at the rate of 4 Per Cent. per Annum.
ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-NINTH CONSECUTIVE DIVIDEND
FRANK HEMENWAY, Treasurer

HOW FAT ACTRESS WAS MADE SLIM

Many stage people now depend entirely upon Marmola Prescription Tablets for reducing and controlling fat. One clever actress told me she reduced steadily and easily by using this new form of the famous Marmola Prescription, and now, by taking Marmola Prescription Tablets several times a year, keeps her weight just right. All good druggists sell Marmola Prescription Tablets at one dollar for a case, or if you prefer you can secure them direct from the Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. If you have not tried them, do so. They are harmless and effective.

BRIDES!

ARE SURE TO BE PLEASED WITH GIFTS SELECTED AT

CRANSTON'S

RECENT ARRIVALS INVITE YOUR INSPECTION.

Yankee FRIED CAKES

Just like Mother would like to make!

GET THEM FROM YOUR GROCER

YANKEE FRIED CAKE CO.

Phone 2254

All the World at Work

Norway imports about 60,000 tons of sugar each year. This used to come from Germany, but now most of it comes from the United States.

Sericulture is again becoming an important industry in Macedonia.

Railways in Greece need oak ties—From the United States commerce reports.

Gold mines are being developed in Germany now for the first time in 300 years.

America is offering an excellent market for English tweeds.

DIED

HUDSON—In Colchester, March 13, 1923, Norah Sullivan, beloved wife of Fred Hudson, aged 60 years. Notice of funeral hereafter.

WILLIAM H. HAMILTON, valued employe of the Federal Civil Service Bureau, Washington, says he would not be without Tanlac, even if it cost ten dollars a bottle.

"Tanlac put me on my feet and kept me on the job, and even if it cost ten dollars a bottle I wouldn't be without it," declared Wm. H. Hamilton, 1019 4½ St., Washington, D. C., well known special policeman at the Civil Service Building.

"Stomach trouble and a run-down condition caused me terrible suffering several years. After eating I bloated with gas till I had to gasp for breath, and pains in my back added to my misery. I couldn't sleep and was so weak and worn out I thought I was about done for.

"But now I feel as good as when I was forty. I am sixty-nine, but walk to and from work, sleep like a top, eat hearty and enjoy splendid health."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold.

VARIOUS MATTERS

Light freight house at 4:34 o'clock tonight.

The executive committee meeting of the Woman's Congregational Home Missionary Union of Connecticut was held Monday at Hartford.

President Joseph W. Alsop of the Connecticut Valley Tobacco Association returned Monday from Aiken, S. C., where he has been for about two weeks.

The U. S. civil service commission announces that applications for junior engineer and dock officer will be rated as received until June 30. Entrance salary is $1,800.

A special order from the adjutant general's office accepted the resignation of Clarence S. Wadsworth of Middletown as major commanding the first Company, Governor's Foot Guard.

Monday was the 65th anniversary of the memorable blizzard of 1888 which blanketed the city under three and a half feet of snow in level places and 20 to 30 feet in places where high winds drifted it.

According to the annual report of George H. Carter, head of the government printing office at Washington, all records for the distribution of government publications were broken during 1918.

At the New Haven road offices in New London it was said that the lifting of the embargoes on east bound freight by the Pennsylvania road since September 30, would tend to help the New Haven road to an extent.

Thousands of signed cards, in protest against the state tax on theatrical admissions, will be taken to the capitol Wednesday, probably by truck, for presentation to the legislative committee on finance.

The members of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce are overwhelmingly in favor of the enactment of a law in this state designed to limit and regulate the pollution in Connecticut streams and tidal waters.

At Groton Monday morning Judge C. G. Costello heard testimony in the case alleging theft of four raincoats. He imposed a fine of $10 and costs on the two accused, Harold Palmer of Poquonoc and Hugh Harkins of New London.

Every county in the state was represented at a meeting of the Ancient Order of Hibernians at Hartford Sunday. The principal business dealt with arrangements for a state parade in Bristol about August 15.

There was a big rush for the unsold seats of "Kathleen Mavourneen" at St. Mary's rectory on Monday and intending patrons would do well to 'phone (call 150) for the balance today. Reserved seats $1 and $1.50; gallery 50 cents.—adv.

On April 4, 1923, Yale University will formally dedicate the Sterling Chemistry Laboratory, a $3,000,000 structure and the first building erected by Yale from the fund made available by the bequest of John W. Sterling.

The legislative committee on military affairs has voted to recommend the rejection of a bill providing a state grant of $35,000 to the Putnam Phalanx of Hartford to aid it in obtaining and maintaining an armory for its headquarters.

William Hayward, U. S. district attorney of New York, who married the widow of Commodore Morton F. Plant, entertained the judges of the circuit and district courts in New York at dinner Saturday evening at his home in New York city.

Miss Marion Hendrickson daughter of Professor G. L. and Mrs. Hendrickson of New Haven, was elected general chairman of the International Relations Club of Smith College at a meeting held on March 8. Miss Hendrickson is a junior.

Announcement has been received of the engagement of Miss Jane Ripley Marlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Henry Marlin of New Haven, to Captain W. R. Barry Gifford of London, former aide-de-camp to the Rajah of Sarawak.

A certificate of organization has been filed by the Bridgeport Overall Manufacturing Co. The concern is capitalized at $3,000. The officers are Solomon Manasserit, president; Joseph Smulowitz, treasurer; and Isadore Manasserit secretary.

Rev. Edward E. Knapp of Foxborough, Mass was the preacher at the Poquonoc Bridge Baptist church Sunday morning and evening. Mr. Knapp was remembered well by some of the parishioners who heard him 28 years ago, when he preached at that church.

County Game Warden Robert B. Chappell and Edgar T. Thomas, president of the New London Fish and Game association will go to Hartford Tuesday to appear in favor of the bill providing for licenses for fishermen similar to hunters' licenses now required.

Miss Elizabeth Stanton Cain of Pittsfield, Mass., private secretary for Mrs. A. S. G. Taylor, president of the Connecticut League of Girls' Clubs has been assisting the Windham Girls' Club of Willimantic during the past week in their campaign for new members.

Two conferences, one in Hartford and the other in New Haven, will be held to sound sentiment with regard to the re-establishment of permanent peace the world over. These conferences will be held at the instance of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ.

Plans to observe the fifth anniversary of the Battle of Seicheprey, the village in Lorraine where soldiers of the 102d infantry bore the brunt of a heavy German attack on April 20, 1918, were discussed at a meeting of the YD Veterans' Association at Hartford.

Letter carriers are soon to be equipped with Sam Browne belts, according to an order issued by the post office department. Tests have been conducted to determine the best type of belt for the carrier, as the ones in use now have been found harmful to their health.

The two-masted schooner William A. Morse, which has been in the custody of the New London U. S. customs officials, was released on bond of $7,500 and has been taken to New York. The Morse is owned by J. Auld of New York, who has provided the bond in order to put the craft to work.

Bedouin Patrol, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine of New London, assembled Sunday afternoon and attired in full dress "sat" for their pictures on Brainerd temple steps previously. Morris B. Payne following the taking of the group picture the Arabs were put through a strenuous drill of nearly two hours.

One thousand trees are to be planted by school children of lower Middlesex county. Teachers and pupils in the schools of Deep River, Chester, Saybrook and Westbrook, under the supervision of the state supervisor, Carl Maddocks, are enthusiastically planning for an Arbor Day program.

PERSONALS

S. W. Lock, who works in Hartford, N. Y., spent the week-end at his home on Laurel Hill avenue.

Officer Michael Cooney is laid up in bed at his home on Lafayette street for ten days because of a severe cold.

Mrs. Augustus Jansen, jr., and daughter, Nellie, of Bristol, have been spending the week end with Mrs. Caroline Curtiss of this place.

Dominic J. Quinn of 339 Central avenue, who has been confined to his home by illness for the past three weeks, is slowly recovering.

OBITUARY.

Miss Katherine Clifford.

Miss Katherine Clifford of 1 Rockwell street died suddenly Sunday evening at her home of endocarditis, aged 43 years. She was born in this city December 25, 1879, the daughter of Michael and Katherine Sullivan Clifford.

News of her death came as a shock to her many friends in this city who sympathize with those left behind, in their time of sorrow.

Mrs. Henry G. Jerome.

Mrs. Ellen Holt (Starr) Jerome, widow of Henry G. Jerome of Uncasville, died Sunday in her 84th year. Mrs. Jerome had a fall about four weeks ago in which she suffered a fractured shoulder. She contracted pneumonia within the past week.

Mrs. Jerome was born in Groton, Oct. 24, 1839, the daughter of Deacon Charles H. and Louisa A. Rogers Starr. On Oct. 16, 1862, she was married to Mr. Jerome. She was one of a family of seven children, all but one of whom lived to mature years and married. The one was her brother, George, who died at the age of 14.

Mrs. Jerome leaves one daughter, Mrs. George A. Perkins, who has been living with her recently; two sons, Charles A. Jerome of Plainfield and Franklin S. Jerome of Orange, this state. Another son, Louis H. Jerome, the youngest of the children, died about four years ago. She also leaves two granddaughters.

Her husband died about seven years ago. She was a member of the Quaker Hill Baptist church and for many years was an active worker in that organization.

Mrs. Fred Hudson.

After a short illness with pneumonia Norah Sullivan, wife of Fred Hudson, died Monday evening at 8 o'clock at her home in Colchester, aged 60 years.

She was born in Baltic in 1863, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Sullivan, but had made her home in Colchester for about 45 years, where she had a host of friends who will learn of her death with sorrow.

Besides her husband, she is survived by one son, Patrick O'Connor, of Hartford, born of a previous marriage, one brother, Patrick Sullivan, of Denver, Col., and three sisters, Mrs. Patrick Carr of Hartford, Miss Margaret Sullivan of Naugatuck and Miss Nellie Sullivan of the Order of St. Francis, Gray Garrison, N. Y.

FUNERALS.

Mrs. James E. Watrous.

Funeral services for Mrs. James E. Watrous were held Monday afternoon from the parlors of C. A. Gager, relatives and friends attending. There were many floral tributes. The service was conducted by Rev. G. W. Borden, pastor of the Quaker Hill Baptist church. Burial was in Union cemetery, Waterford, where a committal service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Borden. The bearers were S. A. Scott, W. H. Scott, James R. Scott and Charles C. Smith.

Mrs. Michael Conway.

Relatives and friends from Norwich attended the funeral services for Mrs. Michael Conway held Monday morning from the chapel on St. Mary's Home for the Aged, Hartford. The requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Michael J. Lynch, and a choir composed of sisters in charge of the home sang several hymns during the service. The bearers were Patrick Reynolds, James McNally, Patrick Shahan and F. J. Hyman.

The body was conveyed to Norwich by Cummings & Ring and burial was in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

Lillian Marie Myers.

Funeral services for Lillian Marie, 2 months and 21 days old daughter of Christian and Mary Myers of 138 Mt. Pleasant street, were held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from her late home, Rev. Alexander E. Abbott conducting a committal service.

The little girl died at her home on Mt. Pleasant street, Friday, March 9th, after a short illness.

Arrangements were by Shea & Burke.

REPRESENTATIVES FROM TOWNS INSPECTED COUNTY HOME

Monday noon a group of New London county representatives, senators, county commissioners, with a representative of the state board of charities, visited the New London county home on Smith avenue and inspected the buildings with a view of gaining information regarding the proposed construction of new buildings.

Recently the county commissioners reported to the general assembly that there was need of new buildings at the institution, the old one being a firetrap, as was shown recently in a fire at the home, which happily was held from spreading by courageous work of the matron and a neighbor who was passing by.

The visitors at the home Monday were Senators Herman J. Gibbs of Norwich and William G. Park of Hanover, Representatives Burton of Ledyard, Allyn of Waterford, Smith of Groton, Brown and Gray of North Stonington, Sullivan of Montville, Bradbury of Lyme, Briggs of Lebanon, Kendall of Griswold, Champion of Southington, Lyon of Franklin, Service of Preston and Norton of Colchester. Mrs. Frank Mitchell of the state board of charities and County Commissioners George E. Fellows and George H. Bradford were also visitors. The party had dinner at the home.

Accompanied by officials of the home, an inspection trip was made and although many of the visitors expressed themselves as thoroughly acquainted with the situation at the home, they stated that no decision as to action would be made until after a meeting to be held soon in Hartford.

From statements of the visitors it seemed that the needs of the institution were plainly seen, but nothing definite can be learned regarding the proposed additions until the matter has been thoroughly discussed from all angles at the meeting in Hartford.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Sheppard B. Palmer of Stamford street is in New York for a brief visit.

Miss Kate Ayrering of Stamford has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Robbins.

Mrs. Charles J. Twist of Prospect street entertained at bridge at her home Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund W. Perkins of Washington street recently entertained at a dinner of eight covers.

Mrs. Norris S. Lippitt of Paterson, N. J., is visiting at the home of Cosette Lippitt on Williams street.

The rights of busy people are not recognized by loafers

[illegible] AMATEUR PRESENTATION

The Glorious Girl, a very up-to-date musical comedy, with a company of which amateur cast that would do credit to professional talents, entertained a capacity house at the Auditorium Tuesday night by eight at Broadway theater. Through eye and ear with the poetry of motion in graceful dances, the beauty of color in lovely stage settings, and the melody of beautiful songs given with fine voice and spirit by soloists and choruses, it moved along to such complete success that a most enthusiastic audience that filled it to the doors called for encore after encore. Pronounced it as the greatest amateur production that Norwich has seen in many a day.

At the matinee there was a house of about 800 and it is predicted that it will be another close to capacity house when the musical comedy is given again this (Tuesday) evening. The production is under the auspices of Nearod Grotto, M. O. of P. E. R.

Plot of the Play.

The play opened in The Curio Shoppe where the novices rich Mrs. Winterfield (Mrs. William Crowe, Jr.) comes to buy the wonderful painting of "The Glorious Girl" in order to keep it out of the hands of her society rival. Mrs. Winterfield's very marriageable nephew, William (Lyle Fillmore), accompanies her to the shop and promptly falls in love with Alice, the Curio Shoppe girl (Mrs. Mabel Buckingham). Mrs. Winterfield's niece, Margaret (Mrs. Olive Potter), has had her matrimonial destinies settled by an engagement to the Duke Alexander Finlayson) and her wedding day is at hand, but she is in secret rebellion at the thought of marrying the man her aunt has secured for her, and she longs her heart and elopes with the dashing young chauffeur (Frank Crowell), who drives her aunt's car.

Two society crooks, Steve (Tyler Stanton) and Molly, Queen of the Bowery (Virginia Sheldon), disguised as dancers, plan to steal the "Glorious Girl" picture at Margaret's wedding to the duke, but are thwarted in such a way that Alice gets the credit for saving the picture. This reconciles Mrs. Winterfield to Alice marrying Van, the chauffeur, who completes the situation by announcing that he is really the son of Mrs. Winterfield's society rival into whose circles it is her ambition to make her way. Everybody lives happy ever after except the Duke, all dressed up for a wedding with no one to marry, and he swoons when Mrs. Winterfield offers to stand at the altar of hymen with him.

Every one of the principals shared in the honors of the production. Mrs. Mabel Buckingham as the girl of the Curio Shop played her part with an easy naturalness and winsomeness that carried the house with her from the first and was in good voice that made her song numbers an instant hit. Playing opposite her was Lyle Fillmore as William, who was all that could be desired in the part of the ardent lover and sang with fine spirit and expression. His duet with Alice, When We Went to School, was one of the best of the long list of excellent musical offerings.

Mrs. William Crowe, Jr., as Mrs. Winterfield, could hardly have been bettered and she gave a remarkably faithful characterization of the society matron trying to break into the coveted select circles. Her Coo, Coo, Coue solo called for encore after encore before the audience could be satisfied.

In his Scotch costume Alexander Finlayson as the Duke added a telling touch to the play and scored strongly with his clever dialogue and a recitation which he introduced The Scotch Soldier in Flanders.

Mrs. Olive Potter as Margaret and Frank Crowell as the chauffeur whom she marries, were effectively cast and rendered a favorite musical number in their Snow White song.

Two who played their parts with talent that brought down the house and recalled them for repeated encores after their clever characteristic "tough" dance in the first act were as the New York crook and the Bowery queen. Robert Gray was admirable as Tyler Stanton and Virginia Sheldon Horatio, the exponent of art, and William R. Stevens made a hit as the teacher with his riotously funny school room sketch.

Bouquets went over the footlights for half a dozen of the principals and the reward of long continuous applause and encores came for the chorus numbers in which The Glorious Girl chorus set the record as they were called back again and again for their clever pinwheel and intricate steps that were executed without a break.

Cast of Characters

The following was the cast of characters:

Alice, the Curio Shoppe Girl
Mabel A. Buckingham
Mrs. Winterfield, a patron of art
Mrs. William Crowe, Jr.
Duke of Edinburgh
Alexander Finlayson
William, nephew of Mrs. Winterfield
Lyle Fillmore
Margaret, who is engaged to the Duke
Olive Potter
Van, a chauffeur
Frank Crowell
Panjola
Maida Wright
Soothsayer
Kirk Ricketts
Father
A. H. Perry
Prince
John D. Johnson
Molly, Queen of the Bowery
Virginia Sheldon
Steve, a society crook
Tyler Stanton
Horatio, exponent of art
Robert Gray
School Room Sketch
Teacher
William R. Stevens
Annie
Lillian Bellert
Elsie
Flora Sample
Lizzie
Helen Greene
Willie
Fred Power
Johnnie
James Jones
Abie
William Crowe, Jr.
Production accompanist
Olive Linton

Shoppers—Mrs. Tyler Stanton, Mrs. Robert Gray, Elizabeth Hartley, Isabelle Sheaher, Alma Fenton, Mary Gray, Maude Crowe, Big Partridge, Mildred Crowe, Stella Peterson, Elsie Pearson, Eva Partridge, Amelia Irwin, Ruth McKinley, Louise Irwin, Mildred Mellor, Hilda Russell, Mildred Pilmore, Nancy Quibers, Lillian Karkutt.

Oriental Ballet—Eleanor Brown, Mildred Chapman, Doris Brown, Anna Peck, Dorothy Heath, Isabelle Kennedy, Helen Mullen, Dolly Edmond, Goldie Fishbone, Gladys Blanchart, Dorothy Hansen, Katherine Christman, Florence Congdon, Dorothy Dewing, Marjorie Steere, Marie Atterbury, Dorothy Haslan, Eleanor Sargent, Winifred Sweezey, Lois Durie, Emma Thompson, Natalie Holden, Dorothy Spencer, Helen Denison, Rosalie Anderson, Mary Gordon, Gwendolyn Jones, Emalie Bliven, Constance Chapman, Muriel Hynd, Alice Balke, Billy Benton, Anna Blake, Dorothy Burton, Dorothea Simpson, Alberta Boardman, Phyllis Brewer, Helen Swain, Elizabeth Durie, Helen Clapp.

Persian Ballet—Eleanor Stevens, Dorothy Allen, Eloise Davis, Helen Burdick, Marion Blackledge, Beulah Carpenter, Pauline Mather, Mildred Peckham, Clara Evans, Barbara Allen.

Bowery Belles—Crystal Whitney, Helen Lewis, Alice Johnson, Adelaide Gustaman, Helen Harrison, Vivian Armstrong, Cecil Slayton, Dorothy Palmer.

Lyricists — Natalie Bussey, Kathryn Silvers, Lucy Wilcox, Lois Latimer, Eunice Fox, Isabel Rodier, Charlotte Geer, Florine Scofield.

Just a Week—Sunday, Edith Crosby; Monday, Lydia Bishop; Tuesday, Helen Gressy; Wednesday, Helen Slater; Thursday, Constance Hodge, Friday, Lucile Crapo; Saturday, Nancy Pyne; Soloist, Hazel Banfield.

Radio Chorus: Mary Turrell, Mary Crowe, Elizabeth Sevin, Helen Storms, Pauline Mather, Beulah Carpenter, Olive Sevin, Victoria Malmer, Eyon Broadhurst, Henrietta Gallup, Esther Bixby, Marion Williams.

Guests: Eyon Broadhurst, Mildred Fox, Helen Burdick, Marion Blackledge, Maida Wright, Fred Capps, Everett Gee, Lorain Macpherson, Russel Storms, Clyde Carpenter; Soloist: Lyle Fillmore.

Glorious Girls: Arlene Fillmore, Blanche Dygert, Mae Gusie, Monte Leonard, Miriam Bergstresser, Willa Bussey, Ruth Losier, Helen Risley, Bertha Weeks, Elizabeth Higgins, Gladys Rathbone, Elizabeth Packham.

Letter Carriers: Mary Rose, Cora Freeman, Virginia Woodworth, Faith Curtis, Mildred Whitney, Blanche Freeman, Elizabeth Johnson, Dorothy Lyer, Dorothy Whitney, Dorothea Tucker, Grace Wilson, Anna Rodier.

Bridesmaids: Mary Turrell, Mary Crowe, Elizabeth Sevin, Helen Storms, Pauline Mather, Beulah Carpenter, Olive Sevin, Victoria Malmer, Eyon Broadhurst, Henrietta Gallup, Esther Bixby, Marion Williams.

Musical Numbers.

ACT ONE

Scene One: The Curio Shoppe—
Shopping Chorus — Alice and Shoppers
Dust and Dirt
Alice, Margaret, William and Van
Scene Two: A Persian Garden—
Oriental Ballets
Oriental and Persian Dancers
Le Papillon (Chopin) Janet Carpenter
Persian Rose Panjola
Finalette
Panjola, Father, Prince and Ensemble
Scene Three: The Curio Shoppe—
Follow the Game
Molly, Steve and Bowery Belles
Call It Art Horatio and Artists
In a Tally-ho Alice and William
Finale Ensemble

ACT TWO

Scene One: Interlude—
Just a Week
Hazel Banfield soloist, and Just a Week Girls
Scene Two: New York Residence of Mrs. Reginald Winterfield, Riverside Drive—
Tick-icky-Tickey-Tacky-Toe
Soloist and Guests
On the Radio
Molly, Steve and Radio Girls
My Girl William and Glorious Girls
Legend of Snow White and Seven Dwarfs
Margaret, Van and Snow White Ballet
Coo, Coo, Coue' Mrs. Winterfield
A Letter Carrier
Margaret and Letter Carriers
When We Went to School
William, Alice and Children
Wedding Processional Bridesmaids
Grand Finale Ensemble

Dance and Chorus Numbers.

Beautiful stage settings, lovely costumes, graceful and snappy dancing and tuneful songs made the chorus numbers big features of the production, in which "The Glorious Girl" dance was the top line numbeer. Their costumes were of light blue satin with gold bodice, blue satin turbans, gold ballet slippers and hose and various colored balloons at the wrist. Their dance was presented with the solo My Girl, sung by William, and they went through their intricate and difficult steps with a grace and ease that was professional.

Another finely executed dance was by the Artists group in tailored velvet corduroy suit of gray and delft blue with tams worn coquettishly on the side of the girls' heads. The solo Call It Art was sung in fine voice by Robert Gray.

With Miss Hazel Banfield as soloist, the Days of the Week made a distinctively novel number, each costume in a color scheme of white satin and brown representing a day.

Persian Garden.

The Persian Garden was one of the most artistic scenes in the play with a gorgeous blue drop in the back, rose bushes and massive pillars. Forty children in oriental costume especially designed for this number gave a unique and clever dance, followed by the Persian ballet, consisting of 10 charming young ladies in costumes of Turkish style, made up of satin in beautiful shades of purple, green, turquoise blue and cerise, with picturesque headdresses to correspond. The solo The Persian Rose was effectively rendered by Maida Wright.

An especially pretty feature in the Persian Garden was the interpretive dance Le Papillon (Chopin) given by Janet Carpenter, a pupil of Mrs. Edward Andrews.

A parade and drill number with much snap and precision was given by The Letter Carriers. These wore novel costumes of uniform style, made up of gray satin with trimmings of red braid. Mrs. Olive Potter as Margaret sang A Letter Carrier, which was the musical setting.

Snow White Ballet.

One of the loveliest features appeared in the Snow White Ballet by Janet Carpenter as Snow White, Elaine Wilson as the stepmother, Blanche Lathrop as the mirror, and a group of six dwarfs, while the Margaret and Van, the chauffeur, sang The Legend of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs.

The guests, a group of young women in evening dress and young men in tuxedos, scored a hit with their ballroom dance, for which William sang the Rick-icky solo.

Bowery Belles.

A characteristic dance that was done with notable cleverness was by the Bowery Belles, with Steve and Molly, who put the real New York "tough" atmosphere into their number.

Home-Made Candy Sold.

Home-made candy was sold between the acts by Mrs. Harry B. Ford, Miss Alma Eels, Miss Winifred Kahn, Miss Ruby Vaughn, Miss Ruth Kinney, Mrs. L. B. Sampson, Mrs. Helen Zabriskie, Miss Beatrice Sharpe, Dr. Lillian Lynes and Mrs. Richard Gregson. They wore evening gowns and carried pretty trays with shoulder ribbons in the French style, ribbons and trays corresponding in color to the gowns of the wearers. The trays were furnished through the courtesy of the Norwich Paper Box company.

Members of Nearod grotto patrol in their square patrol costumes acted as ushers.

The local arrangements were carried out by grotto committees with Judge Nelson J. Ayling, general chairman; Fred C. Fruthero, chairman on talent; Charles A. Saxton, chairman on publicity; Charles P. Wells, chairman on [illegible] and Robert T. Davenport, chairman on tickets.

Clark Munson, director for Hanscom Adams, Inc., who has had full charge of the training and the production, came in for a host of congratulations Monday night for the wonderful success that had been scored by the Norwich cast, which had responded so admirably to his instructions.

The souvenir program issued contained an acknowledgment from the grotto to Mrs. Edward Andrews for her assistance with talent, to Miss Florine Scofield for her valuable help, and to the business houses which advertised in the program.

$967 MORE WILL PUT ARMY DRIVE OVER

Just $967.36 more will put the Salvation Army's building fund campaign over the top for $15,000.

If is confidently predicted that this will be reached in the next two days when the final efforts will be put in to close the campaign, definitely Wednesday night.

The following are the latest team totals:

Team	Captain	Totals
1	Mrs. Wm. H. Dawley	$10.50
2	Mrs. Joseph W. Curtis	786.25
3	Mrs. Arthur L. Peale	850.00
4	Miss Susie Gallup	1,076.00
5	Mrs. Harry M. Clark	585.50
6	Mrs. J. J. Rosenberg	114.50
7	Mrs. A. N. Foster	317.81
8	Unattached	78.95
	Chains:—
	Mrs. H. E. Higgins	187.91
	Mrs. A. H. Blackledge,	139.00
	Miss H. F. Coughlin	7.00
	Mrs. Raymond B. Sherman	24.00
	Norwich Town	73.00
	Mrs. J. E. Ready	14.75
	Mrs. W. Buckingham	85.00
9	Edwin H. Baker, Jr.	680.00
10	Russell A. Clapp, Jr.	169.00
11	Louis M. Crandall	443.95
12	George Finn	596.65
13	Robert H. Montgomery	183.54
14	Frank R. Murdy	287.00
15	Albert F. Noren	74.00
16	Ernest G. Rodier	287.00
17	Abner Schwartz	777.00
18	Patrick F. Sweeney	473.25
19	Salvation Army	$,409.00
20	Unattached	767.60
21	Lodges, etc.	512.00
	Sundries, including tag day	1,791.00
	Totals	$14,102.74

Campaign Notes

A headquarters worker issued the following campaign notes Monday night:

Say, now, we rubbed our hands with delight when our "nice boy" rushed into our den with $45.50 from the Pisk Rubber company. Certainly Jewett City has strengthened our hands and in unison, gentlemen campaigners, well done and thank you.

Hello, ye girls of the S. N. E. Telephone company that was smart work answering our emergency call with $10.50 so quickly. Remember that's your number now, ten sixty.

Amounts of $58 and $25 from the Saxton Mills and Falls company respectively helped to boost our Monday's total to over $14,000. Cheerie and lots of happy days to you.

"Music soothes the savage breast" and did our friends, the Musicians' Protective Union, Local No. 285, with their musical accompaniment of $25. You've worked so hard that we won't call for an encore this time.

Norwich never fails. So now that we're assured of our "Home" at last, contractors are invited to the feast.

Women of Moosehearf Legion, your hearts are in the right place, and we acknowledge with gratitude your gift of $5.

Mrs. Joseph Curtis must be quite an athlete, for the captain of team 2 jumped Monday from $628.25 to $786.25. And what a sweet letter that was captain from Mrs. Hugh Henry Osgood, enclosing a swell looking check for—

And Captain No. 4, you'd better watch Team 3, as it's not too late to be overtaken. But there, you know your business and your team will not sleep until Thursday.

Once again, Team captains and workers, get busy on back calls, and clearances, and let us see your smiling faces today, for we must and will sing the doxology on Wednesday night for cert. And you want to see us go right over. You gave us the start and we need you at the finish.

Finally, you will all help today and tomorrow and put us in our place for all time.

A. JORDAN HOLDS FIRST IN WEST SIDE PINOCHLE

A. Jordan held his position as first in the West Side Pinochle club Monday night, getting a score of 7,625. Peckham with a score of 7,395 jumped from fifth place into second place, changing locations with Dr. Lewis, who scored but 6,655 points for the evening. Underwood held third place but Bailey, who had been fourth, had a bad night, his low score of 5,390 sending him down to eleventh place.

The scores for Monday night follow: A. Jordan, 7,625; Dr. Lewis, 6,655; Underwood, 7,165; Bailey, 5,890; Peckham, 7,395; Schuler, 6,785; Pettis, 7,564; Haskell, 7,385; Parker, 7,510; Pendleton, 6,770; J. Jordan, 7,755; Dr. Boynton, 6,480.

The standings are as follows: A. JJordan, 32,760; Peckham, 31,770; Underwood, 31,710; Pettis, 31,710; Dr. Lewis, 31,555; Haskell, 31,480; Parker, 31,400; Schuler, 31,085; J. Jordan, 30,850; Pendleton; 28,535; Bailey, 19,775; Dr. Boynton, 18,160.

That Mystic Church Clock.

No doubt G. Warren Davis, chairman of the Standard Time League of Norwich, furnished the judiciary committee a good time at the hearing on the bill to inflict a fine or jail sentence for any of the officers of municipal or town governments who fail to conform to standard time, but inasmuch as Norwich was the only place particularly interested why not confine his argument to facts appertaining to conditions in Norwich, however bad they may be, without coming cross country 16 miles or so to Mystic in order to get a laugh. As near as Mystic people can remember the clock in the Baptist church steeple, referred to at the hearing, was about the only one in town ticking off the hours on Standard time, which spoils the effect of the story.—New London Day.

For Superior Court Trials.

The following cases have been assigned for trials this week in the superior court at New London:

Tuesday—E. Olaff vs. Andrews (on trial); Mendiovitz Co. vs. Huntington; Perkins vs. Dudley; Pfeiffer vs. Matthews; Bergren vs. Connecticut Co.

Wednesday—Cummings vs. Connecticut Co.; Wozniak vs. Wolfe; Donahue vs. Davis, et al.; Fontaine vs. Continental Sugar Products Co.; Selikowitch vs. Connecticut Mortgage & Title Guaranty Co.

Thursday—City of Norwich vs. Murphy, et al.; Ford vs. Lang; Piel Bros., Inc. vs. Desario; Sabilio vs. Connecticut Co. et al.; Flaherty vs. Connecticut Co.

Will Entertain College Club.

The Norwich College club is to be entertained for the regular March meeting at the home of Mrs. James J. Donohue of Perkins avenue Wednesday afternoon. It is expected that the meeting will be well attended.

Three persons were burned to death in a Quebec Central train wreck near Beauce, P. Q.

Doctors Say Colds Come From Germs

KILL THE GERMS WITH VAPOR-EZE

The way to get rid of a cold is to first get rid of the germs that cause it, by using Sterling's Vapor-Eze. Simply rub it on the throat and chest at bed time. Then, as you sleep, the healing, germ destroying antiseptic vapor enters every air passage and penetrates right down to where the cold is lodged, killing the germ and breaking up the cold.

Sterling's Vapor-Eze is the quickest and safest relief for head colds in head or chest, because it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and breaks up the congestion at the same time that it destroys the germ which causes the cold.

Sterling's Vapor-Eze is absolutely harmless. Do not stay stuffed up and miserable when relief is certain. Be sure to get the genuine Sterling's Vapor-Eze from your druggist. A 25 cent jar will do the trick. Look for the name "Sterling's."

NORWICH BUREAU HAD 404 WANTING EMPLOYMENT

The report of the state bureau of labor on the operation of the five free employment bureaus shows 80.2 per cent. of the applicants for employment were supplied with situation in February compared with 85.1 per cent. in January. Of the total applications for help, 66 per cent. were furnished with help in February, as against 91.6 per cent. in January.

Applications for employment in February were as follows: New Haven 1,068; Bridgeport 1,009; Waterbury 865; Hartford 951; Norwich 464.

Applications for help were: New Haven 1,018; Bridgeport 835; Waterbury 816; Hartford 840; Norwich 452.

Situations secured: New Haven 695; Bridgeport 773; Waterbury 561; Hartford 559; Norwich 430.

BLIZZARD OF 1717 WAS WORST EVER KNOWN

An old book published in Hartford in 1815, tells about some winters that were far worse than the one to which we are saying goodby. It reports a terrible snow storm in February, 1717. "In that storm 1,100 sheep belonging to one man perished. One flock of a hundred, was dug out of a snow drift on Fisher's Island, where it had been buried to the depth of sixteen feet. This was twenty-eight days after the storm, when two of them were found alive, having subsisted on the wool of the others, and they sustained no injury."

NIANTIC

The Sunshine society will give a whist soon. The regular monthly meeting of the society took place last Thursday at the Morton house.

The Niantic band is planning to give a whist to raise funds towards the purchase of needed supplies.

Mrs. George J. Clark will have soon for a visit in Deep River and Hartford.

Guy Gada has returned to his home in the Fair Haven district after being a patient at a New London hospital for four weeks, to have a bone set in his leg.

Miss Elinor Howard has returned to her home in Norwich after visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Clark, of the village. They are also entertaining Willis Clark and daughter, Miss Barbara, of Hartford, for a few days.

Bay View lodge, No. 139, A. F. and A. M., will meet next Saturday evening to hold their regular semi-monthly meeting.

There will be a supper this week in the basement of the Niantic Center school for the benefit of the teachers.

Walter G. Barker and John L. Beckwith attended the theatre in New London Thursday afternoon.

Phil Sheridan, who has been the guest of his family in the Fair Haven district for a few days, has returned to his duties in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bell, who have been spending several months at the Bodeu cottage in Pine Grove, left Sunday for Boston to spend the rest of the winter.

Charles Hagstrom has returned from a visit to his brother, Albin Hagstrom, in Willimantic.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Hill have returned to their home on Main street after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Albin Hagstrom in Willimantic.

Mrs. Daniel Chase and son Elden have returned to their home in Middletown after visiting Attorney and Mrs. Marion R. Davis of Main street.

Nathan F. Levee and William Colepaugh, also Sydney Taylor, are making alterations to the Davis property on Main street.

Mrs. William E. Bean and son William have returned to their home in Hartford after a visit to Attorney and Mrs. M. R. Davis of Main street. They came to note the changes being made on their summer home adjoining the Davis residence.

The Harmony club will meet next Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Clinton Turner of the Point road.

The Black Point club will meet next Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Elias Coomes of the Point road.

Monroe Blake has returned from a business trip to New London.

Walter G. Allen of Pine Grove is erecting two cottages at the Grove for Mrs. T. J. Sturgeon of Mount Vernon, N. Y.

Charles Williams, who has been in New York city on an extended business trip of several months, is expected to return to his home here soon.

P. A. Daniels and son Grigen are making alterations to the Eldredge building on Hope street.

William Woods of New London called on friends in the village Friday.

Representative Charles J. Manwaring is confined to his home on the Point road by illness.

Joseph T. Sheriock, superintendent of the Lyme Electric Power company, is entertainin his brother from Philadelphia. The latter has entered the employ of the company at their Niantic office.

John Gerard, who has been visiting relatives in Worcester, Mass., for some time, has returned to his home on Bean avenue.

Miss Lillian West is a patient at the Lawrence Memorial hospital in New London, suffering from influenza.

An Unfailing Way To Banish Hairs

(Beauty Notes)

Ugly hairy growths can be removed in the privacy of your own home if you get a small original package of delatone and mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the hairy surface. This should be left on the skin about 2 minutes, then removed and the skin washed and every trace of hair will have vanished. No harm or inconvenience can result from this treatment, but be sure you buy real delatone.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

State highways all through this section are taking heavy punishment these late winter days and in many places their surfaces are broken and rutted from the constant and heavy traffic passing over them. For the present there is no way of relieving this breaking up. Recurring storms, frost and alternately thawing and freezing weather makes it impossible to do any effective repair work, which will be undertaken at the first possible favorable opportunity.

Rod and Gun Club banquet at the Attawaugan hotel Friday at 7 p. m. instead of 7:30 p. m. Ticket's at Legue's barber shop.—adv.

Free basketball is the offer of the service battery to all interested enough to go over to the state armory this (Tuesday) evening. The battery team will have the Danielson Tigers as opponents. This will afford a good game between home teams. Being on hand also will afford one fo the opportunity to see the battery boys collect about $1850 from Uncle Sam's agents. This sum will represent the battery members pay for the past three months of 1922. There may not be much real nourishment in this for the mere observer, but it will be worth while to see the boys smile as they watch the ghost walk.

Mrs. Clara L. Bray died Monday forenoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harold Greene, Maple street. She had been in failing health for some time and recently was a patient for a time at a Worcester hospital.

Mrs. Bray was born at West Dennis, Mass., November 16, 1850, a daughter of Alexander and Deborah A. (Baker) Robbins. Her husband was Benjamin F. Bray, who has been dead a number of years.

Mrs. Bray had been a resident in Danielson a number of years, coming here while her daughter, now Mrs. Anna Greene, was engaged as a school teacher in Killingly. Besides Mrs. Greene, her only daughter, Mrs. Bray leaves two sons, Franklin O. and Winslow R., both of Fern Hill Tacoma, Wash. She also is survived by two sisters, Annie R. Robbins and Ethanath Robbins, both of South Yarmouth, Mass.

In order that many who want to attend both events may not be disappointed arrangements were completed Monday whereby the boxing exhibitions scheduled for next Friday evening will not begin until about 30 minutes later than it was originally scheduled, this giving a large number of the members of the Danielson Rod and Gun club an opportunity to attend the club banquet and hear the address by Supt. J. W. Titcomb of the state fish and game commission before going to the boxing exhibition, in which a majority of the Rod and Gun club members are interested.

This evening the Methodist church there is promising of a very interesting event—the Father and Son banquet, arranged by his local organization of the Windham county Y. M. C. A. This banquet will bring together a number of fathers and sons, will be marked by fine addresses and other features that are certain to appeal to those who attend.

There is interest in towns hereabouts in what the judiciary committee will do with the bill intended to provide reimbursement from the state to liquor dealers who had licenses when war-time prohibition went into effect four years ago the coming summer. They had to close their places on June 30 after having paid for their licenses until the end of the succeeding October. Therefore, it is held that having paid for the privilege of doing business during a third of a year when they were closed, the state should return their money. There is to be a hearing on the matter this week, one of the bills to be considered having been introduced by Representative E. L. Darbie of Killingly, who is a member of the judiciary committee.

At a session of the town court that lasted a good part of Monday afternoon ten residents of Goodyear pleaded guilty to having unlicensed dogs and were penalized by Judge W. Fenner Woodward to the total extent of nearly $150. In seven cases fines of $5 and costs, a total of $17.00, were assessed, while in the other three cases the fines were $1 and costs. Practically no defense was offered except in the case of one man who had registered his dog in Massachusetts before coming to Goodyear and was under the impression that the license held good in this state. In another case one of the accused had a dog that was registered in Windham this county.

Chief Special Deputy Howard A. Elliott, Special Deputy William Jarvis of the commission on domestic animals and County Game Warden Charles Letters of Putnam were in attendance to testify for the state if required, but this was not necessary in view of the pleas of guilty.

This closes the first chapter of prosecutions for violations of the dog laws following repeated warnings that such action was certain to follow violations of the law in having unlicensed dogs or allowing dogs to roam.

The action taken Monday may serve to be more impressive than all the warnings that have gone before. Officials charged with enforcement of the dog laws are well aware that there are more unlicensed dogs in Killingly and will proceed to present their owners in court as promptly as may be possible. This time the clean-up happened to hit Goodyear, but there are other communities in town with as many unlicensed dogs as Goodyear has had.

Prompt licensing of all dogs not already licensed in Killingly is the only protecting against prosecution. And it is cheaper than going into court, as has been pointed out before.

Mrs. Alfred L. Reed has been called to Florida, from whence a message brought the news that her father is seriously ill.

Miss Nellie Redmond, Mrs. Hartley and Miss Doris Vachon were visitors in Providence Monday.

Herbert J. Barnett was among those from Danielson who were at Boston Monday to attend the automobile show.

Mrs. Peter Dubuc has returned to Worcester after visiting with relatives and friends here over the week end.

It is of interest to automobile owners here that tires are due to take another jump this week. The prices are to be advanced 10 per cent. by the manufacturers, it was stated Monday.

Henry C. Therrien of Central Falls was a visitor with friends in Danielson on Monday.

Several matters of interest to towns hereabouts are scheduled for hearings before committees of the legislature at Hartford this week.

Even the rain of Monday did not contribute materially to removing the heavy accumulation of snow and ice that continues to cover this territory.

Inside metal grill work on the Quinebaug bridge shows the wear and tear of the winter—where machines have ripped sections of it down while trying to pass each other on the hard and slippery going.

Several parties of Danielson people motored to Providence to view the ruins of the Shepard stores, badly damaged in the fire of last Thursday night.

George A. Kemsley of Taunton was a visitor with friends in Danielson on Sunday.

Charles H. Pellett will be in Boston today attending the automobile show.

Although many have paid, there are some who have not as yet paid their personal taxes to Collector George A. Williams, and the time for so doing has long since passed.

Gray Hair Restored

Please Accept a Trial Bottle

I offer the scientific preparation which bears my name solely on its merit. So I send a trial bottle free to prove exactly what it is and what it will do. Mail coupon for patented Free Trial package, which contains trial bottle with full directions for making test on a single lock.

This test will prove how perfectly my Restorer works, how the restored color is as even and natural it defies detection.

Mary T. Goldman's Hair Color Restorer is a clear, colorless liquid, clean as water. Doesn't interfere with shampooing, nothing to wash or rub off. Over 10,000,000 bottles sold.

MAIL COUPON TODAY

Send today for the special patented Free Trial package which contains a trial bottle of my Restorer and full instructions for making the convincing "single lock" test. Enclose color of hair with X. Print name and address plainly. If possible, enclose a lock of your hair in your letter.

MARY T. GOLDMAN'S
Hair Coloring Prep., 65 Powers Bldg.,
Please send your patented Free Trial Package.
Color of hair is: Black, Dark Brown, Medium Brown, Auburn (Dark red), Light Auburn (Light red), Blonde, Gray.
Name
Street
Town, State

MRS. BUTLER'S TERRIBLE PAINS

Vanished After Using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"W. Philadelphia, Pa. — "When I cleaned house last April I must have overlifted, for after that I had pains and aches all the time and was so discouraged I could hardly do my own housework, and I could not carry a basket of groceries from the store nor walk even four or five squares without getting terrible pains in my back and abdomen and lower limbs. I went to visit a friend in Mt. Holly, N. J., and she said, 'Mrs. Butler, why don't you take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' My husband said that if it did her so much good for the same trouble, I should try it. So I have taken it and it is doing me good. Whenever I feel heavy or bad, it puts me right on my feet again. I am able to do my work with pleasure and am getting strong and stout."—Mrs. CHARLES BUTLER, 1223 S. Hancock St., W. Philadelphia, Pa.

Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for a free copy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text Book upon "Ailments of Women."

LOUIS E. KENNEDY
DANIELSON
Undertaker and Embalmer
Special Attention to Every Detail

DANIELSON CASINO
STARKWEATHER BLDG.
BOWLING AND POCKET BILLIARDS
Ladies Welcome
Open Every Afternoon and Evening

PUTNAM

A fire that caused damage that may amount to $5,000 damaged a structure in the rear of Keith's garage on South Main street Monday afternoon, an alarm coming in from Box 41 at about 4.45. The firemen are to be credited with doing excellent work in controlling this fire, which was threatening a series of large frame structures that would furnish food for a real conflagration in that closely built section of the city.

Monday afternoon's fire was said to have been caused from an attempt to thaw out water and oil drippings under a hydraulic press in the building that was damaged. The fire spread with rapidity, and for a time was threatening. In the building which contained the hydraulic press for putting truck tires on rims there was also stored about 200 bags of flour belonging to Tucker & Goodwin, wholesale grocers, Hartford; a tank truck of the Texaco Oil company and two tractors owned by Chandler & Mores of this city. The damage to all of this property will be considerable.

Mrs. Abby J. Preston, 82, wife of H. O. Preston, died at their home here Sunday afternoon after an illness of more than three years. Mrs. Judith Cone had a great deal to be thankful for after their more than half a century of married life, spent during which they rarely ever were apart from each other for more than a few hours at a time. Mr. Preston is greatly affected over Mrs. Preston's death.

Mrs. Preston was born in Woodstock, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Carpenter, a family that long has been identified with Putnam, where the greater part of her life had been spent. Mr. and Mrs. Preston were married at Putnam Heights May 13, 1867. They lived there for a time before going to Thompson, where Mr. Preston had purchased the Kingsbury store and conducted it for about two years. Later Mr. and Mrs. Preston lived at Warren, R. I., and at Pascoag, R. I., where he was employed and still later at Willimantic, where they remained for six years, and at Attawaugan, where their residence also was of six years' duration. For years past they have made their home in Putnam, where both are well known.

Mrs. Preston was one of the oldest members of the Baptist church, with which she united when a very young woman. She had always up to the time her health began to fail been unusually active in its affairs and for the advancement of its interests and was one of its most prominent and successful workers. For a decade and a half she was president of the Ladies' Aid society of the church and had served in office in other of the church societies. She was a past president of the Putnam chapter of the W. C. T. U., a past district deputy of the Rebekah lodges of the district, and had filled all the chairs in the local Rebekah lodge.

She is survived by her husband and a brother, Walter Carpenter, of Putnam. There are no children.

Attorney and Mrs. Irving H. Miron have returned from Washington, D. C., where Attorney Miron is an assistant to the clerk of the United States senate. They will take a home in Putnam until they return to Washington for the reopening of congress next December.

Attorney Miron says that there is not the slightest indication that congress will be called in special session. The past session has been an interesting one to observe, and in the position he occupies Attorney Miron has had an opportunity that comes to few the country over.

Tomorrow (Wednesday) evening brings the long awaited Men's club banquet at the Congregational church. A feature of the evening is to be an address by George H. Chandler of Rocky Hill, one of Connecticut's most gifted speakers and always an intensely interesting one. Mr. Chandler is secretary of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce and a compensation commissioner in the First district of this state. His subject will be The International Situation. Rev. Simeon E. Conad, pastor of the Congregational church, also will address the meeting.

Features at the banquet, to which the members will sit down at 6.30, will include, in addition to the addresses, entertainment by vocalists and by a magician.

To close what promises to be a very happy evening, the members will be guests of Jacob Alpert at the Bradley theatre, where a special film will be shown for their entertainment.

Automobile owners who are facing the need of buying new tires for their cars in the near future can save a little money by doing their shopping today. Telephone messages received here from tire distributors for New England notified local dealers that another advance of 10 per cent. will be announced tomorrow (Wednesday). This will be the second boost in tire prices since the first of the year, the first advance being 12 1-2 per cent. from the very low prices that had been in force for months.

It has been patent to tire dealers and those in close touch with the tire manufacturing industry that advances in prices could not be avoided for long. This is due to the advance in the price of rubber, the soaring quotations on cotton, to high fuel costs and the maintaining of high wage scales in the industry. Even with the coming advance, tires will be sold at considerably lower prices than prevailed during 1919 and 1920, when the industrial slump came and forced prices down in a market fairly glutted with tires.

Fluctuations of tire prices are of more than ordinary interest in Putnam and vicinity because of the tire fabric mills located here and hereabouts and the effect of the market, adversely or advantageously, on these industries. An advance in prices is regarded as a favorable indication that the business of these mills will continue good throughout the year.

Special Deputy William Jarvis of the domestic animal commission and Game Warden Charles Letters, both of this city, were at Danielson Monday to appear in connection with the prosecution of nearly a dozen Goodyear residents, presented in the town court of Killingly to answer to alleged violations of the dog laws. Mr. Letters happened to be with Mr. Jarvis and on other business when the dog round-up at Goodyear was carried out last week.

The public has an invitation to attend a meeting to be held by the Putnam League of Women Voters Thursday afternoon, when addresses on several bills now pending in the legislature will be made. Mrs. Josephine Green will speak on Jury Service for Women. Miss Emma Roberts will discuss the subject of Shorter Hours for Women in Industry. Child Welfare will be Miss Mary Wheaton's subject.

This week likely will witness the closing finally of some of the important real estate deals that have been hanging fire for the past fortnight. Putnam seems assured of another building spurt during the spring and summer season and the prospect is for at least three new business blocks.

The body of Miss Arinda W. Esyard, who died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Converse Saturday, is to be taken to Brooklyn, N. Y., for burial.

Battling Dumas of this city is scheduled to meet Young Supernault of Wauregan in a four-round go at the boxing exhibition in Danielson next Friday evening. This is to be a preliminary match and will be at 132 pounds.

Rain changing to sleet and then back to rain made Monday one of the miserable days of a winter that seems intent on establishing a record for discomfort.

Captain Remi Delage will be in Worcester today (Tuesday) in connection with the probating of the will of his father, who recently died in Warren, Mass.

Next Sunday will be Passion Sunday and will be observed at St. Mary's church with the usual features of the beginning of the solemn part of the Lenten season.

The Putnam Chamber of Commerce, the Arcanum club, the common council and Mizpah Rebekah lodge are among the organizations here that have adopted memorial resolutions relating to the death of John G. Johnson.

Steady progress is being made on the work of installing the new filtering system at Harrisville for the city of Putnam. The work will be completed within a few weeks.

Physical examinations of pupils at the Israel Putnam school are under way, as part of the work being done by the school nurse.

Edward Cabana, who was injured last Friday when he fell at St. Mary's school, where an addition is being built, was reported Monday as resting comfortably.

Under the auspices of the Connecticut Library association, a meeting is to be held today (Tuesday) at the Putnam public library in the municipal building, Church street. There are to be morning and afternoon sessions, to which anyone interested in library matters is bidden. During the morning session there will be discussion of questions submitted in the question box. Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Shaw, librarians at Worcester, and Mrs. Mary E. S. Root, Providence, are to be the speakers.

Hundreds of carloads of potatoes from the tuber growing counties of Maine are moving southward through this city en route to the New York and other markets. At times nearly solid trains of potato cars go south. The reserve supply in Maine is said to be tremendous.

L. A. Lockwood, Jr., of Providence was a visitor with friends in Putnam on Sunday.

The bodies of Frederick Raymond McRchell and Edwin Waterhouse, both former residents of Attawaugan, were brought here from that place and placed in the receiving vault at Grove street cemetery.

The Day Kimball hospital continues to care for a large number of patients, taxing the capacity of the institution.

Men Like It

Real, full-fruited raisin bread is a favorite with men. Try it in your home and see.

Buy the luscious raisin bread that bakers are making now. No need to bake at home.

Just phone your grocer or a neighborhood bake shop and serve tonight.

Delicious when made with

Sun-Maid Seeded Raisins

the best raisins for bread, and all home cooking uses.

Had Your Iron Today?

It is a wonderful mind for every individual sufferer to know that Kellogg's Bran corrects permanent relief if it is eaten regularly. Two tablespoonfuls each day as much with each meal as cereals—when constipation—will work health wonders, driving out toxic poisons, freeing affected organs and allowing nature to eliminate the wastes in its own way!

Think what this means to health when you know that constipation is responsible for a large majority of human ailments; that it is often the direct cause of Bright's and diabetes; that, in milder form, it is responsible for sick headaches, biliousness, nausea, sour breath, pimples, etc.

Get a package of Kellogg's Bran to-day and fight against constipation and what it leads to! Free your family

Many Sufferers Are Agreed That Sulphur and other prostrating diseases are best combated and prevented where care is exercised to keep the resistance strong.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

provides a pleasant and effectual way of conserving strength, and should be taken faithfully by those who are in anywise rundown in vitality. Your safety lies in keeping up a good reserve of strength. Take Scott's Emulsion!

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

SAN JOSE COUNCIL, K. OF C., IS 38 YEARS OLD

Willimantic, March 12—The 38th anniversary of San Jose council, No. 14, K. of C., was held Monday evening with a reception and banquet in the Chamber of Commerce rooms and was largely attended.

The programme for the evening:

Opening, G. K. William J. Grady; toastmaster, Rev. O. S. Beaumeister. Prayer, Rev. John E. Clark; speaker of the evening, Rev. Joseph H. King, New Milford; history of council, James S. Twomey. A delightful entertainment was rendered by the Jackie Barry entertainers of Hartford. Music was furnished by a local orchestra.

The committee in charge included: John M. Ryan, chairman; Secretary John J. Farrell; Treasurer William F. Leonard; Jeremiah Murphy, John B. McQuillan, J. H. Aspinwall, Leroy J. Callahan, George F. Donnelly, Edmund R. Fortelance; Thomas Murray, the ushers were John M. Ryan; J. A. Aspinwall, John P. McQuillan, Edmund R. Fortelance.

The following is a historical sketch of San Jose council, No. 14, Knights of Columbus, of Willimantic, from March 12, 1885, to March 12, 1923, 38 years written by Judge James F. Twomey, a charter member and past grand knight of the council.

San Jose Council, No. 14, Knights of Columbus, had its origin as the result of a friendly rivalry between Hartford and New Haven members of the order.

On the evening of Feb. 18, 1885, several of the supreme officers with representatives of the order from Hartford and New Haven, instituted White Cross council, No. 13, at Norwich. On the morning of the 18th, when leaving Norwich for home, the New Haven members went by way of New London, stopping over a train there to try and start a council of K. of C. in New London, the Hartford delegation going home by way of Willimantic. A friendly rivalry was started to see which city would be the first to have a council of the Knights of Columbus.

The Hartford delegation, M. F. Scanlon, then editor of the Connecticut Catholic, John McCullough, and the late Dennis O'Brien, a former Willimantic boy, and the first member of the order to die, called on several Catholic gentlemen in this city, among the number the late James E. Murray, the first grand knight of San Jose Council, to whom more than anyone else is due the credit of San Jose Council, No. 14.

On Sunday, Feb. 22, 1885, a number of Catholic men met in a small room in the Opera House block, known then as the Young Men's Institute rooms. At this meeting thirteen men signed to apply for a Knights of Columbus charter. Sunday, March 1, another meeting was held in the same room, enough names were signed to apply for a charter and the following officers were elected: G. K., James E. Murray; D. G. K., Patrick Fitzpatrick; recording secretary, Daniel P. Dunn; financial secretary, William Vanderman; treasurer, John H. Morrison; warden, Edward T. Grimes; I. G., Robert E. Carney; O. G., James H. Maxwell; A. G., Joseph P. Cotter; A. G., John McDonough; lecturer, Dr. T. H. McNally; advocate, Hugh Carney; council physician, Dr. T. H. McNally.

Sunday, March 8, a meeting was held in a room on the second floor of the Holmes block. Several applications for membership were acted on and arrangements for the council's institution were completed, to take place March 12th in Meeting hall, No. 665 Main street.

On Thursday evening, March 12, 1885, San Jose council was instituted, M. F. Scanlon, of Hartford, acting deputy grand Knight; Wolfing, of Hartford, acting grand Knight; working the second section; Supreme Knight James T. Mullen of New Haven working the third degree, National Secretary Daniel Colwell of New Haven instituted the council and installed the officers. James W. Ringrose of New Britain acted as warden and John McCullough of Hartford acted as assistant warden.

After the ceremonies were over they adjourned for a banquet at what is now the Irvin house, George F. Johnson was then proprietor and the hotel was known as the Windham House.

Some of the events of that evening stand out more prominently than the others. Of the officers taking part in the initiation ceremonies that evening, I would mention that noble Catholic gentleman, who did so much in the trying days of the order to build the foundation on which our great order stands today, the late Daniel Colwell, of New Haven, the first national secretary of the order and the late James E. Murray, the first grand knight of San Jose council, both ideal types of Catholic manhood.

The charter members initiated on March 12, 1885, were as follows: James E. Murray, Patrick Fitzpatrick, James J. Dolan, James H. Dawson, William Vanderman, James F. Twomey, Daniel E. McCarthy, Michael O'Neill, James Courtney, Joseph F. Cotter, Edward T. Grimes, John F. Carey, Robert E. Carney, Theodore Potvin, James J. Fay, Dr. T. H. McNally, Daniel P. Dunn, John H. Morrison, Hugh Carney, John McDonough, Peter Ward, John J. Crowley.

—*Members of the council at the present time.

Of the charter members of San Jose Council and the officers attending the initiation exercises on March 12, only the charter members starred are now living.

San Jose Council has always been one of the most progressive councils of the order in this state. It has organized and instituted most of the councils in eastern Connecticut.

The San Jose degree team, headed by the late James E. Murray, as district deputy, instituted Seaside council, No. 17, at New London; Pomenah, No. 54, of Taftville; Mystical Rose, No. 49, of Wauregan; Rose of Lima, No. 52 of Danielson.

The San Jose council degree team, headed by District Deputy D. F. Broderick, instituted Carroll Council, No. 64, of Putnam, and All Hallow's, No. 270, of Moosup.

District Deputy T. Frank Cunningham, with the degree team of San Jose council, instituted Monsignor John Synnot council, No. 2316, Baltic, and Rev. Father McCabe council No. 2364, of Jewett City.

Members of San Jose council organized and were transferred to become charter members of Campbell council, No. 573, of South Manchester and Stafford council, No. 1395, of Stafford Springs.

On Feb. 25, 1896, the council adopted the second Sunday in June as its annual Memorial day and appointed the following committee to make arrangements for its first memorial day exercises: James F. Twomey, Thomas J. Kelley, Robert E. Carney, John Faber and Daniel E. Smith. The form as outlined by this committee has been observed by the council each year since that date.

The following members of San Jose council have served as district deputies in what is now the 13th and formerly was the third district: James E. Murray, D. F. Broderick, James F. Twomey, Edward F. Casey, Jeremiah E. Sullivan, Thomas F. Berth, William A. Costello, T. Frank Cunningham.

February 1st, 1898, the state convention of the Knights of Columbus was held in this city and the delegates were entertained by the council at a banquet at Hotel Hooker.

On the occasion of the fourteenth anniversary of the council, Edward L. Hearn made his first public appearance after his election as supreme knight and San Jose council is the only council that has had the honor of entertaining the late Right Reverend Bishop Tierney, who attended our twentieth anniversary banquet eighteen years ago.

Of those taking a prominent part in our twentieth and twenty-first anniversaries the following have died since the twentieth anniversary: Right Reverend Bishop Tierney, Rev. James J. Gleeson, former pastor of St. Joseph's church, this city; and his assistant, Rev. P. X. Melville; Rev. Walter J. Shanley of Danbury; ex-National secretary, Daniel Colwell of New Haven; Dr. Thomas of Boston, Mass.; Michael Egan, editor of the Columbiad; James Edward L. Smith of Hartford; John J. Corbett, of New Haven, state secretary of the fourth degree; Rev. Daniel P. Ward, John Crowley, William Vanderman, Edward Parent, Thomas Ashton, Judge James A. Shea, Jeremiah O'Sullivan, C. G. LaPalme, Daniel F. Kilkenny, D. F. Clifford, Robert E. Carney, James H. Maxwell and George A. Grady, knight presiding, over the twentieth anniversary exercises of the council.

Of the twenty-two men who applied for the council charter seven are members at present. During these thirty-eight years, 31 members of this council have died, five associates and 16 insured making a total of $55,000 the Knights of Columbus has paid to the families of deceased members of this council.

Listed below are figures compiled by the writer and showing the increase in councils and members while the past thirty-eight years:

Number of state councils March 12, 1923, 59; number of state councils March 12, 1885, 1. Increase in number of subordinate councils in 38 years, 58.

Number of subordinate councils March 12, 1923, 2,396; number of subordinate councils in 38 years, 2,376.

Number of associate members on March 2, 1923, 661,977; number of insured members, March 12, 1923, 228,112; total membership on March 12, 1923, 774,189; total membership on March 12, 1885, 948. Increase in membership since March 12, 1885, 773,241.

Number of members in San Jose council March 12, 1923, 493; number members in San Jose council March 12, 1885, 22. Increase in membership of San Jose council since March 12, 1885, 470.

The first workings of the fourth degree of the order occurred in New York Feb. 22, and Boston, Mass., on May 9, 1900. Enough members of San Jose council took the degrees at these two workings to form an assembly of the fourth degree and on August 14, 1900, San Jose Assembly No. 14, was organized, being the first assembly of the order organized in Connecticut.

The charter members of San Jose Assembly were: Rev. Oliver T. Magnell, now of Bristol; Dr. William F. Labbe, now of Keene, N. H.; Dr. Daniel F. Donohue of Waterbury, Dr. John Donohue, now of Montville, Arthur J. B. Doone of Worcester, the late Daniel P. Dunn, Judge James F. Twomey and Lawrence S. Casey of this city.

The grand knights of San Jose council since its institution, March 12, 1885, with term of office, follow:

James E. Murray, March 1, 1885 to June 6, 1886.

Edward F. Casey, June 8 1886, to May 10, 1887.

Joseph P. Cotter, May 10, 1887 to May 14, 1888.

Thomas Ashton, May 14, 1888 to May 12, 1890.

James T. Lynch, May 13, 1890 to May 12, 1891.

Dennis F. Broderick, May 12, 1891 to May 9, 1893.

Thomas J. Kelley, May 9, 1893 to Dec. 14, 1894.

James F. Twomey, Dec. 14, 1894 to Dec. 11, 1900.

John Donahue, Dec. 11, 1900 to Dec. 10, 1901.

Daniel P. Long, Dec. 10, 1901 to Dec. 9, 1902.

John F. Shea, Dec. 9, 1902, to Dec. 8, 1903.

James F. Twomey, Dec. 8, 1903 to Dec. 7, 1905.

William A. Costello, Dec. 7, 1905, to Dec. 6, 1906.

Burgoyne E. Hickey, Dec. 6, 1906 to May 9, 1907.

Edward A. Murphy, May 9, 1907, to Dec. 12, 1907.

John W. Moran, Dec. 12, 1907, to Dec. 10, 1908.

James H. Maxwell, Dec. 10, 1908 to Dec. 9, 1909.

George A. Grady, Dec. 9, 1909 to

FARM FOR SALE

160 acres nicely divided into tillage, wood-lot and pasture; 14 head tuberculin-tested stock, one horse, tools, wagons, poultry, everything ready for business; now shipping milk to Boston; six-room house, hardwood floors throughout, bathroom, running water, electric lights, telephone and modern furnace, barns, ice house, all of 1 1-2 miles north of Quaker Village, on main road to Pomfret; school across the road; all kinds of fruit trees and small fruits; maple trees enough to make syrup for home use; unfinished pond, good fishing; all for $7,000, or will sell farm separately. Obtain particulars as to terms, etc., of Dr. Potter, owner, Pomfret, Conn.

WHO ARE MY PARENTS?

THE REASON'S SENSATIONAL SCREEN SURPRISE

PATHE NEWS — Up-to-the-Minute News Topics

MATINEES 15c and 25c—EVENINGS 20c and 35c

BROADWAY

TONIGHT — "GLORIOUS GIRL"

Wed. — "Kathleen Mavourneen"

SUPER-PROGRAM
THURS., FRI. AND SAT.
KEITH VAUDEVILLE

PROFESSOR CLIFFORD
THE HYPNOTIST

THE ACT OF 1,000 LAUGHS — A RIOT OF FUN—SCIENCE AND COMEDY!

CLIFFORD WILL STARTLE, AMAZE AND AMUSE YOU—WILL DO THE SEEMINGLY IMPOSSIBLE.

CLIFFORD PUTS THEM TO SLEEP AGAINST THEIR WILL.

WATCH FOR FREE DEMONSTRATION DAILY AT SCHWARTZ FURNITURE STORE, STARTING THURSDAY

4—OTHER ACTS—4

PHOTOPLAY FEATURE
DOROTHY DALTON in "DARK SECRETS"

TODAY—TUES. AND WED.
A PARAMOUNT SPECIAL

WITH LEATRICE JOY AND A STAR CAST

"JAVA HEAD"

A George Melford PRODUCTION

A LAVISHLY MADE PRODUCTION WITH A GREAT CAST. A TRULY GREAT PICTURE.

6—ACTS—6

COMEDY—NEWS

NO ADVANCE IN PRICES
MATINEE 20c—EVENING 20c-25c

FINAL CONCERT
Y. M. C. A. COURSE
Lotus
Male Quartette
AND READER
Wednesday, March 14th
TICKETS 75c—AT Y. M. C. A.
SEE ANNOUNCEMENT

Dec. 14, 1911.

James E. Lynch, Dec. 14, 1911 to Oct. 10, 1912.

Thomas F. Berth, Dec. 10, 1912 to Oct. 18, 1914.

T. Frank Cunningham, Oct. 18, 1914, to Sept. 14, 1915.

Edward H. Ottenheimer, Sept. 14, 1915 to Sept. 12, 1916.

John M. Bransfield, Sept. 12, 1916 to Sept. 9, 1919.

J. Francis Moriarty, Sept. 9, 1919 to Sept. 14, 1920.

Thomas O'Brien, Sept. 14, 1920 to Sept. 13, 1921.

Arthur P. Bergeron, Sept. 13, 1921 to Sept. 12, 1922.

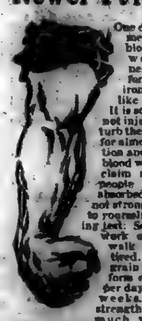
William J. Grady, Sept. 12, 1922 to ——

PLAINFIELD

Although stormy, there was a splendid attendance at the neighborhood meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cooper. Miss Helen Gallup was the pianist. After the service there was an opportunity to hear messages over the radio owned and operated by Fred Cooper.

The first rehearsal for Pinafore was held at the Congregational church with James Royal in charge. Mr. Royal is planning for a chorus of 60 to do the work.

There is Strength in Every Tablet of This Newer Form of Iron



One dose often helps commence to enrich your blood and revitalize your worn out exhausted nerves—it is a newer form of iron, like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach. If it so prepared that it will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. It is ready for almost immediate absorption and assimilation by the blood while some physicians claim metallic iron which people usually take is not absorbed at all, if you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of this newer form of iron—three times per day, after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained.

NOTE—The manufacturers of this newer form of iron known as Nuxated Iron are thoroughly reliable; since its introduction it has reached the stupendous sale of over 4,000,000 packages annually, and it has been used and highly recommended by former U.S. President Roosevelt, Members of Congress, Judges of U.S. Courts and many physicians. We are able to guarantee that if you do not obtain all and even greater results than we expect from Nuxated Iron the manufacturers will promptly refund your money.

Lee & Osgood Co., Gen. G. Engler, H. M. Leroy and A. McLaughlin.

IF ANY YOU WANT to sell or exchange—before the world, there is no better way than through the advertising columns of The Bulletin.

NORWICH WOMAN ASKS FREEDOM IN NEW LONDON COURT

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 11.—Charles Guideahn of Greeneville and his wife, Florence, have hitched over the matrimonial traces and each has decided to trot in single harness in the future. And the arrangement seems to be mutually satisfactory. Charles is an apparently irascible person while Florence is of a more reserved disposition and a girl who can control herself in greater degree than can Charles. They were married in October, 1913, and since then they have not had what would be admitted to be a happy life. Three days before Christmas last the road on which they had been traveling reached a fork and they separated for good and for all time. Charles told Florence then that she must quit his home and his children. She agreed with him that she quit, just the same.

Charlie told the police court judge today when he had made a charge of adultery against Florence and Joseph J. Hickory, her companion in this city Sunday. The pair were found in the rooming house on Golden street here known as the Arlington. They were in a bedroom together when Guideahn and Detective Hammond sought them. Florence was on the bed, fully dressed and Joe was in the room in like raiment. So that was not evidence of adultery. Far from it. There presence together in a bedroom in a public house was indiscreet, to say the least, but it was not evidence of a statutory offense that might mean their incarceration in the state's prison at Wethersfield. But Charles "had the goods" on them if he pursues his suit for divorce. He brought such a suit on the 3rd of March, and he says he will pursue it right to the end. The Guideahns have not lived together since the memorial 23d of last December, when the husband cast his wife into the street.

But the "green eye" of jealousy was troubling Charlie. He saw Florence on Bath street, at Norwich, Sunday noon and concluded that "she was going somewhere" and that he was going to know where that "somewhere" was. He kept an eye on the woman and saw that she boarded a trolley car for New London. He hurried to the home of his brother-in-law, Elmer Botham, and borrowing an auto the pair set out to trail Florence. They followed the car to New London and saw Florence alight on Main street and hurry to the Crocker house, one of the best hotels in New London. There the trailers lost sight of Florence for she gave them what they called "the slip" and went out, perhaps by the side door on Union street. Then Guideahn sought a police officer and found Detective Hammond, to whom he related his tale of marital troubles and made known his suspicion that Florence was at a rooming house nearby the hotel into which she disappeared.

The suspicion of Guideahn proved to be correct and led by Detective Hammond the pair went to the Lincoln house on Golden street only to find that Florence was not there. Then they visited the Arlington and their search was rewarded by finding the couple. The detective went to the room the couple occupied and demanded admission but it was denied them till the sound of a key was heard in the doorlock when Hickory yielded and opened the door.

The chase was ended there, for the sought-for pair had been found. Florence was sitting on the end of the bed and Joe was rambling about the room. The detective asked Guideahn if the woman was his wife and receiving a reply in the affirmative the officer told her to accompany him to the police station. Charlie replied, "I can't help it. I just had to do it. Florence was ready with a reply and told Charlies that his search "wouldn't get him anything." Hickory pleaded with Guideahn, saying that he would get him in Dutch by what he had done. "I had some trouble a week ago," pleaded Hickory, "and now you have done this—a nice thing to pull on a fellow."

Quickest Pain Killer

The agony of lumbago, gout, rheumatism, neuralgia, neuritis—can be quickly overcome by good old hot

BEGY'S MUSTARNE

Use it for all inflammation, congestion and swelling—will not blister—30c—40c—yellow box.

CELERY KING
Fine for Constipation

It's a purely vegetable laxative tea that acts gently yet effectively on liver and bowels. Drink a hot cup at night, before going to bed. Generous package 30 cents — all druggists.

STOP! LOOK! THINK!

Do you read your daily paper as readily as you used to?

If not, your eyes need attention.

See Spear, he will advise you correctly.

C. A. SPEAR
OPTOMETRIST
Franklin Square,
Norwich, Conn.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever paused to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and into oblivion? The reason is plain enough. They did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself. It is its own best salesman. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Make me example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend it, as in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. My sales on it have been so large as a result."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfils almost every wish in curing kidney, liver and bladder troubles, corrects urinary troubles and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day and to get up many times during the night.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by parcel post, absolutely free. Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose 10 cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

Try it before you buy it

[illegible]

H. M. LEDOUX, 97 Main St.
CHAS. G. TREAT, 119 Franklin St.

BUS LINE DRIVER HAD NO LICENSE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 11.—Nathan Peck, operator of a bus plying between the Submarine Base and Norwich and proprietor of a store at the Base, was fined $10 in the police court this morning on the charge of violation of the automobile laws.

Peck was operating his bus on Main street March 8th when it collided with a private automobile. Peck could not show a license to Patrolman Selee, although he was at hand, and did not report the accident at the police station. Neither did the driver. The owner of the car damaged, however, reported the accident at the office of the Eastern Motor Vehicle Department at Hartford with the result that the New London police department was interrogated about the accident. Peck was then arrested and brought into court.

At the time of the accident Peck claimed that his license was at home, when in reality he had never procured the license.

NEW LONDON COUNCIL REJECTS CITY MANAGER'S PLAN

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 11.—At the meeting of the city council this evening the recommendation of the city manager that the Winthrop property at State, Hamilton, Union and Huntington streets should be purchased by the city for school purposes was rejected and the council went on record as opposed to such purchase.

BALTIC

John Flynn, who resigned as overseer of the weaving department of the Sherbrooke Woolen mills sometime ago has accepted a similar position for a concern in South Bend, Indiana, where Frank Malloy, formerly superintendent here is superintendent.

Frederick Rust of Depot Hill, formerly assistant room mechanic of the Baltic Mills Co., has gone to Denver, Colorado, for an extended trip.

George Lessard has entered the employ of C. H. Rood, Inc.

Eugene Dubois and family have moved to Putnam, R. I.

About 9 o'clock Sunday evening the fire company was called out for a small but dangerous fire in the roof timber of the St. Jean Baptiste hall where a pile of rubbish was on fire. The cause of the fire could not be ascertained as the proprietor of the store, who owns the hall, was in Taftville. Some one must have gone in there earlier in the evening to get a load of coal and it helps to make mighty hot when it starts and three of it in the furnace before it was out. Not being able to find the hydrant on account of the deep snow, a bucket brigade was formed and the fire put out. The hall was recorded at 12:15.

Miss Alice Leonard of Occum, who has been president of Council No. 46, C. of C. of St. Jean Baptiste society, was pleasantly surprised one evening last week by a delegation of the members who presented her a vase and basket of flowers in commemorance of the good and faithful service done the council during her administration.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Baptist church had a short business session and sale of their club handkerchiefs at the home of Mrs. Ella Bailey on Wednesday afternoon. The society has been very busy piecing quilts and comforters and has several more to finish before they can be sent away. Mrs. Bailey served refreshments.

Several Gardners rendered a musical entertainment at the High school auditorium for a court whist party and Tuesday evening at the Baptist church.

The Baptist Sunday school has completed arrangements for a social entertainment to be held in the church parlors Friday evening, March 13th. Each member is requested to bring a friend. Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Ella Bailey is ill with a cold and grippe at her club residence.

Several Gardners motored to Norwich Sunday afternoon to attend the funeral of Mrs. Ellen Gallagher

...American locomotive was one of the day's features, touching 127 1-4 the highest price in all deals and closing at 126, where it was 1 ... the day. Other equipments ... in sympathy. Baldwin ... 1-8, the U. S. Steel ... and Lima advancing 1 1-4 on report of an early increase in the common dividend.

Heavy buying of Cuban, Canadian, French and British interests ... interest in the sugar group. ... advancing 2 1-4 points, South ... Rica, 1 1-2; Punta Alegre, 2 3-4; ... American, Cuban-American and Cuba ... came preferred 1 to 2 points. ... announcement of a 10-per cent dividend ... also prices, affecting Mexican ... Co., U. S. Rubber company also ... points, buying power from other groups. U. S. Rubber ... 1-8; ... 1-4 and Kelly-Springfield ... 1-8.

The sensational rise in Mexican ... refinery issues with ... report that a satisfactory ... over salt to be ... Standard Oil ... Mexican ... the ... Mexican ... Pan-American ... Mexican ... Mexican ... Mexican

Bulletin For Sale Advertisements Will Sell It

BORN

PATTERSON—In Baltic, March 7, 1923, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Hard Patterson.

GAUTHIER—In Baltic, March 7, 1923, a son, Alfred Gerard, to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gauthier.

BYGOK—In Baltic, Feb. 8, 1923, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bygok.

LUSSIER—In Baltic, Feb. 9, 1923, a son, Reginald, to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lussier.

DANIELS—In South Coventry, March 1, 1923, a son, William Earl, to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Daniels.

DIED

GARRISH—In Norwich, March 12, 1923, Wolensky Garrish of No. 30 Cove street, aged 17 years.

MYERS — In Norwich, March 9, 1923, Lillian Marie, daughter of Christian and Mary Myers, aged 2 months and 21 days.

DUBOIS—In Norwich, March 10, 1923, Carrie Dubois of Stamford, aged 27 years.

FALVEY—In New London, March 10, 1923, Margaret, wife of Michael Falvey.

JOHNSON—At Quaker Hill (Waterford), March 10, 1923, Mrs. Matilda Johnson, aged 82 years.

CHAPMAN—In Ledyard, March 10, 1923, Charles H. Chapman, in his 80th year.

KILBOURN—In Groton, March 10, 1923, William Russell Kilbourn, in his 53d year.

FUNERAL NOTICES

NEWTON—In Taftville, March 11, 1923, John Newton, aged 71 years and 6 months. Funeral at his late home, 54 Norwich avenue, Taftville, Thursday, March 15, at 2 o'clock. Burial in Maplewood cemetery.

BRAY—In Danielson, March 12, 1923, Mrs. Clara L. Bray, aged 70 years. Funeral services Wednesday at 3 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harold Greene, 41 Maple Street, Danielson.

JEROME—In Uncasville, March 11, 1923, Ellen Starr, widow of Henry G. Jerome, in her 84th year. Funeral service at her late residence Wednesday afternoon, March 14, at 2 o'clock.

TOPLIFF—In Oxford, March 11, 1923, Hi Perkins Topliff. Funeral Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Frederic H. Topliff, Oxford. Burial at convenience of the family.

CARD OF THANKS

To neighbors, friends, and the Norwich Lodge of Elks, who were so kind and sympathetic during the illness and death of her beloved husband, the late Dr. Conlon, we wish to express our deep appreciation. The many beautiful flowers and the unbounded tenders bear them testify to the friendship this manifested will always be sincerely cherished.

MRS. ROBERT J. CONLON.

Church & Allen
19 MAIN STREET
FUNERAL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS
Lady Assistant
HENRY E. CHURCH
WM. SMITH ALLEN
Telephone 328-4

CUMMINGS & RING
Funeral Directors and Embalmers
321 Main Street
Phone 366-4 Lady Assistant

GAGER
FUNERAL DIRECTOR AND EMBALMER
PROMPT SERVICE—DAY OR NIGHT

The Henry Allen & Son Co.
29 MAIN STREET
Funeral Directors and Embalmers
Lady Assistant Telephone 4100
DAVID M. WILSON

Shea & Burke
Funeral Directors
41 Main Street

HOURIGAN BROS.
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
Norwich and Jewett City

FLORISTS

Floral Designs Growing Plants, Plants and Cut Flowers. Norwich Nursery Co. Tel. 966. Free delivery.

TO RENT

TO RENT — Furnished rooms, 18 Union St. mar16d

TO RENT—Tenement of six rooms, 151 Maple St. mar15d

FOR RENT—Five-room tenement, 56 Spring St. mar14d

TO RENT—Heated rooms for gentlemen. Steiner Res., 77 Church St. mar14d

TO RENT—Six-room tenement, all improvements; garage if desired. Inquire 11 Mt. Pleasant St. mar9d

TO RENT—Apartment of three rooms and bath, for adults; head and hot water furnished. 175 Broadway. Phone 2051. mar11d

TO RENT—Small furnished apartment. Mrs. Congdon, 23 McKinley Ave. mar14d

FOR RENT
STORE ON
FRANKLIN STREET
In Alling Block
Inquire of
N. Tarrant & Co.
Phone 170—117 Main St.

PAINT AND WALLPAPER

CHARLES T. HOUGHTALING, 21 Water St., rear. Paper hanging, painting, kalsomining. Tel. 1242-2. mar14d

FOR SALE—Paint, white or any color, $1.50 gallon. Kalsomine in white or any color. 119 Main St. Over Falls Fire Station. mar14d

LOST AND FOUND

LOST—Friday morning, between Ryle and Westerly, country membership card, X2173. Finder notified. Reward. Gillespie Restaurant, Mystic. mar11d

THERE is no advertising medium in Eastern Connecticut equal to The Bulletin for business results.

A Bulletin Want Ad Will Get It

WANTED—Girl for general work in restaurant at the Dewdrop Inn, 119 Franklin St. mar15d

WANTED—Experienced stenographer (a good one); good permanent position for capable, industrious worker. Address Box 1010, Bulletin. mar10d

WANTED—Position as housekeeper (no objections); family or companion to elderly woman, by middle aged Protestant woman; best of references. Write Box 100, Bulletin. mar10d

WANTED—A girl after school hours to care for child and assist with housework. Inquire at 316 West Main St. mar10d

WANTED—Local concern wants experienced bookkeeper; permanent employment, with good salary for desirable young woman. Address Box 302, Bulletin. mar10d

WANTED—Housekeeper, family of three Americans. Address P. O. Box 125, Sprague, Conn. mar9d

WANTED—Middle aged American woman for bakery department; references required. Address Box 312, Norwich. mar9d

WANTED—Male

WANTED—Four young men to travel with crew manager; salary and commission. Apply at Wauregan Hotel between 4 and 5 p. m. Tuesday. Inquire for Mr. George Torney. mar13d

WANTED—Position as chauffeur, on truck or private car; experienced. Phone Lebanon 31-13. mar13d

WANTED—Have opening for two or three neat appearing young men with selling experience; good chance for advancement. Call Sykes, 4 and 5 p. m., third floor, 149 Franklin St. mar14d

WANTED—Listmen your income! Sell insurance covering all accidents and disease; limited and full coverage policies; premiums $5 yearly upwards; commission; write now for district. National Accident Society, 124 Broadway, New York City. Established 1888. mar14d

WANTED—On a dairy farm, near City, good man for all around work; must be good farmer and farm machinery; furnished. N. E. Whiting, 54 Main St. mar12d

WANTED—Partner with capital to invest in development of real estate; also WANTED, sales department is demand; profession not necessary. Address Box 1, Central Village, Conn. mar9d

WANTED—Woolen Grader. Experienced; second hand for card room; female help still used; apply overseers; male operators; finished product; piece; steady employment; no labor trouble. The Rhoads Woolen Co., Coventry, Conn. mar7d

WANTED—Position on dairy farm. W. F. Clark, Lebanon. Tel. 12-4. mar8d

WANTED—Local concern wants experienced bookkeeper; permanent employment, with good salary for desirable young woman. Address Box 302, Bulletin. mar10d

WANTED—Housekeeper, family of three Americans. Address P. O. Box 125, Sprague, Conn. mar9d

WANTED—Middle aged American woman for bakery department; references required. Address Box 312, Norwich. mar9d

WANTED—Male

WANTED—Four young men to travel with crew manager; salary and commission. Apply at Wauregan Hotel between 4 and 5 p. m. Tuesday. Inquire for Mr. George Torney. mar13d

WANTED—Position as chauffeur, on truck or private car; experienced. Phone Lebanon 31-13. mar13d

WANTED—Have opening for two or three neat appearing young men with selling experience; good chance for advancement. Call Sykes, 4 and 5 p. m., third floor, 149 Franklin St. mar14d

WANTED—Listmen your income! Sell insurance covering all accidents and disease; limited and full coverage policies; premiums $5 yearly upwards; commission; write now for district. National Accident Society, 124 Broadway, New York City. Established 1888. mar14d

WANTED—On a dairy farm, near City, good man for all around work; must be good farmer and farm machinery; furnished. N. E. Whiting, 54 Main St. mar12d

WANTED—Partner with capital to invest in development of real estate; also WANTED, sales department is demand; profession not necessary. Address Box 1, Central Village, Conn. mar9d

WANTED—Woolen Grader. Experienced; second hand for card room; female help still used; apply overseers; male operators; finished product; piece; steady employment; no labor trouble. The Rhoads Woolen Co., Coventry, Conn. mar7d

WANTED—Position on dairy farm. W. F. Clark, Lebanon. Tel. 12-4. mar8d

WANTED—Position as housekeeper (no objections); family or companion to elderly woman, by middle aged Protestant woman; best of references. Write Box 100, Bulletin. mar10d

WANTED—A girl after school hours to care for child and assist with housework. Inquire at 316 West Main St. mar10d

WANTED—Local concern wants experienced bookkeeper; permanent employment, with good salary for desirable young woman. Address Box 302, Bulletin. mar10d

WANTED—Housekeeper, family of three Americans. Address P. O. Box 125, Sprague, Conn. mar9d

WANTED—Middle aged American woman for bakery department; references required. Address Box 312, Norwich. mar9d

WANTED
All-Round
BOILERMAKER
FOR TEMPORARY WORK.
APPLY
FALLS COMPANY.

COAL AND WOOD

FOR SALE—Slab wood, stove lengths, good dry and wood, $5 a card. Phone 1844-4. mar12d

FOR SALE—Best dry hard wood; mixed wood; 100-ton prices. Phone 541. jan16d

COAL AND SEASONED WOOD and Kindling. R. H. Smith & Co. Coal Office, Shetucket Wharf, Phone 210 or 1210-2. Yard, Williams St., formerly Durfee Lane. oct11d

POULTRY

FOR SALE or exchange for poultry; one 125-egg Cyphers incubator, also two 300-egg Buckeyes. C. M. Meade, Norwich Town. Phone 1142-3. mar13d

FOR SALE—S. C. R. I. Red eggs for hatching, from White Leghorn tested stock. W. W. Service, Norwich, R. D. 1. Tel. 1244-3. mar13d

FOR SALE—Thoroughbred S. C. White Leghorn cockerels, $2 each. Inquire 11 Cedar St., Norwich Town. mar13d

FOR SALE—Hatching eggs from flock of White Leghorns that averaged 204 eggs last season. Also from 200-egg strain. Tel. 977-13. Walter C. Watson.

FOR SALE—Barred Rock cockerels. John Potter, Griswold Cons. mar14d

FOR SALE—White Cochin Bantams; males and females; great layers; eggs and baby chicks; stock for sale; prices reasonable. Mrs. F. Hazard, Peace Dale, R. I. Box 71. mar14d

FOR SALE—Single comb White Leghorn baby chicks, Barred and White Rocks, heavy laying strains, carefully selected. Tel. 1244-3. Walter C. Watson.

TRUCKING

GEORGE LAMBERT, JR., Moving and Trucking. Phone 1111-12. 2d

[illegible] Trucking. Furniture moving a specialty. [illegible] Phone 1111-12. 2d

A. E. [illegible] Trucking and Moving. Local and long distance moving. Phone [illegible] 2d

[illegible] Trucking. Furniture moving a specialty

UNSETTLED TODAY
FAIR TOMORROW

Norwich [illegible]

NORWICH, CONN. [illegible]

The Bulletin.

Norwich, Tuesday, March 13, 1923.

THE WEATHER.

Conditions.

There will be considerable cloudiness in the Washington forecast district Tuesday and local rains are probable in portions of the south Atlantic states and snow or rain in the lower lake region, extreme upper Ohio valley and in portions of the north Atlantic states. The weather will be generally fair in the eastern and southeastern states Wednesday except for snow flurries in the lower lake region. The temperature will be lower in the lower lake region, the Ohio valley, Tennessee, the east gulf states and in the Atlantic states south of Pennsylvania except the Florida peninsula Tuesday and Wednesday and in the north Atlantic states Wednesday.

Storm warnings remain displayed on the coast of Maine. The storm that was central over Missouri Sunday night moved rapidly northeastward to the upper lake region with a marked increase in intensity during Sunday night, and it continued to advance northeastward over Michigan and Lake Huron Monday with decreasing intensity. Since Sunday night this storm has been attended by strong shifting winds and gales in the lake region, the great central valleys and along the north Atlantic coast and by precipitation almost generally east of the Missouri and lower Mississippi valley.

Winds.

North of Sandy Hook: Strong shifting and weather overcast and thick, probably rain or snow Tuesday.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Fresh to strong southwest shifting to west and northwest and weather overcast Tuesday.

Forecast.

For Southern New England: Cloudy and unsettled Tuesday, probably rain on the southeast coast; Wednesday generally fair and somewhat colder.

Observations in Norwich.

The Bulletin's observations show the following changes in temperature and barometric changes Monday:

	Ther.	Bar.
7 a. m.	27	30.20
12 m.	37	30.10
6 p. m.	33	30.00

Highest 38, lowest 27.

Comparisons.

Predictions for Monday: Rain or snow.

Monday's weather: Rainy; northeast wind.

SUN, MOON AND TIDES.

	Sun		High Water	Moon
Day.	Rises.	Sets.		Rises.
	a. m.	p. m.	a. m.	a. m.
12	6.07	5.49	5.20	3.20
13	6.05	5.50	6.13	3.09
14	6.04	5.51	7.09	2.51
15	6.02	5.52	8.00	4.28
16	6.00	5.54	8.46	5.06
17	5.59	5.56	9.35	5.34
18	5.57	5.56	10.02	Sets.

Six hours after high water it is low water, which is followed by flood tide.

TAFTVILLE

The death of John Newton occurred at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wohlleben, Monday, after an illness of several weeks. He was born in England 72 years ago, and came to this country when a young man, residing in Taftville for over 30 years, where he was employed in various departments of the Ponemah Mills. He is survived by his wife, and three children, one daughter in England, Mrs. Martin Wohlleben of Norwich avenue, and Arthur Newton of North A street.

Word has been received in the village that Mrs. Charles Parsons, who left here a week ago to make her home in Jacksonville, Florida, and who was seriously ill there, has recovered and has decided to take up her residence there. Mr. Parsons will leave to join her in about a week, and they will commence work on a new bungalow. Mrs. Parsons is accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Fred Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gelino of Jewett City have been recent guests of Mrs. Gelino's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thoma of Lisbon.

Some of the grades of the Wequonnoc school had no session Monday afternoon, on account of the bad weather.

Clarence Nagle, proprietor of the Ponemah house recently burned his foot badly, but is able to be about.

Mrs. Napoleon T. Parent of South avenue has returned from a few weeks stay in Canada and Vermont.

Rudolph Blanchette has been confined to his home on Terrace avenue by illness.

Miss Hortense Caron of North B street has resigned her position with the Ponemah Company and will devote her time to her music.

Miss Emma Headon, has resigned her position as clerk in the cloth department of the Ponemah Company and has accepted a position with the C. B. Martin Co.

The heavy rain Monday caused quite a bit of trouble about the town. At noon the water was running into many of the cellars, and people were obliged to get out and dig trenches and drains to allow it to run into the gutters. Practically every gutter and pipe was overrun and the corners and junctions of many of the streets resembled good sized lakes.

Mrs. Ernest Pollard of Lisbon is recovering from an attack of grip.

The Hartford Courant on Sunday of New Britain, Conn., as a member had a picture of Miss Helen Cadwell, of a wedding party at a recent wedding in that town. Miss Cadwell is a former resident of this village, and is the daughter of George Cadwell, at one time principal of the Wequonnoc school, residing on North Second avenue.

For Relief from Piles

Send to Nearest Druggist for a Box of Pyramid Pile Suppositories—Their Soothing Influence Is Remarkable.

In the privacy of your own home Pyramid Pile Suppositories give blessed relief from itching, bleeding or protruding piles, hemorrhoids and such rectal troubles. And it is a comfort to know you can call or send to the nearest drug store and get a 60 cent box anywhere in the U. S. and Canada. Take no substitute. A single box is often sufficient.

You can have a free trial package by sending name and address to Pyramid Drug Co., 636 Pyramid Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

TWO MASKED AUTO HOLD-UP MEN TAKE $7 FROM LESTER BENDETT

Lester Bendett, who is in the auto supply business at 110 North Main street, was the victim of a masked hold-up Sunday night on the road between here and Westerly. The hold-up pair took $7 from him and then disappeared in the dark.

According to the report Bendett made to the Norwich police, he was driving alone to Westerly about 10 o'clock and when he reached a point in North Stonington he saw ahead of him a Ford runabout that was in such a position as to block the road completely and compel him to come to a stop. Two men with some dark cloth over their faces came from the other machine to his and demanded his money. They took what he turned over to them, counted it, told him it was $7 and then left.

He described the larger man of the two as wearing a brown overcoat and a soft hat. The smaller man had on a dark overcoat and cap and wore four-buckle arctics.

Bendett returned to this city and reported the hold-up to the police, reaching here at 11.45 Sunday night.

BOY SCOUT CONTRIBUTIONS NOW ABOUT $4,000

The drive of the Boy Scouts for $5,000 for expenses for the year has netted thus far about $4,000 and the prospects seem bright that the quota set at the beginning of the drive can be reached. Most of the $4,000 now in is cash, with a few pledges outstanding, and there remain several contributions yet to be figured in to the total.

The following are additional contributors to the scout fund:

Lewis E. Aldrich.

Elizabeth Berrien, Sub Base, Capt. Dennis Brennan, Patrick Brennan, John E. Blackburn, Joseph Buckley, Charlotte C. Barbour, Mrs. William Baker, Thomas F. Burns, N. Beetham, Lisbon, Leslie Brewer.

Capt. Archibald Cochran, Annie W. Carpenter, Rev. M. Crowdis, Geo. L. Chesebro, John A. Cunningham, Mrs. W. H. Cardwell, W. H. Cruickshank.

William R. Denison, Joseph Donnelly, Mrs. H. F. Dawley, Ozias Dodge, Jerry Driscoll.

James W. Frazier, 5 friends, Lena M. Fuller, John Fogarty.

James Graham, Lisbon.

John P. Huntington, E. A. Harris, George L. Ingalls.

H. W. Lang, W. W. Leonard, Capt. Alvin D. Lewis, John Lynch, Alfred Linderson.

Mrs. Helen MacMillan, Chas. Moore, Kopeland Markoff, M. D., Rev. M. H. May.

Peter O'Neil.

E. T. Phillips, Nelson Parker, Gertrude Patterson, Julia Pease, Hadley Potter, William G. Park.

J. Rush, Simon Rosano, Miss Mary N. Richards.

Harry Strates, Abner Schwartz, The Shu-Fix, Charles L. Stewart, Joseph P. Shea, Paul A. Schwartz, M. D.

Edwin Tracy, Henry R. Taft, Arthur M. Thompson.

William H. Whitman, James T. Woods, H. R. Woodward.

Yantic Grain & Products Co.

Societies—Sacred Heart church, Taftville, the Union Sunday School association, Norman chapel of Laurel Hill, Sedgwick post, G. A. R., Norwich Grange, Norwich Lodge of Elks, Woman's Relief corp, Faith Trumbull chapter, D. A. R.

Corporations—Norwich Buick Co.

RESERVES DECISION IN $350 SUIT OVER ENGINE

Judge C. B. Waller in the common pleas court here Monday afternoon heard the testimony in the suit of Telley E. Babcock of this city vs. Fred J. Appley and Lafayette Main of North Stonington. Testimony in the case was concluded, the arguments were made and Judge Waller reserved decision.

It is alleged that Appley authorized Frank B. Stanley of North Stonington to sell a gasoline engine, which he did last summer to Telley E. Babcock. Then it was replevined and taken from the possession of Mr. Babcock. The defendants deny the authority given Stanley to sell the engine and Main claims to have bought it from Appley.

Witnesses in the case, besides the litigants were Henry Gorman and Stephen P. Coffey, the latter producing a file of The Bulletin of July 23, 1922, in which Lafayette Main advertised the engine for sale.

DEATH OF REV. J. R. FOX FORMER NORWICH CURATE

Rev. John P. Fox, formerly a curate for a short time at St. Patrick's church in this city a number of years ago, died at the home of his sister, Miss Mary C. Fox, No. 20 Wethersfield avenue, Hartford, Sunday night after a long illness. He was 52 years old.

Father Fox was born in Hartford on June 15, 1864, the son of Thomas and Anne (Kelleher) Fox. He attended St. Peter's school, going to St. Charles college in Baltimore, after his graduation. He studied philosophy at Niagara university, Niagara, N. Y., and then took a course in theology in Elx en Provence, France. He was ordained in France in 1888.

Returning to the Hartford diocese, he was first assigned to the Thomaston parish under Bishop McMahon. He also served in parishes at Danielson, Norwich, Stafford Springs and Norwalk.

He leaves his sister with whom he lived.

SALVATION ARMY WORK ON EAST SIDE TODAY

It was learned Monday by the Salvation Army workers that the East Side section of the city had not been reached by the canvassers so that Mrs. Eben Learned, who is in charge of the women's part of the campaign, decided that a special effort would be made today (Tuesday) to reach the homes in that section. It is desired to give every household its opportunity to be counted in as a contributor to the Salvation Army campaign, as the workers want to have no one missed.

PROPOSE FIRE PREVENTION STATION AT PUTNAM

The legislative committee on appropriations held a hearing last week at Hartford on the bill for an appropriation of $100,000 for the prevention and control of forest fires in Connecticut. It was brought out that the economic loss to the state by forest fires was quite large. State Forester Harves said that fire prevention stations had been established in Union, Storrs, Bristol, Cornwall and Norfolk and that it was proposed to establish others at Putnam, Simsbury and other towns.

Thomas Hewes of Farmington said he had been asked by Mrs. John M. Riddle of Farmington to appear before the committee in support of the bill. Mrs. Riddle owned 3,000 acres in the towns of Farmington and Avon and last year she lost 800 acres of wood by fires. It was the intention of Mrs. Riddle to establish a school in Avon. Mr. Hewes said that Connecticut was becoming a scenic state and as such was attractive to outsiders as a place of residence.

Mrs. Edith Petty of Haddam complained of the damage done her woodland and farm by hunters and others who caused fires. "Hunting is a curse," she said with emphasis. "We get no protection from the fire wardens or state police," she added.

Colonel Andrew N. Shepard, a member of the committee, said that Connecticut was once a chestnut state, but since the chestnut trees had gone there were no other trees to take their place. This remark of Colonel Shepard's caused a discussion in which it was brought out that other trees such as pine and hemlock flourished in Connecticut one witness saying that in ten years a sapling of Scotch pine planted on a sandy knoll had grown to a height of 18 feet.

STATE D. A. R. ELECTS OFFICERS FOR YEAR

Charles H. Bissell of Southington was reelected state regent in the afternoon session of the annual state convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution at Bristol Saturday.

Other officers elected were the following: Miss Katherine Nettleton of Derby, vice regent; Mrs. Frederick S. Stevens of Bridgeport, recording secretary; Miss Alice Lee Coe of Winster, corresponding secretary; Mrs. James K. Crofut, consulting registrar; Miss Jennie Loomis of Windsor, treasurer; Miss Harriett P. Marsh of New Haven, historian; Miss Jessie W. Hayden, librarian, and Miss Florence M. Crofut, Mrs. Fred A. Strong, Mrs. C. M. Beach, Mrs. Frank S. Spencer, Mrs. Louise Pardee and Mrs. Wills E. Terrell, counsellors.

As she was indisposed in New York, Mrs. George Maynard Minor of New London, the national president general was unable to be present at the meeting.

RESERVES DECISION IN SOLDIERS' DIVORCE PETITION

Judge Christopher L. Avery heard the divorce action of Clifford E. Smith of New London against Florence Bloomer Smith in the superior court there Friday morning. The action was brought on the grounds of desertion. Smith, who is a World war veteran, testified that his wife left him in 1918. Because Smith was unable to tell the court the date of his marriage, Judge Avery took the matter under consideration and Attorney George C. Morgan, counsel for Smith, promised to file a copy of the marriage certificate. The complaint gives the date of the marriage as Oct. 4, 1912, and the date of desertion as June 10, 1918.

The case of Georgie Staples Treadway of New London against Norris M. Treadway for a divorce was not ready for a hearing, and it was continued until Friday, March 23.

Workmen's Compensation.

Six workmen's compensation agreements as follows have been approved by Commissioner J. J. Donohue:

Inland Paper Board Co., Versailles, employer, and Peter Thevine, Occum, employe, bruised left leg, at rate of $8.75.

N. E. Collapsible Tube Co., New London, employer, and Mildred Frankewicz, employe, finger crushed and nail torn off, at rate of $7.03; and Norine Tobin, finger crushed, at rate of $5.50.

Max Pollack & Co., Inc., of Groton, employer, and Hector Proulx, Groton, employe, infection in right hand, at rate of $10.

The O'Leary Co., New London, employer, and Charles Kripps, employe, fracture and laceration of elbow, at rate of $10.25.

Ponemah Mills, Taftville, employer, and Leo Bouley, Taftville, employe, infection of right thumb, at rate of $7.26.

Matters in City Court.

In the city court Monday morning a Yantic man who had been arrested twice within two days for intoxication paid $15 and costs. Three colored men and one woman charged with intoxication were tried for breach of peace and found free from guilt.

A man with a wife and family was charged with non-support. He put up a bond to provide his family $10 a week. Three men charged with driving to excess paid fines and costs, and a case against a medical man from Jewett City for violation of the motor laws went over another week under bonds.

Rules to Govern Park.

The park board held its March meeting Monday afternoon in the mayor's office at the court house, discussing routine business. The board has adopted a set of rules for the government of Mohegan park which will be posted in the park this summer and enforced by the park officials.

Broke Arm in Fall.

Mrs. E. Maurice of 41 Grove street fell on the ice on Grove street, breaking her left arm above the wrist. Dr. H. E. Higgins reduced the fracture.

SERMON ON MIRACLE OF LOAVES AND FISHES

Rev. John X. Pyne, S. J., professor of psychology at Holy Cross college, was again the preacher Sunday evening at the special Lenten service at St. Patrick's church, where a large congregation heard him with deep attention to his sermon from the lesson of the day.

He spoke in part as follows:

In the gospel of today St. John relates the miracle of the multiplication of the loaves and the fishes. Our Lord had retired with His apostles beyond the Lake of Genessareth. But He could not escape the people. They followed Him in thousands "because they saw the miracles He performed on those who were infirm." There on the hillside sloping down to the lake He preached to them until late in the afternoon, when it became necessary to dismiss them. He could not send them away hungry and faint. Yet the only provisions found in the whole multitude consisted of five barley loaves and two fishes. What was he to do? The five loaves and the two fishes would prove a very inadequate supper for five thousand men, besides the women and the children. To the mere man the problem would have been beyond His powers. To the omnipotent God the solution was simple. Bidding His apostles arrange the people in convenient groups, He gave thanks and distributes the loaves and the fishes to the apostles, who in turn distributed them to the people. After the supper was over, twelve baskets of fragments were collected. There had been a generous abundance, but no waste.

To the unbeliever this account seems to affirm something which is impossible. To the unbeliever there is no power superior to man and nature, and neither man nor nature can multiply loaves of bread.

First, let us consider the limitations of the power of man. Man can take the seed of the lily out of the ground in which it has been placed, and he can take with it all the earth which surrounded the seed, carry the whole to his laboratory, analyze it until he is able to tell you every chemical element contained in the mass, and he can combine those elements into many marvelous compounds. But there is one compound which he cannot produce out of them, and that is the lily. Yet, when he places in the ground the seen of the lily, and permits it to remain there, he has only to wait a few weeks to see a stem lifting its head above the surface of the earth, which increases in size, and gradually modifies itself until finally it is adorned with a beautiful white, bell-shaped cup which emits a most fragrant odor.

The seed can do something which man cannot do, can produce results which man cannot produce. Man not only cannot do what the seed does, but he does not even know how the seed does it.

Now for the limitations of the seed. There is intelligent design revealed in all the activities of the seed. Yet it is evident to man that the intelligence which guides the seed in its course does not reside in the seed itself. Outside of man, and outside of the seed, therefore, there must be something superior to man and to the seed, superior in knowledge and superior in power.

The seed of wheat is laid in the earth and yields a large offspring, which in their turn are planted, and yield their fruit. The process may be continued indefinitely. In this way nature multiplies the loaves. And can any man reasonably deny that there is in the author of nature the knowledge and the power that do directly and without the intervention of nature what He is constantly doing indirectly and through the intervention of nature?

How had our Lord worked the miracle? Had he created the loaves and the fishes which He distributed? Or had He transformed matter already in existence into those loaves? Apparently the five thousand men did not stop to inquire. They had a good meal before them and they were satisfied to eat it. They left the philosophical speculations about it to future generations. On that day they were "practical men."

But the following day in Capharnaum when our Lord declared to them "Except that you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink His blood, you shall not have life in you," the philosophical spirit was uppermost in their minds. "How can this be done?" they asked themselves. They did not ask Jesus. This was their great mistake. They decided, according to their own principles, that what He proposed was impossible. Many of them, thereupon, abandoned Him. But He did not modify His declaration in any way whatever. On the contrary, turning to His apostles, He asked: "Will you also go away?" Peter replied: "To whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life." Peter did not then understand any better than the disciples who had abandoned Jesus. But he had confidence in his Master. He was convinced that somehow the meaning would be made clear, and that when it was made clear there would be nothing revolting about it, and nothing more difficult to apprehend than there was in the multiplication of the loaves and the fishes.

At the Last Supper the meaning was made clear: "And whilst they were at supper, Jesus took bread and blessed and broke and gave to His disciples, and said 'Take ye and eat; this is my body.' And taking the chalice He gave thanks and gave to them saying: 'Drink ye all of this. For this is my blood of the New Testament which shall be shed for many for the remission of sins.'"

As the loaves and the fishes which were eaten by the multitude were real bread and real fish, so in holy communion the Christian receives the real body and the real blood of Jesus Christ under the appearance of bread.

To the incredulous of our age the dogma of the Real Presence is as much of an offense against reason as was the promise of it to the incredulous of Capharnaum. But even in our day there are still men who believe that with Jesus are "the words of eternal life," men after the heart of Peter, who will lift their hats in reverent salutation as they pass the tabernacle, who, like Peter, are prepared to trust their Master, and to kneel in lowly supplication in the church which houses His sacred body, and, with His body, His soul and divinity.

NORWICH LEADER IN STANDARD FIRE COUPLING

The effort which is being made to standardize all fire hose and fire department connections in the state is one of which has the most cordial indorsement of Fire Chief Howard L. Stanton of this city, who is as well versed in this subject as any man in the country and probably knows a great deal more about it than many officials of 17 years Chief Stanton was the mechanical engineer of the committee on standard hose couplings and hydrant fittings for public fire service of the National Fire Protection association. For several years he was chairman of this committee as well as the engineer, being a practical mechanic as, well as a fire chief. At present he is a member of the hydrants and valves and fire department cooperation committees of that organization. The first mentioned committee is the one which actively worked for standard couplings for fire departments throughout the country. The original tools for changing over non-standard couplings then in use to the dimensions now accepted as standard were made by Chief Stanton in 1903 and are still in his possession.

Started in 1873.

The first organized effort toward the adoption of standard thread was made from 1873 to 1883 in the conventions of Fire Engineers held during that period. Several widely different threads were adopted and advocated by this organization as standard. In 1905 the National Fire Protection association appointed a committee on hose couplings and hydrant fittings, which worked hard, and through its efforts the National standard thread was adopted by the leading organizations concerned with water supplies, fire departments and fire protection. Addresses, pamphlets and other means were used to get this matter before the public and as a result of this work nearly 100 towns became standard either through adoption, replacement or conversion. In this manner the doctrine of standardization was spread over the country.

In 1916 it became evident that the desired progress was not being made. Coordinated effort in the field work of standardization was then started, which meant that tools had to be made and tried out, all of which took time and was expensive. The next year, in July, the National Board of Fire Underwriters, through its committee on fire prevention and engineering standards, took over the work of the N. F. P. A. committee. During the war little was done in this work, but in 1919 it was again taken up and material progress has since been made, so that now National Standard hose couplings have received official approval and acceptance from the following important public organizations having control or supervision over the design and installation of such public utilities: American Public Works association; International Association of Fire Engineers; League of American Municipalities; Minnesota State Firemen's Association; National Board of Fire Underwriters; National Fire Protection association; National Firemen's association; New England Waterworks association; North Carolina State Firemen's association; Pacific Coast Association of Fire Chiefs; Pennsylvania Waterworks association; U. S. Bureau of Standards; Virginia State Firemen's Association.

Specifications.

The National Standard thread is 3 1-16 inches outside diameter over the discharge end, with a 7 1-2 pitch (which is 7 1-2 threads to the inch). here are several other dimensions in use which can be adopted to the National Standard by conversion, those slightly smaller being expanded and those slightly larger being cut down. Couplings having an inside diameter of 2 1-2 inches and an outside diameter over the thread on the discharge end ranging from 3 1-64 to 2 2-32 inches inclusive, with threads having the standard coupling.

Norwich, under Chief Stanton, is one of the few places in the state having a standard coupling. It always had a coupling which was 3 1-16 outside diameter over the discharge end, but it used to have a 7 pitch. This thread is interchangeable with the standard, but instead of being satisfied with that condition the city replaced its old hose, as fast as it was discarded, with hose having standard condition. Every piece of gradual and inexpensive method has changed from a non-standard to a standard condition. Every piece of apparatus has standard connections.

Major James H. Howland of the National Board of Fire Underwriters has charge of the standardizing movement which that board is pushing and is enthusiastic over the prospects for its progress in Connecticut this season. Since a practical demonstration given in Hartford a few weeks ago, when it was shown that a coupling with undersized dimensions could be made standard, the fire commissioners of Manchester have voted in favor of changing to the Hartford demonstration, but it is expected that further demonstrations will be arranged for and other places induced to standardize their equipment. Major Howland says that the conditions in Connecticut are very chaotic and that many places are unable to give or receive assistance through the divergencies in coupling dimensions, a condition which standardization would put an end to.

FAVOR STATE EFFORT TO CONTROL STREAM POLLUTION

That Connecticut industries favor the enactment of a law at this session of the general assembly which will help solve the problem of the pollution of streams and tidal waters in this state is evident in information given out by the executive offices of The Connecticut Chamber of Commerce which shows that the members of that organization are overwhelmingly in favor of a comprehensive program which will bring about and regulate the amount of pollution. For two years a special committee of the state chamber of commerce has been investigating the pollution of waters of this state. Their report was rendered to the board of directors several weeks ago and was unanimously accepted and approved. Because this question is one of public policy of great importance, a referendum thereon was ordered. The referendum which is now complete, is overwhelmingly in favor of the streams pollution bill as recommended by the state chamber of commerce by a proportionate vote of eight to one. For years the matter of streams pollution has been a perennial subject of controversy and the state chamber of commerce in presenting this bill to the legislature does so with the hope that some action will be taken at this session to enact a law which will develop a comprehensive program of limitation and regulation of the pollution or impurities in the waters of the state.

The substantial features of the proposed act are as follows:

(1) A commission to be known as the Connecticut Water Conservation Commission is created for the purpose preliminarily of studying, and primarily of seeking to remedy existing and possible future conditions of pollution.

(2) The members of this commission are to be appointed by the governor to serve for periods of four years and the appointments are to be so made that the terms shall, so far as possible, expire at different times.

(3) The members of the commission are to serve without pay but are to receive their actual expenses.

(4) They are to appoint and have the power of removal of an executive officer, who shall investigate matters under their direction and report findings to them together with recommendations. Subject to their approval, he shall appoint the assistants.

(5) If the board has reasonable cause to believe that any person is polluting the waters of the state or if complaint is made to that effect, it shall investigate and may hold public or private hearings and take testimony giving due notice to the person concerned.

(6) If it is found that the pollution has taken place, the board may enter an order directing the person concerned to adopt or use, or to operate properly, as the case may be, some practicable and reasonably available system by which the pollution may be prevented, having in making this direction, due regard for the rights and interests of all persons concerned.

(7) The order may specify a particular system or means to be adopted, but if there are several practicable means, the order shall give the person complained of the right to select the means.

(8) The mode of enforcement of its orders is by an injunction issuing out of a court of competent jurisdiction.

(9) An appeal is granted from any order to the superior court, and a permissable and effective ground of appeal will be that under all circumstances the expense entailed in taking the steps required would be unreasonable.

The outstanding feature of the proposed legislation is that there shall be created a commission, the duty of which shall be to study in detail the method of getting rid of specific pollutions and to take such steps as are reasonable and practicable for getting rid of them.

This commission is to have broad powers and the court on appeal is to have broad powers.

A rule of reasonableness is created by which only that which is reasonable and practicable is to be required and what comes within that definition is made a question reviewable in the superior court and, under general provisions of law, in the supreme court of errors.

The mode of enforcement is not by criminal prosecution but by injunction.

Death of Josephine Windish.

After a short illness Josephine Windish died Saturday in this city. The body was taken in charge by Cummings & Ring and was sent to relatives in Bridgeport Saturday evening on the 8.50 o'clock train. Burial was in Bridgeport on Monday.

Pussy willows sometimes grow to 20 feet in height.

Gladys Has Learned Where to Buy Camphorole

After Suffering Intensely Almost For Many Years—Is Ready to Tell Others.

Dr. Scholl: I suffered for years with foot and leg pain that I was positive was caused by fallen arches. For many years I suffered with the torture of flat feet. Finally I went to Dr. Harry H. Berry, at the same time I had a terrible itch and covered with sores, the doctor gave me an ointment, I could not sleep. Then I got an awful rash and bumps, it almost drove me crazy. I tried doctor after doctor and all kinds of medicine I was told to take, which only left me worse. I could not bear my feet to touch a shoe after by trade and had to give up my work. Seeing your advertisement in a paper, I thought I would take another chance and told my daughter to get me a package of Camphorole. You can imagine my surprise after using Camphorole, I started to get better right away. After using two jars of Camphorole I am well and happy and have gone back to work. I shall never forget the day I took a chance on Camphorole. After all the years I suffered, it took me to be well again. Robert W. Standish, 1017 High St., Chesbro, Ill.

Dr. Scholl's Camphorole 35c Solution

Dr. Scholl's Remedy for Foot Troubles

The F. F. A. Co.

You'll Welcome the Handsome 1923 Designs That We Are Showing In

Drapery Materials

All Offered at Prices That Recall Old Times

The new Spring showing of Drapery materials is larger and more comprehensive—the colorings and designs more attractive—than ever before.

Cretonnes Are Conspicuous

Cretonnes take the lead in our showing, this season, all in colorings and designs, so fresh and charming that you cannot help but like them.

We show Cretonnes in a wide range of patterns and colorings, excellent qualities—at 25c, 39c, and 49c a yard.

Cretonnes In Exclusive Patterns

In the better quality Cretonnes we show many patterns that are shown exclusively by us, in this vicinity. The designs are new and stunning, the colorings exquisite — Price range 59c, 69c and 89c a yard.

Reversible Tapestry Cretonne, 89c

We are showing a heavy, Reversible Tapestry Cretonne, particularly desirable for Couch Covers and Portieres, in some very striking patterns—Price 89c a yard.

TERRY CLOTH, $1.00

Terry Cloth is one of the most popular of the drapery materials for Spring. The patterns which are desirable for Cushions, Hangings, or Portieres, must be seen to be appreciated—at $1.00 a yard.

SILKALINES, 33c A YARD

We are showing a number of new patterns in Silkalines. This soft, pretty fabric is very desirable for Comfortables, etc., and can be had in a variety of pretty chintz designs—at 33c a yard.

QUAKER LACE, 35c

A broad showing of new and attractive designs in Quaker Lace by the yard—Price range is 35c, 49c, 59c and up to $1.75 a yard.

DECO SILK, $2.25

45-inch "Deco" Silk, guaranteed sunfast, in very pretty shades of rose, gold, blue and brown—at $2.25 a yard.

SILK MADRAS, $1.50

36-inch Colored Silk Madras, in rose, gold, mulberry, green and blue, both figured and striped effects—at $1.50 a yard.

CURTAIN MADRAS, 49c

White Curtain Madras, in a splendid range of new and attractive patterns—at 49c a yard.

Colored Madras, $1.00

36-inch Colored Madras for Overdrapes, in a full line of wanted colors—at $1.00 a yard.

36-INCH REPP, 69c

36-inch Repp, in desirable shades of rose, blue and green—at 69c a yard.

FIGURED ARMURE

50-inch Figured Armure, in both brown and green, and in a good range of patterns, suitable for Portieres—at $1.00 a yard.

A Good Showing of Ruffled Curtains

Ruffled Curtains are in high favor this season. Our showing is most comprehensive and includes, Scrims, Marquisette and Muslin—Price range $1.50, $1.75, $2.00, $2.25 and $2.50 a pair.

Dealer - and - Consumer

Both have Confidence in

"SALADA" TEA

Hence the tremendous Demand.

"The most delicious Tea you can buy"

JUST TRY IT.

VOL. LXV.—No. 63 POPULATION 29,686 NORWICH, CONN., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1923 PRICE T

HEARING ON THE HIGHWAY COMMISSIONERSHIP PROBLEM

Reorganization of the Department Not Probable at This Session of the Legislature—Arguments Were Made on the Question of a Single Commissioner Versus a Three or Five Headed Commission—It is Probable a Single Commissioner Will be Put in Charge, While a Temporary Commission Studies Plans for the Future.

Hartford, Conn., March 13.—The highway commissionship problem thrust upon the present general assembly by declination of the present commissioner, Charles J. Bennett, to consider a possible re-appointment, came before the legislative committee on roads, bridges and rivers this afternoon through a hearing on Senator Ellis bill "concerning state highway law."

This bill has been thought to represent the desire of Governor Templeton, as expressed in his inaugural message for re-organization of the highway department. The title of the bill gave little inkling that the question of a single commissioner versus three or five headed commission would be argued, and while the capitol corridors and other committee rooms were thronged a few members of either branch attended the hearing. On this particular bill the hearing was short but enough highway department matters are to produce debate. From what was put forward many believed that re-organization will be deferred until the 1925 session, meanwhile a single commissioner being in charge and a temporary commission studying plans for the future.

Senator Trumbull said he unalterably was opposed to a three-headed commission. He believed in a single commissioner who should be an engineer to build roads. The senator would set up a commission to allocate available highway construction. This commission would be the body to which the public would address its demands, would give hearings, would decide when, where and how roads should be built and would allot the money for the roads. It would then instruct the highway commissioner to go ahead and build the roads. He believed that money paid by each county for building or repair of roads should be allocated back to that county.

Passing to an exposition of his commission idea to do the planning, Senator Trumbull said he favored a commission of one representative from each county. He said the machinery to create such a commission as in existence. He would give the state comptroller a vote in case of a tie, but he would not give the highway commissioner a votes in any action of the commission.

Major John Buckley, house leader, put forward an entirely different proposition. He said that he had no plan for a three-headed or a five headed commission. He did not believe a change should be made at this session. He favored having the single commissioner function for the next two years as he has been doing and at the same time this session create a temporary highway commission which would have no authority to interfere with the commissioner but would study the entire question of future organizations of the department, prepare a bill for the re-organization and present it in 1925. Major Buckley said he had no criticism to offer against the present commissioner, or against any commissioner except to say he believed the department duties had grown beyond the abilities of a single individual. He did not believe there was a man equal to the combined task of determining on his own initiative the state's policy of highway construction of expending money of meeting the public and giving attention to its demands, of determining what the public should have and should not have, of managing his own department and seeing that his orders were carried out and of making sure the state got 100 cents of value for every dollar. Major Buckley spoke highly of Commissioner Bennett.

He said he believed that the highway commissioner should be the man who actually used his time in construction of roads, and not in negotiating with the public as to a policy. The expenditure of the money should be placed with a commission or some other functioning body through which it would be possible to check up details of expenditures. Mr. Buckley was asked why he had changed from a commissioner to commission and replied that he wanted it made clear that he was not advocating a permanent commission of any number, but wished to emphasize that he did not believe one man could cope with department problems. He wanted it understood that he did not believe this legislature could organize the department because it has not the facts. He would have a commissioner named until the 1925 session completed the reorganization.

Representative Lewis of Hampton having the counties represented of a commission, believing that a single commissioned was to arbitrary. He said the legislature could pass all the bills it wanted but a commissioner did not have to pay any attention to them. He also said a commissioner was apt to build up a "political machine." He said that Connecticut had constructed more roads than it could take care of. The question he thought was not whether the state was getting 100 cents on the dollar but whether it is getting 75 cents or even 50 cents on a dollar.

Several others spoke but chiefly on the point as to whether the state was getting its money's worth. Mr. Jodoin, of Sprague praised Senator MacDonald with whom he had worked when the latter was high way commissioned. Mr. Jodoin said he thought Mr. Bennett was as good a man as could be found and had dealt squarely with the town officials who had business with him.

Senator Ellis said that he believed the highway commissioner should be an engineer. It is quite possible that the task had grown too large for one man and that the time had come for a commission. The object of the bill was to bring up that point. He said that Mr. Bennett was going and the question was:: "Is there a man in sight big enough to take Mr. Bennett's place"

Mr. Fenton of Windham, democratic leader, asked why Connecticut was to go backward by trying a commission when so many other states are trying to get back to a single commissioner. He did not believe there was anything in Senator Trumbull's county proposition. He said the state was overburdened with county government now and the days when a county can determine what its roads should be are gone. Roads should be built for the whole state.

FRANCE HAS SYNOPSIS OF TURKISH REPLY

Paris, March 13 (By the A. P.)—The foreign office today received a detailed synopsis of the Turkish government's reply to the Lausanne peace proposals. From the synopsis it appears that a large number of the provisions of the Lausanne treaty are called into question, and that acceptance of the Turkish contentions would involve drastic changes in the original draft of the treaty. The French government, however is reserving its opinion as to the exact significance of the Turkish claims until it is in possession of the full text of the Angora government's reply, which is expected to arrive here shortly.

It has been decided, however, that the allies shall confer at an early date as to the attitude they shall accept in order to present a united front to the Turks. These preparatory conversations are expected to be held in London, as Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary, will be unable to come to France. The French government will be represented by M. Bompard, ambassador to Turkey, and Admiral Lacase.

SHIPMENTS FROM THE RUHR HAVE BEEN DELAYED

Washington, March 13.—State department agents in France and Germany have been directed to investigate and report to Secretary Hughes on about 20 cases where shipments of materials from the Ruhr to the United States have been delayed because of the special export tax levied by the French occupational authorities in Germany.

An effort will be made in each instance to ascertain whether there has been any discrimination against American business enterprises or whether they are require to pay a double tax in order to secure release of the materials, it was explained.

The policy of the Washington government, it is explained, is to handle each complaint on the merits of the case presented, rather than to proceed along the lines of general negotiations with Paris. Up to the press time none of the cases under examination has revealed any disposition on the part of the French occupational authorities to discriminate against American concerns.

HONOR PUPIL SET FIRE IN TWO SCHOOL ROOMS

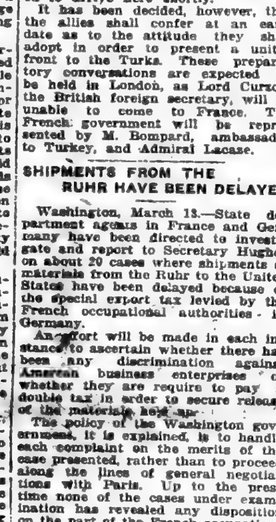
New York, March 13.—Jacob Schwartz, 9, honor pupil and monitor of his class, was under arrest tonight charged with setting fire to two rooms at Public School 23 in the Bronx yesterday. An irresistible impulse to light matches he had in his pockets, he told police, caused him to fire a bookcase in the assistant principal's room, and to apply the blaze to papers in another classroom.

"The matches seemed to burn in my pockets," the boy declared. "I had to get rid of them somehow, so I just struck them and threw them on the bookcase and papers."

The blaze, which caused excitement among the families of the children, was extinguished after it had burned a cloakroom and destroyed the bookcase.

Schwartz was held on a technical charge of juvenile delinquency.

Voices Across The Sea



A new photograph of King George of England. It is reported that King George and President Harding may exchange congratulations by wireless telephone within a few months. The White House will be connected with Windsor Castle as easily as if the two historic buildings were in the same city. The two-way wireless telephone conversation between America and England will be the next step in the experiments being made by telephone, telegraph, radio and electric companies.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

D'Annunzio Celebrates 60th Birthday

Rome, March 13.—Gabriele D'Annunzio, soldier and poet celebrated his sixtieth birthday today in his hermitage on Lake Garda. He received thousands of messages of congratulation from friends and admirers throughout Italy, especially from his legionaries at Fiume and from Abruzzi, his birthplace.

Landslide Threatens Village

Bologna, March 13.—The village of Braschi, in the Province of Piacenza, is theatened with burial under a landslide caused by the infiltration of water from the upper slopes of the Apennines. The movement of the earth, after destroying woods and fields, has already engulfed several houses and buried some livestock. The population has evacuated the village.

Cuba Deports 20 Persons

Havana, March 13.—Twenty persons were deported to Europe yesterday on board the steamer Masaden. All of them had been returned to Cuba by the United States authorities on charges of unlawful entry into the United States from Cuba. Thirty more persons are being held for deportations on similar charges.

Old R. C. Church in Havana Sold

Havana, March 13.—The old Roman Catholic church of St. Philip, situated in the center of the financial district of Havana, has been sold to the National City Bank of New York. The price paid is reported to have been $1,500,000. It is understood the church will be razed and an office building erectde on the site.

Famous Pine Forest on Fire

Valencia, Spain, March 13.—The famous pine forest surrounding the Trappist monastery at Portacoeli, eight miles northwest of this city, is on fire. The flames already have destroyed 2,500 acres of trees, notwithstanding the efforts of large forces of engineers, civil guards and laborers to quench them.

Son Born to Duchess of Brunswick

Gmunden, Upper Austria, March 13.—(By the A. P.)—The Duchess of Brunswick, daughter of former Emperor William of Germany, has given birth to a son. The Duchess of Brunswick, who was Princess Victoria Louise, is thirty years old. She married the Duke of Brunswick in May, 1912. With the latest addition, their family includes three sons and one daughter.

IS ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE A POLITICAL ORGANIZATION

New York, March 13.—Extension throughout the country of the ruling of an Albany court classing the Anti-Saloon League as a politics organization and requiring it to publis hinformation on its campaign expenditures, was predicted by Colonel Ranson Gillette, counsel for the association against the prohibition amendment in a statement issued by the organization today.

"This is the first decision which has ever been rendered defining the status of the Anti-Saloon League," said the statement. "It clearly proves that it is a political organization and not a religious body and the effect of this decision should be far-reaching, extending to every state and to the national Anti-saloon league of Westerville, Ohio, which I understand is not incorporated and which had always taken the position that it is an educational and religious body, whereas in fact it is purely political, as evidenced by this decision. The pronouncement of Judge Staley that publicity will never hurt a good cause and has destroyed many a bad one, is particularly gratifying to those opposed to the league, for it was largely on this attitude that our opposition was based."

BROKERS CHARGED WITH USING MAILS TO DEFRAUD

New York, March 13.—Charged with using the mails to defraud investors, Samuel and Louis Liebster, brothers, operating as Lloyd Wright Company, inc., Upper Broadway stock brokers, today were held in $2,500 bail each to await the action of the federal grand jury.

They were accused by post office inspectors of representing to investors that the stock of the Nipissing Extension Mines, Limited, a Canadian corpration, was stock of the Nipissing Mines, another Canadian corporation, which is traded in on the New York curb market at $6 a share.

Assistant United States Attorney Gillette charged that this was a swindle, as the Nipissing Extension Mines, Ltd., was an undeveloped prospect capitalized by all Farah, a Syrian, and its stock had been turned over to Lloyd Wright Company at 15 to 25 cents a shore. The prosecutor accused the Liebsters of disposing of the stock on the representation that it was Nipissing mines stock and at the price that stock brought on the curb.

MANUFACTURE OF WOOLEN AND WORSTED GOODS

Washington, March 13—Woolen and worsted goods turned out by United States manufacturers during 1921, the commerce department announced today, amounted to $755,584,000 against $1,069,234,000, the value of the same production in 1919. In spite of this decrease in output value, amounting to 29.1 per cent. the number of establishments and workers engaged in the production in the two years changed very little. There were 814 woolen and worsted manufactories reported in 1921, with 171,593 employes, while in 1919 there were 816 and 176,393 workers.

Workers and salaries paid increased in totals during 1921, amounting to $201,248,000 against $199,091,000 paid out in 1919. In 1919, however, manufacturers paid $665,594,000 for raw materials against $400,046,000, the 1921 raw material cost.

TRAGEDY IN APARTMENT IN CINCINNATI SUBURB

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 13.—A woman with her head almost severed from her body and the body of a man with two bullet wounds near his heart, were found late today in an apartment in Mt. Auburn, a suburb of Cincinnati. A bloodstained hatchet was on the floor near the bodies.

The dead are: Ethel Goodman and her divorced husband, Harry Liermann, butcher.

Rose Krier, the housekeeper of the apartment, discovered the bodies.

Coroner D. C. Handley said that it seemed almost impossible that Liermann could have inflicted the two bullet wounds in his own body.

French Now Occupy Harbor at Rheinau

One of the Largest Transit Ports on the Rhine—Used by Thyssen Coal Interests.

Mannheim, March 13 (By the A. P.).—The French today occupied the Thyssen coal harbor at Rheinau, one of the largest transit points on the Rhine.

A despatch from Berlin March 8 quoted a report received there from Mannheim to the effect that the French had occupied Rheinau harbor, on the Rhine, in lower Alsace. The despatch added that troops were marching on the town of Rheinau, which is a suburb of Mannheim.

MARTIAL LAW ESTABLISHED IN THE TOWN OF RHUR

Recklinghausen, March 13.—The French military authorities have ordered the residents of the town of Buer to remain indoors after 7 o'clock at night; all lights in the houses must be extinguished by 10 o'clock.

During the daytime men in the streets or other public places must not put their hands in their pockets. The burgomaster has appealed to the people to remain calm, if only for the sake of the hostages, of whom he is one.

GERMAN GOVT PROTESTS REPRISALS BY FRENCH

Berlin, March 13 (By the A. P.).—The German government has despatched a note to the French government protesting against the severe reprisals taken for the killing of two Frenchmen at Buer. The note declares that several persons were killed or wounded by reason of the French measures, while, despite all efforts made, it had not be n proved that the Germans had any part in the killings.

The note concludes by stating that the latest measures taken by the occupation authorities, involving the disbandment of the police, are calculated to drive the now defenseless population to despair.

BISMARCK'S LETTERS AND TELEGRAMS MADE PUBLIC

Paris, March 13 (By the A. P.).—The foreign office this evening issued for publication here the letters and telegrams from Bismarck, the German Iron Chancellor, which Premier Poincare cited in his interview with The Associated Press on Sunday.

The documents, dated August, 1871, and addressed to the German charge d'affaires in Paris, were used by M. Poincare in his interview to show that the German protest against the "illegality" of the France-Belgian occupation of the Ruhr was refuted by the more drastic actions taken by the Germans after the Franco-Prussian war.

FRENCH TO WORK COKE PLANT AT WESTERHOLT

Hecklinghausen, March 13.—(By the A. P.)—Plans for operating the government-owned coke plant at Westerholt near here, which has been taken over by the French authorities as part of their scheme for obtaining reparations from the Germans, were announced today. Members of the engineers mission, which has the work in hand, are reported to have made arrangements to load into cars 15,000 tons of coke taken with the plant. The first train of this coke started for France tonight.

Tanks were used in the operation and a cavalry patrol has been placed around the plant; infantry guards have replaced the Germans, 400 of whom quit work this morning. Four thousand miners in an adjacent coal mine also went on strike as a protest against the occupation of the coke plant, but even should the strike continue there is another coal of the surface to run the plant for several months.

Assurances were given the German officials by the French that the coal mine would not be interfered with, but at the same time the directors were cautioned that if any difficulties were ncountered in the coke plant, the coal mine, which also is state property, would be seized and shut down.

The coke furnaces are cooling tonight; the French are going ahead with enthusiasm and expect to have them operating again within a few days, and there are already indications that some of the 400 German strikers would return to work shortly. If the strike continues, the French plan to bring in their own men, having 46 on hand already to start; these are Poles and Germans who signed for service and were put to work the first thing this morning loading the coke cars.

WAR TALK BY GEAMAN MILITARIST HINDENBURG

Hanoer, March 13.—(By The A. P.)—Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, addressing the Veterans' Leagu ehere today, said:

"We do not wish to instigate war, but in view of the present realities we cannot deny the truth of Schiller's words: 'The most peaceful person cannot live in peace if a wiked neighbor does not wish it, and the nation is unworthy that does not stake everything upon its honor.'"

Von Hindenburg extolled the staunchness of the Germans in the Ruhr and exhorted his hearers to loyalty to the Fatherland "especially in these difficult times."

JERUSALEM SUGGESTED AS SEAT OF THE L. OF N.

New York, March 13.—A suggestion that Jerusalem be chosen as the seat of the league of nations was voiced by Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist organization, at a luncheon given in his honor today by a group of editors and publishers.

"The Jewish national home there is built on a normal political basis," he said. "We are not going into Palestine to dominate anyone but to build it up and take our place according to our merit.

"We will cooperate with the Arabs who make up the bulk of the population," he continued, "and strive to overcome prejudice and friction. Thousands have come, and regardless of the Arabs, it will go on, as thousands more follow. We are a little league of nations in peace and harmony. When peace is born, I hope that Jerusalem may become the seat of the league of nations."

Auto Thief Killed In Effort to Escape

Car Crashed Into an Elevated Pillar in New York and Was Wrecked.

New York, March 13.—One man was shot dead and two injured today when motorcycle police pursued three motorists in a stolen car down the upper East Side until the car crashed into an elevated pillar and was wrecked. One of the fugitives escaped.

The dead man was identified later by the police as George Wilson of the Bronx, alleged to have a prison record for larceny. He was shot when he poked his head out of an apartment house dumb waiter in which he had taken refuge after jumping from the machine.

One of the injured men, Murray Bader, who leaped from a delivery truck to discover the cause of the excitement, was struck by a stray bullet. He was taken to the hospital in a serious condition.

The other man injured was William Liggett, an employe of the Edison company. He sprang from a manhole in which he was working when the fugitives' car bore down on him and escaped with a glancing blow.

The prisoner taken alive by the police and held in $10,000 bail on suspicion of grand larceny, was booked as Samuel Dasse.

HOW OPIUMS AND LIQUOR WERE CONCEALED ON SHIP

Boston, arch 13.—Opium cans concealed in a barrel of washing powder, and bottles of liquor hidden behind false partitions in pantry, under sheathing of life boats and in the shaft alley were found on board the American steamer Sugura, in port here from Hamburg, by customs inspectors today. The find of opium was valued at $30,000, while 146 quart bottles of liquor also were discovered.

Foo Ah Sang, Chinese steward of the Sugura, was arraigned in federal court today charged with attempting to smuggle narcotics into the United States and held in $5,000 for a later hearing. Customs men said the Chinese owned the opium and most of the liquor. The Sugura was granted clearance for Baltimore when her agents filed a bond of $12,000.

TO USE ARMY AIRPLANES TO COMBAT BOLL WEEVIL

Washington, March 13. — Three army airplanes with necessary personel were assigned to the department of agriculture today for use as a "combat unit" against the boll weevill in Louisiana. The assignment was made for a period of eight months, during which the airplanes will work under the auspices of agricultural officers in Louisana seeking means to attack the weevil from the air.

Secretary Wallace of the agricultural department had asked for thirteen planes, five for a period of twelve months and eight for four months, but the air service decided that a shortage of equipment and personnel would make full compliance impossible.

The airplanes will be used with special spraying equipment to fly over the fields, spreading insecticide. Previous experiments of this kind are said to have been successful to a high degree.

VOTE 48-HOUR WEEK FOR WOMEN AND CHILDREN

Providence, R. I., March 13.—The house of the Rhode Island legislature today voted 70 to 21 in favor of the Lavender bill providing for a 48-hour working week law for women and children. An amendment to the measure gives permission to employers and employes to enter into agreements to allow the 48 hours to be worked in five days.

The special legislation committee of the senate will receive the bill for consideration tomorrow.

The enactment of such a law, if possible, was one of the planks of the democratic platform last November.

STORM WARNING ISSUED BY THE WEATHER BUREAU

Washington, March 13.—The weather bureau issued the following storm warning tonight:

"Advisory northeast storm warnings 8.30 p. m. on the coast of Maine. Disturbance of considerable intensity centered south of southern New England coast, moving northeastward will be attended by strong northeast winds, possibly reaching gale force tonight and shifting to north and northwest Wednesday morning diminishing Wednesday."

OBITUARY.

Marie Bates.

Stamford, Conn., March 13.—Marie Bates, an actress who had played in many productions in the last 22 years, died at her home in Glenbrook last night. She was born in Boston. Funeral services will be held at Glenbrook on Friday and burial will be in Woodlawn, N. Y.

Marie Bates had a long and notable career on the American stage. In her earlier years, she was prominent in various stock companies, having been a member, among others, of the famous Boston Museum Stock and later under the management of the late John B. Stetson, famous Boston theatrical man.

She appeared with Warfield in "The Auctioneer," "The Music Master," "A Grand Army Man," and "The Return of Peter Grimm."

Contemporary theatre goers will best remember her for her delineation of Mrs. Egan, the bibulous old lady in "The Auctioneer."

Dr. James Roscoe Day.

Syracuse, N. Y., March 13.—Dr. James Roscoe Day, chancellor emeritus of Syracuse University, died of pneumonia tonight at Atlantic City, whither he had gone a fortnight ago with his family for a brief vacation.

Dr. Day, a national figure, noted as educator, leader of Methodism, author and publicist, was in his usual good health when he left Syracuse. He contracted influenza at the seaside resort and broncho-pneumonia developed. He was stricken Friday night. At the bedside when the end came were Mrs. Day and their daughter, Miss Imogene Day.

Dr. Day was 77 years of age. He retired as chancellor of Syracuse university June 15, after having served more than a quarter century as head of the institution.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS

David Sillman has decided to continue the production of Shakespearian plays.

Seventeen feet of snow, the heaviest fall ever recorded in Switzerland, have been piled on the peak of Mt. Scentis.

Thieves stole $1500 worth of men's clothing from the King Clothing company's store on Hanover street, Boston, over the week end.

The navy department is to provide a group of engineering students with experience on cruising battleships this summer.

Dr. Walker Gill Wylie, 75, who introduced trained nursing into the United States at Bellevue hospital, New York, died yesterday in New York city.

Examination of executors and trustees of the $75,000,000 estate of Anthony N. Brady, financier of Albany, who died in London in 1913, was begun in surrogate's court in Albany, N. Y.

James S. Coward, prominent shoe manufacturer, of Bayonne, N. J., died there last night of pneumonia. He was 76 years old and had been in the shoe business since boyhood.

California's tax on companies doing business in that state, questioned in seven cases brought by the Pullman company, was sustained by the supreme court.

The British army estimates, which will be up for discussion this week in the house of commons, are expected to show a saving of 16,000,000 pounds sterling.

A slight improvement was reported at Portsmouth, R. I., in the condition of Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt, suffering from diphtheria at the Vanderbilt estate at Portsmouth, R. I.

The public utilities commission will hold a hearing in Bridgeport Wednesday morning, March 21, to consider readjustment of trolley fares in that city.

A voluntary pledge to report to the discipline committee any violation of the "honor system" in examinations was signed by about one-third of the junior class at Yale.

Miss Alice Gallup, principal of the Green school, Mansfield, Mass., led 75 pupils from the building to safety during a fire which destroyed the schoolhouse.

Rain and hazy weather prevented yesterday the scheduled aerial attack by army bombing planes on the ice jam in the Delaware river which has threatened the city with floods.

David Kinley, president of the University of Illinois, was re-elected to office at the annual meeting of the board of trustees held in Urbana, Ill., yesterday.

After 42 years' service as a member of the Haverhill, Mass., fire department, 32 of which he has been the department head, Chief John B. Gordon has decided to retire on May 1.

Mrs. Silas Hubbel, said to weigh about 300 pounds slipped on the icy porch of her home in Naugatuck and plunged three stories to the ground escaping practically uninjured for a deep gash in her forehead.

Imports into the United States during December were valued at $297,000,000, according to preliminary estimates by the commerce department, compared to $37,495,506 during December, 1921.

Bridgeport police have received word that the police at Cleveland have in custody a man believed to be Eugene Ledoux, who escaped from the Fairfield county jail on Nov. 22 last with Alex Zepko.

Federal prohibition officials are investigating reports that no less than 6,000 cases of whiskey were smuggled into the country Sunday by more than 100 small boats plying between Jersey coast towns and the rum armada.

United States Attorney Hayward in New York yesterday began action under the Volstead act to padlock for a year three of the best known cabarets in the White Light district—The Knickerbocker Grill, the Little Club and Shanley's.

The military affairs committee of the general assembly has voted to report unfavorably on a proposal to establish an aviation squadron in the Connecticut national guard, the aerodrome of which if was proposed to locate on Brainard field, Hartford.

The London Catholic Herald publishes the statement that the Charles Diamond taken in the week end raids on Irish rebels in England is not the editor of that paper, and that the latter is not connected with the Irish irregulars.

The Wallace-Barnes company of Bristol, manufacturers of springs, announced that it had purchased the plant there of the Dunbar Brothers' company, also makers of springs. No details weer given out, but it was believed the deal involved about $750,000.

Employes of the Chicago packing plants of Swift & Co. who work on hourly and piecework basis and who have been with the company continuously for five years were yesterday granted a week's vacation with pay this year by the plant assembly, composed of equal numbers of employes.

The office of the Guaranty Loan company on Chester street, Providence, was robbed of $800 by three masked men, who held up Thomas Decesare, the manager, and Arthur Decesare, clerk, and also took $11 from the manager's ocket after striking him with a revolver butt.

WOMAN'S LEG ENCASED IN AUTOGRAPHED CAST

New York, March 13.—Mrs. H. R. Bailey of Brookline, Mass., wife of a Boston manufacturer, arrived today on the Baltic with her right leg in an autographed cast.

The first night out, Mrs. Bailey became the victim of a nightmare. Believing that she and her daughter were being attacked, she stumbled out of her cabin, only to trip and fall.

After her leg had been set, she refused to stay in her cabin more than 24 hours. She was carried to the lounge, where fellow passengers initialled the plaster.

Mrs. Bailey said she intended to keep the cast as a souvenir.

[illegible] DAMAGE IN THE OPIE BLOCK, WESTE[illegible]

Chief Egger and Three Firemen Were Overcome by S[illegible] Ground Floor Was Occupied by the P. H. Opie [illegible] Goods Store and L. Tuch, Clothier—The Upper Floors of the Three Story Brick Structure Were Used as Of[illegible] fices.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Westerly, R. I., March 13.—Fire which broke out about 10.30 o'clock tonight in the Opie block, a three-story brick structure located in the heart of the business section in this town, caused damage estimated at $100,000. Chief Egger of the local fire department and two firemen who were overcome by smoke were attended by Dr. Lewis. The cause of the disastrous blaze is ascribed to defective wiring in the switch room in the building.

The building is owned by Frederick S. Opie of Westerly. Occupants of the building include The Opie Company, first and second floors and basement; Laclede Woodmansee's Gift Shop; Louis Tuch, who has offices on the second floor Dr. D. W. Stanton, dentist; Robert H. Farnum, dentist; John J. Dunn, attorney; Clarence E. Roche, attorney; Dr. A. H. Gold, chiropractic; Prudential Insurance Company; Stiles, The Photographer; Judge James O. Watt, attorney; barber shop conducted by Antonio Gencarella; millinery store on third floor conducted by Armand Marcil.

The blaze when discovered was small and fire extinguishers were used to combat it. Believing the fire over firemen departed only to see the flames break out in more serious proportions a few minutes later on the third floor.

The Watch Hill fire department and the P. S. Hose came to assist the entire Westerly department in fighting the fire. A very effective stream issued from the hose attached to the hydrant on Canal street across the river in Pawcatuck. The river is about 75 feet in width. Another stream of water was thrown from the top of the Industrial Trust Company and the Alling Rubber Company buildings.

The fire was still burning at 1.30 Wednesday morning but was under control.

HUBBARD IS ELIMINATED FROM FINANCE BOARD

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, March 14.—House bill No. 2, which has been before two general assemblies, was finally defeated in the senate today as it was two years ago. The bill was taken from the table in the house last week and transmitted to the senate, eliminated E. Kent Hubbard of Middletown from the state board of finance. The bill as passed by the house was amended and returned there on disagreeing action. The house voted to recede from its former action and give reconsideration. The senate amendment was accepted and concurrence was voted with the action of the senate. The bill as amended reads:

"No person shall hold an office as an appointive member of the state board of finance while such person is by appointment of the governor, or the senate, a trustee, director, commissioner or member of the board of managers of any state institution, or any institution receiving aid from the state by specific appropriation by the general assembly."

The bill as amended practically leaves it to Mr. Hubbard the choice as to whether he will desire to remain a member of the finance board or remain a trustee of the insane hospital and other institutions.

VOTES $8,000 FOR THE COUNTY FARM BUREAU

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, March 13.—The adjourned meeting of New London county members of the general assembly was held today with Senator Rogers of New London in the chair. In the absence of Representative Kelly, the clerk, Representative H. S. Edgecombe of Groton acted pro tem.

It was voted to make an appropriation of $8,000 for the next two years to the New London County Farm Bureau. It was voted that the bureau in its choice of agent should give preference to a resident of New London county if possible.

Discussion of county home and jail matters was deferred to an adjourned meeting to be held on Tuesday, March 20.

CHOKED OFF BILL TO REINSTATE POLICEMEN

Boston, March 13.—The house of representatives today choked off a bill which if it has been said would have opened the way to reinstatement of any or all of the policemen who went on strike here in 1919.

After the longest debate in recent legislative history, the house voted 75 to 146 on roll call against accepting a committee's favorable report on the reinstatement of James F. Clark, one of the strikers. This action refused the bill a third reading and ended its consideration.

A substitute bill, which would authorize the police commissioner to reinstate any former members of the force whom he might deem fit was defeated by a voice vote.

$2,500,000 IN GOLD FOR SHIPMENT TO FRANCE

New York, March 13.—Withdrawal of $2,500,000 in gold from the Federal Reserve Bank for shipment to France on La France was announced tonight by the International Acceptance Corporation. The shipment was described as a "commercial transaction for the account of foreign correspondents," the purpose of the shipment being withheld.

This is the first large shipment to continental Europe in several weeks, the last one having been re-shipped to Switzerland. Several million dollars have been withdrawn since the first of the year, however, for shipment to India, where the metal has been in demand for commercial purposes such as the manufacture of jewelry.

BOY BANDIT SENTENCED TO 18 YEARS' IMPRISONMENT

Norfolk, Va., March 13.—Seventeen year old Donata Sirave, alias Duke Sirabo, alias Ben Liverman, self styled "boy bandit," was sentenced to 18 years' imprisonment in the state penitentiary at Richmond today, when here to six charges of robbery and one he pleaded guilty in corporation court of burglary. Sirave said his home was in New Bedford, Mass.

FIVE-YEAR SENTENCE FOR LAND SWINDLE

Kansas City, Mo., March 13.—W. E. Stewart, recently convicted of using the mails to defraud in an alleged $60,000,000 land swindle in Hidalgo county, Texas, was sentenced in federal court today to serve five years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas, and was fined $1,500 and costs estimated at about $5,000.

A woman likes to go away for the winter because most of her friends can't.

HUSBAND IS ELIMINATED FROM FINANCE BOARD

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, March 14.—House bill No. 2, which has been before two general assemblies, was finally defeated in the senate today as it was two years ago. The bill was taken from the table in the house last week and transmitted to the senate, eliminated E. Kent Hubbard of Middletown from the state board of finance. The bill as passed by the house was amended and returned there on disagreeing action. The house voted to recede from its former action and give reconsideration. The senate amendment was accepted and concurrence was voted with the action of the senate. The bill as amended reads:

"No person shall hold an office as an appointive member of the state board of finance while such person is by appointment of the governor, or the senate, a trustee, director, commissioner or member of the board of managers of any state institution, or any institution receiving aid from the state by specific appropriation by the general assembly."

The bill as amended practically leaves it to Mr. Hubbard the choice as to whether he will desire to remain a member of the finance board or remain a trustee of the insane hospital and other institutions.

VOTES $8,000 FOR THE COUNTY FARM BUREAU

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, March 13.—The adjourned meeting of New London county members of the general assembly was held today with Senator Rogers of New London in the chair. In the absence of Representative Kelly, the clerk, Representative H. S. Edgecombe of Groton acted pro tem.

It was voted to make an appropriation of $8,000 for the next two years to the New London County Farm Bureau. It was voted that the bureau in its choice of agent should give preference to a resident of New London county if possible.

Discussion of county home and jail matters was deferred to an adjourned meeting to be held on Tuesday, March 20.

CHOKED OFF BILL TO REINSTATE POLICEMEN

Boston, March 13.—The house of representatives today choked off a bill which if it has been said would have opened the way to reinstatement of any or all of the policemen who went on strike here in 1919.

After the longest debate in recent legislative history, the house voted 75 to 146 on roll call against accepting a committee's favorable report on the reinstatement of James F. Clark, one of the strikers. This action refused the bill a third reading and ended its consideration.

A substitute bill, which would authorize the police commissioner to reinstate any former members of the force whom he might deem fit was defeated by a voice vote.

$2,500,000 IN GOLD FOR SHIPMENT TO FRANCE

New York, March 13.—Withdrawal of $2,500,000 in gold from the Federal Reserve Bank for shipment to France on La France was announced tonight by the International Acceptance Corporation. The shipment was described as a "commercial transaction for the account of foreign correspondents," the purpose of the shipment being withheld.

This is the first large shipment to continental Europe in several weeks, the last one having been re-shipped to Switzerland. Several million dollars have been withdrawn since the first of the year, however, for shipment to India, where the metal has been in demand for commercial purposes such as the manufacture of jewelry.

BOY BANDIT SENTENCED TO 18 YEARS' IMPRISONMENT

Norfolk, Va., March 13.—Seventeen year old Donata Sirave, alias Duke Sirabo, alias Ben Liverman, self styled "boy bandit," was sentenced to 18 years' imprisonment in the state penitentiary at Richmond today, when here to six charges of robbery and one he pleaded guilty in corporation court of burglary. Sirave said his home was in New Bedford, Mass.

FIVE-YEAR SENTENCE FOR LAND SWINDLE

Kansas City, Mo., March 13.—W. E. Stewart, recently convicted of using the mails to defraud in an alleged $60,000,000 land swindle in Hidalgo county, Texas, was sentenced in federal court today to serve five years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas, and was fined $1,500 and costs estimated at about $5,000.

A woman likes to go away for the winter because most of her friends can't.

AFFAIRS IN THE RHUR DISCUSSED IN COMMONS

London, March 13 (By the A. P.).—Affairs in the Rhur occupied the attention of the house of commons during the greater part of today's sitting, but, beyond revealing a growing sense of disapproval of the government's inaction among the liberal and labor members, the session left matters unchanged.

Ronald McNeill, under-secretary of state for foreign affairs, was the only spokesman for the government. He merely reiterated, in reply to strong criticisms, that the ministers' policy remained as outlined by Prime Minister Bonar Law in his last statement, and the house supported the ministry by rejecting, 349 to 161, a motion by Sir John Simon, liberal leader, designed to call attention to the recent events in the Ruhr.

It is noteworthy, however, that this majority of 48 is far below the government's normal majority in the house.

Former Premier Asquith argued that there had been a vital change in the situation. The scope of the French operations had been considerably extended and there seemed no reason why the French should not advance on Munich and even to Berlin. What had the government to say about it? he asked. It was a sovereign opportunity to bring the league of nations into operation.

Mr. McNeill, in his lengthy reply complained of the censorious tenor of the opposition speeches toward a friendly ally, and pointed upon the difficulty of interpreting international law on the question whether France was acting within the treaty of Versailles.

He was also understood to say, although very indefinitely, that some change in the situation regarding the encroachment by the French of the British sector at Cologne had been made as a result of representations by the Paris government.

He feared that the first result of referring the matter to the league of nations under the existing circumstances would be to accentuate the issue and he reminded the house that France had rejected any idea of mediation, while there had been no response from America to suggestions that she help in solving the problem.

WOMEN USED SLINGSHOTS AGAINST STRIKE PICKETS

New York, March 13.—Three women employed in the Fifth Avenue Dress making establishment of Jean Lahell today were fined $10 each on a charge of forging slingshot warfare against strike pickets. Their employer paid the fine.

Mrs. Mary Parnis, the first arraigned, said she had made a slingshot at home after having been refused a pistol permit in order that she might protect herself against strikers who followed her to and from home.

Elsa Balsucinai and Lenora Lisa, later were brought into court on a charge of loosing bolts at another picket. The court announced that they would have awaited the next members of the slingshot brigade to be arrested.

SEVENTEEN FATALITIES IN TENNESSEE TORNADO

Jackson, Tenn., March 13.—Seventeen stood today as the total number killed in the tornado which swept through the villages of Dearborn and Pinson, the two hamlets of Chester and Madison counties Sunday night, leaving several hundred persons homeless. Jackson hospitals are crowded with the injured and others are being quartered in homes, their number being estimated at 75.

Pinson, a farming settlement of about 250 inhabitants, was almost wiped out, about forty dwellings, two school houses and a church being demolished, and a score or more homes damaged.

In Deanburg scarcely a building escaped damage.

Rescue parties continued today to search outlying sections, for dead or injured while Red Cross workers organized relief measures.

LENINE'S ILLNESS IS OF APOPLECTIC NATURE

Moscow, March 13.—The nature of Premier Lenine's illness is indicated as apoplectic by the bulletin issued by his physicians at 8 o'clock this afternoon. The bulletin was as follows:

"During yesterday, besides weakness in the right arm and leg, certain difficulty in Premier Lenine's speech was noticeable. Today the arm and leg remained in the same condition, but there was a noticeable improvement in the speech.

"The general condition of the patient is satisfactory (illegible) 97.1 centigrade, (illegible) Pulse 100 and regular."

WILLIMANTIC

NORWICH BULLETIN

Willimantic Office
31 Church Street Telephone 1913

The Willimantic Rotary club held its regular weekly meeting and luncheon in a local tea room Tuesday noon. Carlton King and Samuel P. Chesebro were guests of the club. President Valentine L. Murphy presided. Secretary Charles W. Hill read the minutes of the previous meeting and also spoke in regard to the circulars of the spring conference in New Haven which he had distributed among the members. Only one member was absent for a hundred per cent meeting and the general opinion was that that member would attend a Rotary meeting in some other city. A canvass was taken and showed that about twelve of the local members would attend the thirtieth district Rotary international conference which will be held in New Haven on March 15-16.

Communications from the president and secretary of the Holyoke club were read in reference to the selection of a district governor.

The secretary then called the attention of the members to the matter of presenting gifts to International President and Mrs. Raymond Haven at the spring conference. He stated that it was planned to have the gifts products of the local industries and he asked for the corporation of the members in securing these.

The meeting was then turned over to Harry W. Standish, chairman of the entertainment committee who, in fitting words, introduced Samuel Chesbro who has just returned to this city after a tour of South America.

Mr. Chesbro said that he was no speaker and that he had not made any request to be heard before the club, but that if the members would tolerate the singing, he believed that they could tolerate his talking.

Mr. Chesbro's talk was of a most interesting nature and enlightened the members as to the climate, country and habits of the South American continent. The boat on which he and his party sailed was on the water twelve days from New York to Rio Janeiro where they made the first landing. He described the trip and said that while en route they sighted no boats at all and very few fish. He was delighted at the sight of Rio Janeiro harbor which is claimed by many to be the most beautiful in the world. The speaker had thought that Golden Gate harbor at San Francisco was the most wonderful but changed his mind when on seeing the expansive entrance and high mountains of colorful hues at Rio Janeiro.

Mr. Chesbro told of the fine stores, department stores and jewelry stores in the South American cities. He said that the residents there make good use of electricity and that their streets are beautifully lighted and fairly dazzling. The weather there is somewhat like our July and August warmth. While there the party visited the plants of the Swift Products Company who have extensive houses in Rio Janeiro, LaPlaza and Montivideo.

He said that automobiles made in this country are very much in demand in the southern countries and that practically all their manufactured merchandise is imported from Europe and the United States. While visiting a store in Rio Janeiro he was about to purchase a stick pin but when he was told that it came from Brattleboro, Vt., he turned his attention to some native product.

He found the prevailing language in Rio Janeiro to be Portuguese and that in Montivideo to be Spanish.

Mr. Chesbro was extended a rising vote of thanks for his splendid recital of his tour.

The meeting was adjourned shortly after 2 o'clock.

Lafayette Jacobs died Tuesday morning at his home, 109 Bolivia street, at the age of 91 years. He was born in Mansfield May 7, 1833, the son of Luther and Lucy (Hunt) Jacobs. The deceased is survived by seven children, Louis of Farrarville, Mrs. A. D. Rouse of Warehouse Point, Miss Hattie A. Jacobs of this city, Mrs. Henry E. Anthony of East Hartford, Richard C., of Seymour, Edgar W. of this city and Alfred E. of Cincinnati, Ohio. Mr. Jacobs was a veteran of the Civil war, in which he served as sergeant in Company E, 22nd Connecticut Volunteers. He was a stone mason by occupation but retired a number of years ago.

Joseph Gadoury, aged 60, died at his home, 47 Center street, Tuesday morning, after suffering from a two weeks' illness. The deceased was born in Canada, June 1, 1863, and is survived by his wife, Mrs. Artemisa Gadoury; two daughters, Mrs. Mason Bertrand and Miss Alexandrina Gadoury of this city; three sons, Joseph, Donat and Emil Gadoury, a father and three sisters and three brothers in Canada.

A. M. Clark, aged 68, formerly a resident of the town of Scotland for many years, died Monday night at his home in New Britain from pneumonia. The deceased was born in Chaplin. The remains will be brought to Scotland on Thursday for burial.

Mrs. Sophia N. Russell, wife of Ellsworth Russell, died at her home in Chaplin, Monday night. The deceased was born June 8, 1846, the daughter of Horatio and Marie (Hodge) Neff. Besides her husband she leaves one daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Smith of West Hartford, one son, Frank E. Thompson, and six grandchildren.

The funeral services for Mrs. David E. Warner were held Tuesday afternoon at the late home in South Coventry. The official was Rev. Charles G. Johnson. The body was taken on the 12.58 train to Pascoag, R. I., for burial. The J. O. Lincoln Company had charge of the arrangements.

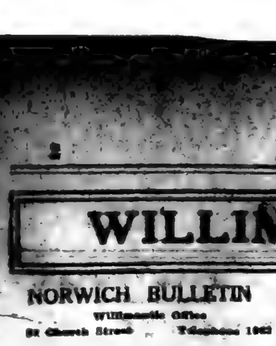
The remains of Mrs. Anna Pedro were removed from the late home in North Coventry Tuesday morning to this city and were taken on the 10.47 train to the home of her daughter in New York city from where the funeral will be held with burial in the Calvary cemetery. Killourey Brothers had charge of the local arrangements.

Up to this time there have been thirty-five snow storms in this section, all ranging from a depth of one-half inch to twenty inches, for

What Most Stomachs Need

The Alkaline Effect of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Prevents or Relieves Acidity and Sour Risings.

To make our food palatable, savory and appetizing, the cook mixes in some onions or [illegible] eat fried



Why Wait Three Hours for the Stomach to Recover Itself. Never Again Be Long As You Can Get Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

sausage, baked beans, cheese with pie, add ketchup and vinegar to some dishes and then complain of a sour, acid, gassy, belching stomach due to indigestion. Experience has shown that the recourse is not to banish all these good things to eat and fire the cook but to simply supply the acid stomach with an alkaline effect and then the stomach takes care of these so-called dyspepsia bringers. Get a 60 cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets today at any drug store, eat what you like even though you may fear indigestion. Chew one or two tablets and then rejoice that you found the very thing your stomach needed.

THE HURTEAU AND BOSSE CORP.
HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS
FUNERAL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS.
844 Main Street, Willimantic, Conn.
Phone 641-2

JAY M. SHEPARD
Succeeding Fillmore & Shepard
Funeral Director & Embalmer
89-95 NORTH ST. WILLIMANTIC
Lady Assistant. T&L Connection

Killourey Bros.
FUNERAL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS
36 Union St. Willimantic, Conn.
Phone 282 (Lady Assistant)

WHEN YOU WANT to put your business before the public, there is no medium better than through the advertising columns of The Bulletin

CHILDREN'S COLDS
should not be "dosed." Treat them externally with
VICKS VAPORUB
Over 17 Million Jars Used Yearly

THE H. C. MURRAY CO.
MURRAY'S BOSTON STORE
WILLIMANTIC, CONN.

The New Spring Frocks Demand A Correct Fitting Corset

Corsets do more than aid fashion's expression in outer garments—they give an abundance of comfort as well.

In the following makes: THOMPSON'S GLOVE-FITTING, W.-B., STYLISH STOUT, YOUTH LINE, NEMO, LA RESISTA, AND TRIO GIRDLE, will be found in all the new Spring modes, in variety to take care of every corset problem.

A Chevrolet touring car, bearing a New Jersey registry number 141-531 and driven by a man who gave his name as Ernest Tufford, was wrecked in two collisions late Monday night on the Columbia highway, at a place known as Loomer Rock grade about three miles from this city. Mr. Tufford said that he was driving toward this city when a Hartford-Willimantic Jitney Association car driven by George Denis of this city, sideswiped his car and caused it to turn into the ditch, breaking a wheel and bending the fenders. Denis stopped for a short time and then proceeded on his way to Hartford. A few minutes later a Providence car driven by a man named H. W. Sweet, going west, struck the Chevrolet car and damaged it more. The Chevrolet was hauled to a garage for repairs.

The accident was reported to the local police by the drivers of the three cars. Mr. Tufford stated that the cause of the accident in the first place was due to baggage on the running board of the jitney that extended out into the road. Tuesday, State Police Russell L. Harmon of the Stafford Springs barracks was in this city to investigate the matter.

T. Frank Cunningham of this city has announced his candidacy as one of the supreme delegates from Connecticut to attend the supreme convention of the Knights of Columbus which will be held in Montreal, Canada, in August. Mr. Cuningham is one of the most prominent younger members of the order in the state and his work as district deputy has attracted wide attention from the various councils through his exemplification work. He is prominently identified with San Jose Council No. 14 of this city. There are eight delegates from Connecticut who will be elected at the state convention to be held in Stamford in May.

Hugh Anderson of this city furnished one of the vaudeville acts at the convention of the Master Painters' Association of Connecticut at the Stratfield Hotel in Bridgeport, recently.

Wilfred A. Gagnon was recently appointed a notary public by Governor Charles A. Templeton.

Wilfred R. Burdick, who has conducted a grocery store in Chaplin for the past two and one-half years, has sold the business and building to Alfred L. Page of this city. The sale was made through a local sales agency. The store is the oldest in the town of Chaplin and has been conducted for over 70 years by various proprietors.

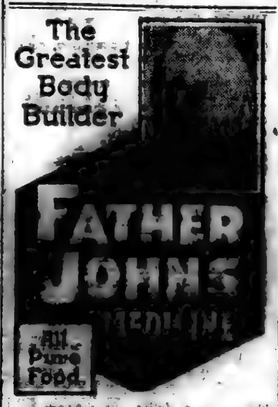
Freeland W. Allen of Yarmouth, Me., and Addie A. Aborn of South Coventry, were married Wednesday, March 7, at the South Coventry Congregational parsonage by the pastor, Rev. Charles G. Johnson. They are residing in Coventry.

Willimantic lodge, No. 11, Ancient Order of United Workmen held a special meeting Tuesday evening at Labor Union hall. A number of candidates were initiated. Present at the meeting, which was well attended, was John C. Trant of Hartford, field manager of the order in Connection.

The stockholders of the Chronicle Printing Company recently held the annual meeting and selected the following directors: Mrs. Helen B. Bullard, Herbert D. Pollard, Charles A. Gates and G. Donald Bartlett. At the directors' meeting, which followed, these officers were selected: President, Mrs. Helen B. Bullard; treasurer, Herbert D. Pollard; secretary, Charles A. Gates; assistant secretary, G. Donald Bartlett.

Ike Rosen, who was fined $50 and costs in the local police court Monday morning for failure to heat his theatre on various dates between February 6 and 21, refused to pay and was taken to the county jail in Brooklyn. Friends have since paid the fine and costs and Rosen re-

The Greatest Body Builder



"Whenever my children have colds or are run down, I give them Father John's Medicine and it never fails to bring them right back to health." (Signed) Mrs. Arthur T. Hall, Hazel St., Uxbridge, Mass.

Guest Ice Cream SPECIALS
for St. Patrick's Day

St. Patrick's Day is an opportunity for many special events and a relaxation from Lenten duties. The ever increasing popularity of Guest Briques, Fancy Moulds and Individual Ice Cream Forms creates a demand for Special Briques and an Assortment of Individual Forms appropriate for the day

On recent holiday occasions, so many orders have been received that it has been necessary to work day and night and many have been disappointed through failure to place their orders sufficiently in advance. In spite of most carefully prepared plans, our plants and distributing stations have been entirely sold out on several holidays. Please order early

Shamrock Briques

A Guest Brique with a Shamrock Center of French Pistachio Ice Cream surrounded by French Vanilla Ice Cream will be made as a special for March 17. Fancy center briques regularly cost more and offer a delightful innovation.

Pistachio Briques

A second Guest Special for March 17 only, is a Brique of Pistachio Ice Cream. This ice cream is made the French way with added rich cream and strictly fresh eggs. The Pistachio flavor adds a delightful holiday color to the brique.

Individual Ice Cream Forms

TAIT BROS Special Assortment of 12 different individual ice cream forms contains Flowers, Fruits, Vegetables, Figures, Novelties, etc., appropriate for St. Patrick's Day

Please place your orders through your dealer 48 or more hours in advance of the time you wish delivery and avoid all possible chance of disappointment.

While Individual Forms Assortments are delivered in iced containers, there is a charge for icing on all brique orders delivered direct from our plants and Distributing Stations.

EMERALD BRIQUES
March 17 to 24

Tait Bros Guest Brique for March 17 to 24 will be Lime Sherbet, Vanilla and Orange Pineapple. This combination of Lime Sherbet—a milk sherbet with the juice of crushed limes, Vanilla Ice Cream—the French Ice Cream which many declare to be the finest made—and Orange Pineapple—another French Ice Cream with crushed fruit—should prove to be one of the best briques offered.

Guest Ice Cream is made every day and delivered fresh to the dealer. Each week Guest Ice Cream is sold than the preceeding week and advance orders permit your dealer to anticipate his supply

For Every Occasion There is A Tait Bros Product

STAFFORD SPRINGS

Leon B. Booth, 41, died at the Johnson Memorial hospital late Sunday night after a ten days illness with pneumonia. Mr. Booth was born in Union a son of Henry and Adelia Williams Booth and has always resided in Union where he conducted a large farm. Besides his wife, he leaves eleven children, all living in Union. Rev. H. E. Coolidge, chaplain of the house of representatives will officiate at the funeral which will be held at the Booth home in Union.

While William O. Atcheson of West Stafford was driving his automobile on Main street Sunday afternoon it skidded and dashed across the sidewalk, striking the window in the room of the public health nurse and shattering the large glass.

The snow on the streets in the borough disappeared rapidly in the rain and fog Tuesday afternoon.

WINDHAM

The C. E. society has completed plans for a St. Patrick's day social.

The recent food sale held by the Parent-Teachers' association netted about $31, which will be applied to the piano fund.

Jack Thompson entertained his cousin, Mr. Bishop, from Nova Scotia on Sunday.

Miss Annie Service of Willington was the guest of Miss Charlotte Lothrop over the week end.

Norma Arlene Hopkins is at Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hopkins' for an indefinite stay.

Caspar Kennerson has moved his family into the old Robbins house on Zion's Hill.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Congregational church served one of its popular bean suppers Friday evening in charge of Mrs. L. P. Oehrig, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Williams, Mrs. Homer Wood, Mrs. Daniel Trigger, Miss Emma Larrabee and Mrs. H. C. Lathrop. This was followed by a radio concert given by F. L. Yeomans of Willimantic. The program included musical numbers and lectures sent out from broadcasting stations in Schenectady, Pittsburgh, Newark, Philadelphia and Atlanta, Ga.

Rev. W. E. Hooker of Middletown had charge of the services at St. Paul's church Sunday afternoon.

Miss Anna Claassen is visiting friends in New York.

Miss Mary Little and Mrs. Robert Pegrum are visiting at the Card home in Willimantic until April 1.

Harold Brewer, who is in the employ of Mr. Tinsman of New York, has gone to Miami, Fla., with the family.

Mrs. Sandstrom is in St. Joseph's hospital this week to have her tonsils removed.

Miss Julia Burnham has been spending several days with Mrs. Guilford Smith in South Windham.

Mrs. Macfarland has returned to her duties in the grammar school after having been kept at home for a week by illness in her family. Mrs. Guy Richmond was her substitute.

Miss Louise Adanis, who teaches in South Manchester, was at home last week on a vacation.

Miss Anna Bates of Hartford was calling on friends in town recently, having been called to Willimantic by the illness of her aunt, Mrs. Celia Martin, who is at the Card home.

The Woman's Missionary society will meet with Mrs. H. C. Lathrop on Wednesday

The Girl Scouts will have their food sale as originally planned. The flower sale has been postponed until next month.

The Windham and South Windham churches are to unite in a communion service here on the Thursday before Easter. Last year the union service was held in South Windham.

MANSFIELD DEPOT

Miss Eleanor Fitzgerald of Norwich closed her service as teacher at Edwin Reynolds Memorial school last Friday. Her successor for the remainder of this term is Miss Esther Laitenis of North Stonington.

Albert Botham, George Cosgrove and James Green are recovering from colds. W. H. Corbitt and Carlos Brigham are among the present sufferers from the malady.

At the state institution there has been much improvement in health conditions, so that the service of worship was resumed last Sunday.

Dr. Colds is away for a few days' rest.

Miss Bertha Botham and her brother Clifford were at home for the week end.

Mrs. Perkins of Mystic has been caring for her sick father, W. H. Corbitt, since Thursday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin M. Hansen visited friends in West Stafford on Sunday.

Rev. F. W. Klein attended the monthly meeting of the Willimantic ministers' conference in Willimantic on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Morton of the state [illegible] institution were in Willimantic on Monday.

Dr. McFarland has been quite ill again for several days.

The public has been invited to attend the Institute to be held in Eagleville hall on Wednesday, March 14, afternoon and evening, by the state department of health.

Midweek hour of devotion Thursday, 2 p. m., at the parsonage.

COLUMBIA

Miss Madeline Holmes, who has been ill at home during the past two weeks with an attack of mumps, is much improved, but will not be able to resume her school work in Willimantic for another week.

The grange meeting which was to have been held on Wednesday evening last was omitted because of the storm and bad traveling. Mrs. Lester Hutchins, the lecturer, was to have presented an interesting program.

Several persons in the northern part of the town have been filling their icehouses during the past week with ice obtained from the lake. It is stated that it is the best ice at the lake this season and is 17 inches thick.

During the illness of Frank Squier, his son Chauncey has been attending to his duties.

Mrs. George H. Champlin, who has been ill with grip, is now convalescent and Mr. Champlin, who also was ill, is now able to be about.

The family of Hubert P. Collins, who have been ill, are improving. Mr. Collins is able to be out, Mrs. Collins is sitting up, and Miss Beatrice is about the house.

Miss Tillie Fredericks of West street, who teaches in a school in Hebron, became suddenly ill in school on Friday and was taken immediately to St. Joseph's hospital and was found to have an attack of appendicitis. A successful operation was performed on Saturday morning.

A special town meeting was held on Saturday afternoon, attended by about 30 persons only, the day being stormy. No women were present. Fred A. Abel was chosen chairman. The meeting voted to lay a tax of 13 mills on the grand list to provide for the appropriation of $10,925 agreed upon for the budget and passed at the meeting in October last, the tax to become due and payable April 3, 1923.

The clause in the warning to close the Nisger Hill road, so-called, was discussed, but the closing of the road was objected to by Curtis A Holmes, who lives near it and owns property abutting on the road. As the person who had the clause inserted in the warning was not present to advocate it, a motion was carried to pass over the clause without action. Similar action was taken on the clause to close a road in the Wells Woods section of the town. The clause directing the erection of signs fixing the weight of loads to be carried over the bridges in town, or connecting with adjoining towns, was left to the selectmen for their consideration and action.

Rev. T. Newton Owen, pastor of the Columbia Congregational church, has announced that he has declined a call recently extended to him to become the pastor of the Scotland Congregational church. He preached Sunday morning on the book of Ecclesiastics, the preacher stating that the writer of the book was always looking out for his friends and trying to help others. He was disappointed in life but never complained, saying that apart from God there was nothing but vanity. He found that the Lord was his shepherd and that to fear God and keep his commandments is the solution of the whole matter.

ROAD SOCIETY

Edgar Farwell, who has served for about 20 years as R. F. D. carrier, completed his final trip recently. On his birthday the patrons on the route gave him a postcard shower which was a genuine surprise to him.

Arthur Wheeler and S. N. Billings, Jr., made a business trip by motor to Boston recently.

Donald Wheeler of Boston spent Sunday at his home recently.

John Kane of New London was a guest of Hersey Brink last Sunday.

George W. Muddleton of New York was here a day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Perrow Billings of Mystic called at A. G. Wheeler's on Sunday.

Ralph C. Wheeler has been driving the school children with his team and horses, bringing them as far as the Road schoolhouse, where the regular carrier, Edmund Hyde, takes them in his auto bus to the high school. The bad condition of the roads made the change necessary.

A man's memory serves him well when it enables him to forget the things he doesn't care to remember.

Doctors Say Colds Are Contagious Get Rid of the Germs With Vapor-Eze

Medical men of all schools now agree that colds are contagious and that they are caused by germs. To get rid of a cold and prevent it being caught by every member of your family, you must first get rid of the germ that causes the cold. Sterling's Vapor-Eze is the germ-destroying antiseptic that penetrates deep down into the air passages, soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and gives the quickest and safest relief for bad colds in head or chest by breaking up all congestion and killing the germ that does the mischief.

And Sterling's Vapor-Eze is absolutely harmless and easy to apply. Simply rub it on the throat and chest at bed time and place a little of this healing, antiseptic ointment up the nostrils. Be sure to get the genuine Sterling's Vapor-Eze from your druggist. A 35 cent jar will do the trick. Look for the

What Is Going On Tonight

Boylston Masquerade at Broadway Theatre.

Buckingham Council, No. 14, Jr. O. U. A. M. meets in Buckingham Memorial.

Norwich Council, No. 750, R. A., meets in K. P. Hall.

Norwich Grange, No. 178, P. of H., meets in Steiner Hall.

Norwich Lodge, No. 12, I. O. O. F., meets in Owls' Hall.

Rebekah-Isaiah Council, No. 11, D. of R., meets at 56 Broadway.

Moving Pictures at Strand Theatre.

Moving Pictures at Breed Theatre.

TODAY'S EVENTS

Today begins the last week of winter.

Centenary of the birth of Gen. Roswell S. Ripley, the Confederate officer who directed the fire on Fort Sumter.

Centenary of the birth of Theodore Banville, French poet, dramatist, and essayist of originality and grace.

Greetings to Thomas R. Marshall, only living ex-vice president of the United States, on the beginning of his 70th year.

Several changes in the Quebec government are expected to be announced today at the first meeting of the cabinet since the recent provincial elections.

The West Virginia legislature begins its long session today, with the republicans in control of the senate and the democrats in control of the lower house.

A notable banquet is to be given in New York tonight to commemorate the 30th anniversary of the opening of the Waldorf Hotel, the first of the big modern hotels.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theatre

A well known New York critic commenting on the William Fox special "Who Are My Parents?" which closes its engagement at the Breed theatre today, characterized the picture as one of the finest and most timely films of the day.

"It appeals to everyone," he said. "It appeals to children because there are a lot of children in the play, and their frolics naturally amuse those of their tender age. It appeal to the grown up because it deals with a very vital problem in our every day life—the disposition of a certain type of woman to give the lap dog the front seat in the home caring nothing for children.

"This problem has been, and still is, the subject of wide discussion; but the Fox picture, in its simple picturization of a vital problem, brings the moral home with a great deal more force and effectiveness than all the combined publicity of the sociologists and the college professors.

"Mr. Fox is performing a great public service and should be congratulaed and commended for his work."

Monkey Battles Dog—Two Animals in "Nobody's Money" Show Extreme Jealousy.

A monkey-and-dog fight which took place at the Paramount West Coast studios resulted in a draw when the battle was interrupted after three minutes by a group of accient property men under the generalship of Jack Holt.

Both the animals are taking part in "Nobody's Money," a Paramount picture in which Holt is starred, and which will be on view at the Strand theatre Friday and Saturday. Both have also proven to be of a most jealous disposition, although the best of friends when not actually taking part in the picture. But before the camera, some peculiar animal instinct made them enemies.

The battle was precipitated when Wanda Hawley, leading woman in the picture, held the money in one arm and stroked the dog with her other hand. Becoming jealous, the monkey sprang on the dog's back and seized the canine's left ear between his teeth. For three minutes a speedy battle raged but which was brought to an end before either the dog or the monkey could gain an upper hand.

Hypnotist Coming to Broadway Theatre

The management of the Broadway theatre has been fortunate in securing Clifford, the hypnotist, for a three day engagement, starting Thursday afternoon. Clifford has just completed a tour of the east where he was the headline attraction on the Keith circuit of theatres. His performance is called Hypnotic Humor and is very entertaining with laughs from start to finish. During his stay in this city, he will demonstrate the method employed for the production of mental anesthesia. Clifford will hypnotize a young woman in the window of Schwartz Furniture store at one o'clock on Thursday. She will be carried from the window in the evening to the Broadway theatre stage where she will be awakened. Following will be experiments in hypnotism on those who volunteer to go on the stage.

Four other Keith acts and Dorothy Dalton in Dark Secrets will also be seen.

Java Head Continues at the Strand

Only two days more are left to see Java Head, the George Melford-Paramount special with a cast of stars, including Beatrice Joy, Jacqueline Logan, George Fawcett, Raymond Hatton, Albert, Roscoe.

It has for a story the appeal of that successful picture, East is West, with success laid in he old Salem days and China.

All scenes are realistically reproduced to the minutest details which makes this super more enjoyable.

A comedy and news are also included.

HEBRON

F. H. Raymond was taken to the Hartford hospital Thursday for treatment.

E. G. Lord and L. W. Robinson were in Hartford Thursday.

Mrs. Winthrop Porter and little daughter came home from Hartford Wednesday.

E. A. Raymond was in Canterbury recently as the guest of his son, Edward Raymond.

Mrs. F. H. Raymond is in New Britain, staying for a short time at the home of Sherwood Raymond and family.

Use It Instead of a poultice or the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Simply Rub It In. Clean, soothing, easy to apply. Its penetrating qualities have made Minard's Liniment the favorite in thousands of homes for more than 65 years.

MINARD'S FOR PAIN LINIMENT

FIRPO CLAIMS HE IS READY TO MEET DEMPSEY AT ANYTIME

New York, March 13—(By the A. P.)—Luis Angel Firpo, South American pugilist whose stock in heavyweight circles has taken a big jump by his knockout of Bill Brennan in the twelfth round at Madison Square Garden last night, is looking for more worlds to conquer.

The giant from the Argentine discussed future plans today with Promoter Tex Rickard and a virtual agreement was reached by Firpo to box the winner of the match between Jess Willard and Floyd Johnson, scheduled at the Yankee stadium on May 12.

The bout, Rickard said, probably would take place in June or July at the Yankee park. If victorious again, Firpo is assured of his ambition, a match with Jack Dempsey for the world's title, probably in September.

Rickard has made no premature plans for a Firpo-Dempsey contest, despite reports to the contrary, but should such a match materialize, there is a strong possibility that it will be held in Buenos Aires, capital of the Argentine, where Firpo is something of a national hero just at present.

"I would stage the bout wherever conditions seemed best," Rickard said, "but it's too far ahead and dependent upon too many contingencies right now to make any definite plans."

Denies Bout Was "Fixed"

Charges that the fight last night was "fixed" for Firpo to win were published by two afternoon papers today but met with ridicule from an overwhelming majority of writers, critics and others qualified to judge the merits of the contest.

It was hinted that Brennan, past the crest of his career, took, in ring parlance, a "dive" for the purpose of boosting Firpo's prestige as a title contender. The battle-scarred Chicagoan and his manager, Leo P. Flynn, emphatically denied the charges and pointed to the fact that Brennan, in 107 fights, has never won or lost on a foul or in any been accused of "throwing" a contest.

"I gave the best I had," Brennan declared, "but Firpo was too strong for me. He is a natural fighter and what he lacks in science he makes up in brute power. His body blows with his right were the punches that hurt me most. The first thing I remembered after that knockout wallop was hearing the referee shout 'seven!'. The next thing I knew I was in my corner."

Ready to Fight Anybody

"I am ready to fight anybody Rickard picks," the South American declared through an interpreter. "I would like to fight Dempsey but I want to be in much better shape before meeting the champion. I haven't had time to fully acclimate myself yet. I wasn't at my best last night and I want at least one or two fights before signing with the title-holder."

It developed today that Jack Appell, referee, sought to stop the fight in both the sixth and seventh rounds when Firpo, handicapped by a steady flow of blood from the gash over his eye, was beaten to cover by a rain of Brennan's blows. Vehement protest, however, from Jimmy DeForest, Firpo's trainer, against any such interference, and hasty instructions from William Muldoon, chairman of the state athletic commission, it was declared, kept Appell from ending the match.

Scores of cablegrams from friends and admirers in the Argentine and other parts of South America reached Firpo during the day, congratulating him on his victory and predicting he would soon be champion of the world. One message of felicitation was from citizens of San Pedro, an Argentine city. Others were from newspapers and officials of high rank in his native land.

Firpo's Pugilistic Career

Through an interpreter, Firpo this afternoon recounted details of a career that has made him one of the most picturesque figures the prize ring has had in years.

His first fight was as an amateur in January, 1917, in Buenos Aires, and ended disastrously. He was stopped in the first round by Angel Rodrigues, who since has retired from active ring competition and is a well-to-do business man in Argentina. Then twenty years of age and weighing but 160 pounds, Firpo was the veriest of novices. He had been his first ring contest but two months before.

The setback—the only one in his career—stimulated him to greater effort and he won, as an amateur, more than a score of fights, most of them by knockouts. His professional bout was in September, 1919, in Chile, he knocked out William Daly, an American, in the seventh round.

Firpo fought and won eleven other bouts in Uruguay and then returned to the argentine to score seven straight knockout victories. This string of triumphs attracted unusual attention to Firpo's prowess. As a result he was persuaded to go to the United States.

His record while in this country about a year ago consisted of three knockouts over third-rate pugilists, Jack Herman, Sailor Maxted and Joe McCann. Since that time and his fight last night, he had but one engagement, knocking out Jim Tracy, of Australia, in the fourth round of a match at Buenos Aires last October.

Firpo is of European parentage, although born in the Argentine. His mother, a native of Spain, died twenty years ago. His father, an Italian, has closely followed Firpo's ring success and has done much to further his son's pugilistic ambitions.

At all Druggists 30¢
Here's your protection against Colds
Hill's Cascara Bromide Quinine acts at once and gives quick relief. It checks Colds in 24 hours, La Grippe in three days
W. H. Hill Company
DETROIT

DUGAS TAKES LEAD IN MATCH WITH BARBER

(Special to the Bulletin)

Danielson, March 13—Fred Dugas of Taftville took the first block of the 20 string bowling match with Frank Barber, local wizard, here tonight by a margin of 26 pins. Dugas with the exception of two strings had the edge on the local boy who played a hard luck game and got bad breaks during the greater part of the game. Dugas was in the pink of condition and after the match said that he expected it would be easy sailing to cop the $200 purse as Barber has never been able to beat him on the Taftville Alleys. The scores:

Dugas	Barber
101	105
134	123
126	107
99	104
112	89
114	96
89	111
109	110
125	96
93	135
1102	1076

Dugas' average was 110.2 while Barber's average was 107.6. Barber had high single with 135. The final block of ten strings will be rolled at Taftville on Thursday evening.

ON NORWICH ALLEYS
Connecticut Co. League

Team 4

McGuinness	78	91	80—	249
Garvis	78	86	82—	246
Concklin	65	98	88—	251
Beckwith	71	103	100—	274
Singer	81	74	72—	227
Totals	373	452	422	1247

Team No. 5

Guerian	91	94	96—	281
Dingman	90	90	78—	258
Leonard	90	103	85—	278
Bush	61	68	86—	265
Norman	95	90	85—	270
Totals	427	445	430	1302

Team No. 1

Ogden	77	80	84—	241
Rondeau	78	92	88—	258
Stapleton	63	67	66—	196
Atwood	84	72	90—	246
Willett	89	79	119—	287
Totals	395	391	442	1228

Team No. 3

Prescott	89	93	86	268
Alubouciz	84	76	87	247
Busch	100	84	85—	269
Mellor	79	93	80—	252
Hull	97	92	106—	295
Totals	449	438	444	1331

CRUISER RACE POSTPONED —UNTIL MARCH 28

Miami, Fla., March 13—The open sea cruiser race from Miami to Havana for $10,000 independent prizes will start at Miami March 23, according to a statement made tonight by C. L. Chapman, secretary of the power boat association, the first day will consist of the lap to Key West and March 24 the cruisers will finish at Havana. The return to Miami, according to Mr. Chapman, who is acting as one of the officials of the race will start Tuesday, March 27 at Havana, with two days allowed for the run back to Miami.

Baltic Bantams at Lebanon

The Baltic Bantams will play a return engagement at Lebanon this (Wednesday) evening with the Lebanon five. The Lebanon team has one victory to its credit and the Bantams intend to even up matters tonight.

McGuiness' Whirlwinds Win

McGuinness' Whirlwinds tore into the Combat Train Indoor baseball team on Tuesday evening and emerged victors by a score of 22 to 21. This is the second defeat that the Combat train has suffered this season.

BABE RUTH SUED FOR $50,000 ON ASSAULT CHARGE

New York, March 13—George Herman "Babe" Ruth has been made defendant in a suit for $50,000, brought by attorneys for Miss Delores Dixon, 19, who charges that the baseball player assaulted her at various times last summer. Ruth's attorney disclosed tonight.

The attorney, Hyman Bushnell, said Ruth declared he was being blackmailed, and, in a telegram from New Orleans signed by himself and Mrs. Ruth, today, said he would "not pay a cent" but would "fight the charges to the limit."

Mr. Bushnell said the complainant who, until two weeks ago occupied an apartment on Riverside Drive, had since disappeared and all efforts to find her to learn more about her have been futile.

George Feinberg, attorney for Miss Dixon, said today he knew where his client was but would not reveal her whereabouts, "until the proper time arrived."

Ruth learned about the impending suit last November 14, when, according to Mr. Bushnell, the girl's counsel served the ball player with a summons. Feinberg was authority for the statement that "the Babe", when the papers were served refused to consider them seriously.

On December 2, Ruth's attorney first appeared as counsel for the defendannt. Then, last February 24, after Ruth had gone south to join his club for the spring training, a complaint setting forth the charge made by Miss Dixon was filed with Mr. Bushnell.

Since then Mr. Feinberg obtained the removal of the case from New York county to King's county where Barbara B. Escoe, formerly the girl's companion in the Riverside Drive apartment, was appointed her guardian ad litem for purposes of the damage action, Ruth's counsel has learned.

"Babe" has told his wife all about the suit and the efforts made to settle it without public ity," his counsel said tonight. "She agrees with him that he should compel Miss Dixon to come into court."

Mr. Feinberg said he would file the necessary papers tomorrow. Mr. Bushnell said he would file an answer just as soon as he could get Ruth's signature to it.

TODAY'S SPORTS

RACING

Meeting of Jefferson Parish Fair Assn., at New Orleans.

Meeting of Cuba-American Jockey club at Havana.

Meeting of Tijuana Jockey club, at Tijuana.

TENNIS

Women's national indoor championship tournament at Boston.

BOWLING

Annual tournament of American Bowling congress, at Milwaukee.

BASKETBALL

National A. A. U. championship tournament, at Kansas City.

BILLIARDS

Willie Hoppe vs Jake Shaefer, at New York, for 18.2 balkline title.

GOLF

Annual spring tournament at Miami, Fla.

Asheville-Biltmore open championship opens at Asheville, N. C.

BOXING

Metropolitan A. A. U. senior championships, Madison Square Garden.

Young Montreal vs. Pete Zivic, 12 rounds at Hartford.

HOPPE LEADS SCHAEFER BY SIX POINTS AT THE 1,000 POINT MARK

New York, March 13—Recovering the cue wizardry for which he is noted, Willie Hoppe 18.2 balkline billiard champion tonight overcame the lead of 223 points Jake Schaefer gained in the first block of their 1500 title match last night and reached the 1,000 point mark while Schaefer was counting 994.

Tonight's block was compidted by Hoppe in 21 innings, during which he had a total count of 725. He started playing a miserable game but warmed up in his seventh turn at the table, counting 98. Schaefer apparently was nervous and was not as careful as in the first block. He was unnerved in the late innings when needing only a few points and stopped once until the crowd ceased talking. The summary:

Hoppe: 14, 0 1, 1, 10, 22, 98, 0, 2, 143, 8, 3, 5, 26, 101, 27, 0, 68, 62, 28, 92—723. Average 34 9-21. High runs 98, 99, 101, 143. Grand total 1,000. Grand average 30 10-33.

Schaefer: 9, 25, 1, 9, 53, 3-7 80, 2, 1, 66, 1, 0, 9, 1, 22, 40, 1, 71, 61, 3, 2—494. High runs 80, 71, 66. Average for block 23 11-21. Grand total 994. Grand average 31 2-32.

DANIELSON TIGERS TRIM SERVICE BATTERY TEAM

(Special to the Bulletin)

Danielson, March 13—In the state armory here tonight the Danielson Tigers defeated the service battery by the score of 29 to 25. The basket shooting of Vadas and Gale for the Tigers helped very much to pile up a big score for the first half which ended 22 to 4. In the second half Keach of the K. H. S. strengthened the battery five and the half proved to be very fast and rough. The Battery came back very strong but the Tigers held them down and the battery was unable to overcome the Tigers' lead. The lineup:

Tigers	Battery
Forwards
G. Reeves, Vadas	..N. Reeves, Bltgood
Center
Gale	..... Armington
Guards
Gaudreau, Poirier	.. Ennis, Williams

Field goals—Tigers, Vadas 7, Gaudreau 2, Gale 2, Poirier, E. Reeves 1. Battery: Keach 4, Williams 3, N. Reeves 2, Armington 1, Ennis 1, Bitgood 1.

Fouls: Vadas 3, Williams 1.

FIRPO IS SUED BY FORMER BUSINESS MANAGER

New Haven, March 13.—Luis Angel Firpo, the Argentine boxer who last night knocked Bill Brennan out of the path leading to a championship match with Jack Dempsey, must face another civil court action.

The first suit Firpo won last week when a court ruled against the claim of the Pioneer Athletic club that it had first call upon the Argentinian's fighting ability through an agreement last summer.

The second suit, it was learned tonight, has been filed in supreme court by Andrew D. Scott, of Nutley, N. J. Mr. Scott sued for $2,467. He said Firpo retained him as his business manager when here last year and that he has spent $2,259 in behalf of the fighter and should be compensated $1,208 for his work.

The court granted an attachment on what money Firpo may have in bank or what may be due to him from Promoter Tex Rickard.

PLAYERS HAVE STRENUOUS WORK AT HOT SPRINGS

Hot Springs, Ark., March 13.—Pitchers and catchers of the Pittsburgh Pirates late today engaged in the old fashioned game of "leap frog" as a windup to their practice periods on the diamond, and found the pastime a strenuous conditioner.

Bob Forward, Huge candidate for Manager McKetchnie's hurling staff, joined the Pirates today and got into uniform at once.

The Boston Red Sox are so well advanced in training that Manager Frank Chance expects to tone them up for a little game tomorrow.

MISS COLLET WINS SHARKS GOLF TOURNEY

Belleair Heights, Fla., March 13.—Miss Glenna Collet, of Providence, R. I., national woman's gof champion, won the sharks championship today when she played over the short course in 84 and the long course in 85. Her playing today was excellent and had she putted etter she would have been below 80. Mrs. Alex Smith won the handicap event with a score of 175 for the double round. She had a plus 3 handicap.

MAYLOR HYLAN ACCEPTS OFFICE IN PRINTERS' LEAGUE

New York, March 13.—Mayor Hylan today accepted the vice-presidency for 1923 of the Union Printers' International Baseball league which will hold its thirteenth tournament in New York from August 4 to 11. Plans for the event were discussed at a conference with Joseph J. Dallas of Boston, president of the league, and a committee from the Printers' Local Baseball association.

FIRPO CELEBRATES VICTORY BY DANCING AT CABARET

New York, March 13—Luis Angel Firpo can shake a "mean foot" as well as swing a wicked uppercut.

Celebrating his knockout victory over Bill Brennan last night, the South American heavyweight, accompanied by a score of friends, went from Madison Square Garden to an obscure Greenwich Village cabaret where he tangoed and made merry until 3 o'clock this morning.

Firpo, exhibiting the famous dance as it is done in the Argentine, was the most carefree of the party. Except for a patch that covered the cut over his left eye, he showed no trace of the strenuous ring battle he had just gone through.

DEMPSEY WILLING TO MEET FIRPO ANYTIME

Los Angeles, March 13—Jack Dempsey, champion heavyweight pugilist, is ready for a match with Luis Firpo, South American boxer, who knocked out Bill Brennan in New York city last night, he said today. Firpo's victory, he said, was no surprise to him.

"Brennan is not as good as he used to be but still mighty tough and Firpo must be a good fighter to stop him," Dempsey said. "I am ready to fight any man any time a promoter can put the bout on in a satisfactory manner. This, of course, includes Firpo."

JOHNSON ALSO READY TO MEET FIRPO

Hot Springs, Ark., March 13.—Floyd Johnson said he was ready to meet Luis Firpo any place, any time, when he was shown a despatch from New York stating that the conqueror of Bronnan was to meet the winner of the Jess Willard-Floyd Johnson bout which takes place in New York on May 12.—

"The program suits me fine," smiled Johnson, who is in training here. "I am ready to take on Firpo any time."

SEEDED PLAYERS COME THROUGH AT LONGWOOD

Brookline, Mass., March 13.—The National Women's doubles tennis championship, began on the covered courts of the Longwood Cricket club today, was advanced through the second round with the exception of one match put over until tomorrow. Seeded teams came through without serious test in any case, only the local team of of Mrs. N. W. Niles and Mrs. T. H. Cabot, being forced to more than two sets.

SWEDISH KING ELIMINATED IN FIRST ROUND AT NICE

Nice, March 13.—(By the A. P.)—King Gustave of Sweden was eliminated in the very first round of the men's doubles of the Nice lawn tennis tournament today, just like any common ordinary plus-thirty player. Gustave and his partner, A. C. Hunter of England, did not go down to defeat, however, before giving their opponent, M. Deshayes and Colonel Dunkerley, a hard battle.

RUTH CLAIMS CHARGE IS SIMPLY BLACKMAIL

New Orleans, La., March 13—"It's blackmail; that's all I've got to say," was the comment of Babe Ruth, member of the New York American league baseball team tonight, when shown a New York despatch stating that he had been made defendant in a $50,000 damage suit instituted by Miss Delores Dixon.

TUNNEY HAS OFFER OF $25,000 TO MEET ENGLISHMAN

Lewiston, Maine, March 13—Gene Tunney, light heavyweight boxing champion, announced today he had received an offer of $25,000 from an English promoter to meet the British champion, Jack Bloomfield, in England. Tunney is at Poland Spring recovering from an attack of influenza.

Hagen and Kirkwood Win

Winter Park, Fla., March 13—Walter Hagen, British open golf champion, and Joe Kirkwood, Australian trick shot artist, defeated George Dowe and Otis George, 5 and 4, today in an exhibition golf match at the winter park golf club. Hagen tied the course record with a 68. It was the 117th exhibition by Hagen and Kirkwood.

REGULARS AND ROOKIES PLAY TO A 2-2 TIE

Cleveland, Ohio, March 13—The first rookies game of the season between Cleveland American regulars and Yanigans at the Lakeland training camp today resulted in a two-two tie at the end of the fifth inning. The batteries for the regulars were Metevier, Gray and L. Sewell; and for the Yanigans, Winn, Spaulding and O'Neill. Each side made five hits.

YALE MARKSMEN HANG UP PERFECT SCORE

New Haven, March 13—The Yale rifle team tonight scored a perfect 500 in a telegraphic match with Princeton. Ten men were on the team the five highest scores to count. Six men had perfect scores, three 99 and one 91. Princeton's score has not been received.

SAM HYMAN WILL PITCH FOR NEW HAVEN

New Haven, March 13—Sam Hyman pitcher on the Detroit Tigers last year and former star hurler for Georgetown university, will piten for the New Haven club of the Eastern league this season, according to an announcement made tonight by George M. Weiss, president of the club. Hyman has agreed to terms, Mr. Weiss said.

The Boston Store
Norwich Reid & Hughes Conn

THE NEW Boston Store Men's Shop OPENS TODAY

This morning we open the doors of our new Men's Shop for the first time. In its old location we tried to serve the men of this community acceptably and to the best of our ability. In our new and more commodious quarters we know we can do it better. With the same high ideals, with the same good merchandise, and with extended facilities we are in a position to give a service which is exclusive.
We welcome you on this day, and trust that you will find an increased pleasure and profit in all your dealings with us.

DURING THESE OPENING DAYS WE OFFER THESE SPECIALLY PRICED OFFERINGS

DROPSTITCH FIBER SILK SOCKS
Handsome, silky socks with clocks, in contrasting colors. We show them in black, navy, cordovan and grey. All sizes—
75c A PAIR

CUT SILK NECKWEAR
Ties which have just arrived for Easter selling. New Spring Tweeds, in four handsome sets of six colors each. Regular dollar ties—
65c APIECE

PERCALE SHIRTS
The washable, wearable kind in good, conservative checks and stripes, of the kind you like to wear. All colors are guaranteed. Sizes 14 to 17—
85c EACH

SILK STRIPE SHIRTS
Another newly arrived lot of Spring Shirts in handsome stripe designs. Properly made, and all colorings guaranteed fast. All sizes in stock—
$1.59

NON-WRINKABLE SILK AND WOOL TIES—Something new and good..... 85c

DEVOE

Paint and Varnish Products

Prevent Destruction

Dust Devils!

Millions ride in on every breeze

They lay a pall of ugliness over the beauty of the rooms. Their defiling fingers strangle the charm and besmirch the cleanliness of the home.

Prevent the evil that dust can do. Apply Devoe Velour Finish.

This flat oil paint, because it is washable, insures the constant beauty and cleanliness of the walls.

Have walls that can be laundered! Use:
Devoe Velour Finish—a flat oil paint.
Devoe Holland Enamel — smooth as glass—hard as tile.

PRESTON BROTHERS
Norwich, Conn.

NORWICH BULLETIN and Courier

127 YEARS OLD

Norwich, Wednesday, March 14, 1923.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

CIRCULATION

WEEK ENDING MARCH 10th, 1923

11,708

KEEPING DOWN OUR EXPENSES

Instead of giving the Harding administration credit for making the large reductions it has in government expenditures when compared with those that had prevailed in the years previous there are those who are pointing out how much more is being spent by the government today than was done back in 1916. We are not in war and yet it is claimed that we are spending a billion and a half more than we did during the year previous to the war.

That is intended of course to influence those who are not disposed to consider the facts. Peace following the war has made it possible to cut the expenditures by billions, but it has not made it possible to eliminate those obligations that were imposed by the war. There is less than a billion and a quarter greater expense as provided for during the fiscal year 1924 than there was in 1916 when the government was run for about two-thirds of a billion. But in 1916 there was no veterans' bureau, which of itself calls for nearly a half billion, there was no railroad administration, no emergency fleet corporation, no vocational education board, no housing corporation or railroad labor board, there was no shipping board and no payment on the Colombia treaty, all of which call for nearly $545,000,000.

Again it is to be remembered that the expense of running the federal government has increased just the same as state, industrial and household expenses have jumped and figured on the same basis it requires nearly $700,000,000 a year for the higher cost of government.

With the increasing population the normal increase in government during the years before the war was on an average of about $40,000,000 a year, which would add more than $300,000,000 since 1916, so that when the facts in the situation are considered we are getting the benefit of a highly commendable guidance of our government with the reins in the hands of President Harding.

The war and national growth have imposed obligations that must be met and it is fortunate that they are being met with such a high degree of economy and efficiency. And had the president's plan been carried out a still greater reduction would have been possible.

BARNUM WAS RIGHT.

Taking advantage of those who are willing to place the utmost confidence in the honesty of others, setting forth opportunities which are not easily disregarded and appealing to those of their own nationality for special support have been the methods by which many have gotten away with the hard earned dollars of many of the old settlers as well as those of the new comers.

Instead of putting greater confidence in old, substantial and well established institutions for financial transactions there are those who seem to prefer to fight shy of safety and insist upon taking the big chances that go with dealings with the fly-by-nights, or those who offer such attractive returns that it should be known that a complete loss is much more likely than a successful outcome.

Many in New York among the poor people are now mourning the loss of their money through the departure of a trio of brothers who have been carrying on a banking business. Ostensibly they were giving assistance to those of their nationality in exchanging their funds into the money of their country and forwarding it. They made direct appeal to those who came from the same province and they were trusted. They handed a mass of promissory notes to those with whom they did business, but they have gone to parts unknown.

The old story of getting rich quick off of the money of other people is repeated every little while. The Ponzis spring up periodically. They make their pile. They may get caught or they may not, but invariably the next one to appear meets with practically the same big success. Too often is it the case that those who are throwing away their money cannot get it to them quick enough.

The list of those who seem willing to believe anything that is painted in golden tints seems endless. They are unwilling to profit by the lesson of others because they might fail to get a jackpot, and the result is that those who seek such individuals upon whom to practice their slick trick of separating them from their money have little difficulty in doing a big business. Once again Barnum is shown to have been right.

CUTTING BIG WARSHIPS.

Greater satisfaction will prevail when there has been a complete ratification of the naval treaty on the part of the nations, whose representatives signed at the Washington conference. Nevertheless the position that has been taken by this government is justified by the action that is being announced by others in anticipation of the necessary ratifying action.

France has not as yet acted. It [illegible] constitutional [illegible] it will probably be ready [illegible] through its minister of marine that it does not intend to put any more money into fortifications. It isn't ready to stop building for overt defense but "only enforcement measures" will cause it to launch out into the construction of battleships.

This country has for long been guided by the provisions of the treaty even though others have not accepted it. We are prepared to put all details into effect and it has been shown that Japan is following the lead.

That Great Britain should be influenced not a little by France's delay is natural, but from that quarter it is likewise made clear that the desire to have the treaty terms become effective are uppermost. When it recently announced that it was going to build two new capital ships it is not exceeding the treaty rights, but those are the only two ships of that character it can build for the next seven years.

Even those nations which have banked so heavily upon strong navies in the past are appreciative of the enormous saving that is being effected by the treaty. All that is required is the completion of the ratification in order to have the desired results fully attained by all. The action of all indicates the confidence that it is only a question of time.

FIGHTING TUBERCULOSIS.

More highly gratifying news is given to the world in connection with the fight against disease by the information that is broadcasted from Berlin to the effect that Dr. Wasserman has perfected a new test which it is possible to determine the presence of tuberculosis during the earliest stages of its activity, and also show when there are inactive tuberculosis germs in the lymphatic system.

Much progress has been made in fighting this disease but most valuable assistance in striking it an effective blow at the time when the most telling work can be accomplished will be given if what is claimed for the new Wasserman test develops.

Worldwide interest is certain to be awakened by the announcement even though there will be a disposition to await further proof of the claims before too great confidence is placed in it. In not a few instances there have been those who have rushed to the world with new found cures before such announcements were warranted. There is danger in making too broad claims because of the false hope it gives to those directly concerned.

The claim that a method has been discovered that will greatly aid in wiping out the white plague is one the world has long been awaiting. Great will be the relief of suffering humanity if such is the case. Magnificent results are being obtained now but the death rate from tuberculosis still continues too high, and if a means of informing the physician when tuberculosis exists in the early stages has been found Dr. Wasserman has made another important addition to his fame as a fighter of disease.

QUITE SATISFACTORY.

When it was recently declared that the secretary of labor was firm in the belief that the citizenship of Isadora Duncan ought to be cancelled because of the manner in which she had criticized the country, it was difficult to see just how it was going to be brought about. She was a citizen and as a citizen had a right to express her views up to the point where she could have been considered a menace to the nation. She was not complimentary in what she said but she didn't go so far as to preach or practice anarchy, however much that or any other ism may exist in her system.

Her case was apparently looked into at Washington and as the result of that survey it was recognized that she had married a Russian subject. Thus instead of being a subject of this country on her last visit she was a subject of Russia and not entitled to the privileges of American citizenship. Automatically she had ceased to be an American, so that there is no need of undertaking any effort to do over again what has already been done, even if it were possible to do so.

Views which Isadora Duncan has held upon other subjects than that which she expatiated upon as she left the United States might be sufficient in the future to have her regarded as an undesirable, and henceforth it can be expected that she will experience more difficulty in landing on these shores than she has in the past. And certainly if her preference for Moscow continues to govern her residence there is the best of reason why everyone should be satisfied.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

After the auto show is over there are those who wish they had taken just one more look.

Providing the Salvation Army fund is something in which everyone should desire to have a part.

Those who have been delaying their income tax payment might as well decide that they have reached the last lap.

There are so many bidding Miss Spring to come that she need have no fear as to where she is going to be entertained.

Knowing the good the Salvation Army has done and stands ready to do, give it the means to do what is expected of it.

In connection with the British debt controversy even Lord Balfour thinks it makes a difference how you look at it.

The man on the corner says: Money may talk but some people find it difficult to maintain a speaking acquaintance with it.

Some people approach the final day for filing the income tax return with as much fear and trembling as others do the ides of March.

The promptness with which Finland comes forward and gets the same debt funding terms as Great Britain may encourage others to do likewise.

"Or that as it may," the head of the house informed her, "one's duty is moderated if said son falls in love. When a young man falls in love he is a terrible sufferer and he insists that the family shall join him in his sorrow. When Cuthbert returned all educated and primed to roll up his sleeves and jump into the marts of trade down at my office I was so joyful that I can see it was pitiful. After all these years of close communion with the grindstone I now was to have a strong right arm to lean upon, as it were.

"We first began to have that queer feeling when he noticed that, instead of settling down after dinner with the old folks beneath the reading lamp and telling us what to avoid in current literature, Cuthbert evinced the same symptoms as a fish out of water and trying to get back. His wriggles invariably ended by flopping him out of the front door when I was yawning or guessing or temporarily incapacitated. He would be right here on the spot and after I had winked once the spot would be empty.

"It was most confusing, especially to his mother. Right in the midst of her carefully careless description of the wonderful cakes baked by Emmeline Gumtrees, the capable daughter of her old friend, Susanna Gumtrees, Cuthbert would just naturally melt away.

"'Where are you going, Cuthbert?' his mother would demand on the rare occasions when she caught him doing this. She would ask it with the same touching confidence that she would get a detailed reply as she had done when he was 6, 'Oh, just out around,' her son would tell her kindly before he completely faded out. Or if he did remain home he would sit with one ear stretched in the direction of the telephone and his left knee fixed to spring. The instant the bell tinkled Cuthbert demonstrated how he always made the long touchdowns for his team. He had the receiver glued to his ear before the tinkle ceased and on the rare occasions when it chanced to be my old friend Col. Beefer calling to get up a game of bridge the anguish of Cuthbert's face was tragically appalling.

"'Who was that calling, Cuthy dear?' his mother would inquire when he came from one of his prolonged low-voice conversations over the wire. 'Oh, nobody particular,' Cuthbert would confide freely in her and waft out of the room in some sort of dream.

"'If the stocks are down,' I would say as man to man at the breakfast table, and Cuthbert would continue dazedly spooning salt into his coffee and sugaring his eggs. 'Stocks are down!' I would repeat emphatically, as was my right, and maybe he would walk out of the room still unhearing or else blink at me and assure me business was picking up and, yes, raise the bookkeeper's salary as I had suggested.

"It sort of wanted to take Cuthbert to the club for lunch and show him off after spending so much money on his education and neckties, but he always had a date or else he said he didn't want any lunch and was just going to walk around and get some air. After having walked for air he would return smiling daftly, with a faint aroma of Persian violets clinging to his coat sleeve.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Irwin B. Laughlin, who is understood to be under consideration for United States ambassador to Greece, should President Harding decide to resume diplomatic relations with the government at Athens, has had a long and varied experience in the diplomatic service. Mr. Laughlin is a native of Pittsburgh and a graduate of Yale. After leaving the university he was engaged for a time in the steel industry, with which his family had long been prominently identified in western Pennsylvania. In 1903, however, he decided upon a career in the diplomatic service and received appointment as private secretary to the American minister to Japan. After two years in this position he became secretary of the American minister to Japan. After two years in this position he became secretary to the American minister to Japan. After two years in this position he became secretary of the American legation in Tokio. During the past fifteen years he has filled similar posts in many capitals, including Bangkok, Petrograd, Pekin, Athens, Berlin and London, and has also been employed in important special service at the state department in Washington.

Today's Anniversaries

1757—John Byng, an admiral of the English navy, was executed at Portsmouth for cowardice. Born in 1704.

1780—Mobile taken by Don Bernardo de Galves, Spanish governor of Louisiana.

1822—Gen. Charles Francois Dumouriez, famous French soldier and statesman, died in England. Born at Cambrai, Jan. 25, 1739.

1833—Gen. John S. Marmaduke, Confederate soldier and governor of Missouri, born near Arrow Rock, Mo. Died at Jefferson City, Dec. 26, 1887.

1848—The Constitution for the new state of Wisconsin was ratified by the people.

1888—United States concluded a treaty with China prohibiting the immigration of Chinese laborers for 20 years.

1914—Peace treaty between Turkey and Serbia signed at Constantinople.

1918—President Wilson was enthusiastically received on his arrival in Paris.

1922—United States senate rejected the Walsh and Robinson amendments to the four-power treaty bill.

Today's Birthdays

Thomas R. Marshall, only living ex-vice president of the United States, born at North Manchester, Ind., 69 years ago today.

Eugene J. Buffington, one of the chief factors in the development of the steel industry in the middle west, born at Guyandotte, W. Va., 59 years ago today.

Maxim Gorky, celebrated Russian novelist and reformer, born at Nijni Novgorod, 55 years ago today.

Charles Evans Hughes III., grandson of the secretary of state, born in New York city, 8 years ago today.

Charles P. Curry, representative in congress of the Third California district, born at Naperville Ill., 65 years ago today.

Comfort Baby's Skin With Cuticura Soap And Fragrant Talcum

PILLS ON A PULLMAN

WHO put the "sleep" in Sleeping Car?

Nobody!

It was a PILL.

A pill made it possible to sleep restfully in a Pullman, and leave the train next morning with clear head, bright eyes—full of enthusiasm for breakfast and "pep" for the new day.

Here's how: Just before you peel down the sheets, take two Beecham's Pills. This is the pleasant, sure way to attune the organs of digestion to normalcy, and thus assure a night of tranquil repose.

At All Druggists—25c and 50c

Wives of Famous Men

Elizabeth Barrett, Wife of Robert Browning.

Scarcely less famous than her great poet husband, Elizabeth Barrett Browning, poet, philosopher and loving woman, stands paramount in the history of literature as the most perfect mate for a man of letters. The beautiful love affair of the Brownings, which lasted all their lives, and was never dimmed or tarnished by the slightest breath of unhappiness, is unparalleled in fact or fiction.

Elizabeth Barrett, herself accepted as a poet of considerable merit, was an invalid all her life until, in her 35th year, she married Robert Browning, with whom she had been in love for a long time.

"Until she married," writes a biographer, "Miss Barret was an invalid, imprisoned to her sofa and silence, in a darkened room, but the soul-cure of happiness raised her almost from death to life."

Mutual friends of the poetical pair were not very sanguine as to the outcome of their union. Speaking about the obscurity of a great deal of Browning's poetry, Wordsworth is quoted as saying facetiously, when he heard of the approaching marriage:

"I hope they'll understand one another." And there is no doubt that they did. Certainly Mrs. Browning understood her poet husband for she made his life very happy. Writing to a friend, she said:

"Nobody exactly understands him except me, who am on the inside of him and hear him breathe." And every year of their life together seemed to indicate more clearly the truth of this statement, and to show that the Brownings were the exception that proves the rule—that two artists of any kind cannot make a success of marriage. It would be bad enough, all their friends declared, for one poet to marry, but to marry another poet, surely that was tempting providence.

But no man ever accepted the bonds of domesticity so willingly and gracefully as did Browning. Mrs. Kemble, the famous actress, said about him that he was the only man she had ever met who behaved like a Christian to his wife. A charming and highly illustrative story is told of Browning by one of his biographers.

"There are those who talk of the chains of matrimony," runs the anecdote, "but Browning literally kissed those chains. After returning to London from abroad he would go to the church where he and his wife had got themselves secretly married, and kiss the paving stones in front of the door."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Science (Physiology) and Health.

Mr. Editor: The word "science" sounds large and impressive, and may hypnotize those who swallow whole the theories concocted by designing persons for them, especially when they are sweetened by the addition of the word "health"; for everybody likes health. But the particular science which means a knowledge of the functions of the living body, is physiology, and it is by a knowledge of the functions of the human body, of what is necessary and favorable to their best performance, and what is unfavorable and harmful, that the average of human life in this country has been raised by several years within a generation, and the death rate greatly reduced. It is fortunate for us that the dictum of so-called Christian Science (page 397, 201 Sted) is contradicted by universal experience, and that it is not true that "no gastric juice accumulates, not a secretion or combination can operate apart from the action of mortal thought; for secretion of gastric juice, digestion, the beating of the heart, the drawing of the breath, all go on while we are asleep, recuperating tired muscles, nerves and brain as is necessary; for it is considered the height of torturous punishment for the worst Chinese criminals, to keep them awake, until they die of it.

Sleep is so great a blessing, that the psalmist regards it as a gift God gives to His beloved: "His giveth His beloved sleep." (Ps. 127:2). Sufficient sleep and sufficient suitable food are fundamentals of health; and so great is the influence of bodily condition upon the cast of thought, that ordinarily sound health produces cheerfulness, and a sick body a sick and sad cast of thought. Yet there are exceptional instances, like R. Louis Stevenson, in which courage and a strong will, temporarily overcome the depression. It is said that most persons are not governed by reason, conscience, and their higher powers.

It requires a stronger stimulus to excite perception than to excite sensation, and a stronger stimulus to excite memory than to excite perception; and memory and the higher faculties are more susceptible, or likely to suffer from chemical deterioration of blood-supply to the brain (as in fatigue, illness, senile decay) and also from any physical shock to the cerebral system. Hence, the majority have not the strength of purpose to resist the pullback, but drop into the easier way. That spirit may be incarnated in living flesh, is the foundation doctrine of most of the new Testament. "The Word was made flesh"; "And every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh, is not of God." (John 1:14; 1 John 4:2.) "What! know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you? Therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's." (I. Cor. 6: 19, 20.)

Take care of your body, co-worker, with your spirit or mind.

"Life, we've been long together,
Through sunshine and through stormy weather.
'Tis hard to part, when friends are dear;
Perhaps 'twill cost a sigh, a tear.
Choose thine own time!
Then steal away, gives little warning!
Say not "Good night!"
But in some brighter clime
Bid me "Good morning!"

J. N. ENO.

March 8, 1923.

Appreciative of Generous Support

Mr. Editor: I've packed my grip and after a few days in seclusion will be under orders for Framingham, Mass. But before leaving your city, I crave space in your excellent paper to thank, on behalf of the Salvation Army, the citizens of Norwich and vicinity, for the very generous and noble way in which they have, during our intensive campaign, supported our cause.

To the chairman, vice chairman, executive committee, team captains and workers, over two hundred in number, we proffer our sincerest thanks. It has been a delightful and victorious campaign.

And for the columns and columns of valuable publicity in your paper we cannot thank you too much. Your support, sir, has been of untold assistance.

My colleagues, with me, will boost Norwich wherever we go.

W. A. NICOL.
Campaign Director for the Salvation Army.
Norwich, March 13, 1923.

St. Paul and M. B. M.

Mr. Editor: It will be admitted on all sides that St. Paul had a right to his opinion on the subject of woman's place in the home, in the church and in public; "adorning herself in modest apparel with shamefacedness; not with braidered hair or gold or pearls or costly apparel." (1 Tim, 2-9). It will be admitted, too, that his opinion is well sustained in the fashions of our own time; but there is a difference in women, in all the above respects, and that is what we insist upon giving the proper emphasis.

M. B. M. must not flatter himself that Mr. Troland in any discussion, especially a Biblical one, would overlook or neglect any reference that might seem to support his opponent.

In St. Paul's letter to the Corinthians, which is a different thing from his letter to Timothy, he was discussing mainly the subject of speaking with tongues, and his opinion on that subject he reckoned was approved by divine authority, but that, also, was only his own opinion. A much more authoritative declaration was expressed and fulfilled on the day of Pentecost, when it was said by the prophet Joel, "It shall come to pass in the last days, saith God, I will pour out of my Spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions and your old men shall dream dreams; and on my servants and on my handmaidens I will pour out in those days of my Spirit; and they shall prophesy."

Now, going entirely back of the opinion of M. B. M. and of St. Paul as interpreted by M. B. M. we think that this "Shall," of the Thus saith the Lord, is preeminent and has very properly had exemplification in many cases of teaching and preaching of women since then, and in our own time.

Let M. B. M. remember more than ordinary intelligence is needed in interpreting St. Paul's letters. St. Peter gives a caution in regard to them as containing "some things hard to be understood, which they that are unlearned and unstable, wrest as they do other scriptures unto their own destruction." (2 Peter 3-16). This wresting of Scripture is always a fatal error, and disastrous to both the argument and to the man.

Most respectfully yours,
JOHN TROLAND.
Norwich, March 12, 1923.

Stories That Recall Others

Spilling the English.

School exercises are invariably good for priceless stories, and an afternoon spent in one school was not lacking.

Fond mothers were there to see their darlings participate. One mother, who was particularly proud of her son was speaking to another woman of her son's brilliance, when down the aisle came the sparkling youth appearing much as if he knew all that was to know.

"Here's little Clarence," said the mother, turning to her son. Then came the shock.

"Mamma, have you saw Albert?" asked the boy.

An Affirmation.

Young Jack K., aged six, had the habit of slipping away to a neighbor's house frequently for his favorite feed. He usually neglected to tell his mother, but the mother learned of his visits. Recently he failed to eat dinner with his usual gusto, practically passing it up. This caused his mother to question him.

"Jack, haven't you been eating at Jones' today?"

"No, mamma."

"Are you sure?"

"Sure, mamma."

"Jack, do you tell me you didn't eat there today?"

Jack emphatically; "Mamma, you can pray to heaven I didn't eat there today."

He really had not.

All the World at Work

The average world production of cotton in 1921-22 and 1922-23 is approximately 16,000,000 bales, while the average world consumption continues at a rate above 29,000,000 bales. World stock therefore, will have decreased 8,000,000 bales from Aug. 1, 1921, to next July 31, if consumption does not unexpectedly fall off during the next six months.

Bermuda still maintains its prohibition against motor cars. It is now believed that this prohibition will be raised.—From the United States commerce reports.

Headaches from Slight Colds

Laxative BROMO QUININE Tablets relieve the Headache by curing the Cold. A tonic laxative and germ destroyer. The box bears the signature of E. W. Grove. 30c

Keep fit and fine with

WRIGLEY'S

after every meal.

Eat wisely, chew your food well—then give your digestion a "kick" with WRIGLEY'S.

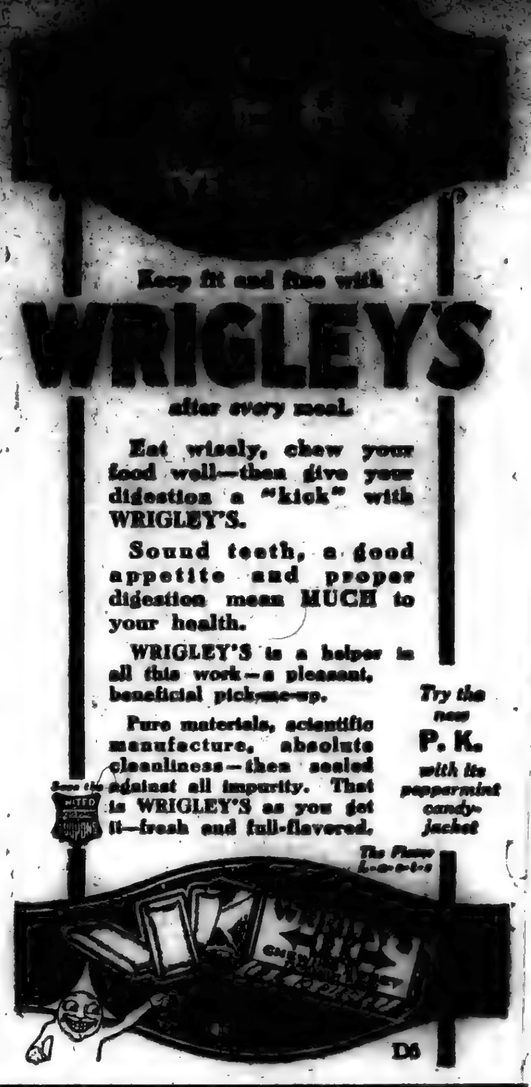
Sound teeth, a good appetite and proper digestion mean MUCH to your health.

WRIGLEY'S is a helper in all this work—a pleasant, beneficial pick-me-up.

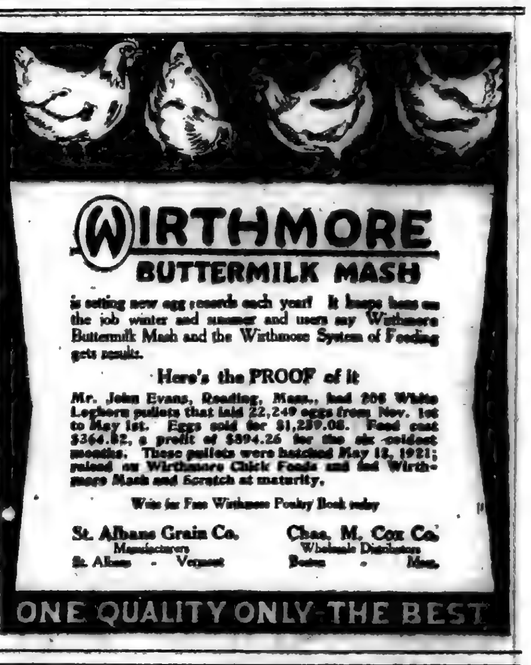
Pure materials, scientific manufacture, absolute cleanliness—then sealed against all impurity. That is WRIGLEY'S as you get it—fresh and full-flavored.

Save the coupons

Try the new P. K. with its peppermint candy-jacket



D6



WIRTHMORE BUTTERMILK MASH

is setting new egg records each year! It keeps hens on the job winter and summer and users say Wirthmore Buttermilk Mash and the Wirthmore System of Feeding gets results.

Here's the PROOF of it

Mr. John Evans, Reading, Mass., had 205 White Leghorn pullets that laid 22,249 eggs from Nov. 1st to May 1st. Eggs sold for $1,259.08. Feed cost $364.32, a profit of $894.26 for the six coldest months. These pullets were hatched May 18, 1921; raised on Wirthmore Chick Feeds and fed Wirthmore Mash and Scratch at maturity.

Write for Free Wirthmore Poultry Book today

St. Albans Grain Co. Manufacturers, St. Albans - Vermont

Chas. M. Cox Co. Wholesale Distributors, Boston - Mass.

ONE QUALITY ONLY-THE BEST

We Sell and Recommend Wirthmore Poultry Feeds
One quality only—the best.
D. T. PHILLIPS
Phone 648-3 HAMILTON, CONN.

WE SELL AND RECOMMEND

WIRTHMORE FEEDS

TO MAKE HENS LAY, WEIGH AND PAY

YANTIC GRAIN & PRODUCTS CO..... Norwich
YANTIC GRAIN & PRODUCTS CO..... Yantic
BALTIC GRAIN & COAL CO..... Baltic
GREENEVILLE GRAIN CO..... Greeneville
MOOSUP GRAIN CO..... Moosup

For Colds, Influenza and as a Preventive
Take
Laxative
BromQ Quinine
Tablets
The First and Original Cold and Grip Tablet
The box bears this signature
E. W. Grove
30c.

VARIOUS MATTERS

Light vehicle lamps at 6.23 o'clock tonight.

The Woman's Aid society of Pawcatuck Seventh Day Baptist church met in the church parlors Tuesday afternoon.

Initiation by past exalted rulers Thursday night at Elks. Social session.—adv.

A meeting of the executive board of the Connecticut League of Women Voters was held Monday morning at the league headquarters, in Hartford.

The U. S. Civil service commission announces that the receipt of applications for assistant chemist will close on March 27. Entrance salary is $1800-$3600.

Mrs. Frank Appleby of Saybrook slipped on the hatch cover in front of Hirsch & Co., Bank street, New London Tuesday and broke her leg. She was taken to the hospital.

Twenty-six real snow storms have been recorded this winter; 16 of which followed the appearance of the ground hog, who darted back to his hole upon seeing his shadow.

The annual convention of the American Bankers Association will be held this year at Atlantic City, it is announced by F. M. Shepherd, executive manager of the association.

Two cops of the police force of the borough of Groton have been knocked down lately by motorists who have insisted on cutting short corners. The first one had to retire from the force.

Initiation by past exalted rulers Thursday night at Elks. Social session.—adv.

Among books received at the state library are four volumes chronicling the operations of the Thirty-third Division, written by Lieutenant Colonel Hiudekoper, former division adjutant.

Former Governor Everett J. Lake, Mrs. Lake, Miss Marjorie Sykes Lake and Miss Priscilla Maxwell will arrive in Hartford on Friday, after spending the winter at Belleair Heights, Fla.

Fergus Reid, Jr., the Yale hockey star who was painfully injured in the Yale-Princeton game last Saturday was reported as "doing nicely" by the Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat hospital in New York.

From July 2 for six weeks the Yale campus will be dotted with school teachers, nearly all young women, in attendance at the summer school conducted under the auspices of the state board of education.

Sunday exercises and recreation may soon be in order at Trinity college if a petition now before the faculty receives the same treatment from the professors as it did from the college senators.

F. R. and R. M. Goodrich, Inc., of Portland has elected the following officers: President, Raymond M. Goodrich, Hartford; treasurer, Frederick R. Goodrich Portland; secretary, Joseph M. Adams, New York.

Long clams, scallops and oysters, as well as the freshest caught fish at Powers Bros.—adv.

Buell and Hines, Inc., of New Haven has been incorporated with authorized capital stock of $50,000. Business will start with $25,000. The incorporators are D'Orville H. Buell, James F. Hines and Florence T. Buell.

Heavy supplies of western eggs in terminal markets caused declines late last week. Prices for all grades of eggs opened at low range in some Connecticut cities Monday, but declines were not so acute for fancy grades.

In an order issued by Lieutenant Colonel D. Gordon Hunter, executive officer, 169th Infantry, for Colonel James A. Haggerty, commanding officer, a school for officers will be held at the state armory, New Haven, on Sunday.

Out of 1,093 cattle tested during February for tuberculosis, only 181 were found infected and condemned, according to the monthly report of Commissioner on Domestic Animals James M. Whittlesey. Eight were put in quarantine.

Funeral services for Samuel Elisha Stearns of Melrose Highlands, were held at his home Saturday noon. Mrs. Caroline Norris of the New Thought Centre, Boston, officiated. The body will be taken later to Danielson for burial.

But few reserved seats remain unsold for "Kathleen Mavourneen" at the Broadway theatre tonight, when the curtain rises at 8.20. Gallery seats at 50 cents were selling fast Tuesday. Call 156, St. Mary's rectory for information today.—adv.

The Maduas, Trinity college's honorary senior society, was Monday night empowered by the college senate to investigate the 1923 election of college officers and suggest some early date, if advisable, for putting the men into office.

Filling the vacancy as master of the tug Miles Standish, operated by the Thames Towboat Co., made by the resignation of W. J. Evans, Captain Arthur F. Taylor assumed the helm of the tug Monday. Captain Taylor's home is in South Glastonbury.

The new buildings of the American School for the Deaf in West Hartford will be dedicated Thursday afternoon, March 22. Admission to the exercises will be by invitation, owing to the fact that the assembly hall accommodates only 400.

The Portland Silk Company of Middletown filed papers Monday at the office of the secretary of the state showing that it had issued 6,000 shares of its unissued authorized capital stock, valued at $100,000. This makes the outstanding capital $700,000.

Among the thirty-two alleged communists whose trial started Monday in St. Joseph, Mich., was Ella Reeve Bloor, formerly a resident of Connecticut and 1910 a candidate for secretary of the state on the socialist ticket. At that time she polled 10,281 votes.

The Manufacturers' Association of Bridgeport sent messages to its members suggesting prompt action to prevent the passage by the senate of a bill construed by the association as a move to eliminate H. Kent Hubbard of Middletown from the state board of finance.

According to an announcement issued from the adjutant general's office, Connecticut now has a complete squadron of cavalry. Federal recognition is about to be granted the headquarters troop in New Haven which will be commanded by First Lieutenant C. J. Gulnan.

Workmen's Compensation

Two workmen's compensation agreements as follows have been approved by Commissioner J. J. Donohue:

Sellas & Co., Norwich, employer, and Charles Costoulos, 221 Main Street, employe, hernia, at rate of $15.

Golden Pigg Quarry Co., employer, Niantic and Charles Pilod, Niantic, employe, arm broken by stone from blast, at rate of $12.50

R. H. McGrath, P. C. Coughlan and Fred Sudlow have been in New York this week.

Secretary John J. O'Rourke of the Chamber of Commerce has been called to Lowell, Mass., by the death of his aunt.

Mrs. John F. Seith and Mrs. Louis E. Rader of Providence, formerly of this city, were visitors here Monday and Tuesday.

Miss Helen Lathrop of this city, who has been spending the winter in New London, returned there Monday from a week's visit with her niece in Hartford.

Boss Dyer, Harrison C. Noyes, Harry Gallagher, Thomas Baker and Bruce Rogers of the local plant of the U. S. Finishing Co., were in Providence on Tuesday visiting the Finishing Company's plants in that city.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Arnold Wetmore.

After being in poor health for some time the long and kindly life of Emma E. Brown beloved wife of Arnold Wetmore came to a close Tuesday morning at her home at East Great Plain.

Mrs. Wetmore was born in East Hampton on January 8, 1857, the daughter of William Brown, a native of East Hampton, and Lydia Smith Brown who was born in Haddam. She came from old New England parentage and was of the seventh generation of Governor Bradford of the Plymouth Colony.

Mrs. Wetmore is survived by her husband who is a carpenter, and a daughter, Mrs. Charles T. Perkins. There are other relatives.

Mrs. Wetmore during her years as a resident of Norwich endeared herself to a host of friends. She was charitable and ever willing to aid those in need, and there are many who will miss her as a loving wife, fond mother and trusted friend.

WEDDING

Kenyon—Murray.

Miss Lillian Murray of Lewiston, Me., and Herbert Kenyon of the Pepper Box Hill section of Waterford, were married Monday evening by Rev. Joseph A. Elder, pastor of the Huntington Street Baptist church, New London, at his residence, 68 Williams street. The couple were attended by Mrs. Irving Caton, sister of the groom, and by Mrs. Louis Kenyon. Following the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the groom's parents in the Niles Hill road, Waterford.

The bride was attired in a dark blue crepe de chine gown and wore a black satin hat. After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Kenyon left in Mr. Kenyon's automobile on a honeymoon trip. Upon their return they will reside in Walden avenue, New London. Mrs. Kenyon is the daughter of Mrs. E. Z. Hussey of Lewiston, Me., and Mr. Kenyon is the son of Louis Kenyon of Pepper Hill, Waterford, who is employed as a member of the engineering staff at the New London water and sewer department. Mr. Kenyon is a World war veteran, having served in Battery F, 55th regiment, Coast Artillery corps, and had nine months service in France.

REV. H. E. WISE KILLED BY AUTO AT REDLANDS

Rev. Herbert E. Wise, formerly pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, was killed in Redlands, Cal., recently, according to word that was received here Monday. He was walking in the street when struck by an automobile, which was said to be on the wrong side of the road.

Rev. Mr. Wise filled the pastorate at the Baptist church on the West Side from October 1, 1897 to Nov. 11, 1906, leaving here to go to a church in Minneapolis, Minn. Failure of his health after a brief time obliged him to take a trip to Europe and upon his return he went to Redlands, where he was an instructor in the university.

REV. HERBERT E. WISE.

While a pastor in Norwich, Rev. Mr. Wise was particularly interested in young people's work and was president of the Baptist Young People's Union of this county. He was popular in the city outside of his own church and was a forceful preacher, and close student and an earnest and energetic worker in his church duties.

HOME CHAPTER POSTPONES ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

There was a small attendance at the March meeting of Home Chapter of the King's Daughters, held at the Johnson Home Monday afternoon. Because of this, the anniversary celebration and silver collection which was to have taken place at this meeting was postponed until the next meeting in April. Several members were reported to be ill. Mrs. Charles Burke gave a vocal solo and Mrs. Fred Rogers was heard in an interesting reading.

At the next meeting tiny silk socks are to be distributed to every member, who will be expected to contribute as many pennies as twice the size of stocking each one wears. The meeting was presided over by the leader Mrs. John C. Atterbury. At the close a social hour followed during which ice-cream, cake and fancy wafers were served.

Misleading Advertising.

Penalty of $1,000 fine for misleading advertising is provided in a bill by Mr. Dunham of Wethersfield which was taken from the calendar today by the house of representatives and passed in the following form:

Section 1. Any person, firm, corporation or association, or agent or employe thereof, who, with intent to sell or dispose of merchandise, real estate, securities or service, or to induce the public to enter into any obligations relating thereto, shall make, publish, circulate or place before the public in a newspaper, magazine or other publication, or in form of a book, notice, circular, pamphlet, letter, handbill, poster, bill, sign, placard, card, label or tag, any advertisement or statement regarding merchandise, real estate, securities or service, which advertisement or statement contains anything untrue, deceptive or misleading, shall be fined not more than one thousand dollars.

STATE POLICE ORGANIZATION

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, March 14.—In the house today the bill which would change the organization of the state police department was reported unfavorably by the committee on military affairs. Chairman Fenton in explaining the bill said that it was an effort to recopize the act passed in 1921, and that there was no reason why this should be done. He had never seen a more complete set of records. Their work had been well done. The bill was rejected.

The committee on finance reported unfavorably on H. B. 457 concerning personal tax on personal property.

Favorable reports were received from the committee on forfeited rights and the rights of Patrick Ducy of Hartford, John Sullivan of Hartford, Mary T. Musson of Hartford, John Turner of Ashford, Benjamin Beck of Hartford and Gustave Carlson of New Britain were restored.

The petition of George H. Hummell of Seymour was rejected.

Several unfavorable reports were made by the committee on cities and boroughs, six in all, concerning affairs in New Haven and Danbury.

The committee on cities and boroughs reported favorably on H. B. 611, amending the charter of the borough of Naugatuck, H. B. 620, amending charter of city of New Haven.

From the senate unfavorable reports were received from the committee on roads, rivers and bridges on S. B. 54, concerning appropriation to Columbus hospital to be included in the budget; senate bills 415, 417, 420, 432, all concerning changes in motor vehicle laws.

Calendar.

Bills taken from the calendar and passed were: amending charter of the Burritt Savings Bank of New Britain and changing its name; amending charter of the town of Stratford; concerning salary of the chief of police of Shelton; amending act concerning taxation of miscellaneous corporations; concerning unfair and misleading advertisements; including in the trunk line system the highway running from Stafford Springs to the state line; amending an act concerning investments by savings banks; concerning speculation in tickets; amending an act concerning maiming with intent to disfigure; concerning rape and carnal abuse of female children; concerning payments of small bank deposits; equity in shares of building and loan associations, wages and death benefits; amending an act concerning examination of institutions under the supervision of the bank commissioner; concerning the state park and forest commission.

The house adjourned at 12.50 until Wednesday, at 11.15.

FISHERMEN IN FAVOR OF LICENSING FISHERS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, March 14.—A bill requiring all residents as well as non-residents of the state to secure a license before fishing in the inland waters of Connecticut was heard before the fish and game committee. The license fee would be $1 for residents and $2 for non-residents, while a fine of $10 would be imposed for violation.

Fishermen were present from all parts of the state. The bill was advocated by Senator H. Gibbs of Norwich. In former years he had been an ardent angler, but had about given it up as there were very few fish in the brooks and ponds to be caught. The license fee will provide funds which can be used to stock the brooks and ponds.

The president of the Meriden sportsmen's association heartily endorsed the anglers' license, as this is the only way that funds can be secured to restock.

Mr. Vance of New Britain favored the bills if the fishermen could be guaranteed the chance to fish.

Representative Kernon of Windsor was in favor of the bill.

A. J. Williamson of Bridgeport said that the numerous fishing clubs of the state could hire the brooks from the owners and throw them open to the public, so that the question of posting could be eliminated.

Dr. Conlon of Torrington was heartily in favor of the license.

E. T. Thomas, president of the New London association, was of the opinion that a license bill would be of great service to the state in restocking. More than thirty representatives from the fish and game associations expressed themselves as of the opinion that a license bill was needed to improve the fishing conditions in the state.

GLORIOUS GIRL PROCEEDS TO BE WELL OVER $500

Certainty that the net proceeds for Nemrod Grotto from the musical comedy, The Glorious Girl given Monday at the Broadway theatre, matinee and night, and repeated Tuesday night will be well over $500 was indicated Tuesday.

A house that had but few empty seats greeted the second performance Tuesday night with an audience that was swept into waves of thunderous applause for the graceful and clever dancing by the chorus groups, the pretty solos and duets, and the snappy rendering of their lines by the principals. Old theatre-goers remarked that they had seen many a professional musical comedy here that for artistic scenic investiture, melody in the musical score and general merit in all that goes to make up a worth-while evening of entertainment did not equal The Glorious Girl as produced by the Norwich amateur cast.

The splendid success was achieved under the direction of the following committee: Nelson J. Ayling, general chairman; publicity committee, Chas. A. Saxton, Herbert Kling, Herman Steiner; ticket committee, William T. Davenport, Day Fillmore, Carl Brend, W. Manley Eastwood; talent committee, Fred G. Prothero; program committee, Charles F. Wells, E. Tyler Rogers, William E. Shanley, William Dunstan; detail committee, Alexander Finlayson, Harry Carlson in charge of properties.

The ushers were Tyler Rogers, William M. Lamar, William Dunstan, Raymond Britton, William Stinson, Bruce Rogers, Elmer Pitcher, Hugh Finlayson, Carl Brend, Fred Powers, and Louis Brown. Tickets were taken by Charles A. Hagberg.

PROPOSE TO KEEP ALL NORWICH TEACHERS

At the March meeting of the town school board with President Walter F. Lester presiding, which was held Tuesday evening at the superintendent's office at the court house, Superintendent E. J. Graham reported the teacher and salary schedule for next year, showing that he recommends the re-engagement of all the present staff.

It was voted to make the spring vacation for the public schools begin on Saturday, March 24, and end on Monday, April 2.

The board discussed the high school proposition in connection with the Academy and decided to hold a special meeting of the board Friday on this subject. This may be followed by another special meeting or two before the board meets with the advisory council of citizens.

ROUND TABLE MEETING WITH MISS ELLEN M'CLOUD

The Norwich Round Table met on Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Ellen G. McCloud of 104 Washington street, a goodly number of the members being present. The meeting opened with a roll call, members responding with a nature story. The talk of the evening was delivered by Mrs. John E. Fanning who spoke on Animals About Norwich.

Following the intermission during which refreshments were served, Mrs. C. H. Carpenter gave several interesting readings.

The next meeting of the Round Table is to be held March 27th at the home of Mrs. Emma C. Bixby of 20 Bliss place, when Miss Bessie M. Grant will give a talk on Indian Lore and Miss L. Angie Stanton will give several readings.

HADASSAH WHIST FOR PALESTINE MEDICAL UNIT

A very successful whist was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Abraham Kadish of 30 Pearl street under the auspices of the Norwich Hadassah. A goodly sum of money was realized for the benefit of the medical unit in Palestine. The prizes were awarded as follows: Miss Anna Sadinsky and Mrs. Harvay Gold. The prizes were donated by Mrs. Kadish. Following the whist a social was held and refreshments were served.

Will Make Arguments Later.

Testimony was completed Monday afternoon before Attorney Hibberd R. Norman of Norwich, committee of the superior court, at a hearing in New London on the priority of claims against Giosue Duca and DiNoto for material furnished for the Highland apartments in Granite street, New London. Arguments will be made Monday, April 9.

The truthful telephone takes anybody's word after the coin has dropped.

PAST CHIEF RANGERS' NIGHT BY FORESTERS

Court City of Norwich, F. of A., No. 63, held a Past Chief Ranger's night Tuesday evening in Steiner hall, and the meeting will go down in the history of the Norwich court as one of the largest on record.

In honor of the occasion the meeting was turned over to members of the old Court City of Norwich and William Weldon, chief ranger of the old court, acted in that capacity, while Frank J. Murtha, also a member of the old court, filled the office of sub-chief ranger. George Fox, past chief ranger of old Court Sachem was ranger, Fred Nowatsky as past chief ranger, James Casey as senior woodard, George Dolan as junior woodard, James Carey as senior beadle, and Frank Quinley, Cornelius Kennedy, and C. J. Downes were the trustees.

During the business meeting six applications were voted upon and the amusement committee announced that at the meeting on April 10th one of the old time smokers would be held. The degree team announced that on March 26th there would be a ritualistic time for the members as on that night 25 candidates would be put through the degrees.

After the business session was over the older members turned the meeting over to Chief Ranger Henry Congdon who introduced as guests of honor and speakers for the evening, Supreme Chief Ranger George P. Sullivan of Derby and Grand Secretary Thomas O'Loughlin of Naugatuck.

Supreme Chief Ranger Sullivan spoke on the principles of the order of Foresters, stating that the American Order was founded in 1832 and since that time over $67,000,000 has been distributed in benevolent work. The present membership of the Foresters of America, said Supreme Chief Ranger Sullivan, is 210,000 and the order operated in 44 of the 48 states of the Union. The order is strictly an American order and the fundamentals of the organization are American throughout. The order maintains a funeral fund of $800 for all members at a cost of five cents weekly, and there are other benefits as selected by local courts. The real purpose of the organization is to insure members against an adversity and give them something to fall back on in time of need. While other organizations maintain homes, the purpose of the Foresters is to care for the members and see that they are properly cared for.

In the report of Grand Secretary O'Loughlin the following figures for increased membership in courts in this district was made:

	1922.	1923.
City of Norwich, No. 63.	596	637
Wequonock No. 88	237	262
Sprague No. 90	49	67
Griswold No. 101	172	233
Liberty No. 132	77	103
H. B. Mowrey No. 168 ..	35	49
New London No. 180 ...	20	35
	1186	1367
		1186
Gain for year		181

Other speakers on the programme were William Weldon, Albert Thorpe, George Fox, Allan Bogle of Taftville, James Smith of Taftville, Arthur Cote of Baltic, Thomas McDonald of Voluntown, George Stelaks of Derby and Deputy Frank J. Murtha.

Following the meeting a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served. Music was furnished by Swahn's orchestra and was of the usual high character, the entertainers being repeatedly called upon to play popular numbers.

Automobile in Collision

While John G. Driscoll of Franklin was delivering milk on Washington street near the Sheltering Arms Monday morning, having left his automobile at the curb, the machine was hit by an automobile driver by Herbert Hitchon. The Hitchon car got into a rut from which it could not get out in time to avoid hitting the other car. The damage to either car was slight Driscoll's car was standing on the wrong side of the street.

Sprained Right Wrist.

Peter Nawrocki of Yantic suffered a severe sprain of the right wrist Tuesday afternoon when he fell in front of the Bishop-Bidwell Co., store, on Water street. There was considerable ice and snow near the sidewalk and Mr. Nawrocki slipped and the injury resulted.

—THE—
Porteous & Mitchell
COMPANY

Handsome, New Drapery
Materials

The new Spring showing of Drapery Materials in larger and more comprehensive—the colorings and designs more attractive—than ever before.

NEW CRETONNES

We show Cretonnes, in a wide range of patterns and colorings—at 25c, 39c and 49c a yard.

In the better quality Cretonnes, we show many patterns that are shown exclusively by us, in this vicinity—at 59c, 69c and 89c a yard.

Heavy, Reversible Tapestry Cretonnes, for Couch Covers and Portieres—at 89c a yard.

OTHER MATERIALS

Silkaline, a number of pretty Chintz designs, for Comfortables—at 33c

Quaker Lace, a broad showing of attractive designs, as high as $1.75 and as low as 35c

White Curtain Madras, in a splendid range of new and attractive patterns—at 49c

36-inch Repp, in desirable shades of rose, blue and green—at 69c

36-inch Colored Madras for Overdrapes, all wanted colors—at $1.00

Terry Cloth, desirable patterns for Cushions, Hangings and Portieres—at $1.00

45-inch "Deco" Silk, guaranteed sunfast, in rose, gold, brown and blue—at $2.95

50-inch Figured Armure, for Portieres, in brown and green—at $1.39

The Porteous & Mitchell Co.

BOOT AND SHOE BUSINESS FOR SALE

Is Formerly Conducted by the Late M. J. Cummings.

The boot and shoe business conducted by the late M. J. Cummings at Central avenue, is hereby offered for sale to intending purchasers, who may continue same as a shoe store. The stock has been appraised by two reliable men in the boot and shoe trade and the location is an excellent one. The shoe business has been in the hands of the Cummings family for the past 46 years. The store opens today and will be open daily from 8 to 12 and 1 to 6 and on Wednesday and Saturday evenings from 7 to 9 for payment of bills, call for repair work and sale of stock and building.

ATLANTIC COUPLE WILL CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hamilton of Atlantic will observe their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, March 18. There will be no formal observance of the event except that Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton will receive their friends in the afternoon at their home. The couple have been residents of Atlantic for the past twenty years. They were married in Bosrah, March 18, 1873, by the Rev. Mr. Hunt, then pastor of the Congregational church there. Mrs. Hamilton's maiden name was Sarah Jane Taylor, the daughter of John Lorenzo and Harriet Holmes Taylor. She was born in Colchester and Mr. Hamilton was born in Springfield, Mass.

After their marriage they lived for many years in Fitchville where Mr. Hamilton was employed in the Fitch mill. Later they moved to Yantic and he worked at the Hopkins & Allen gun shop. He retired a few years ago from active work though in good health.

Mr. Hamilton has always been fond of the outdoors and travels many miles each year in hunting, fishing and skating. Even today he can outwalk many a younger man in the woods.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton are held in high esteem by the people of Yantic and enjoy a wide acquaintance elsewhere. They are attendants at Grace Episcopal church in the village. There are four children, two of whom are living, Mrs. J. L. Oliver of Manchester and Warren Hamilton of Montville, while he is superintendent of a paper mill. There are five grandchildren.

A man isn't necessarily a failure because he has failed.

D "HAPPINESS" HERE

novelties that express the sentiments of the STER SEASON
over our new selections have just arrived.
h, unusual and appealing.
EASTER
urds, Stationery, Framed Pictures, Books, China, Flowers and Novelties.

Leasure to have you call if buy or not.

e Cranston Co.

NOTICE

I, wife, Ellen Morin, of 14 Oak street, son, having left my bed and board t just cause, and having failed to I desire to give herewith formal that I will not be responsible for bills contracted by her after this ison, March 12, 1923.

12d ERNEST MORIN.

LATE FOR CLASSIFICATION

FOUND—A black pocketbook containing sum of money, on Franklin e, in front of Sellas Lunch. 1464. mar14d

E. Savage and Wm. A. McClimon, ts city of Norwich, land, Smith avenue.

March 6—Hiirom Beckwith to Steve Bohara, Starr street.

John D. and Wm. G. Rogers and Fannie B. Hull to Frank L. Kimball, land, Spruce street.

March 7—Stanislaw and Alexandra Yorcik to Joseph Jurasek and John Kurzis, 625-627 North Main street.

Joseph F. Dombroski to Leon Trudeau, 7 Tyler avenue.

March 8—Anstiss V. Lathrop to Stanislaw and Marcella Kiecolt, 88 Oak street.

March 9—Agnes Steiner to The Mohican Co., 265-267 Main street.

March 10.—Wm. A. Buckley to Wm. P. Murphy, 34-36 Slater avenue.

James C. E. Leach to Wladislaw and Stephanie Haberskie, 48 Mt. Pleasant street.

Henry E. Holden to Clarence W. Smith Bentley avenue.

March 12—Evariste Maurice to Roseanna Maurice, 41 Grove street.

Rev. J. Grosser and others to Polish National Catholic church of the Divine Providence, Golden Heights.

Delphus Demute to Mary Brokowski, land Thames View Manor.

Norwich Boy in Salem Hospital.

Several cases of scarlet fever have broken out among students at St. John's school, Danvers, Mass., one of them being James Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Crawford of this city. Young Crawford has been taken to the Salem hospital for treatment.

William Brown is at his home on Park street because of the sickness at the school, but James Morley of Washington street, who has been home, has returned to school.

Wins Scholarship at Brown

William F. Storms of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Storms, living on the East Side, who is a member of the freshman class of Brown University, has just been awarded a scholarship of $100. These are awarded for scholarship and other meritorious conduct.

You can get prompt attention and good service at the

EATON CHASE CO.
129 Main Street, Norwich

They carry the best quality of hardware and electrical goods, including radio parts.

DANIELSON

All those who favor fishing in Alexander's lake will have their chance to tell the committee on fish and game of the legislature about it this week. There is a hearing scheduled on the matter. There is no denying that the sportsmen of this and surrounding towns would like to fish in Aexander's lake—and in Quinebaug lake, south of here for that matter, though no bill in the legislature provides for anything of that kind in Quinebaug lake. The point is that the fishermen feel very poignantly the restrictions that have kept them away from their favorite sport in these two bodies of water for years past. They are not so much concerned with these two beautiful lakes—fishing grounds since the days when the Indians paddled their birch canoes over these sparkling waters—are reservoirs furnishing what is guaranteed to be pure water to hundreds of residents of Goodyear and Wauregan. They simply view the whole matter from the viewpoint of getting out for an innocent day of sport and recreation. Unhappily, the state board of health and those who have water rights in the lakes do not see the proposition from the viewpoint of sportsmanship. Their concern is to see that the people in the villages mentioned get pure water to drink, that the health of those people may be safeguarded against such pollutions as are certain to occur when the public is allowed free access to any restricted body of water, for fishing and bathing purposes.

The legislature's decision on these two matters is of importance to people resident all the way from Plainfield to North Grosvenordale and what that august body, or any committee thereof, decides pertaining thereto will be read with interest by thousands hereabouts.

From operations that are under way, this appears to be what might be termed Dog week. It opened really last week and had what may be its main developments in the town court on Monday, when a bevy of Goodyear people all pleaded guilty to violations of the law pertaining to registering dogs.

Out of the activities that brought those into court who were fined for their negligence in registering their dogs much information of interest to officials has been obtained about other people who have unregistered dogs and are still sitting in the shadows of the background and figuring they will be overlooked in the search for those who are too cheap to tell the truth—to register their dogs.

Some of these holdouts are due for a real scare. Acting on information that has come to them during the past few days the officials charged with seeing that the dog laws were enforced will have some more Killingly people in court within a few days. Special Deputy William Jarvis of the bureau of domestic animals and Game Warden Charles Potters of Putnam again were in town on Tuesday checking up information that has come to them. They have been told of one case where a dog owner has been breeding and selling puppies for seven years and yet never has paid a cent of dog tax to the town. And they have heard of other things that it may be just as well not to mention here at the present time. Their information means more court cases

Owning unlicensed dogs is going to prove a mighty unpopular pastime in Killingly for the next few weeks, Goodyear, which is no worse in this whether these dogs are owned in respect than other communities of the town, be in Attawaugan, Baileyville, East Killingly, Dayville, or South Killingly. For instance, a Dayville man who has paid no attention whatever to warnings that have been given relative to allowing his dog to roam about that community will be in court Saturday—or be an awfully sorry man for thinking that he can get away with a few things that simply will not be tolerated.

Fog, rain and torrid conversation without doubt entered as a combination on Tuesday to cutting away the fetters of snow and ice that have held this territory bound for nearly three months. The conversation was from those who would melt an iceberg in three minutes if the comment on the belated winter weather counted for anything. It rained at times during Tuesday, which opened with a cloud bank as thick as one might encounter off Sable Island, and the temperature remained above freezing throughout the entire 24-hour period.

This is not to be taken as indicating that the snow and ice have disappeared from hereabouts. No such luck. It is still with us. Ice on the rivers is still more than two feet thick in the coves on local rivers, and one could drive a 5-ton truck across any lake in the territory without danger of breaking through—but a start to be rid of the mess has been made—and that is something.

At Central Village at the undertaking rooms of Tillinghast and Sons, Monday afternoon, funeral services for Miss Ella Gray, 45, were conducted by Rev. Mary McComber and were attended by a congregation of friends who had come to know her during the years of her residence in that village. Miss Gray died at Dayville, where she had been saying with friends. She was a member of an old Plainfield family. The body was entombed at Central Village and will be buried in the Gray family cemetery at Plainfield during the spring.

Tuesday evening's Father and Son banquet arranged by the local unit of the County Y. M. C. A. at the Methodist Episcopal church was very much of a success. It brought together a happy gathering, all members of which found much to interest them.

Funeral services for Mrs. Dora Thompson, wife of Arthur Thompson, were held Tuesday afternoon at the undertaking rooms of A. F. Wood. Rev. C. C. Tibbetts of the Methodist church officiated. Relatives acted as bearers. The body was placed in the receiving vault at Westfield cemetery.

Henry C. Cercer of Concord, N. H., was a visitor with friends in Danielson on Tuesday.

Joseph J. Brennan, a Danielson patient in the Day Kimball hospital at Putnam, is progressing satisfactorily. Mr. Brennan fell a number of days ago on Mechanic street and injured knee cap.

Rivers running through Danielson were rising rapidly Tuesday night as the result of the rain and thaw, but there was nothing to indicate the flood conditions of which many have been in fear for several weeks past.

Already there is high pitch enthusiasm among those who would win the trophies offered by the Danielson Rod and Gun club for the largest trout caught during the open season that opens on April 1.

There seems to be little chance, politicians say, of the bill abolishing the county commission going throught at this session of the legislature, though this is a possibility of the not distant future, shrewd political observers admit.

Many gathered at the Casino alleys, as told elsewhere this morning to see the match between Barber of Danielson and Dugas of Taftville. The final games in this bowling series will be rolled Thursday evening of this week at Taftville.

The state highway between Danielson and Elmville— a section that a en treatment by road hogs Tuesday, petition is asking to rebuild—was giv- This quarter of a century old highway has broken down badly under the heavy traffic strain of the later winter days and is now in very poor condition, as is the case every year at this time.

Harold Conklin has taken a position with the General eElectric company at their offices in Albany, N. Y.

Gas and Headaches Banished

MI-O-NA Tablets overcome the cause—acid stomach—brought on by undigested, sour food. Chronic indigestion and dyspepsia result if acid stomach is neglected. MI-O-NA Tablets bring quick relief because full-strength is preserved by packing in air-tight sanitary tape. Harmless and pleasant, for young and old. Economical. Not habit forming. Guaranteed and sold by all druggists.

MI-O-NA

The Lee & Osgood Co.

F. W. TILLINGHAST & SONS, Successors to F. R. & F. W. Tillinghast, Central Village, Conn. FUNERAL DIRECTORS and EMBALMERS. Tel. Moosup 61-3. Night Call—Danielson 51-4.

ALBERTUS F. WOOD

Funeral Director and Embalmer

PHONE 147 DANIELSON

PUTNAM

Unique in the annals of animal surgery in eastern Connecticut is an operation just recently performed by Dr. F. T. Baldwin, a veterinarian of this city, at Norwich, to which city he was summoned late at night and hurried thence to perform the required service. A valuable Angora cat was the patient and it was subjected to a Cesserian operation. The cat came through the operation successfully and four valuable and beautiful kittens are added to the small number of this favored type in the eastern part of the state. Dr. Baldwin has had remarkable success in animal surgery during the past few years.

Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry Converse, where she died late Saturday, funeral services for Miss Arinda Wilson Enyard were conducted by Rev. J. C. Stoddard, pastor of the Baptist church of this city, and attended by relatives and friends. A quartet sang at the service. The body is to be interred in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn, N. Y. Miss Enyard had been a resident of this city for nearly 30 years.

The body of Philip Woisard, former selectman of the town of Thompson and former postmaster at North Grosvenordale, was brought to his home in the latter place Tuesday morning from Providence, where Mr. Woisard died Monday at the Rhode Island hospital. He had been in poor health since last November and in a critical condition during the past few weeks.

Mr. Woisard was born in Canada 68 years ago, but came to the United States as a boy and has since remained in this country. He had been a resident of North Grosvenordale for about 30 years and prior to that time had lived in Baltic where 48 years ago he was united in marriage with Miss Louise Dupont, who survives him with three daughters, Mrs. Camille Beain of North Grosvenordale, Mrs. Masciocette and Mrs. N. A. Berard, both of Providence. A son died in infancy many years ago.

Mr. Woisard was one of the best known and most successful of the French-speaking residents who have lived in Grosvenordale since its industrial development began upwards of 40 years ago. He gained prominence among his people and the full confidence of all citizens of the town.

Eventually he became prominent in local politics. For nearly a score of years he was a member from Thompson of the democratic state central committee and for many other years was a member of the democratic town committee. He was a member and had been an officer of the Union St. John Baptist society and of the Holy Name society of St. Joseph's church, of which he had been a member from the time of his early residence in North Grosvenordale.

As to his business activities, Mr. Woisard was for years engaged as a baker and later conducted a shoe store. He was successful in business, as in his other activities. His death will be generally regretted throughout the town of Thompson.

In this city Mr. Woisard was very well known and his death brought forth expressions of sympathy on Tuesday.

The First National bank building here likely will not be completed much before June 1. At the present time forces of workers are engaged on the interior putting in studding and doing general carpentry work called for in developing the arrangement called for by the plans. While the development of the interior is going on, and when the weather gets better, other forces will be engaged in putting the stucco on the exterior of the building, which completed will be a very fine building. The remodeling operations will cost close to $100,000.

Putnam Trade school will hold its annual open night March 27th, from 7.30 to 9.30. During this time the public will be invited to inspect the various departments in operation and see exhibits of type jobs accomplished by students as a part of their regular instruction in the trades.

Specific jobs will be analyzed for for their educational content, technical knowledge, math, trade terminology, manual dexterity and skill, the results being shown on suitable placards accompanying the particular job to which they apply. This will enable the visitors to discern the quality of subjects taught as related to the more apparent manual operations.

The value of a trade training can only be measured by the years of use-

PISO'S COUGH? The Piso's quick relief cough syrup—35c, 60c and $1.20 everywhere.

Exhibits and displays of home economics products will also be shown in an especially arranged manner at the high school auditorium. The public will be invited.

There's even betting in this and surrounding territory just now on what the committee of public health of the legislature will report on the bill providing for bathing in Alexander's lake. While it already has been demonstrated that there is strong opposition to the bill, those who know what is going on point out that it has very strong support, also, and those who look at the situation as it presents itself before the bill is reported, are willing to risk, according to their views even bets that the report will be favorable, or unfavorable. A few days more, likely will tell the story as to what the report will be.

This week the legislature will give a hearing on another bill having to do with Alexander's lake—and fishing in it. A number will go to Hartford to appear in favor of this bill, which provides that fishing be allowed in this particular body on three days of each week, as was the rule before the act now in force prohibited fishing entirely excepting on permit from those in charge of the water rights at the lake.

This is really the last day for filing income tax returns. All such papers must be in the office of the collector of internal revenue at Hartford not later than tomorrow, March 15, though envelopes bearing the date March 15 are held in some quarters to constitute a compliance with the law.

State Attorney and Mrs. Charles E. Searl are arranging to leave tomorrow (Thursday) for a southern trip that will extend through several weeks.

There was interest here Tuesday in the announcement sent out from Hartford that plans have been made for the establishment of a fire prevention station in or near this city. Several such stations have been established throughout the state, as told in The Bulletin of Tuesday, and the number of these is to be increased. Putnam likely will get one of these.

Road scrapers of the state highway department were sent out Tuesday to give attention to state highways that are badly showing wear as winter breaks up and heavy traffic begins to cut through the surface.

A number of Putnam people were in Boston, Tuesday to attend the automobile show.

Judge Allyn L. Brown will come here Friday from Norwich to preside at a short calendar session of the superior court.

A charge of insubordination will be preferred against Fireman Bardier when he appears before the common council to answer to charges that have been made against him by Chief Engineer Ralph E. Thurston of the fire department, the incident alleged to have occurred at the Donahue block, three weeks ago tomorrow.

High tax rates that it has been found necessary to assess in a number of Windham county towns in this vicinity are said to be due chiefly to the fact that many costs have not receded materially from the high levels of wartime and that the public continues to demand various services and improvements that are very expensive.

The Windham County Superior court will hold a short calendar session at Putnam, Friday at 11 a. m. The calendar:

Lucy M. Troening vs. August Troening, reference to M. A. Shumway, State Referee; Moss Electrical Co. vs. Walter W. Murphy, default, hearing in damages and judgment; Ruth M. Babcock vs. Harold L. Babcock, order proceeding procedure in taking depositions for plaintiff.

Uncontested divorces: Isabelle Charlebois vs. Mike Charlebois; Mollie Gannon Hempstead vs. Frank J. Hempstead.

Trial list, to jury: Cornelius D. Shea vs. Nellie Shea, Executrix, claimed as privileged Class X. Action against an executrix; Nelida Archambeault vs. Docite E. Jette, Admr., claimed as privileged.

To court: Bronislaw Swynoski vs. Gulf Refining Co.; Jessie McK. Webster vs. Burt W. Webster; General Mortgage & Loan Corporation vs. Florence M. Johnson; Leon H. Frink vs. Charles Levallee; Frank Poblocki and Annie Poblocki vs. John Olessynski; Arthur King et al appeal from probate, claimed as privileged; Rugbee Mfg. Co. vs. Samuel Eisenberg; William A. Tator vs. Mary C. Moore.

Judge Allyn L. Brown will be on the bench.

SOUTH KILLINGLY

Mrs. Henry Tewgood has returned from a visit with her sister, Mrs. Russell Hammond, of East Killingly.

William Lyon, who has been ill, is better and able to return to work.

Emil Wistrand made a business trip to Foster Friday.

Everett Hall and Byron Place were in East Putnam Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Barlow and Burton Brown visited friends in Valley Falls Sunday.

Lillie Young was absent from school Friday on account of illness.

Mrs. George Slate entertained her aunt, Mrs. G. W. Barlow, Friday.

The appraisers have been appointed preparatory to settling the estate of Mrs. Gustav Borgquist.

P. H. Coffey celebrated his birthday Saturday. He received several gifts, among which was a birthday cake from his oldest daughter.

The local choir is rehearsing music for Easter.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Young and daughter Mildred were visitors Thursday at P. H. Coffey's.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Barlow entertained at dinner Sunday in honor of the birthday of their oldest daughter, Edith I. Coffey. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. George Slater and son Grant, Mrs. Edith Coffey and children, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Place and children and Susan Legendre. The occasion was most enjoyable to all present. During the afternoon Mrs. Coffey was presented a birthday cake made and decorated by her daughter Ruth. She also received several gifts from relatives and friends.

At the evening service Sunday Mrs.

WESTERLY

The members of the Westerly Masonic club and their friends who took part in the "Minstrel Fancies" given by the club some time ago were entertained Monday evening at the club rooms on High street. Miss Caliste Conant, of Boston was the chief entertainer of the evening. Cards were enjoyed and refreshments were served and an entertainment was given by some of the people who took part in the minstrels.

Loren MacLaren of Granite street is visiting in New York city.

Rev. Frederick Sanford of Barrington will be the speaker Friday night at the special services of Christ Episcopal church.

Word has been received in Westerly of the Death of William F. McGann, who died in Boston. Mr. McGann was formerly a resident of Westerly. He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. James McGarvie and Mrs. George McBride of Westerly and Mrs. Fred Chase of New York city.

A turkey supper was served at the Colonial club on High street Monday evening to the members of the whist tournament who were the winners in the recent whist matches. Arthur Trotman headed the team which was defeated and which tendered the dinner to the succesful rivals.

STONINGTON

Owing to an injury to William Jones' hand while he was chopping wood he is unable to attend to duties in the borough streets. Mr. Jones while splitting a heavy piece of wood caught his right hand between the thumb and index finger between the wood and a steel wedge. It will be some little time before he will be able to attend to his duties.

The young son of Joseph Vargas, while playing in the yard at his home, cut his face on a barbed wire fence, having in some way become tangled in it. A physician dressed the cuts.

Tuesday afternoon the Travel club met at the library and the members had the pleasure of listening to a most interesting talk on Florida by Mrs. D. C. Stone. There was a good attendance.

Battery B of Norwich came to Stonington Monday evening to play a basketball game with the A. V. A. A. team at Arion hall. The game was a most interesting one. The Norwich team won by a score of 13 to 11.

Monday evening the series of meetings of the Comfort club during lent is being carried out by the ladies of Calvary Episcopal church and garments are being made for the box to be sent to the missionaries at Easter time. Monday evening the members met with Mrs. Paul Brosofske at her home on Orchard street.

Wednesday at 10 a. m. there will be a special service at the Calvary Episcopal church by direction of Bishop Chauncey B. Brewster of Connecticut, known as the Intercession for the Churches. Rev. W. F. Williams will preside.

The World Wide Guild of the First Baptist church, will meet with Miss Helen Eldredge at her home on Gold street Thursday evening.

Saturday evening the A. V. A. A. five will go to Westerly to play the 349th company. This will be the second game in the series of three planned by the managers of both teams.

MYSTIC

Tuesday morning the funeral service for Joseph Nachelka, one year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Nachelka of Old Mystic road was held. Interment was in St. Patrick's cemetery.

One of the local undertakers has averaged a funeral every other day during March thus far in 13 days.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rivers and family moved Tuesday from Denison avenue to Industrial Place.

The chorus singing by the members of the musical society that meets every week at Community house, is making excellent progress and receiving many compliments for their good work.

W. W. Wendall of Rochester, N. Y., is the guest of friends on High street.

The funeral of Pleasant B. Braxton was held Sunday afternoon from his home on the Noank road, at 2.30 o'clock. A service was held at the Union Baptist church at 3 o'clock, Rev. J. G. Osborne officiating. There was a large attendance. Interment was in Farmville, Virginia.

Mrs. Albert Gates of Poquonoc entertained at her home Friday afternoon, the members of Fidelity chapter, O. E. S., the high score prize at whist was awarded Mrs. R. F. Sheldon and Miss Ethel Latham won the consolation prize. Refreshments were served. There were 22 present.

At the Sunday morning service at St. Mark's Episcopal church, Rev. G. E. Tobin, rector of Christ church, Westerly, occupied the pulpit, having exchanged with Rev. J. P. Beauchamp, who preached at Christ church, Westerly.

The Monday club will meet with Mrs. George H. Miner at her home on Elm street. The study of Africa will be continued. Mrs. G. Albert Thompson will read a paper on The Transvaal and Boer War.

Mrs. E. H. Collington is entertaining her sister, Miss Susie Bentley of New York.

D. Marsh Mooney and family are moving to Silas Maxson's cottage at Willow Point.

Miss Edna Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Richards of Gravel street was a guest in Hartford of Dr. and Mrs. Walsh over the week-end.

C. F. Church of Baltimore, Md., is the guest of his brother on Willow street.

The Mountain Street Methodist Episcopal church, Montreal, was destroyed by fire. Four firemen were injured and taken to a hospital.

Pioneers of Industry

PIONEERS, who founded America's foremost industries, were invariably reformers of business methods.

Ever since its incorporation, the American Woolen Company has striven to improve the methods of manufacture. In its sixty mills are installed the most efficient textile machinery and every device known to save time, labor and inconvenience for the workers. Here, more than 35,000 skilled employees are producing more than 30,000 weaves and patterns of woolen and worsted fabrics which are distributed to every civilized country.

It can be truthfully maintained that this spirit of co-operation and honest endeavor have helped to elevate the standards of the woolen industry which will accrue to the benefit of all makers and users of clothing.

American Woolen Company

Wm. M. Wood, President.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT

By DAVID CORY

S. O. S. CALL FOR POLICEMAN DOG.

No sooner were the two little rabbits inside the Hollow Stump Telephone Booth then brave Uncle Lucky held the door tight shut with his strong hind legs, while little rabbit called up the kind Policeman Dog.

As soon as he heard an answering voice over the telephone, he shouted, "S. O. S. Pleas come quick. Policeman Dog, with your hickory stick!"

and, hopping over to the back of the

"Thank You," said the good Policeman Dog

Old Hollow Telephone Stump, he peeked out through a little knothole.

"Is he coming? Is he coming?" asked the old gentleman rabbit, still holding the door tightly closed with his strong hind legs.

"Maybe I can see him with my left eye," answered the little rabbit, again squinting through the little knothole and then he shouted: "Here he comes! Here he comes!"

Sure enough, across the Sunny Meadow came the big, kind, Policeman Dog in his long blue coat with a big silver star on his chest and waving his big hickory stick in the air.

"Here I am!" he shouted, blowing on his big, shrill whistle."

No sooner did Danny Fox hear that whistle than he fled through the Shady Forest.

No sooner did Mr. Wicked Wolf see the big, kind Policeman Dog than he, too, turned and fled.

As for Old Man Weasel, he crawled under the bed when he got home and didn't dare come out for a week and a day.

"Everything is all safe now," shouted the big, kind Policeman Dog, tapping his big hickory stick on the little door of the Old Hollow Stump Telephone Booth, so, out hopped the two little rabbits.

"Here, take this!" cried dear, kind, generous Uncle Lucky taking a ten dollar lettuce leaf bill out of his wallet and handing it to the brave Policeman Dog. "Buy Mrs. Dog a new calico apron and the little bow wows some candy."

"Thank you," said the good Policeman Dog, saluting the old gentleman rabbit with his right paw and then away he ran back to the Police Station in Rabbitville, U. S. A.

"I guess we'd better go home," said the old gentleman rabbit, "we've had enough trouble for today," and before very long, he drove into the little white gate and around to the garage, back of his little house on the corner of Lettuce avenue and Carrot street, Rabbitville, U. S. A.

There stood the Old Red Rooster, polishing his spurs with Uncle Lucky's shoe brush.

"Are you going to a wedding?" asked the old gentleman rabbit, winking at Mrs. Swallow who was peeping out of her mud house under the eaves.

"No, to a fight!" answered the Old Red Rooster, and in the next story if he doesn't lose his pocket handkerchief, I'll tell you what happened after that.

(Copyright 1923 by David Cory.)

EKONK

In spite of the bad traveling, there was a large attendance at the community meeting in Grange hall Thursday evening. The entertaining program was pronounced the best of the season. The committee for the April meeting is Mrs. Annie Congdon, Mrs. Lena Gallup and Mrs. Marion Hilliard.

Miss Julia Sayles was at her home here over the week end.

Arthur Gallup with other members of the basketball team of Plainfield High school were guests at Storrs Agricultural college over the week end.

Mrs. A. A. Stanton is confined to the house with grip.

Thomas Brown and family attended the funeral of Mr. Brown's brother-in-law, Eugene Partelo, in Groton on Sunday. Mrs. Partelo has the sincere sympathy of her many friends here.

On account of the cold and bad traveling, there was a small attendance at the auction sale at Thomas Brown's last Thursday.

Ardell Gallup is suffering with a bad cold and Hermon Frink is substituting as rural mail carrier this week.

Rev. Frank Robbins and son of Preston City were on Sterling Hill Friday calling on Edward Freeman; also visited the school.

No More Dandruff

A leading hair dresser says she has found nothing as good as Parisian sage to banish all dandruff and make the hair wavy, thick and lustrous. Lee & Osgood Co. sell it on money back plan.

Snug comfort, and—

White Rose

The all-Ceylon Tea

STRAND

TODAY AND THURSDAY

GEORGE MELFORD PARAMOUNT PICTURE

JAVA HEAD

WITH STAR CAST, INCLUDING

LEATRICE JOY

JACQUELINE LOGAN

GEORGE FAWCETT

RAYMOND HATTON

COMEDY—NEWS

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

JACK HOLT, and WANDA HAWLEY

—IN—

NOBODY'S MONEY

COMING!—COMING!

THE LITTLE CHURCH AROUND THE CORNE

WITH A REAL STAR CAST

BREED THEATRE

TODAY—LAST DAY

DON'T FAIL TO SEE

WHO ARE MY PARENTS

The Season's Sensational Screen Surprise

MOVIE CHATS

Prices—Matinee 15c-25c Evening 20c-35c

DANCE

ARMORY — NORWICH

SATURDAY, MARCH 17

8:30 TO 12:00

MUSIC BY

HAPPY EIGHT

OF NEW LONDON

LADIES 40c—GENTS 60c

It's a Battery B Affair

COOKS On All Subjects All Kinds

Subscription to all American and European Publications.

SHEA'S NEWS BUREAU

UNION SQUARE

DAMASCUS STEEL PRODUCTS

Hack Saw Blades that don't break. Butcher Knives that hammer won't break; sharpen with a file.

STEAK KNIVES

COLD CHISELS

PINCERS, PLIERS, ETC

THE HOUSEHOLD

BULLETIN BUILDING

74 FRANKLIN STREET

TELEPHONE 581-4

THERE is no advertising medium Eastern Connecticut equal to The Bulletin for business results.

ATTEMPT TO BURGLARIZE HOME OF NEW LONDON JEWELER

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 13.—An attempt was made early this evening to burglarize the residence of Morris Mallowey, a Bank street jeweler, residing at No. 31 Ocean avenue. The thief was frightened away.

The thief gained entrance to the house by opening a kitchen window that he found unfastened and while members of the family were in the upper part of the house. One of the first things the crook did was to open a bedroom window in case he had to make a hasty escape. The next thing he did was to collide with some dishes that had been left on a table, causing such a noise that members of the household descended to the lower floor to investigate. As footsteps were heard, the thief went to the bedroom window and jumped to the ground and escaped.

The damage action of Olaf against Andrews was the first case started in the civil superior court, which convened here this morning with Judge Christopher L. Avery on the bench. The action is the outcome of an automobile crashing into a motorcycle that Olaf was operating in Greeneville several months ago.

W. H. Church of Main street, employed by the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad as freight brakeman, suffered extensive and painful burns at Webster, Mass., Tuesday noon when a blower pipe of the locomotive hauling a freight train from Midway to Worcester burst. Church was in the cab and received a quantity of steam upon the head, face and hands. He came to New London, where the wounds were dressed, after which he went to his home.

Mrs. Grace Appleby, wife of Frank Appleby of Saybrook, will probably institute a suit against the city as a result of injuries she sustained this afternoon by falling on a sidewalk on the east side of Bank street in front of the store of Hirsch & Co. The victim is now under treatment at Lawrence Memorial Associated hospital, having sustained a fracture of the right ankle.

Mrs. Appleby was walking along the sidewalk when she stepped on the smooth and slippery surface of an iron hatchway, causing her to be thrown with such force as to produce the injury. After being attended by a physician, Mrs. Appleby was removed to the hospital.

In all probability the first of a series of buildings that will ultimately consecrate the junior high school, for which a bond issue was made two years ago, will be in course of construction in the spring, for it was the sense of a conference between the board of education and members of the city council Monday night that the erection of the industrial wing of the school was an immediate necessity. After the councilmen had received information from the board, which showed that all of the schools were in a congested condition and that every available space for instructing the students was being utilized, the councilmen were unanimous in the expression that the wing should be erected without delay.

The building will cost approximately $200,000, together with an additional cost of about $15,000 for six teachers and janitor and fuel.

It is believed that definite action will be taken by the council at its next session next Monday night.

About three months ago Charles Fear and Elmer Fibian leased the property at No. 123 Bank street and opened the Eureka hotel. Now Fear alleges that he has been the victim of his partner's dishonesty and seeks Fibian's arrest for the theft of $100, a diamond ring and the joint bankbook of the partners.

Fibian left New London a few days ago and went to Newport, where he enlisted in the navy. This afternoon Fear ascertained the whereabouts of Fibian and placed his case in the hands of his attorney and the latter requested the police to cause Fibian's detention at the Newport naval station. The naval authorities were communicated with and stated that they would hold Fibian a prisoner until such time as a warrant for his arrest was received. This will be done as soon as Prosecuting Attorney Daniel M. Cronin returns from Hartford, which will be within a day or two.

"SPRING FEVER" DAYS ARE HERE

SPRING is the time of renewed life and vigor in Mother Earth, and should be with you. What you need is that best of all "spring tonics," Gude's Pepto-Mangan, for over thirty years the regular spring medicine in hundreds of thousands of families.

Take it for a short time, and see how the purified blood goes dancing through your veins, how new strength and endurance thrill every muscle and tissue. Your druggist has Gude's Pepto-Mangan, both liquid and tablets.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan

Tonic and Blood Enricher

Leon A. James and his wife were in the police court this forenoon, the former to answer for failing to support Mrs. James and their baby a few months old. It was a case of mother-in-law strife Mrs. James and she refused to live with her husband and her mother-in-law. It is said James did not refuse to support his wife and child, it was stated, but the amount he was willing to contribute was not in the wife's opinion, nor in the opinion of the court, sufficient to meet the needs of a mother and a baby.

James was ordered to pay his wife $6 a week or failing in that to go to jail for six months.

Mrs. James has been away from her husband three weeks during which time she has been living with her brother. Mrs. James declared that her husband and her mother-in-law had secret conversations and kept information away from her that should have been given to her. James was satisfied to live as he was living now. He said it was cheaper to do that than to hire furnished rooms. He declared that he earned $25 a week and that sum was none too great to provide for himself and his family as they were living. He said he had to put up with inconveniences, but he was willing to do that.

Martin Dardis is to appear in the police court Wednesday morning to answer to a charge of a breach of the peace which consisted, it is alleged, of his going to the home of a Mrs. Huffcut on Smith street at 4 o'clock Sunday morning to have impersonated a police officer and demanded that Mrs. Huffcut should get out of bed and dress and then to accompany him to the police station. Mr. Huffcut, a railroad man, was at work at the time and the woman was badly scared. She got up, but she rushed to the street and with yells raised the neighbors.

Then Dardis is alleged to have fled and to have avoided arrest till Patrolman John Cavanaugh came upon him and arrested him. The women in the case were not in court today so it became necessary to adjourn the case till Tuesday. It is understood that Dardis claims he was intoxicated and that he got into the Huffcut house by mistake. Dardis is 27 years old. The section in which he made his disturbance is one where red wine is said to have flowed freely.

Mrs. S. Edna McMoran died yesterday morning at her home, No. 10 South Ledyard street, following a brief illness. Mrs. McMoran was 76 years of age and is survived by a daughter, Miss Bertha E. McMoran.

Funeral services for Mrs. Matilda Johnson were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at her former home at Quaker Hill, Rev. Mr. Boardman, pastor of the Quaker Hill Baptist church, officiating. Burial was in Union cemetery, Waterford.

Mrs. Annie Harrison of No. 69 Hempstead street, caused the apprehension of her daughter, Viola Mayo, late Monday night, because the mother believed that the girl was of unsound mind. City Physician Cheney examined the girl at the police station and pronounced her of sound mentability after which she was turned over to the care of her mother and Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield.

Fred W. Ryley and William J. Garvey have sold a tract of land on Raymond street to Andrew Larson.

Jennie T. Donohue has sold a parcel of land on Rosemary street to Alton T. Miner.

Can anybody tell what has become of the coasting and fishing vessels that formerly made New London their home port? They can tell that they are no longer in existence, but the reason for their appearance is not so easy to name. There was a time when a big fleet of halibut fishermen sailed from this port and when there was a considerable number of coastwise vessels in commission. There are none now. There are just as many halibut caught and other fish are caught in greater number than was the case some forty years ago, but there are no local vessels in the fishing business.

The marketmen in New York and Boston have their own vessels and these are said to bring all the fish the markets require. The other fishing vessels cannot get a price for their catches that make the business profitable, and to retail the fish from the vessels at the docks would not pay the owners or crews.

The "soft" weather has saved the city of New London considerable money in that it has taken away snow and ice from the streets that would otherwise be removed by physical energy. The city's snow-clearing bill was more than $700 before the appearance of the last storm a few days ago.

Patients dismissed at Lawrence Memorial Associated hospital yesterday were Mrs. Emma Hickey of Willetts avenue, Mrs. Alice Wilson and baby of Niantic, Miss Rita Romanio of Fishers Island, Miss Jessie Davis of Montauk avenue, John Burns of Franklin street, Mrs. Vivian Shessner of Bank street and Michael O'Brien of Groton.

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Falvey, wife of John Falvey of 33 Robinson street, was held yesterday forenoon at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's church and was attended by a large concourse of mourners. A mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. William Fitzsimons. The bearers were Timothy Connors, Florence Sullivan, Patrick Foley, Cornelius Sullivan, Patrick Sheehan and John Shea. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

In turning down the proposition that the city should purchase the property of the late Charles A. Williams at the corner of State and Huntington streets for school purposes the city council leaves the splendid property in the market for acquisition by one or more of the fraternal organizations of New London. The Elks had a notion that they wanted the property at one time, but when they learned the cost of it the lodge decided that it was too much of a financial burden to carry. The house that stands on the big square the property occupies could be remodelled for a fraternal society home easily and at no great cost, and building lots could be sold on the Meridian street side of the estate—perhaps half a dozen or them—so that the cost of the property would be reduced by the sale. But the investment would still be a large one, too large for any organization to undertake. There are two owners of the property, Mrs. General Crozier, who was the daughter of Charles A. Williams, and William Williams of New York, who was immigration commissioner under President McKinley. They are brother and sister. Neither of them comes to New London except at infrequent intervals and then to attend to affairs connected with the estate. The property is one of the most extensive in the heart of the city.

The fraternal organization that could afford to acquire the property is not now in sight. The Odd Fellows own a building on Bank street, Brainard and Union lodges, F. and A. M., have buildings, the Elks own property on Washington street, the Masonic club recently bought on Huntington street, and the K. of C. owns headquarters on Huntington street.

GET RID OF YOUR FAT

Thousands of others have gotten rid of theirs by my simple and efficient method of fat reduction, often at a very rapid rate, and WITHOUT PAYMENT until reduction has taken place.

I am a licensed practising physician and have made a careful study of the physiological requirements of the human body. This has enabled me to select such ingredients and in such proportion as in my opinion will produce not only a loss of weight without hunger and an improvement in health, but with it an alleviation of all of the troublesome symptoms which frequently accompany and often are a direct result of overstoutness, such as shortness of breath on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart, and not to speak of the relief from the embarrassment of being too stout. Stout persons suffering from such diseases as Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Eczema, Asthma and high blood pressure are greatly relieved by a reduction of their superfluous fat.

My treatment will relieve that depressed, tired, sleepy feeling, giving you the renewed energy and vigor which come as a result of the loss of your superfluous fat. The medicinal ingredients I employ do not depend for their reducing power upon starvation diet or tiresome exercise. Taking them, they should produce a loss of weight without you doing anything else.

If you are overstout do not postpone but sit down right now and send for my FREE TRIAL TREATMENT and my plan whereby I am to be PAID ONLY AFTER REDUCTION HAS TAKEN PLACE if you so desire.

DR. R. NEWMAN, Licensed Physician State of New York
286 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.
Desk N-70

NORWICH TOWN

Those who attended the Sunday morning worship at the First Congregational church, were afforded the opportunity of hearing an exceptionally beautiful sermon by the pastor, Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey. The text chosen was John 12-26. If any man serve Me, let him follow Me, and where I am there shall also My servant be; if any man serve Me, him will My Father honor. Serving and Following, was the theme. In his main thought, Rev. Mr. Bailey disclosed that following Christ is a much more difficult task than to serve Him. People may serve at their convenience and spasmodically; but to follow is allegiance to a person, and going with that person all the way and continuously.

There was a very large attendance at the Young People's Christian Endeavor service at 6.30, when the Methodist C. E. society united with the Congregational C. E. society. Lewis Aldrich was the efficient leader, treating the subject, The Stewardship of Self, Substance and Service. At the union meeting of these two churches at 7.30, Rev. James B. Aldrich, pastor of the Methodist church, preached a very helpful sermon from the text I Corinthians 13:13. And now abideth faith, hope and love, the greatest of these is love. His theme was Love as Foundation of Character. During the meeting an offering was taken for the Salvation Army fund. Rev. Mr. Bailey presided over the meeting.

The Lathrop Memorial Foreign Missionary society will hold a meeting this (Wednesday) afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, in the First Congregational chapel.

Henry T. Frazier, chairman of the executive committee, presided over the March meeting of the Norwich Town Men's league, Monday evening, in the Congregational chapel. Dwight W. Avery acted as secretary protem, in the absence of the secretary and treasurer, Dr. Charles H. Lamb. Two new members were taken into the league at this meeting, Henry Goodnow and Russell Potter.

The address of the evening was by Frederick A. Benton, scout executive, who gave a brief history of the scout movement which began in England, bringing the history up to the present time. There are now 450,000 scouts in this country, and the expectation soon is to enroll one-half a million. The speaker outlined the steps which the boys take in passing from the tenderfoot to the second class and first class scouts, also described the court of honor which awards the merit badges to those who qualify for them. Some time was spent in describing the Boy Scout camp, which is located at Beach Pond. He said the camp last year was ideal, though only 25 boys were in the camp with the officers.

Scout Executive Benton who made a very favorable impression on those present was given a rising vote of thanks at the conclusion. A committee was appointed to ascertain whether a troup could be organized in Norwich Town. The committee comprises Frederic H. Wyant, chairman, Charles P. Learned and Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey.

Mrs. Carl Welte of East Town street received word Tuesday morning of the death March 3d, of Mrs. Mary Foley of New York, following a serious illness. For several summers until last year, Mrs. Foley, with members of her family, occupied the Lyman house on Upper Washington street, others of her family coming to Norwich Town to pass the vacation period from their business. Mrs. Foley, who is kindly remembered by friends and acquaintances here, is survived by her husband, four sons and two daughters.

There was a good attendance at the Ladies' Home Missionary Sewing society, which met for work Friday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Dwight L. Underwood of Peck's corner.

In response to the appeal for warm clothing of all varieties, also books, toys, etc., to be forwarded to Miss Mary Goodnow, in her work along the Labrador coast during the summer months, there was a number of contributions. Members of the society tied a quilt during the afternoon which also will be sent to Miss Gopdnow.

At the close Mrs. Underwood served ice cream and cake to her guests.

It was very gratifying to the teachers of West Town Street school, also the Town street school, that the pupils' parents so readily responded to the call of the Salvation Army, there having been contributions anywhere from three cents, to $5. Whenever a worthy appeal is made through the children, parents have always contributed quite liberally, for which the teachers are most grateful. Salvation Army officers and assistants visited these schools last week and distributed small envelopes for the children to deposite their mite. As the result of School Day in the recent Salvation Army drive, Thursday last, the total from this district was $41.25, West Town street school having contributed $17.25 and Town street school $24.

Although called to Norwich Town by a sad message, to officiate at the funeral of Mrs. Andrew Pember, a former loved pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. William J. Crawford was warmly greeted by his Norwich Town parishioners and friends.

NIANTIC

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer W. Russell, who have been confined to their home at Crescent Beach by grip, are improving and able to be out.

Mrs. Elmer Lewis and her mother, Mrs. Eliza Douglass, are confined to their home on Lake avenue, by grip.

Cards have been received in the village from Mr. and Mrs. John B. Churchill and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Thompson, who are enjoying the winter at St. Petersburg, Fla. They expect to leave the south soon after the first of next month for their homeward trip. The Churchills will come to their cottage at Pine Grove and the Thompsons will go to their home at Syracuse, N. Y.

William O. Beebe of West Main street was presented a few days ago an arrowhead about two and one-half inches long, found on Capt. James P. Clark's land near the bank of the Niantic river. Mr. Beebe has an idea that this relic was about 800 years old and belonged to the Algonquin tribe of Indians that roamed this section several hundred years ago.

Edward Rand has returned to his home in Middletown after a visit to his brother, Walter E. Johnson, of Main street. Mr. Rand was bereaved last week by the loss of his wife, who was ill about a week with pneumonia. Her sudden death came while she was a patient at the Middlesex hospital in Middletown.

L. A. Darrow of New London was in the village Saturday, visiting his daughter, Mrs. Bert Havens, of York avenue.

Miss Marian K. Gifford spent the week end at her home in Willimantic. Miss Gifford is a summer guest at Metcalf's Riverview farm at Pine Grove.

Mrs. Walter G. Allen is making an extended visit to New Haven, where she formerly resided.

The ladies of the Baptist church met Wednesday with Mrs. Merton R. Darrow of York avenue.

Arthur C. Saunders and family, who are spending the winter in the village, occupying H. L. Smith's house on Penn avenue, will move soon to their cottage at Saunders Grove. Mrs. Saunders is suffering from an attack of grip.

William A. Fiske of the Flanders road, a veteran of the Civil war, is quite feeble and confined to his bed.

J. Percy Morgan of Washington avenue was in New London Saturday on a shopping trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lockwood have returned to their home in Stamford after visiting her mother, Mrs. Susie E. Cordey, of East Main street.

Miss Hazel Hillier has returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hart Hillier, of Main street, after visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Tohmpson, of Rockonnoc.

Mr. and Mrs. William U. Wheeler, who have spent the winter at Daytona Beach, Fla., have returned and opened their cottage at Crescent Beach for the season.

Miss Lillian Clark has returned to her duties in Wallingford after a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Clark, of Penn avenue.

WEST KINGSTON

The storm of Tuesday night was severe in this locality.

Mr. Reed of Usquepaugh was a caller here Wednesday evening.

The school team at Usquepaugh did not go up Wednesday and as the grammar room teacher, Mrs. Brown, comes on the team, no school was held Wednesday in that room. In the primary room the teacher dismissed her pupils, as the temperature only reached 58 degrees, owing to poor coal or some other reason. There has been much trouble this winter in regard to the heating. Whether the furnace is not in proper condition or the grade of coal poor is a question.

Mrs. Annie E. Webster spent Saturday in Providence.

Miss Minnie M. Webster of Providence has returned home after a visit with her sister, Mrs. C. A. Woodmansee, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Bristow attended church at Wakefield Sunday morning.

Miss Dorothy M. Kenyon, who had an attack of bronchitis, has recovered and is attending school.

Mrs. Jennie Wright of Wakefield is visiting her sister, Mrs. Bertha Preece.

Mrs. W. B. Wilcox and son Lowell of Norwich Town visited one day last week with relatives here.

Mrs. Nellie Money of Exeter spent Tuesday with her sister, Mrs. Oliver Watmer, who is sick.

Mrs. Carol Arnold and son Arthur spent one night last week with relatives at Wakefield.

EAST WOODSTOCK

Rev. Henry D. Baker was the leader of the C. E. meeting Sunday evening. Eleanor Lindeman of Willimantic spent the week end at her home here.

Charles H. Killam entertained company the week end in Thompsonville with his stepmother, Mrs. Mary Killam, and cousin, Miss Nettie E. Phillips.

H. B. Comings, who has been in Quinebaug for the past four years, is moving back into his house here. The house he has been living in will be used for a hospital during the epidemic of typhoid fever there. Twelve new cases recently developed.

Edward Bourian of Salida, Col., called on Miss Nellie Pratt Sunday. His stepmother, Mrs. Addie Pratt Berrian, is the aunt of Miss Pratt and a former resident here. She went to Colorado many years ago. She is still a resident of Denver, Col. Mr. Berrian was called east owing to the critical illness of Mrs. Marion Hull of Woodstock Hill, who is at Day Kimball hospital with a broken arm.

WOODSTOCK VALLEY

Mrs. Emma Goodier, who has been ill, is improving.

James Bricker who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. O. A. Hiscox, has returned home.

Elmin B. Carpenter has purchased a new horse.

Increased forage made possible by the rodent poisoning of 1,000,000 prairie dogs will support at least 50,000 sheep.

ANOTHER LINK TO THE CHAIN OF

IDEAL COTTON STORES, Inc.

Locating at 119 Main Street

Corner Market Street — Norwich, Conn.

Watch Newspapers For Opening Sale Announcement.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad complexion or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the unexpectedly effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

Cause of Piles

Dr. Leonhardt found the cause of Piles to be internal. That's why salves and operations fail to give lasting relief. His harmless prescription, HEMROID, removes the cause. Money back if it fails. Lee & Osgood Co.

The Boston Store Boys' Shop OPENS TODAY

BOY Grubby hands, full of life, mischief loving, with a chivalry all his own. Shy and bold at the same time, sensitive and irresponsible, filled with hopes, ideals and ambitions—at war with himself, bodily, intellectually and spiritually. Here he is—a problem of many sides. We can help him, and help you in one way—we can clothe him in a manner to satisfy both him and you.

To make this opening an event of special interest, and to introduce this new Shop to the Mothers, Fathers and Boys of this community, we have made some price concessions which we think will please you all.

25 DOZEN "BELL" BLOUSES
55c

You probably know the "Bell" Blouse. It is well made. A soft-finish Percale has been used in these, the patterns all being small and neat, the colors strictly guaranteed. All sizes from 7 to 14.

ALL-WOOL "KID" CAPS
69c

Caps, made, not alone in boy sizes, but of boyish shape and proportions. These caps were not made for men, but for boys. They look it, too. All sizes.

12 DOZEN WASH SUITS
$1.45

Oliver Twist and Middy Models, these in wash materials of splendid quality. We guarantee the colors, and there are all sizes in the assortment.

15 DOZEN KNICKER PANTS
$1.00

Good sturdy mixed wool Pants, in sizes 6 to 18. Good tweeds and mixtures made up the assortment, some lined and some not. They are built for service, and are most unusually priced.

ALL-WOOL SERGE MIDDY SUITS
$5.00

Made of good, navy blue serge, all-wool, in sizes 4 to 10. They are mighty smart little suits, well cut and well made in every particular. All are trimmed with braids, either black, white or gold, and have sleeve emblem.

All-Wool Boston Store Double Service Norfolk Suits—$6.95

Our guarantee is back of every one of these suits. In quality, style and finish, they are right. Coats are fully lined with serge or sleazes and the two pair of knickers are likewise fully lined. They are built for wear. All sizes from 7 to 18. Tweeds and Mixtures.

KEEPING FAITH

The boys' Shop sets a high mark for itself. We will carry only such merchandise as we can fully guarantee for service and satisfaction. We intend to merit your confidence and patronage, and are here to serve you in every way.

WE SPECIALIZE IN Boston Store Double Service Suits
Two Pair of Pants to a Suit
Fully Lined and All-Wool

WE ARE SOLE AGENTS FOR
"Kaynee" Boys' Blouses
AND YOUTHS' SHIRTS. Blouses and Shirts of style and reputation.

We carry a most complete line of WASH SUITS, in all materials, colors, combinations and styles. We guarantee all colors.

Our showing of JUVENILE AND JUNIOR NORFOLK SUITS is large and attractively priced.

We have extra KNICKERS, HATS, CAPS, NECKWEAR, PAJAMAS, BELTS, SUSPENDERS, COLLARS, 'N'EVERYTHING.

FREE TO EVERY BOY ACCOMPANIED BY A PARENT

During Opening Week, we will give, absolutely free, to every boy accompanied by mother or father, an all-wood Scooter or Skatemobile. Free, until Saturday Night, unless exhausted before.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Today's total sales, 944,000 shares.
30 industrials averaged 104.79. Net gain .57. High 1923, 105.23; low 96.26.
20 railroads averaged 93.66. Net gain .13. High 1923 90.63; low 84.53.

MARKET WAS STRONG.

New York, March 13.—Higher money rates had a restraining effect on trading in the early part of today's stock market but another increase in the price of raw sugar gave speculators for the advance fresh courage and they began bidding up stocks in all sections of the list. The most striking advances were made in the industrial group but a number of railroad shares, notably New York Central which closed 3 3-8 points higher at 96 5-8, also participated extensively in the advance.

Commission houses reported further interruptions in traffic to western and southern points, but the majority of orders which came through from these centers were on the buying side. While some enlargement was noted in the public demand for stocks, the principal movements continue to be controlled by professional interests.

Sales of large quantities of Cuban raw sugar at 5 3-4 cents a pound, the highest price since 1920, focused speculative interest in the sugar group. New high records for the year were made by Punta Alegre at 64 7-8, Manati at 75 and Cuban Cane preferred at 63 and while some of these prices were shaded at th close, the net gains ranged from 3 to 4 points. American Sugars, American Beet, Cuba Cane and South Porto Rican also were strong, closing 1 to 3 points higher.

Equipments also showed consistent strength. American Locomotive, selling ex-dividend $1.50, touched 136 1-2 and closed at 136 1-8, as against yesterday's closing price of 136. Baldwin closed 1 3-8 higher at 141 3-8. Some of the other strong spots in the industrial group were Studebaker, Chandler, Mack Truck, Pierce Arrow preferred, Beechnut, International Cement, Gulf States Steel, National Enamelling, General Asphalt and United Fruit, the gains ranging from 1 3-4 to nearly 5 points. Market Street Railway preferred and second preferred issues suffered a sharp setback after their recent sensational rise. Piggly Wiggly also dropped 2 points on announcement of the Stock Exchange investigation of that stock.

Atchison, Baltimore & Ohio, St. Paul common, New Orleans, Texas & Mexico and Union Pacific were the other strong spots in the rail group.

Call money opened at 5 1-4, advanced to 5 1-2 in the late afternoon and thence to 5 3-4, where it closed. A moderate calling of loans was reported. A limited amount of time money was available at 5 1-4 per cent. with bankers quoting 5 1-2 for all maturities. The commercial paper market was moderately active with prime names still commanding 5 per cent.

Trading in the foreign exchanges was quiet with the principal rates holding steady around yesterday's closing prices. The only commercial bills of any volume in the market at present are those against sugar exports.

STOCKS.

The following is a summary of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange up to 3 P. M.:

	Hgh.	Low	Close
Allied Chem & D	78⅝	77¼	78
Allis Chalm	48	48¼	49
Allis Chalm pr	95	94⅞	94⅞
Am Ag Chem	33¼	32⅞	32⅞
Am Beet Sugar	47⅝	44⅛	47
Am Bosch Mag	55	53½	55
Am Can	104¾	103¾	103½
Am Cotton Oil	17	16⅝	16⅝
Am Cotton pr	93	93	93
Am Hide & Leath	13	13	13
Am Hide & L pr	73¼	72¼	72¼
Am Tel & Tel	135⅛	135	135¼
Am Tobacco	167	167	167
Am Woolen	105⅝	104⅝	104⅝
Am Wool pr	111¼	111⅛	111¼
Anaconda	53½	51⅝	52
Atchison	104⅞	103¼	104⅜
Atchison pr	90	89⅝	90
Atchison pr	90	89⅝	90
Balt & Ohio	53⅝	52½	52½
Balt & Ohio pr	60	59⅜	59⅝
Beth Steel A	67½	67⅛	67½
Beth Steel B	68⅜	68⅛	68⅛
Beth Steel 8 pr	109⅜	109⅜	109⅜
Beth Steel new pr	96	96	96
Brook Rap Tr	7⅜	7	7⅜
Brook Rp Tr ctfs	6⅛	6	6⅛
But Cop & Z	10½	10¼	10¼
But & Sup Cop	34⅝	34½	34⅝
Canadian Pac	147⅜	146¾	147
Cent Leather	38⅞	37	38⅞
Cent Leath pr	78	77½	77½
Chandler Motor	74⅞	73¼	74⅝
Ches & Ohio	74¼	73⅞	73⅞
Ches & Ohio pr	104	103⅝	103⅝
Ch & Gt West	6	5⅝	5⅝
Ch & Gt West pr	14⅝	14⅜	14⅜
C M & St P	24⅝	23⅝	24½
C M & St P pr	43⅝	42⅛	42⅝
Chi & N W	85⅝	85⅛	85½
C R I & P	36⅝	36	36⅝
Chile Cop	29⅝	29⅛	29⅜
Chino Cop	29⅞	29⅛	29½
Cosden	61	60½	60½
Crucible Steel	83⅝	82½	82⅝
Del & Hudson	116⅝	117⅛	117½
Dome Mines	41	41	41
Erie	12⅝	12⅛	12⅛
Erie 1 pr	19	19	19
Fisher Body O pr	99½	99⅛	99⅜
General Elec	184¼	184	184
Gen Elec w i	11⅛	11⅛	11⅛
Gen Motors	15⅛	14⅞	14⅞
Gen Mot 6 p c	84⅝	84⅜	84⅝
Gen Mot 7 p c db	100	99½	100
Great North pr	78½	78	78⅛
Hudson Motor	31⅝	31	31½
Hupp Motor	28⅞	28⅞	28⅞
Inspir Cop	40⅝	40⅝	40⅜
Int Mer Mar	10⅝	10⅝	10⅜
Int Mer Mar pr	41½	41	41¼
Int Paper	58	55	56⅝
Kennecot Cop	42⅛	41⅞	42⅛
Keystone Tire	9⅛	9¼	9¼
Lehigh Valley	68⅝	68⅛	68¼
Max Motor A	62¼	61⅜	61⅜
Mixmi Cop	28⅛	28⅜	28⅝
M K & T new	16⅛	15⅞	16
M K & T pr new	43⅛	42¾	43⅛
Mo Pacific	18	17⅝	17⅝
Mo Pacific pr	46⅝	45	46⅜
Nt End & St	72⅝	70½	72¾
N Y Air Brake	37	37	37
N Y Air Brake A	49⅝	49⅝	49⅝
N Y Central	98⅝	98⅜	98⅜
N Y N H & H	20	19⅛	19½
Nor & West	114⅝	113⅜	114⅝
North Pacific	79⅝	79	79⅜
Pacific Oil	45⅝	45	45⅝
Penn R R	46⅝	46⅛	46⅜
Pierce Oil	4⅜	4⅜	4⅜
Pierce Oil pr	40	40	40
Ry Steel Sp	120½	120½	120½
Ray Con C	15⅝	15⅜	15⅝
Reading 3d pr	79⅛	78½	79
Reading	79⅛	78½	79
Rep I & St	61	60⅝	61
Rep I & St pr	96	95½	96
South Pacific	93½	93	93½
South Ry	34	33⅝	33⅞
South Ry pr	69⅝	69½	69⅝
Tenn C & C	13⅝	12¾	12¾
Tobacco Prod	13⅝	13⅜	13⅝
Tobacco Prod pr	43	42⅝	42⅝
Tobacco Prod A	37½	37	37⅝
Union Pacific	142	141¼	142
U S Rubber	62⅝	61	62
U S Rubber pr	104	104	104
U S Steel	108⅝	107⅝	107⅝
U S Steel pr	119½	119½	119½
West El pr	111½	111⅛	111⅛
West Un Tel	117⅝	116⅝	116
West Air Brake	117	117	117
West Mfg	64⅝	64	64⅝
Willys O'land	7⅜	6⅜	7
Willys O'land pr	53	52¾	52⅛
W P& M pr B	69½	69½	69½

"A Select Security"

United Soda Fountain Company

7%

Cumulative Participating First Preferred Stock

First Preferred participates equally with Common in dividends (cash or stock) on Common in excess of $7.00.

"Select" because:

a. The business of serving luncheons and non-intoxicating beverages from soda bars is expanding enormously because a real public service is performed economically.

b. The greatly increased market for fountains, fixtures, etc., in the territory the organization covers has to the extent of 50% been captured by this Company, whose officers are men of youth, experience, ambition and vision.

c. The Company's customers make a "blue book" of the trade. Many have more than one installation, one having 37.

d. The Company's earnings for 1923 are expected to show over 4 times the dividends on this stock.

Ask for Illustrated Circular K 14

Barstow Hill & Co.

68 Devonshire St., Boston

BOND MARKET.

New York, March 13.—Marked irregularity characterized the price movements in today's bond market but a better town was displayed by the foreign and industrial securities. A sharp rise in sugar company liens featured the latter group, prompt oversubscription of the $21,500,000 issue of 5 per cent. equipment trust certificate of the Pennsylvania Railroad, which were offered to yield 5.05 per cent., was construed as indicating that plenty of money was available for investment purposes around present price levels.

The reactionary tendency in United States government bonds, which showed losses of 2 to 20 cents on $100, was ascribed in part to selling in order to provide funds for income tax purposes.

Punta Alegre 7's up 2, and Eastern Cuba 7 1-2's, up 3, led the advance in sugar bonds which was founded on higher stock and commodity prices. Wilson Packing convertible 8's and Armour 4 1-2's, each dropped about a point. Changes among other active industrial issues being largely of a fractional character.

Fluctuations in the railroad list were decidedly mixed. Some of the speculative mortgages such as New Haven 6's advanced a point or more while Frisco adjustment 6's and Seaboard Air Line refunding 4's stamped showed moderate strength while liens of other dividend payers, notably the Union and Northern Pacific issues, lost ground.

Total sales (par value)) were $11,803,000.

Public offering was made today of a $3,000,000 issue of of 25 year six per cent. general mortgage old bonds of the Georgia Railway & Power Company at 97 and interest to yield nearly 6.25 per cent.

METAL MARKET.

New York, March 13.—Copper firm. Electrolytic, spot and futures 17. Tin strong. Spot and nearby 50.75; futures 50.50. Iron steady; prices unchanged. Lead steady. Spot 8.25@8.60. Zinc steady. East St. Louis spot and nearby delivery 7.75@7.80. Antimony, spot 9.00.

MONEY.

New York, March 13.—Call money strong; high 5 3-4; low 5 1-4; ruling rate 5 1-4; closing bid 5 3-4; offered at 6; last loan 5 3-4; acall loans against acceptances 4 3-4.

COTTON.

New York, March 13.—Cotton, spot steady; middling 31.25.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, March 13.—Possible wholesale shifting of wheat to Chicago from other terminals did a good deal today to bring about a setback in the price of wheat here. The market closed steady but 3-4 to 1 3-8c net lower, with May $1.13 to $1.19 1-8 and July $1.14 3-8. Corn lost 7-8 to 1 1-2c, an doats 5-8 to 3-8@1-2c. In provisions, the outcome varied from five cents decline to 10 cents advance.

Arrival of 14 carloads of No. 2 hard wheat here from Omaha today tended to emphasize talk which was current about bringing back to Chicago wheat stored on vessels at the eastern end of the Great Lakes. Simultaneously, selling on the part of houses with eastern connections broadened out, accompanied reports that Canadian offerings were below the cost of wheat afloat at Eastern Lake ports. On the ensuing downward swing of prices, gains made yesterday and in the early dealings today were wiped out and the finish was but little above the low point of the decline.

Falling off of nearly 1,000,000 bushels in the United States isible supply total had more or less to do with the temporary strength which characterized the wheat market in the first part of the day. Bulls made capital, too, of the smallness of British stocks and also laid stress on the fact that the week's world shipments were of less volume than the estimated requirements, but such considerations were practically lost sight of when no important new export business developed, and the market started down grade.

Corn and oats turned weak after a big increase of the visible supply of corn was announced.

Provisions averaged higher in line with high values.

DISCUSSES WHAT USE IS MADE OF MONEY

"Money and the Uses Made of It," was the topic for Rev. C. H. Ricketts at the noon talk Tuesday at the Richmond Radiator Co. plant under Y. M. C. A. auspices. In his interesting discussion of the subject before a good sized gathering of men he spoke in part as follows:

It must be clear both from reason and revelation that money is a blessing or a curse according to the use that is made of it. Look for a moment at the curse side of it: There is the miserly use—or non use of it. Money that is piled up, hoarded, kept for the hollow satisfaction of knowing that it is possessed. Money hoarded defeats its own ends. It has no real value except as a medium of circulation. It cannot be eaten, drank or worn, and therefore has real value only as it can be exchanged for the necessities, comforts and luxuries of life. In reality there is no difference between a miser and a pauper.

There is the sensuous use of money. It is so called when money is made to ponder to the lower appetites and passions. To turn the use of money into the channels of beastiality is more selfish and degrading than to hoard it for the mere pleasure of possession. The most common form of the sensuous use of money — or, at least, it was once—is drunkenness, where money is wasted to gratify a low animal desire. There is hope for believing that this form of money wastefulness will be largely abolished. Licientiousness is another form in which money is used for base purposes. It has always thus been used and always will be until there is a radical change in the structure of human society. In the same class with the drunkard and the libertine is the gormandizer as one who makes a senuous use of money. The man who rakishly lives to eat—as too many do—is the man who is slowly digging his grave with his knife and fork. It is a swinish instinct that shuts out all desire for higher and better things. With plenty of money this form of animalism may be carried to the limit.

Again, there is the criminal use of money. I have but to mention such words as thugs, assassins, gunmen, robbers, gamblers and moonshiners to make my meaning clear. I have but to refer to the present outbreaks of lawlessness in all parts of the country, and especially in our big cities to show what the criminal use of money will do. How much of this form of criminality would be done if there was no money in it? It is the "love of money" and nothing else that attacks the bank messenger, that fortunes some old hermit in his lonely shack, that slinks into a man's house at night for bank notes and jewelry, that blows open the safe, that fidnaps the rich man's child! Is not the "love of money the root" of all these things?

There is the foolish or thoughtless use of money. This takes in the spendthrift, who is quite apt to be a kind-hearted, generous fellow who fails to sense the true value of money. The habit of spending, if uncontrolled, leads one to buy many unnecessary things, and usually cheap things, so that the spendthrift has little to show for his money. The danger here lies in the fact that when the free spender ceases t obe a producer there will be little or nothing to carry him through the period of decline. Of course he may have children to do that, but he ought not to be a burden on anyone.

Now in regard to the wise and proper use of money, I would say that the man ought to dress so as to appear respectable in society. There is no sin in making oneself attractive, and certainly there is no grace in filth and rags. One has a right to use money on himself in a reasonable manner. He ought to have money enough to furnish himself with nourishing food and enough of it. He ought to have enough to furnish himself with good reading matter. He ought to have money enough to feed and clothe his family and educate his children. I hope the time will come when every man will have money enough to send his boys and girls to college if they want to go and are willing to pay the price. I hope the time will come when every man will find it possible to invest enough out of his earnings to reduce the calamity of old age to a minimum.

Money ought to be used freely to meet community needs. Agencies that promote the public welfare have a claim upon the public pocketbook. It would be a shame to turn the Boy Scouts down or to let the Salvation Army exist on a miserable pittance. The Y. M. C. A. does a work for young men that makes a strong appeal upon the public generosity. There are those in far away land who, through misrule and pagan cruelty, are kept alive mostly by American money. There is the home church and its benevolences that must be supported. Shall we then "Upon the first day of the week * * * lay by in store as God has prospered us?"

Special For Wednesday

STEAKS
Sirloin, Round, Porterhouse
Cut From Best Steer Beef
Pound 25c

[illegible]

FRESH EGGS
Have Taken a Slump
LARGE SELECTED
3 Dozen $1.00

Native Veal, lb. 16c
TO ROAST

Veal, lb..... 12½c
FOR STEWING

FRESH KILLED
Chicken, lb.... 37c
FOR ROASTING

FRESH PORK
CHOPS, 2 lbs.. 35c

LEAN POT ROAST
BEEF, lb.... 12½c

Fine Cut Chuck
Roast Beef, lb. 15c

Lean Cuts Nicely Cured
Corned Beef, lb. 7c

Armour's Sugar Cured
Smoked
Shoulders, lb. 12½c

Aunt Jemima Pancake
FLOUR, pkg... 13c

Freshly Made
Fig Bars, 2 lbs.. 25c

YELLOW EYE
BEANS, 2 lbs.. 21c

N. B. C.
Crackers, 2 lbs. 25c
Soda — Oyster

Fresh Fish Specials

FRESH
Cod Steak, lb.. 15c

SMALL BLOCK ISLAND
Mackerel, 2 lbs. 25c

FRESHLY OPENED
Oysters, pint.. 29c

NORWEGIAN
Sardines, can. 11c
In Pure Olive Oil

SPECIAL MOHICAN
CREAMERY
Butter, 2 lbs.. $1.00

PURE SILVERLEAF
LARD, 3 lbs.. 40c

PIMENTO
CHEESE..... 29c
In Tinfoil—2 Packages

CALIFORNIA
Prunes, 3 lbs.. 25c

SWEET
Potatoes, 5 lbs. 25c

Frish Figs, 2 lbs 25c

HICKORY
NUTS, 2 lbs... 25c

Juicy Thin Skin GRAPE
FRUIT, 5 for.. 25c

YELLOW
Onions, 5 lbs.. 19c

1 lb. Bacon
1 lb. Beef Liver, for... 25c

Special From Our Bake Shop
Assorted Cup Cakes, doz. 24c

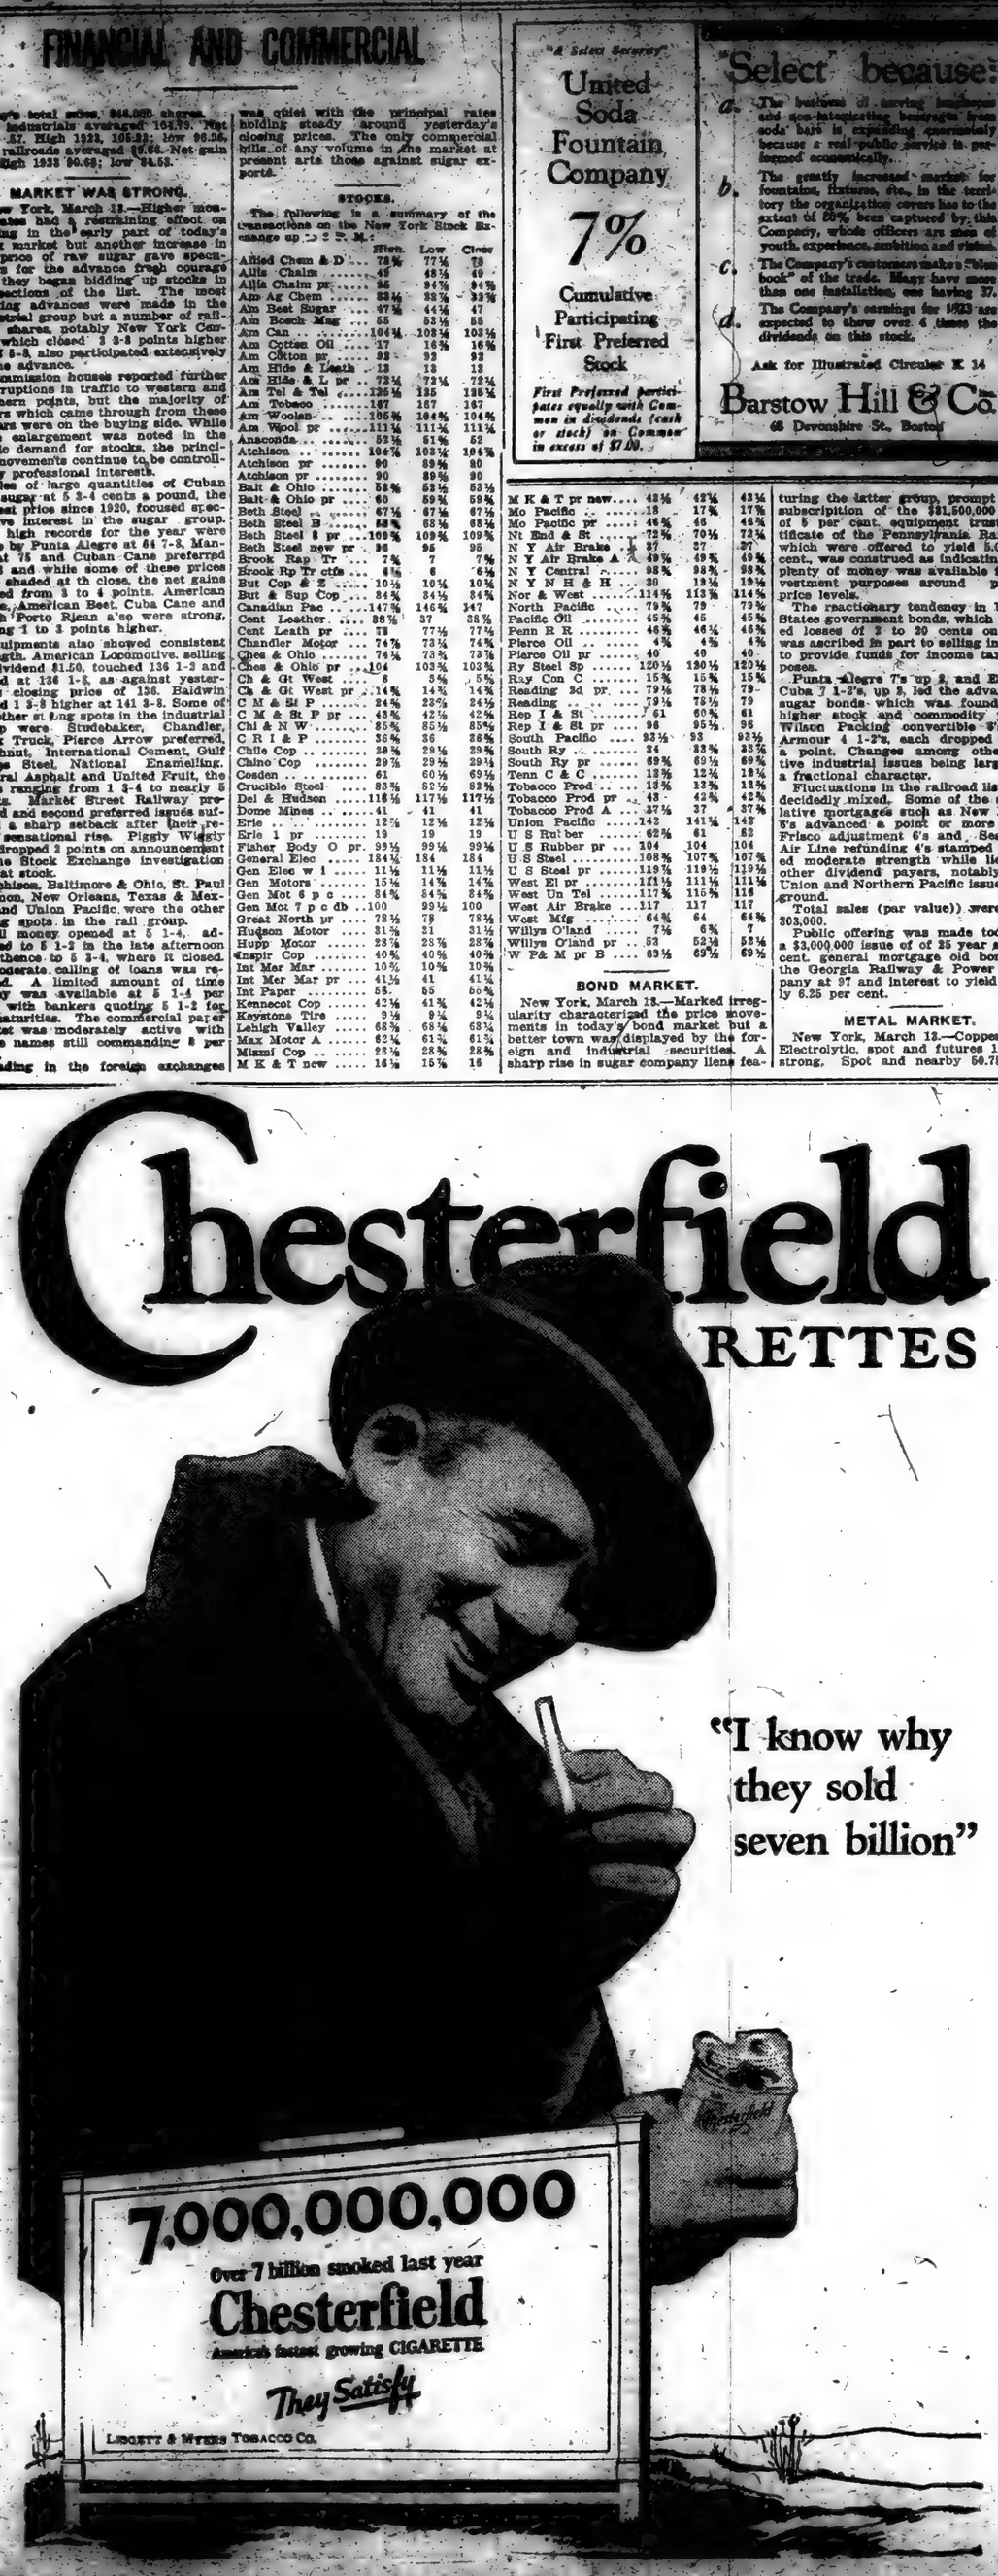
FORMER NEW LONDON REVIVALIST TO MARRY

A New York report stated Tuesday that Rev. Clarence Calder Fitch, Baptist evangelist, formerly of New London, but now of Chicago, is to marry Mrs. John H. Wyburn who has just resigned as superintendent of the McAuley mission in New York. The wedding is to take place on March 23 in Chicago at the home of R. F. Bosworth. Mr. Fitch is secretary and business manager of the Bosworth Bros., revivalists.

Mr. Fitch is 45 years old and this is his first marriage. He is a brother of the Rev. Elmer B. Fitch, assistant pastor of the Gospel Tabernacle, Lexington Avenue and Forty-fourth Street, N. Y.

The romance of Mrs. Wyburn and Mr. Fitch began a year ago when the Bosworth brothers conducted a revival campaign in Brooklyn. It culminated at Bridgeport, where the evangelists held meetings last January. Mrs. Wyburn paid a visit to that town to attend the services.

After a honeymoon the couple will join the Bosworth brothers in Toronto, Canada, where a campaign opens on April 1.



W. S. PAPPAS & CO.
Stock and Bond Brokers
26 Shetucket Street, Norwich, Conn.
281 Washington Street, Boston
86 Weybosset Street, Providence, R. I.
ACCURATE EXECUTIONS ON NEW YORK AND BOSTON STOCKS
NEW YORK AND BOSTON CURB
Private Wires, New York, Boston, Providence, Norwich
Our Suggestions for INVESTMENT and PROFIT broke all records for the last six months. Why not place your name on our list?

BORN

LAMBERT—In Norwich, March 1, 1923, a son to William Raymond Lambert and Lucille Cassell Lambert of Central Village.

LAVALLEE—In Jewett City, March 4, 1923, a son to Frederick Lavallee and Albina Gates Lavallee.

DENISON—In Norwich, March 6, 1923, a son to William Joseph Denison and Catherine Marie Ryan Denison of 254 Prospect street.

BARTLETT—In Versailles, March 1, 1923, a son to Joseph and Helen Lyman Bartlett.

MARRIED

STAYNOR—CHENEY—In New London, March 12, 1923, by Rev. J. Rooney Danforth, Raymond L. Staynor of Cleveland, O., and Helen J. Chaney of New London.

KENYON—MURRAY—In New London, March 11, 1923 by Rev. J. A. Sider, Herbert Kenyon of Waterford and Miss Lillian Murray of Lewiston, Me.

DIED

WISE—Suddenly, in Redlands, Cal., March 6, 1923, Rev. Herbert Edwin Wise, formerly of Norwich.

LUCY—In Hallville, March 13, 1923, Jane Lucy, wife of the late Amos Lucy, aged 82 years.
Notice of funeral hereafter.

FUNERAL NOTICES

LINDSAY—Entered into rest in Oakdale, March 11, 1923, Alma A. Schofield, widow of Thomas Lindsay, aged 56 years.
Funeral services at the home of her nephew, F. C. Schofield, Montville Center, Wednesday afternoon, March 14, at 2 o'clock.

WETMORE—Entered into rest, in Norwich, East Great Plain, March 13, 1923, Emma M. Brown, wife of Arnold Wetmore, aged 86 years.
Services at her late residence, East Great Plain, Thursday afternoon, March 15, at 2.30 o'clock. Burial in Maplewood cemetery.

HUDSON—In Colchester, March 13, 1923, Norah Sullivan, beloved wife of Fred Hudson, aged 60 years.
Funeral at her late home in Colchester Thursday morning at 8.30 o'clock. Requiem mass in St. Andrew's church at 9 o'clock. Burial in St. Andrew's cemetery, Colchester.

CHAPMAN—In Ledyard, March 10, 1923, Charles H. Chapman, in his 86th year.
Funeral services will be held at the Gales Ferry M. E. church on Wednesday, March 14, at 2 p. m. Relatives and friends invited to attend.

HEBERT—In Uncasville, March 11, 1923, Elida Start, widow of Henry G. Jerome, in her 84th year.
Funeral at her late residence Wednesday afternoon, March 14, at 2 o'clock.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of expressing our appreciation for the many kind acts and expressions of sympathy shown us during our recent bereavement, the death of Frederick Purple, and we are deeply grateful to the employees of the United Illuminating Company and friends who sent flowers to the funeral.
MRS. FREDERICK PURPLE AND FAMILY.

Church & Allen
91 MAIN STREET
FUNERAL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS
Lady Assistant
HENRY E. CHURCH
WM. SMITH ALLEN
Telephone 523-3

CUMMINGS & RING
Funeral Directors and Embalmers
338 Main Street
Phone 326-4 Lady Assistant

GAGER
FUNERAL DIRECTOR AND EMBALMER
PROMPT SERVICE—DAY OR NIGHT

The Henry Allen & Son Co.
50 MAIN STREET
Funeral Directors and Embalmers
Lady Assistant Telephone 419-3
DAVID H. WILSON

Shea & Burke
Funeral Directors
41 Main Street

GEORGE G. GRANT
UNDERTAKER AND EMBALMER
Est. 1850. Prospect St., Taftville.

HOURIGAN BROS.
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
Norwich and Jewett City

FLORISTS

FRESH flowering plants, plants and cut flowers. Maplewood Nursery Co. Tel. 1212. Free delivery. april

TRUCKING

ARTHUR LAMBERT — Moving and trucking, dumping trucks for hire. 114 Cliff St., or Ocean. Tel. 617-12. mar

MOVING, 1916. Phone 1116.
ARTHUR H. LATHROP,
Local Trucking, Transferring Furniture and Piano Moving.
Stonington St.

C. B. POOLEY, 321 West Main St. We move everything anywhere. Special attention given to moving boilers and machinery. Tel. 1585-2. nov23d

Long Distance Moving and Expressing. Stonemason, 17 Boswell Ave. Tel. 1147.

TRANSFER and storage, long distance trucking a specialty. Joan L. Ford, 353 Main St. Phone 792.

A. E. BECKLEY & SON,
Bricklayer Work. Phone 116.
LONG DISTANCE MOVING.

BEAUTY PARLOR

GIRLS! Rest for a limited number of days, 5 finished courses in beauty treatment. Write Portrex, 149 Franklin St. mar14d

YOUTH RESTORED
Beauty restored through our Permanent Oil Wave, Bobbed Hair in Ringlets or Deep Marcel Wave. Guaranteed six months.
MME. LAUKENBACH'S,
2 Westminster Square.

PAINT AND WALLPAPER

CHAIN WALLPAPER CO., 21 Willow St., near Bridge at Theatre; 15c, 12½, 10c per roll. Paper hanging—new, best of kind. T. A. Richardson, Mgr. jan31d

WANTED

WANTED—Female

WANTED—Girl for general housework; chamber work and waiting on table; two in family. Apply 1 Broadway.

WANTED—Girl for housework; family of two. Phone 1647.

WANTED—Lady to call on customers as representative. For particulars, address Premier Specialty Co., 149 Franklin St. mar14d

WANTED — Chambermaids. Apply Housekeeper, Wauregan Hotel. mar14d

WANTED—Girl or woman to do general housework; 2 in family; no washing. Phone 1615. Mrs. Wm. Prentis, 76 Washington St. mar14d

WANTED—Middle aged woman to keep house for one adult; no objection to woman with one child. Nathan Hartridge, R. D. 6, Norwich. mar13d

WANTED—Middle aged woman to keep house for one adult; no objection to woman with one child. Nathan Hartridge, R. D. 6, Norwich. mar13d

WANTED—Girl for general work in restaurant. At the Dewdrop Inn, 119 Franklin St. mar13d

WANTED—Housekeeper; family of three Americans. Address P. O. Box 168, Sterling Conn. mar13

WANTED — Middle aged American woman for general housework; references required. Address Box 513, Norwich. mar7d

WANTED

EXPERIENCED SALESLADY IN OUR MILLINERY DEPARTMENT.
B. GOTTHELF & CO.
94-100 Main Street

WANTED—Male

WANTED—Molders for cast iron boxes and plate work part time on moulding machines; write or telephone our expense. Richmond Radiator Co., Norwich, Conn. Telephone 14. Conference solicited—union shop. mar14d

WANTED—Large shirt manufacturer wants agents to sell complete line of shirts direct to wearer; exclusive patterns; big values; free samples. Madison Mills, 503 Broadway, New York. mar14d

WANTED—Good weavers on plain and fancy woolen work. Somersville Mfg. Co., Somersville, Conn. mar14d

WANTED—Salesman; high class man with car; splendid opportunity for hustler; adjacent territory; drawing account against commission. Church Heating Compound Co., 2015 Market St., Philadelphia, Pa. mar14d

SALESMEN—We have an opportunity for two men of vision who will succeed and grow in our business, which is one of the highest grade specialties on the market; we only want men of the high est type, preferably with cars. Mr. Fisher, Wauregan Hotel, today from 10.30 a. m. to 3 p. m. mar14d

WANTED—Position as chauffeur on truck or private car; experienced. Phone Lebanon 17-12. mar13d

WANTED—Increase your income! Sell insurance, covering all accidents and diseases; limited and full coverage policies; premiums $5 yearly upward; natural death benefit; direct home office contract; liberal commissions; write now for district. National Casualty Co., Detroit, 320 Broadway, New York City. Established 1885. mar12d

WANTED—Man on dairy farm. W. F. Clark, Lebanon. Tel. 13-4. mar9d

WANTED

YOUNG MAN AND BOY
Steady Work—Good Pay
ATLANTIC CARTON CO.
South Golden Street

WANTED

An efficient male bookkeeper—one capable of taking charge of office. State experience and salary. Permanent position.
Address BOX J, Bulletin.

COAL AND WOOD

FOR SALE—Hard wood four feet long, delivered on car or C. V. anywhere between Willimantic and New London. Tel. Willimantic Div. 619-11. William J. Bowler, West Willington. mar14d

FOR SALE—Best dry hard wood; pea, nuts or lords; lowest prices. Phone 542. jan16d

COAL AND SEASONED WOOD and kindlings in large or small quantities. Phone 504 or 1275-2. R. Shapiro, Willow St., formerly Dickes Lane. oct11d

POULTRY

WANTED—To make this suggestion: Start your chicks right. No feed—only clean sand the first 48 hours. Then keep their digestion good, avoid fermentation, keep them hungry, and you are started on the road to success. Read Dr. Hess Poultry Pan-a-cea and never mind about indigestion, leg weakness and capes. Pan-a-ce-a will take care of all that. There will be wellness, good cheer and good growth. Look out for lice. Keep a can of Dr. Hess Insect Louse Killer handy all summer. Also Use Dr. Hess White Diarrhea Remedy for all forms of diarrhea. All guaranteed. Sold by Chas. Slosberg & Son, Norwich Grain Co., The Yantic Grain and Products Co., Yantic.

WANTED—De Laval cream separator, capacity 600 lbs. or over; 400 R. I. Red baby chicks. Phone 481. mar16d

FOR SALE—400 laying pullets R. I. Red and Barred Rock; also two brooder stoves. C. A. Chamberlin, City Lunch. mar14d

FOR SALE—R. I. Red eggs for hatching, $10 per 100, $1.25 single setting of 15 eggs. Mrs. Rufus Hurlburt, Gales Ferry. Phone 1874-32. mar14d

FOR SALE—Pure bred R. I. Reds and Barred Rock cockerels. Tel. 13-6, 6 a. m. or 5 p. m. Jewett City. mar14d

FOR SALE—S. C. R. I. Red eggs for hatching from white diarrhea tested stock. W. W. Service, Norwich, R. D. 1. Tel. 1352-3. mar13d

FOR SALE—Baby Colony brooders; there are no substitutes; strong sanitary bottom automatic draft control is patented; gas proof feature; chicks thrive better; get catalogue from agents; discount prices. C. Brainerd Co., Uncasville, Conn. feb26d

BABY CHICKS; free range, accurate breeds; prepaid guaranteed delivery; send for catalog. Roy Clair, R. Hartford, Ct. jan3d

BABY CHICKS—Barred, White Leghorns, Rhode Island Reds. Parcel Post. Write for prices; baby kitty, baby chicks prepaid; catalogue free. A. Wall, Wallingford, Conn. feb26d

LOST AND FOUND

LOST—Friday, between Norwich Mystic and Waterfall Hill, number plate, XJ712. Finder please call or respond to Silver's Restaurant, Mystic. mar14d

LOST—Pair of rimless eyeglasses in case, between Bridge and Franklin St. Finder please call 1000. mar14d

LOST—Pocketbook containing money and papers, between Franklin St. and Franklin Square. Reward. Return to Bulletin

CLOUDY, COLDER TODAY; FAIR TOMORROW

Norwich

NORWICH, CONN.

The Bulletin

Norwich, Wednesday, March 14, 1923.

WEATHER

Conditions

A disturbance of considerable intensity was central south of the southern New England coast Tuesday night and moving northeastward and another was over the Rocky Mountain and plateau regions and moving southeastward, while pressure remained high off the Atlantic coast and it was high and rising over the north Pacific states, the Canadian northwest, the upper lake region and the Mississippi valley.

This pressure distribution has been attended by precipitation within the last 24 hours in the Atlantic states.

The temperature was lower Tuesday almost generally east of the Mississippi river except in the north Atlantic states.

Mostly fair weather will prevail in the Washington forecast district Wednesday except that snow will probably continue in northern New England, but the weather will again become unsettled over a wide area Thursday under the influence of the western disturbance, which during the next two days.

The temperature will be lower in the Atlantic states, Tennessee, and the Ohio valley Wednesday and it will not change materially in the eastern and southeastern states Thursday.

Winds

North of Sandy Hook—Strong north and northwest probably of gale force over north portion, weather overcast and thick, probably snow or rain Wednesday.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras—Fresh to strong northwest and weather overcast Wednesday.

Forecast

South New England—Cloudy and colder and colder Wednesday; Thursday probably fair.

Observation in Norwich

The Bulletin's observations show the following changes in temperature and barometric changes Tuesday:

	Ther.	Bar.
7 a. m.	38	30.00
12 m.	45	29.90
6 p. m.	42	29.90

Highest 45; lowest 38.

Comparisons

Predictions for Tuesday—Cloudy, and unsettled.

Tuesday's weather—Rain, southerly wind.

SUN, MOON AND TIDES.

Day.	Sun Rises.	Sun Sets.	High Water.	Moon Rises.
	a. m.	p. m.	a. m.	a. m.
13	6.07	5.49	5.20	2.20
13	6.06	5.50	5.17	3.09
14	6.04	5.51	7.09	3.51
15	6.03	5.52	7.00	4.28
16	6.00	5.54	8.46	5.05
17	5.59	5.55	9.25	5.34
18	5.57	5.56	10.03	Sets.

Six hours after high water it is low water, which is followed by flood tide.

GREENEVILLE

Mrs. Anthony Bernard and son Alvin of Boswell Avenue are spending this week with Mrs. Bernard's sister, Mrs. Van der Mark at Waterbury.

Miss Ida Congdon has returned to Hartford after visiting his home on Fourth street.

Monday evening a surprise party was given to Mr. and Mrs. Nalteching of Cambridge Street, in honor of their tenth wedding anniversary a basket of kitchenware were presented them by Theodore Levitsky on behalf of those present. The evening was spent in music, games and dancing, solos being sung by Otto Levitsky and Mrs. P. Levitsky. Music was furnished by the Levitsky orchestra. After the dancing refreshments were served.

TAFTVILLE

Joseph Cadorre has resigned his position with the Ponemah Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Rosario Bousquet have taken a house on Norwich Avenue.

Attention: Members of Court Wequonnoc, F. of A., will meet in St. Louis hall at 7.30 tonight. The members will form in a body to pay their last respect to Brother Newton of Norwich avenue.—adv.

The Dramatic Club met Tuesday evening in the parlors of the Taftville Congregational Church.

Fred Kershaw has been laid up at home on South B Street with an attack of the grippe.

Lectured on Animal Life Evolution

Professor Pauline H. Dederer of Connecticut college, was the lecturer at the Tuesday afternoon convocation there, speaking upon The Evolution of Animal Life.

Miss Dederer is professor of zoology at the college, coming there after the first two years of its establishment from Barnard College, at which institution she was an instructor, and of which she is likewise an alumna.

TAKE SALTS FOR A KIDNEY BACKACHE

Drink Lots of Water All Day Long to Keep Kidneys Flushed

Too much rich food forms acids which excite and overwork the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Flush the kidneys occasionally to relieve them like you relieve the bowels, removing acids, waste and poison, else you may feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, the stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated, obliging one to get up two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste, begin drinking water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine and bladder disorders disappear.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help prevent serious kidney and bladder disorders.

By all means, drink lots of good water every day. Have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

SALVATION ARMY WITHIN $604 OF GOING OVER THE TOP TODAY

One more final boost a mighty heave for $600, is all that the Salvation Army campaigners want for today to put them over the top for the $15,000 building and budget fund.

The team totals that were reported Tuesday brought the campaign figures to $14,396.04 and left General Chairman Harry M. Clark, Executive Secretary W. A. Nicol and every captain and lieutenant of the score of teams confident that tonight will write a triumphant finis to the drive.

Every last lingering report that is to come in will be rounded up today (Wednesday) and it is the confident expectation that a $600 total or even more will be the result.

Team Reports.

The following are the latest team reports:

Team. Captain.
1—Mrs. William H. Dawley	$281.50
2—Mrs. Joseph W. Curtis	786.25
3—Mrs. Arthur L. Peale	250.00
4—Miss Susie Gallup	1,121.00
5—Mrs. Harry M. Clark	526.50
6—Mrs. J. N. Rosenburg	114.50
7—Mrs. A. N. Foster	249.81
8—Unattached	73.05
Chains—
Mrs. H. E. Higgins	192.91
Mrs. A. R. Blackledge	139.00
Miss H. F. Coughlin	7.00
A. M. E. Zion church	6.25
Mrs. Raymond B. Sherman	24.00
Norwich Town	72.00
Mrs. J. E. Ready	14.75
Mrs. W. Buckingham	8.50
East Side	21.75
9—Edwin H. Baker, Jr.	630.00
10—Russell A. Clapp	181.00
11—Louis M. Crandall	453.95
12—George Finn	605.65
13—Robert H. Montgomery	182.50
14—Frank R. Mudry	297.00
15—Albert F. Noren	74.00
16—Ernest O. Rodier	292.00
17—Abner Schwartz	809.30
18—Patrick F. Sweeney	491.25
19—Salvation Army	3,590.62
20—Unattached	767.00
21—Lodges, etc.	512.00
—Sundries	1,771.00
	$14,396.04

The largest single contribution so far is one of $500 and the next largest $350. Chairman Clark says there is a grand chance today for someone to match one or both of these gifts.

Campaign Notes.

Headquarters issued the following Tuesday:

Today we shall rejoice in victory, for at the last moment we feel that the kind-hearted and generous public of Norwich will not see us short of the mark. Another $600 is all that is required to put us right over the top. Will you back us up?

And will nine ladies take up Mrs. Charles D. Noyes' proposition and present us with a thank offering of $10 apiece? You may have, like this good lady, given before, but maybe you'll be better pleased if you give again. Think it over, ladies. But remember, it's today or never. We expect phone 824 to be quite busy.

It takes a Salvation Army drive to boost shoes and that check of $17.80 from Mintz's shoe store was an excellent fit. Thanks!

Good old East Side, you're sure doing well, and by tonight you should be in the neighborhood of $100. Truly splendid, and we're proud of you. Too bad you did not have a chance before, and we apologize for our negligence.

Captain Gallup is still in the race and keeping up to form. Gee! that total of $1,121 looks swell, and there's "John" looking at it without his glasses. You'd be surprised at the nice things we're capable of saying about Team 4, captain.

And to be sure of the other team captains, too, so don't get jealous, anyone, please, as we've had such a nice time together and are quite reluctant to say Goodbye. Now "John" looks so disconsolate as we write this.

Our friends, the A. M. E. Zion church, came in with $6.25 and we're proud to receive it and welcome this sign of good will and friendship. All prosperity to you.

The state hospital takes round the hat today and we confidently expect to have it returned full of bills and silver.

Too bad we missed the gate collection at Ponemah mills yesterday, but rain and exigencies of the war elsewhere made the visit impossible. But we guess the "Cap" has his eye on you for a future occasion. We hate to miss anyone these days.

Again, please remember this is our last day and we must put this home over. We can't afford to start our new lease of life under a financial handicap so make the budget a certainty. A big Thank you! in anticipation.

Contributions.

Contributions of $5 and upward for the Salvation Army building fund are as follows:

The Henry Allen & Son Co., A. M. E. Zion church.

Reuben S. Bartlett, Mrs. Richard Berkoff, E. A. Bidwell, Lucius Briggs, Breed theatre, L. W. Browning, A. J. Bailey, John H. Barnes.

Mrs. Joseph Campbell, Dr. Louis T. Cassidy, Connecticut Machinery and Sales Co., Inc.

Miss Dolbeare, Francis D. Donohue, Drescher's market, Baltic, Miss Minnie L. Durr.

Estate of Ogden Holmes Stanton.

Xens, First Baptist church, Norwich, Emil M. Fox, a friend, Franklin council, No. 3, R. and S. M., a friend, Healey & Washburn, Miss Louise H. Higgins, Hope Rebekah lodge, No. 21, I. O. O. F., L. M. Hartson Co., L. B. Holbrook, Miss Elizabeth Huntington.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry O. Johnson, Alexander Jordan.

John Kukla, Rudolph Kratovil.

J. M. Lee, Frank Lathrop, Mrs. O. D. Lewis, Laborers' union, Ebenezer Learned, Mrs. Frank Lathrop.

Charles Meech, Mrs. Sarah McGee, F. T. Maples, Miss Mitchell, Mrs. A. Mitchell, J. Munz, Musicians' Protective union, James C. Macpherson, McGrory Bros., Louis M. Mintz.

Fred S. Noyes, George E. Norman.

John J. O'Rourke, Mrs. H. H. Osgood.

Philethea class of the First Baptist church, Painters' local, Union No. 630, F. E. Palmer, J. O. Peckham, The Peoples' Store, Inc., Miss Dorothy J. Pearson, D. H. Purvis.

Charles A. Rathbone, H. L. Richardson, Loren E. Rathbone.

Samuel E. Smiley, Sunday school class of the Central Baptist church, Dr. Paul A. Schwartz, Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Shedd, William H. Shields, Schwarzenbach-Huber Co. and employes.

Terminal cafe, Mrs. W. S. Tricket, Fred Tourtellotte.

United Congregational Sunday school.

Women of Mooseheart Legion, Norwich chapter, 124, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wilson, Woman's guild, United Congregational church, Ernest D. White.

W. H. Yeoman, William C. Young.

OUCH! MY BACK! RUB LUMBAGO PAIN AWAY

St. Jacob's Oil stops any pain, so when your back is sore and lame, or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest St. Jacobs Oil at any drug store, pour a little in your hand, and rub it right on your aching back; and by the time you count fifty the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the pain right out and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless, and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica, backache or rheumatism so promptly. It never disappoints!

TORDO'S ACCIDENT WILL SOLVE ETERNAL TRIANGLE

The eternal triangle in the case of Joseph Tordo of Springfield, Mass., who since Feb. 23 has been a patient at the Backus hospital with a fractured skull, seems about to be solved by the automobile accident that put him in the hospital.

His wife and his daughter have been here to see him, but the other woman in the case has not appeared. She apparently will now pass out of his life, for Mrs. Tordo's heart has been touched by seeing her husband's suffering and she is willing to forgive and forget and begin life over again with him, according to a Springfield report.

Tordo's mind is gradually clearing, and at times is quite normal, so that his recovery is now expected, but he still has delirious periods.

Since Tordo's bakery truck was wrecked against a telegraph pole on Washington street, reports had made it appear that he had two wives, but this is refuted by Mrs. Tordo. His name had been linked with another woman and it was because of this, Mrs. Tordo said, she separated from her husband about a year ago.

"We had been married fifteen years," said the wife, "when I discovered that my husband was attentive to other women. The separation followed. Then came the accident. The doctors sent word to me to come to Norwich.

"My husband was out of his head and the doctors thought that if the events of the past could be brought out by seeing someone he had known his mind would clear. Rose, my daughter, and I went to Norwich. Rose is a big girl and I suppose it was gossiped about by those who did not know us that two women had come to see him. And rumor became enlarged until it was said he had two wives."

RAIN AND FOG MADE HANDICAPS FOR DRIVERS

Men in the employ of the state highway department were busy Tuesday afternoon on the Norwich-Jewett City highway, endeavoring to keep the highway open to travel. The rain and fog of Tuesday softened up the roadbed until in many places deep ruts were cut into the highway and mud became so deep that it became difficult to get through. The scrapers dragged by the trucks kept the roadbed even and aided greatly in making the road passable.

The winter has been a trying one to most of the state highways in this vicinity and the spring will bring with it considerable work by the state department to put the roads into the shape they were in last fall.

To make matters more difficult for the vehicle drivers Tuesday afternoon a heavy blanket of fog settled down over the highway from a point about five miles above Jewett City to Greeneville. It was impossible at times to see more than a hundred feet ahead and many autoists lit the dimmers on their cars to warn an approaching car of their position. With the ruts in the road the heavy fog made driving anything but a comfort and there was hardly a driver who was not glad when the trip was over and the automobile locked up safely in the garage.

The Vatican contains 11,000 rooms.

EVENING WITH GARDENS BEFORE ART ASSOCIATION

The regular meeting of the Art association was held on Monday evening at the Slater Memorial. Announcement was made of the unusual opportunity offered the association and to the public of hearing Count Ilya Tolstoi, son of Tolstoi the Great at a lecture to be given in Norwich. His subject will be the Life and Works of Leo Tolstoi. Count Tolstoi is a very interesting speaker with perfect command of the English language.

No stronger contrast could have been imagined than that afforded by the prevailing wintry conditions on Monday evening and the pictures shown upon the screen at Slater annex of delightful gardens with their riot of gayly colored flowers forecasting summer beauty.

Fifty colored slides secured from Boston were read by Mrs. Robert W. Perkins.

Many of the fundamental principles of landscape gardening found impressive illustration in these views.

The pictured houses seemed to enhance the spirit of the gardens. Surrounded by blossoms and protecting trees, sometimes with a river flowing by the door, the home itself appeared to be an outgrowth of the soil. The little winding path to the door invited you to cross the threshold, with the assurance that the spirit of flowers would invade the home just as the intimate beauty of the home pervaded the garden.

One of the principles emphasized in description and by picture, was that the most enjoyable gardens are those that are furnished with some accessory of an architectural nature. To the beauty of plants and flowers is added the interest of an arch of Colonial type, a sun-dial, a fountain, or perhaps only a single garden seat. Each will be so placed that it will complete the perfection of design and add a charm to the picture. It may be a stairway clothed with vines and banked with blooming shrubs; the pointed trees and general grouping reminiscent of Italian gardens.

The garden seat should always have a good background and an evergreen mass counts as such all through the year, whether the roses are blooming or the ground is covered with snow.

No amount of foliage can make the arbor appear beautiful unless it is well designed architecturally. Too many rafters in a pergola give it a cumbersome effect and rafters too close together make your cool and shady arbor appear like a section of the elevated railway. In one of the pictures roses and grapevines intermingle, giving a more interesting effect and more varied mass of foliage.

A walled garden is always delightful. Vines trained on the top, shady trees overhanging it and the various levels of the garden added much to the beauty of one of the gardens shown, while in another, a rough stucco wall, made a fascinating background for the play of sun and shade.

Every garden should have a vista. This was beautifully illustrated in a reproduction of a garden in Maine, in which a variegated flower-bordered path, gave a glimpse beyond of shimmery water, faintly rimmed by distant hills.

The stones of a garden path may be set in grass giving a more artistic effect than that of a harshly outlined path.

Contrasts of color were shown in the gardens. The blue of heliotrope was there with the radiance of roses, interspursed with larkspur and snowy shasta daisies. Among the blossoms could be recognized poet's narcissus, forget-me-nots, tulips stately crown-imperials and ladies' delight.

In a woodland garden, the showy trillium was surrounded by green plants, while the white boles of the birches and masses of ferns made a lovely background. We are advised to put in a few roots of trillium if any part of our garden is adapted to raising wild flowers.

Beds of lupin formed a mass of color in another picture. They were against a semi-circular pergola covered with vines. The lupin, whether wild or cultivated, produced vertical lines in the perennial masses and the design of the garden makes use of this quality in its planning.

Bordering one garden were crowded masses of sweet William and old-fashioned foxglove. It is said that flowers have a marked preference for each other, and that if a flower dislikes its neighbors it moves away. The preference of sweet William for foxglove is well known. Beds of tall delphiniums, bordered with spirea in full bloom, prim box-edged paths, iris-bordered paths, all were beautifully suggestive to the lover of gardens.

aaacontrastedveisleidw m

GREENEVILLE FIRE STATION IS PRACTICALLY READY

Greeneville now possesses one of the most up-to-date fire stations in this vicinity. For some time past Chief Howard L. Stanton has had men making alterations on the building, making general repairs, and giving the building a fresh coat of paint, and on Tuesday the work was practically completed.

On the main floor of the building the center wall, that separated the engine and truck volunteer companies, has been torn down, making one main room that is well lighted. New doors have been placed to act on the same principle as doors in other fire stations. In the forward part of the building is the brass pole which will make it possible for the men to slide down and land near the apparatus, thus serving many extra steps.

Looking into the station through the front doors one sees at the right the Pope, known as Engine No. 2, the first piece of motor driven apparatus purchased by the city. On the left is the old hook and ladder, a horse drawn piece of apparatus. This was purchased about 20 years ago but is in good condition and if made motor-driven would furnish Greeneville a much needed piece of apparatus. Back of these two pieces of fire fighting apparatus is the old horse drawn steam engine of the volunteer company.

At either side of the building black walnut stair cases lead to the second floor. The interior of the first floor has been painted attractively in yellow and at the side is the big brass gong which was placed in operation Tuesday morning. The building is now completed as far as the Main street equipment is concerned. At the rear of the main floor is a work room, store room, and a toilet. New floors have been laid in the building.

On the second floor Captain Blackburn has his quarters, perhaps better than those of any other captain in the city. The room is large and cheery and is at the head of the stairs. In the rear is a large room freshly painted that will be used for the recreation room. There is plenty of space in the room for a pool table if any kind citizen of Norwich wishes to donate one for the boys to use. The dormitory like all other rooms in the building is most pleasant and is located in the front, with large windows on three sides, that will give ample light in daytime. Here are six cots for the men near the sliding pole.

There is also a roomy cellar where things can be stored and work done. Everything about the building is modern and built with a view of making a comfortable station for the men of Engine No. 2, and Norwich may well be proud of the newest of its stations.

The Greeneville residents at the March meeting of the common council petitioned for a new pumper to be located in the station there and when the Main street station house is disposed of action will be taken by the council. Greeneville asks for the new pumper to be bought with money received from the sale of the old Main street property in order to provide ample protection to all the mill property housed in that section of the city.

Residents at the Falls are also asking for a station there and think the money from the sale of the Main street station might well be diverted their way.

EMPLOYMENT HOURS FOR MINORS AND WOMEN

The following is the text of a proposed act concerning the hours of employment for minors and women upon which a hearing was given at the capitol at Hartford last week:

Section 1—Section 5301 of the General Statutes is hereby amended to read as follows: No minor under sixteen years of age and no woman shall be employed, required or permitted to work in any manufacturing or mechanical establishment more than nine hours in any day or 48 hours in any calendar week. Every employer in such establishment shall post in a conspicuous place in every room where such persons are employed, a notice, the form of which shall be furnished by the Commissioner of Labor and Factory Inspection, specifically stating the hours of work required of them on each day of the week, and the employment of any such persons for a longer time than as stated shall be a violation of this section.

Section 2—Section 5302 of the General Statutes is hereby amended to read as follows: No minor under sixteen years of age and no woman shall be employed, required or permitted to work in any mercantile establishment other than manufacturing or mechanical more than fifty-five hours in any calendar week, provided that any employer who has within the calendar year been in their employ not less than six months shall be exempt from the provisions of this section during the period from the seventeenth to the twenty-fifth of December of each year. Every employer in any such establishment shall post in a conspicuous place in every room where such persons are employed a notice, the form of which shall be furnished by the Commissioner of Labor and Factory Inspection, stating specifically the hours of work required of them on each day of the week, and the employment of any such person for a longer time on any day than so stated shall be a violation of this section.

Section 3—Section 5303 of the General Statutes is hereby amended to read as follows: No minor under fifteen years of age shall be employed, required or permitted to work in any manufacturing or mechanical establishment between the hours of 6 p. m. and 7 a. m.; and no female over sixteen years of age shall be employed in any such establishment between the hours of 10 p. m. and 6 a. m. No girl under sixteen years of age shall be employed, required or permitted to work in any mercantile establishment after 6 p. m.; and no female over sixteen years of age shall be employed, required or permitted to work in any such establishment after 9 p. m.

Section 4—Section 5304 of the General Statutes is hereby amended to read as follows: It shall be the duty of the Commissioner of Labor and Factory Inspection to examine and inquire into the employment of minors and women in the establishments described in these acts and to investigate all complaints of violations hereof, and to report all cases of such violation to the prosecuting officer having jurisdiction thereof. The Commissioner of Labor and Factory Inspection shall, on or before the first day of December in each year, make a report to the governor of the number of such violations and of the prosecutions instituted thereon.

Section 5—Section 5305 of the General Statutes is hereby amended to read as follows: Every person who wilfully employs or has in his employment or under his charge any person in violation of Section One, Two or Three of this Act and every parent or guardian who permits any such minor to be so employed shall be fined not more than twenty-five dollars for the first offense and not more than three hundred dollars for a subsequent offense.

ARTHUR HANNAY WILL SING FOR THE RADIO

The many friends of Arthur E. Hannay formerly of Norwich now a noted tenor will be pleased to learn of his success in the musical world. He is at present tenor soloist at the State Street Presbyterian church of Schenectady N. Y. Mr. Hannay is to sing for the WGY broadcasting station on March 18th, at 11 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. and many friends of his in Norwich will listen in to hear him on that date. He studied voice culture under Prof. Hugh Kinder of this city.

Japan is the greatest exporter of silk.

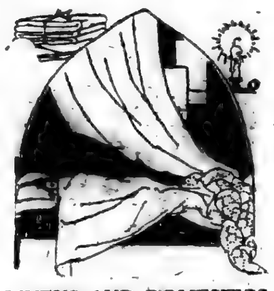
Reid & Hughes Co.

Opening of Newly Located Departments

ART EMBROIDERY — LINENS — DOMESTICS FLOOR COVERINGS — DRAPERIES

Extensive alterations have caused the re-location of these departments, and they are now ready to serve you more efficiently than ever before. The Art Embroidery Department will be found on the Third Floor overlooking the river—a sunny cheerful spot. The Floor Coverings and Draperies occupy the front part of this floor, and are most attractively arranged. The Linens and Domestics are now in the main room of the Main Street store, on the ground floor near Main Entrance. Visit them in their new quarters—you will enjoy it.

WE HAVE ARRANGED A FEW VERY SPECIAL VALUES FOR THE BALANCE OF THIS WEEK IN THESE DEPARTMENTS.



LINENS AND DOMESTICS
(NEAR MAIN ENTRANCE)

LINEN CLASS TOWELING

An 18-inch Linen Toweling, in checked design, blue and white or red and white. Sold regularly for 45c a yard—

SPECIAL 29c

PURE LINEN BUREAU SCARFS

Handsome $1.39 Scarfs with scalloped edge. They are 18 by 45 inches in size—

SPECIAL 98c

LINEN TABLE NAPKINS

Very attractive Napkins, in pretty floral designs. Unhemmed, in 18 by 18 inch size. The usual price is six for $2.00—

SPECIAL 6 FOR $1.50

LINEN TABLE DAMASK

Several designs including the shamrock, fleur de lys, and lily of the valley. It is 72 inches wide and worth $2.69 a yard—

SPECIAL $1.75

ENGLISH NAINSOOK

A yard-wide Nainsook of the finest grade. The regular price is 55c a yard—

SPECIAL 39c

WHITE DOMET FLANNEL

A firmly woven Flannel, 27 inches wide, always sold for 25c a yard—

SPECIAL 16c

HEMMED SEAMLESS SHEETS

Good sheets, 81 by 90 in size, and actually worth $1.75—

SPECIAL $1.39

PILLOW CASES

Regular 49c Cases, in two sizes, 42 by 36 and 45 by 36—

SPECIAL 35c

CROCHET BED SPREADS

Full size Spreads, in a variety of styles, all worth a good bit more than the opening price. Choice of white, pink and blue—

SPECIAL $2.29

ART EMBROIDERIES

LUNCHEON SETS

Five-piece Luncheon Sets, in striking applique designs. A style very popular—

49c A SET

BATH TOWELS

Towels of firm weave and good size, stamped with pleasing designs for embroidery—

SPECIAL 35c

ART EMBROIDERIES

OYSTER LINEN CENTERS

Real Linen Centers, in the much used oyster white shade. The stamped embroidery designs are very pretty—

SPECIAL 98c

OYSTER LINEN SCARFS

Same quality, and in the same stamped designs as the centers.

SPECIAL 98c

"ART WEAVE" CENTERS

Scarfs, too, in the best novelty weave on the market. Stamped, ready for embroidering—

SPECIAL 45c

ART FLOSS

Something new for sweater making. There are twenty-one pretty colors. Comes in one-ounce hanks, eight of which are enough for a slip-on—

OPENING SPECIAL 8 FOR $1.00

FLOOR COVERING AND DRAPERIES

DURING OPENING

TWENTY-FIVE 9 BY 12 RUGS

AT LESS THAN WHOLESALE PRICES

SEAMLESS AXMINSTERS

Were $60.00	SPECIAL $46.00
Were $55.00	SPECIAL $40.00
Were $45.00	SPECIAL $30.00

SEAMLESS VELVETS

Were $55.00	SPECIAL $40.00
Were $45.00	SPECIAL $32.00

BIGELOW WILTONS

Were $125.00	SPECIAL $93.00
Were $ 95.00	SPECIAL $73.00

NAIRN'S INLAID LINOLEUM

New designs and colorings. The regular price is $1.50 a square yard—

SPECIAL $1.29

CONGOLEUM (Gold Seal) RUGS

Size 7-6 by 9, in a good line of patterns and colorings—

SPECIAL $8.25

NEW CRETONNES

Twelve handsome new patterns, bought to sell for 33c a yard, and all are one yard wide—

SPECIAL 25c

QUAKER NET CURTAINS

All new Spring stock, and have been in but a few days. Filet Net with lace edge, and all are 2½ yards long. Regular price $3.50 a pair—

SPECIAL $2.98

BAD BREATH

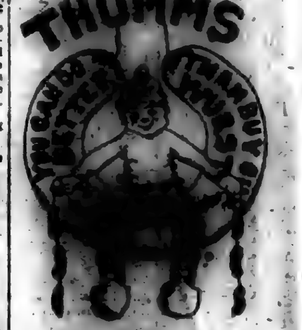
Comes from Biliousness

So does a bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, dull headache, and unhealthy yellowish skin, these symptoms all tell the story of a disordered system and your immediate need of a purely vegetable corrective to prevent infection and a sick spell.

TAKE SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS

At all Druggists 25c a box. Sugar coated or Uncoated

Over 80 Years in Constant Use



FOR YOUR NEXT BREAKFAST TRY OUR HOME-MADE SAUSAGE

THUMM'S DELICATESSEN

40 Franklin Street

ADDRESS

To you, O citizens of Norwich town,
Of the wonderful water supply,
Of the water that comes from Yantic falls!
Yes, from Yantic falls!

Sometimes you get mad and you swear
When you've got to have water, we know—
But wait!

Never a chance for you to shine
To put on your thinking and speak;
Every hearer publicly pulled up this
By the roots.

You wash in the cream of the day;
You do your job once and a half;
And I could make verses reciting the virtues
You have.

You carve up the city right
With the knife that belongs somewhere else;
Then you hang it, and O, what a sight
As it melts!

Next you fresh air and clean all our water,
And we slip and we slide and we slew—
And we save all our consequent knocks
To you.

Do you call these performances fair?
Are they actions of which to be proud?
Don't you know that they make us all swear
Out loud?

Exactly just what made you sore
At New England home ever has seemed—
But you surely remember us more
Than the roof.

We've a long-standing grudge now, you bet,
And rebellion is bred in our bone;
So now if you're wise you will let Us alone.

For we think, are our malice you reap
In a general mutinous riot,
You had better be kinder and keep Us quiet.

—Emil J. Schneider, in Boston Globe.

WHAT'S FAME?

What's fame? A fancied life in others' breath,
A thing beyond us, even before our death.
Just what you hear, you have; and what's unknown
The same, my lord, as Tully's or your own.
All that we feel of it begins and ends
In the small circle of our foes or friends;
To all besides as much an empty name
As Eugene living as a Caesar dead;
Alike of what, or where, they shone or shine,
Or on the Rubicon or on the Rhine.

All fame is foreign but of true desert;
Plays round the head, but comes not to the heart:
One self-approving hour whole years
outweighs
Of stupid starers or of loud huzzas;
And more true joy Marcellus exiled feels
Than Caesar with a Senate at his heels.
—Alexander Pope.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

"Is this a 10-cent store?"

"One of the best in town."

"Where is your silverware department?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Hostess—It looks like a storm; you had better stay for dinner.

Jackson—Oh, thanks, but I don't think it's bad enough for that.—Exchange.

"I hear that you have given up singing to the prisoners?"

"Yes. They complained that it wasn't in the penal code."—Kasper (Stockholm).

"Is Jack still waiting for something to turn up?"

"No, that heiress he was after turned up her nose at him, so he's had to go to work."—Boston Evening Transcript.

"Sir, I am a bill collector."

"When I can furnish you with one of the most choice collections in the world, all authentic, I thought you were after money."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Customer—But you guaranteed this watch would last me a lifetime.

Clerk—Certainly; but you looked pretty sick the day you bought it.—Christiania Korsaren.

"Your husband is handy with tools, isn't he?"

"Well, he can fix a stubborn radio apparatus," said Mrs. Willit, "but he can't repair an ash sifter."—New York Sun.

KALEIDOSCOPE

A Panama hat of the finest quality requires six weeks to make.

A Brooklyn woman left $20,000 to her maid as a reward for years of faithful service.

Telephones for use in coal mines are to be tested at Pittsburgh in the most explosive mixture of natural gas and air to prove that they are so constructed that they cannot cause explosions.

Copernicus, the great Polish astronomer, born 440 years ago, whose theory that the earth moves around the sun revolutionized astronomy in the sixteenth century, was also a physician and a financial expert.

The bolo is the national weapon of the Filipinos. The blade is about 18 inches in length by nearly three inches in width at its broadest dimensions. It tapers from the middle towards the haft as well as toward the point, making it strongly resemble the ancient short sword. It is not double edged, however, but tapers from a thick back to an extremely keen edge. The scabbard of the bolo is made of native wood with rough outlined designs carved upon it. The whole weapon is much more beautiful in outline and more formidable than the Cuban machete.

VOL. LXV—NO. 64 POPULATION 29,932 NORWICH, CONN. 12 PAGES—84 COLS. PRICE TWO CENTS

CHARGED WITH EVADING THEIR RETURNS FOR INCOMES

John T. Hetrick of New York, Famous "Code of Practice" Lawyer, Charged With Perjury by Federal Grand Jury —Alleged to Have Paid Taxes of $321 for Income in 1919 When He Should Have Paid $5,370—Frank Oziesik, a Real Estate Operator, Also Indicted—Is Alleged to Owe Government $1,925,000 — Government Six Years Behind in Auditing Returns—Expert Accountants Urgently Needed.

New York, March 14—With tomorrow the last day on which federal taxes may be paid on last year's income, the government today began jacking up citizens alleged to have failed to report their entire receipts in other years.

While last-minute returns for 1922 were pouring into internal revenue offices this afternoon, a federal grand jury in Manhattan indicted John T. Hetrick, famous "code of practice" lawyer exposed by the Lockwood legislative committee which investigated the building trust, on a charge of perjury.

It was alleged that the lawyer had reported an income of only $24,569 for 1919, with taxes of $321, whereas his income was $50,561, on which he should have paid $5,370.

At the same time a federal grand jury in Brooklyn indicted Frank Oziesik, a real estate operator and stock promoter, for alleged failure to report his entire income in 1919.

Oziesik paid a tax which investigators considered too small. The case was passed along to Washington and orders were received to make a more extensive investigation, as a result of which it was alleged that the promoter owed the government $1,952,000 in taxes and penalties, on an income of about $3,000,000.

Collectors of internal revenue in this district, the financial heart of the nation, who wrestled today with vast heaps of mail, vowed long enough in their labors to announce that they would stay open until midnight tomorrow for late returns, and to make caustic comment on some of the first returns they had inspected.

Collector Rafferty in Brooklyn, casting his eye on contributions of churches and charitable institutions, which are exempt from tax, said that if these institutions had received all the gifts credited to them by taxpayers, they would need no more funds this year at least.

Meanwhile announcement was made that the government was six years behind in auditing returns, and that expert accountants were urgently needed. Government agents said that they only now were completing their audit for 1917, and that $300,000,000 additional in taxes due the government already had been uncovered. It was pointed out by these agents that if this amount could be culled each year from old tax returns, the government could hope to collect more than $1,000,000,000 in taxes which, in cursory examination of returns, it had overlooked.

In setting forth the country's need for accountants, the agents said that approximately 10,000 positions, paying $1,500 to $3,000 a year annually, were open. The government, with 25,000,000 returns still to audit, was said to be rapidly sliding behind in its work.

Field agents of the government working in this district predicted that returns for 1922 would show a considerable increase over 1921. Fewer financial losses, they said, were being reported, with more substantial profits.

Losses in Wall street during the last year have been extremely rare. One deputy collector, who has helped prepare 200 returns of persons trading on Wall street, said he had not found even one that showed a loss.

GOV. TEMPLETON'S GOOD FRIDAY" PROCLAMATION

Hartford, March 14.—Governor Charles A. Templeton tonight issued a proclamation in accordance with custom, designating "Good Friday," March 16 as a "day of fasting and prayer." His text of his proclamation follows:

"[illegible] Today we find ourselves prosperous and at peace, while forced [illegible] still the threatened and unprovoked [illegible] us to give thanks to our [illegible]. It also behooves us to stop momentarily to remind ourselves of the lessons which in those dark days we learned of patriotism, of obedience to law, of mutual helpfulness, of tolerance, of self-sacrifice.

"In pursuance of a wise and ancient custom, I designate Friday, the thirtieth day of March, as a day of fasting, humiliation and prayer.

"Sanctioned by civil and religious usage, this day commemorates the death for others of the Saviour of the world. I recommend that on this day, in our places of worship and in our homes, we pause from our daily occupations to contemplate His sacrifice, to pray for deliverance from those sins of prosperity—selfishness, softness and arrogance, which through history have brought nations to their fall; to consider the needs of others, and especially of those who, abroad and in our own midst, have lost sight of right. And I recommend that, prayerful substance in the contemplation may be prayed and thought, we be not neglect to speak and act.

"Given under my hand and seal of the state at the capitol in Hartford, the fourteenth day of March, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and forty-seventh.

"(Signed.)

"CHARLES A. TEMPLETON."

ARMY AVIATORS FOILED IN EFFORT TO BREAK ICE JAM

Fort Jervis, N. Y., March 14 (By the A. P.)—Deafened and shaken by violent explosions of 300-pound TNT bombs dropped by army aviators today from an altitude of 2,000 feet, the dangerous five-mile ice-jam on the Delaware river, which has threatened this town with disaster, still was intact tonight.

The flood menace, however, was reported to have been temporarily relieved, for although whittled second a triumph against one of the world's modern implements of destruction, the river is falling. And a heavy thaw is now the only danger.

Guided by bonfires built on the ice at the most likely vulnerable points, two large Martin bombing planes from Aberdeen field, each carrying four men and four bombs, began the attack. Thousands of residents in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania gathered in the vicinity where the three mites adjoin to observe the spectacle.

Seven bombs were dropped at intervals of twenty minutes, four tearing great cavities in the ice six feet deep. The other three landed on the New Jersey shore, throwing up clouds of earth and snow.

One of the bombs striking the land endangered a group of spectators and motion picture photographers who had ventured near for a close-up of the daring charge. Flying fragments whistled past them, but no one was hurt.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT DEFEATED IN CHAMBER

Paris, March 14.—(By The A. P.)—The chamber of deputies by a vote of 290 to 88 refused today to follow the government on a question having to do with the 1924 election, with the government had not made the vote one involving confidence. Its defeat will have no effect.

If the law passed in this it will be submitted before the chamber again to be voted [illegible] of the [illegible]

SELECTING A JURY TO TRY WILLIAM Z. FOSTER

St. Joseph, Mich., March 14.—(By the A. P.)—Selection of a jury to try William Z. Foster, charged with violating the Michigan law against criminal syndicalism, was still unconcluded tonight although twelve jurors of the 400 from which it is [illegible] made.

Early in the afternoon tonight, Frank F. Walsh, chief counsel for Foster, announced he would peremptorily challenge tomorrow one of the 12 tendered by the prosecution.

Today's session was marked by long arguments over highly technical questions of political economy and inherent moral rights.

Judge Charles White, presiding in the case, and Mr. Walsh clashed over the legal right of individuals to preach the inherent right of a people to stage a violent revolution.

The defense attorney declared that Foster, or any one else, had the privilege to point out to Americans that they had a right, stated by the declaration of independence, to revolt if conditions under their form of government became intolerable. He argued that the Michigan syndicalism law, or any other statute was not violated unless the advocate of revolution in the abstract actually advised resort to arms.

Judge White declared no right to preach revolution existed and George Beckwith, assistant prosecuting attorney of Berrien county, said Mr. Walsh was confusing the declaration of independence—which is not law—with the constitution of the United States—the basic law of the nation.

EXTRAORDINARILY HEAVY TRAFFIC ON RAILROADS

Washington, March 14.—Traffic on railroads, extraordinarily heavy for several weeks, has now attained levels entirely unprecedented in the seasonal records, according to reports given out today by the car service division of the American Railway association.

During the week ending March 3, carriers loaded 917,896 cars with revenue freight, a total exceeding that of the corresponding week in 1922 by 121,781 cars, and 286,529 cars greater than the loadings of the same week in 1921. Compared with the preceding week this year, the loadings represented an increase of 87,673 cars and the business represented, railroad commentators said, is much traffic as is ordinarily handled during the heaviest fall months of crop and fuel movement.

All types of commodities shared in the transportation increases, the reports indicated. Loadings of merchandise and miscellaneous freight amounted to 543,752 cars or 83,671 cars more than during the same week of 1922, and 112,042 cars more than during the corresponding week of 1921.

Coal loadings totalled 195,531 cars, 15,094 above the previous week, while shipments of forest products, which includes lumber, were 76,121 cars, the greatest number for that commodity ever taken into transportation in any one week. Grain and livestock shipments were also heavy.

TO COMPLETE SOUTHERN NEW ENGLAND RAILROAD

Boston, March 14.—A bill to extend the time for completion of the Southern New England railroad to Dec. 31, 1924, was favorably reported today by the joint legislative committee on railroads. The measure will be considered in the senate, probably tomorrow. The time for opening of the railroad would expire Dec. 31, 1923.

The Rhode Island legislature also has been asked to extend the charter of the railroad corporation in that state for two years, on the assurance of the Grand Trunk railway that it has been "definitely and finally" decided to proceed at once with completion of the line from Palmer, Mass., to Providence, R. I. Stock of the Southern New England railroad is owned by the Central Vermont, which is in turn a Grand Trunk subsidiary.

[illegible] on the [illegible] would become [illegible] 1923.

Warning Against German Propaganda

Garland W. Powell Asks All American Legion Officers to Combat the Restoration of Prussian Monarchy.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 14.—A revolution for the restoration of the Prussian monarchy, including the reinstatement of the Hohenzollerns, is impending in Germany under Von Hindenburg's leadership, in the opinion of Garland W. Powell, national director of the Americanism Commission of the American Legion, who today issued a warning to all American officers of the Legion to be on guard against German propaganda.

"The picture of Von Hindenburg is reappearing in the American papers as it did in 1914," Mr. Powell stated. "He has been selected by the German monarchist party to battle the sabre in the kaiser style and bring about a coup d'etat to restore the old regime. He has opened this campaign by calling for war with France, in his address to the German Veterans' League in Hanover yesterday. Hindenburg is still the hero of Germany and his reappearance is a menace to the peace of the world."

The American people do not realize, said Mr. Powell, that Germany can afford to spend millions for propaganda in America while refusing to pay reparations to France and the allies on the plea of poverty.

"Germany today is in a better position for war than the world realizes," Mr. Powell declared, "but this German propaganda is being exerted to bring the American people to believe otherwise. The Americanism commission of the Legion has information of the course of German propaganda efforts in this country for the last year. There are 80,000 Americans buried in France who fell in breaking the Hindenburg line in 1918. The American people will not forget this in reading Hindenburg's new threat of war."

GERMANY READY TO PRODUCE PLAN FOR FINAL SETTLEMENT

London, March 14 (By the A. P.).—Germany is about to make a declaration that she is willing and ready to produce a plan for the final settlement of the reparations question, provided she can rely on the plan receiving the attention and consideration of the allied governments, says the Daily Telegraph's diplomatic correspondent, upon whose information the Daily Telegraph in an editorial says the fullest reliance may be placed.

According to the correspondent, the plan, which involves a material guarantee by the German industries, will be [illegible] the German government is [illegible] that it will be [illegible] without serious examination, as happened to Karl Bergmann's proposals in London in December and in Paris in January.

ADDITIONAL TROOPS TO BE SENT INTO THE RUHR

Duesseldorf, March 14.—Additional troops are to be sent into the Ruhr, it was announced today, to assist in the coal seizures which will begin tomorrow. More troops will be despatched if it is necessary to augment the forces attached to the engineers' mission.

M. Franzen now is chief of the mission, M. Coste having resigned.

TURKISH BATHHOUSE RAIDED ON LADIES' DAY

Philadelphia, March 14.—"Ladies' day" in a Turkish bath house was rudely interrupted by ten prohibition agents here today when the officers raided the establishment in search of moonshine. A still, in operation and 40 gallons of alleged moonshine whiskey were found and fifty women sent scampering for cover.

According to the agents, they were met at the door of the bath house by an attendant who told them the day was reserved for ladies only. Thinking, they said, that the attendant was trying to "stall for time" they rushed the door. Shrieks and confusion followed. Max Nathan and Abe Vackerman, alleged proprietors of the place, are being sought by the agents.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN PORT-AU-PRINCE, HAITI

Port-au-Prince, Haiti, March 14 (By the A. P.)—The most destructive fire here in years, believed to have been of incendiary origin, broke out at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Texas Oil building in the heart of the wholesale and commercial district. After completely destroying that structure and the large stock within it continued to spread.

A stiff wind and the failure of the electric pump service to supply high pressure to the water mains hampered the gendarmerie in fighting the blaze.

The fact that the fire was not preceded by an explosion is cited as lending weight to the theory of incendiarism.

The Texas oil burning and its stock of oils, which are a complete loss, were covered by insurance.

FIX FRONTIERS BETWEEN RUSSIA AND POLAND

Paris, March 14.—(By The A. P.)—The allied council of ambassadors today finally settled one of the most irritating problems left over from the peace conference, by fixing the frontiers between Russia and Poland.

The council's action was on the Riga treaty between Russia and Poland and acceptance of the existing situation, but it was really the ending of an unstable situation which it was feared might develop serious troubles.

In fact the allies had never formally accepted the territorial divisions made under the Riga treaty, and questions had been raised as to the fate of Eastern Galicia, [illegible] came up on several occasions before the assembly of the [illegible] twice up a resolution [illegible] the Canadian delegation [illegible] that the council of [illegible]

[illegible]

The [illegible] was [illegible] in Salt Lake City, [illegible] $10.25.

The [illegible] Compton, [illegible] president of Radcliffe college, [illegible] yesterday.

Gabriele D'Annunzio has [illegible] transfer his residence to [illegible] Rome.

The commonwealth of Massachusetts has been awarded the contract of 22 cases of liquor seized [illegible] Manchester-by-the-Sea.

The ice jam in the St. Lawrence river near Morrisburg, on the Canadian shore, has assumed threatening proportions again.

Milton W. Davenport, of New Britain, was appointed a state absentee for two years by Governor Templeton.

Jim Larkin, widely known Irish labor agitator, was refused admittance to Canada yesterday when he crossed the border at Highwater, Quebec.

A will made by John Wesley, dated April 27, 1765, when the great divine was 65 years of age, has been presented to We[illegible] University by [illegible] ing President [illegible]

Joseph Hillson of West Somerville, Mass., said to be a wealthy hardware dealer, fell dead on the Cunard line steamship Araphoe shortly before the vessel docked in New York.

By a vote of 11 to 2, the New York senate finance committee reported favorably the Walker bill designed to repeal the motion picture censorship law.

William Carter, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, is in a critical condition at a hospital in Baltimore, Md., suffering from Bright's disease.

Three stills and 60 five-gallon containers were found by police in the cellar of a wrecked two-story building in New Haven, which was destroyed by fire March 2.

Mrs. Tillie Klimek, 46 years old was found guilty of the murder of her third husband, Frank Kupsyk by a jury in Chicago, which fixed her punishments at life imprisonment.

Two children were suffocated and their grandmother probably fatally burned in a fire in Cambridge, Mass., resulting from the explosion of an oil lamp.

An appeal to large corporations to employ rehabilitated war veterans will be made by Brigadier-General Frank T. Hines, new director of the U. S. Veterans bureau.

The Illinois-Alberta oil well 14 miles south of Calgary, was set on fire last night. The damage already [illegible] estimated at $[illegible], but [illegible] were not under control.

[illegible] of the New York Philharmonic orchestra, [illegible] leadership of the state symphony orchestra of New York, [illegible] at Albany last Saturday.

A. R. Meredith, secretary to the state board of education [illegible] the legislative appropriations committee that $900 Connecticut students were outside of Connecticut last year for college training.

Henry Clews, internationally known banker who died in Paris on January 31, left the bulk of his estate in trust for his widow, his son, Harry Clews, Jr., and his daughter, Mrs. Henry Clews Parsons.

The Chicago stock [illegible] yesterday was joined with the New York stock exchange in an investigation to determine whether a [illegible] exist in Class A, common stock of the Piggly Wiggly Stores, Inc.

The near east relief opened in New York the first of a chain of stores it plans to establish throughout the country to dispose of rugs, scarfs, laces and other handiwork of orphans and refugees in the Near East.

Plain intimations that the Canadian government would be unwilling to accept any reduction in the amount of its claims growing out of the Ruhr occupation, totalling about $250,000,000 are given by administration spokesmen.

The Columbia, latest addition to the Gloucester fishing fleet, which will be ready for launching within a few days, will join the minority group of the fleet sailing from Gloucester, Mass., and engage in the salt fishing industry.

President Lemuel H. Murlin of Boston university, has been granted leave of absence for six months and will sail for Europe Saturday with Mrs. Murlin to study the educational systems of various countries, including Russia.

It is known that Monsignor Nincitra, papal nuncio at Brussels, recently made overtures to the Spanish ambassador in Brussels with a view to Spanish mediation in the conflict with Germany.

Cardinal Pompili, vicar of Rome, yesterday returned the visit made to him on Monday by Signor Mussolini, the new royal commissioner of the municipality of Rome.

Addressing the Kiwanis club of Waterbury, Lucian S. Storrs, [illegible] of the Connecticut company, [illegible] to show there are [illegible] children with one-man cars than with two-man cars.

Gabriele Amento and Edward [illegible] of New Haven, were fined $100 and $25 respectively in police court in New Britain, the former for transporting sixty gallons of grain alcohol last Saturday, and the latter, a truck driver as an accessory.

A portrait of John G. [illegible] president of the United [illegible] 1835 to 1853 and a [illegible] in the class of [illegible] started to the [illegible] Dudley Hayes.

As evening [illegible]

LEGISLATIVE HEARINGS ON MEASURES OF IMPORTANCE

Military Committee Heard Arguments For and Against Soldiers' Bonus Bill of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, — 25 Members of the Senate and House Entered Their Names as Being in Favor of the Bill — Committee on Judiciary Surprised by a Bill to License Horse Racing, Sprung as a Substitute Measure.

Hartford, March 14.—The soldiers' bonus bill of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the measure upon which 25 former service men have centered their efforts in hope of bonus legislation at this session of the general assembly, was heard before the committee on military affairs this afternoon. The gathering was in the house chamber which was not filled as it was two years ago. There was practically no opposition to the bill itself, the only really antagonistic speech being by former Representative Wells of Wethersfield, who declared he did not believe in paying a bonus to men who served in the war, claiming that thousands of farmers of the state objected to being taxed to pay it.

Before the hearing the interest was in the attitude that might be taken by the American Legion, the state commander of which Mr. Kelly, is a house member from Colchester. Mr. Kelly said that if this bonus bill did not mean that the present state aid law based on the $3,500,000 invested fund would be jeopardized, both he and the legion favored the bill. But if passage of a bonus bill meant that the state aid fund was to be eliminated he and the legion both opposed the legislation.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars were represented by their state commander, John H. Williams, of Bridgeport, by Lieutenant Colonel Starr Allen, of New York, judge advocate general of the national body, and by officers of local posts. The general argument of all was that Connecticut owed service men some sort of financial compensation to offset the inequalities which existed by reason of men going into service while others stayed at home and earned high wages. Some of the speakers laid emphasis on the claim that Connecticut benefited most by the war, that the manufacturers and people in it reaped the largest harvest, and that the state was the only one in New England which has not given its service men a bonus.

Some twenty-two members of the senate and house entered their names as being in favor of either the bill in question or a bill of the [illegible]

[illegible] the legislature quit saying they were in favor of bonus, but asking in the same breath "Where will the money come from?" He said "We know where the money will come from. Well get it from the people who want to see that these veterans get what was promised them."

He said he did not want to make any threats but pointed out that Congressman Glynn, who voted against the bonus bill in congress was beaten at the polls, while Senator McLean, who voted for a bonus bill had the service men rallying about him.

"We want Connecticut to go through a little hardship for the veterans," said Mr. Post, just as the veterans went through hardships for Connecticut."

Mr. Kelly then said he wished the committee to be prepared to answer any question which might come up as to whether the $3,500,000 state aid fund would be in danger if the bill passed. He said that the legion felt that if did not wish to sacrifice the veterans' aid fund, and also felt that this fund in the long run might be better than a cash bonus.

Senator Budd asked Mr. Post if it had been estimated how much money the bonus bill would require and the reply was about $4,000,000 to recompense about 50,000 Connecticut men and women who went into service.

Mr. Wells, when there was a call for opposition to the bill, said he wished the bill would differentiate between men who went to France and those who went to camps on this side "for a holiday, returning home better fed and looking fatter than when they went from home." He said the service men did not deserve a bonus and he preferred to see men who fought for the flag and did not "commercialize their patriotism." He said he exempted men who were wounded, and addressed his remarks to those who came back in full health. He declared he spoke for thousands of farmers who had been called "slackers."

Mr. Wells continued in sharp criticism of service men when suddenly he was hissed from various parts of the chamber. Chairman Rudd demanded order saying that everyone had a right to be heard.

A Middletown man then rose and said he enlisted for love of the flag, went out with the 103nd regiment and was wounded and gassed. Another man objected to Mr. Wells' remarks about aliens not going into service, and another speaker demanded that Mr. Wells retract "his insults to the veterans."

The hearing closed shortly after without any further opposition being expressed.

HEARING ON BILL TO LICENSE HORSE RACING

Hartford, Mar. 14.—The legislative committee on the judiciary got a surprise this afternoon in the course of a hearing on a bill which, according to its title, was to resale a commission to foster the breeding and exhibiting of horses within the state, and for a racing commission to license horse racing. This was a bill of Mr. Allyn of Waterford.

When the bill was called a substitute, was offered in behalf of a group of New York men to obtain the right to erect a race track near the New York state line, preferably in Greenwich, for conducting horse races. A further provision was for a commission to supervise and promote this racing with $7,500 salary for the [illegible] each. The other [illegible] would be [illegible] of the [illegible]

WAR AGE OF THE FOREMOST CITIZENS OF THE COUNTRY

Chicago, March 14.—[illegible] stock yards [illegible] of the [illegible] right, [illegible] one of the foremost [illegible] of the country and a pioneer in the [illegible] transportation [illegible] who was a partner of [illegible] the University of Illinois [illegible] the world in 1871, for relinquishing the [illegible] of an [illegible] [illegible] to his own [illegible] Gilbert [illegible] Chicago, received a [illegible] from the latter a few days before [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

WILLIMANTIC

NORWICH BULLETIN

This week marks the third week of the inauguration of the campaign of the Congregation of the Sons of Israel and nearly $1,500 has been raised toward the $25,000 quota for the institution of the new synagogue on Jewett street. The building fund committee are very much encouraged by this fact in regard to the fact that this amount was collected entirely from without the city from the business firms and houses with whom the local merchants do business and who responded liberally to the cause. None of the local members have as yet contributed.

It was announced Wednesday that the committee will interview local business and professional men in the near future to ask pledges for the campaign. After the completion of the drive a reception and banquet in the form of a housewarming will be held and at this time the final congregation members will give their donations.

Tradesmen are still at work altering and remodeling the Bank street structure.

If being ascertained and the work is of such a nature that when it is completed the local synagogue will compare favorably with any in the state.

The spring institute of the Windham Farmers' Club was held Wednesday at Guilford Smith hall, South Windham, with two sessions, forenoon and afternoon. Thomas Marra of Windham, president of the [illegible] charge of the meeting. The program was in charge of a committee consisting of Miss Marra, George Cross and Miss Davis, county agent of the association.

The session was attended by a large number of farmers and over one hundred were present at the afternoon session.

The two features of the afternoon session were H. O. Hill, city of Hartford, deputy food and drug commissioner, Mr. Hall's talk on Connecticut Valley Tobacco and John A. Lesko of Baltic ville, the well known eastern Connecticut poultryman, spoke on some things on Growing Broad Chicks.

The luncheon committee, Alfred Abbe, Chilmark, served a fine served which was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The speakers at the afternoon session included Frank A. Pope, of West Hartford, a noted dairy expert, whose subject was Dairy Farm Management, and Mrs. E. W. Hill of Hebron, a specialist in landscape gar-

THE H. C. MURRAY CO.

WILLIMANTIC, CONN.

34th Anniversary Celebration

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 15th, 16th and 17th

OUR ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATIONS ARE ALWAYS EVENTS OF ECONOMY, AND THIS YEAR IS NO EXCEPTION.

YOU WILL FIND EVERY DEPARTMENT HAS TAKEN PART IN THIS SPECIAL EVENT AND PROVIDES UNUSUAL OFFERINGS IN THINGS YOU NEED FOR THE HOME AND PERSONAL USE.

HOSIERY IN THE ANNIVERSARY SALE

Buster Hose, in regular and extra sizes, black and colors—44c a pair.

Spire Hose, in Camel's Hair, navy and brown—44c a pair.

Misses' Lisle Hose, were 50c and 59c —2 pairs for 44c.

Pleating Silk Hose, black and colors—$1.44 a pair.

Onyx Silk Hose, good quality, black and colors—$1.44 a pair.

KNIT UNDERWEAR ANNIVERSARY PRICED

Women's 75c Summer-weight Union Suits—44c each.

Women's 50c Mercerized Lisle Vests and Bodices—44c each.

Women's 29c Summer-weight Vests and Bodices—2 for 44c.

Misses' Fleeced Vests and Pants—44c each.

Women's Silk and Wool Union Suits, were $4.00, $5.00 and $6.00—To close out at 44c each.

TOILET ARTICLES

Bayer's Aspirin Tablets—2 dozen size —2 bottles for 44c.

$1.00 Creme Lemon—for 44c.

Large size Sykes' Comfort Powder—for 44c.

Holmes' Frostilla—2 bottles for 44c.

Mieck's Sugar of Milk—for 44c.

Small size Father John's—for 44c.

California Syrup of Figs—for 44c.

Large size Milk of Magnesia—for 44c.

Pompeian Face Powder—for 44c.

Mavis' Face Powder—for 44c.

2 cans Mavis' Talcum Powder—for 44c.

3 cans Colgate's or Williams' Talcum Powder—for 44c.

6 cakes Palmolive Soap—for 44c.

3 cakes Lava Castile Soap—for 44c.

Box Highland Writing Paper and Envelopes—for 44c.

Children's Pocket Books, in Silk or Leather—for 44c.

One lot of Women's Leather Pocket Books—for $1.44.

Domestics At Anniversary Prices

Mavis Pequot Pillow Cases—44c each.

Mavis Pillow Cases—2 for 44c.

Unbleached Fancy Ticking, suitable for Pillow Slips or Cases—44c a yard.

17x36 All-Linen Hemstitched Huck Towels—44c each.

58-inch Table Damask—44c a yard.

Good size Turkish Bath Towels—44c each.

16x32 Turkish Towels—2 for 44c.

Bleached Cotton Crash—4 yards for 44c.

All-Linen Bleached or Brown Crash—2 yards for 44c.

81x90 Bed Sheets—$1.44 each.

White Bed Spreads—$1.44 each.

60x70 Single Plaid Blankets—$1.44 ea.

Brown Cotton, good quality—10 yards for $1.44.

DRESS FABRICS AT ANNIVERSARY PRICES

36-inch Suiting, in new Spring shades—2 1-4 yards for 44c.

54-inch Sponge Cloth, all colors—2 1-4 yards for 44c.

Good quality Chambray, assorted colors—7 yards for 44c.

One lot of good quality Dress Gingham, in checks and stripes—2 1-2 yards for 44c.

36-inch Fancy Check Suiting, suitable for Sport Skirts—44c a yard.

36-inch new Spring Novelty Suiting, value 75c—2 1-2 yards for $1.44.

One lot of 32-inch Dress Gingham, value 50c and 75c—for 44c a yard.

RIBBONS

Fancy Plaid and Dresden Ribbons, 6-inches wide—for 44c a yard.

Plain or Moire Taffeta Ribbons, 6 to 7 inches—for 44c a yard

5 and 6-inch Plain Moire Ribbon— 2 yards for 44c.

NOTIONS

New Dotted Veiling, in the new Spring shades—44c a yard.

New Spring Neckwear, in the latest styles—for 44c each.

Blue Bird Double Mesh Hair Nets, different shades—6 for 44c.

Willimantic Spool Cotton, 10 spools —for 44c.

Hemmingway Sewing Silks, 100-yard spool—3 for 44c.

Silkoen Crochet Cotton—5 spools for 44c.

10c and 12 1-2c Lace Embroideries—3 yards for 44c.

FLOOR COVERING SECTION

14x26-inch Rubber Door Mats, value 69c—for 44c.

24x36 Congoleum Remnants—2 for 44c.

One lot of odd shades, slightly soiled from handling, were 90c to $1.50—To close out at 44c each.

36-inch wide Rug Border—for 44c a yard.

36x72 Grass Rugs, were $2.19—for $1.44

3 ft. x 6 ft. long Congoleum Rugs—for $2.44.

27x54 Fibre Rugs, were $1.98—for $1.44

27x54 Cottage, were $2.98—for $1.44

Reversible Couch Covers, 50x80—for $2.44.

27x54 Axminster Rugs, Animal designs or floral, were $4.50—for $3.44 ea.

Congoleum Rugs, 4 1-2 x 9 ft. long —$3.44 each.

26x52 Reversible Rugs, value $2.25 —for $1.44.

Full size Wool Cotton Mattress, value $14.00—for $10.44.

Silk Floss Mattress, full size, 32 lbs., value $25.00—for $17.44.

9x12 Axminster Rugs, value $41.00 and $44.00—for $35.44.

DRAPERIES

36-inch Sunfast Draperies, in brown, rose and blue, 50c value—for 44c a yard.

36-inch wide Marquisette, in white or ecru, 25c and 29c value—2 yards for 44c.

36-inch wide good quality Cretonnes, floral designs, 25c quality—2 yards for 44c.

36-inch wide better quality Cretonnes, light or dark grounds, in pretty floral designs, 50c quality for 44c a yard.

ART GOODS

Stamped Night Gowns, regular $1.69 quality for $1.44.

Embroidered Pillow Cases, were 69c—for 44c each.

Stamped Linen Towels, 16x36—2 for $1.44.

Pure Linen Hemstitch Towels, stamped —for $1.44 each.

MEN'S FURNISHINGS

Men's Negligee Shirts, good patterns, were $1.69—for $1.44 each.

Men's 50c Hose—2 pairs for 44c.

Men's Silk Hose in black and cordovan, subject to slight imperfections—44c a pair.

Men's $1.75 Umbrellas—for $1.44.

KITCHENWARE

2-gallon Stone Crocks with cover —44c each.

8-inch fancy-finish Jardinieres, were 69c —for 44c.

Plain thin blown Tumblers—6 for 44c.

Fancy Glass Ware, consisting of Nappies, Bon Bons and other useful articles of Glassware—44c each.

Japaned Perfection Oil Heaters—$3.44.

No. 8 and 9 Tin Wash Boilers — for $2.44.

12-qt. size Galvanized Water Pails—2 for 44c.

Black Dustless Mop or Handle—for 44c.

4-qt. size ENAMELED COVERED Kettles and Bacon Pans, value $1.50 —for 44c.

CANDY

Fresh Stuffed Dates—for 44c a pound.

BOOKS

One lot of Children's Books—To close out at 44c each.

HOUSE DRESSES

Made of good quality Percale and Gingham, Billy Burke style or Elastic models, were $2.98—for $2.44.

MIDDIES

Paul Jones' Middy Blouses, for Misses and Women, white and colors, were $2.25—for $1.44.

UNDERWEAR

Muslin Underwear, Night Gowns, Petticoats and Combinations, were $1.25—for $1.00.

Items From the Ready-To-Wear Section At Anniversary Prices

NEW SPRING COATS, $13.44 AND $20.44

New Spring Coats, in Camel's Hair, Tweed and Plaid Backs—Just the kind of a coat you need for early Spring wear—SPECIAL $13.44 and $20.44.

NEW SPRING DRESSES, $20.00

New Spring Dresses, in the season's leading materials and colors —SPECIAL $20.44.

NEW SPRING SUITS

New Spring Suits, in Twill, Tricotine and Poiret—This is a good opportunity to purchase your Easter Suit—SPECIAL $24.44.

SPRING SKIRTS

Spring Skirts, in Twill, Serge and Sport Models, were $6.50—SPECIAL $3.44.

SPECIAL IN WINTER COATS

One lot of Winter Coats, in such materials as Pandora, Marvella and Bolivia, plain or fur-trimmed, were $40.00—To close out at $25.44.

CHILDREN'S COATS

Children's Warm Winter Coats, plain or fur-trimmed, were $10.50 — To close out at $5.44.

RAINCOATS

Women's Rubber Raincoats, regular $12.50 quality—SPECIAL $4.44.

20 Per Cent. Discount

During the Anniversary Sale you save 20 per cent. discount on the following Articles — SHIRTWAISTS, SWEATERS, SLIP-ONS, PETTICOATS, KIMONAS, HOUSE DRESSES AND MUSLIN UNDERWEAR.

APRONS

Bibapron Aprons, in Percale and Gingham, were $1.98 — for $1.44.

PETTICOATS

Heatherbloom and Mercerized Figured Petticoats, in black and colors, were $1.98—for $1.44.

WAISTS

Tailored Waists, in the new Spring styles, black, white or fancy, were $2.98 and $3.98 — for $2.44—$4.44 quality for $3.44.

DENTIST

Dr. F. C. Jackson

SPECIALIZING IN PAINLESS EXTRACTING

718 MAIN STREET, WILLIMANTIC

THE HURTEAU AND BOSSE CORP.

HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS FUNERAL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS.

816 Main Street, Willimantic, Conn. Phone 641-2

JAY M. SHEPARD

Successor to Fillmore & Shepard

Funeral Director & Embalmer

40-42 NORTH ST. WILLIMANTIC

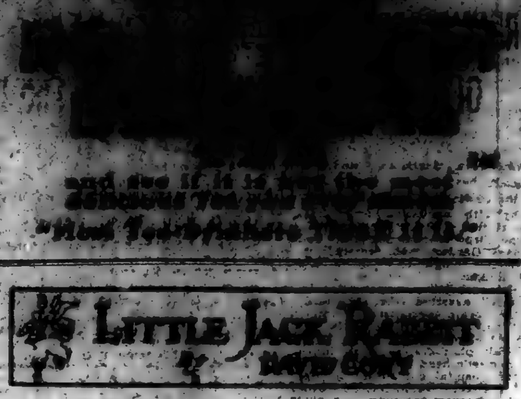
Lady Assistant. Tel. Connection

Killourey Bros.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS

[illegible] Willimantic, Conn.

Phone 76 Lady Assistant



Hungry as Three Bears

"Maybe I'd better bring in some cabbage leaves," said the old gentleman rabbit, hopping down the path that led under the grape arbor and around the old well to the gate. "Miss Mouse can make us a nice salad for lunch," and while his little mouse housekeeper was setting the table, Uncle Bucky brought in the cabbage leaves and then he and Little Jack Rabbit sat out on the front porch, where, just under the roof, pretty Mrs. Sparrow had a nest crowded with little birdies.

Sitting down in the hammock, the old gentleman rabbit swung back and forth while his little bunny nephew looked in the crochet box to see if Hungry Hawk had stolen one of the nice wooden balls.

Pretty soon, Mrs. Sparrow whispered in the little bunny's ear, because she was afraid Hungry Hawk might hear, that the little bunnies were hungry as three bears.

"Oh, am I," laughed the little rabbit. "I could eat a bag of animal crackers!" and in the next story, if dear Uncle Bucky doesn't lose his diamond horseshoe pin in the pea soup instead of his appetite, I'll tell you about Grandmother Bunny.

(Copyright 1923 by David Gory.)

Hartford Wednesday to attend a meeting.

Attorney William A. King was in Hartford Wednesday on business.

Attorney Frank H. Foss was in Hartford Wednesday on business.

Frank Shaffer of Middletown, formerly of this city, is visiting friends in this city.

Harold Shaffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Shaffer of Chestnut street, is home from Mount Vernon for a few days.

Mayor Charles A. Gates, Alderman William E. Jackson and Corporation Counsel Attorney William A. King were in Hartford Wednesday attending a meeting of the cities and boroughs committee in regard to the proposed change in the city charter to make the position of fire chief permanent, and also to the establishing of a captain of the police department. The position of captain would be one to rank between that of chief and lieutenant.

A building inspecting program has been inaugurated by the fire committee and building inspector, Chief of the Fire Department Jmeas J. Tighe, whereby the permanent members of the fire department will utilize their day off duty in making an inspection tour of various buildings throughout the city. The members make records of their findings in regard to dangerous conditions which they discover. These records are then turned over to the building inspector who orders these conditions remedied. Failure to this means a prosecution of the owners of the buildings. The plan has proven to be a very good one and since March 1 a number of local garages, business houses on West Main street and the town farm have been visited. Several changes were recommended at the town farm and the matter has been taken up with the selectmen.

On March 6, the United States deputy called at the county jail in Brooklyn and took into custody Henry Evers, alias Barlow Diamond, and escorted him to the county jail in New Haven where Evers is being held under bonds of $2,500 on the charge of transporting stolen automobiles into various states. Evers is the man who was arrested in Willimantic by Patrolman Frank McLean of the local police department after the police had received a warning that the man had shot at a man in Woodstock and was headed towards this city in a high powered car.

COLCHESTER

On the fourth Sunday in Lent the epistle read at St. Andrew's church was St. Paul to the Galatians, chapter 4. The gospel read was St. John, chapter 6. There was the way of the cross in English and Polish after mass followed by benediction of the blessed sacrament.

A collection was taken up for the new furnace.

Feast days this week: Monday, St. Gregory the Great; Tuesday, St. Euphasia; Wednesday, St. Maud; Thursday, St. Zachary; Friday, St. Julian; Saturday, St. Patrick, the apostle of Ireland. Following is a synopsis of his life: Born in the fourth century in Gaul, father, Calphurnius, mother, Couchessa. In his youth called Succath, the worker. He was given the name of Patrick by Pope Celestine. In his 16th year he was captured by pirates, brought to Ireland, sold as a ruler of the north, assigned work as shepherd. This gave him chance to meditate upon the great truths of religion. He succeeded in getting back to Gaul to his home. By day's journey of the island he had learned to love; by night he dreamed of his green and fertile shores.

In his 32d year a dream so impressed him that he set off to the monastery near Douze to consult with St. Martin, his grand-uncle. From him he received a monastic habit. He went to Rome and was a student at St. John Lateran. Later labored in diocese of St. Germain Auxerre and was consecrated bishop by Pope Celestine First and sent to Ireland. There is nothing in the history of Christianity surpassing the rapidity and completeness of its conversion. St. Patrick was over 90 at death.

There will be special high mass next Sunday.

St. Andrew's Holy Name society will hold an important meeting next Sunday.

Frederick Brook of New York was the guest of his family on Broadway over Sunday.

Clayton D. Barton and brother, Fred Hampton were callers in town Thursday.

Hattie Jackson temple, Pythian Sisters, held their regular meeting Pythian hall Tuesday evening. After the work of the evening a social hour was spent and a buffet supper was served.

John Carrier of Westchester was a caller here Tuesday.

Patrick Connors of Hartford is in town for a few days, having been called here by the death of his mother, Mrs. F. J. Hudson.

There was a debate in Assembly hall Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock by the students of the High school. The question debated was: "Resolved, That France's occupation of the Ruhr is justifiable and expedient." The debaters were, affirmative, M. Broder, M. Lemkin, J. Dilley; negative, P. Horowitz, N. Lowen, G. Pearson. The entire school and the faculty attended. The judges decision favored the affirmative. Practical Speech [illegible] criticisms afterwards.

Miss Helen Gilmore was taken ill with pneumonia last Friday at the home of Mrs. F. W. Carpenter on Scott Main street, where she was employed as a nurse. She was brought to her home on Norwich avenue, and Miss Alice Edwards, a nurse, who is also in Brainford, was sent for and is caring for Miss Gilmore.

Sunday 1st ladies received their services and united with the St. John's Ale Aide society. The officers chosen follows: [illegible] Deputschefsky; secretary, [illegible] John Gardner; treasurer, [illegible] Moodey; treasurer and chaplain. Committees were appointed as follows: Julia O'Connell, Elizabeth Cassin; membership, Helen Shea, Leona O'Connell, Veronica Fedus; to care for the sick, Helen Shea, Grace O'Connell, Mary [illegible] and Margaret Mary [illegible] O'Connell. Committees for serving the study of altars, sanctuaries, vestments and linens will be announced at future meetings of this society.

Windsor Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, [illegible] and [illegible] entertained Worthy Grand Lodge Mark Wells, Lewiston, Me., on his official visit to this lodge. The lodge opened in due form at 8 o'clock, proceeding to the business meeting in Masonic hall and one of the largest gatherings of state officers, members and visitors were present to welcome the distinguished guests.

Why Druggists Recommend Swamp-Root

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription.

Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample size bottle. Write plainly and be sure to mention this paper.

BRENNAN IN HOSPITAL AS RESULT OF HIS BEATING MONDAY BY FIRPO

New York, March 14.—Bill Brennan, Chicago heavyweight, who was taken to the Jewish Memorial hospital early today with concussion of the brain, as the result of his knockout by Luis Angel Firpo Monday night at Madison Square Garden, was declared by his physician tonight to be in no immediate danger.

"His condition apparently is not serious," asserted Dr. Edward L. Spitzer, brain specialist, who diagnosed the case, "but it is too early to predict developments."

X-ray photographs were taken of the pugilist's head soon after he reached the hospital but these, Dr. Spitzer said probably would not be examined until tomorrow morning. At present, he added, there is no evidence of injury to the bone.

Except for a brief period of semi-consciousness early this morning, when he was taken to the hospital, Brennan was in cheerful mood and tonight chatted for awhile with his wife and Leo P. Flynn, his manager. His 19 months old daughter Alyo was at his bedside earlier in the day.

The blow which knocked out Brennan and resulted in his injury was a right-hand swing, landing just behind the left ear with the force of a sledge hammer. Thift punch followed a series of crushing right and left uppercuts with which Firpo battered the Chicagoan into a state of semi-helplessness in the twelfth round.

Brennan was bent double when the final punch came and fell, face down, for the count of ten. Barely able to crawl to his hands and knees, he was helped to his corner and out of the ring in a dazed condition.

Although he had complained of a head-ache and occasional sharp pains in the spot where Firpo's knockout punch landed, Brennan displayed no critical symptoms until early this morning. His wife, became alarmed, called a physician and, on the latter's advice, the boxer was taken to the hospital as a precautionary measure.

There was no indication yesterday that Brennan had sustained any serious injury, although he visibly showed the effects of Firpo's terrific blows to his head and body. His side and arms were bruised and behind his ear, a lump the size of an egg testified to the power behind the punch with which the South American sent his rival to the floor. He also limped from a sprained ankle, which he turned when they were mixing at close quarters in the tenth round.

In a talk to newspapermen at Madison Square Garden yesterday afternoon, Brennan emphatically denied charges that he had "thrown the fight to Firpo and laid his defeat entirely to the South American's superior punching prowess.

"Firpo hurt me with every body blow he landed," Brennan said. "Dempsey never hit me any harder than this fellow either time the champ mocked me out. I gave him the best I had but couldn't weather the storm."

The Chicagoan said he had engaged in 107 ring battles but the record books list 117 prior to his fights this year with Floyd Johnson and Firpo. Of these he lost but seven and won sixty-five of his victories by knockouts.

Previous to going down before Firpo his only knockouts were at the hands of Dempsey, once in 1918 and again in 1920. He started his professional career in 1914. He was born in Ireland and is thirty years old.

KILLINGLY HIGH TAKES MEASURE OF BULKELEY

(Special to The Bulletin)

Danielson, March 14.—Killingly High school defeated Bulkeley High school of New London to the tune of 18 to 12 in the town hall here this evening. Killingly took the lead early in the game and held it throughout the contest. Meunier of Killingly was out of the game on account of illness and his place was taken by Downs. In the first half Bulkeley scored only three field goals to Killingly's 6. Williams and Reeves of Killingly each shot a pretty basket from the floor the mid-point. Bulkeley was prevented from making checks by the able guard work of Williams and Downs.

Killingly continued to creep ahead in the second half and so Vadas was substituted for Keech, Sambursky for Williams, Lubchansky was the mainstay of the Bulkeley five, contributing four out of the five field goals that the Whalers made in the second half. The lineup:

Killingly		Bulkeley
Blakely	Right Forward	Taylor
Reeves	Left Forward	Parisi
Keech	Center	Lubchansky
Williams	Right Guard	Noonan
Downs	Left Guard	Sheflot

Field Goals—For Killingly, Reeves, 7; Blakely, 4; Keech, 4; Vadas, 4; Williams, 1. For Bulkeley, Lubchansky, 5; Taylor, 2; Sheflot, 1.

Fouls—For Killingly, Reeves, 6; for Bulkeley, Lubchansky, 2; referee, White of Plainfield.

MISS RYAN PLAYS BRILLIANT TENNIS AT NICE

Nice, March 14.—(By the A. P.)—Senorita Alvarez, 18-year-old Spanish girl, proved the surprise of the Nice lawn tennis tournament today by giving Miss Elizabeth Ryan one of the hardest matches of her career before bowing to the Californian, 6-2, 8-6, 6-3.

Unheralded and relatively unheard of, this diminutive dark-eyed girl met her experienced opponent with as much confidence as if she had been playing tournament tennis for years, although this is the first real championship competition she ever entered.

The match was much more evenly contested, than the score indicates, eleven of the 26 games going to deuce, while the Spanish player won three of her eleven games at love.

Miss Ryan had a banner day, playing also in the second round, singles against Mme. Florasco and winning 6-0, 6-2, then paired with Susanne Lenglen, defeating the Misses Tobin and Welch 6-0 twice over in a match in which the losers made only five points. Later, paired with Randolph Lycett, Miss Ryan won from D. Grieg and Mrs. Fowler 6-1, 6-3.

Mrs. Mallory, the American champion, was idle today, but tomorrow morning she meets Miss Tobin of England, in the second round singles, and in the afternoon plays Mrs. O'Neill, also of England. She is expected to have little difficulty in the morning match, but Mrs. O'Neil is regarded by the experts as likely to give her a hard struggle. Should Mrs. Mallory get past both these players, the stage will be all set for a meeting between the American champion and Mlle. Lengien on Friday.

King Gustava of Sweden, undaunted by his defeat in the open tournament yesterday, entered the handicaps today, but met with no better luck, being eliminated in the first round.

NEW HAVEN KACEYS TO PLAY AT PLAINFIELD

Basketball fans of Eastern Connecticut will have a rare treat on Friday evening if they go to Plainfield for the game between the Plainfield team and the New Haven Kaceys. The New Haven team is about to engage in a title series in New Haven and is taking on the Plainfield outfit as a sort of practice game as they say. Plainfield has an entirely different opinion as to its being a practice game for they are out to show New Haven that the Elm City team is not the only one on the dump.

The Kaceys comprise Tim Cronin and Bill Dwyer, two Hartford boys rated as top notchers in the chalked court game, Schatzman, McGrent and Bill Sheehy. Sheehy is a fast boy and is capable of giving the best in the game a fast go. The Plainfield team will be Reddy and Joe Belair at the forward positions, Jim Murphy, center, Jack Murphy and Nolan guards. This team needs no introduction to local fans as the combination means basketball at its best.

SUIT AGAINST RUTH IS NOT YET FILED

New York, March 14.—Miss Delores Dixon's 50,000 suit against Babe Ruth, Yankee home run slugger, based alleged attacks made during automobile trips on Long Island, remained unfiled today.

George Feinberg, the girl's attorney, said the complaint probably would be filed tomorrow. He denied Ruth's charge that the action was a blackmail plot.

Papers in the county clerk's office at Brooklyn show that an order was signed appointing Barbara V. Escoe guardian ad litem for the girl to permit the bringing of an action for damages against "Herman C. Ruth." Babe's name is George Herman Ruth. Mr. Feinberg said, however, that the Babe was the defendant.

He declared he would disprove Ruth's claim that he did not know the girl. Hyman Bushel, Ruth's attorney, has employed detectives to trace her history.

McMILLAN'S HOMER FEATURES EXHIBITION

Hot Springs, Ark., March 14.—McMillan's home run drive enabled the regulars of the Boston Red Sox to defeat the second team by a score of 3 to 2 in the first practice game of the season here today. Lefty O'Doul, pitcher for the seconds, also hit a long one over the fence.

Burns was captain of the regular sox line-up today and this fact was believed by many sport writers to forecast his election for this part during the playing season.

Pitcher Harry Grampsh, of Columbia University, and Camp Skinner, former Yankee outfielder, joined Manager Chance's squad today.

Johnson Wins

Los Angeles, March 14.—William M. Johnston of San Francisco, number two in national tennis ranking, defeated Harold Dickinson of Los Angeles, 6-0, 8-6, in the first round of the men's singles in an invitation tennis tournament here today. Harvey Snodgrass, Southern California singles champion, win his match against Paul Hardeman, former holder of the title, 6-2, 6-3.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS

25¢ and 75¢ Packages Everywhere

FIVE BIG BOUTS — 32 FAST ROUNDS

Town Hall, Danielson, Friday Evening, March 16th

Auspices CASINO AMUSEMENT COMPANY

FEATURE BOUT—10 ROUNDS AT 158 POUNDS

HONEY GIL WAGNER, of Hartford vs.

SAILOR ANDRE, of Framingham

SEMI-FINAL—6 ROUNDS AT 130 POUNDS

DICK BELL, OF POUGHKEEPSIE vs.

FRANK STARKIE, OF PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

6 ROUNDS AT 112-116 POUNDS

WILLIE O'DOWD, OF CENTRAL VILLAGE vs.

YOUNG RHODY, OF PASCOAG

4 ROUNDS AT 118 POUNDS

BATTLING DUMAS, OF PUTNAM vs.

OSCAR SUPERNAULT, OF WAUREGAN

4 ROUNDS AT 120 POUNDS

TOMMY WOODS, OF PLAINFIELD vs.

YOUNG BERNIER, OF DANIELSON

GENERAL ADMISSION, $1.25—RINGSIDE, $1.50—TAX PAID

PROVISIONS OF STATE BOXING COMMISSION OBSERVED

SEATS NOW AT THE RINGSIDE — THE HOME OF ACTION

TODAY'S SPORTS

RACING

Meeting of Jefferson Parish Fair Assn., at New Orleans.

Meeting of Cuba-American Jockey Club at Havana.

Meeting of Tijuana Jockey Club, at Tijuana.

CHESS

Frank J. Marshall vs Edward Lasker, at New York, for United States championship.

BENCH SHOW

Annual show of Puget Sound Kennel Club, at Seattle.

GOLF

Annual spring tournament at Miami, Fla.

SWIMMING

Western Intercollegiate conference championships, at Chicago.

BOWLING

Annual tournament of American Bowling Congress, at Milwaukee.

BASKETBALL

National A. A. U. championship tournament, at Kansas City.

Oregon State interscholastic tournament, at Salem.

BOXING

Metropolitan A. A. U. senior championships, Madison Square Garden.

Joe Lynch vs Jole Schwartz, 10 rounds, at Scranton.

Pete Hartley vs Shamus O'Brien, 12 rounds, at Yonkers.

TILDEN AND PARTNER HAVE HARD WORK IN DOUBLES

Brookline, Mass., March 14.—The new mixed doubles tennis combination of William T. Tilden, 2nd., national singles champion and Miss Brenda Hedstrom, of Buffalo, N. Y., taking the place of the Tilden-Mrs. Molla B. Mallory team which has won the national mixed doubles indoor honors for two years, had a hard time getting through the first round of the title play today. Opposed by Edward T. Herndon, former Princeton captain, and Miss Elizabeth Bright, of Cambridge, Tilden and Miss Hedstrom lost the second set after they had brought it to deuce, and were forced to brilliant play in the third. The scores were 6-1, 5-7, 6-3.

The covered courts of the Longwood Cricket club were the scene of the competition in the national women's singles and national women's indoor championship tournaments also. The former went ahead to the third round with only a close match between Miss Lillian Scharman, of Brooklyn, and Miss Penelope Parkman, of Boston, to disturb the even advance on previous form, Miss Scharman winning in an extra set. In the doubles play, Miss Leslie Bancroft and Mrs. G. W. Wightman, joined another local team, Mrs. J. D. Corbiere and Mrs. W. M. Shoeman as semi-finalists, by victories today.

KNEPPER NOT TO GO TO ENGLAND WITH GOLFERS

Princeton, N. J., March 14.—Rudoph Knepper, captain of the Princeton golf team will not accompany the American golf team to England in May, it was announced today. Knepper was invited to make the trip by the National Golf Association and participate in the Walker matches which are to be international in scope.

University officials, it is said, hold that the trip would interfere with Knepper's scholastic program. Following this judgment by the officials, Knepper telegraphed Bob Gardner, of Chicago, who is to captain the Americans abroad, that he would be unable to go.

Knepper holds the trans-Mississippi and Iowa state golf titles and was semi-finalist in the national amateur tournament last fall.

50. MANCHESTER SOCCER TEAM AT TAFTVILLE SATURDAY

South Manchester will come to Taftville a week from next Saturday and soccer football fans are anticipating one of the fastest matches ever played on the Providence street grounds. The visitors are probably one of the strongest teams that ever played here, and they are known throughout the state as an organization which is hard to beat. Taftville has built up a good defense, infusing a little new blood, etc., so that the lineup is now well balanced. The local team has been to some little trouble and expense to bring this fast team to Taftville and the management hopes that local people will turn out in good style to see the fight.

MISS COLLET AND KERRIGAN ARE WINNERS

Bellair Heights, Fla., March 14.—Miss Glenna Collett, national women's champion, and Tommy Kerrigan, Shinnecock Hills, defeated Miss Bernice Wall, of Oshkosh, Wis., and Johnny Farrell, Quaker Ridge, by ten points and nine to play on the Bellair links today, high and low ball counting.

Miss Collett during a round made a seventy-seven and equalled the record of the course for women players, which is held by Miss Edith Cummings.

AUSTRALIA NOT A SERIOUS CONTENDER FOR DAVIS CUP

London, March 14.—An exchange despatch from Melbourne says it is problematical whether Australia will make a serious attempt to capture the Davis cup this year.

Gerald L. Patterson, J. O. Anderson, Pat O'Harra Wood and R. C. Werthim, the 1922 Davis cup team, it adds, are unavailable and "probably fledglings will be selected with a view to gaining experience for further contests."

Columbia Grapplers Win

Princeton, N. J., March 14.—The Columbia wrestling team defeated Princeton here tonight, 16 to 3. The New Yorkers took five and the Tigers two bouts.

MILLION DOLLAR CORPORATION TO PROMOTE BOXING

New York, March 14.—A $1,500,000 corporation has been formed to conduct boxing bouts at the Polo grounds, home of the New York Giants, and to be controlled largely by directors of the ball club, it was announced tonight by Tom O'Rourke, boxing promoter. He will be matchmaker of the new organization. Papers of incorporation were ready tonight to be filed in Albany.

Luis Angel Firpo, the Argentine heavyweight who knocked out Bill Brennan Monday night in a bout arranged as a stepping stone for the winner to a match with Champion Jack Dempsey, may be one of the first men to box for the new club.

A $25,000 purse has been offered him for a match, between him and Jim Herman, of Omaha, Neb., on June 2.

The club, to be known as the Polo Grounds Athletic Association, Inc., will take over the lease which the Republic Athletic club has on the grounds, now cancelled by mutual consent. The Republic club will seek the privilege of conducting bouts in the 22nd Regiment armery, one of the largest amphitheatres in the city.

Matches between Eugene Criqui and Johnny Kilbane for the world's featherweight championship, which he has arranged for June 2, and between Pancho Villa and Jimmy Wilde, for the world's flyweight championship, at a date to be decided upon, will be held at the Polo Grounds as originally planned, Mr. O'Rourke said.

The Firpo-Herman match is intended as an added attraction to the Criqui-Kilbane bout.

The new corporation, said Mr. O'Rourke, will be a subsidiary of the National Exhibition company and he, as matchmaker, will occupy a position in the boxing phase similar to that of John J. McGraw as vice president and manager of the baseball club.

ATHLETIC RULES OBSERVED BETTER THAN OTHER LAWS

Chicago, March 13—Athletic rules are far better observed than the law of land, according to Major John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics of the "Big Ten" conference, who spoke here today before the meeting called by the Rotary club to lay plans for bringing the Olympic games to Chicago.

"If a college does not observe the conference rules, it is blacklisted," said Major Griffith. "If an athlete tries to evade the rules he is soon listed as a mucker and does not last."

BOSTON SEXTETTE TAKES SECOND LEG AT HOCKEY

St. Paul, Minn., March 14.—The Boston Athletic Association team won the second leg on the championship of the United States Amateur Hockey association tonight, defeating St. Paul in the second of a five game series, 1 to 0.

Looking for Bouts Here.

Al Cassidy writes that he would like to match Billy Carney with Dave Pallitz, Billy Wells, Dave Shade or Mike Morley in a ring in this part of the state. Local fight fans have seen Carney in action at Mystic several times and know he is a boy that would give any contender a battle. Al has the following boys under his wing: Steve Malone, 105 lbs.; Young Carney, 112 lbs.; Al Perry, 118 lbs.; Paul Demers, 118 lbs.; Frankie Ketchet, 120 lbs.; Toney Britt, 122 lbs.; Jack Sharkey, 124 lbs.; Young Falvey, 124 lbs.; Paul Terry, 130 lbs.; Tommy Flanagan, 130 lbs.; Billy Carney, 145 lbs.; Jack Coffey, 150 lbs.; Jack Dillon, 156 lbs.

Wagenknecht to Lead Brown Five

Providence, R. I., March 14.—William H. Wagenknecht, of Adams, Mass., was today elected captain of the Brown University basketball team for 1923-24. Wagenknecht has played right forward on the Brown five for two seasons and is one of the best goal shooters the Bears have had in some years. He is a junior and a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

Harvard Starts Football on 20th

Cambridge, Mass., 13—Spring football practice will be begun at Harvard on March 20, it was announced tonight. Coach Robert T. Fisher may be unable to direct spring training, it was said, owing to other business. His place will be taken, in such case, by Dr. D. C. Parmenter, an instructor in the medical school.

Chinks Have Fast Team

Cambridge, Mass., March 14.—Former members of the Tsing-Hau basketball team, intercollegiate champions of China, compose an all Chinese team at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The team has been successful in almost every game this winter. Most of its members are barred from varsity competition by the one-year eligibility rule.

EASY WEEKLY PAYMENTS

Spring Opening

EASY WEEKLY PAYMENTS

Newest Styles On Easiest Credit Terms

Spring Clothes for all the family. You can select whatever you wish, and arrange payments to suit your own convenience.

Women's Department
Stunning Wraps
Smart Capes
Tricotine Suits
Polo Coats
Overplaid Coats
Silk Crepe Dresses
Egyptian Crepe Dresses
Poiret Twill Dresses

Men's Department
Staple Suits
Jazz Suits
Norfolk Suits
Spring Topcoats
Light Overcoats
Boys' Suits and Coats

ALL BUSINESS STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL EVERY CUSTOMER SATISFIED

GATELY & BRENNAN

29 SHETUCKET STREET NORWICH, CONN.

HOPPE RETAINS HIS BILLIARD TITLE TRIMMING SCHAEFER IN FINAL BLOCK

New York, March 14.—Willie Hoppe, world 18.2 balk line billiard champion retained his title tonight, defeating Jake Schafer, challenger, 1500 points to 1341.

Hoppe, defeated 500 to 277 Monday night in the first block of the match, overcame Schaefer's lead last night, reaching the 1,000 point mark while the challenger was counting to 994. The champion ran his final 500 points tonight in 12 innings.

Resuming from his unfinished run of 99 in the second block tonight, Hoppe counted 43 before missing. He took a long lead in the third inning with a run of 156. Schaefer, a marvelous shot maker, made the highest run of the match in his fifth inning, 344, and drew to within 30 counts of Hoppe. The title holder pulled away with a run of 113 in his ninth inning and was never headed.

Hoppe, first two blocks: 156, 2, 96, 113, 43, 4, 2, 0, 55, 21—500 Average for block, 41 4-12. High runs, 156, 113. Grand average 34 8-44.

Schaefer, first two blocks: 994: 3, 0, 0, 1, 344, 1, 35, 26, 0, 39, 6—847. Average for block 31 6-11. High runs, 344 and 37. Grand average 31 3-43.

By his victory, one of the most thrilling in the annals of the sport, Hoppe not only continues as world's champion but gains permanent possession of the diamond medal emblematic of his title and takes the $1,000 side wager made between himself and the vanquished challenger.

Hoppe now is not subject to challenge and before a new attempt to take his title from him is made it is expected a new trophy will be offered. The champion regained the title from Schaefer last November in an unprecedented comeback in the most

O'Hearn, Yale Hockey Captain

New Haven, March 14.—Charlie O'Hearn, of Brookline, Mass., star forward on the Yale hockey team, tonight was elected captain for the 1924 season. William Hutchinson Cowles, Jr., of Spokane, Wash., was elected manager, while John P. Gould, of New York city, was elected assistant manager.

Tigers Beat Bulldogs

New Haven, March 14.—Coming from behind in the second half, Princeton tonight defeated Yale, intercollegiate champions, 29 to 26 in a fast intercollegiate game. This is Yale's second defeat of the season. Loeb of Princeton made four field goals and eight out of nine fouls, while Pite of Yale shot seven field goals.

Martin and Montreal Fight Draw

Providence, R. I., March 13—Terry Martin and Young Montreal, Providence bantamweights, fought to a draw in a 12-round bout here tonight. Referee Harry Ertle's decision received the approval of the fans.

Yale Water Polo Team to Play

New Haven, March 14.—The Yale water polo team, runner-up in the intercollegiate swimming league, will play a post-season game with the New York Athletic club at New York tomorrow night.

Firpo Calls on Brennan

New York, March 14.—Firpo, with his secretary and interpreter, was among the callers at the hospital tonight. Upon ascertaining Brennan's condition he left. At his residence his friends said he "feels very badly about the condition of Senor Brennan."

Exhibition Game

Leesburg, Fla., March 14.

St. Louis (National	9	11	1
Phila., (Nationals)	5	14	4

Wiggington, Sell, Pertica and McCurdy, Ainsmith; Ring, Head, Hubbell and Henline, Wilson.

Shubert Beats Kapian

Hartford, March 14.—"Al" Shubert, of New Bedford, Mass., won the decision of Referee Billy Moran, of New London, over "Kid" Kaplan, of Meriden, in a 12-round bout here tonight.

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

University of Rochester limits its baseball games to eight engagements.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology has begun a campaign for a $1,000,000 gymnasium.

Northern California amateur championship will be held at the Berkeley Country club April 25 to 29.

Harvard has declined an invitation from the University of Waseda to visit Japan next May.

Clark Griffith, president of the Washington ball club, never was more optimistic than this year.

Foxcatcher Street, a foxhound, took best of sporting breeds at the recent Maryland Kennel Club show.

In southern practice and tournament matches it was noticed that Glenna Collett is a bit off her iron play.

Golf is rapidly becoming an important college sport. It will not be long before a golf course will be a requirement for a college as a football field.

will be national affairs. University of California and one of the Pacific northwestern colleges will enter teams.

Sixty-two breeds will be represented in the Mississippi Valley Kennel club show, to be held at St. Louis March 26-28.

Of the 50 candidates who are continuing to report to Coach Ray Fisher for indoor baseball practice at Michigan, nearly half are pitchers.

The annual race for the cruiser championship of America will be held on the lower Delaware river, starting from the Philadelphia Yacht club August 4.

Michigan's basketball quintet scored 418 points as against its opponents' 244 in the 15 games of the season just ended.

Bill Johnston, Howard and Robert Kinsey will be among tennis stars to play in the tourney at the Ambassador, Los Angeles, March 15 to 18.

Birmingham, Ala., recently benched more than 400 dogs at the annual show. It is said this is the largest show held in the south in years.

The American Distance Runners association of New York City will conduct a series of weekly road races. It will be a method of developing Olympic talent.

A new stand to seat 4,000 is being added to the Wimbledon grounds where the annual tennis tourney begins June 25. The seating capacity of 15,000 has been sold.

Many western tennis champions have turned golfers. Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, Maurice McLaughlin, former national comets, are regulars on the links. McLaughlin is consistently under the 80 mark.

Japanese team will be a strong factor in the Davis cup meet. The personnel includes Ichiya Kumagae, Zenzo Shimizu, Seiichiro Kashio and Fukuto, a new tennis star who is the present Japanese champion.

Alabama leads all states in producing champion field trial dogs. One of the reasons is that Alabama holds more field trials than any other state.

The color of tennis racket gut is no indication of its quality. The best or the poorest gut may be made in any color. The new silk string is this year's feature. It is thought that it will prove a desirable substitute for lamb's gut and the claim is that one stringing will last an entire season.

It is conceded that Americans are better putters than the British. To stimulate British putting a $2,500 purse is offered at the Waton Heath championship April 25.

Toronto junior soccer players have decided upon a system of insurance. A charge of $1 will be made at the time each player is registered and in return the player will receive, when necessary, medical attention.

Khadot, the aborigine outfield recruit picked up by Cleveland, has been released outright to Saginaw. Speaker figures the Indian will never bat up to major league standards.

Chicago wants the 1924 American Bowling Congress championships.

S. Davison Herron, former U. S. amateur golf champion, will be a member of the American team which will go to England in May.

The ways of college players are strange. The Cubs and Cardinals sought the services of Charles Palmer, star pitcher of Northwestern University two years ago. Palmer refused the major league offers but has accepted one with Milwaukee.

Chicago White Sox and world champion Giants will start their 19-game series at San Antonio Saturday, March 17. After various games throughout the sunny south they will conclude with games at the Polo grounds April 14-15.

McGill university, Montreal, will hold the first Dominion of Canada athletic track and field championships for school boys over 13 and below the junior matriculation class May 26.

The bout between Spencer Gardner and Jack ("Kid") Wolf, which was scheduled for the Commonwealth Sporting club March 17, has again been put back. Wolf has consented to box Gardner on the 24th. This is the fifth time this match has been postponed.

Roy Corhan, once a major league infielder but now in retirement, is being coaxed back into the game by Vernon, which is badly in need of veterans in the infield in order to have the necessary strength to cope with San Francisco in the Pacific Coast league race.

You Catch Cold Easily?

When you allow your strength to rundown and your body becomes weakened and susceptible, that is just the time that you invite the cold and cough that follows germ-infection. Keep your body strong and well nourished — take as a means of guarding against the breaking down of the resistive powers of the body. The rich, energizing qualities of Scott's Emulsion are quickly digested, and it is assimilated by a few [illegible]

SCOTT'S EMULSION

NORWICH BULLETIN and Courier

127 YEARS OLD

Norwich, Thursday, March 13, 1924

CIRCULATION
WEEK ENDING MARCH 10th, 1924
11,708

STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION.

The people of the state as well as the members of the general assembly may well be interested in the efforts that are being made to make the highway commission a body of from three to eight members in place of the single-headed commissionership of today.

This has been brought to a head by the resignation of Commissioner Bennett, whose services have been of a high order. Commissioner Bennett leaves the position because he has accepted a position paying more money with a private corporation. He had been urged to remain under a reappointment but considered this the time to take the step that he had contemplated for some time.

This forthcoming vacancy has raised the question as to whether it is advisable to attempt to change the form of the commission at this time, and yet the large amount of business that is handled by the highway commissioner at the present time makes it necessary to consider whether one man can take care of it with the proper degree of efficiency.

There has developed no difficulties under the present method of administering the highway system of the state so but what, if Commissioner Bennett had been willing to accept a reappointment, the present one-headed commission would have been continued. That being the case it is wise at the present time to launch out on a new scheme without any particular reason for it, or perhaps going more thoroughly into the matter than can be done at a legislative hearing?

What Connecticut wants is good roads, and it wants the work of building and maintaining them efficiently done. It wants to get and see 100 per cent results from the money put into them. The investments are large and they should be properly safeguarded. With no dissatisfaction manifested for the present method of administering the system good and sufficient reasons should be set forth before any radical and uncertain plan is resorted to. Don't play with it and don't make it a political football.

PAY FOR OUR RHINE FORCES.

There were those who were doing their utmost to get this country to cancel the debts contracted by other countries during the war. It was not a good business proposition and it did not succeed. Arrangements for the payment of the debt has been made by Great Britain and more recently little Finland has stepped forward and announced that it would liquidate its indebtedness on the same terms. It is the course that others can be expected to follow.

Nevertheless there are those who have been endeavoring to have this country agree to consider the German vessels that were seized at the opening of the war as part payment for the cost of maintaining our army on the Rhine. It is not a plan that this country is disposed to approve.

As the result of the armistice the several countries were to maintain an army on the Rhine, the expenses of which were to be paid by Germany. Those armies were maintained, and at the solicitation of the others, including Germany, the American forces were kept there longer than might otherwise have been considered necessary. The expense of maintaining our forces on the Rhine amounted to over $350,000,000. In such payments as Germany has made for the Rhine armies the allies have taken it all for themselves. The United States has as yet received nothing, but it is now seeking an understanding from the reparations commission concerning the payments. Perhaps greater interest is being shown in this matter just now because of the fact that Germany has stopped payments. What this country wants is that it shall be allotted its share when payments are collected or resumed. It has specified 5 claims which calls for reconsideration and there is no reason why it should be discriminated. It is to be expected that the legitimacy of this claim will be recognized by the allied nations and this country get its right apportionment. The fact that we collected the Versailles quota may be raised but this payment was provided for under the armistice.

FIGHTING THE RUM RUNNERS.

Ways of beating the Volstead act have been found as is easily the case. It's little trouble to apprehend those the authorities encounter in importing it, but while modern methods are drawing their stock of information from the authorities it would appear that the problem of stopping it one that is rapidly developing.

While there may be the disposition to rule the rumrunners out of the large field of 110 gunners with a grain of salt, there should be no doubt that large quantities of liquor are being brought into the country from across the three-mile limit of not a few coasts. Although the methods of the rumrunners are not always understood it is quite evident that they are not always successful in getting their cargoes ashore. Many have been the instances where the coast guard vessels have overhauled suspected craft and found nothing but a few cases of liquor for the personal use of the crew. Then there are the cases where the rumrunners have been overhauled and the liquor found to be of the best quality and in large quantities. Then there are the cases where the rumrunners have been overhauled and the liquor found to be of the best quality and in large quantities. Then there are the cases where the rumrunners have been overhauled and the liquor found to be of the best quality and in large quantities.

[illegible] method of transportation [illegible] the rumrunners [illegible] the coast guard vessels [illegible] the rumrunners [illegible] the coast guard vessels [illegible] the rumrunners [illegible] the coast guard vessels

For Colds, Influenza and as a Preventive

Take

The First and Original Cold and Grip Tablet

The box bears this signature

E. W. Grove

30c.

PROCEEDS OF $1,400 FOR GROTTO FROM GLORIOUS GIRL

Net proceeds of $1,400 will be realized by Namrod Grotto from "The Glorious Girl," the musical comedy that was so successfully presented at Broadway theatre for a matinee and two nights this week.

Director Clark Munson who had charge of the production here will go to Schenectady, N. Y., and after that will be in charge of a production of "The Glorious Girl," at Titusville, Pa.

BRIEF STATE NEWS

Shelton.—The board of education has decided upon a high rental for the new high school auditorium for public purposes. It was voted by the board to make the rental for public occasions $30 or $50 per night.

Ansonia.—Fire Chief Thomas Shortell is still conducting his investigation into the fire which early Wednesday morning destroyed the German hall building located on Maple street and caused a loss of about $30,000.

Hartford.—Daniel J. Mahoney, a real estate dealer and former member of the democratic town and state committees, was the choice of the democratic committee of the Fifth ward for the nomination of alderman.

Hartford. — Mayor Kinsella will avoid the appearance of being a "daylight saving rebel" by declining to influence the situation either officially or unofficially as to earlier hours and changing of clocks during the summer months, he said.

Milford.—The interior of the house, 59 Beach avenue, Walnut Beach, owned by Joseph M. Bedell, was thoroughly gutted by fire and Mr. Bedell is in the Milford hospital suffering with severe burns about the face and hands, received in attempting to extinguish the blaze.

Marnden.—The question of selecting a school building site or the advisibility of choosing one in the upper Dixwell avenue section has been left to the building committee of the school board. The committee will investigate the needs claimed in a petition presented to the board by Chas. Smith.

DIED

TUCKER—In Scotland, March 14, 1923, R. Hazard Tucker, aged 69 years.
Funeral private.

Helpful Hair Hints

A lady visiting friends says "Parisian sage is the best thing I ever used to make my hair wavy, lustrous and abundant. It keeps away all dandruff and stops itching." We guarantee it. Lee & Osgood Co.

The woman who knows and cares about the worth while things she buys for herself or her friends is a frequent caller at

CRANSTON'S

Where the latest and best in

Gift Merchandise

is constantly coming and going.

Call often—Buy as you need.

DAMASCUS STEEL PRODUCTS

Hack Saw Blades that don't break. Butcher Knives that a hammer won't break; sharpen with a file.

STEAK KNIVES
COLD CHISELS
PINCERS, PLIERS, ETC.

THE HOUSEHOLD

BULLETIN BUILDING
74 FRANKLIN STREET
TELEPHONE 191-4

VARIOUS MATTERS

Lights tonight at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

Mooseheart Legion whist at the Moose home tonight at 8.15.—adv.

Today (Thursday) is the last day for filing federal income tax returns.

Look for the new Victor Page aircooled cars running around Norwich.—adv.

Articles of association have been filed by the Club Aurelio Saffi of New Haven.

Congressman Richard P. Freeman is expected to be able to return home from Washington some time during the first week in April.

The U. S. civil service commission announces that applications for assistant radio engineer will be rated as received until May 1. Entrance salary is $2,000-$2,000.

There is much activity being shown by the Westerly Girl Scouts who are doing their best to make the celebration of the National Girl Scout week a success.

Arthur N. Nash, grand high priest of the state chapter of Masons of the state of Connecticut, is in Providence attending the grand chapter meeting of the state of Rhode Island.

A. B. Meredith, secretary of the state board of education, told the legislative appropriations committee that 3,900 Connecticut students went outside of Connecticut last year for college training.

Ex-service men at the Connecticut Agricultural College have organized a club for the benefit of veterans studying at Storrs. The society will be independent of the American Legion.

Notices have been posted at the factory of the Eagle Clock Company, Terryville, stating that an increase of 10 per cent. in wages will be given to piece workers and approximately 10 per cent. to day workers.

Initiation by past exalted rulers Thursday night at Elks. Social session.—adv.

Due to alleged financial difficulties, the Hartford College Preparatory School and Hartford Business and Secretarial School have passed out of existence, leaving about sixty pupils with their March tuition paid in advance.

The marriage of Chief Electrician George H. Hartlein of the U. S. submarine S-35 of the submarine base, to Miss Ruth Simmonsen, daughter of Mrs. W. J. Castello, took place at the home of the bride, 801 Main street, Bridgeport, Tuesday.

If there should come several days of warm rain, there is serious danger of great floods in the Connecticut river valley, according to William W. Neifert, meteorologist of the Hartford station of the United States Weather Bureau.

Of special interest among the books recently received by the state library is a leather covered edition of Ensign and Thayers folding pocket map of the "western states" published in 1850, presented by C. W. Vibert of South Windsor.

Two models of the Victor Page aircooled cars are circulating in town. Watch for them.—adv.

With an enthusiastic number of members of the Groton Heights Baptist church in session Tuesday evening, at a special meeting held in the church it was voted to hold an every-member canvass. The canvass will take place on Sunday, March 25.

Henry Young, 88 years old, died on Saturday afternoon at his home on Tolland street. He was born on September 5, 1834, in Tolland, the son of Benjamin Lathrop Young and Betsy Edgerton Young, both of whom were natives of that town.

Of the 3,126,670 officers and men of the United States army examined for discharge up to January 1, 1920, only 600,000 veterans will be available in 1925 for Class No. 1 service. By 1930, only 422,000 will again be ready to enter the service for war.

Noank cod and flat, fresh caught eastern halibut, shad, shore haddock, clams, oysters, scallops, finnan haddie at Powers Bros.—adv.

Mrs. Smith, wife of Alex Smith, the professional golf instructor at the Shenecossett Country club during the summer months, won the handicap event of the annual championship tournament of the Belleair Sharks, on the links at Belleair, Fla., Tuesday.

The Flanders grange held an interesting meeting Tuesday evening. The lecturer's hour was taken up by songs. A discussion by Frank Harris and Benjamin Hislop on How to Clean House. An essay on the Gypsy and Brown Tail Moth by Mrs. Arthur Beebe.

Get a nice shad with roe at Broadway Fish market, nice steak of other fish also. 40 Broadway.—adv.

The Citizens' Loan Co. of Hartford has filed a certificate of incorporation with the secretary of the state. The company is incorporated for $50,000. The incorporators are Samuel Cohn, Harry D. Cohn, Nathan Witkin and Robert M. Wallock of Hartford.

Damages to poultry amounting to $80.25, were ordered to be paid at the regular monthly meeting of the South Kingstown town council. Last month $42.25 was paid for dog damage, and the figures show that there are a large number of stray animals in the town.

At Deep River Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Fisher celebrated on March 9 at their home the 50th anniversary of their wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Fisher are both natives of England and resided in that country until nine years ago, when they went to Deep River to reside.

Word was received in Niantic Monday announcing the death of Mrs. Daniels' sister, Mrs. William Norton, at her home in Guilford Monday afternoon from an attack of heart trouble. Mrs. Norton was well known in Niantic where she had spent a large part of her early life.

Retaliation for the imposing of a gasoline tax on the Hartford police department may result, in a strong "come back" calling for a special tax payment to the Hartford department by the state police, if recommendations discussed at a meeting of the police board materialize.

Fort H. G. Wright, at Fisher's Island, has been named as a training post for national guard units this summer, by Adjt. Gen. Stevens. This post will be used by artillery units from Sept. 8 to Sept. 22. It is expected that the 349th Co., C. A. C., R. I. N. G., will be assigned to this fort.

The U. S. submarine S-48 did approximately $1,000 worth of damage when it plowed headlong into the dock of the Groton Lumber Co. at 10.30 o'clock Wednesday morning. The undersea craft struck the pier with so much force that it was enveloped in the wooden part of the wharf.

Nature rarely fails to give a woman of vivid imagination a tongue to go with it.

FUNERALS.

Mrs. Thomas Lindsay.

Funeral services for Mrs. Thomas Lindsay were held Wednesday afternoon from the home of her nephew, Frank C. Schofield of Moosup City, relatives and friends attending from Philadelphia, Westerly, Norwich and other places. There were many floral tributes. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Ayers and during the service Rev. and Mrs. Ayers sang The City Foursquare.

Burial was in the Raymond Hill cemetery where Rev. Mr. Ayers conducted a committal service. The bearers were S. C. and Raymond Schofield, William Baker and George H. Bradford.

Arrangements were by Henry Allen & Son Co.

Walenty Garfish.

The funeral of Walenty Garfish took place Wednesday morning from his home at 30 Cove street, followed by services at St. Joseph's church, Rev. I. V. Maciejewski officiating. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery where a committal service was read by Rev. Peter Sroka. The bearers were personal friends.

Shea & Burke were in charge of the arrangements.

Miss Clara Louise Breed.

(Contributed.)

Funeral services for Miss Clara Louise Breed were held at the home of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Wilson of Ansonia, Westerly, R. I., Saturday, Feb. 24, at 1 o'clock. Rev. Roderick MacLeod of Hanover, Conn., a personal friend, conducted the service.

The large attendance and many floral tributes bespoke the high regard and affection in which Miss Breed was held. The bearers were the husbands of four cousins, Charles S. Noyes, Jr., Westerly, R. I.; Joseph S. Adams, Norwich; Frank E. Wilcox and John Seymour, both of Westerly, R. I.

The body was laid to rest in the family lot in Evergreen cemetery, Stonington, where Rev. Mr. MacLeod conducted the committal service.

Miss Breed was the only child of Henry E. and Harriet Pendleton Breed, and granddaughter on her father's side of Phebe P. Hewitt. Her mother died a few weeks before Clara's fifth birthday. At an early age she took up the duties of homemaker for her father to whom she turned, not in vain, for mother love as well as father care. After attending the local school Clara entered the Wheeler school in North Stonington. She kept house for her father and drove four miles to the school. In 1910, she graduated from the Wheeler school in a class of nine of whom she is the first to pass on. She entered the Lawrence and Memorial hospital to train as a nurse, but realizing how much her father missed and needed her she came home. In the winter of 1914, during an icy wind storm, Mr. Breed had a severe fall which rendered him partially helpless. The farm was sold and they moved into a cottage in Westerly where for the next seven years Clara devoted herself to her father with cheerfulness and patience.

Dec. 6, 1920, Mr. Breed passed away and the home was broken up. Coming to Norwich, Miss Breed was for a time in the employ of the National Drug Store and then was employed by the Boston Store in the apparel shop. While in Norwich she made her home with Mr. and Mrs. John Browning of West Town street. Mrs. Browning is a daughter of a half-sister.

Early in 1922 she went to Hartford and was nurse to a resident there. The past winter she has been in Windsor and here in her unselfish effort to help another, she contracted a severe cold which developed into pneumonia. She was taken to the Hartford hospital where, in spite of the unusual interest taken by the doctors and nurses, she passed away Tuesday evening, Feb. 20.

Miss Breed was a young woman of remarkable courage, bearing the trials and reverses of life with cheerful fortitude. She was a genial companion and lived up to her aim of making those about her happier.

REV. A. H. ABBOTT SPEAKS BEFORE COLLEGE CLUB

The March meeting of the Norwich College club was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. J. Donohue on Peskins avenue.

About forty members were in attendance. In the absence of the president and vice president the business session was presided over by Mrs. Arthur L. Peale.

Rev. Alexander Hewes Abbott of the United Congregational church was the speaker of the afternoon. His address on "Public Opinion," handled in a most scholarly and masterful way, gave his hearers a keen insight into a subject which is one of the foremost in the minds of the thinking people today. A splendid philosophy and a thorough understanding of community needs characterized his able presentation.

Mrs. Charles Tyler Bard, accompanied by Henry La Fontaine, rendered most pleasingly, the lively number, "Until You Come," by Metcalf, responding with an encore number, "My Dear Jerusha," by Jessie Gaynor.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess during the social hour which closed the afternoon programme.

Given Birthday Party.

A birthday party was held Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pysyk of Hamilton avenue in honor of the birthday of Matilda Pysyk, their oldest daughter. Refreshments were served by the hostess, and piano selections were rendered by Miss Helen Strenkowski. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in playing games.

Those present were the Misses Helen Strenkowski, Katherine Greendiewski, Mary Konza, Anna Peduce, Maria Peduce, Pearl Bryman, Walentine Pysyk, Matilda Pysyk. The young hostess received many useful gifts.

Trinity Methodist Missionary Meeting

The Women's Home Missionary society of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Francis Bidwell, No. 70 McKinley avenue, a large number of members being present. Following the meeting a social hour was enjoyed after which the members gathered in the dining room, where after singing the hymn, Blest Be the Tie That Binds, and a blessing invoked by District Superintendent William H. Bath, a delightful supper was enjoyed and all declared Mrs. Bidwell to be an excellent hostess.

Red Cross $15,517.26

Jubilation reigned in the Salvation Army headquarters Wednesday night when the campaign for the $14,000 building and budget fund closed with a $500 margin to the good. The final day of the campaign which has been so successfully managed with Harry E. Clark as campaign chairman brought the figure to $15,517.26.

There is quite a bit more to come in yet and the predictions Wednesday night that when there amounts are received the closing total will be very near to $16,000.

Team Reports

The following were the team reports Wednesday night:

Team	Captain	Totals
1	Mrs. Wm. H. Dawley	$ 357.50
2	Mrs. Joseph W. Curtis	793.25
3	Mrs. Arthur L. Peale	258.00
4	Miss Susie Gallup	1,123.00
5	Mrs. Harry M. Clark	536.50
6	Mrs. J. N. Rosenberg	126.50
7	Mrs. A. W. Foster	149.31
8	Unattached	72.05
	Chains—
	Mrs. H. E. Higgins	203.81
	Mrs. A. R. Blackledge	142.90
	Miss Coughlin	12.00
	A. M. E. Zion Church	6.25
	Mrs. Raymond B. Sherman	24.00
	Norwich Town	72.00
	Mrs. J. E. Ready	14.75
	Mrs. Buckingham	8.50
	East Side	70.50
9	Edwin H. Baker, Jr.	630.00
10	Russell A. Clapp, Jr.	151.00
11	Louis M. Crandall	458.95
12	George Finn	617.65
13	Robert H. Montgomery	182.50
14	Frank R. Murdy	297.00
15	Albert F. Noren	69.00
16	Ernest O. Rodier	493.00
17	Abner Schwartz	809.20
18	Patrick F. Sweeney	501.25
19	Salvation Army	2,787.00
20	Unattached	767.00
21	Lodges, etc.	557.00
	Sundries	2,396.00
	Grand Total	$15,517.26

Contributors

The following are contributors of $5 and upward:

Mrs. Lyman J. Coblegh, Carpenter Mfg. Co. (employees).
J. Donovan.
A Friend.
A Friend.
Miss Lucy C. Geer, Cosgrove's Cleaning and Dyeing.
Louise R. Higgins, Dr. and Mrs. Howe.
Rev. Father Keefe.
Ladies' Aid society of the Third Baptist church, Ladies Aid Society of the Leffingwell Bozrah Baptist church, Mrs. H. M. Leroe, Mrs. Celia Lester, Miss Ella Lester, Long Society School, Norwich, M. F. Land.
New England Chemical Co., Mrs. G. Reid Noyes, John Champlin Noyes, Mrs. A. Mico.
Pitcher & Service, Preston Bros Co. H. Hussey Reed.
Sadolitas Circle of the United Congregational church, Social Corner Writers Club, No. 2, Mrs. Anna Spicer.
Wauregan Lodge, No. 8, K. of P., Miss B. Williams, Wm. Wheeler.
Vaughn Iron Foundry (employees.)

Campaign Notes

Headquarters issued the final campaign notes:

Well it's over, friends, and we're rejoicing in complete victory. Naturally we feel very nice about it and want to whisper words of thanks to everyone concerned. Well done, Norwich, again you have not failed us.

Thanks children of the Long society school for your gifts of $6.03. And to the Carpenter Mfg. Co.'s employees for sending $67 we extend our heartiest thanks. Nice of Vaughn Iron company's employees to send $11 and we're equally glad to receive it.

If we've missed anyone, remember to bear with our infirmity and believe that for everyone that has helped us we have a genuine feeling of gratitude. So cheerup.

Very good work Norwich Commercial school to loan us office furniture, typewriters, etc., and when we mention quite innocently, what about charges, to reply, "that's all right."

The women's total is $4,470.52; very wonderful and cause for sincere congratulation. When you get the chance, do it again and lighten the burdens of others, as you have for us.

In closing the chapter, we are not unmindful of the quiet but efficient work of our treasurer, Arthur E. Story and tender him our homage and thanks. "Au revoir Norwich," we'll not forget you.

STATE NEEDS PROTECTION AGAINST FOREST FIRES

One of the many things that Connecticut needs is more adequate protection against forest fires that take a heavy toll from the state's natural resources each year, said Henry Baldwin, secretary of the Connecticut Forestry association, in an address at the weekly luncheon of the Norwich Rotary club at the Wauregan hotel on Wednesday noon. Mr. Baldwin in his talk said that while the damage done by forest fires did not appear glaring on the surface there were many indirect losses that amounted to a large sum during the year. Connecticut today has 1,000,000 acres less of developed farm land than in 1880 and that there is approximately 2,000,000 acres of waste land in Connecticut.

In New London county alone there is approximately 72 per cent of undeveloped land, land that is practically useless either for timber land or agricultural purposes. The forest or woodland is an asset in more ways than one. Besides being simply a source of revenue from timber cut, it adds to the beauty of the state and attracts outside people to come to Connecticut and take up summer homes; it prevents erosion and increases and preserves the water supply of the state, and in numerous other ways benefits the state. The restoration of the waste lands and the reforesting of the depleted woodlands is something that should interest Connecticut people as an investment for the state.

In the state there is an average of 300 to 1,000 forest fires every year and many acres are burned over. The fire hazard while not as great as in the north and west is something that commands attention. Banks refuse to loan on waste land and burned over acreage; owners will not try to improve the land while there is danger of its destruction by fire; people will not build and there is a general depression felt throughout the state either directly or indirectly. There must be cooperation among the land owners and they must be made to realize the great detriment caused by careless forest fires and they must be educated in the means of preventing such fires. There should be more fire lookouts in the state, more and better equipment for fighting the fires and it is for this purpose that the Connecticut Forestry association is seeking new members and inaugurating an educational campaign.

Grosvenor Ely, a member of the New London county committee, spoke in hearty approval of the work being done by the association and urged membership in the organization.

At the business session Vice President Hugh B. Campbell presided and Eben Learned was the song leader. Charles R. Butts, custodian of the John S. Blackmar Boys' fund, reported a steady growth of the fund which is nearing the $500 mark. There have been many outside contributions to this fund.

E. Larue Bliven, chairman of the spring conference committee, reported that about twenty members of the local club would attend the conference at New Haven Thursday and Friday. Those who will attend the opening session today (Thursday) are Grosvenor Ely, William G. Park, Dr. Hugh B. Campbell, Dr. C. A. Spear, Charles A. Saxton, Joseph C. Worth, Dr. Alfred Richards, Lucius Briggs, J. Nelson Weymouth, Alfred Bliven, George L. Ingalls and C. A. Gager, Jr. Others will attend on Friday.

An evening paper published in New Haven on Wednesday carried a two-column story regarding the conference and at the head of the column were two cuts, one supposed to be J. N. Weymouth, secretary of the local club, but over Mr. Weymouth's name was the picture of Arthur M. Brown of Jewett City, also a member of the local club. Mr. Weymouth said he wasn't a bit sore as he thought Arthur was a more handsome man than himself.

The musical part of the program was exceptional as the Lotus Male Quartette that sang at the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday evening rendered several fine selections. The members of the quartette were the guests of the club and were very generous with their singing, their generosity only being exceeded by the quality of their voices.

Favoring Soldier Bonus Bill.

Representative A. W. Lillibridge of Norwich was among those recorded in favor of the soldiers' bonus bill at the hearing in Hartford Wednesday. Representatives Laramie of Windham and Hyde of Brooklyn also registered in its favor.

Girls would rather sing soprano than alto because it is higher toned.

LOTUS MALE QUARTETTE GAVE SPLENDID CONCERT

The Lotus Male Quartette gave a splendid concert Wednesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. the last of the "Y" entertainment series, and played to a capacity house. The Lotus Quartette has appeared in this city on several occasions and has always presented a programme of the highest type, and their programme Wednesday night was no exception. Every member was an artist and the solo numbers and quartette numbers were rendered in exceptionally fine style. With them was Miss Blanche Robinson, reader, whose various numbers involved much applause and she was repeatedly recalled for encores by a delighted audience.

As the closing number of the entertainment course the Y. M. C. A. could not have picked a better group of entertainers and everyone felt that the course this year was the best presented by the association.

During the programme Frederick W. Lester of Norwich accompanied on the piano.

Owing to throat trouble which developed early in the evening Frank Cannell, basso, was unable to sing his solo number, Up From Somerset, much to the regret of the audience that had anticipated the pleasure of by Robert Martin, first tenor who hearing him. The number was taken by Robert Martin, first tenor, who sang, Resignation.

The programme was as follows:

Onward	by Geibel
Lotus Quartette
Half Hour on the Beach	Ransom
Blanche Robinson
The Road to Mandalay	(Kipling)
Nelson Raymond
Night	King
Morning	King
Lotus Quartette
Poems	Blanche Robinson
Resignation—A Sacred Number
Robert Martin
A Calm Summer Night	Geibel
Lotus Quartette
The Proposal
Blanche Robinson
The Blind Plowman	Thomas
La Donna Mobile	Verdi
William Hicks
The Old Rugged Cross	Arranged
Lotus Quartette

RESIGNS AS SUPERINTENDENT AT NORWICH ALMSHOUSE

J. B. Chapman, who has been superintendent at the Norwich almshouse for the last 13 years, has presented his resignation to the selectmen, to take effect on the first of April. The resignation has been accepted after the selectmen had made an attempt to have Mr. Chapman reconsider, but he stated that he had decided to give up the work on account of his health. He will reside in Willimantic and give his time to looking after several pieces of property that he owns.

The selectmen accepted his resignation with much regret as he has, with Mrs. Chapman as matron, rendered most efficient service in charge of the almshouse.

Charles E. Ellis of East Great Plain has been engaged to succeed him, and Mrs. Ellis will be matron.

Management of the town farm at the almshouse has been one of the details in which Mr. Chapman has been particularly efficient. Mr. Ellis is also a farmer and this branch of the work will be well taken care of under Mr. Ellis as superintendent.

EXPECT TO TRANSFER PROHIBITION OFFICERS

On good authority it was learned Wednesday night that Connecticut prohibition enforcement officers are soon to be sent out on prohibition work in other states, while prohibition officers of those states will come into Connecticut to work.

In times past the prohibition officers have simply worked in their own states where they were assigned, but, according to the information received, this has given the evaders of the law a chance to acquaint themselves with all officers in the state and the work is not as satisfactory as it can be made by bringing in officers from other states who are unknown to the violators of the law.

Just when this new ruling will go into effect was not stated, but it was hinted that the time is not far distant.

Sent Cats to Sanatorium.

Dr. Hugh B. Campbell, superintendent of the Norwich State Tuberculosis sanatorium has written a leter of appreciation to a group of New London women, thanking them for their interest in his institution a short while ago when they presented to each inmate of the sanatorium a knitted cap.

Collinsville.—Robert A. Gaines had a finger cut off his right hand in a planing machine in the Collins Company's plant.

EVEN THE CHILDREN

don't mind coming to us. We make a specialty of treating children and nervous people. Our methods of are sympathetic, swift and sure. We have a modern equipment and are prepared to do all kinds of dentistry for you in a thoroughly up-to-date manner.

DENTAL WORK

Dr. P. A. Schwartz

ON THE SQUARE
X-RAY DIAGNOSIS
OXIDE GAS ADMINISTERED
Tel. 122 LADY ATTENDANT

Blaine; Killarney (between acts 2 and 3), Balfe, Sadie A. Driscoll.

Between the acts Rev. W. A. Keefe, pastor of the parish, thanked all who had assisted in any way in the production and invited the audience to attend the musical service at the church next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

Occupying boxes at the performance were Mayor and Mrs. Milo R. Waters, Rev. R. P. Morrissey and party from Plainfield, Rev. W. H. Kennedy of South Coventry, Rev. Rocco J. Guerro, Rev. J. C. Tyler of Jewett City, Rev. Henri Chagnon of Taftville, Rev. Frederick M. Coholan and Rev. Myles P. Galvin of this city.

The production was successfully carried out under direction of the following executive committee: Business manager, Rev. W. A. Keefe; stage manager, Edward T. Connelly; director, James E. Murphy; music and dances, Henry J. La Fontaine; accompanist, Miss Mary Bresnahan.

The seating arrangements were under the direction of Joseph Cyr, head usher, and the program boys were John Shea, Andrew Kirby, Daniel Driscoll, Ernest Disco and Thomas Riley.

NORTH LYME

Edward Laplace and Norris Joseph are repairing W. M. Sisson's tenant house.

W. M. Sisson, Jr., Mrs. W. M. Sisson and Mrs. Eva Tucker were callers at Mrs. H. A. Rogers' in Salem Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Strong and Mrs. Cora Rogers were in East Lyme Monday attending the funeral of Walter Champlin, a cousin of Mrs. Rogers.

H. Conway commenced work this week at the Trowbridge place in Old Lyme as gardener. Mr. Conway will move his family to Lyme about April 1st.

Artist Wiggins and family, with Mrs. May Daniels, go to New York this week for a two weeks' stay. Mr. Wiggins will exhibit a number of paintings while in the city.

Bulletin's Pattern Service

4304
A SPLENDID STYLE FOR SLENDER OR MATURE FIGURES

Figured and plain silk is combined in this design. One could use wool jersey or serge, with satin or crepe. Braid trimming or self bands will be pleasing for decoration.

The pattern is cut in seven sizes: 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches, bust measure. A 38-inch size requires 5 1-4 yards of 40-inch material. For collar, cuffs, belt and vest of contrasting material, 1 1-8 yards 40 inches wide is required. The width of the skirt at the foot is 2 1-2 yards.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

Send your order to The Bulletin Pattern Dept., 1133 Fulton St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

THIS HEALING CREAM WILL STOP CATARRH

CLOGGED AIR PASSAGES OPEN AT ONCE—NOSE AND THROAT CLEAR

If your nostrils are clogged and your head stuffed because of catarrh or a cold, get Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this pure, antiseptic, germ destroying cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head and membranes. Instant relief. How good it feels. Your head is clear. Your nostrils are open. You breathe freely. No more hawking or snuffling. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up, choked up and miserable. Relief is sure.

YOUR BABY WOULD APPRECIATE A NEW

CARRIAGE

THIS SPRING

New models of the famous "Whitney" line just received.

SULKIES and GO-CARTS
From $6.50 Up

CARRIAGES
Reed or Fibre
$20.00 and up

HOME FURNISHERS

N. S. Gilbert & Sons

Shetucket Street

THERE is no advertising medium in Eastern Connecticut equal to The Bulletin for business results.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Announcement was made here Wednesday of the confirmation of E. H. Keach to be postmaster at Danielson. The announcement was carried by the Congressional Record. Mr. Keach said he had not received his commission, although a congratulatory letter has come to him from United States Senator George P. McLean. Mr. Keach cannot tell at this time just when he will take up his duties as postmaster, but it may be as early as April 1, the beginning of a new quarter.

Mr. Keach has incorporated his business and it will be conducted by the same force of workers as are now employed, some of these employes having an interest in the concern under the incorporation agreement.

Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock funeral services for Israel Tetreault were held at his home on North Main street, Rev. C. C. Tibbetts of the Methodist church officiating. With harp accompaniment, Mrs. Esther S. Brown sang two hymns during the service — Lead Kindly Light, and Nearer My God to Thee. The service was attended by relatives and many friends. The body was placed in the receiving vault at Westfield cemetery. The bearers were F. E. Storer, J. H. Milligan, Herbert Chase, Frank L. Bennett, Thomas Allshaw, A. B. Simmons, and A. F. Wood was the funeral director.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Green, Maple street, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock funeral services for Mrs. Clara L. Bray were conducted by Rev. Walter R. Williams of the Westfield Congregational church and with relatives and many friends in attendance. This morning the body will be take to South Yarmouth, Mass., Mrs. Bray's former home, for burial. A. F. Wood is in charge of the funeral arrangements.

A suggestion has been made to game officials that patrols be put on the trout brooks in the territory just before the opening of the season that is near at hand in order that the usual stunt by a few of raiding the streams ahead of the regular fishing may be made as difficult as possible this year.

The suggestion includes a plan under which the game officials might have the help of a score or more observers, covering all the good brooks in the territory. Particular attention would be paid by these patrols to certain brooks that each year are being fished ahead of the opening of the season. Some of these brooks are in Killingly, others in Brooklyn.

It so happens that the last day in March this year comes on a Saturday. Saturday is a half or whole holiday for a great many people and among them are some who might fish the brooks. It is to guard against this, which happens from year to year, that the system of patrols has been suggested.

Getting out ahead of the opening of the season isn't fair to the fishermen who wait until they have a legal right to fish—and it is contrary to law. It is manifestly impossible for the few game officials to watch all the brooks in the territory for miles about, but with volunteer assistants these streams can be thoroughly covered.

Mrs. Christopher Andrews was quite painfully injured Wednesday afternoon when she fell down the cellar stairs at her home in the Riverview section. Early Wednesday evening, Mr. Andrews said that Mrs. Andrews was resting comfortably. She was given attention after being injured by Dr. F. T. Todd, who found it necessary to take stitches to close wounds in her face.

Mrs. Elizabeth J. Brennan, a life long resident at Dayville, died at her home in that place Wednesday. Mrs. Brennan had been in poor health for a long time and for some time past her condition was regarded as critical.

Mrs. Brennan, who before her marriage was Miss Elisabeth McEntee, was born inn this towan in 1862. She was one of the well known residents of Dayville and was highly respected for her devotion to her family, for her kindness of spirit and for her great industry in everything she undertook. She leaves four sons—Edward, manager of an A. & P. store at Southbridge; John, of Dayville; William, of Philadelphia, Terrance, of Southbridge, and a daughter, Miss Katherine Brennan of Dayville. Mrs. Brennan was the widow of John Brennan, who died a number of years ago.

Mrs. Justine Greenan Fisher, wife of Isiah Fisher, is dead at her home in Moosup. Mrs. Fisher, who was 38 years of age, passed away about midnight Tuesday. She was a native of Worcester. She is survived by her husband and three children.

St. James' school basketball team, which has been making a fine record throughout the present playing season, defeated the Danielson graded school team 33 to 15, Wednesday afternoon in a game played in the town hall. St. James held the advantage all through the game during which the graded school team tied the score but did not get into the lead. This is the second time that St. James has defeated the graded school this season. St. James is now laying claim to the graded school championship of Windham county and will accept challenges from any school team of that class disputing the claim.

The fact that Dugas has a lead of 26 pins to start with when he and Barber of Danielson open the second series of 10 games in their match at Taftville this (Thursday) evening lends a fine dash of doubt as to what the final outcome of this interesting affair is going to be. Barber's supporters feel sure that he will come through with a victory tonight, notwithstanding that the 10 games are to be rolled on Taftville alleys, where Dugas should be at his best. A number of bowling fans will make the trip to Taftville this evening that they be on hand for the decision in what is one of the most interesting bowling matches staged hereabouts in a long time.

Though it is a bit early to think with any pleasure of outdoor diversions such as summer brings, it is a sign of spring that a bowling agents for a big out door attraction was in Danielson Wednesday afternoon conferring with members of the fire department relative to an attraction for the early summer period. Such a show was staged here last year by the fire department and was successful.

Deputy Game Warden F. E. Kies said Wednesday that feeding of game birds is being kept up, as in large areas of country hereabouts the ground remains covered with snow and ice and that the best feeding places for many protected birds are still inaccessible for them. To the south conditions have become better during the past week and with the progress now being made it is likely that the furnishing of food can be stopped within another week or ten days.

The usual Lenten mid-week service will be held this (Thursday) evening at St. Alban's church.

Henry A. Brower of Springfield was a visitor with friends in Danielson on Wednesday.

Miss Katherine D. Aylward was at Norwich Wednesday attending a conference of S. N. R. T. company traffic department employes.

The last batch of income tax returns will go out today, and those who have not made such returns will be liable to a penalty.

PUTNAM

At the annual meeting of Putnam lodge of Elks Tuesday evening, officers were elected as follows: Exalted ruler, Archibald Macdonald, Jr.; esteemed leading knight, A. Chandon Sharpe; esteemed loyal knight, James B. Murray; esteemed lecturing knight, William H. Hughes; secretary, Thomas J. Howarth; treasurer, A. Newton Vaughn; tyler, Hector Dupuis; trustee for three years, Lucius P. Morrison; delegate to national convention, Lucius P. Morrison; alternate, Ralph B. Thurston. The national convention this year is to be held in Atlanta, Ga.

Emmet O'Brien, Hamilton street, connected with the wiring department of the Southern New England Telephone Co., has a broken wrist. Mr. O'Brien was working in Mooney and went up a ladder to bore a hole through which to pass a wire when the ladder slipped, causing him to fall to the floor.

The large sign on the First National Bank building now in process of reconstruction carrying the Hebrew lettering the meaning of which has been translated as "Paint Your Life" followed by instruction to ask the postmaster the meaning of it all continues to be a source of question and discussion. Those who have followed instructions and asked the postmaster get a blank stare and coach away enlightened. One citizen when asked what the sign was about said that it was advertising a new Chinese restaurant about to be opened on the second floor of the bank. No one believes that this man was right, but no one has any better solution. It is intimated that the mystery will be solved Easter Sunday by another explanatory sign replacing the present one.

The annual meeting of the Putnam Country club was held in Red Men's hall, Tuesday evening. It was reported that the club now owns its property free from all encumbrances and has a substantial balance in the treasury, thus being in the best financial position since it was organized eight years ago. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Silas M. Wheelock; first vice president, Charles E. Dean; second vice president, Frederick E. Kinneen; treasurer, Guy L. Baker; secretary, Herbert J. Smith; governor for three years, George H. Shaw. Charles A. Thayer, G. Harold Gilpatric; governor for one year, William F. Rafferty. Following the business session, there was dancing. Refreshments were served.

There was a large gathering of members of the Putnam Men's club in the gymnasium of the Congregational church, Wednesday evening, when the annual banquet of the club was held. Supper was served at 6.30 o'clock by ladies of the church. There was singing of community songs led by John H. Corbett. After the business meeting the gathering was entertained by a magician from Boston procured for the occasion by Manager Jacob Alpert of the Putnam theatres. Wallace Smith sang, The King of the Mist, and Rev. Simeon Cramd made remarks on the value of a man's club to the community. Mr. Smith then sang, Bandolero. The address of the evening was by Hon. George E. Chandler, who spoke interestingly and at length on "The International Situation." The program closed with the singing of America. The members then adjourned to the Bradley theatre as guests of Manager Alpert.

Funeral services for Mrs. H. O. Preston were held from her home on South Main street, Wednesday afternoon. The service was conducted by Rev. John S. Stoddard of the First Baptist church. The body was taken to Putnam Heights for interment in the Putnam Heights cemetery.

State's Attorney Charles E. Searls and Mrs. Searls leave this (Thursday) morning for Camden, North Carolina, where they will be guests at the Court Inn until the middle of April.

Michael J. Lynch is continuing to improve in health at his home where he was removed from the Day Kimball hospital about two weeks ago.

Plans are now being made for a meeting of the Parent-Teachers association to be held at the high school next Monday evening. The meeting is to be public and Frederick Very of Providence will speak on "What is Music? Is it science or an art?. It is the easiest and hardest to understand." He will illustrate his sub-subjects on the piano.

The regular weekly meeting and luncheon of the Rotary club, recently formed, was held at the Putnam inn, Wednesday at one o'clock. It was expected to have a speaker from New London, but at the last minute notice was received that he could not be present so the time was spent in general discussion of Rotarian work.

On account of unusual congestion at Bugbee and Wulf corner, caused by repairs being made to the First National bank building, directors of the Putnam chamber of commerce are to be requested to take steps in have the stop temporarily on Main street instead of on Front street opposite the bank, which has been the regular stopping place since the trolleys first begin to run.

March 7th will be observed as Open Night at the Putnam Trade school when the public will be allowed to inspect all departments of the school in full operation. While citizens are welcome at any time to visit the school it has become an annual custom to have an open night each year.

The wedding of Miss Helen E. Devine, daughter of Mrs. Agnes Devine, to Mr. Walter C. Richards of Boston, will take place at the Methodist church Monday evening next at 6.30 o'clock, the pastor, Rev. N. B. Button, officiating. Miss Edith Cutler of Gloucester, R. I., a teacher in the the Putnam schools, will act as bridesmaid, and Miss Alice Devine, sister of the bride, as maid of honor. Howard Richards, a brother of the bridegroom, will be best man. Miss Devine is a graduate of the Putnam high school, class of 1918, and for the past six years has held the position of assistant secretary and treasurer of the Marcy Tool Works of Putnam. Mr. Richards is a graduate of the Northeastern University School of Engineering, Boston, class of 1920 and holds an important position with the Turner Construction Co., now engaged on a large contract at Sanford, Maine, where the couple will reside after their marriage.

Miss Mary Vale is spending the week with Miss Mary Gorman in Waterbury.

Miss Eleanor Carpenter leaves Thursday to spend the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Kenneth Ballard, Winthrop, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bloomer, South Main street, have been entertaining O. M. Niles of Quincy, Mass.

Rev. John L. Roney has returned from a visit with relatives in New York state.

Miss Marie Jasmin is spending the week with relatives in Franklin, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Mansfield, Grove street, are entertaining Mrs. Nelson Mansfield and daughter, Barbara of Benton.

Following a funeral and commitment service at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Converse, Center street, Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. John S. Stoddard of the Baptist church, at which two solos were sung by Miss Mildred Bard, the body of Miss Arinda Wilson Enyard, was taken to Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn, N. Y., and laid to rest by the side of her father and mother.

Miss Enyard was born in Plainfield, N. H., daughter of Isaac S. and Caroline Milner Enyard. She received an excellent education but her health was such that about thirty years ago she came to Pomfret and from there a few years later to Putnam where she had made her home up to the time of her death.

Miss Enyard was a lover of art, literature and music. She was a pianist of more than ordinary ability and did some writing for periodicals. In a quiet way she performed many deeds of philanthropy and supported morally and financially all movements of a philanthropic nature in the city.

Miss Enyard during her more than quarter century in Putnam had made many friends. Although not of robust health she often called upon those more unfortunate than herself and gave moral and financial aid in many instances.

Her father, one of the oldest wholesale dairy merchants of New York city died a little over a year ago, leaving her a considerable estate. Her only near surviving relative was a sister, Mrs. Carrie Carroll, who occupied the Plainfield home.

WINSOL

A GUARANTEE OF QUALITY

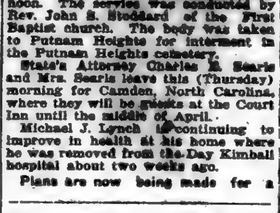
It won't cost you anything to try SANALT, the Sensible Tonic, of which one woman writes—"I was awfully blue and on the verge of a nervous breakdown. A few bottles of Sanalt made me perfectly well."

We are headquarters for this wonderful remedy. Come in and let us give you a sample—FREE.

H. M. LEROU, 287 Main St.
CHAS. C. TREAT, 116 Franklin St.

DANIELSON CASINO,
STARKWEATHER BLDG.
BOWLING AND POCKET BILLIARDS
FOUR ALLEYS THREE TABLES
WEDNESDAYS LADIES' DAY.
Bowling is the sport for all. Prizes given away every Saturday.

Corns Go



The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. Stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in clear liquid and in thin plaster. The action is the same. At your druggist

Blue-jay

NEURALGIA

or headache—rub the forehead—quit and inhale the vapors

VICKS VAPORUB

Over 17 Million Jars Used Yearly

Just Dial Ad. and the Rest Follows

(Modern Method)

A handsome full body effective treatment is here given for the quick removal of hairy growths: Mix enough powdered delatone and water to cover the undesirable hairs, apply paste and after 2 or 3 minutes remove, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. One application usually is sufficient, but to be certain of results, buy the delatone in an original package. Mail from us wanted.

THE LYRIC CO.

WAUREGAN BLOCK NORWICH, CONN.

Special at $2.65

GIRLS' WHITE DRESSES

2 to 6 years, value $3.50 to $4.50

BOYS' WASH SUITS, $1.00

A limited number of Middie and Button-on—Sizes 2 to 8 years, actual values $1.50 and $1.75.

BOYS' BLOUSES, $1.00

Sizes 6 to 12 years, in Percale.

Also White and Ponges Color.

J. J. CLIFFORD

IN "HYPNOTIC HUMOR"

THE FUNNIEST ACT IN VAUDEVILLE

A RIOT OF FUN, SCIENCE AND COMEDY

HE WILL STARTLE, AMAZE AND AMUSE YOU. WILL DO THE SEEMINGLY IMPOSSIBLE. PUTS THEM ASLEEP AGAINST THEIR WILL.

LEAHY BROS. NOVELTY GYMNASTS

CARLE and INEZ IN "A SPANISH ROMANCE"

HOIER and HYLOFF COMEDIANS

JACK NORRIS SONGS AND STORIES

PHOTOPLAY FEATURE DE LUXE

Dorothy Dalton, in "Dark Secrets"

A HIGHLY DRAMATIC STORY OF A WOMAN'S STRUGGLE

HOME OF PARAMOUNT PHOTOPLAYS

STRAND

Matinee 2:15
Evening 7-9:45
Matinee 25c
Evening 30c-25c

TODAY—LAST TIMES—GEORGE MELFORD'S PARAMOUNT SPECIAL "JAVA HEAD," WITH LEATRICE JOY AND OTHERS
ALSO COMEDY — NEWS

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY — 2—DAYS ONLY—2

JACK HOLT and WANDA HAWLEY

IN A PARAMOUNT PICTURE OF ACTION AND COMEDY

"NOBODY'S MONEY"

FEDERATED COMEDY — UP-TO-DATE NEWS

COMING 3 DAYS ONLY—STARTING MONDAY

The Little Church Around the Corner

WITH HOBART BOSWORTH AND REAL STAR CAST

Today Friday Saturday

BREED THEATRE

Today Friday Saturday

Charles Jones

—IN—

Bells of San Juan

A TRULY WESTERN STORY FOR LOVERS OF WESTERN PICTURES

MOVIE CHATS || LEE COMEDY

Social and Dance

UNION HALL, Voluntown

MARCH 16th, 1923

MUSIC BY

MOREY'S ORCHESTRA

(THREE PIECES)

ADMISSION—GENTS 50c LADIES 35c—NO TAX

BIG DANCE

FRIDAY NITE, MARCH 16th

Lebanon Grange Hall

ROSEN'S ORCHESTRA

Round and Square Dances

COLUMBIA

Miss Grace Sawyer, who has been living at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Hunt during the winter has been ill, being confined to her bed, but is now convalescent.

Chester Lyman has received word from Charleston, W. Va., that he has a granddaughter born to his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hurlburt.

At the March teachers' meeting held at the Center school on Tuesday last, E. S. Russell, supervising agent for this district gave several types of arithmetic games and explained the purpose and use of the Manual of Physical Education for Elementary schools.

Charles Gorman is the leader now in the arithmetic drills for speed and accuracy.

The Pine Street school and the West Street school have exchanged papers in penmanship, hoping to increase their interest and let them see what other children of their age are doing.

Abraham Dinner of the Pine Street school has a record of shinning the bar eighteen times. Harry Strickland has a record of 79 per cent. for this stunt.

The attendance at the Chestnut Hill school was 96 per cent., and as Old Hop River 93 per cent. for the month of February.

Victoria Golob of the Old Hop River school won the second prize in the Chelsea bank contest on "Thrift." Over one hundred papers were sent in by pupils who are contributors to credits in this bank.

William Macht and John Teleskas have passed all of the "Courtin' tests. The pupils of the Center school and Old Hop River school wrote letters to each other which were exchanged at the meeting.

Homer J. Isham of Columbia, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Isham of West street, and Miss Mae E. Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Coott of Hartford, were married in Hartford at 3 p. m. on Monday. The wedding was followed by a reception at the home of the bride and was attended by members of both families and a few intimate friends. The bride received many handsome presents. After a collation they left for New York and will go to Nassau, Bahama Islands, for a month's wedding trip. Mr. Isham is a bond salesman in Willimantic and was formerly for several years connected with the Willimantic post office and the Willimantic Savings Institute.

Miss Marion Hotmes, teacher of the Center schol which has been closed since Wednesday last, because of the prevalence of mumps, was unable to open the school on Monday morning as was expected, as she has contracted the disease herself.

E. L. Russell, school supervisor, was in town on Monday. He states that five teachers of the thirty-five in his district, are ill, and for whom he is trying to provide substitutes.

Mrs. James Belle Squier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Utley, has been visiting her parents for a few days. She is very indignant in regard to the action of the authorities in serving her and other nurses at the Manafield hospital with warrants of arrest by the state police and being hailed before the judge to show cause why they had not paid their personal tax. She showed her recipt for the tax which she paid in Columbia and was discharged, but was told she should pay the tax and vote in Mansfield. She stated however, that her home was in Columbia and was the place where she would vote and pay the tax. She stated that several nurses who live, in Massachusetts whose personal tax is not required, were compelled to pay the tax and costs of court, totalling about $10 or go to jail.

Every ton of steel produced requires consumption of two tons of coal.

STONINGTON

Wednesday evening Miss Irving Melvin of Broad street, gave a miscellaneous shower for Miss Muriel Latham in honor of her coming marriage to Alvah Lewis of Brooklyn, N. Y.

The affair was a surprise to Miss Latham, who called to spend the evening at Mrs. Melvin's home, and upon reaching there found twelve of her young friends to greet her and shower many useful and dainty gifts upon her. Whist was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the hostess.

Contractor Floyd La Pierre of New Haven is to commence work this week on a large garage on James street at Lord's Point. This is to be built for Dr. A. J. La Pierre of Norwich who has a summer home here. It is understood that the doctor is to build several bungalows on the west side in the near future.

The residents of the Point who were acquainted with Mrs. Ella Stanton of Springfield will learn with sadness of her death after a short illness with pneumonia. She was the daughter of William and Nancy Bartlett Smith. She was a musician of note. At the time of her husband's death she became the matron of the Fish Rubber plant in Chicopee Falls, Mass., which position she held up to the time of her death. She was the wife of Joseph Wilfred Stanton and the mother of of W. Ola Stanton who were the pioneers of Lord's Point, coming here in August, 1896, building the cottage now known as the Pioneer on Boulder Avenue. Mrs. Stanton was a sister of Charles L. Smith of Springfield and Lord's Point.

Measles are now appearing in Stonington borough. There are two cases on Harmony street and two on Main street. These are under quarantine by the health officer, Dr. Congdon.

Miss Lois Brown is the proud possessor of the first prize given by the High School Athletic association for the one selling the greatest number of tickets to the concern recently given in Borough hall. The gift awarded her is a self-filling fountain pen. Carolyn Derricks received second prize, a pencil.

The Lenten service was preached by Rev. J. R. Beauchamp, of Mystic at Calvary Episcopal church Wednesday evening.

MYSTIC

The trainmen of the Groton and Stonington Traction company, are planning to give a big blowout to officers of the road during the early part of April. They held a meeting at the Mystic car barn to appoint a committee which is to take charge of arranging for the banquet, and musical entertainment and program. The most novel part of the affair is that it will be held at one o'clock in the morning. The following were appointed to serve on the general committee of arrangements: C. A. Button, E. B. Sherman, J. Oliver, Jr., G. Grimley, R. Chapman, V. Vincent, J. Crandall, R. Taylor, L. H. Norman, J. Bradbury, H. Irons.

The local soloists for the Community chorus who will take the parts at the concert are Mrs. James Jackson, Miss Marjorie Gledhill, soprano; Mrs. C. S. Patterson and Mrs. John Conners, contraltos; A. Orville Lewis and Fred Raymer, tenors; Treafy Morin, baritone. Mr. Geer is the director of the chorus.

B. F. Hoxie Engine Co. members are planning to hold a fair after Easter. New uniforms are to replace the old ones and the proceeds of the fair are to go toward purchasing them.

After much discussion as to the conditions under which the final basketball game is to be played by the Stonington High school team and the Chapman Tech High school an agreement has been reached.

The Chapman school would not play in Mystic and would not consent to a toss of a coin to determine between Arion hall and Vocational hall. Finally Stonington agreed to play in New London. The matter of expenses has been arranged and the game will be played Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. As yet a referee has not been chosen.

On Saturday the postoffice employes are to enjoy a half holiday as it is St. Patrick's day.

BOLTON NOTCH

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Long and little daughter from Hartford were guests at Mrs. Joseph Haley's, Sunday.

Merrill Cross is driving a new automobile.

Mrs. A. N. Skinner and Mrs. Kittie Webster were Hartford visitors on Tuesday.

Paul Clements was a Manchester visitor Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Cross, Miss Mary Cross, Clarence Banning and Mrs. Vola McMorrow were Hartford visitors Sunday.

Miss Jeanne Brown who is ill, is improving.

Emory Strong visited his brother, Oscar Strong in Wapping over Sunday.

SOUTH GRISWOLD

Walter McClinton of Preston was a business visitor in South Griswold, Saturday.

Herbert G. Richardson, and Otto A. Anderson, Jr., were recent business visitors in Norwich.

Benjamin W. Young has accepted a position with a Worcester firm.

Mrs. Sigried G. North from Staten Island was a recent visitor at J. P. Gustafson's.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Young were in Jewett City on business on Tuesday.

March 25th will be the last Sunday of the conference year at Bethel church.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

Miss Edith G. Cushman has been granted a three weeks' leave of absence as teacher of the Stafford Springs kindergarten school and will spend the time in Florida. Miss Corinne Holbrook will be in charge of the school during Mr. Cushman's absence and she will be assisted by Miss Ruby Gold.

The members of the A. O. H. are making arrangements for their annual St. Patrick's night entertainment.

Frank Withowsky, Jr., has sold his farm near the state line to Claude Mayes of New York.

On account of the illness of Mrs Henrietta Webster, teacher in the Stafford Street school, the school is not in session this week. The time will be made up during the spring vacation.

Work on the new town building is progressing slowly. It will not be ready for occupancy until about the first of May.

The coal shortage has been very acute in Stafford Springs, but it is now becoming easier for local dealers to supply their customers.

The high school seniors are planning to leave for their five days' Washington, D. C. trip on March 14.

CHESTERFIELD

Miss Fannie Miller and Miss Helen Kaplan returned Saturday from New York after spending several weeks with friends and relatives.

Lula Powers of Hartford spent the week end at her home here.

Mrs. William Bouse returned Sunday to Hartford.

Charles Tinker is able to be out after an attack of grip.

BumsteadsWormSyrup

"To children an Aunt of Sunny Memories. Worry Powder says children. IT NEVER FAILS. Safe, sure, pleasant. A reliable cure for worms. Has been used many years. Sold everywhere or by mail, 50c a bottle.

Bumstead Chemical Co., 32 Endicott St., Norwich, N. Y.

TRY ONE TODAY

NOBLE CIGARS

"ASK FOR A DARK ONE THEY ARE SWEETER"

2 for 15

THE CHELSEA SAVINGS BANK

Franklin Square, Norwich, Connecticut

AN EXTRA DIVIDEND of 1-4 of 1 Per Cent. has been declared by the Board of Directors of this Bank in addition to the REGULAR DIVIDEND, which is at the rate of 4 Per Cent. per annum.

ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-NINTH CONSECUTIVE DIVIDEND

FRANK HEMPSTEAD, Treasurer

SIMPLE WAY TO TAKE OFF FAT

There can be nothing simpler than taking a determined little tablet four times each day until your weight is reduced to normal. That's all—just purchase some of Marmola Prescription Tablets from your druggist for one dollar, the whole price the world over. Follow directions—no starvation dieting or tiresome exercising. Eat substantial food—be as fussy as you like and keep on getting slimmer. And the best part of Marmola Prescription Tablets is that they are harmless. That is your absolute safeguard. Purchase them from your druggist or send direct to Marmola Co., 4113 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich.

SPRING OPENING

Thursday — Friday — Saturday

EMERGING from the bleakness of winter the Spring mode arrives laden with color and joyously debonair in its almost limitless love of ornament. Fashion's Spring caravan hails from the Orient, gives off a scent of sandalwood and smacks of things mystical.

Through the medium of print Fashion broadcasts much of her message, prints from India, Persia, and Egypt. She favors beading, braiding and bandings too; tiered skirts and pleated ones, boxed jackets and flaring wraps.

CHOOSING YOUR HAT

THAT'S always been an experience with a thrill in it, and more so this Spring than ever. Our Millinery Section is filled to overflowing with the most exquisite expressions of the millinery designer's art.

The Art of All Ages Has Been Called Upon For Its Secrets

EVEN old Egypt of the distant past contributes her share to the of present day beauty, and quaint motifs and decorations recall glories which have gone.

Exquisite Spring Hats

For young and old, for maid and matron, will be found in our carefully prepared Spring opening display.

A Charming Variety of Style

IN THE NEW WRAPS

WE say Wraps, for the dividing line between the Coat and Wrap is so very indeterminate, but they are really beautiful this Spring. Normandies, Bolivias and Lustrosa vie with Ormandale and Samura, all being shown in the staple colorings. There are the newer shades, also: Porto Rico, Sorrento, Kit Fox and many others. Canton Crepe is almost universally used to line them. Prices from $29.50 to $97.50.

SUITS BREEZE IN

ON the first bright sunshiny days what would you like most to be wearing. If you don't say a trig Spring Suit it is only because you haven't seen these, with the dainty Jacquette lines, the little box coat effects, or the very correct and more formal strictly tailored effects. Three-piece Suits are strongly featured, and fill a place no other style is capable of. Tan, Gray, Navy and Black are favorites this season, many of them embroidered or braided, and all are lined with Canton Crepe. Prices from $25.00 to $59.50.

The Oriental Influence Is Seen In The

SPRING FROCKS

IT'S a season of frocks, and fashion has used a lavish hand in coloring, design and texture. She has gone back to the dawn of history for some of her ornamentations and designs. She has made wonderful combinations of color. The printed Flat and Roshanara Crepes are richly beautiful—all the others, the Cantons, the Alltyme Crepe and Tricosham are most charming. And the prices are so reasonable—from $15.00 to $59.50.

NOVELTY SKIRTS

MANY made of Mallinson's wonderful silks of novel weave—many of them printed in designs and colors which would have met the approval of some old Pharoah. The pleated skirt is still the thing. Wool skirts from $4.95 to $8.95. Silks from $8.95 to $15.00.

THE VEIL'S the thing. A mere filmy wisp of a thing, it's just large enough to fit 'round the clever cloche hats of Spring.

BAG IN HAND is the proper caper if you would be hand and glove with the mode. You may choose a Handbag of rich brocade to carry out the oriental trend.

PIRATE-WISE the Bandanna has stolen the hearts of fashionable women. It has wound itself around their throats, their waists, their arms and even gone to their heads.

HANDS AND FEET first is a rule many women follow — find easy to follow in fact when Gloves and Hosiery are so attractive.

SWIRLING lengths of new Spring fabrics—what a wealth of dainty costumes their colorful patterns foretell to the woman who is clever with her needle.

AGRICULTURAL INTERESTS

GETTING GARDEN STARTED UNDER GLASS

Glass, even if it be only a fragment of a window pane with which to cover a small seed box, or an old tumbler to set over a cutting in a flower pot, is one of the essential materials of a plant grower in climates where there is frost. French gardeners raise acres of plants under "cloches," or bell-shaped glasses of various sizes, which set over the individual plants to speed growth. Wonderful lettuce is grown this way.

Glass keeps the heat in and the cold out, while letting in sunlight. This is the chief principle of the hotbed, which is an essential institution in a garden of any extent. The heat usually furnished by fermenting horse manure is conserved and fostered by the blanket of non-conducting glass, which does not allow it to escape rapidly by radiation as would metal, or even wood.

When a hotbed cannot be maintained conveniently because of the difficulty of obtaining a supply of fresh horse manure as its foundation, a difficulty that is becoming more real each year, a cold frame can be used as a substitute, although it cannot be utilized for a month or six weeks after the hotbed usually is at work.

Hotbeds may be artificially heated by steam or hot water pipes, but only a few gardeners will be able to afford such a luxury or will have a location to permit it being used conveniently. The construction of a hotbed is not at all complicated. In fact, any frame built to accommodate a glass cover may be used, provided it is of sufficient extent to encourage fermentation of manure. While it is best to use the standard size hotbed sash sold by all dealers, which are six feet by three feet each, old window sash may be utilized for the purpose.

Knockdown frames to hold this sash are sometimes sold, but they can be manufactured by any carpenter or by the gardener himself. The usual unit is six feet two to three inches by six feet, accommodating two standard sashes. The extra inches are necessary to permit of the placing of a cross-strip between the sashes upon which their inner edges may rest firmly. This crosspiece usually is grooved so that any moisture that may seep between the edges of the sash and the crosspiece would drain down the groove and not drip into the bed beneath.

If the bed is to be permanently located, it is best to make the frame of heavy lumber, two-inch stuff that may be fastened together with angle irons in the corners. If it is to be temporary, lighter lumber may be used, and it is lighter to move and handle without knocking down the frame. The back of the sash should be 18 inches high, and the front 6 to 10 inches. Some types are 12 to 15 inches high at the back and 3 to 10 inches in the front. These, however, are only useful for seedlings and low growing plants. The taller type will keep the plants until they have attained considerable height and is also available for a cold frame in which plants from 6 to 10 inches may be wintered.

A frame should always face the south, with no houses, trees or other objects to cast a shadow over it or cut off the sun. If land sloping to the south can be used for this frame it is an added advantage, as it will give more direct rays of the sun upon the glass.

Prevent Influenza

The Tonic and Laxative Effect of Laxative BROMO QUININE Tablets will keep the system in a healthy condition and thus ward off attacks of Colds, Grip and Influenza. 30c. The box bears the signature of E. W. Grove.

HATCHING BY HENS CHEAPER FOR MANY

For poultry raisers having 100 or less birds, hatching with hens is more economical than using an incubator, according to one county agricultural agent, who outlines the following procedure for the successful hatching of chicks by this method:

The first important factor is a clean poultry house. All litter should be cleaned out and loose nests or boxes of any description in the house should be covered with kerosene or some crude coal tar product to kill lice and mites. The nests should be made of new lumber if possible and filled with clean straw or litter.

The hen selected to set should be thoroughly dusted with sodium fluoride to rid it of lice and a piece of damp turf should be placed in the bottom of the nest and covered with about a foot of dry litter. This is to supply moisture which the bird would naturally have if it made its own nest on the ground. At the end of seven days the eggs should be candled and the infertile eggs removed. Where four or five birds are set at the same time, and 13 or more eggs are found to be infertile, the fertile eggs are redistributed so that one of the hens may be set anew.

It is essential to keep feed and fresh water before the setting hens at all times. Regular rations may be fed with the addition of a small amount of cracked corn.

TIME TO GET THE SEED BOXES READY

Now is the time to begin looking around for seed boxes to start seeds for the earliest crops if you have not already provided them. The most convenient boxes are known as "flats," usually made by cutting an ordinary soap box in two and placing a bottom on the top half. These flats should be from three to four inches deep, with holes bored in the bottom at six-inch intervals to provide drainage. These holes should be covered with broken crockery or flower pots, so that the soil will not leak through.

For seed raising in the ordinary window of a living room or warm kitchen, flats may be too wide. In this case the cigar box is a very convenient seed box. Empty cigar boxes usually can be had for the asking at retail tobacco dealers. It is a good plan to reinforce the fastening of the sides and bottom with a few fine tacks of sufficient length to penetrate, as they are likely to warp after the seeds have been planted and spread away from the earth. This may also be checked by binding three or four strands of wire tightly about the box before the seeds are planted.

Four holes should be bored in the bottom of the box for drainage, as in the flats. While a cigar box does not hold as much seed as the flat, it will grow a comparatively large number of plants, often all the average gardener will want.

Where only a few plants are desired a flower pot is ideal, being built for drainage and for economy of space. Also it does not dry out quickly. The 10-inch pots will hold eight plants of large growing plants like castor beans, cucumbers or melons, and the plants may be allowed to remain until ready to transplant into the open, provided only the seeds are spaced in the pot when planted so they will not crowd for some time after germination.

Panes of glass to cover flats, cigar boxes and pots are to be recommended, although not essential. The glass prevents too rapid evaporation and controls the danger of the seeds drying out. Paper cut to fit or cloths which may be kept moistened may be used to cover the seed boxes, watching carefully until germination begins, when they should be removed at once. The seed boxes need not be exposed to the light until the seedlings begin to prick through.

Plainville—Miss Mae Morgan, town clerk, announced the revised list to be $4,468,10½. The exemptions amount to $46,120.

SOUTH COVENTRY

The funeral of John Clifford Ayer, who died Thursday, was held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial was in the Nathan Hale cemetery.

Miss Ruth Latimer entertained 12 of her little friends Thursday afternoon in honor of her 8th birthday. The dining room was decorated in pink and green. Games were played, after which sandwiches, cake and ice cream were served.

Mrs. Fred Von Deck of South street is suffering with a fractured jaw received in an accident.

Miss Elinor Kingsbury spent the week end in New Haven with her aunt, Miss Grace Bradbury.

BOLTON

Mrs. Thomas Ross and daughters, Misses Geraldine Ross and Annette Ross, have returned from a visit with relatives in Woodside, L. I.

John Hutchinson has been home from Gilead.

Robins were seen in town last week. Spiders are also reappearing, a good indication that warm weather is fast approaching.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Pinney who went to Florida for a short trip, have written Bolton friends they have extended their stay in the south until April.

Mrs. Mary Cosetta has returned to New York after a visit with her mother, Mrs. Joseph Beero.

Bolton grange met last Friday evening. The program was in charge of Miss Annie Alvord and Mrs. Frank H. Strong. The subject was Gardens, which ended with a tree guessing contest. The prize was won by Miss Olive Hutchinson.

Herbert Hutchinson has returned to Vermont after a visit with his father, Calvin Hutchinson.

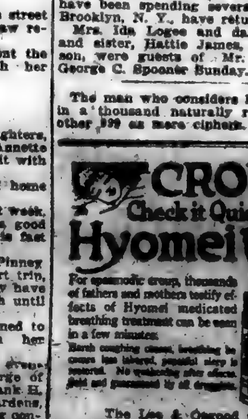
Mrs. P. Kneeland Jones was in Gilead last week, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hart Buell.

NORTH STERLING

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Henson, who have been spending several weeks in Brooklyn, N. Y., have returned home.

Mrs. Ida Logee and daughter Joy and sister, Hattie James, of Danielson, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Spooner Sunday.

The man who considers himself one in a thousand naturally regards the other 999 as mere ciphers.



For spasmodic croup, thousands of fathers and mothers testify effects of Hyomei medicated breathing treatment can be seen in a few minutes.

Harsh coughing ceases, breathing becomes less labored, peaceful sleep is restored. No vomiting after effects. Sold and guaranteed by all druggists.

The Lee & Osgood Co.

REVOLUTION-IZING DENTISTRY

Painless Methods Have Revolutionized the Old Dread and Fear of the Dentist's Chair. With the Use of

NAP-A-MINIT

(NITROUS OXIDE AND OXYGEN)

I can positively remove an aching tooth, remove a nerve or fill the most sensitive cavity without the slightest pain.

You can do one of two things—

You can continue in ignorance of the true condition of your teeth until one day the crash comes or you can adopt the common sense plan of a regular thorough dental examination which will enable you to live longer and happier.

The time to have such an examination is now—the sooner the better. Many men and women have gone through life half living, half succeeding, robbed of that physical vigor and personal magnetism which would have brought them success and happiness, simply because of the existence of some dental defect which could have been easily corrected.

I believe in advertising the benefits of good dentistry in every possible way. I believe that if more people had their teeth properly cared for we would have less sickness and more health everywhere. Anything that makes better health will make better people.

Nobody knows anything until he is told. For months I have been telling people about their teeth and how to make them last. Hundreds of people have been treated in my office, so I have been well rewarded for my work. I also have the fine satisfaction of knowing that I have rendered a service well worth what was paid for it.

My dental practice has grown steadily from the beginning. Success isn't accidental. A man has to make good. I don't say these things in a boastful spirit, but give them as plain facts. I am proud of what I have done and am thankful to the public for the support it has given me.

The size of my practice is a guarantee of the reliability of my dentistry. You cannot afford to have dentistry done on the hit and miss plan. Dental work should never be left to chance. Poor dentistry is responsible for much poor health.

In Dr. Happenny's office examinations and advice are free. A patient is told what is needed to fix the teeth up in good shape and what the price will be for doing it. No guess work about it. That is my idea of a square deal. It is the only way to practice dentistry on a satisfactory basis.

Open Evenings Until 9—Sunday 10 to 2

ALL EXTRACTIONS $1.00

No charge for extracting when other work is done.

DR. G. W. HAPPENNY

25 SHETUCKET STREET, NORWICH, CONN

Entrance Opposite the Uncas National Bank

Lady Attendant Phone 2122

Weekly Payments Arranged

Carfare Allowed Out-of-Town Patients

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, March 14—Among the bills signed today by the governor was one providing for the construction of a state highway between Bridgeport and Stamford.

The governor also signed the bill providing for the assistance by persons in the state police force in the enforcement of the motor vehicle laws. Without action were the bills to prohibit grass inventions from exempting from taxation real and personal property; to prohibit any person employed in connection with any hotel or coaching house, pool-selling and similar business, barbering or hairdressing, floral and plate company business or any similar trade shall be construed to be engaged in a mercantile business within the meaning of this act; to provide that the gross income which is derived from merchandise purchased for sale, * * * during which such taxpayer has carried on business. The words "gross income" shall mean all receipts of whatever kind and in whatever form paid, received during the income year in connection with any business conducted by the taxpayer under the provisions of this act, and shall include payments received in liquidation of debts incurred since January 1, 1921, which payments have been excluded from any previous return made by the taxpayer, by reason of their having been open book accounts. Itinerants engaged in any business which is taxable under this act shall be classified as merchants or manufacturers, dependent upon the nature of such business. A regular place of business shall be construed to include any place frequented by itinerants while transacting any business which is taxable under this act.

Among the matters which came up today by the house that aroused general interest was one that permits the appointment of a permanent interpreter in the city and borough courts. As the law now stands the judge may call in any one that is near at hand. This bill as passed today puts the office on district basis. The compensation shall not exceed $5 per day.

A bill that has passed both houses, provides that judges of probate shall receive for recording and copies, seventy-five cents a page.

A bill passed by the senate and concurred in by the house provides that any town, school committee, board of education or board of visitors may provide lunches which shall be served to school teachers and children at cost. Another senate bill passed makes an appropriation to the state board of fisheries and game of $10,000 for investigation of conditions of shad propagation and development.

Persons Tax Exemptions.

Exemption from the personal tax has been presented in several bills, all of which have been rejected and the following substitute bill reported. The bill reads:

The following-named persons shall be exempt from liability to pay the personal tax: Students in colleges and incorporated academies, the active members of fire engine, hook and ladder, and hose companies, during their time of service, engineers and members of any fire department in any town, city or borough who have served for five consecutive years in the state, and who were not dishonorably discharged from such department or under charges at the time of their retirement, and who shall produce a certificate of such service signed by the chief engineer of such department or by foreman and secretary of the company in which such service has been performed; field and staff officers, who, being duly uniformed, armed and equipped, have legally performed military duty during the next year preceding; and officers, musicians or privates of any active militia company, who shall, on or before the twentieth day of October, annually produce a certificate from the commanding officer of the company to which they belong, that they have performed military duty, uniformed and equipped according to law, during the preceding year, or that they have been prevented from so doing by reasonable cause, persons who shall have faithfully served the full term of three years in the active militia since July 8, 1865, and who were honorably discharged therefrom, or who served in the army or navy of the United States and were honorably discharged therefrom, or were discharged on account of wounds or sickness incurred in such service in the line of duty, or on account of the expiration of their term of service, also the widows of soldiers, sailors and marines as long as they shall remain unmarried, and regular active members of any police department, and the police officers thereof, engaged in regular police duty, which members and officers have served five consecutive years in the state.

Senator Gibbs of Tantic has withdrawn the bill providing for an eight-hour day for railroad employes who perform any of the duties of telegraph or telephone operator in the movement of trains. The bill was aimed at the practice of despatching trains by telephone from sidings between stations. It was not entirely satisfactory to the conductors and telegraph operators who had it introduced and they were unable to get together on a substitute.

The house was called to order at 11.15 with Speaker Nickerson in the chair. A large number of bills were rejected on unfavorable reports by committees.

Amended Unincorporated Tax Law.

The law concerning the tax on unincorporated business that was passed in 1921 in its enforcement has developed some perplexing problems for the tax commissioner to solve. The amended bill that passed the house today makes more clear the definitions. The bill amends section one of Chapter 332 of the Public Acts is amended to read as follows:

* * * Photographic and other picture reproduction businesses, carpentry and building, plumbing, electrical, garage, commercial, painting and decorating, lumber and tyler production, masonry and brick-laying businesses and ice supply and similar trades, road and sewer construction and quarrying and mining businesses shall be construed as engaged in manufacturing within the meaning of this act; provided any person who does any custom work or manufacturing shall not be considered as engaged in manufacturing business within the meaning of this section. Without enlarging the definition given herein of manufacturing, the following shall be construed as engaged in manufacturing: Bakeries, laundries, dyeing and cleaning, tanneries, any person engaged in conducting any hotel or coaching house, pool-selling and similar business, barbering or hairdressing, floral and plate company business or any similar trade shall be construed to be engaged in a mercantile business within the meaning of this act.

In respect to that part of the gross income which is derived from merchandise purchased for sale, * * * during which such taxpayer has carried on business. The words "gross income" shall mean all receipts of whatever kind and in whatever form paid, received during the income year in connection with any business conducted by the taxpayer under the provisions of this act, and shall include payments received in liquidation of debts incurred since January 1, 1921, which payments have been excluded from any previous return made by the taxpayer, by reason of their having been open book accounts. Itinerants engaged in any business which is taxable under this act shall be classified as merchants or manufacturers, dependent upon the nature of such business. A regular place of business shall be construed to include any place frequented by itinerants while transacting any business which is taxable under this act.

CALENDAR

Reviving the franchises and rights of the Meriden, Middletown and Guilford Electric Railway company; authorizing the town of Bethel to issue bonds; amending the charter of the city of Hartford, concerning the board of contract and supply; concerning authorizing the sale of certain property held in trust under the will of Silas C. Beers, late of Cornwall; concerning levying a tax with respect to carrying on of mercantile business or manufacturing by others than corporations; providing for the appointment of court interpreters; extending the time for the organization of the Connecticut Indemnity company; concerning the construction of school houses; concerning probate fees; amending section 4041, general statutes concerning receivers of banks; providing for lunches for school teachers and children; making an appropriation to the state board of fish and game; amending the charter of the Life and Guaranty company of Hartford and extending the time for its organization; amending the charter of the World Fire and Marine Insurance company and extending the time for its organization; amending the charter of the city of Rockville; amending an act concerning exemptions from personal taxes; amending the charter of the Village Water company of Simsbury; amending an act concerning fees of officers in civil and criminal cases; authorizing the second taxing district of the city of Norwalk to issue bonds; authorizing the second taxing district of the city of Norwalk to issue water bonds; authorizing the city of Norwalk to issue school bonds.

The House adjourned till Thursday at 11.15.

SENATE

In the senate Chairman Trumbull reported unfavorably on the Norwich bill authorizing towns to tax state property 1 per cent. Senator Trumbull, in explaining the report of the committee, said the bill was an attempt by towns to assess state and county property. The committee on finance would report a general bill on the subject later. The senator also stated that the proposition to exempt policemen from the personal tax would be taken care of in a bill that would be reported by the committee.

The committee on military affairs reported favorably on the bill amending the law concerning the state police department and recommended that it be referred to the committee on appropriations. It was so referred. The bill provides for a state police force of 240 men, an inspector-instructor with the rank of senior sergeant and ten sergeants.

An unfavorable report was received from the committee on military affairs on the bill appropriating $28,000 to the Putnam Phalanx for a new armory. The bill was rejected.

An unfavorable report was also made by the committee on military affairs on the bill to appropriate $15,600 for the establishment of an air service in connection with the national guard and $10,000 for maintenance including the construction of hangars on the Brainard field in Hartford.

The bill exempting women from the obligation to pay personal tax was unfavorably reported by the committee on finance. The bill was rejected.

Unfavorable reports were received from the committee on humane institutions on the bills relating to children in alms-houses and the placing out of children in family homes, considering the revocation of commitments to county temporary homes, and on reports on state-aided institutions. The bill were rejected.

Senator Ellis, the leader of the senate explained the favorable report of the committee on the judiciary on the bill which provides that when it shall be presumed that the death of a husband and wife is simultaneous when there is no evidence as to the priority of death. He said it was presumed to be common law that the wife was "the weaker vessel." The report was accepted and the bill passed.

CALENDAR

That the terms of the criminal and civil superior court in Middletown county shall be: Criminal, the first Tuesday in September, the second Tuesday in September, the second Tuesday in April in Windham and the first Tuesday in January in Putnam, and civil in Putnam the third Tuesday in March and in Windham the fourth Tuesday in May; making highways in Manchester and Glastonbury and a part of the trunk line system, including a highway in Wilmington and Woodstock in the same system; that probation officers may be paid $10 a day; that persons assisting women to escape from the Connecticut State farm for women shall be liable to a fine of $500 and one year in jail or both, and that an inmate who escapes from the institution shall be obliged to spend a year longer than the term of her commitment in the institution.

ONECO

The Helping Hands class of the M. E. church met with Mrs. Vincent Hawkins on Thursday evening. Reelection of officers was held, after which a picnic was presented in behalf of the class to Mrs. Hawkins in honor of her recent marriage. Cake and cocoa were served by the hostess and a social hour enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Fasserson of Providence spent the week end with relatives here.

WAS ALMOST A NERVOUS WRECK

Says Wincarnis Restored Her Health

I am sending you a letter to tell you what Wincarnis has done for me. My health failed, I felt depressed when the day set in, I had no appetite, I was always tired, could not sleep, and was generally run down. One of my friends called to see me and advised me to take Wincarnis. I did so, and after taking a few bottles I felt a different woman altogether. I am now in the best of health, and can thoroughly recommend Wincarnis to all who are suffering as I was.

WINCARNIS

Wine Tonic Restorative

FREE RUPTURE BOOK AND REMEDY COUPON.

Capt. W. A. Collings (Inc.)

Box 44-H, Watertown, N. Y.

Please send me your FREE Rupture Remedy and Book without any obligation on my part whatever.

Name .....

Address .....

.....

RADIO PROGRAMS

Thursday, March 15.

WJZ Newark (360 Meters).

7 p. m.—Jack Rabbit Stories by David Cory.

8.30 p. m.—Dogs, by Frank F. Dole, noted authority.

8.45 p. m.—Recital by Muriel H. Wilson, lyric soprano; Mrs. William H. Wilson, accompanist.

9.15 p. m.—Sports, by W. J. Slocum.

9.30 p. m.—Artist concert: Sally Hamlin, entertainer; Merle Harcourt, violinist; Franklin G. Dunham, lecturer.

KDKA Pittsburgh (360 Meters).

6 p. m.—Organ recital.

7 p. m.—Health Hints, prepared by the United States Public Health Service.

7.15 p. m.—Theatricals.

7.30 p. m.—The visit to the little folks by the Dreamtime Lady.

7.45 p. m.—Special farm program.

8.30 p. m.—Concert by Mrs. Bernhar Lehman, piano; Ernest Marini, clarinet; Alice Kirk, accompanist; Norman B. Amos, baritone; Mildred Underwood, accompanist.

WBZ Springfield (422 Meters).

7.30 p. m.—Uncle Wiggily bedtime story.

7.45 p. m.—News from Farm and Home.

8 p. m.—Concert by Springfield College quartet; W. R. Balentine, accompanist; H. C. Reeves, first tenor; H. W. Russell, 2d tenor; L. W. LeBree, baritone; J. L. Letty, bass.

8 p. m.—News of the day.

8.35 p. m.—Continuation of musical program.

KYW Chicago (400 Meters).

(Central Time.)

6.50 p. m.—Children's bedtime stories.

8-9 p. m.—Musical program by courtesy of the Bergey Opera School, the Mid-West Music House, and Isham Jones and his College Inn orchestra at Hotel Sherman. Contributing artists are: Elise Colbran Mellus, A. E. Bredemeir, Theodore S. Bergey and The North Shore Promenade orchestra. Program will be announced by radiophone.

9 p. m.—News, sports and weather report.

9.05-9.35 p. m.—Twenty Minutes of Good Reading, by Rev. C. J. Pernin of Loyola University.

WGY Schenectady (370 Meters).

12 m.—U. S. Naval Observatory time signals.

12.20 p. m.—Noon stock market quotations.

12.45 p. m.—Weather forecast on 435 meters.

2 p. m.—Music and Food Talk, by Miss Jessie G. Cole, nutritionist, New York state department of health.

6 p. m.—Produce and stock market quotations; news bulletins.

7.45 p. m.—Radio drama, Mrs. Temple's Telegram.

NAA Naval Radio Station, Radio, Va. (710 meters)

6.45-7 p. m.—United States Bureau of Education Lecture No. 26, The People's High Schools of Denmark.

WGI Medford Hillside (360 meters)

7 p. m.—Twilight Tales, read by Uncle David.

6.30 p. m.—New England forecast furnished by the U. S. Weather Bureau.

6 p. m.—Late news flashes; early sports news.

6.15 p. m.—General Conditions in the Shoe and Leather Industry.

6.30 p. m.—Boston police reports; Amrad Bulletin Board.

6.45 p. m.—Code practice, Lesson No. 20.

9.30 p. m.—Evening program. 1 concert by the Wentworth Institute orchestra.

COLDS ARE CONTAGIOUS

Coughs and colds are contagious and require prompt treatment, as they spread or develop into flu and grippe. Take no chances when you can get Foley's Honey and Tar for a few cents and quickly check coughs and colds. The constantly increasing demand for Foley's Honey and Tar, for three generations, has made it the largest selling cough medicine in the world. Contains no opiates—ingredients are printed on the wrapper. Refuse substitutes. Insist upon Foley's. Lee & Osgood Co.

"Folks Men and Women You Don't Have To Be Cut Up, and You Don't Have To Be Tortured By Trusses."

Captain Collings made a study of himself, of his condition—and at last he was rewarded by the finding of the method that so quickly made him a well, strong, vigorous and happy man.

Anyone can use the same method; it's simple, easy, safe and inexpensive. Every ruptured person in the world should have the Captain Collings book, telling all about how he cured himself, and how anyone may follow the same treatment in their own home without any trouble. The book and medicine are FREE. They will be sent prepaid to any rupture sufferer who will fill out the below coupon. But send it right away—now—before you put down this paper.

New Victor Records

ON SALE HERE TODAY

They are all good and you will want to add them to your record library. The record by Will Rogers, the versatile comedian of the Ziegfeld Follies, is his first, and if you like his matchless humor you will enjoy hearing him on the Victrola.

87358—NINA (Pergolesi)	CARUSO
45347—A NEW SLANT ON WAR	WILL ROGERS
—TIMELY TOPICS	WILL ROGERS
19013—KENTUCKY BABE	SHANNON QUARTET
—LITTLE COTTON DOLLY	SHANNON QUARTET
19016—FATE—Fox Trot	PAUL WHITEMAN AND HIS ORCH.
—LADY OF THE EVENING—Fox Trot	PAUL WHITEMAN AND HIS ORCH.
19021—AGGRAVATIN' PAPA—Fox Trot	THE VIRGINIANS
—AUNT HAGAR'S BLUES—Fox Trot	THE VIRGINIANS
19022—DOWN IN MARYLAND—Fox Trot	BENSON ORCHESTRA OF CHICAGO
—GEORGIA CABIN DOOR—Fox Trot	BENSON ORCHESTRA OF CHICAGO
19025—YOU KNOW YOU BELONG TO SOMEBODY ELSE	HENRY BURR
—WHEN THE LEAVES COME TUMBLING DOWN	STANLEY-MURRAY

COME IN AND GET YOUR COPY OF THE

New 1923 Victor Record Catalog

It is one of the most fascinating books printed—the greatest musical program in the world.

The Plaut-Cadden Co.

EVERYTHING IN MUSIC AND EVERYTHING FOR THE HOME

135-143 Main Street (Established 1872) Norwich, Conn.

SPRING OPENING DAYS

Thursday, Friday and Saturday

March 15th, 16th and 17th

The return of Spring brings with it newer beauties creating through fashion, apparel presenting the bright appeal of the year's most youthful modes.

Our showing of Spring models are complete and beautiful, consisting of Capes in the newest shades—also the three-piece Suits in beautiful fabrics, are very attractive.

WE ARE ALWAYS PLEASED TO SHOW YOU

Caron's SPECIALTY SHOP

140 MAIN STREET NORWICH, CONN.

Yes, Mrs. Smith

Resinol is wonderful

"We always keep a jar on hand. It is the best thing I know for eczema and similar ills, and it is so gentle and soothing it is excellent for cuts, burns, or sores. We use Resinol Soap also—it's ideal for the complexion and bath. Yes, you can get all the Resinol products from your druggist."

COAST GUARD COOK HELD FOR VIOLATION OF MANN ACT

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 16.—Felix Palmer, a young Filipino with an American name, is in the county jail in Franklin street awaiting the arrival of police authorities from Newark, N. J., to take him in to that city where he will be charged with having violated the Mann act in bringing Elsie Newberry, a girl of 16 years, to New London and here living with her as her husband. The pair are sincerely in love with each other and it may be that if they are married here Palmer will escape criminal prosecution, and the girl, who is also held here, will be allowed to wed the object of her theories as a husband.

Palmer is a cook at the Coast Guard school at Fort Trumbull. He is quite a clever young fellow of 26 years, speaks good English, is courteous, a good penman and an all-round good fellow. The girl is slightly dressed and apparently wise in the ways of the world. She declares that she came here willingly with Palmer and says she will not return to her Jersey home under any circumstances as she was not well treated there. Her mother is now here.

The pair have been living at 13 Ruel street, in East New London, with a family named Ferro. They seemed to be very happy and Elsie was about the house doing the work that light housekeeping demanded when Police Sergeant Smith went there to take her into custody. Elsie greeted him as Mrs. Palmer, but she soon became tangled in names and announced herself as Miss Newberry.

"Then you are not married?" queried Sergeant Smith.

"No," was the prompt reply of Elsie, "but we are going to be wedded. Charlie is the only fellow I have loved," said Miss Newberry, "and I am going to marry him."

Both Palmer and the girl admitted freely that they have been living as husband and wife, and they say they intend to so live. Elsie talked of being determined to commit suicide when the police sergeant told her of the seriousness of her offense, but when he had talked with her and told her that she must not make a fool of herself she had changed her mind as to self destruction.

"There may be better places," said the sergeant, "but no one who has ever been to such places has come back to tell us about them."

Palmer is held here in the absence of his ability to furnish a bond of $3,000 for appearance in the police court next Saturday.

When a Providence negro, John Young, was arrested here a few weeks ago for peddling "dope" it was believed that a gang was trafficking in narcotics in this city. Now comes another evidence that cocaine, morphine, heroin or kindred narcotics are being sold in New London and the police will make a determined effort to trace the sellers.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR

Women Tell Each Other How They Have Been Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Perrysburg, O.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I suffered with pains in my sides all the time. I can't remember just how long I took it, but it was for some time. One day I was talking with a lady I met on a car, and I told her how I was feeling and she said she had been just like I was with pains and nervous troubles, and she took the Vegetable Compound, and it cured her. So then I went and got some, and I certainly recommend it for it is good. Whenever I see any woman who is sick I try to get her to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Alma Fleck, Route 3, Perrysburg, Ohio.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

Mrs. Walter Hick, whose husband was charged with selling drugs to addicts, testified in the latter's behalf in police court today. Hick was fined $100 and costs.

Mrs. Hick, under oath, declared that dope was being sold at a pool room on Green street and she knew it is being sold at various other places in the city. It was the use of drugs, she said, that was responsible for the conduct of her husband. She feared him put away for a couple of years, she said, so that he might be cured of the habit of using drugs. Mrs. Hick produced a needle such as is used by the addicts to inject the drug. She said it was used in this manner. She said she took them from her husband, and she added, two years ago in Jersey, he was arrested and then was placed on probation as a drug addict.

Mrs. Hick attempted both for herself and husband to show that the drug being smuggled with all the methods said to be resorted to by drug addicts. Hick denied that he was an addict now, though he said he was a victim of the habit some two years ago. He admitted all his wife said as to that but he declared that he had been cured and said he would never use the drug again. He declared that his conduct now was due to his absorption of "white mule," an unaged whiskey that is sold by bootleggers about the streets, in back rooms and cellars and in other dark spots where the eyes of the police do not penetrate.

Charles Paupret, who was at the Hick home when the trouble occurred, and whom Mrs. Hick alleged her husband chased her with a bread knife, endeavored to make it appear when he testified in the case today that Hick had had something other than intoxicating liquor, but Hick replied to that by saying that he bought half a gallon of white mule and that Paupret and a friend, who were at the house, had done their share of drinking it. "We all dipped into it" he said. Hick declared that he was trying to do better than he had done, because he had recently bought a house on the Old Colchester road, borrowing some of the money he paid for it and getting other cash from a mortgage he placed.

He said he had been a willing helper for his wife and had washed clothes and scrubbed floors for her.

Judge Crandall was on the bench and he decided that the case was worth considering leniently, so he sentenced Hick to jail for ten days and then suspended the execution of the sentence, placing him in the care of Probation Officer Mansfield for a period of six months.

The store on the corner of North Bank street and Allaire street is vacant now for the first time in more years than the memory of man runneth. It was for many years the safe of the late Matthew McNamara. He left a large estate that represented his profits in that place. Then McCarry & Magie conducted a saloon there, and they, too, made a large sum of money. But the business in which they thrived has gone into the discard and the place has lost its reputation as a safe. Still it is a good business site if there was anyone to make use of it.

The Masonic club will meet tomorrow evening to hear a report on their recent enterprise of conducting an "indoor circus." The projector and manager was an out of town man and rumor has it that he is to receive 50 per cent. of the profits.

Mrs. Grace Appleby, wife of Frank Appleby of Saybrook, who sustained a fractured ankle as a result of slipping on a hatchway on Bank street yesterday afternoon, was transferred to her home from Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital today.

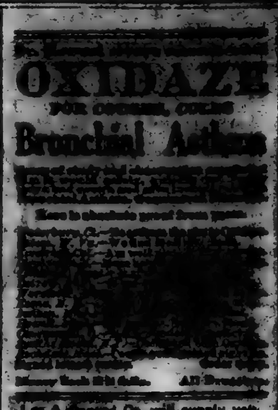
Miss Jennie Gleason, a former resident of New London, and for many years employed by Mrs. William Crozier, wife of General Crozier of Washington, died yesterday following a brief illness. Miss Gleason is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Patrick Sheridan of ——— London and Miss Fannie Gleason of Washington. The body will be brought to New London for funeral and interment.

Miss Margaret Davis of Linden street, Dudley Woodworth of Williams street, Mrs. Orrin Barbalati and baby of Blydenburg avenue, Mrs. William H. Church and baby of Main street, Mrs. Charles Tinker of Oakdale, Mrs. Arthur Rogers of Gales Ferry, Thomas Robertson of Huntington street, Master William Waterman of Fremont street and Mrs. Peter Wevlotis of Lane A, patients at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital, were discharged today.

Police Sergeant Samuel Pick resumed his duties this afternoon after having been confined to his home a fortnight by grip and tonsilitis.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel has caused the operator's license of Charles H. Jordan of No. 14 Church street to be returned to the latter, the suspension having resulted following an auto that Jordan was driving being in collision with another machine.

OXIDAZE
FOR CATARRH, COLDS
Bronchial Asthma



Lay a Dollar On will supply you

FITCHVILLE GIRL IS MISSING FROM HOME

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 14.—Mrs. Arthur Colson of Fitchville is seeking to locate the whereabouts of her 18 year-old daughter, who last night eloped with Paul Tourtotte.

Late Tuesday night Mrs. Colson telephoned the New London police that the couple were missing, and that she suspected they would come to New London and go to a rooming house on Golden street. The police visited the Golden street house, but nothing was known there of the couple, although Tourtotte's brother resided there. The police maintained a watch for the couple, but they were not located.

John J. Guinan, the sailor from the submarine base, and who was arrested in connection with the murder several weeks ago of the new-born babe of Grace McSheffery, and who was not charged with the murder of the babe, as was the mother, but charged with accessory before the fact, and admitted to bail, has returned from Philadelphia, to which city he was recently summoned by the serious illness of his father. The elder Guinan died last week and Guinan declares that his father's demise was hastened by the criminal action pending against the sailor.

At the time of the murder of the babe Guinan was living with the McSheffery girl as man and wife, but had nothing to do with the taking of the babe's life other than to have knowledge that the 19 year old mother took the babe from the home a few hours after it was born for the purpose of disposing of it.

Elmer Fibian, formerly one of the proprietors of the Eureka hotel at No. 183 Bank street, whose detention at the Newport naval station was obtained by the New London police yesterday, following Fibian's former partner, Charles Fear, complaining that Fibian stole $100, a diamond ring and the joint partnership bankbook, will not be brought back to New London for trial. This afternoon Fear decided to withdraw the charge against Fibian and the naval authorities at Newport were notified that Fibian was not wanted by the police, and the accused was liberated.

Thursday is the last day for the making of returns on income during the year 1921. There has been a busy time for the last week at the custom house, where revenue agents are stationed to assist taxpayers in making their returns.

Myles Donahue, young man of this city, is suing the estate of E. D. Steele for damages in the superior court, the case coming to trial Thursday morning. In April, 1921, Donahue was charged with having obtained $27 by fraud from the Steele store. The case dragged till the early fall of that year and then was nolled. Donahue claims he suffered in reputation by the arrest and prosecution, and for that reason he seeks damages.

Police Lieutenant Benjamin A. Beebe, who suffered a shock fortnight ago, is comfortable at Lawrence hospital, but his progress toward the recovery of his former condition is slow for he is of advanced years.

The Connecticut company is establishing an office at the carbarn on Montauk avenue in front of the building.

JURY GIVES NORWICH MAN $300 VERDICT

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 14.—The damage action brought for $4,000 by Edward Olaf of Norwich against Arthur E. Andrews, also of Norwich, was concluded in the superior court here this afternoon, the jury returning a verdict of $300 for the plaintiff after deliberating about an hour and a half.

Olaf alleged that he sustained a broken leg while operating his motorcycle in Greeneville several months ago by Andrews' automobile colliding with the cycle.

THE PRUDENTIAL IN 1922

The Company is owned by the Policyholders, to whom this report is made.

STABILITY—SERVICE—PROGRESS

The Company's 1922 mortality rate was the lowest in its history.

The Policyholders' 1922 dividends are the largest yet declared.

Assets $906,397,224

Behind your policy, whether it be for $100 or $100,000, stands this tremendous sum of admirable stillness—a guaranty as safe as the government itself.

Real Estate Mortgages—Over 49,000, averaging to $225,000,000
(Average per loan about $5,500.)

During 1922 the following loans were made:

On farms $33,100,000
Crops were planted, farms bought or improved and thousands of homes made happier because of these loans.

On dwellings and apartments 43,799,000
These loans aided in relieving the housing shortage by providing homes for 16,671 families.

On other city properties 17,000,000

Total $99,699,000

U. S. Government Bonds $104,000,000
The Company also owns $15,000,000 in Canadian government bonds.

Railroad, Public Utility and other Securities $340,000,000
An investment in transportation development and in community service—such as telephones, telegraphs, electric light and power systems, schools, parks, good roads, etc.

Liabilities $870,596,351
These consist chiefly in reserves and other obligations to policyholders.

Surplus—For the further protection of policyholders $35,800,873

Paid Policyholders in 1922 . . . . . $87,000,000

Paid-for Business in 1922 . . . . . $1,311,000,000
The largest in the history of the Company.

Total Insurance in Force $6,314,000,000

Increase over 1921 . . . . . $646,000,000

Taxes—Prudential Policyholders have paid from their premiums during 1922 federal, state and municipal taxes and fees amounting to $5,220,000

More detailed information concerning the Company may be obtained upon application at the Home Office, Newark, New Jersey.

President.

THE PRUDENTIAL INSURANCE CO. OF AMERICA

NEW LONDON CHILD DIES FROM SLEEPING SICKNESS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 14.—The first death from sleeping sickness occurred at Home Memorial hospital late Wednesday when Iolanda Di Angelo, aged 4 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Di Angelo of Westerly, succumbed to the malady following a five days' illness with the dreaded disease. The hospital authorities would not give out any information regarding the child's death, but stated that any information pertaining to the case would have to be given by Dr. Winthrop E. McKinley. When the physician was queried he stated that he did not feel that he was at liberty to discuss the case, as the patient was that of Dr. John E. Russ of Westerly and that no publicity should be given the case, as to do so might alarm the public.

At the office of the city clerk it was ascertained that Dr. Russ had filed the certificate of the child's death and it gave as the cause of the fatality "acharpic encephalitis," which is the medical term for sleeping sickness.

PLAINFIELD

Plainfield's evening school completed the required seventy-five sessions and closed with appropriate exercises Thursday evening. This year's school has been an improvement on the schools of other years in that three sessions have been maintained throughout the term, each class having a average attendance of about 100. United Workers of the New York Life Middlesex Health Association, Liberty Loan committee, Queen Esther Circle of the Second Congregational church, Girls' Friendly society, Queen Esther Circle of the Second Congregational church, Girls' Friendly society, Camp Fire girls, Parent-Teacher association, men's club and Girls' Auxiliary of the Advent church, Children of Mary, Sunday school classes, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Junior Red Cross, Parent-Teacher association, Men's club, Girls' Auxiliary

Spring Millinery Opening
Thursday, Friday and Saturday
We Invite Your Inspection
S. KAMSLER
112 MAIN STREET NORWICH, CONN.

MITE BOX OPENING BY FIRST BAPTIST WOMEN

The March meeting of the Woman's Home and Foreign Mission circle of the First Baptist church was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Alfred Davis of West Main street. There were seventeen present. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. L. A. Hurlbut, who read the Scripture from Matthew, Mark and Luke. Mrs. La Rue Bliven offered prayer, which was followed by the hymn, 'Tis So Sweet to Trust in Jesus. After the minutes of the last meeting were read, the annual mite box opening took place, Mrs. Herbert Willey, Mrs. William Koonz, Mrs. Charles Burke and Mrs. Walter Cowan was the committee appointed in charge.

The topic for the afternoon was Christian Centers, with Mrs. Louis Browning leader. Following were the papers given: Baptist Christian Centers for Spanish Speaking, Los Angeles, California, Mrs. Frank Lathrop; Bethel Neighborhood House for Cosmopolitan, Mrs. Martin Farrel; Brooks House of Christian Service for Cosmopolitan, from Hammond, Indiana, Mrs. Fred Wilson; two papers on Christian Community Center for Negroes, one each by Mrs. Edward E. Dunbar and Mrs. L. A. Hurlbut; Davenport House for Christian Service for Italians, from New Haven, Mrs. Charles Burke; Fellowship House Cosmopolitan, Omaha, Nebraska, Mrs. Walter Cowan; Japanese Woman's House, Seattle, Washington, Mrs. Frank Church; Judson Neighborhood House for Italians, New York city, Miss Elizabeth Bogue; Katherine House of Christian Fellowship, Indiana harbor, Mrs. Herbert Willey; San Juan Community House, Mrs. La Rue Bliven. Mrs. Burke and Mrs. Charles G. Pierce gave a vocal duet, It Pays to Serve Jesus, with Mrs. Bliven at the piano. The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Hurlbut.

A social time followed during which dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Frank Davis. It is the custom of this circle to have refreshments twice a year, at the annual business meeting, and at the annual mite box opening.

FRUIT MEDICINE RELIEVED HER

Indigestion Corrected by "Fruit-a-tives"

Or "Fruit Laxo Tablets"

Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Fullness or Pain after eating, gas, heart fluttering, are troubles that "Fruit-a-tives" corrects.

This medicine, made from fruit juices and tonics, acts directly on the stomach and quickly restores sound, natural digestion.

Mrs. Frank W. Wallace, Dore's Corner, Hoaktonville, N. H., writes: "Although my trouble was of some years' standing, "Fruit-a-tives" relieved me of Indigestion, stopped the Headaches, banished all symptoms of Heart Trouble and gave me back my health."

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ogdensburg, N. Y.

MR. AND MRS. GOOD CITIZEN

Are you interested in the Salvation Army?

Do you want to help in its great task?

READ THE WAR CRY!

Sincerely,

Capt. & Mrs. Chas. Carpenter

Cleaned Up Collapsed Building.

The concrete work for the addition to the A. C. Swan Co. building on Main street on the corner of White's court, that collapsed last Sunday night, has been cleaned off the ground floor of the building and the place is ready to have the fallen parts rebuilt.

Scraper on Washington Street.

The state highway department has a scraper in use on Washington street north of the city line, Wednesday to smooth out the ruts that had been made in the softened surface of the street by automobiles.

Ides of March.

The ides was one of the divisions of the month made in the ancient Roman calendar. The Romans divided the month into the Kalends, the Nones and the Ides. The Kalends always fell upon the first of the month in March, May, July and October; the Nones fell on the 7th and the Ides on the 15th, and in the remaining months the Nones on the 5th and the Ides on the 13th. The Kalends were so named because it was an old custom of the college of priests to call the people together on the first of the month to inform them of the festivals and sacred days to be observed during the month. The Nones received the name from being the ninth day before the Ides, reckoned inclusively, and the Ides from an absolute verb signifying to divide, because they divided the month nearly in halves. The best known quotation concerning the Ides is from Shakspeare's Julius Caesar, "Beware of the Ides of March."—Boston Globe.

The Chelsea Savings Bank

Franklin Square, Norwich, Conn.

On January 16, 1923, the State Examiners, represented by Messrs. Nielson, Prescott and Neil, examined this bank and found that the

Total Resources at that time amounted to	$11,867,410.76
Deposits amounted to	10,828,061.42
The Surplus and Profit and Loss Account, as per the books was	776,867.81
The interest account for payment of dividend which would be due March 1	258,991.40
Market val. of securities over Book Value was	179,953.95
On March 1, after giving effect to the Extra Dividend of ¼ of 1%, and the Regular Dividend at the rate of 2% Deposits amounted to	11,239,731.06
Surplus or Guarantee Fund	821,296.80
Surplus or Guarantee Fund at Market Values was	1,023,693.00

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Day's total sales, 1,943,600 shares.

20 industrials averaged 106.32, net gain .40. High 106.32; low, 94.96.

Twenty railroads averaged 89.71, net gain .07. High 1929 90.83; low 84.53.

MARKET WAS ACTIVE

New York, March 14.—Aided by a large volume of buying orders from the west and south which had been developed by storms earlier in the week, bull operators continued to bid up stocks in all sections of the list in today's market. Heavy profit taking in some of the popular industrial issues materially reduced or cancelled the early gains, but failed to halt operations elsewhere.

Prices started upward from the start despite the marking up of the call money renewal rate to 5 1-2 per cent. Speculative belief that this high rate was temporary and incidental to the financing of income tax payments was borne out later when the rate dropped to 4 1-2 per cent. At the close of the market the local federal reserve bank announced that the government would withdraw $32,000,000 from member banks in this district in anticipation of March 15 maturities. Except for another series of favorable earnings reports, there were no special developments outside the market likely to influence the general buying of stocks.

A month's postponement of dividend action by the New York Central directors because of the absence of several members of the board sent that stock down to 97 1-4 but it rallied later to 98 1-4 where it was off only 1-4 on the day. Some of the other rails yielded slightly from their earlier high prices but St. Paul common, New Orleans, Texas & Mexico and Illinois Central closed 3-4 to a point higher.

Motors, motor accessories, shippings and merchandising issues furnished the conspicuous strong spots, gains of 1 3-4 to 5 points being recorded by Mack Truck, American International Corporations, Marine Preferred, May Department Stores, Beech Magneto, Stewart Warner Speedometer. General Electric was heavily bought just before the close, jumping to 4 5-8 points.

United States Steel got as high as 108 3-8 but fell back to 107 7-8, up 1-8 at the close. Baldwin dropped from 142 3-8 to 141 1-8, off 1-4, and Studebaker closed at 124 7-8, up 3-4, after having sold a point above that figure. Simmons company jumped 6 1-2 points to 32 5-8. Pan-American issues closed slightly higher despite speculative disappointment over the failure of the directors to make an extra dividend announcement and the sugars reacted slightly when the price of Cuban Raws eased off to 5 5-8 cents a pound.

Time money was quiet but firmer. Brokers bid 5 1-4 per cent. for all maturities but bankers held out for 5 1-2 for new loans, some renewals being made at the lower rate. Commercial paper continued to move in moderate volume with prime names still commanding 5 per cent.

The foreign exchange market was featured by a slightly easier tone for sterling demand bills selling around $4.69 1-4, and a moderate rally in French francs, which were quoted around 6.09 cents. Canadian exchange dropped to $1.87, a new low figure for the year.

STOCKS.

The following is a summary of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange up to 2 P. M.:

	High	Low	Close
Allied Chem	79	78	79
Allis Chalmers	49	48¼	49
Am Ag Chem	83¼	82¾	83¼
Am Beet Sugar	47¼	47	47¾
Am Bosch Mag	57¾	55¼	56¾
Am Can	104¾	103¾	104¾
Am Can pr	113	113	113
Am Car & Fdy	146¾	146	146
Am Car & F pr	123¾	123¼	123¼
Am Cotton Oil	16¾	16¼	16¾
Am Hide & L pr	73¾	73¾	73¾
Am Tel & Tel	135¾	135¼	135¼
Am Tobacco	157¼	157	157
Am Woolen	105¾	104¾	104¾
Anaconda Cop	53¾	51¾	52¾
Atch T & S F	104¾	104¾	104¾
Atch T & S F pr	90¾	90	90
Balt & Ohio	54¾	53¼	54¼
Beth Steel	69¼	68¼	69¼
Brook Rap Tr	8¾	7¾	8¾
Brook R T ctf	7	6¾	7
Butte Cop & Z	10¾	10¾	10¾
Butte & Sup	35¼	35	35¼
Canadian Pacific	147¾	146¾	146¾
Cent Leather	38¼	38¼	38¾
Cent Leath pr	79	77¾	78¾
Chandler Motor	76	74	75¾
Ches & Ohio	73¾	73¼	73¾
Chi Gt West	6	5¾	6
Chi Gt West pr	14¾	14¾	14¾
Chi I & L & P	35¾	34¾	35¼
Chi M & St P	44¾	43¾	43¾
Chi & N'west	86¾	85¾	86
Chi & N'west pr	117¼	117¼	117¼
Chi R I & P	37¼	36¼	37
Chile Cop	29¾	28¾	29
Chino Cop	29¾	29¾	29¾
Coalers	41¾	40¾	41
Crucible Steel	83¾	82¾	83¾
Crucible Steel pr	93¼	92¼	93¼
Dome Mines	41	41	41
Erie	13¾	13¾	13¾
Erie 1 pr	19¼	19¼	19¾
Erie 2 pr	14	14	14
Fisher Body	188	188	188
Fisk Rby (O) pr	100	100	100
Gen Electric	189	188	189¾
Gen Elec spl	11	11	11
Gen Motor	15	14¾	15
Gen Motor pr	94¾	94¾	94¾
Gen Mot deb	84¾	84¾	84¾
Great North pr	79	78¼	78¾
Great North Ore	39¾	39¼	39¾
Hudson Motor	83¾	82¾	83
Hupp Motor Car	28¼	28¼	28¾
Illinois Cent	116	115¾	116
Inspir Cop	49¾	48¾	49¾
Int Mer Mar	23¾	19¾	23¾
Int Mer Mar pr	44¾	41¾	43¾
Inter Paper	56¾	56¾	56
Kennecott	43¾	42¼	42
Keystone	8¾	8¼	8¾
Lehigh Valley	69	68¾	69
Marlin Rock	15	13¾	14¾
Maxwell Mot A	63	61¾	61¾
Mexican Petrol	273	270	272
Miami Copper	29¾	28¾	29¼
Mo K & T of I	16¾	16	16¼
M K & T pr of I	43¾	43	43
Missouri Pacific	18	17¾	18
Missouri Pac pr	46¾	46¾	46¾
Nat Bis & Br	73	73	73¾
N Y Air Brake	33¾	32	33¼
N Y Air Brake A	60	59¾	59¾
N Y Central	99	97¾	98
N Y N H & H	20¾	19¾	19¾
Nor & West	114¾	114¾	114¾
North Pacific	80	79¾	80
Pacific Oil	45¾	45	45¾
Penn R R	40¾	40¾	40¾
Pierce Oil	4¾	4¾	4¾
Pierce Oil pr	40	40	40
Ry Steel Sp	131	130¾	131
Ray Con	15¾	15¾	15¾
Reading	78	78¼	78¼
Rep I & S	61¾	61¾	61¾
Rep I & S pr	96¾	96¾	96¾
Southern Pacific	94	93¾	93¾
South Railway	34¾	34	34¼
South Ry pfd	88¾	88¼	88¼
Texas Copper	13¾	13¾	13¾
Tobacco Prod A	83¾	83	83¾
Tobacco Prod	87¼	87	87¾
Tobacco Prod pr	121¾	121¾	121¾
Union Pacific	143	141¾	143
Union Pac pr	74¾	74¾	74¾
U S Rubber	63¾	63	63¾
U S Rubber pr	104¾	104¾	104¾
U S Steel	108¾	107¾	107¾
West El pr	111¾	111¾	111¾
West Un Tel	116¾	115	115¾
West Air Brake	119	117	119
Westhouse El	65¾	65¾	65¾
Willys Overland	7¾	7	7¼
Willys Overland pr	51¾	51¼	51¾
Worth Pump A	83	83	83

BOND MARKET

New York, March 15.—Bond prices generally displayed a slightly firmer tone in today's dealings. Issues of the sugar and copper companies showing marked strength. U. S. government bonds moved irregularly within a radius of eight cents on $100. Except for a drop of one point in Seine 7's, movement of foreign government securities was confined to fractions.

Railroad mortgages again moved irregularly within comparatively narrow limits. Lehigh Valley 6's up 1 1-4, and the St. Paul issues, up fractionally, were prominent among those moving to higher ground, while Chicago & Western Indiana 4's and Delaware & Hudson 4's were the conspicuous heavy spots.

Active liens of industrial companies were inclined to lose ground, Western Union 6 1-2's and Bethlehem Steel Refunding 5's, off 1 3-8 and 1 5-8 points, respectively, being the outstanding heavy spots. Cerro de Pasco 8's showed independent strength, gaining two points.

Total sales (par value) were $11,328,000.

Announcement was made today that the balance of an issue of $10,500,000 of Interborough Rapid Transit ten-year 6 per cent. gold notes, which was not subscribed for by the holders of Interborough-Metropolitan Collateral Trust 4 1-2's and Interborough Consolidated corporation preferred and common stockholders, has been sold. Public offering was made today of several minor issues, the largest being the $4,000,000 Los Angeles Gas & Electric corporation general and refunding mortgage 5 1-2 per cent. gold bonds at 97 3-4 and interest to yield about 5.70 per cent.

Liberty Bonds.

	High	Low.	Close
U S Lib 3½s	101.30	101.04	101.12
U S Lib 1st 4¼s	9800	97.92	97.94
U S Lib 2d 4¼s	97.90	97.84	97.88
U S Lib 3d 4¼s	98.02	98.00	98.00
U S Lib 4th 4¼s	98.06	97.98	98.00
Victory 4¾s	100.18	100.08	100.08
Treas. 4½s	99.48	99.42	99.44

Quoted in dollars and cents per $100 bond.

Foreign Exchange.

With the exception of sterling all quotations are in cents per unit of foreign currency:

Sterling—	Yesterday.	Year Ago.
Demand	$4.69¾	$4.82½
Cables	4.70 1-16	4.83⅛
France	6.04¾	8.85
Guilders	$9.52	$37.63
Marks	.0042¾	.27¼
Lire	4.75	5.04
Swiss francs	18.63	19.30
Pesetas	15.40	15.54
Belgian francs	5.32	8.34
Kronen		.013
Sweden	26.60	25.35
Denmark	19.17	21.05
Norway	18.18	17.50

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, March 14.—Except for a brief time spon after the opening, wheat today commanded a slight advance in price, houses with eastern connections absorbing the offerings. It was assumed that exporters were removing hedges. The market closed steady 1-8c to 3-8c net higher, with May 1.19 1-4 to 1.19 3-8 and July 1.14 3-4. Corn and oats both finished unchanged to 1-8c higher. In provisions, the outcome varied from 5c decline to 7c gain.

Upturns in the value of wheat were associated with estimates from the Atlantic seaboard that 400,000 to 500,000 bushels had been purchased there for shipment to Europe and that 750,000 bushels of Canadian wheat at Buffalo had also been bought for Europe. Word that the Buffalo transactions were at the lowest premium of the season over Winnipeg, May C. I. F., tended, however, to lean on the bullish effect. On the other hand, an advance in Liverpool quotations was something of a restraint on selling here, especially as Liverpool noted a better demand from European continental countries.

Announcement of further purchases of wheat to come here from Omaha failed to ring about any decided bearish reaction in the Chicago market and predictions of rain or snow for the domestic winter crop territory were also without much apparent influence on values. Such factors were more or less offset by a decrease in primary receipts and by talk of possible severe cuts to be made in the spring wheat acreage of the United States and Canada.

Corn and oats were firmer with wheat. Besides, receipts of corn were small, and shipping demand here for corn showed improvement.

Selling on the part of commission houses and the smaller packers did a good deal to counterbalance in the provision market the force of an upturn in hog values.

Chicago Grain Market.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
May	119¾	118¾	119¼
July	116¾	114¾	116¾
Sept	113	112¾	113¼
Corn—
May	74¾	73¾	73¾
July	76¾	75¾	75¾
Sept	77¾	76¾	76¾
Oats—
May	44¾	44¾	44¾
July	41¾	41¾	41¾
Sept	38¾	38¾	38¾

MONEY

New York, March 14.—Call loans steady; high 4 1-2; low 4 1-2; ruling rate 4 1-2; last loan 4 1-2; call loans against acceptances 5.

COTTON

New York, March 14.—Cotton spot quiet; middling 21.26.

METAL MARKET

New York, March 14.—Copper steady. Spot and futures 17; tin easier; spot and nearby 50.13; futures 49.87; iron firm, No. 1, Northern $1.00 a $2.00; No. 2, Northern $0.00 a $1.00; No. 2, Southern $7.00 a $8.00; lead steady, spot 5.25 a 5.60; zinc steady, East St. Louis and nearby delivery 7.75 a 7.85; antimony, spot 8.75 a 9.00.

CHARGE LIQUOR DRINKING AT HIGH SCHOOL EVENTS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, March 14.—The main business transacted at a meeting of the school board held Wednesday evening at the town building was the consideration of a number of complaints received from local citizens in regard to some of the school's courses and the examination marks. Dr. E. F. Guild of Windham presided.

The first complaint entered was to the effect that the courses at the local high school were not of a satisfactory nature for entrance into college. It was claimed by one man that he had authoritative information that Windham High school was next to lowest in this state in point of satisfactory courses for college entrance.

A delegation of parents and other interested parties appeared in regard to the method in which examination papers and daily work are marked as to average. It was the opinion of some of those present that students should be allowed to graduate or be promoted on lower averages than now are prevalent.

It was voted to make application to the state for securing two domestic science teachers under the provision of the Smith-Hughes act. Another complaint entered at the meeting was in regard to disorderly conduct and much drinking of liquor at basketball games and dances held in the high school. It was pointed out by Superintendent of Schools Egbert A. Case that on all of these occasions several of the men teachers of the schools and himself were on hand to supervise the conduct of those present. Besides this seemingly adequate provision there was always a member of the local police department present and on several of these affairs held at the school this year a plain clothes state policeman has been on hand.

No definite action was taken for remedying the causes of the numerous complaints introduced by the delegation. It was learned, however, that a state inspector would be on hand in the near future to investigate the matters brought up and to determine whether or not they were based upon proper ground.

Among some of the complaints entered were expressions of personal feelings toward the supposed incapacity of the teachers of some of the subjects at the school.

The reports of Truant Officer Jean P. Faulkner and of Medical Examiner Dr. W. P. S. Keating were read and accepted.

Adjournment was taken at 10.45 o'clock.

NIANTIC

Frank Russell has a force of men putting on an addition to the Dr. Tilton summer residence at Black Point. He also has the contract to erect a summer house at Giant's Neck for Dr. Brown of Norwich.

The Chamber of Commerce met recently in Odd Fellow's hall and at this session many important matters were considered. The names of two residents were considered for membership in this growing organization.

The meeting of the Black Point club was postponed from Tuesday owing to the disagreeable weather and will be held next week Tuesday with Mrs. Miles Cozzens of the Black Point road.

H. M. Swinney of the Niantic Lumber Co. was a business visitor in Hartford Tuesday.

Clarence Faulkner and brother, who are doing the plaster work in the interior of Mark D. Bush's home on Champlin Hill. This alterations are being made by John L. Beckwith and his force of helpers.

James Metcalf of Pine Grove attended the Harvey auction at Flanders, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. George A. Gavitt has returned to her home in the village after several days' trip to Middletown caring for her father, George G. Brooks, who is quite ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Howard Sherman.

Maurice Blake visited friends in Niantic, Tuesday.

Kenneth Gavitt is enjoying his annual vacation from his duties

RHEUMATIC PAINS GO SWOLLEN JOINTS VANISH

Rheumo—The One Safe and Quick-Acting Remedy for Rheumatism, Gout and Sciatica. Money Back if it Doesn't Satisfy.

Thousands of sufferers have found themselves free from the torture of pain, relieved from stiffened joints, many cases find chronic and deep seated troubles become able to work and be of use to themselves and their families.

They took Rheumo, the modern remedy of rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, arthritis, gout and chronic neuralgia.

Don't be skeptical about Rheumo. You will know in a few hours after beginning the treatment that the poisonous acids held in bondage by the kidneys through the internal channels. You will feel better in a day; you will know you are going to be helped in less than a week.

Don't take Rheumo because it is an advertised article, it merits your confidence. Rheumo is for sale in Norwich at Lee's Pharmacy, 25 Franklin street.

OPENING
Thursday, Friday, Saturday
March 15, 16, 17, Inclusive
An Exposition of Spring Styles Which Accurately Reflect the New Fashions.
MILLINERY — SUITS — CAPES
WRAPS AND DRESSES
ONE AND ALL CORDIALLY INVITED
B. GOTTHELF & CO.
94-100 MAIN STREET

Deaths.

Mrs. Ellen Sullivan, 70, died at her home in Hartford, Tuesday. She was born in Ireland and had lived in Hartford for 50 years. She is survived by a son, Thomas Sullivan of Hartford.

Mrs. Mary Ann Hall, 84, died at the home of her son, Frank Hall, in Hartford, Tuesday. She was born in Ireland and had lived in Hartford for 50 years. She is survived by a son, Frank Hall of Hartford.

Mrs. Mary Ann Hall, 84, died at the home of her son, Frank Hall, in Hartford, Tuesday. She was born in Ireland and had lived in Hartford for 50 years. She is survived by a son, Frank Hall of Hartford.

Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Dorman of Pine Grove.

V. G. Stanley and his assistant, Harry Gerard, are plastering the interior of Attorney William Egan's summer home on Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank French of Pattagansett avenue were in Guilford on Wednesday afternoon to attend the funeral of her sister, Mrs. William Norton, who was a former resident of Niantic.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer W. Russell of Crescent Beach who have been suffering from severe colds are improving and able to be out.

Mr. Dodge has returned to New York city after a short trip to Black Point. He is a summer resident at the Point, having occupied the Gada place last season.

Mrs. Chester Beebe of Main street was called to New London Tuesday evening by the sudden illness of her mother, Mrs. Nancy Turner, who is spending the winter there with her sister.

Turner Harding has returned to his home in the village after a few days' trip to Essex and Deep River.

A large hydro-aeroplane passed over Pine Grove about 1.45 Tuesday afternoon. As the aeroplane flew over Pine Grove the sea-gulls and wild ducks in the Niantic river became frightened and made many peculiar noises while flying away seeking shelter from the rear of the motor and huge size of the plane.

State Policeman W. E. Shea of the Center p k barracks was a caller in the village Sunday.

Nathan F. Lovee, William Colepaugh and Sydney Taylor are making alterations to the Davis property on Mai nstreet to be occupied this coming season by Attorney William Egan and family of Hartford.

Miss Annie Hill is making an extended visit to her sister, Mrs. Leon Farrin and family in Danielson.

Edward Rand has returned from a business trip to Middletown and will make a visit to his brother, Walter E. Johnson of the village.

Miss Lillian Clark has returned to her duties in Wallingford after a week end visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Clark of the Flanders road.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bell left Pine Grove Sunday for Boston to make their home after spending several months at the Boden cottage.

Representative Charles J. Manwarring who is suffering from a slight attack of appendicitis is improving at his home on the Black Point road.

J. T. Sherlock and family will move soon from Flanders to the Buckingham house on Smith avenue. Since the Lyme Electric Power Company moved its office to Niantic Mr. Sherlock decided to move to the village so as to be handy to his duties. Mr. Sherlock is entertaining his brother from Philadelphia, Pa.

The Woman's auxiliary of St. John's Episcopal chapel met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. D. L. Gates of Penn avenue.

The Girls' Friendly society of the village held their regular weekly meeting Wednesday evening in the parlors of the Morton house.

Mrs. Stabley of Pine Grove will leave soon for a business trip to New York.

C. S. Jewett of Lyme was in the village Saturday on business at the town clerk's office.

Arthur Eigard has completed wiring the Manwarring house on Pattagansett avenue.

Walter G. Baker was a business caller in Ne wLondon Monday.

John L. Beckwith is making alterations to the Mark D. Bush property on Chapman Hill.

M. R. Randall of Pine Grive was a New London business caller Tuesday.

Clifford Rogers and two sisters, the Misses Lillian and Mary, have returned to their home after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Maynard in Lyme.

Fiery, Itchy Eczema Healed Right Up By Applying Sulphur

Any breaking of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Sometimes of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eruption up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the severest case of eczema, and other skin troubles quickly yield to its healing influence.

POETRY

TO MY STRAWBERRY BED.

Beyond my window lies the dreaming sea
Beneath a cloudless vault of waning sun.
While cruder skills, pre-opened, pre-ordained
Did me
My roaming days slip dodo.

Up to the plain from the highest hill
A road leads which the carefree chil
Have trod;
There in the midst the stars are very still,
Night winds would have them so.

Beyond the smoke of factories there lie
The waiting fields to greet returning spring.
A stamp of violets match an April sky—
Yet none of these I sing.

They are but lesser loves that cannot stay,
The field, the hill, the stretch of sandy sea.
Strange that a heart could ever say them nay
They cling so tenderly.

The roads are open and the world wide
But I shall stay and mingle with the throng,
Hearing the songs the canyoned streets provide,
A bit of toil and song.

My love a garden is with walks of stone
With granite walks that bear no blade of grass,
Here in the city streets where souls are sown
And fleet-winged hours pass.
—Edward Yorke, in Boston Transcript.

LATE WISDOM.

We've trod the maze of error round,
Long wandering in the winding glade
And now the torch of truth is found,
It only shows us where we strayed;
By long experience we know—
Can rightly judge of friend and foes;
C[illegible]ch of these allow,
And all the faults discern in those.

Now, 'tis our boast that we can quell
The wildest passions in their rage,
Can their destructive force repel,
And their impetuous wrath assuage.
Ah, Virtue! dost thou arm when now
This bold rebellious race are fled?
When all these tyrants rest, and thou
Are warring with the mighty dead?
—George Crabbe, in Indianapolis News.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

"You talk so hopefully you must be an optimist."

"I'm not. I'm a pessimist trying to cheer myself up."—Boston Evening Transcript.

"Are you afraid of foreign entanglements?"

"Yes," said Senator Borghum, "but not as much as I am of a local combine out in my district."—Washington Evening Star.

"Did your wife go for you when you got home late last night?"

"No; for once I was in luck. The people in the flat next door were having a spat and my wife was busy listening."—Guelph Evening Mercury.

"Lend you a fiver? Why don't you borrow of Markley? He's easy."

"But I don't know him as well as I know you."

"That's just it; and he doesn't know you as well as I do."—Boston Transcript.

"I say, Bertie, old dear, what are you growing those whiskers for?"

"Oh, Freddie, old bean, it's a dashed nuisance, but the pater started such a row over my hanging about doing nothing at all."—American Legion Weekly.

"What does Coyote Charlie mean by going around barefoot in all kinds of weather?"

"He's kind o' scared an' superstitious," replied Cactus Joe. "A fortune teller sized him up for a regular bad man an' tried to flatter him by telling him he would die with his boots on."—Washington Star.

The Office Manager—Miss Oldsmith complains that you attempted to kiss her.

The Handsome Bookkeeper — She wasn't complaining. She was boasting.—Detroit News.

"So it was once your ambition to have a business of your own."

"Yes."

"But your ship didn't come in, eh? That's too bad!"

"Oh, I don't know. I found that there was plenty of stevedore work unloading other people's ships, so I've got along pretty well."—Boston Transcript.

KALEIDOSCOPE

Parsonite, a new radium bearing mineral found in the Belgian Congo, was described lately to the Academy of Sciences in an address written by the Belgian Professor Rhoaf. The paper told of the success that is being met with in extracting radium from the mineral at the special laboratory in Antwerp. — Scientific American.

Brazil has the strongest naval fleet in South America. It also has an army of sixty battalions of infantry, forty-one machine gun batteries, eighty squadrons of cavalry, ninety batteries of light artillery and eighty-one batteries of heavy artillery, in addition to special artillery units, six battalions of engineers and thirteen aviation squadrons.

We scan the records of the patent office in vain to find the name of Jenny Lind as an inventor. Yet she was responsible in a large degree for the "parlor car." When she was brought to this country by P. T. Barnum she was obliged to spend much of her time in traveling from place to place on the wretched railroads of the period. So, to reduce the discomforts of the trip, she had the seats of an ordinary car removed and the vehicle furnished with chairs, tables and other pieces of furniture which would be appropriate to a parlor. She joccosely called this her "parlor car," and it is undoubtedly from this that we get the name for our Pullman chair cars.—Scientific American.

FOR YOUR NEXT BREAKFAST TRY OUR HOME MADE

A Bulletin Want Advertisement Will Sell It

DIED

CURRAN — In Plainfield, March 14, 1928, John Joseph Curran, son of the late Patrick and Julia (Foley) Curran, aged 19 years.
Notice of funeral hereafter.

FUNERAL NOTICES

LEOX — In Hallville, March 13, 1928, Julia Lucy, wife of the late Amos Lucy, aged 83 years.
Funeral at her late home, Hallville, Friday, March 16, at 2.30 o'clock. Burial in the family plot in Pequetanuck cemetery.

SAUNDERS—In Fairport, N. Y., March 10, 1928, Mary, widow of Levi S. Saunders.
Funeral services at Church & Allen's, 15 Main street, Norwich, Thursday, March 15, at 2 p. m. Burial in Pachaug cemetery.

WETMORE—Entered into rest, in Norwich, East Great Plain, March 13, 1928, Emma E. Brown, wife of Arnold Wetmore, aged 58 years.
Services at her late residence, East Great Plain, Thursday, afternoon, March 15, at 2.30 o'clock. Burial in Maplewood cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of expressing our appreciation for the many kind acts and expressions of sympathy shown us during the recent illness and death of Katherine Clifford, and we are also deeply grateful to those who sent flowers to the funeral.
MISS HANNAH CLIFFORD,
JOHN AND JAMES CLIFFORD,
MR. AND MRS. SWAIN.

Church & Allen
15 MAIN STREET
FUNERAL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS
Lady Assistant
HENRY E. CHURCH
WM. SMITH ALLEN
Telephone 328-3

CUMMINGS & RING
Funeral Directors and Embalmers
313 Main Street
Phone 138-2 Lady Assistant

GAGER
FUNERAL DIRECTOR AND EMBALMER
PROMPT SERVICE—DAY OR NIGHT
The Henry Allen & Son Co.
65 MAIN STREET
Funeral Directors and Embalmers
Lady Assistant Telephone 410-2
DAVID H. WILSON

Shea & Burke
Funeral Directors
41 Main Street

HOURIGAN BROS.
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
Norwich and Jewett City

FLORISTS

TREES, flowering shrubs, plants and vines. Maplewood Nursery Co. Tel. 915-2. Free delivery. aprl4

TRUCKING

GEORGE LAMBERT — Moving and trucking, dumping trucks for hire, 21 Cliff St., or Occum. Tel. 617-12. jy24

Est. 1874. Tel. 176.
ARTHUR H. LATHROP,
Auto Trucking and Teaming, Furniture and Piano Moving.
Shetucket St.

C. D. JOSLYN, 327 West Main St. We move everything anywhere. Special attention given to moving boilers and machinery. Tel. 1512-2. nov2d

Long Distance Moving and Expressing. Stonestreet & Boswell Ave. Tel. 1241.

TRANSFER and moving, long distance moving a specialty. John I. Ford, 433 Main St. Phone 712.

C. B. CROMLEY & SON,
Shetucket St. Phone 338.
LONG DISTANCE MOVING.

PAINT AND WALLPAPER

JOHN F. AMBURN & CO., painting, paperhanging and decorating; estimates cheerfully furnished. 800 Laurel Hill Ave. marl5d

CHAIN WALLPAPER CO., 21 Willow St., near Broadway Theatre, 10c, 12c, 15c, bought in combination; new, best of goods. A. K. Bowman, Mgr. jan8d

FOR SALE—Paint, $1.85 per gal., regular $2.50 grade, wallpaper, 10c per roll. Max Sussel, 183 West Main St., next to Fire Station. mar4d

FOR SALE—Automobiles

FOR SALE—1926 Dort touring car in excellent condition, 1921 Chevrolet touring car, 1931 Oakland touring car with all good tires and can be bought right. Bailey's Garage, Bath St. mar15d

FOR SALE—Bargain Ford touring, demountable rims, Fyr-fyter, tools, tool box, speedometer, mirror, new extra tire and tubes, good running order, $90. E. Roscoe, State Road, Scotland. Phone Willimantic 342-14. mar15d

THE D. & M. MOTOR CAR CO. will overhaul and repair your car; they quote the lowest prices in the city; service and satisfaction guaranteed. 275 Main St. Phone 1449-2. marl4d

FOR SALE — 1919 seven-passenger touring car, in good order, can will exchange for small car. C. Chamberlain, City Lunch. marl4d

FOR SALE—Ford touring car in good running order, three new tires, self-starter, electric lights, new battery, cheap; can be seen after 6 o'clock. R. E. Hall, 7 Nelson Place. marl5d

FOR SALE — 1925 Ford coupelet, 4 cord touring car, with shock absorbers and other extras, total mileage 20,000 miles, mechanically as serviceable as new. W. S. Allis, 105 Broadway. mar3d

FOR SALE—Two Ford touring, Chevrolet touring, one Oldsmobile touring, Liberty touring, Dodge touring. Price $45 up. Inquire Hudson's repair corner Bliss corner, C. V. Pendleton, 45 Broadway, Norwich. feb24

AUTO WRECKING

PARTS FOR ALL CARS
NEW AND USED TIRES
Norwich Auto Wrecking Co.
471-473 NORTH MAIN STREET
Near Scotch Cap Phone 2119

CARS SOLD ON TERMS OR CASH
ADAMS TAVERN GARAGE
T. ETHIER, Jr., Prop.
THE BEST IN USED CARS
THE BEST IN AUTO PAINTING
W. LAMBERT, PAINTER
12 WEST TOWN STREET
Telephone 2153

A Bulletin Want Advertisement Will Get It

WANTED—Female

WANTED—Girl for general house work; references required. Schaller, 111 Broadway. marl5d

WANTED—Middle aged woman for chamber work. Martha House, 16 Broadway.

WANTED—A housekeeper in family of two. Phone 1830. marl4d

WANTED—Girl or woman to assist with housework. Phone 79 Williams St. marl4d

WANTED—Middle aged woman to assist with light housework. Address M. D. V., care of Bulletin. marl4d

WANTED—Middle aged housekeeper. L. B. 1406, Jewett City. marl3d

WANTED—Middle aged American woman for general housework; reference required. Address Box 513, Norwich. marl6

SALESLADIES
Wanted At Once
Ideal Cotton Stores, Inc.
119 MAIN STREET
COR. MARKET STREET
NORWICH, CONN.

WANTED
EXPERIENCED SALESLADY IN OUR MILLINERY DEPARTMENT.
B. GOTTHELF & CO.,
94-100 Main Street

WANTED—Male

WANTED—Tailors and finishers on sack coats. Apply George MacCormack Co., Tailors and Haberdashers, corner Bank and Pearl Sts., New London. marl5d

WANTED—An old established concern wants two men, at least 24 years of age, married preferred, to handle its nationally advertised lines in and around Norwich; no stocks or bonds. Mr. Fisher, the Wauregan Hotel, 9-12 today. marl5d

WANTED—A prominent manufacturer has an opening for two men, over 28 years of age, married preferred, with cars. 9-12 Thursday, Room No. 56, Wauregan Hotel. marl5d

WANTED—Man to run freight elevator. West Side Silk Mill. marl6d

WANTED—Boy, at least 16 years of age. Apply West Side Silk Mill. marl5d

WANTED—More salespeople in towns and cities; 150 products, extracts, spices, soaps, toilet articles; easiest sellers; no advance in prices; on market 34 years; no bond required; hustlers make $1 hour. Write W. T. Rawleigh Co., Ct. 859, Memphis, Tenn. marl0d

WANTED—Workers for cast iron boilers and plate work; part made on moulding machines; write or telephone our expense. Richmond Radiator Co., Norwich, Conn. Telephone 48. Conference scale—union shop. marl4d

WANTED—Good weavers on plain and fancy woolen work. Somersville Mfg. Co., Somersville, Conn. marl4d

WANTED—Salesman; high class man with car; splendid opportunity for hustler; adjacent territory; drawing account against commission. Hirsch Roofing Compound Co., 2015 Market St., Philadelphia, Pa. marl4d

WANTED—Position as chauffeur on truck or private car; experienced. Phone Lebanon 37-12. marl5d

WANTED—Increase your income! Sell insurance covering all accidents and disease; limited and full coverage policies; premium $5 yearly upward; natural death benefit; direct home office contract; liberal commissions; write now for district. National Accident Society, 320 Broadway, New York City. Established 1885. mar12d

WANTED—Man on dairy farm. W. F. Clark, Lebanon. Tel. 15-4. mar3d

WANTED
SPINNERS for Night Work, on Davis and Furber Mules. Apply Joseph Hall & Son, Inc., Trading Cove Mill.

WANTED
ROPING CARRIER
JOSEPH HALL & SON, Inc.
Trading Cove Mill

WANTED

An efficient male bookkeeper—one capable of taking charge of office. State experience and salary. Permanent position.
Address BOX J., Bulletin.

POULTRY

FOR SALE—White Wyandotte eggs for hatching; 12 for $1, 26 for $2, 50 for $3, 100 for $5. E. L. Dearnley, Jewett City, Conn. mar15d

FOR SALE—240-egg incubator, Hercules cypress, complete, good condition, $15. E. Ronson, State Road, Scotland. Phone Willimantic 342-14. mar15d

FOR SALE—Hatching eggs from carefully mated, heavy laying Single Comb Reds, $2, $3, $5 per 15; standard type and color, bred to win and lay. C. A. Ricker, Norwich Town, Conn. mar17thSTuTh8

WANTED—De Laval cream separator, capacity 500 lbs. or over; 400 R. I. Red baby chicks. Phone 481. marl4d

FOR SALE—400 laying pullets, R. I. Red and Barred Rock; also two brooders. W. A. Chamberlain, City Lunch. marl4d

FOR SALE—R. I. Red eggs for hatching, $10 per 100, $1.25 single setting of 15 eggs. Mrs. Rufus Hurlburt, Glebe Farm. Phone 1874-32. marl4d

FOR SALE—Pure bred R. I. Reds and Barred Rock cockerels. Tel. 12-6, 5 to 6 p. m. or 5 p. m., Jewett City. marl4d

FOR SALE—S. C. R. I. Red eggs for hatching, from white diarrhoea tested stock. W. W. Service, Norwich. R. F. D. 7. Tel. 1853-3. mar15d

BABY CHICKS, free land; cosmian breeds; prepaid guaranteed delivery. Send for catalog. Roy Clark, E. Hartford, Ct. jan2d

MALL BROTHERS' baby chicks, White Leghorns, Rhode Island Reds, Barred and White Rocks; best breeding, strong, healthy chicks, reasonable. L. Mall, Wallingford, Conn. dec29d

WHEN THE WANT is not your business before the public, there is no medium better than through the advertising columns of The Bulletin.

A Bulletin Want Advertisement Will Get It

WANTED—Miscellaneous

WANTED—To rent or purchase of first owner, 10 to 20 acres of land, suitable for poultry. Address Poultry, Box 289, Bulletin. mar16Th8

WANTED—Boys and girls (or adults) to work in shade pantry; apply 28 Franklin St. Ware Bros. 48 Jackson St., Willimantic. Tel. 632-3. marl4tf

WANTED—Second hand Edison diamond disc phonograph, cost new $150, used only a few months, special at $70 cash; easy terms if desired. The Talking Machine Shop, 24 Franklin Sq. marl0d

WANTED—Antiques, tools and second-hand furniture. H. H. Tiger, 55 Franklin St. Phone 1727-2. jan21d

WE BUY and pay highest prices for second hand furniture and stoves. Lee, successor to King, 44-50 Water St. Phone 1305. sep15d

You Need Pants
To Work In — To Dress Up, and to match your coat.
We carry a large assortment at the lowest prices.
Every Pair Guaranteed To Fit.
L. POLLOCK
327 MAIN STREET
Opposite Post Office

WANTED
To rent or lease a house of seven or more good sized rooms, modern, and with steam or hot water heat; Chelsea Parade section preferred; occupancy by May 1st. Write BOX 576, Bulletin. marl4

WANTED — WEAVERS
Will Take on a Few Learners
THE FALLS COMPANY
Yantic Street

AUTOMOBILE ACCESSORIES

FOR SALE—Tires, 30x3 1-2, $7.50; 32x4, $10.; 33x4, $14; 34x4, $15; all firsts, guaranteed. The Johnson Co., 107-109 Franklin St. marl4

FOR SALE—Ford honeycomb radiators, all brass, guaranteed, $11 up. The Johnson Co., 107-109 Franklin St., Norwich. feb1d

NORWICH Auto and Truck Paint Shop; all work guaranteed. Joseph Ferry, Pond St. Phone 1397. oct15

AUTO TOPS, radiator covers, curtains, slip covers and tire covers; reupholstering all kinds of autos. Jos. Arsenaux, Post St. Phone 1397. marl6d

OVERHAULING AND REPAIR WORK
OF ALL KINDS
Automobiles, Carriages, Wagons, Trucks and Carts
Mechanical Repairs, Painting, Trimming, Upholstering and Wood Work. Blacksmithing in All Its Branches
Scott & Clark Corp.
507 TO 515 NORTH MAIN STREET

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

IMMEDIATE LOANS
To the great number of honest people who need credit to pay overdue debts or to give their families opportunities they otherwise could not have. We lend up to $300 at legal rates on home furniture without removal, repayable in convenient installments. Our aim is immediate and confidential.
CALL, WRITE, OR PHONE 1-0-8-4.
Beneficial Loan Society
58 STATE STREET
NEW LONDON, CONN.

COAL AND WOOD

FOR SALE—Well seasoned slab and hard wood. H. E. Beard & Son. Phone 615-4. mar15d

FOR SALE—Hard wood four foot logs, delivered on car or C. V. anywhere between Willimantic and New London. Tel. Willimantic Div. 819-14. William J. Bowler, West Willington. marl4d

FOR SALE—Best dry hard wood; the kind at cords; lowest prices. Phone 816. jan16d

COAL AND SEASONED WOOD and kindlings in large or small quantities. Phone 154 or 1225-3. C. Shaffer, 317 St., formerly DYER'S COAL yard.

FOR SALE—Overland sedan, good condition, new tires, $125. Inquire 66 Mt. Pleasant St., Mopsicle. mar4d

FOR SALE—Upright used piano, bargain for a quick buyer, $125, convenient terms, or a special discount for cash. mar9d

FOR SALE—An upright Edison diamond disc phonograph, cost new $150, used only a few months, special at $70 cash; easy terms if desired. The Talking Machine Shop, 24 Franklin Sq. marl0d

FOR SALE—New stucco house on Elizabeth St., with large lot and henhouse, convenient to school and mills; town and city only. Call 218 Elizabeth St. Phone 474-12. mar9d

FOR SALE—At once, for cash, six room cottage in good repair, near Connecticut college; five minutes from trolley and near Thames river, has electric lights, bump in sink, furnace in cellar, verandas on three sides. If interested, write Box 500, Bulletin. mar8d

FOR SALE—Cottage of six rooms and bath, in excellent condition, together with barn, garage and small tract of land, located inside city limits; price $4,200. Box 24, Bulletin. marl4d

FOR SALE—Beautiful mahogany 85-note, fully guaranteed player piano with free bench, free rolls and free delivery; only $495, on terms to suit; investigate. Plaut-Cadden Co., Norwich. feb23d

FOR SALE—Buescher saxophones, Bacon banjos, Ludwig drums, violins, ukeleles, accordions and everything musical on easy terms, at The Talking Machine Shop, 24 Franklin Sq. marl5d

FOR SALE—Upright piano in A-1 playing condition; fine value for $95 on terms. Plaut-Cadden Co., Norwich. feb23d

FOR SALE—New cottage house, seven rooms and bath, lot 50x100 feet; price for quick sale $6,000. Phone 141-4. jan5d

FOR SALE — Herring-Hall-Marvin safes for office and household use; all sizes. Plaut-Cadden Co., Norwich. nov4d

PUBLIC SALE
At 240 Broadway,
across from the Wattles house,
THURSDAY and FRIDAY, this week,
consisting of one upright piano (maker Fisch), tables, chairs, china, pictures, bedroom suites, rugs, oilcloth, over 500 books and garden tools.
Hours of sale: 9-12, 2-5, each day. Come and bring your friends. marl4d

FOR SALE
MAIN ST. FIRE STATION
The fire commissioners of the City of Norwich will receive sealed bids up to and including Tuesday, March 27th, 1928, for the Main Street Fire Station and the lot of land on which it stands, located on Main Street next to the Merchants Bank. Said real estate is carried on the books of the City of Norwich at Eighteen Thousand Dollars and is about 40 feet front and 50 feet in depth. The sealed bids may be left with the Chief of the Fire Department at the Central Fire Station of whom also inquiry as to further particulars may be made. The commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids and any bid that may be accepted will be accepted subject to the ratification by a City meeting.
ANSON B. GROVER,
EDWARD CROOKS,
WILLIAM H. ALDRICH,
Fire Commissioners of the City of Norwich

For Sale
AN OLD ESTABLISHED BARBER SHOP FULLY EQUIPPED FOR BUSINESS. MUST BE SOLD ON ACCOUNT OF OWNER'S ILLNESS. A GREAT CHANCE FOR A GOOD BARBER. FOR FULLER PARTICULARS INQUIRE OF
JOHN A. MORAN
Franklin Square

FOR SALE
Choice two-family house, centrally located on Prospect St. Will be sold very reasonable if taken at once. For further particulars, inquire of
JOHN A. MORAN,
REAL ESTATE BROKER,
Franklin Square.

FARM FOR SALE

Farm of 111 acres, more or less, well divided into fields and pasture, situated in the town of Sprague, Conn., about 2 miles from Baltic, on the road leading from Baltic to Hopeville; 8 room house in good repair; large barn, 40 feet wide, 70 feet long, with ell 30 feet wide, 70 feet long; 2 silos, one 14 feet in diameter and 30 feet high, the other 12 feet in diameter and 30 feet high; 2 hen houses, 1 building 20 feet wide, 40 feet long, the other 20 feet wide, 30 feet long; 1 building 20 feet wide, 30 feet long, suitable for garage, wood shed or tool house; 1 building 20 feet wide, 30 feet long, suitable for sheep barn or hog house; 1 building 20 feet wide, 30 feet long, suitable for wagon shed or tool

CLOUDY, FOLLOWED BY SNOW TODAY

The Bulletin.

Norwich, Thursday, March 15, 1923.

THE WEATHER.

Conditions.

The disturbance that was off the southern New England coast Tuesday night moved rapidly northeastward to Newfoundland and another disturbance of marked intensity was centred over New Mexico Wednesday night. Pressure increased decidedly Wednesday over the eastern states and it remained high from the northern Pacific coast eastward to Minnesota and over the Canadian northwest.

This pressure distribution has been attended by precipitation mostly in the form of snow within the last 24 hours in the southern lake region, the upper Ohio valley, the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic states.

The weather became colder Wednesday in the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic states, while there was a reaction to higher temperature in the Mississippi valley, and the upper lake region.

The southwestern disturbance will move northeastward during the next two days and it will be attended by general precipitation over the states east of the Mississippi river except southern Florida. However, the weather will remain generally fair in New England and the South Atlantic states until Thursday night. The temperature will rise in the upper Ohio valley Thursday and Friday and in the Middle and North Atlantic states Friday, while colder weather will overspread the lower Ohio valley, Tennessee, and the east Gulf states Friday.

Winds.

North of Sandy Hook: Northeast and east, increasing Thursday afternoon and night and weather overcast followed by snow Thursday night.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Northeast and east increasing Thursday afternoon and night, weather overcast followed by rain Thursday afternoon or night.

Forecast.

For Southern New England: Increasing cloudiness, followed by snow late Thursday afternoon or night; Friday rain and warmer.

Observations in Norwich.

The Bulletin's observations show the following changes in temperature and barometric changes Wednesday:

	Ther.	Bar.
7 a. m.	36	30.60
12 m.	35	30.60
6 p. m.	33	30.70

Highest 36, lowest 32.

Comparisons.

Predictions for Wednesday: Cloudy and colder.

Wednesday's weather: Fair, colder, northwest wind.

SUN, MOON AND TIDES.

Day.	Sun Rises.	Sun Sets.	High Water.	Moon Rises.
	a. m.	p. m.	a. m.	a. m.
12	6.07	5.49	5.20	2.30
13	6.05	5.50	6.13	3.09
14	6.04	5.51	7.09	3.51
15	6.02	5.53	8.00	4.38
16	6.00	5.54	8.46	5.05
17	5.59	5.55	9.25	5.34
18	5.57	5.56	10.03	Sets.

Six hours after high water it is low water, which is followed by flood tide.

TAFTVILLE

The funeral of Miss Katherine Clifford was held from her late home on Bushnell street, Tuesday morning, with services at Sacred Heart church, where a solemn high mass was sung by the pastor, Rev. U. O. Bellerose. Rev. Frederick Cohalen of St. Mary's Memorial church was deacon, and Rev. Henri Chagnon, sub-deacon. The numerous beautiful floral offerings were tributes to the esteem in which the deceased was held in the community. The bearers were John Donovan, William Malone, Daniel Shea, James Daley, James West and John Carroll. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery. Undertaker George G. Grant was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Miss Mary Taggart is confined to her home on Norwich avenue with an attack of the grippe.

Joseph Codere is in Boston, Mass., where he will spend several days, returning Sunday.

Mrs. Edmund Hindle was hostess to the Thimble club Wednesday evening at her home on North Third avenue.

Alterations are underway at the barn of Henry Banker on the Occum road.

The Loomfixers' union held their regular monthly business meeting Wednesday evening in the St. Louis hall.

Sewer pipes which had become blocked with ice were thawed out by steam Wednesday by men in the employ of the Ponemah mills.

Jake Benoit, president of the Ponemah Wheel club, and "Hop" Donahue, stage manager of the minstrel troupe, were in Plainfield Tuesday evening to talk over plans for the appearance of the minstrel show in that town.

Commissioner Bennett Will Speak.

Charles J. Bennett, Connecticut highway commissioner, has been asked by Governor Gifford Pinchot to speak at the nation-wide highway conference to be held in Harrisburg, Pa., Friday and Saturday, March 23 and 24.

Of particular interest will be the symposium on "The Experience of the States in Traffic Regulations." Commissioner Bennett of Connecticut, who has made an intensive study of this question, has been asked to speak on this subject.

Robins Seen Friday.

Significant that spring is approaching, a robin was seen last Friday, by a resident of Vergason avenue.

COLD IN CHEST

Do the right thing and be sure of speedy relief. Often chest colds and sore throat go over night if you use

BEGY'S MUSTARINE

Better than a mustard plaster, does the work and does it better—will not blister—30c—60c—yellow box.

Keep Bowels Open

A freshly brewed cup of Celery King every night drives out poisonous waste. Tone up liver, brighten dull eyes—banish sallow skin. 25 cts. Buy some tonight for the whole family.

NORWICH POSTAL SAVINGS $167,817

Postal savings in this department at the Norwich post office were at a total of $167,817 at the close of February.

For the first time in more than two years postal savings deposits show an increase over withdrawals, according to figures for February compiled at the post office department in Washington. Since January, 1921, a steady decline in the balance of funds held in postal savings accounts has been reported each month.

The decline in postal savings has been attributed largely to the attractiveness of other government securities paying higher interest rates. Therefore, the "come back" staged last month by postal savings is hailed as indicating a general employment condition throughout the country so healthy as to overshadow the natural desire for higher interest.

Total deposits on January 31, amounted to $131,564,600; On February 28, they were $133,073,000, an increase of $508,000.

The largest increase, amounting to $193,732, was reported by New York City, while Boston, Mass., was second with $109,063. Kansas City, Mo., was third with $88,493; Roundup, Mont., fourth with $25,719; Uniontown, Pa., fifth with $25,223; Pocatello, Idaho, sixth with $23,546; Miami, Fla., seventh with $17,606; Mount Pleasant, Pa., eighth with $11,967, and Great Falls, Mont., ninth with $7,906.

Many cities moved up in rank, as a result of February deposits. Kansas City took ninth place from Portland, Oregon, and at the same time increased her lead on her sister city of St. Louis, which occupies 12th place. San Francisco and Los Angeles which have been running neck and neck, exchanged places, the former taking the lead. Other cities moving up in rank include: Bridgeport, Conn., McKees Rocks, Pa., Ironwood, Mich., Washington, D. C., Minneapolis, Minn., Roslyn, Wash., Pawtucket, R. I., Erie, Pa., Kansas City, Kansas, Great Falls, Mont., Pocatello, Ida., Wilmington, Del., and Manchester, N. H.

CONNECTICUT FORTUNATE IN ESCAPING RABIES EPIDEMIC

Connecticut has been exceedingly fortunate in recovering from the epidemic of rabies among dogs of the state, through the activities of the state commissioner on domestic animals. It will probably be remembered by all that in 1916 rabies was widespread and stringent quarantine measures were imposed which has succeeded in diminishing the number of rabies cases among animals from 161 in 1917 to 36 in 1922.

It is felt that rabies can be further diminished by the immunization of dogs against this disease in those districts where rabies cases in animals are reported. By doing this, a dog would immunized against the disease and could not be infected by the "mad" dog running around suffering from hydrophobia. Dogs not immunized by vaccination against rabies are quarantined on the home premises in the quarantined areas.

Connecticut residents must not forget that rabies is spread to human beings, and only through efficacy of the Pasteur treatment in immunizing persons have we escaped human deaths, says a statement from the state board of health. The efficiency of the immunization against rabies is shown by the fact that since 1913 there have been no human cases or deaths from rabies in Connecticut, although cases existed among animals, but to a diminishing degree.

Rabies in animals will probably never disappear from Connecticut until the dogs are either immunized or the disease disappears from adjoining states.

STEAMER CAPE COD IS AGROUND NEAR GREENPORT

New London, March 14.—Word was received here late this afternoon that the freighter "Cape Cod" of the Thames River Line bound from Norwich, Conn., for New York, was aground in Long Island sound off Orient Point, near Greenport, Long Island. The Merritt, Chapman and Scott Wrecking Company, of this city sent out a lighter and the tug "Westerly" to assist the vessel.

According to meagre reports received here, the "Cape Cod" ran aground early this morning in a fog, staving a hole in her bottom. It is not known how serious the damage is. The vessel has a crew of thirty-five men and carried 350 tons of freight. As far as is known here there are no passengers aboard. The "Cape Cod" left Norwich late yesterday afternoon and ran into a fog which forced her to feel her way down the Thames river to the submarine base where she stopped for a short time. She then went into the sound and ran aground early this morning. A message was sent to the wrecking company late this afternoon.

WORKER'S COMPENSATION FOR EXTENSIVE BURNS

Six workmen's compensation agreements as follows have been approved by Commissioner J. J. Donohue:

United Workers, Norwich, employer, and Ida Connell, employe, Rock Nook Home, extensive burns on arms, at rate of $7.12.

New England Carpet Lining Co., New London, employer, and Elias Pearl, employe, burns on hand and face, at rate of $8.90.

New London Ship & Engine Co., employer, and Sam Miscarella, New London, employe, crushed index finger, right hand, at rate of $13.20.

United Metal Mfg. Co., Norwich, employer, and Henry Leopold, employe, cut second finger, left hand, at rate of $10.67.

New England Carpet Lining Co., New London, employer, and Miss H. Austin, employe, wrenched arm and side, at rate of $5.40.

Reliance Yarn Co., Norwich, employer, and Arthur Tallanse, Fox hill, employe, amputation of index finger and laceration of ring finger, right hand, at rate of $9.

HIGGINS HOLDS FIRST IN COLONIAL PINOCHLE

Huntington with high score of 7,515 for the evening pushed Sherman from second place, while Higgins held first place, and Davis with low score of 5,355 for the evening had no difficulty in holding last place in Tuesday evening's play in the Colonial Club pinochle tournament. Scores for the evening: Huntington 7,515; Higgins 7,485; Lamb, playing for R. B. S. Washburn 7,370; Harwood 7,355; McNaught 7,235; Sherman 7,160; Church 7,080; Tracy 6,900; Pierson 6,840; Allen 6,550; Amburn 6,465; Kenefick 6,450; Boynton playing for Royce 6,350; T. G. Washburn 5,515; Koons 5,575; Davis 5,355. Standing to date: Higgins 22,855; Huntington 22,460; Sherman 22,370; Pierson 21,475; Church 20,930; R. B. S. Washburn 20,870; Harwood 20,815; McNaught 20,645; Amburn 20,610; Tracy 20,485; Koons 20,365; T. G. Washburn 20,320; Allen 20,190; Kenefick 20,165; Royce 19,630; Davis 17,820.

LAST MINUTE RUSH ON INCOME TAX RETURNS

Deputy Internal Revenue Collector George M. Charbonneau, has been putting in busy hours this week at his office in the post office lobby with the last-minute applicants to make their income tax returns. He has had a line of men waiting at about all hours of the day to ask him questions and get assistance in making out their returns.

The limit for getting in the returns is March 15.

Book By Norwich Author.

According to the notices in the literary columns of the New York papers, One World at a Time, the latest book by Miss Margaret Fuller of Norwich is to be published in England.

Approximately 15,000 tons of tacks are made in this country a year.

FOUND NOT GUILTY ON WILFUL NEGLECT CHARGE

James Watrous of the town of Bozrah was discharged and the charge of wilful neglect in securing medical attention for his wife, who died suddenly last Friday of pneumonia, was nolled at a hearing held before Justice of the Peace John J. Sweeney in Bozrah Tuesday night.

Mr. Watrous is the father of eight children and lives at Scott Hill, in the town of Bozrah near the border of Salem and is employed in a saw mill, four miles from his home. The testimony brought out the fact that he usually returned to his home three or four times a week, and on Tuesday, March 6th, left for work, his wife then being in good health. Friday one of the sons came to the mill and told his father that his mother was very ill, and Mr. Watrous immediately left for home running a good part of the distance. Seeing that his wife was seriously ill he against the wishes of his wife sent for medical aid. One doctor could not come but Dr. C. C. Gildersleeve of Norwich was asked to come and on his arrival found Mrs. Watrous had died.

The case was discussed in that part of the county and word was sent to the state humane society who sent Agent Williams of Hartford, chief investigator, to learn the facts. As a result of the investigation a warrant was issued by the humane society for the arrest of Watrous and the arrest took place Tuesday by Constable Jeremiah Sweeney.

In court at the home of Justice Sweeney Tuesday night, Health Officer Elijah Abell, First Selectman Leroy Lathrop, and Grand Juror Jeremiah Allen, all of Bozrah testified in favor of Mr. Watrous. Their testimony was that although the family was in poor circumstances Mr. Watrous had provided for them to the best of his ability. The humane society endeavored to show that no medical attention had been given but this was not proven as it was shown that Mr. Watrous summoned medical assistance as soon as he arrived home on Friday. The family lived on the farm of Jabez Bailey, who is in the meat business, and Mr. Bailey testified that Watrous provided from $4 to $6 weekly for meat for his family. Bread that was found in the home gave evidence that Mr. Watrous had provided for the wants of his family as well as he could.

It was found that the mother, who was formerly Nina Scott, of Waterford, has been ill of the grip but that she had recovered, and later evidently suffered a relapse. Her brother testified that the children would be cared for and that the father had always provided for his family when the Watrous family lived in Groton.

HOUSE REJECTS BILL FOR $5,000 COMMERCE BUREAU

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, March 14.—The house today rejected Senate Bill 231, concerning the State Farm for Women, amending section 1726 of the general statutes so as to include in the class of persons that may be committed persons of the age of sixteen or over who are in manifest danger of falling into habits of vice or are leading vicious lives. Senate Bill 147, providing that telegraph and telephone poles may be occupied by towns, cities and boroughs for municipal purposes, within their limits without charge. The bill allowed the use of one form upon each pole.

Concurrence was voted with the senate in rejecting the bill exempting from taxation property of ex-soldiers.

The bill creating a bureau of foreign and domestic commerce with an appropriation of $5,000 for use by the sub-committee in charge of the state pier at New London was turned down with an unfavorable report by the committee on appropriations.

House Bill 890, that provided for the reimbursement of holders of liquor licenses was on explanation by Mr. Darbie, rejected as there is a case now in litigation before the supreme coure and it is unwise at this time to pass new legislation on the subject.

CHARGES OCCUM MAN THREATENED WITH PISTOL

A glance at the blotter at the police station shows one care for the court for this (Thursday) morning to be that of Peter Delisle of Occum, charged with breach of the peace, but according to M. E. Antokol of 29 Pearl street, this city, there is a lot more about the circumstances than is told on the blotter.

The reason for the appearance of the name of Delisle, according to Antokol, is because the former persisted in sticking a revolver in the face of Mr. Antokol until the latter had backed out of the Delisle store in Occum to the highway outside, and, Antokol not liking this method of leaving a store, caused Delisle's arrest.

The story as told by Antokol goes back several weeks to a day when he went to Occum and made a collection and a woman gave him a bill in payment of a debt. As Antokol could not make change, he went into the store run by Delisle and asked him to change a $10 bill. This was done and Antokol, finishing his business, returned to Norwich.

Following this collection, according to Mr. Antokol, Delisle spread a story about that a Norwich man was handing out counterfeit money. His friends in Occum told him of this and on Wednesday morning about 11 o'clock one of them said: "Why not go down to Delisle's and ask him to change a bill?" Mr. Antokol went to Delisle's and to break a bill asked for a drink, and according to him the drink handed to him was moonshine. Not wishing to drink the stuff, he asked for a cigar and then for chewing gum. As he presented a $10 bill to be changed Mr. Antokol asked Delisle why he persisted in spreading the story that he was handing out counterfeit money. Delisle refused to change the bill and without warning, Antokol says, pulled a revolver and pointing it close to Mr. Antokol's head, backed him out of the store.

Mr. Antokol then went to the police in Norwich and a warrant was issued by Prosecuting Attorney Lee Roy Robbins for the arrest of Delisle. Constable Disco of Taftville served the warrant and Delisle was arrested and later released under bonds of $100 for appearance in court this morning.

Bills Taken From Calendar.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, March 14.—Among the bills taken from the calendar yesterday was that including in the trunk line system the highway leading from Willimantic to Stafford Springs; thence running easterly over Rockwell Hill and continuing easterly direct to North Ashford and Westford, four corners in the town of Union; thence to Union Center over Marcy hill, through Mashapaug to the state line. A bill that is intended to check the speculation in admission tickets, which has caused much trouble at the Yale games, provides that no corporation or person shall sell, offer for sale or attempt to sell any ticket or privilege or license of admission to any place of public amusement, performance, sport, exhibition or athletic concert given in this state under the auspices of an educational institution, at a price greater than the price including tax, printed thereon or at a price greater than the price fixed for admission, including tax. The penalty for violation may be a fine of $100 or thirty days imprisonment, or both. Each ticket sold shall constitute a violation.

Another bill provides that: Every person who shall put out an eye, slit a nose, ear, lip or any other part of the head, face or neck of another, or cut or bite off, or disable any member of another with intent to maim or disfigure him, or who shall commit robbery, and in perpetration thereof, use any personal abuse, force or violence, or be so armed as clearly to indicate violent intent, shall be imprisoned not more than twenty-five years.

There's enough happiness wasted to supply the whole universe.

"FLU" GERM DISCOVERED

Dr. Simon Flexner, Director of the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research, announces that germs of Influenza have been identified through experiments on animals. This germ impairs the lung tissue so that it is no longer able to destroy the common bacteria of the nose and throat that causes bronchitis and pneumonia.

Kill the germ with Sterling's Vapor-Rub, the healing, soothing, antiseptic salve that penetrates deep down into the passages, kills the germ that causes the cold, relieves congestion and acts as a restorative to irritated and inflamed mucous membranes.

Sterling's Vapor-Rub does its work easily, quickly and without delay. It is absolutely harmless and easy to apply. Simply rub it on the throat and chest at bedtime and inhale a little of this healing antiseptic up the nostrils to relieve any stuffed up condition. Then, just breathe your cold away. 25c size at your druggist. A 25 cent size will do the trick. Sterling Remedy Co., Inc., Syracuse, N. Y.

THE PORTEOUS & MITCHELL CO.

Formal Spring Opening Days

THURSDAY — FRIDAY — SATURDAY

MARCH 15th, 16th AND 17th

The Fashions of Spring 1923

This week sees the presentation of the new modes in Apparel and Millinery. Old styles are dead. Now live the new! New in their fresh, glowing colors, new in clever line and trimming, new in conception—in every combination in fabric and shade. With Easter near at hand, this complete display of the correct and beautiful in Apparel and Millinery, should have a strong appeal for all who would know the latest modes for Spring.

Fashion Days In Millinery

During Spring Opening Days, it is our pleasure to present the newest of the new in Millinery modes. A complete representation of the smarter New York modes—together with importations and faithful copies will be found in our Spring showing.

THIS STORE CORDIALLY INVITES YOU TO VIEW THE NEW MODES.

THE PORTEOUS & MITCHELL CO.

Fine Variety of Fresh Fish, Direct From Fishing Ports, For This Week-End

FRESH LARGE Cod Cutlets, lb. 19c	FRESH STEAK Halibut, lb.... 45c
FRESH Roe Shad, lb... 15c	LARGE No. 1 SMELTS, lb... 35c
SMALL Mackerel, 2 lbs. 25c	FRESH SHORE Haddock, lb. 12½c
OYSTERS, pt. 29c Freshly Opened	SALT Cod Bits, 2 lbs.. 25c

FRESHLY GATHERED, LARGE EGGS, 3 dozens for $1.00

EVERY EGG GUARANTEED GOOD

VOL. LXV—No. 65 POPULATION 29,685 NORWICH, CONN., FRIDAY, [illegible] 16, 1923 TWELVE PAGES—84 COLS. PRICE TWO CENTS

GERMANY'S RESISTANCE TO THE ALLIES IS WEAKENING

Hope Is Expressed in England That Germany Has at Last "Come to Her Senses" — Without Backing of the Industrialists, Peace Efforts by the Berlin Government Will Be Ineffective—German Government to Demand Unconditional Evacuation of the Ruhr by French and Belgians as a Prerequisite to the Resumption of Reparations Payment.

London, March 15—(By the A. P.)—While evidence of a perceptible weakening in Germany's resistance to France and Belgium has come to the notice of Downing street, British foreign office officials decline to comment on the various reports that the Berlin government is about to adopt an entire new policy toward the allies.

The hope was expressed tonight, however, that Germany has at last "come to her senses," and is ready to make direct proposals to France regarding the whole question of reparations and the occupied territories.

The importance of the reported overtures through the British laborites is discounted, but it is learned that negotiations through direct diplomatic channels were initiated during the last few days with disappointing results to the Germany emissary, who was bluntly informed that England would not act as postman or broker for any proposals intended for the Franco-Belgians.

The British government, it was stated tonight, stands solidly on the policy outlined by Ronald McNeill, under secretary for foreign affairs in the house of common on Tuesday, that there will be no intervention or notepassing by England.

At the same time it is realized that the sooner direct constructive negotiations are opened between the opposing forces in the Rhineland struggle, the better it will be for all concerned, including Great Britain.

An essential condition to any German move, officials say, must be that it has the backing of the industrialists, without which peace efforts on the part of the Berlin government would be ineffective.

Baron Von Rosenberg was to go before the reichstag in connection with the debate on the foreign office budget tomorrow, but has announced the postponement of his statement until next Tuesday. This is believed to be due to recurring rumors that the Ruhr conflict has now become an active subject of negotiations behind the diplomatic scenes and that official pourparlers are likely at an early date.

Official German replies to questions on this point are couched in customary evasive terms. It was also reported that the German industrialists are informally in touch with a French group comprising leaders of finance and industry who are known to be strongly opposed to M. Poincare's procedure and who before the active invasion of the Ruhr almost succeeded in accomplishing a working arrangement with the German industrialists, which gave promise of yielding a definite solution to the whole range of reparation disputes.

TWO GERMAN POLICEMEN EXECUTED IN RUHR

Berlin, March 15 (By the A. P.)—Two German policemen were executed in Buer on Monday in the presence of two officers and two soldiers of the occupational forces, according to special despatches from German correspondents in the Ruhr.

The policemen, named Mohr and Krause, were once deported from the district but had returned for their personal effects when seised. The incident is said to have happened the day before the expiry of the time limit fixed by the French for evacuation of the Ruhr by all the German police.

It is reported through German sources from Cologne that the French at Witten have placed a price of 250,000 marks on the head of every German policeman in the Ruhr.

Additional contributions to the Ruhr aid fund have been received by the reichsbank in the form of $2,000 from the German relief committee in Manila and 500,000 lire from Italy.

PROPOSALS TO BE MADE BY GERMAN GOVERNMENT

Berlin, March 15.—(By the A. P.)—It was reliably stated tonight that complete and unconditional evacuation of the Ruhr will be designated by Germany as a prerequisite to the resumption of reparations payments and deliveries in kind under the program to be agreed upon when negotiations with the French and Belgians are resumed.

This is the crux of the German official position as announced in connection with the current rumors in respect to possible early inauguration of negotiations either directly with France or through the mediation of a third party.

Although neither Chancellor Cuno nor Foreign Minister Rosenberg have as yet given the German attitude precise formulation, the reichstag leaders and Berlin newspaper editors have been definitely apprised that the government will name this condition as the obvious prelude to any forthcoming negotiations for the purpose of fixing Germany's reparation obligations and incidentally settling the Ruhr conflict.

In assuming this attitude the government is convinced that it has the undivided backing of the German people, who it believes would not tolerate for a moment and adjustment failing to designate unconditional evacuation as a starting point for negotiations.

The suggestion that the occupying forces be withdrawn by successive stages or that the occupation be restricted to zones is dismissed in official as well as reichstag quarters as being wholly outside the realm of serious consideration.

"The presence of even restricted forces of occupation," said one of the leaders of the socialist party, "would be a constant reminder of the ten weeks of terror to which the Ruhr workers have been subjected, and would also constitute a permanent basis of friction."

He believed that, if the Ruhr mines, smelters and coke oven were to yield the maximum required to carry out the reparation demands, it was imperative that no affront be offered the German workers.

"This would be the case," he continued, "if they were given a daily reminder in the form of foreign bayonets and other militaristic oppression. No practical purpose would be served, especially as the mischief already wrought will fester among all classes of the Westphalian populace for a long time to come."

The socialist spokesman reflected the prevalent sentiment among the reichstag parties, which declare that new negotiations for the resumption of reparation payments can only offer prospects of fulfillment if the Ruhr basin is complete divested of every vestige of Franco-Belgian military or civil control.

Chancellor Cuno is thoroughly conversant with this sentiment and is reported to have assured the parliamentary leaders that no agreement could be entered into which failed to provide for the immediate and unrestricted restoration of the Ruhr to German control.

DENIES $100,000 FUND FOR ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE

New York, March 15.—William H. Anderson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, issued a statement today denying published reports that the league had started a "freedom fund" of $100,000 in order to become independent of John D. Rockefeller and his son.

The fund was started, he said, to obtain funds to offset losses anticipated as a result of statements about the league and its management made by Raymond D. Fosdick, representative of the Rockefellers.

"The anti-saloon league has never had any occasion to seek independence of the Messrs. Rockefeller," the statement said, "because they have never attempted to exercise any control over the league."

OMAHA HAS WORST STORM IN ITS HISTORY

Omaha, Neb., March 15.—Omaha tonight was slowly digging itself out of the snow that the worst storm in the city's history left behind. More than 19 inches fell in the past 24 hours, shattering all records of the local weather bureau.

A blizzard, general in eastern Nebraska and western Iowa, last night piled up drifts many feet high here. Railroad service in this region was practically at a standstill today, and street car service both here and at Council Bluffs was almost wholly disrupted. All schools in Council Bluffs and Omaha were closed today.

The forecast for tonight was more snow.

9-YEAR-OLD HONOR PUPIL HELD FOR INCENDIARISM

New York, March 15.—Nine-year-old Jacob Schwartz, honor pupil of Public School No. 23, who was arrested yesterday upon his alleged confession that he had set fire to the school, endangering nearly 3,000 students, was held in $500 for further examination by Justice Morgan in children's court today.

Jacob repudiated his confessing, declaring he had admitted firing the school to avoid further heckling by detectives who persisted in quizzing him.

While he is awaiting his next hearing, Jacob will be examined by psychologists.

EIGHT PERSONS HURT IN ONE-MAN CAR IN HARTFORD

Hartford, March 15.—Eight persons were taken to the police emergency hospital late this afternoon after a one-man car in which they were riding collided with a heavy coal truck. None of the passengers was seriously injured. The trolley accident was the third within three weeks in Hartford's hill section. The Connecticut company, already investigating the two previous cases, began its third investigation tonight.

CRIMINAL SYNDICALISM CASE GIVEN TO JURY

Los Angeles, March 15.—The case against eight alleged members of the Industrial Workers of the World, charged in the superior court here with criminal syndicalism, was given to the jury today.

Anticipating a demonstration when the verdict is received, the presiding judge ordered ten additional guards placed in the courtroom.

Textile Workers to Demand Wage Raise

Two Organizations Are to Fight For Control of the Strike Which Is Impending.

Fall River, Mass., March 15.—With the mill owners persisting in their declaration that demand for wage increases to the 36,000 employes of the 111 cotton mills of the city cannot be met at this time, the textile council met tonight to formulate a communication of the Manufacturers' association. This communication will be a demand for a wage advance backed by all the unions constituent to the council, it was indicated. It will serve also to establish the lines for a fight within a fight for control of a strike for which both the textile council leaders and those of the United Textile Workers of America are preparing.

The latter organization some time ago set its demands on the cotton mills at a 29 per cent. increase. This amount, it was explained, was necessary to restore wages to the scale before a cut of 22 1-2 per cent. was made in January, 1921.

The textile council has long acted as general organization representative of the cotton mill operatives here and has dealt with the manufacturers as such. The United Textile Workers of America has increased its membership and now challenges the textile council for control.

Estimates of the relative strength of the two organized groups vary. It is agreed, however, by all interests that the textile council outnumbers the united membership.

With both these organizations in the field on the issue of a wage advance or astrike, and with the manufacturers announcing that they would shut up their mills before they raised pay on the present narrow margin of profit, municipal authorities were agreed that a strike was imminent. Mayor Talbot, conforming with the law, notified the state board of conciliation and arbitration that a strike was seriously threatened, and called upon the board to use its good offices to effect a settlement by mediation.

Agent Fred M. Knight, of the board came here to try and settle the situation, but without success. At his request, President McMahon agreed to defer strike action for a time, and agreed also to submit the United Textile Workers' demands to arbitration. The textile council's demands being unformulated could not be considered. The Manufacturers' association answered the demand of the United Textile Workers with an open letter saying it recognized the textile council as representatives of the operatives in the system of collective bargaining, but it was added that the demand would not be met.

The Manufacturers' association in this letter dated January 8, took notice of the report that the strike would be a test on which would be based demands for wage advances elsewhere in New England.

COLD WAVE WITH HEAVY GALES AT NEWFOUNDLAND

St. John's N. F., March 15.—Newfoundland experienced another cold wave accompanied by heavy gales yesterday.

The electric power company in this city announced today abandonment of street car traffic due to ice conditions in the interior lakes. The announcement said that within the next few days the lighting might be abandoned as well. Conditions were described as the worst in 25 years.

Lakes which form the sources of the water from which the power is generated are frozen to a depth of from four to five feet, the company reported.

The shutting off of the power would cause suspension of many activities here, including the publication of newspapers, as the presses are operated by electricity.

APRIL 22-28 DESIGNATED AS SAVE-THE-FORESTS WEEK

Washington, March 15.—President Harding by proclamation has designated the week of April 22-28 as save-the-forests week.

Urging governors of the states to do likewise, the president calls attention to the importance of forest preservation to the industrial and commercial life of the nation and to individual welfare, and points out that fires which are the result of carelessness or thoughtlessness do great damage, threatening the timber supply and endangering the cover of water sheds of streams that are used for navigation and irrigation.

SIX MEN SENTENCED TO DEATH IN MOSCOW

Moscow, March 15.—(By the A. P.)—The supreme war court has sentenced to death six men, most of them connected with the general staff of the army. They were charged with espionage on behalf of Lettish military agents. All of the convicted men are of Latvian origin.

NIGHT RIDING CASES DISMISSED BY COURT

Medford, Ore., March 15.—On motion of the state, all the night riding cases now before the circuit court at Jacksonville were dismissed today and as far as present legal action is concerned, the night riding agitation which has stirred Jackson county for over a year is over.

ALLEGED MEMBERS OF I. W. W. FOUND GUILTY

Los Angeles, March 15.—Eight alleged members of the Industrial Workers of the World were found guilty of criminal syndicalism by a jury in the superior court here today. Five of them were convicted on two counts and the other three on one.

MISAPPROPRIATION OF LARGE SUMS OF MONEY CHARGED

New York, March 15.—Charges that he had misappropriated large sums of money belonging to Hickson, Inc., fashionable modistes of this city, were made today in a suit for an accounting filed against Richard J. Hickson, vice president, by other officers of the company.

31 LIVES LOST IN STEAMER COLLISION OFF SINGAPORE

London, March 1.—In a collision off Singapore, the steamer Ranee sank in ten minutes, according to a Singapore despatch to the Central news. Thirty-one lives were lost.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS

Dr. Alfred Ghalie, personal friend and political adviser of former Premier Briand of France, died in Paris.

An old black customer for 1923 is being arranged for the entire province of Nova Scotia.

First shipments of new potatoes from Florida to Chicago, began during this week. They sold for $4.

Former President Taft was paid $75,000 for his services in connection with the Grand Trunk arbitration.

Carl Jensen, 68 year old Clay Center, Ohio hermit, was found dead in his bed, in which he had concealed $16,000 in currency.

The bill to punish coal frauds, sponsored by Governor Cox was passed to engrossment in the Massachusetts house. The vote was 7 to 45.

A series of severe snowstorms has blockaded the Cape Breton section of Nova Scotia. Iverness has been cut off from train service for ten days.

A radio message picked up at Boston from the steamer West Helix said that she had developed boiler trouble and was in need of assistance.

In an effort to round up all persons responsible for recent holdups in Boston, the police took ten men into custody as suspicious persons.

Mrs. George Minot Baker of Concord was announced as the new regent of the Massachusetts Society, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Luther Burbank, California plant wizard, has become a director of the national campaign for boll weevil control.

The body of Frederick Herman, a former barge captain, was declared by officials at the city morgue, New York, to be more tattooed than any other ever seen there.

A Russell Kaster, a clerk in the shoe and leather branch of the Chase National bank, New York, shot and killed himself in the cloak room of the bank.

Fire destroyed two brick buildings in Market square in the down-town section of Pittsburgh, entailing a loss of $200,000. A score of persons, living in the upper floors were rescued.

Gen. Victor Williams, of Toronto, chief of provincial police, announced that he was investigating a report that the Ku Klux Klan was organizing a branch in Ontario.

Mrs. George H. Fowler of Pawtucket, R. I., was elected state regent of the Rhode Island Daughters of the American Revolution at the annual conference in Providence.

The Bar association of New York city is on record in favor of President Harding's proposal that the United States participate in the permanent court of international justice.

Harry Segar, aged 105 years, the oldest Hebrew in Worcester, died in a Jewish home for the aged. He was born in Russia and came to this city when he was 75 years old.

Stockholders of the terminal Exchange bank, New York, voted to merge with the Hudson Trust company after stockholders of that bank had approved the merger. The combined deposits would exceed $10,000,000.

The Waldorf-Astoria hotel, which housed many notables during its life, Wednesday celebrated its 30th anniversary with a luncheon to employes in service ten years or more.

Invention of a surgical instrument for operations upon the heart for relief of mitral stenosis, a narrowing of one of the valves of the heart, was announced at Washington university.

Jackson Goodwin, caretaker of the yacht Rowena owned by Morrill Goddard of New York, was burned to death in a fire which damaged the boat at an anchorage off South Boston.

Mrs. Paulette Saludes, convicted of the second degree murder of Oscar M. Martelliere, was sentenced to 20 years to life in the woman's prison at Auburn. She received the sentence in a mood of bitter resignation.

Edward Murphy, alias William E. Gray, said to have lived at one time in Portland, Me., was held in $20,000 bonds when arraigned on charges of robbery as one of the three men who have been holding up drug stores in Boston.

The appointment of Col. Frank C. Bolles as commanding officer of the citizens' military training camp at Camp Devents the coming summer was announced at First Army Corps Area headquarters.

Mrs. August Belmont has become a playwright it became known by announcement that a detective drama, written by her in collaboration with Miss Harriett Ford, would be produced on Broadway next season by Winthrop Ames.

Abatement of a gale driving a forest fire over the Sierra Madre mountains, near Pasadena, Calif., appeared to have saved from destruction the Mount Lowe observatory on Echo mountain and the Alpine tavern, a nearby resort.

George W. Ryner is dead of starvation, and his housekeeper, Anna Walker, on the danger list at the City hospital, Boston, due to exhaustion from lack of food. They occupied a tenement in the Roxbury district, where neighbors reported their non-appearance to police.

Captain Ettore Zar, of the steamship President Wilson, which arrived in New York from Italian ports announced he would make formal complaint to the federal authorities against the rum-running fleet off New York harbor, which he said, was a menace to navigation.

Senator McCoy, one of the few bachelors in the upper house of the Ohio legislature, introduced a bill providing a penitentiary sentence of from one to fifteen years for any man found guilty of inducing another man's wife to leave him and for any woman convicted of taking away the husband of another woman.

Ten ice houses owned by the Metropolitan Ice company of Boston and situated two miles this side of The Weirs, N. H., on the Boston and Maine railroad, were totally destroyed this morning by a fire of undetermined origin together with their contents. The loss is placed at $50,000.

A Huge Tanker Has Joined the Rum Fleet

Has Been Furnishing Supplies to Runners Off Montauk Point For Connecticut.

Highlands, N. J., March 15.—(By the A. P.)—Steaming into the rum mart at the close of a day that bustled with activity, a huge tanker took her place this evening alongside the fifteen other vessels laying off the New Jersey coast.

The tanker was believed to be the one that arrived off rum row last week, supposedly from Scotland, and which since was thought to be furnishing supplies to runners of Montauk Point for Connecticut, as well as off Ambros lightship.

Fully a dozen runners passed Sandy Hook today, headed for the liquor fleet, and probably as many more put out from the Long Island shore. Apparently there was considerable bargaining, for the runners went from one ship to another before deciding where to load. Three boats returned to shore before sunset but the others hovered near the fleet waiting for darkness to cover their movements.

An increasing wind from the southeast was expected to prevent many more boats from venturing out tonight.

The runners varied in size from the dory type high powered speed boats to a large gasoline yacht. This latter boat lay alongside one of the larger ships the entire afternoon.

The market was visited by boats from towns along the Shrewsbury river as well as along Sandy Hook and Bay Shore, Long Island boats came from as far east as Jones Inlet.

Along the shore customs and coast guards lay in wait for the return of the "bottle fishermen."

ARTIST'S MODEL FOUND DEAD IN NEW YORK

New York, March 15.—The body of Miss Dorothy King, an artists' model was found by police today in her fashionable apartment on West Fifty-seventh street.

An empty chloroform phial lay beside the body and the apartment had been ransacked. Valuable jewels known to have been possessed by the model were missing, according to the authorities.

Miss King was said to have been well known to the ultra-fashionable colony of artists living in the West Fifty-seventh street section, near fifth avenue, and had occupied the apartment at No. 144 since October, 1921. She was 27 years old and considered very beautiful.

While authorities were quick to express a conviction that the young woman had died of "unnatural causes," they declined to reveal the nature of the evidence uncovered.

Listed among the missing gems were two diamond rings, a set of diamond earrings, a lavaliere and several other valuable pieces.

EIGHT FIREMEN INJURED AT $325,000 FIRE IN WOONSOCKET

Woonsocket, R. I., March 15.—Eight firemen were in the hospital tonight, one of them with a broken leg, as a result of a fire which caused a property loss of $325,000 in the business district of this city today. Many other firemen were overcome by smoke, but did not require hospital treatment.

The Mailloux block, a four-story brick building occupied by a department store was a mere shell when the fire was extinguished after a three hour battle in which all available apparatus was engaged. Two connecting buildings suffered partial wreck, while the beauchemin block, a three story building housing a number of tenements also was badly damaged.

The firemen successfully directed their efforts to saving an adjoining theatre, hotel and other buildings.

MRS. WELLS ACQUITTED OF MURDER OF CAPT. PETTIT

Mineola, N. Y., March 15.—Mrs. Mary Elizabeth "Billie" Wells, tried for the murder of Capt. James M. Pettit, Massapequa innkeeper, was acquitted tonight by a jury of men.

The verdict, returned by a jury selected because of its professed ability to try the case on its merits, unhampered by the defendant's sex, was a victory for two women—Mrs. Wells and her attorney, Miss Helen McCormick, former assistant prosecutor for Kings county.

The jury was in executive session about two hours, having occupied another two hours since they retired, shortly after 7 p. m., in hearing parts of the testimony re-read and in receiving new instructions from the court.

SEALING FLEET JAMMED IN AN IMMENSE ICE FIELD

St. John's, N. F., March 15.—The sealing fleet which sailed from this port for the Grand Banks a week ago, is jammed in an immense ice field off the coast of Newfoundland, according to reports reaching here today. The steamers composing the fleet were caught in the ice 48 hours after leaving St. John's, the report said.

The sealers, pursued by bad luck last season, seem to be facing a similar lot this year. According to the owners the enforced delay is serious as the season when the young seals may be hunted successfully on the moving ice floe is very short, and valuable days are being lost.

TWO DEATHS RESULTED FROM FAMILY QUARREL

Albany, N. Y., March 15.—Two are dead and a third, a woman, is believed to be dying, as the outcome of a family quarrel which resulted in a shooting affair in Rensselaer, near here, today.

Joseph Lanahan, chauffeur, who on Friday left his home, declaring he was "through" with his wife, returned today, shot his wife, Rose, through the breast, killed instantly his brother-in-law, James Hart, when he attempted to defend his sister, and then turned the gun on himself.

Mrs. Lanahan, in the hospital tonight with a bullet at the base of her brain, is reported as being in a critical condition.

ARMY AIRPLANES HAVE ARRIVED AT PORT AU PRINCE

Port Au Prince, Haiti, March 15.—(By The A. P.)—All the American airplanes which left Guantanamo, Cuba, this morning on another leg of their flight from San Antonio to Porto Rico, arrived in Port Au Prince today.

NO INDICTMENTS RETURNED BY MOREHOUSE GRAND JURY

Had Investigated the Various Hooded Band Activities in Connection With the Slaying of Watt Daniel and T. F. Richard and Mer Rouge — Attorney-General Coco Is to File Bills of Information Against Certain Persons Named at the Hearing in Bastrop in January.

Bastrop, La., March 15.—No indictments were returned by the Morehouse parish grand jury in connection with the slaying of Watt Daniel and T. F. Richard on Aug. 24 last and various hooded band activities which the jury has been investigating for the past ten days. The jury's report was given to District Judge Fred Odom late today.

Attorney General Coco and two of his assistants left here before the grand jury made its report. Mr. Coco stated early today that in event no indictments were returned he would file bills of information against certain persons named at the open hearing here in January as having participated in mob activities. He did not state, however, whether this action would be taken immediately.

In its report the grand jury referred to the masked band case as "the deplorable crime of Aug. 24" and stated that while it had gone thoroughly into the affair it could find no evidence that would warrant the indictment of any individuals.

After the report of the grand jury had been made known, Captain J. K. Skipwith, exalted cyclops of the Morehouse Ku Klux Klan, made this comment:

"It is needless to say that I am highly elated. The state has done its duty, and I hope it is satisfied and will let the matter rest."

More than 125 witnesses were heard by the jury during the ten days' session.

Judge Odom made no comment on the report.

This was the third session of the grand jury since the first of the hooded band kidnappings in Morehouse parish, none of them finding indictments as a result of the crimes.

Referring to the events of Aug. 22 last, the grand jury report says:

"As to the deplorable crime of Aug. 24, 1922, when five men were kidnapped on the highway of Morehouse parish, we have carefully considered all the evidence brought before this grand jury as to the activities of masked and hooded men. The majority of this body are of the opinion that the evidence furnished was not sufficient to warrant the finding of true bills against any particular party."

SURPRISED THAT JURY FAILED TO INDICT MEN

New Orleans, La., March 15.—Assistant Attorney General T. Z. Walmsley, who questioned many witnesses at the open hearing, expressed surprise that the Morehouse grand jury failed to return indictments in connection with the slaying of Watt Daniel and T. F. Richard.

"I am very much surprised at the news," he said. "The state had counted on indictments at least for the lesser offenses.

"The public can feel assured that Attorney General Coco will take prompt actoin in the matter. There are several courses open to the state."

Mr. Walmsley declared he believed there was sufficient ground on which the state could obtain a new grand jury.

In the case of persons against whom affidavits will probably be made, he said, the state would request a change of venue for the trial of these.

Mr. Walmsley intimated that affidavits charging more than forty-five persons with such crimes as "lying in wait with a dangerous weapon, assault and battery, deporting persons from the state" and other lesser offenses would be filed immediately but was not positive what course would be taken concerning those believed to have been implicated in more serious crimes.

DECIDES THAT PAINTING OUTRAGES PUBLIC DECENCY

New York, March 15.—Holding that the J. Francisco Kaufman painting "Father Forgive Them For They Know Not What They Do," now hanging in the Society of Independence Artists' exhibition outrages public decency, Magistrate Ryttenberg today held Abraham Baylinson, secretary of the society, in $25 bail for trial in general sessions.

The painting depicts William Jennings Bryan spilling wine which Christ has just changed from water, while Andrew J. Volstead, author of the federal prohibition enforcement act, and William H. Anderson, New York superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League look on.

"The obvious purpose of the painting" Magistrate Ryttenberg said, "is to indicate that the miracle of changing water into wine, if performed in this day, would constitute a violation of the Volstead act. Volstead apparently is facing Christ under arrest, or holding Him up to scorn or ridicule for making the wine.

"Though the painting certainly is sacrilegious there is no provision in the penal law making sacrilege punishable. However, in my opinion the offense is covered by the penal law section which says that a person who wiufully outrages publica decency is guilty of misdemeanor."

Baylinson's counsel submitted a brief which said in part:

"Christ is shown after He has transformed the water into wine, so that those present at the wedding feast might partake of the wine and rejoice accordingly. The deliberate spilling of the wine with the approval of Messrs. Volstead and Anderson and the consequent interference with the purpose of the miracle is intended by the artist to emphasize the fanaticism of these gentlemen in their zeal for the cause of universal prohibition.

"The painting is a protest of an indignant Christian shocked at the impiety of politicians in their attempt to undo the work of Christ by undoing the gift He has made for the times of their festivity and rejoicing."

IMPROVEMENT IN CONDITION OF PREMIER LENINE

Moscow, March 15.—(By The A. P.)—Continued betterment is shown in the condition of Premier Lenine, according to his physicians. A bulletin, timed 1 p. m., but not issued until this evening reads as follows:

"The further improvement in the general health and speech of M. Lenine is marked; temperature 36.7 centigrade (about 98 fahrenheit), pulse 88 and full."

Premier Lenine is suffering from a serious illness, described in previous bulletins as an apoplectic nature.

PUPILS SO DRUNK THEY HAD TO BE TAKEN HOME

Newark, N. J., March 15.—Stirred by reports of children staggering to school in the "Ironbound" section of Newark, so drunk they had to be taken home, federal prohibition enforcement agents today raided a Tyler street dwelling and seized a quantity of home-made liquor and a five-gallon still.

The attendance department of the Newark school board filed the complaint after numerous reports of intoxicated pupils had been filed with school authorities.

CHECK FOR $25,000 FOR THE LAMAR BAIL BOND

New York, March 15.—A check for the $25,000 bail bond ordered forfeited two weeks ago when David Lamar, the "wolf of Wall Street" failed to surrender to begin a year's sentence in the Essex county, N. J., penitentiary, was received by the federal court clerk today from the Fidelity and Casualty Deposit Company of Maryland.

Lamar, convicted of hampering war work, appealed the case. When the conviction was upheld by the United States supreme court, he disappeared.

$1,000 PRIZE OFFERED FOR SONG FOR YALE UNIVERSITY

New Haven, March 15.—A prize of $1,000 has been offered anonymously for a representative Yale song, it was announced tonight by the Yale Alumni advisory board.

This announcement apparently ends the controversy which has been waged over Yale's old classic "Bright College Years" which has been its chief song for many generations, but which since the war, has been discarded because it was sung to the tune of "Die Wacht Am Rhine." A poll at the Yale club in New York recently showed many Yale men to be in favor of abandoning it.

While no mention of the controversy over "Bright College Years" is made in the announcement, it is suggested that the tune should, so far as possible "be such as not to invite objections from graduates and undergraduates." The possibility that the words of Yale's old song may be retained is indicated by the declaration that the award may be made "for a new musical setting for a song already available."

Noah H. Swayne, of Philadelphia is chairman of the committee which will award the prize.

ADDITIONAL INDICTMENTS AGAINST TISBO BROTHERS

New York, March 15.—The grand jury investigating the financial affairs of the three Tisbo brothers, who vanished from their East Side bank a week ago, leaving thousands of clients crying for deposits now believed to exceed $2,000,000, today returned two additional indictments charging grand larceny.

In addition to the true bill returned yesterday, the jury charged that the defendants—Vincenzo, Vito and Francisco, now believed to be on their way to Italy—had stolen $9,000 from Gaetano Borsio of West Hoboken, N. J., and $500 from Fanrcisco Vituoci of Mulberry street.

IMPROVEMENT IS NOTED IN COASTWISE SHIPPING

New York, March 15.—Improvement in coastwise shipping has been such that, only a little more than 10 per cent. of privately-owned American ocean-going steam tonnage was idle January 1 according to a summary compiled by the American Steamship Owners' association.

The idle steamers numbered only 92 January 1, 1923, as compared with 134 July 1, 1922, and 171 January 1, 1922.

OBITUARY.

Major-General Nelson H. Henry.

New York, March 15.—Major-General Nelson Herrick Henry, Spanish war veteran and former surveyor of the port of New York, died suddenly today at the Army and Navy club.

General Henry was born in New York city, in 1858, and was graduated in medicine from Columbia university in 1879. He became surgeon of the 12th Regiment, New York National Guard, in 1883 and ten years later, assistant surgeon general of New York. He served as a major in the Spanish-American war while surgeon general of the New York National Guard. He was brevetted major general of the state guard in 1910, having previously served as adjutant-general, and in the same year was named surveyor of the port of New York. He was a member of the New York state legislature from 1899 to 1901.

William S. Carter.

Baltimore, Md., March 15.—William J. Carter, former president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, died at a local hospital here tonight, aged 63 years.

Miss Grace I. McLean.

Danbury, March 15.—Miss Grace I. McLean, member of a well known family here and secretary of a large local firm, died at her home today as the result of injuries she received several weeks ago when she fell on the ice. Her attending physician said that she had received internal injuries

WILLIMANTIC

NORWICH BULLETIN

Telephone 1058

26 Church Street

The funeral services for Arthur M. Clark of New Britain, formerly of Scotland, were held at the Scotland Congregational church Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The deceased had lived in New Britain for the past 23 years. The services were largely attended and numerous floral pieces testified to the love and esteem in which the deceased was held. The bearers were George Hearst, Harold Prentice, Henry Bacon, Luther Clark, Thomas Clark and Henry Clark. Burial was in the New Cemetery at Scotland.

Send this advertisement to The Plaut-Cadden Co., Norwich, with your name and address and you will receive a Book of Old Fashioned Songs free.—adv.

George E. Kenyon, an old resident of Hartford, died Sunday after a short illness at a Hartford hospital. Mr. Kenyon was born March 25, 1851, the son of the late E. P. and Ann Elizabeth (Paw) Kenyon of Windham. He leaves one brother, William E. of Alaska and a sister, Mrs. H. F. Robinson, of Windham. The body was brought to Scotland Monday and placed in the receiving vault in the Windham Center cemetery. A committal service will be conducted later at the grave.

CROUP

Spasmodic Croup is frequently relieved by one application of—

VICKS VAPORUB

Over 17 Million Jars Used Yearly

THE HURTEAU AND BOSSE CORP.

HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS

FUNERAL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS.

816 Main Street, Willimantic, Conn. Phone 661-2

JAY M. SHEPARD

Successor to Fillmore & Shepard

Funeral Director & Embalmer

50-52 NORTH ST. WILLIMANTIC

Lady Assistant. Tel. Connection

Killourey Bros.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS

86 Union St. Willimantic, Conn.

Phone 256 (Lady Assistant)

The funeral services for Joseph Gadoury were held Thursday morning from the late home, No. 45 Center street, followed by a requiem high mass at St. Mary's church at nine o'clock. Rev. H. C. Belec officiated. Special singing was rendered by the girls' choir during the services. Mrs. Joseph P. Gauthreau presided at the organ. The remains were placed in the receiving vault of St. Joseph's cemetery where Rev. Father Belec conducted a committal service. The bearers were Maxim Bertrand, Albert Coutu, Arthur Bazinet, Ernest Comptera, George St. John and D. Gibeault. The arrangements were in charge of Killourey Brothers.

The funeral of Lafayette Jacobs was held Wednesday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock at 62 North street. Rev. John Pearce officiated. The body was placed in the receiving vault at the Willimantic cemetery, Mansfield. Avery and Van Zandt, successors to Jay M. Shepard were in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Funeral services for Mrs. Sofia N. Russell were held Thursday afternoon at two o'clock in the South Chaplin Congregational church, following a prayer at the late home at 1.30 o'clock. Rev. John T. Knott officiated. Burial was in the Chewink cemetery. Avery and Van Zandt, successors to Jay M. Shepard were in charge of the arrangements.

In collecting taxes on the grand list of the town of Mansfield, Collector Henry E. Knowlton will probably have more locations for this year than the four days advertised. He will be at no less than twelve places.

A. W. Buchanan, of Mansfield Center, agent for the state board of education was at the common council room, town building Thursday forenoon to meet children between the ages of 14 and 16 years seeking employment certificates. Over a dozen were present and took the required tests.

On Main street Saturday. Look for the Face all-coaled cars.—adv.

Russell H. Webster, a graduate of Windham High school, and a member of the Sophomore class at the Worcester Polytechnic Institute, has been honored by an appointment on the college paper The Tech News. At a recent meeting of the association, Mr. Webster was appointed subscription manager of the paper. The position is a suitable one for the young man, he having had a wide experience in the management of the circulation of a Hartford morning paper in this city during his studies at Windham High school.

State Policeman Fred T. Garen of the Stafford Springs barracks was on his weekly call to this city Thursday meeting, applicants for motor vehicle drivers' licenses. About twelve called during the day and were granted licenses.

At the regular meeting of the Senior Girl Scouts at the Congregational Church House, Robert H. Fenton gave the girls a most instructive talk on map drawing. The meeting was largely attended.

Recruiting Sergeant Tatro of the United States army has been in this city since February 20th and will remain until April 1st, to secure new recruits for the United States army. Up to Thursday afternoon Sergeant Tatro had been successful in signing up seven local young men. Three of that number have so far been rejected, including one young man from South Windham. Two men from this city have signed up for stations in Honolulu and Panama. Sergeant Tatro, who has had much experience in army matters, has a splendid offer to give to interested parties.

The second of the series of eight cooking lessons conducted at St. Joseph's hall under the direction of Mrs. Katherine Pratt of Maple avenue was recently completed. It is planned to hold a whist party in the near future.

John N. Williams, engineer at the local postoffice is planning for a "round up" of Thread City old time minstrel men with the purpose of staging a combined minstrel and musical comedy later in the spring. The list taht Mr. Williams is making up has over 25 names, including those who appeared 30 years ago with Dunn's Mastodon minstrels in barnstorm trips through eastern Connecticut.

The Entre Nous club of the Methodist Sorority of which Mrs. Daniel Tench is the leader met with Mrs. Clifford Williams at her home on Windham road recently. After a most pleasant afternoon a dainty luncheon was served by the hostess. Ten members were present.

Another passenger carrying service has been organized in Willimantic and is known as the Thread City Taxi company. The stockholders are William N. Whiton, Albert E. Coutu and George A. Brown. The company is to incorporate under the laws of the state of Connecticut with a capital of $5,000.

Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Levard of Baltimore, Maryland, announce the engagement of their sister, Miss Theresa Frances Huber, to Wales G. Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. M. Thompson of 88 Prospect street, this city.

A baby health exhibit was held in Eagleville, Wednesday under the auspices of the state department of health and proved most instructive and interesting. A session was held for the school children in the afternoon when stereopticon slides were shown. In the evening, Dr. Lampher of Hartford delivered an illustrated address to a large number.

It was announced Thursday afternoon that the postcard shop and store at 801 Main street, formerly conducted by the late James Harries had been purchased by Russell W. Potter. The sale was made Thursday morning through the administrator of the estate, Carl Welcome of Westfield, Mass. After the transaction had been completed, the insurance agency formerly conducted by Mr. Harries was taken over by Frank M. Lincoln.

Among the bills taken from the legislative calendar was that including in the trunk line system the highway leading from Willimantic to Stafford Springs; thence running easterly over Rockwell Hill and continuing easterly direct to North Ashford and Westford Four Corners, in the town of Union, thence to Union Center over Marcy Hill through Massapaugh to the state line.

Conseil St. Cecile No. 113, L'Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amerique, recently held a whist party in St. Mary's hall. Forty-seven tables were occupied. Prizes were awarded as follows: Ladies: Miss Agnes Gaudreau, first; Miss Irene Bailiant, second; and Miss Diana Caron, consolation. Men: Wilfred Beaulieu, first; John O'Brien second; Duncan MacArthur, consolation. Mrs. C. E. Dufresne was chairman of the committee in charge of the successful affair.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church was held in the church parlors with the vice president, Mrs. Marion Smith, in charge. Routine business was transacted. No definite

NEW ROSES FOR LITTLE CHEEKS

ARE your children pale and thin, weak and languid?

Build them up for the long, hot summer with Gude's Pepto-Mangan. It will help them put on solid, glowing flesh, bring back the roses to their cheeks, the brightness to their eyes, and the health, vigor and vivacity which "spring fever" have taken away.

Your druggist has Gude's, and will tell you that for years physicians have prescribed it as a reliable, effective tonic. Liquid or tablets, as you prefer.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan

Tonic and Blood Enricher

THE H. C. MURRAY CO.

MURRAY'S BOSTON STORE

WILLIMANTIC, CONN.

For Easter Sunday

And the Springtime Day Thereafter

Spring is truly the best "Dress-up" period of the year. Soft whispering breezes in league with the balmy sunshine just naturally arouses our inborn instinct to appear at our best.

The store wide display of Spring Fashions hold irresistible attraction for women and misses in all major things of attire as well as the many smaller but equally important accessories.

COATS AND WRAPS APPROVED BY FASHION

NEW THREE-PIECE SUITS THAT ARE ASSURED FAVORITES FOR SPRING

SPRINGTIME FROCKS IN ALL THE NEW SHADES AND APPROVED STYLES

PAISLEY BLOUSES IN BRILLIANT HUES

SKIRTS THAT REVEAL MANY NEW NOTES

You can also select from Silk Hosiery, Spring Gloves, New Neckwear, Silk and Muslin Underwear, Silk Petticoats, Silk Sweaters, Corsets, etc., in fact you can find everything here to help you dress up, and the ANNIVERSARY SALE will help you save on many things you need for yourself or the home.

Here's A Real Farm Profit Maker

We doubt if we have a bigger profit maker for you in our entire line of implements than the John Deere Manure Spreader. It saves valuable time. It saves half labor and it spreads the manure on the land evenly and thoroughly to get the most value out of it.

It's a low-down easy-loading spreader with high drive wheels which start in high gear.

It's simple—only about half the parts necessary on the ordinary spreader.

The main working parts are mounted on the rear axle—they can't get out of line to cause heavy draft and breakage.

Its revolving rake insures an even feed to the beater—no bunching or skidding. With the straw spreading attachment the John Deere material shreds perfectly.

We have a lot of other things we could tell you on this spreader. Come in and look this profit maker over.

THE JORDAN HARDWARE CO.

Telephone 700 Willimantic, Conn.

Colds spread in sneezing crowds

After Exposure Take Hill's

WHEN colds are going the rounds and la grippe and pneumonia are prevalent, you must exercise precaution.

You can't escape exposure. But you can strengthen your resistance by taking Hill's Cascara Quinine Tablets regularly.

Colds spread in the sneezing crowds that pack cars, streets, shops and theaters.

Play safe and keep fit. Take Hill's before and after exposure.

At All Druggists—30 cents

Local people are talking favorably in regard to one of the show windows of the Murray Boston Store th which is displayed the hope chest to be given away at the carnival in April under the auspices of St. Jean Baptiste D'Amerique. The contents of the chest are numerous and beautiful and were prepared and donated by Conseil Florimond No. 113.

Mrs. Grace E. Potter celebrated her birthday recently at her home on West Main street. A fine supper was served, including a birthday cake. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin F. Cross and daughter, Mrs. Bertha Gradley and Mrs. Martha M. Barrett's were among the guests present. Mrs. Potter received a number of nice gifts.

Ten members were present at a meeting of a sewing club of which Mrs. Robert H. Fenton is the leader and which was entertained by Mrs. E. O. Sumner.

It is commonly said that bobbed hair is going out of style but something has gone wrong in Willimantic. While a number of local girls are putting their hair back into the fad, one local barber claims the taking of 12 new scalps during the past two weeks.

Mrs. John G. Bill recently entertained a few friends at a quilting bee at her home on North street. Having finished the oak-leaf pattern, the Lady of the Lake quilt was worked. A delicious old fashioned lunch was served by the hostess.

Miss Elizabeth Hardman of Windham Road has returned from a short stay with her sister, Mrs. Harold Robinson of William street, Norwich.

Mrs. Charles W. Hill of Lewiston avenue is spending the week-end in East Hampton, the guest of Mrs. Eugene Hall.

Miss Annie Backus has been at her home on Valley street for a number of weeks on account of the serious illness of her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur I. Bill who have spent the winter at Miami, fla. left Tuesday for Daytona. Mrs. E. B. Latham has left Orange City and is in Deland.

State Police Russell I. Harmon and Herbert Kelsey of the Stafford Springs barracks were in this city Thursday on business.

Raymond Angier has returned from a week's visit at his native home, Brattleboro, Vt.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Tripp and Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey E. Macfarlane have returned from a few days spent in Boston where they attended the automobile show.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

Miss Mabel Fowles is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Mattie Smithies, in Palmer, Mass.

Mrs. Olive Walsh is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Henry Dobson, in Bridgeport.

Mrs. George Dennis and Mrs. John Denniston have gone on a month's trip to Bermuda.

John Serafin is ill with pneumonia at his home in Cooper lane.

Mrs. Annie White of Ware, Mass. has been spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Ellen White, of West Main street, who has been ill with grip.

Arthur Johnson has returned from a two weeks' vacation in Whiting, Vt. He was accompanied on the return trip by Frank Daniels of Whiting, who will spend a few weeks in town.

The funeral of Leon E. Booth was held at his home in Union Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Rev. H. A. Coolidge officiated and burial was in Union Center cemetery.

Charles P. Hodgson, who has been ill for several weeks with a complication of diseases, is again able to be out.

M. Bertha Prentice of Boston is ill with diphtheria at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Heim.

Robert Booth has returned to his home in Providence after spending several weeks with relatives in the Hollow.

Mrs. John A. Farnum of Worcester is the guest of Mrs. F. J. Glover in the Hollow.

John Lavine has gone to Pittsfield, Mass., where he has secured employment.

Russell Colburn, who has been ill with pneumonia, is recovering.

MYSTIC

Friends of William Harvey, of Oak street were invited to his home Sunday evening it being a surprise party in honor of Mr. Harvey's birthday. A most delicious supper was enjoyed which consisted of lobster and potato salad, rolls, cakes, sandwiches, fruit, jelly and whipped cream. A large birthday cake with 42 candles graced the table. There were 25 guests present, coming from Westerly, Stonington, Quaabog and Mystic.

The Daughters of Veterans, Phoebe Packer Rathbun tent No. 3, will meet Monday evening with Mrs. Benjamin on High street.

A house boat named the "Comfort," which is moored near the Riding way bridge, which is located between Mystic and Noank, is to have a thorough overhauling and repairing. The boat is owned by Miss M. Bearse, of New York and will be put into commission this season.

Thursday afternoon there was a whist at the Community house. The affair was in charge of Mrs. A. O. Colby.

The North End Juniors defeated the Bulldogs Tuesday night at basketball and are now in line with the All Stars for the league championship. The score was 24 to 18. The North End team was credited with 25 points for sportsmanship, reliability and winning the game. The Bulldogs were given 70 points for sportsmanship and reliability.

Work has been started on the 13-acre tennis court which is under construction at Mapes's Island for a New York summer resident. It is to be in readiness for the summer season.

There is much building going on this season at Groton Long Point. Twelve cottages have already been completed and more are under construction. This is a high record for building cottages at this shore resort.

Captain and Mrs. W. H. Allen of New York have arrived at Mapes's Island, where they have opened their cottage for the season.

F. J. Bailey of New London was a caller here Wednesday.

Miss Thelma Spofford of Hastings, N. Y., who has been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Fred Mull, returned home Wednesday.

Miss Mabel Allen of Mapes's Island, who is wintering at Orlando, Fla., reports good weather there.

Mrs. Harriet Avery of Haley street is confined to her home by illness.

Mrs. Christopher Hall of Mystic has been elected matron of Pleiades chapter, No. 27, O. E. S., and Mr. Hall patron. Mrs. J. Beveridge Lee, of Mystic, past matron will occupy the station. March 27, Rev. W. Hadley of Waterford, March 29, Jeremiah Burke, president of Connecticut College for Women, will speak on "Modern Education." March 30, Dr. Charles H. Dinsmore, of Yale Divinity school. March 30, communion service conducted by the pastor, George L. Farnahaur.

Thursday evening members of the Mystic Encampment, Royal Purple degree team of Odd Fellows, journeyed to New London and conferred the degree upon a class of candidates for Orion Encampment. Saturday night the second degree team of Stonington lodge, No. 26, is to make a visitation to Westerly, having been invited by Narragansett lodge of that city where they will also work the second degree. A large number are planning to go there from here.

PLAINFIELD

John Joseph Curran, son of the late Patrick and Julia Daley, died on Wednesday evening at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Thomas King of Plainfield.

Joseph Curran was born in Providence, R. I., on January 8, 1904. His mother died when he was six months old and his father died when he was five years old; since that time he has been cared for by his aunt, Mrs. King.

Joseph graduated from the local grammar school in 1919. He entered P. H. S. in the fall of the same year and on account of poor health was obliged to give up his studies in 1921; had he been able to have continued with his studies he would have been a member of this year's graduating class of 1923. He is survived by his grandfather, John Curran, an uncle, Daniel Curran, four aunts, Mrs. Nadeau and Mrs. Lynch, of Providence, R. I., Miss Nellie Curran of Norwich, and Mrs. J. M. Sullivan and Mrs. Thomas King of Plainfield.

He was a member of the St. John's council, K. of C. No. 2354 and the Holy Name society. Joseph Curran was of a lovable nature, and the news of his death comes as a great shock to his many friends here in the community. He was held in high esteem by all who knew him.

One of the athletic events of the season will be the basketball game Friday evening at the Community house when the Plainfield team will play the fast New Haven Kaseys. Some of the best basketball players of Connecticut will be on the floor at this time. The Buddies will face the Baltic Bantams on the same evening.

The committee of the society and the standing committee of the Congregational church will hold an important session in the vestry on Friday evening.

Rev. David Combs, president of the Library association, attended the district library meeting held in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, Putnam, Tuesday, the 13th. The meeting was held under the joint auspices of the Connecticut Library association and the Connecticut Public Library committee. At the morning session there was a roll-call of the libraries represented and in the afternoon there was a valuable discussion of recent books, led by Robert K. Shaw of Worcester and Mrs. Mary E. Root of Providence.

Charles A. Jerome, who is recovering from a long and serious illness, received a message Sunday afternoon of the sudden death of his mother, Mrs. Eliza Holt (Starr) Jerome, widow of Henry G. Jerome, of Uncasville. Mrs. Jerome suffered a fall four weeks ago in which she fractured her shoulder. She contracted pneumonia during the last week and after a few days' illness died Sunday afternoon in her 84th year. Mrs. Jerome leaves one daughter, Mrs. George A. Perkins, who has been living with her mother, and she is also survived by two sons, Charles A. Jerome, postmaster in Plainfield, and Franklin S. Jerome, of Orange. The youngest of the children died four years ago. She also leaves two granddaughters, Miss Louise Jerome of Plainfield and Mrs. Burnham Woodward of Pelham.

Charles Jerome was greatly shocked by the sad news of his mother's death as he had no knowledge even of her sickness and in his sorrow he has the sincere sympathy of the community which he served so faithfully.

THE NEW HALL OF FAME

ANNOUNCEMENT EXTRAORDINARY

Josef Hofmann

NOW ON BRUNSWICK RECORDS ONLY

First Recording Now On Sale

50823—Hungarian Rhapsody—No. 2, Part 1 (Liszt)
Hungarian Rhapsody—No. 2, Part 2 (Liszt)

A record to cherish and preserve. Crystal clear, not a note lost nor subtlety of expression omitted. One of the great geniuses of time perpetuated as only Brunswick Records—the world's clearest reproductions—could achieve. Hear it today. Plays on any phonograph.

Six Other New Records Just On Sale—

JUST HEARD

Ethel Barrymore Colt (Pictured)
Mme. Schumann-Heink—Two Trod
Vladimir de Pachmann—Two Trod
White Way Male Quartet
Ernest Hare and Male Quartet
Billy Murray and Male Quartet

Brunswick

WESTERLY

The following officers were elected by the Westerly lodge, No. 678, B. P. O. E., at their annual meeting held at their rooms in the Potter Langworthy building Tuesday night: Exalted ruler, Dr. H. F. Doyle; esteemed leading knight, Harold S. Barber; esteemed loyal knight, James McCormick; esteemed lecturing knight, James F. Coman; secretary, M. W. Flynn, Jr.; treasurer, Richard J. Butler, Jr., trustee, James Collins; delegate to national convention, John J. Walsh; alternate, Dr. Michael H. Scanlon. District Deputy G. E. R. Joseph L. Lenihan will have charge of installing the newly elected officers the 8th of April.

An act has been introduced in the house of representatives by Representative Samuel H. Davis to pension Judge Oliver H. Williams, a former justice of the Third District court. The act if made law will allow Judge Williams the sum of $1200 per year for life. A similar act was introduced in the senate by Senator Cole of Warren.

The firemen who were overcome by smoke during the fire in the Brown building on Tuesday night have recovered from their illness.

Send this advertisement to The Plaut-Cadden Co., Norwich, with your name and address and you will receive a Book of Old Fashioned Songs free.—adv.

Mrs. Mercie A. Rogers, wife of Dwight H. Rogers, died at her home on Pleasant street Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Rogers was born in Norwich, Conn., Oct. 10, 1845, the daughter of Gilbert H. and Hannah Corning Tanner. She attended school in Norwich and graduated from the Norwich Free Academy, and taught school in that city. She was united in marriage to Dwight H. Rogers in 1868.

She is survived by her husband and two sons, Norman T. and D. Harold Rogers, all of Westerly.

Frederick S. Opie who has been spending a few months in Florida is expected to return home today (Friday.)

ANNOUNCEMENTS

A. O. H. Concert Programme.

The following will be the concert programme by Herb Smith's orchestra at the Union A. O. H. St. Patrick's celebration tonight at the state armory:

Opening March—Marconigram Allyn
Selection—Eileen Victor Hubert
Group Selections—Irish Melodies Selected
(a) Minstrel Boy
(b) Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms
(c) St. Patrick's Day
(d) Teddy O'Rourke
(e)) Garry Owen
(f) The Harp That Once Through Tara's Hall

Followed by selections by the pipers and military drill by the ladies.

Owing to the length of the programme the concert will begin at 8 o'clock sharp. Trolley cars will leave to all local sections, Taftville, included, after the entertainment.

TODAY'S EVENTS

Centenary of the birth of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., to be observed on United States mint coin—Holy Cross President Cleveland.

Penn Institute will honor the memory of its founder Jacob Tome, on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his death.

With a larger entry list than ever before, the drawings for the Davis Cup international lawn tennis matches will be made in New York city today.

The New Mexico Cattle and Horse Growers' association, one of the largest organizations of its kind in the country, meets in annual session today at Las Vegas.

Sir Robert Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scout movement, accompanied by Lady Powell, are sailing from England today for a tour of Canada and the United States.

The suit of the United States vs. Stone & Webster, involving the alleged overcharge of $6,000,000 in the construction of the Camp Travis cantonment, is to come up for a preliminary hearin gtoday in the federal court at San Antonio.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Sale of One of Finest Farms in Eastern Connecticut

Through the agency of William E. Hill, the beautiful farm formerly owned by the late William C. Smith has been sold to Henry E. Holden. The farm consists of 160 acres of rich land situated both sides of the Willimantic highway about one mile north of Smith's corners. There is a beautiful house consisting of 10 rooms with all improvements. Large barn and other buildings. The new owner, Mr. Holden, intends to occupy this place as his future home.

Breed Theatre

Greeted by one of the largest and most enthusiastic audiences that have attended the Breed theatre for some time, "Bells of San Juan," a William Fox production, starring Charles Jones, opened a three days run.

The story, from which the picture was adapted, was written by Jackson Gregory, one of the best known writers of western advenature stories. This knowledge, coupled with the fact that Charles Jones, who is the ideal western character, assured the audience that they were to see a worthwhile production.

Jones enacts the role of a young western sheri and is ably supported by Fritzi Brunette, a newcomer to leading roles, who capably plays the part of a "lady doctor."

The picture is a rip-roarer, from start to finish and is sure to make more friends for the Breed theatre.

These are the kind of pictures that make Will Hays' job easier and increase the popularity of the motion pictures.

Everyone should see this stirring western drama, which will be shown again today and tomorrow. Other pictures on the bill include Ruth Roland in The Timber Queen, the Pathe news and a Lee comedy.

New Method of Hypnosis to be Shown Today

In these days of new thought Couesism, radio and speed, the general public wonders what will follow next? Now comes another startling announcement. That it is now possible to hypnotize a person even against his or her will.

J. J. Clifford, the leading hynotist of the country, is the exponent of this new method and will appear at the Broadway during the last half of this week as the headline attraction at each performance.

Although Clifford's work is decidedly interesting from a scientific standpoint it is also very mirth-provoking to see the funny antics which his subjects (obtained from the audience) go through while in the hynotic state.

Clifford is the only operator on the stage today using this method whereby a subject can be put to sleep without concentration.

The sleep is produced entirely by a nerve pressure, causing a paralysis of the nerves running to the opposite brain, producing a complete anaesthesia.

Clifford extends a cordial invitation to those who are skeptical to witness his demonstrations at the theatre, and if you are a doubter, just walk upon the stage and Clifford will put you to sleep where all may see.

During his stay in this city Clifford will stage a daily demonstration of his work in the window of Schwartz Bros. furniture store at 1.30 p. m., when he will hypnotize a young man and make him ride a bicycle for four hours steady.

There are four other acts on the program at the Broadway and a feature photoplay with Dorothy Dalton in Dark Secrets.

At the Strand

Making burglary a profitable pastime ought to furnish any wealthy young man, suffering from ennui, with something different in the way of thrills.

At any rate, this leads to some most surprising situation in "Nobody's Money," a Paramount picture starring Jack Holt which will be the feature at the Strand theatre today and Saturday. For in that picture, which is a screen adaptation from William LeBaron's well known stage success, Mr. Holt has the role of a young man who is advised by his physician to "lay aside work and get into something exciting to escape a nervous breakdown." He chums with a burglar, Eddie, whose fingers naturally cling with pertinacity to everything they touch.

If such luck would fall to the lot of every man who went in for burglaring as a pastime, Mr. Holt might advise them to try it. But everybody's luck won't run as does Holt's in "Nobody's Money." For this reason, while the picture turns out to be one of the most enjoyable and entertaining the famous Paramount star has ever appeared in, yet, it does not advise anyone to "follow the path of the hero, himself."

A comedy "West is East" and an up-to-date news are the remainder subjects.

Dr. Danforth in Third Noon Meeting

This (Friday) noon the third in the series of noon luncheon talks will be given by Dr. J. R. Danforth of New London at the local Young Men's Christian Association. Promptly at 12 o'clock luncheon will be served, and immediately following the lunch the talk will be given. Mr. Danforth has announced as his topic today, The Credible Go. These meetings are creating a genuine interest among many of our business men. The meeting will close promptly at 1 o'clock.

Derby.—After an exciting chase which led through the principal streets of the city, Tony Pugnolo and Philip Milano, alleged liquor traffickers, were placed under arrest by the local police

...S. MALLORY BY ... YESTERDAY
CLASHES WITH MLLE. LENGLEN TODAY

Nice, March 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, the American tennis champion, and Suzanne Lenglen, champion of the world, will meet tomorrow across the net in an encounter which tonight overshadows in interest any match which has ever taken place on the Riviera.

The American woman today obtained her right again to meet the redoubtable French girl by winning two matches in singles, the first from Miss Tobin, who was defeated 6-4, 6-4, and the second from Mrs. O'Neill, who went down to defeat 8-6, 8-3.

Even in the days when the Doherty brothers were supreme in France's winter tournaments, or when Beals C. Wright and Fred B. Alexander, or A. F. Wildings made their spectacular appearances in the Riviera, no match has aroused such keen rivalry as that which places face to face the champion of the western hemisphere and the old world's recognized tennis queen.

Those who have followed the Monte Carlo, Mentone and Nice tournaments during the past three weeks have been aware of the keen rivalry which exists between the two champions and are certain that tomorrow's match will be fought out between them without mercy or quarter.

Strangely, Mrs. Mallory seems to be as much of a favorite here with the spectators as Mlle. Lenglen, although Nice is practically the French girl's home town. During the tournament both players have maintained a dignified attitude but neither seems to attempt to hide the fact that there is no tennis love lost between them and that tomorrow's match will be fought to the finish, with both "out for blood."

The Mallory-O'Neill match this afternoon was fought in chilly weather which caused even the venerable king of Sweeden, fresh from the snows of Stockholm, to turn up his coat collar. There also seemed to be a certain frigidity around Lenglen's headquarters toward the playing ability of Mrs. Mallory.

Suzanne had just handed Mlle. Vlasco a 6-0, 6-0, beating and moved over to the no. 3 court, where Mrs. Mallory, after having won her first set 8-6, was trailing 1-3 in the second set behind Mrs. O'Neil. Every stroke Mrs. Mallory played was dissected and discussed by Suzanne and her father, and when Mrs. Mallory finally emerged the victor Suzanne said audibly, "I will beat her tomorrow, never fear."

"Well, we get a crack at the champion tomorrow," was the rejoinder of Mrs. Mallory.

This seemed to sum up the situation with regard to the feeling between the two women.

Some wagers were made at 5 to 1 that Lenglen will win. Several bets at even money were placed that Mallory does not win five games. Numerous other freak wagers are reported, but no one has gone on record as venturing to back their judgment that Mrs. Malory will win.

Miss Elisabeth Ryan, by defeating Mrs. Beamish today reached the semi-finals in the singles. Tomorrow the California girl will meet Miss Aripp and seems a certain finalist against the winner of the Lenglen-Mallory match. In the men's singles F. Gordon Low will meet Lord Rocksavage, and Randolph Lycett will play Baron De Morpurgo.

BRENNAN IS DECLARED TO BE OUT OF DANGER

New York, March 15.—Bill Brennan, Chicago heavyweight, who is in a hospital with a slight concussion of the brain, resulting from his knockout at the hands of Luis Firpo Monday night in Madison Square Garden, tonight was declared "out of danger" by a specialist attending him. He will be able to leave the hospital in three or four days, it was said.

Brennan's manager, Leo P. Flynn, tonight made public a letter written to the boxer by William Muldoon prised his showing against Firpo's terrific attack and branded as "unworthy of consideration" newspaper charges that the bout was "fixed" for the south American to win.

ENTRIES FOR DAVIS CUP COMPETITION CLOSES

New York, March 15.—Entries for 1923 Davis cup play were closed tonight by the United States Lawn Tennis association with seventeen nations, representing all parts of the world, entered for what promises to be the most interesting contest in the history of international competition. The entry list exceeds by three the previous record, made last year.

No eleventh hour entries were received today, but it was said that any received before the draw is made tomorrow at noon would be given consideration, providing they were despatched before midnight tonight.

The draw will be made in two sections for the first time in Davis cup history, thirteen nations being listed in the European zone, and four in the American area. The final round series to determine America's challenger, will bring together the respective zone winners. The final round is scheduled in this country on August 16, 17 and 18 and the challenge round will follow at Forest Hills, N. Y., on August 31, September 1 and 3.

This year's challenges for the trophy include all of the 1922 competitors except the Philippines. Newcomers to the list are Argentina and Ireland.

FIRPO TO MAKE NEXT APPEARANCE ON MAY 12

New York, March 15.—While boxing circles were regarding with marked skepticism a flurry of reports that Argentine promoters were offering inducements ranging from $500,000 to $1,000,000 for Jack Dempsey to risk his heavyweight title against Luis Angel Firpo, Tex Rickard tonight announced that the south American champion would make his next ring appearance in a bout on the same card with Jess Willard-Floyd Johnson match at the Yankee stadium, May 12.

Rickard dit not intimate who Firpo's opponent would be, but it was said he might select either Jack Renault, promising Canadian heavyweight; or Tom Gibbons, St. Paul lightheavyweight.

Talk of a Firpo-Dempsey match in Buenos Aires was branded, in the vernacular, as "ballyhoo," but regardless of the possible outcome of "tentative negotiations" which Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, said were under way with unnamed south American interests, the fact remained that no serious attempt so far has been made to match the champion and the sensational battler from the Argentine.

Kearns himself was skeptical of any immediate arrangement for a Firpo match; denied specifically that he had been offered $75,000 for the champion's end, as reported; and termed as publicity seekers the dozens of promoters here and abroad, who, he said, were "willing to offer anything up to $1,000,000 on paper."

Rickard, who has Firpo under an ironclad contract to box for him exclusively for a year, declared that talk of fabulous purses for a Dempsey-Firpo fight, either here or in Buenos Aires, was "pure bunk."

The promoter admittedly has had under consideration for some time the possibility of matching Firpo and Dempsey in South America, if the former continues to display the unusual promise which has characterized his career so far. But he emphasized that it is yet too early to make definite plans and that he was not at all certain that it would be worth while to risk promoting the prospective venture outside of the United States.

"It would draw big in the Argentine, without a doubt," Rickard said, "but the same thing goes if the bout should be held in this country. In the meantime, it's silly to talk of such big purses. No one is legitimately offering that amount of money."

Firpo's sudden rise to pugilistic prominence, through his knockout victory over Brennan, has brought a veritable deluge of offers to him from promoters in all parts of the country, all of which, it was declared, were simply attempts to exploit the promoters, instead of the boxers, and not to be taken seriously.

SIKI IS A RIP ROARIN' BAD MAN

Hoboken, N. J., March 15.—All the wild-men who ever came from Borneo are as tame as domestic cats compared to battling Siki, the Senegal warrior, who slammed Georges Carpentier from his world light-heavyweight seat, according to the crew of the President Adams, on which Siki recently rode from Cherborg to Queenstown.

Siki's manager booked passage for his man on the ship so that he could get to Ireland to train for his match with Mike McTigue on St. Patrick's day. The battler disappeared four days before the ship sailed. His wife, a Dutch woman, didn't know where he was. Finally they found him in a Paris apartment.

He had been getting down to weight by drinking strong liquor. When his wife tried to get him out of the apartment he blackened her eye. It was under a patch when she went on the ship. Siki, kicking like a roped calf, was carried aboard by six of the strongest stevedores in Cherbourg, and locked in his stateroom.

He snorted; he roared; he kicked the doors, banged up the furnishings and declared he was dying from thirst. Then they told him he was aboard an American boat and the kind of thirst he had couldn't be quenched just then. So he spat his disgust and calmed. He left the boat peaceably.

"But say," remarked a seaman on the President Adams "ain't that guy got a nerve to fight an Irishman in Ireland on St. Patrick's day? win or lose he's bound to get licked."

SAYLES LEADING Y. M. C. A. HEXATHLON MEET

The International Y. M. C. A. hexathlon meet for juniors is now being conducted in the Y gym with the following boys leading in the events. Unlimited class: John Sayles 375 points.

125 lb class—Randall Williams 356, Phil MacNamara 358, Clifford Moody 316.

110 lb class—Walter Krohn 197.

95 lb class—Otis Fellows 288, Frank Kreger 171.

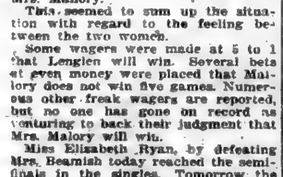
80 lb class—Dem. Angelopoulis 191.

CARPENTIER-SIKI BOUT ARRANGED FOR SEPT. 16

Paris, March 15.—(By the Associated Press)—The French boxing federation announced this evening that a fight between Georges Carpentier and "Battling" Siki has been definitely arranged for the afternoon of September 16 in the Buffalo stadium here.

Francois Descamps has acknowledged acceptance of the date in the name of Carpentier and Siki, who was informed by telegraph of the arrangements, has sent his acceptance through his manager from Dublin.

FOLEY'S HONEY & TAR



Croupy Children

Largest selling Cough medicine in the world

Stood the test of time, serving three generations

No Opiates—ingredients printed on the wrapper

LEE & OSGOOD CO.

BOOKS On All Subjects All Kinds

Subscriptions to all American and European Publications.

SHEA'S NEWS BUREAU

UNION SQUARE

DAMASCUS STEEL PRODUCTS

Hack Saw Blades that don't break. Butcher Knives that a hammer won't break; sharpen with a file.

STEAK KNIVES

COLD CHISELS

PINCERS, PLIERS, ETC.

THE HOUSEHOLD

BULLETIN BUILDING

74 FRANKLIN STREET

TELEPHONE 921-6

PISO'S

COUGH? Try Piso's—astonishingly quick relief. A reliable all other preparation—does not upset stomach—no opiates. 35c and 60c everywhere.

SIKI AND McTIGUE

Dublin, March 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Mike McTigue and "battling" Siki both are said to be in splendid condition for their bout here on Saturday, St. Patrick's day. The fighters have been giving sparring exhibitions on alternate days to large crowds of spectators this week.

The impression of the followers of the game is that Siki has been more effective in his work. And the betting which had favored McTigue now has turned in favor of the black man. There are some, however, who believe that McTigue has not extended himself in his workouts.

The exact weights at which the men will enter the ring is not known, but it is presumed Siki will have an advantage of about ten pounds over his white opponent.

A large number of fight fans and boxers have arrived in Dublin to witness the bout, among them Frank Moran, Bombadier Wells and Jim Coffey, the Dublin giant. These three men have expressed the opinion that, despite the disparity in weights, McTigue will be returned the winner. Georges Carpentier, from whom Siki won the world light heavyweight championship, and his manager, Francois Descamps, will arrive here tomorrow.

Siki and McTigue will spend tomorrow and Saturday quietly tapering off for the sound of the gong which will start the fight.

SPENCER'S COLTS TRIM COMBAT TRAIN AGAIN

Spencer's Colts trimmed the Combat Train indoor baseball team again Thursday evening by a score of 24 to 13. Spencer pitched for the Colts and had something on his opponent. Capt. Bill Burdick. The Colts played a wonderful fielding game, executing a triple play and several doubles beside hitting terrifically. The Combat Train played in their usual form.

NEW HAVEN KACEYS AT PLAINFIELD TONIGHT

The roads in eastern Connecticut all lead to Plainfield tonight for basketball fans as the fast New Haven Kaceys clash with the Plainfield team. The Kaceys constitute what is considered one of the fastest teams in the state and their record for the season proves it. The Plainfield team is the fastest five that has represented the village in its history and should give a good account of themselves in tonight's match.

STANDING Y. M. C. A. JUNIORS BASKETBALL LEAGUE

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Greens	5	0	1.000
Grays	4	1	.800
Blues	3	1	.725
Reds	1	4	.200
Purples	1	4	.200
Browns	0	4	.000

Dinner For Yale and Harvard

Princeton, N. J., March 15.—Members of Princeton's football team will give a dinner for members of the Yale and Harvard elevens Saturday night at the Yale club in New York. Only members of the three teams will attend.

Exhibition Game

Clearwater, Fla., March 15.

Brooklyn Nationals	12	13	2
Boston Nationals	7	11	3

Decatur, Dickerman, Ollinger and Deberry, Taylor; Watson, Benton and Gowdy, O'Neil.

Exhibition Game

Orlando, Fla., March 15.

Cleveland American	10	12	1
Cincinnati National	2	9	3

Morton, Smith, Uhle and Myatt, L. Sewell, Luque, Keck and Wingo, Hargrave.

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

Williams College has added indoor golf to its sport program.

Penn will endeavor to form an Intercollegiate Baseball League for 1924.

Johnny Dundee has influenza and will not defend his title against Tommy Noble March 16.

Old man Britton, the former welterweight champion, has not had "enough" in 35 years, and he is planning to come back.

Tex Hamer, captain of Penn's football eleven, will compete in weight event this season with the Red and Blue track team.

J. O. Anderson, of the Australian Davis cup team, is touring New South Wales, explaining his recent trip in this country and England to youthful fans.

Rollie Williams, captain of the University of Wisconsin's 1922 football team, is the only Badger athlete, besides Guy Sundt, to win more than eight letters during his career.

One thing Kid Gleason figures Willie Kamm will do for the White Sox infield is to cover more ground about the hot corner in order to allow Ernie Johnson to move closer to second, where he can cut off many a hit that went through there last season. With Collins on the other side, the infield will be pretty tight.

Pittsburgh is considering its filtration plant as a site for a municipal golf course. An ideal course especially adapted to beginners could be plant.

A recent advertisement shows a man shooting ruffed grouse from an automobile. It is unsportsman like and unfair. Most states forbid it by law. All states should.

Intercollegiate A. A. A. A. has barred Southern California U., athletes from the outdoor intercollegiate track and field meet. This means Charlie Paddock will not compete.

Bancroft of the Giants, is one of the brainiest shortstops in the history of the game," says Hughey Jennings, now assistant to John McGraw at New York.

The big job that manager Bill Killefer of the Cubs faces is to teach his young pitchers the proper pitching motion to employ when men are on the bases. It is seldom that a young pitcher comes up with a definite idea of the value of this.

The main squad of the Hartford Senators will report April 10 at Clarkin Stadium, but the pitchers and the catchers are to report April 5, five days ahead of the infielders and outfielders.

Romeo Roche, Holyoke's French Flash, who has been suffering from pleurisy, was yesterday by Dr. Frank L. Gibson not to participate in any bout for the next month.

Myles Thomas, former Penn State pitcher, who broke into the Eastern League in 1921 by pitching a not-hit no-run game against the Springfield Jonies, has been purchased by Toronto from Reading.

Owners of the Waterbury baseball club have purchased an 18-passenger Packard touring car to be used to transport the team during the coming season.

George Uhle, who, in the latter part of last season, used the knuckle ball which made Eddie Rommel, of the Athletics famous and effective, is working on that delivery at Hot Springs, where the advance guard of the Indians are training.

A spring big league series in Florida, with four National League and four American League teams participating, is under consideration. Fred Mitchell of the Boston Braves and Clark Griffin of Washington, approved of the plan.

Kid Williams, who one time was the kingpin of the bantamweight division and who is still a performer to command the respect of the best in the game, will be Frankie Mack's opponent in a Buffalo ring either on the night of April 5 or April 9.

Young Montreal is said to be fighting in his old time form.

BARBER OVERCOMES DUGAS' LEAD AND WINS BOWLING MATCH BY 23 PI...

Frank Barber of Danielson, claimant of the Eastern Connecticut bowling title, disposed of another contender for the crown on Thursday evening at the Taftville alleys when he overcame a 26-pin lead and beat Fred Dugas of Taftville 1074 to 1025, in the final block of the 20-string match for a purse of $400.

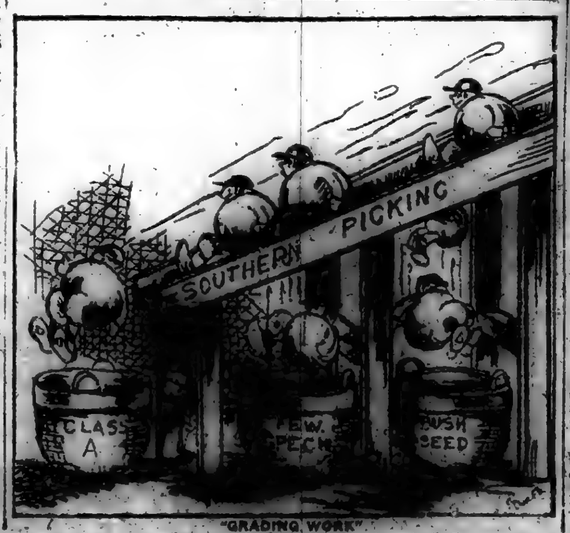
The match was a thriller and it was not until the last string that it could be decided. Barber started off poorly registering only an 89 in the first string while Dugas piled up 109, making the combined lead 46 pins. In the next frame Barber cut down the lead three pins and in the third string took off 12 more. Dugas gained three in the fourth and then added 13 more in the fifth. At the halfway point Dugas stood 47 pins to the good on the grand total for fifteen strings. From then on Barber displayed better form and won four of the five remaining strings.

Barber started the 6 string with an 8 but collected five spares in a row and then added another in the seventh box. In this string he beat Dugas 25 pins reducing the Taftville lad's lead to 22 pins. The seventh string was a close battle, Dugas pulling a hard spare in the ninth box on which he added 9 pins, finally beating Barber by 1 maple. Barber cut off five pins in the next string and in the ninth string beat Dugas by 20 pins, giving the Danielson bowler a 2 pin lead on the grand total. With the match practically even the outcome depended on the final string. This string was a heartbreaker for Dugas as he got some bad breaks and his nerve was apparently a little shaky. Barber kept steadily at it and up to the seventh box it was anybody's game. In the eighth frame Barber pulled down a spare and then added a strike with five on it, enough to win the match.

The match was well worth seeing and there was excitement aplenty. Dugas was just a trifle weak on picking up spares and missed enough to give him the match. Barber on the other hand got some poor breaks out of perfect hits during the first half of the match but in the second half things began to come his way. Many pretty spares were made by Dugas during the game. The scores:

Dugas.		Barber.
109		89
96		99
94		106
113		110
107		94
102		127
114		113
107		112
91		111
92		113
1025		1074
1102		1076
2127		2150

The average of the two bowlers on the 20 strings was: Dugas 106.7; Barber 107.1. This shows that the two men are about evenly matched.



"GRADING WORK"

Reprint from Service Record March 13, 1923.

MAIN ST. TOGGERY SHOPPE DAMAGED BY WATER

Harry Lahn's Toggery Shoppe was badly damaged by water Saturday afternoon and evening as the result of a leaky roof. The leaks were discovered and bulkheads were constructed for sometime. Monday's heavy rain storm made conditions more serious.

At HARRY LAHN'S Toggery Shoppe

STARTS TOMORROW SATURDAY, AT 9 A. M.

AND WILL CONTINUE FOR 10 DAYS.

HERE IS AN OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME TO SAVE MONEY — MY LOSS YOUR PROFIT — COME AND ATTEND THIS SALE — BUT — BE EARLY!

MEN! NOW IS YOUR CHANCE TO BUY SHIRTS--4 Big Lots

BE SURE AND SEE THESE SHIRTS

LOT No. 1 Broadcloth Silk — In four colors—White, Blue, Gray and Tan — Colors guaranteed..... $2.59

LOT No. 2—HIGH-GRADE Silk Shirts — Of Baby Broadcloth, Crepe-de-Chine, China and Jersey Silk—regular up to $8.50 — All to go at—each..... $4.95

LOT No. 3 BIG LOT OF Silk Striped Shirts — Regular $2.50 values ALL TO GO AT..... $1.69

LOT No. 4 BIG LOT OF White Shirts — YOUR PICK AT EACH..... $1.00

Ide Laundered Collars — Absolutely Perfect EACH..... 12c

COLLARS — Triangle Make—Semi-Soft — WILL NOT WRINKLE — Regular 25c value 5 FOR..... $1.00

Boston Garters — 19c A PAIR

COLLARS — Van Husen Collars — REGULAR 50c SELLER — 3 FOR $1.00

MEN'S NECKWEAR — Not Damaged

BERKLEY KNIT TIES — Just Received — $2.19 Each — Regular $3.00 Value

ALL $1.00 TIES — 69c Each

Men's Felt Hats — "Perfek Make" — All $5.00 Values To Go At — $3.45 Each — NONE DAMAGED

UNDERWEAR

GENUINE B. V. D. UNION SUITS — Regular $1.50 Value..... $1.00

MANHATTAN Nainsook Union Suits — Regular $1.15 Value..... 79c

REIS UNDERWEAR Shirts and Drawers — Medium Weight..... 59c — Regular $1.00 Value

1 LOT OF WOOLEN UNDERWEAR — Glossenbury make, a garment.. $1.39 — Regular $3.00 Value

MEN'S PURE THREAD SILK HOSE — 2 Pairs for $1.00 — Regular 75c a Pair

6 PAIRS OF SOCKS For $1.00 — Regular 25c a Pair

Spring Caps — Brand New Line — Regular $2.00 Value — $1.29 Each

1 LOT OF FLANNEL NIGHT SHIRTS — $1.00 Each — Regular $2.00 Value

Handkerchiefs — 5c Each

Bath Robes — $5.95 — Regular $9.50 Value

BE SURE AND BE HERE TOMORROW — EVERYTHING IN THE STORE SOLD BELOW COST

Remember Sale Starts Saturday, March 17th

Harry Lahn's Toggery Shoppe

WIVES Take Advantage of This Big Sale A Saving On Every Article

164 MAIN STREET — Opposite Woolworth's 5c and 10c Store

...and Courier
127 YEARS OLD.
Norwich, Friday, March 16, 1923.

CIRCULATION
WEEK ENDING MARCH 10th, 1923
11,708

CONNECTICUT WOODLOTS.

In the inaugural message of the governor attention was directed to the importance of giving more consideration to the forestry problem in this commonwealth. He indicated strong interest in the utilization of what amounts now to waste or idle land for the purpose of developing growths of timber, according to the conditions of the locality.

There are these examples about the state which show in a most interesting manner what can be done in the way of woodlot development, both as to laying it out and caring for it. Connecticut doesn't begin to produce what it is able to in the way of the timber that it requires, and yet it has acres upon acres of land that could be turned to profitable use for such a purpose.

In the past the woodlot has been allowed to take care of itself. If it developed into anything more than a tangle of brush well and good, but it has been allowed to take care of itself, quite in contrast to other farm productions.

There were thus not unimportant questions that were brought before the conference of forest extension workers at New Haven when they urged as the result of their discussions the employment of farm woodlot specialists, the securing of agents for the woodland counties and the carrying out of a programme that will mean cooperation with the state forester.

Fully appreciated must be the statement in a bulletin by the state forestry association to the effect that the present practice of selling woodland to a portable saw mill for the clearing of the land is wrong and urging instead the securing of the best returns through controlled annual cuttings.

The waste of timber as well as the utilization of waste land for the development of woodlots is a matter which calls for careful attention when it comes to the conservation of our timber supply. Connecticut will never supply its timber requirements, but it ought not to tolerate the waste that exists through following present methods.

OUR REPRESENTATIVES ABROAD

The need of trained diplomats has long been apparent. It has been recognized that this country follows a decidedly different policy than others when it comes to selecting men to represent it at foreign capitals. This does not mean that no men of competency are selected for diplomatic and consular posts, but there have been in many instances where competency was not the guiding influence in the choice that a demand for men who are actually trained, especially when it comes to the consular service, is strongly supported.

These men have an important service to render and they should be equipped to do it. It is possible to bungle through, depend upon subordinates who have been doing the work for a long time and finally get a training. But all that is at the expense of the service that they are expected to render from the beginning. Whatever is therefore done in behalf of encouraging and bettering the forces of consular representatives is going to be to the great benefit of the country.

Former Ambassador Penfield was fully conscious of the need of preparing men for such service. Not only did he recognize and advocate it but he very thoughtfully made provision for it through scholarships amounting to $30,000 which he gave to New York university. That opens the opportunity for those inclined to such work to get instructed on the fundamental requirements and to get a training that will permit them to adjust themselves to the many sided work in the consular service.

The chance should, and doubtless will be, seized by those interested. It should furnish them with qualifications of a high degree, and if temperamentally equipped should make of them a list to be drawn upon when vacancies are being filled. Ready to serve means much when named for the office instead of being required to spend a year or two learning the business.

LENINE'S ILLNESS.

It is difficult to get anything authentic from Russia, therefore the news of the serious illness of Lenine is being accepted with reservations inasmuch as he has been reported so many times at death's door that there is no disposition to put unlimited faith in the reports that have been received.

Nevertheless from the bulletins that are issued concerning his illness and the manner in which it is being treated in the newspapers of Russia the seriousness of the situation, if correctly represented, cannot be minimized in view of the known effects of apoplexy.

Lenine has been the guiding figure during the experiments and experiences of the soviet government. He has been at its head during the worst and at the best of that government, and if what is claimed for him in guiding the fortunes of that government is true, he is a man of unusual ability. There are those who say that he is a fanatic, others who say that he is a statesman, but whatever he may be called he has been the one who has had the courage of his convictions and who has had the ability to put them into practice. Whether he is a statesman or a fanatic, he has proved himself the man for the hour. Whether he is to be succeeded by one who will be able to carry on the work that he has undertaken, or whether there will be a struggle for supremacy among those who are left behind, time will tell. Many will be waiting for the opportunity to step into his shoes and may be only waiting for the opportunity to begin open strife, considering it the correct thing to do when their chief is taken away.

Lenine's illness, if as serious as indicated, is bound to have an important bearing upon the future of Russia. With the troubles about removed there are many possibilities all of which may be speculative as to the country, but whether it works for good as the time has elapsed upon a change for the better only time can answer.

THE ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE DECISION.

It is a hard fight that has been waged by the Anti-Saloon league of New York in its fight in behalf of prohibition and against the saloon. It is a hard struggle that it has been putting up against opening the books concerning the money it has received and spent. It has created about some divisions of opinion among its supporters, but there is much of importance that is attached to the court decision that has just been rendered to the effect that under the law it is a political organization. In that decision it is held that "the proof conclusively discloses that the Anti-Saloon league of New York through its officers and employes . . . was an active participant to aid and defeat candidates for public office at the primary and general elections of 1922."

That being the case it is to be expected that only political organization will enjoy no special privileges over the others when it comes to the receipt and expenditure of funds. Some time ago it was stated by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who was a large contributor to the league, that there was no reason for secrecy and his support was withdrawn because of the attitude taken in refusing to open the books.

The organization has gone into the political field for a different object than some of the regular political parties, but it has nevertheless been engaged in political work of an extensive character and in which it appears to have secured, more or less success and not a little support. It only plays into the hands of its enemies when it undertakes to go counter to the requirements of other organizations, similarly charged.

REAPING THE WHIRLWIND.

It is a bit tough that the burgomasters who have been seized by the French as hostages should be required to spend their time going about on trains at the direction of the invading forces. It is a dreadful job to ride in a railroad train all day or all night.

Their presence on the trains is being enforced for the purpose of protecting the other passengers and the equipment against the attacks of the Germans. They are in fact being held and used as hostages solely because of the conduct of their fellow countrymen, and it is figured that rather than blow up a railroad train on which a burgomaster might be the troublemakers will refrain from their activities.

Had there been no shooting of the French in the back and in cold blood there would have been no seizure of burgomasters or other prominent individuals. Had there been no attempts to blow up trains the hostages would not have been called upon to serve as train protectors. With the hostages urging the people to maintain peace and order there may come a recognition of the inadvisability of the course which some have followed and to which it would seem too much encouragement had been given.

Resistance of any kind is sure to make conditions worse. It was evident from the start, and had it been so recognized by the people of the Ruhr and their conduct been shaped accordingly there would have been even less friction and bloodshed.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Germany is just as adept at making protests as it was in making promises.

The man on the corner says: Now for that part of the month that rymikns to be Hoshke.

Those nine match factories that have decided to merge have probably discounted all danger of friction.

New England has had a hard winter but it wouldn't change places with the middle west and its wind storms.

Those who have heard so much about "spring cannot be far away now" are wondering what is meant by "far away."

Detroit's new six million dollar hotel is declared to be all fiction. But possibly they can get Henry to put it through for them.

The quotations show raw sugar at five and three-quarters cents. And though the consumer is the last to get it he gets the rawest of all.

Men who step out of public life may be quickly forgotten, but Uncle Joe Cannon is certain to be referred to frequently in passing judgment on other senatorial timber.

Well, it's a relief to know that a quarter of the income tax is out of the way for another year. All that bothers now is to produce the remaining three-quarters of it.

That settles it, of course. When the governor of Pennsylvania says that the state needs the money that comes from the coal tax consumers are likely to start a voluntary contribution.

Connecticut has reason to be highly gratified that its fatal auto accidents in January and February were the lowest in five years. It speaks well for the respect for and enforcement of the regulations and the hope is that it will continue to increasing measure.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Direct Descendant of First White Settler in Norwich.

Mr. Editor: I have a few facts that may be of interest to your many readers, especially to those who like to look up the genealogy of our ancestors that dates back to the settlement of our towns, and Norwich is blessed with many that can.

In Franklin (once a part of Norwich) we have a boy that is the eleventh generation in the direct male line from the first white man to settle within the limits of the town, and it was settled by one Isaac, John Ayer, in 1698. He is living on land that has never left the direct male line of descent. He has been rocked in the same cradle that his great-great-great-grandfather was rocked in, also at times in his great-great-great-grandfather's corner chair that was made before 1776.

In the church on Franklin hill there is a bell that has cast in it his great-great-great-grandfather's name, Bailey Ayer, as donor of the bell. In a church just south of Abington four corners in the town of Pomfret there is a bell that spring cast in it the name of another of his great-great-great-grandfathers. And, sometimes to amuse him we let him play with a cowbell that his great-great-great-grandmother brought from Pomfret when she came to town as a bride. (I have heard this bell three miles. It makes a very amusing toy for the boy.) Then at other times he plays with the surveyor's chain that his great-great-great-grandfather, Eli Hartshorn, surveyed a good number of the farms in town with.

Yours,
LLOYD P. AYER.
Franklin, March 14, 1923.

Today's Anniversaries

1674—Col. William Byrd, the founder of Richmond, Va., born at Westover, Va. Died there Aug. 26, 1744.

1751—James Madison, fourth president of the United States, born at Port Conway, Va. Died at Montpelier, Va., June 28, 1836.

1856—The Prince Imperial, son of Napoleon III., born. Killed while fighting with the British against the Zulus, June 1, 1879.

1873—A peace commission was organized to treat with the Modoc Indians.

1881—Rev. Howard MacQueary, a Presbyterian minister of Canton, O., was found guilty of heresy.

1898—Jacob Tome, the founder of Tome Institute, died at Port Deposit, Md. Born at Manheim, Pa., Aug. 13, 1810.

1899—Joseph Medill, former mayor of Chicago and publisher of the Chicago Tribune, died at San Antonio, Texas. Born April 6, 1823.

1913—The hulk of the battleship Maine was raised in Havana harbor and sunk in the open ocean.

1922—The great strike of miners in South Africa was ended.

1922—New Jersey assembly passed "dry" bills over governor's veto.

Today's Birthdays

Percy MacKaye, well known poet and dramatist, born in New York city, 40 years ago today.

John M. Parker, governor of Louisiana, born at Bethel Church, Miss., 57 years ago today.

Bishop William R. Beauchamp, of the M. E. church, South, born at Farnham, Va., 54 years ago today.

George Wharton Pepper, senior United States senator from Pennsylvania, born in Philadelphia, 56 years ago today.

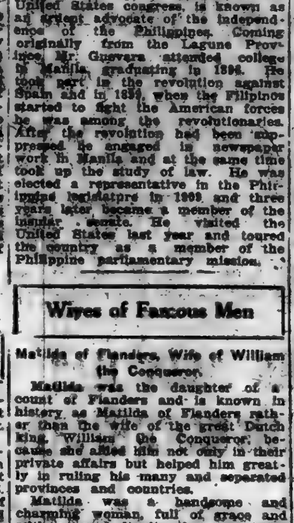
Henry B. Walthall, a popular star in motion pictures, born in Shelby county, Ala., 51 years ago today.

RED PEPPER HEAT ENDS RHEUMATISM

Red Pepper Rub takes the "ouch" from sore, stiff, aching joints. It cuts and hurt you, and it certainly does get rid of rheumatism, lumbago or sciatica.

When you are suffering as you never suffered before, get a 2-oz. jar of Red Pepper Rub and you will have the quickest relief known. Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as Red Pepper. Just rub a little of this Red Pepper Rub right where it hurts and instantly a thrilling heat will tingle through and through. Then comes relief. Pain and soreness are gone.

Ask any good druggist for a jar of Hunt's Red Pepper Rub. He has it or can get it for you. Only one application proves its quick results.



IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Pedro Guevara, who has been elected resident commissioner from the Philippines at Washington, which position carries with it the right to sit as a delegate in the United States congress, is known as an ardent advocate of the independence of the Philippines. Coming originally from the Laguna Province, Mr. Guevara attended college in Manila, graduating in 1896. He took part in the revolution against Spain and in 1899, when the Filipinos started to fight the American forces he was among the revolutionaries. After the revolution had been suppressed he engaged in newspaper work in Manila and at the same time took up the study of law. He was elected a representative in the Philippine legislatpre in 1909 and three years later became a member of the insular senate. He visited the United States last year and toured the country as a member of the Philippine parliamentary mission.

Wives of Famous Men

Matilda of Flanders, Wife of William the Conqueror.

Matilda was the daughter of a count of Flanders and is known in history as Matilda of Flanders rather than the wife of the great Dutch king, William the Conqueror, because she aided him not only in their private affairs but helped him greatly in ruling his many and separated provinces and countries.

Matilda was a handsome and charming woman, full of grace and with a regal dignity that was lovely to behold. However, it seemed only natural that one so fit and capable to rule a country should be endowed with so queenly an appearance. We can have no greater proof of her governing powers and trustworthiness than the fact that her husband left her to rule over Normandy very shortly after they were married while he went to England. And his faith in her was not to be broken by this great test of her abilities and competency. He returned to find the country as he had left it in perfect peace and order.

But Matilda's ability was not only confined to governing alone. Matilda, the woman, was as much to be looked up to as Matilda, the queen. She was a devoted mother and an adoring wife. She always found time for children and husband, and with all she had to occupy her mind she never forgot the poor, for she was a very charitable woman and gave freely to every worthy cause.

There came a time, however, when their happiness was marred by a quarrel which began between Matilda and her children because of the great partiality she showed for her eldest son, Robert. His brothers became very jealous and their quarrel naturally led to their father's interference. Finally Robert openly rebelled and was banished by his father. This trouble was indirectly the cause of her death. Her husband had refused to listen to her pleas to have her son brought back and bitterly quarreled with her because she aided the young man after he had been banished. In her distress she visited a hermit who was supposed to have the powers of prophesy. The soothsayer could foresee nothing but misery and trouble and this so depressed the queen that it brought on a lasting illness that ended fatally on Nov. 3, 1083. She was buried at Caen and William erected a tomb to her memory. He was greatly affected by her death and for a time was inconsolable.

Stories That Recall Others

Everybody Glad.

A long winded inquirer for the head of the business hall been talking to the girl who answered the telephone for about ten minutes, despite the fact that she was trying to get rid of him all that time. He kept repeating:

"I'm glad I called, anyway. I rather like to talk to you."

Finally the young woman at the telephone, in a tone meant to be frigid and crushing, said:

"I'm glad you're glad you called," and slammed the receiver down with a bang.

Her Baby Doll's Sickness.

Mary, age five, had listened closely while her parents talked of a case of epilepsy in the neighborhood. Now Mary's contact with life has taught her the antics of tummies, but nothing about epilepsy. So when her daddy came home she was putting her doll and singing softly.

"What's the matter with the doll, baby?" asked the doll's grandfather.

Mary frowned at her daddy. "Sh-sh!" she warned. "The doll baby has epilepsy of the tummy."

Just Human

Despite he's a prince and the first grandson of King George, that new British baby probably will suffer from the same ills which afflicts babies of less rank.—Pittsburg Gazette Times.

Slow Movement.

Looks as if investagation of the winter coal shortage might continue long enough to be a summer sport.—Boston Transcript.

Guncotton was first produced by Schoenbein of Basle, Switzerland, in 1846.

BIG VALUES
In Men's and Young Men's Suits

Astonishing low prices prevail here for the approaching Easter trade. A saving always can be made here on any suit purchased. Hand-tailored garments and materials the best, in the latest models.

PRICED, $10.00 TO $20.00

BOYS' SUITS

A vast range of patterns and newest models in Boys' Suits to be had here at surprising low prices. Although there is an advance in prices of goods, our prices remain the same.

Come in and look over our line. We carry the largest and most complete line of Boys' Clothing in the city. At this time we wish to thank our many patrons for the patronage given us in this department, and we offer as Pre-Easter Specials—

100 BOYS' SUITS, $5.00
In Brown and Blue Serge Lined Pants—All Sizes, 2 to 17 Years.

50 BOYS' SUITS, $3.95
Ages 6 to 17 Years—Good Patterns.

Other Suits in Juvenile Models ..... $3.00 to $4.75
Norfolk Suits, all sizes ..... $4.00 to $11.00

ONE AND TWO PANT SUITS

BIG REDUCTIONS IN OUR MEN'S FURNISHINGS DEPARTMENT

THE NORWICH BARGAIN HOUSE
"ALWAYS MORE FOR LESS"
347 WATER STREET, CORNER WASHINGTON SQUARE, NORWICH, CONN.

BACON, lb. 15c
CORNED BEEF Pound 15c
ONE TOM LEAN CUTS CORNED BEEF, pound 5c
FRESH CUT PORK CHOPS, 2 lbs. 35c
Cocoa, 4 lbs. 15c
CAFE DUG Coffee, at 15c
Potatoes, 6 lbs. 25c
SPECIAL MOHICAN Cup Cakes, doz. 25c
PRUNES 15c
39c
FAT BACK SALT PORK, pound.... 15c
SPECIAL MOHICAN BREAD, lb loaf 5c

LITTLE JACK RABBIT

By DAVID CORY

Granddaddy Bullfrog Eats a Raspberry Tart.

Just as Uncle Lucky and Little Jack Rabbit were seated at the table, a loud knocking came at the door.

"Dearest me!" exclaimed the old gentleman rabbit. "I wonder if that's Old Miss Trouble."

"No, it isn't," answered Little Miss Mousie, peeking through the keyhole. "It's Granddaddy Bullfrog."

"Ask him in. Don't keep him waiting!" shouted dear, polite Uncle Lucky.

"You're just in time for lunch," he added as the old gentleman hopped into the kitchen.

Little Miss Mousie bobbed up a

Kind Little Miss Mousie Uncovers Surprise

chair and made an extra place for him at the neat little table, but, oh dear me, she forgot to give him a napkin and the old gentleman rabbit was too polite to ask for one and while he was eating a raspberry tart one of the raspberries rolled out and fell on his white waistcoat.

"Goodness, gracious meeyow!" exclaimed dear Uncle Lucky, looking up suddenly and seeing the big red stain. "Were you signing checks with red ink this morning?"

But before the embarrassed old frog could answer, kind Little Miss Mousie washed off the spot with a gasoline cloth.

After the meal was over, Uncle Lucky and Granddaddy Bullfrog hopped out on the front porch to play games of dominoes, while the little rabbit went out to talk to the Old Red Rooster who was polishing his spurs in the Old Red Barn.

By and by, the little rabbit grew sleepy and thought he had better hop home, so he thanked all the kitchen door to say goodbye to Little Miss Mousie, who rolled his pocket full of sweet candies and then kissed him goodbye.

On his way across the lawn, he stopped to say goodbye to Uncle Lucky and Granddaddy Bullfrog but they were so busy with their game that they never heard him.

Then the little rabbit hurried home, where Mrs. Bullfrog's dear, kind dear, Uncle Lucky to wonder what had become of him. After a while, Little Jack Rabbit came to the old Red Farm on which old Bobbie Redtop—

"Oh, here comes a little rabbit bonnet.
His stomach full of ready money—
Lettuce with and carrot cents.
And maybe a million dandy pence."

"Not quite so many," laughed the little rabbit, hopping into the next story, which will be about Mr. Wicked Wolf and how poor Uncle Dave has the whooping cough and sneezes his cooking right out of

(Copyright, 1923 by David Cory.)

And a squabbling baby that when it is left alone for a moment is sure to fall out of bed.—Boston Transcript.

Don't Be Bald

Thin-haired readers should use Parisian Sage. It stimulates the hair, checks falling and ends dandruff. Get a 50-cent bottle from any druggist or toilet goods counter and banish all dandruff. Guaranteed. Lee

For Colds, Influenza and as a Preventive
Take

Laxative
Bromo Quinine
tablets
The First and Original Cold and Grip Tablet
The box bears this signature
E. W. Grove
30c

GOOD SIGHT IS PRICELESS
DOLLARS AND CENTS DON'T COUNT.
Why then abuse or neglect nature's greatest gift?
Wear glasses if you require them and—
COME TO US FOR THE GLASSES NECESSARY.
C. A. SPEAR
OPTOMETRIST
Franklin Square,
Norwich, Conn.

BRIEF STATE NEWS

East Haven.—The building committee and the heads of all societies connected with the Old Stone church met to consider plans for making drives to raise funds for the new parish house which it has been decided to erect.

Branford.—The funeral of First Selectman Sidney V. Osborn was held, an unusually large number attending, so many, in fact, that a number were unable to gain admittance to the Congregational church, where the services were conducted.

Devon.—George W. Ruscoe of Avon street, who has been quite ill for some time, is in a critical condition and little hopes are held out for his recovery. Mr. Ruscoe is one of the oldest, if not the oldest, residents of Devon, being 90 years of age.

West Haven.—One arrest has been made so far in connection with the explosion and fire which took place on Tuesday afternoon at 315 York street, West Haven. The man taken is J. C. Voss, a carpenter, and the owner of the building. He is charged with manufacturing liquor with intent to sell.

Ansonia.—A gift of $75,000 has been made to the Ansonia Y. M. C. A. by Miss Olivia E. Phelps Stokes, conditioned upon the association raising a like amount for the new building. The plan of the donor is to provide $50,000 for the construction of a new association building and $25,000 for an endowment fund.

Nutting Pictures
and Buzza Mottoes
SPECIALLY PLEASING AS
EASTER GIFTS
The new subjects are very choice.
EASTER CARDS
In great variety
FROM 1c TO $1.00 EACH
—AT—
CRANSTON'S
Come in and enjoy the display
Buy as you need

THERE is no advertising medium in Eastern Connecticut equal to The Bulletin for business results.

VARIOUS MATTERS

Light vehicle lamps at 6.24 o'clock tonight.

For the first time in nearly two months the harbor is completely clear of ice.

Everything must be sold today at 269 Broadway.—adv.

Bulkeley school has taken steps to celebrate the 50th anniversary of its founding, which occurs in May.

Fifty-six students of the Hartford Evening High School received diplomas at the graduation exercises.

Circouses have made their appearance in the grounds of L. M. Young on Broadway, formerly the Ripley place.

A special program was carried out at the meeting of Ellington Grange Thursday evening under the direction of the lecturer.

The material of the collapsed A. C. Swan company building is being used to fill in the site of the new Palace theatre.

Recent orders show that Capt. W. P. H. Keating of Willimantic, M. R. V. R. C., has been assigned to the 301st medical regiment.

The eighth annual convention of representatives of the Fuller Brush company of Hartford is to be held in New London this summer.

August Kopp was re-elected dictator of New London lodge, L. O. O. M., at its annual meeting Wednesday night. Mr. Kopp served during the past year.

Everything at half-price at 269 Broadway today.—adv.

The resignation of Second Lieutenant W. D. Beeghly, 238th Company, Coast Artillery Corps, National Guard, has been accepted and he is honorably discharged.

Miss Nancy Templeton, daughter of Governor and Mrs. Charles Templeton, of Hartford, is captain of the sophomore class basketball team at Smith College.

Announcement was made that Professor Lester E. Breckenridge, chairman of the department of mechanical engineering of Yale University, will retire, from active teaching in June.

The 161st meeting of the Enfield Christian Endeavor Union will be held Friday evening, at which time the occasion will be the serving of a banquet which will be followed by addresses.

Bargains of all kinds at the sale, 269 Broadway today.—adv.

In orders issued recently from headquarters, First Corps Area, at Boston, Second Lieutenant G. R. Stark, Air Service, O. R. C., is relieved from assignment to the 301st Observation Squadron.

Transfers in the Connecticut National Guard include Corporal A. J. Thoma, Headquarters and Combat Train, First Battalion, 102d Field Artillery, to Company H, 169th Infantry, as a private.

Miss Sarah A. Yale celebrated her ninety-third birthday anniversary Tuesday at her home in Norfolk, Conn. She was remembered by her many friends in various ways and received a post card shower.

Announcement was made Wednesday afternoon by the officers of the Noank shipyard that they were awarded the contract for the construction of an oil barge for the United States engineer's office at Philadelphia.

Important meeting, Fletcher Post No. 4, American Legion, Stead Building tonight.—adv.

Highway Commissioner Charles J. Bennett said he was expecting to attend the nation-wide highway conference to be held at the invitation of Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania in Harrisburg, Pa., March 23 and 24.

The four-masted schooner Auria M. Record, which has been repaired at the Noank shipyard, left Thursday morning. The craft has been at the yard for the past few months and extensive repairs were made.

F. P. Petrott, chief of the co-operation section of the Veterans' bureau for this district, urges all ex-service men who allowed their insurance to lapse to reinstate at once under liberal provisions which have just been announced.

The New London branch of the Association of University Women held a meeting Wednesday evening at the residence of Miss Susan Gardner, New London. It was a social and business session combined, and proved a most pleasant one.

Yesterday the Page air-cooled cars created much interest.—adv.

An intensive campaign is being conducted by women's organizations of the state to induce the members of the General Assembly to act favorably on a bill reducing to fifty hours a week the maximum hours of employment of women.

Miss Ada Louise Comstock, dean of Smith College and president of the American Association of University Women, spoke Wednesday evening at a meeting of the College Club of Hartford, on "The Internationalism of University Women."

A return next year to the nine-year grade plan in Hartford grammar schools was forecasted at a meeting of the Principal's Club when the majority of the school heads expressed themselves in favor of a recommendation to that effect.

Come up and bring your neighbors today, 269 Broadway.—adv.

Secretary George E. Chandler of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce has sent to those who attended the "Boost Connecticut" luncheon in Hartford February 13 a report saying that a committee on objectives will be appointed at once.

Although the interstate commerce commission has ordered railroads throughout the country to resume the sale of interchangeable mileage books, officials of the "New Haven" road stated that no mileage books will be sold here for the present.

A meeting of the executive board of the Connecticut Society of Colonial Dames was held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. William B. Williams, jr., in Hartford. Mrs. Leonard M. Daggett, of New Haven presided. Mrs. Daggett has just returned from Florida.

That congestion on the "New Haven" has been partially eliminated is evidenced by the fact that the Manufacturer's Association of Connecticut this month received only fifty per cent. of the requests for transportation of goods that it received last month.

The state highway and the state police departments have requested all owners of motor trucks to be as considerate as possible of the highways during the next few weeks, during which time the frost will come out of the ground and leave many of the roads soft and springy.

A warning to the public that a deputy collector of internal revenue is not authorized to prove his identification by means of a badge, and that report should immediately be made of any person using a badge for this purpose, was issued by Collector Robert O. Eaton.

PERSONALS

William H. Barker and Gerard Isbel of Willimantic visited with friends in Norwich Wednesday evening.

Police Chief George Liston, who has been ill home for several days with a severe cold will return to duty today.

Rev. William R. Lusk, rector of St. Stephen's church, Ridgefield, is the guest of Rev. Richard R. Graham, rector of Christ Episcopal church.

OBITUARY.

John Coughlin.

The long and useful life of John Coughlin came to a close Thursday morning at 5.45 o'clock at his home in Franklin. He had been in poor health for over four years and had been tenderly cared for by members of his family.

He was a native of Ireland, the son of Michael and Mary Driscoll Coughlin. He located in Lebanon when a young man and engaged in farming and was successful. About 10 years ago he gave up farming, as an occupation and moved to Franklin.

He was united in marriage to Elizabeth Hurley in St. Mary's church, and she survives him with the following children, Mrs. M. H. Scanlan of Westerly, Miss Anna Coughlin of New Haven, and Miss Margaret Coughlin of Norwich, and one son, Joseph Coughlin of Fiskdale, Mass. There are also two sisters, Mrs. Henry Hamilton of Palo, Calif., and Mrs. William Davis of San Francisco. He also leaves nine grandchildren. Another son, John F. Coughlin, a lawyer, died in Norwich about 10 years ago.

Mr. Coughlin leaves many friends to mourn his loss. He was a man of upright character, fair in all his dealings with his fellow men.

FUNERALS.

Mrs. Levi S. Saunders.

Funeral services for Mrs. Levi S. Saunders were held Thursday afternoon from the parlors of Church & Allen, 15 Main street, relatives and friends attending. Many beautiful floral pieces surrounded the casket. The service was conducted by Rev. J. Harlow Graham, pastor of Trinity Methodist church.

The body was taken by automobile cortege to the family plot in the Pachaug cemetery near Jewett City, where Rev. Mr. Graham conducted a committal service at the grave.

Mrs. Saunders is survived by two sons and other relatives. Her husband, who was a well known stationary engineer, died May 9, 1917, in this city, aged 71 years. He was a native of Springville, N. Y.

Mrs. Eliza Starr Jerome.

The funeral of Mrs. Eliza Starr Jerome was held Wednesday afternoon from her late residence in Uncasville, services being conducted by Rev. E. S. Holloway of New York city, a nephew of Mrs. Jerome. Burial was in Union cemetery in Waterford where a committal service was conducted. The bearers were Frank W. Browning, Henry L. Bailey of Groton, J. P. Holloway of Norwich, nephews, and George A. Perkins, a son-in-law.

Mrs. Arnold Wetmore.

On Thursday afternoon funeral services for Mrs. Arnold Wetmore were held from her late home at East Great Plain, relatives and friends being present. There were many beautiful floral tributes, testimony to the esteem in which the deceased was held by a host of friends. The service was conducted by Rev. Edward C. Dunbar, pastor of the First Baptist church.

The body was taken by automobile cortege to Maplewood cemetery where it was placed in the receiving vault. A committal service was read by Rev. Mr. Dunbar. The bearers were Charles Browning, Silas Leffingwell, George Sheldon and Marius E. Morse. C. A. Gager was in charge of the arrangements.

H. Perkins Topliff.

Funeral services for H. Perkins Topliff were held at the home of his son, Frederick H. Topliff, in Occum, on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Charles G. Johnson, pastor of the South Coventry Congregational church, officiating, assisted by Rev. Chauncey W. Ruoff, pastor of the Versailles M. E. church and Rev. Charles Smith of Uncasville.

A worthy tribute was paid Mr. Topliff for his useful, helpful and strong Christian life. Friends expressed their esteem and love by flowers. Among those received were the following: wreath, overseers of the Totokett Manufacturing company; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Richards; wreath, Rev. and Mrs. Dwight C. Stone; Mr. and Mrs. Dwight W. Avery; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Byron N. Tarbox, Miss Cora L. Tarbox; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Gregory; basket, Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Towne, Miss Rose J. Topliff; spray, Versailles M. E. Sunday school; Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Bushnell and Howard R. Bushnell; Mr. and Mrs. George W. Cole; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest T. Leonard; Mrs. Hattie A. Barrows and Miss Ethel D. Barrows; Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Perkins; Mr. and Mrs. Herman E. Learned; pillow, family.

Frederick H. Topliff, Arthur C. Topliff, Harrison F. Topliff and Dwight W. Avery acted as bearers. The body was placed in the receiving vault at Maplewood cemetery, later to be placed in the family lot in the Nathan Hale cemetery at South Coventry.

The man with the largest library usually has the least time to read.

David Belasco

Theatrical genius at last yields to the lure of the movies and signs contract, placing three of his great plays on the screen. He will assist personally in their production.

CHURCH AT CROMWELL SPEAKER

Rev. William R. Lusk, rector of St. Stephen's church, Ridgefield, was the speaker Thursday evening at the union Lenten service of Christ and Trinity Episcopal churches, held at Christ church. His topic was taken from St. John, 6th chapter, the 67th and 68th verses, "Jesus said therefore unto the twelve, Would ye also go away? Simon Peter answered him, Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life."

The scene of this conversation, said Rev. Mr. Lusk, was after Jesus had performed the miracle of the loaves. The people then were following him in great multitudes but when he told them that their soul was of more importance than their physical self they left him and turning to the twelve Jesus said, Would ye also go away? The answer of Simon Peter, to whom shall we go? is the answer the world makes today. The people did not care to hear Jesus preach but stayed with him as long as he performed miracles.

The history of organized churches for the past fifty years shows them to be on a decline. Has evolution dealt religion a death blow? Is there nothing in religion for us? Another reason for empty churches is higher criticism. They claim that the texts in the Bible are not accurate, that historical facts are not correct.

We see the same thing in the diocese of New York. People have been offended by one priest. Seeking anything for an excuse to run away from religion they seize upon his words. Here in the Lenten season Jesus is asking us to leave or stay. Have you ever thought what your city would be without the churches? These people who leave religion cannot be thinking of the great problems confronting the world, national problems, worldwide, industrial, and even problems of the home.

What are we going to substitute for religion if we take it away? That's the vital question before us. It is the same question that Jesus asks of us, and he is pointing at each one here when he challenges.

Whatever one man may say, whatever may be wrong with the Bible, it doesn't alter the fact that Jesus commands royally. If you look at a photograph of a friend you do not see him as he really is. You must know him personally. It is the same with Jesus. We cannot learn of him simply from the Bible, we must meet him personally.

We must look for personality. God has made himself known throughout all history through personality. Jesus towers far above men, in Him we see mirrored God with all of His Divine love toward men. It is personality. God manifests himself in Buddism and in Confusianism, we must not be so narrow as not to see this, but God manifests himself much more powerful in Christianity, in Jesus.

In the industrial world all are looking for a man sent from God to show us that all men are brothers.

In the political world there are men who have been successful because they kept their ears to the ground and saw what men wanted. What is needed in politics is a man who will stand up far above the rest, a mine of personality. There is unrest everywhere today, a good sign, for the unrest in religion shows that it is alive today. The pain and anguish almighty shows that it is alive. It is a sign it is growing within us. The spiritual longing of a man is for above himself. We are not satisfied with anything, with pleasures, money, or anything else on this earth. We soon tire of them.

Where must we go for satisfaction? There is but one answer, and that is to Christ. We know better than did Simon Peter the need of Jesus, for we have tested him both as a saviour and a brother. If we do not find a full revelation of Jesus in the Bible we learn to know Him through glimpses of him, in life, for He is bigger than His miracles, too big to be in a single book.

We must learn of Him by falling on our knees before Him, and do nothing that will hinder His coming into our lives, for He alone has the words of eternal life. Plato had nine arguments for eternal life and later another writer demolished every argument he had built up, but we know one argument that has never been demolished. We love to feel that when we lose a friend, a loved one in our family, that they will wait for us up there. Christ said, "I am the resurrection and the light, he that believeth shall have eternal life." Has Christ the power of God? Yes, he had it and we know he did.

Christ can solve all our problems, national, community and family. Let us make our Lenten pledge be a fuller surrender to him. I am a stranger in your city, yet I saw on the faces of some people, sadness and perplexity. Jesus removes these and places there joy and life. He said, "My peace I leave unto you." Christ leaves us only joy.

In this Lenten season let us challenge ourselves whether we shall leave Christ or not. Science says we are leaving Christ and Christianity, high priests say so, and we know that the drift is to pleasures.

Let us make Easter morn a glad one, let us stand by the Friend who has never failed us, take Him by the hand and let Him lead us to the place where we shall enjoy happiness and life everlasting.

The service was in charge of Rev. Richard R. Graham, rector of Christ church, and Archdeacon J. Eldred Brown, rector of Trinity church, led in prayer.

It was announced that the last of the union services would be held on Thursday evening, March 23, at Trinity Episcopal church when Rev. G. E. Tobin, rector of Christ Episcopal church, Westerly, R. I. would be the speaker. Rev. George H. Heyn, rector of Trinity church, Portland, Conn., who was to be the speaker, is unable to come to Norwich because of illness.

CHANGES HIS COMPLAINT IN SUIT FOR $10,000

After the jury had been selected and the case was on the verge of trial, the suit of Miles T. Donohue of New London against Angus C. Davis of Boston, a member of the firm of E. D. Steele, Inc., was continued by Judge C. L. Avery in the superior court on Thursday morning at New London when Attorney George C. Morgan, appearing for the plaintiff, presented an amendment to the complaint, which was objected to by Attorney Frank L. McGuire, counsel for the defendant.

In his suit Donohue claims that on Sept. 6, 1921, Mr. Davis assaulted him and took him through the streets to the police station, where he was imprisoned without cause for a whole day. The action of the defendant exposed him to humiliation and injured his business credit, for which he asks $10,000.

The E. D. Steele, Inc., was originally a co-defendant in the matter, but on the motion of Attorney McGuire Judge Avery entered judgment in favor of the company Thursday morning.

The amendment to the complaint changed the allegations from false imprisonment to malicious prosecution.

INCOME TAX TIME BOOSTS POSTOFFICE MONEY ORDERS

Money order business and registry business at the Norwich postoffice has taken a big jump in the past two weeks while the citizens have been sending in their income tax returns. There has been an average daily increase in the number of money ord rs issued of about 250 for that period, as a large proportion of those paying their income taxes do go with money orders. When filing their returns with Deputy Collector George M. Charbonneau they would secure a money order for the amount required to make a quarterly or a full payment and turn over the order to the collector to be sent along to Hartford with their return.

The registry business has been increased because many business houses and corporations have sent their income tax payments by registered letter.

REVENUE COLLECTOR KEPT OFFICE OPEN EXTRA TIME

Deputy Internal Revenue Collector George M. Charbonneau kept his office open in the post office lobby until 8.30 Thursday night, half an hour beyond his assigned office hours, in order to accommodate any who might come late to make their income tax returns. He had a day that was filled to the brim with work Thursday, but when the closing hour came all who had appeared had been taken care of and the office was empty as he shut up for the night.

Thursday was the final day for making income tax returns without incurring penalty. Those who have forgotten or overlooked this duty may as well resign themselves to paying extra for their neglect.

SETTLES HER SUIT FOR INJURIES BY TROLLEY

The case of Amelia Bergren of New London against the Connecticut company for $1,200 for injuries received by being thrown from a moving trolley car, which was on the assignment list of the superior court Thursday, was settled without trial.

The plaintiff claimed that on the afternoon of July 23, 1921, she was alighting from a trolley car in Main street, New London, at the foot of Stony hill, when the car started and she was thrown violently to the ground, breaking her arm near the elbow and receiving bruises of the back, limbs and body. She alleges that she had employment as a weaver at $25 a week and lost $300 in wages.

The star-group Ursa Major is known in this country as the Great Dipper, in England as the Plough and in Germany as the Wagon.

GIVEN SURPRISE FOR 22ND WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

A surprise that was complete and resulted in a most enjoyable evening was given Mrs. William R. Denison of 41 Happy street Thursday evening when 25 friends came to her home to honor her twenty-second wedding anniversary. The pleasant affair was arranged for by Mrs. Edward W. Reavy and Mrs. Frank L. Kimball and the party presented Mrs. Denison a beautiful Nutting picture as an anniversary gift. The presentation was made by Mrs. Kimball with an appropriate expression of the strong friendship all present felt for Mrs. Denison.

Piano selections were rendered by Mrs. Alice Seawick of Providence and general social time enjoyed, with refreshments of sandwiches, cake and ice cream. Mrs. John Bowman, Mrs. William Sanders, Mrs. Reavy and Mrs. Kimball assisted in serving.

Capt. and Mrs. Denison were married in Montville, Mrs. Denison being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Lathrop of Gardner Lake.

VERSAILLES BRIDGE NOW RESTORED TO TRAVEL

The Versailles bridge has again been opened for public travel, workmen in the employ of the Berlin Construction company having finished their work on Thursday. The new span on the bridge is much stronger than the old one, and is of the same width.

The bridge collapsed on Sunday, October 1st when a huge boiler was being carted across by a Norwich teamster. No one was injured at the time, but the bridge which was over 100 feet in length was totally destroyed and fell into the riverbed below.

A temporary bridge was built and people on the other side of the river used this bridge for several months to go to and from work.

Pi Kappa Fraternity Dance

A successful dance was given Thursday evening at Odd Fellows hall on Main street under the auspices of the Pi Kappa fraternity of the Norwich Free Academy. Dancing was enjoyed until midnight, music being furnished by Fox's orchestra.

SALEM

Salem Center school is closed this week, the teacher, Mrs. Helen Malone, being ill with grip.

Arthur Kingsley of Hartford visited at the home of his parents Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wlodarczyk and family were visitors in Colchester Tuesday.

Carleton Jewett and son Hamilton of Lyme were guests of Louis Chapman Sunday.

Harry Moore of Meriden was at his home here over the week end.

Miss Elizabeth Rambish and Misses Anna and Mary Rutka of Colchester visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rambish Sunday.

Walter Dangerfield is visiting in Colchester.

Dave Clark of New London visited at Raymond Bliven's Sunday.

George Moore of Bridgeport visited Mrs. Harry Moore Sunday.

Louis Chapman was a caller in Colchester Tuesday.

Miss Minnie Kingsley has gone to New London, where she has secured a position.

Miss Gladys Stratton of New London was a guest of Mrs. Herbert Houston Friday.

The grange meeting is postponed on account of many of the members being sick.

Byron Amas is ill with grip.

Miss Ruth Tinker of Chesterfield visited Mrs. Charles Malone Friday.

ANDOVER

The Ladies' society met with Mrs. Emily Cobb Thursday afternoon.

The Girls' league held a supper Friday evening in the town hall which was much enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. Ella Curtis, who has been quite ill, is improving.

There is yet quite a number of peo-

Bulletin's Pattern Service

4322

4322 BLOUSE DRESS FOR JUNIORS

One of the season's most popular styles is here portrayed. It is a model that will be good for sports materials, for wash fabrics and for combinations of materials. As shown in this illustration white serge was used, with facing of black sateen. One could have the skirt in striped or checked woolen and the blouse in linen or plain woolen material.

The pattern is cut in three sizes: 12, 14 and 16 years. A 14 year size requires 2 3-4 yards of 36-inch material for the blouse and 3 1-2 yards for the skirt.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

Send your order to The Bulletin Pattern Dept., 1135 Fulton St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Lyons Co.
WAUREGAN BLOCK
NORWICH, CONN.
SPECIAL AT $2.65
Girls' White Dresses
2 to 6 years, value $3.50 to $4.50
Boys' Wash Suits
$1.00
A limited number of Middies and Button-on—Sizes 2 to 8 years, actual value $1.50 and $1.75.
Boys' Blouses, $1.00
Sizes 6 to 12 years, in Percale. Also White and Pongee Color.

Mrs. McDonald Declares She Has and Husband Both Enjoy Fine Health Since Taking It.

"Tanlac has made a wonderful record in our home and my husband and I have unlimited confidence in the medicine," said Mrs. George R. McDonald, of 257 Masten St., Buffalo, N. Y., recently.

"For several years my husband has suffered from stomach trouble and the gas from undigested food often caused him much distress and great pain. But Tanlac has given him a perfect digestion and a fine appetite and he is eating heartily and feeling better in every way than he has in years. He says Tanlac hasn't an equal.

"As for myself, my health was failing fast, I was losing all my strength and energy, and had little or no appetite and was suffering so badly from nervousness that I could neither rest or sleep. Tanlac not only stopped this decline, but brought me back again to splendid health and strength.

"I am pleased and delighted with Tanlac and I don't believe it will disappoint anyone who uses it."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold.

Flanders road and have leased an apartment in the Avery Smith house on the Bar road.

A new society has been formed in the village known as the Catholic Girls' club. Meetings are held nearly every Sunday afternoon at the residence of Father Edwin A. Flynn. The new club has a membership of ten. The officers are as follows: President, Miss Jennie Gada; vice president, Theresa Perrino; treasurer, Mollie Perrino; secretary, Mary Bohun.

Francis Gerard Connors has returned from a short business trip to Montville.

An entertainment was given Wednesday evening in the evestry of the Congregational church and was in charge of Mrs. Charles Byles.

EAST HADDAM

Miss Sylvia Arnold, assistant postmaster at the Moodus office, is at her home in East Haddam assisting in the care of her mother and sister, who are ill.

William Price of New York was a recent guest of his sister, Mrs. Heber G. Ely.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Smith and Mrs. A. D. Alexander are on the sick list with grip.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Smith and son were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Hall of Moodus recently.

C. Christenson is seriously ill at his home in North Moodus.

Miss Elizabeth Lobdell, who teaches in South Manchester, has been spending a week at her home here.

Mrs. L. Klapper has sold her building and bakery outfit to Mr. Bierman of Brooklyn, N. Y., who will reopen the bakery business there.

Mrs. Abbie Boardman Williams, widow of Luther B. Williams, died at her home in Rocky Hill early Saturday morning.

Mrs. Williams was a native of East Haddam, being a daughter of the late Capt. Frank and Mary Douglas Boardman.

She leaves three sons and one daughter, also three sisters, Mrs. W. F. Comstock, Miss Ellen D. Boardman and Mrs. W. O. Peck of East Haddam.

Treaty of Bretigny allowed Johnn II of France, a prisoner of Edward III of England, his freedom on payment of what would be $8,000,000, in six years.

THE BIG
Fire and Water Sale
NOW GOING ON
10 Thames Street
A. KIVELEWITZ

You can get prompt attention and good service at the
EATON CHASE CO.
129 Main Street, Norwich
They carry the best quality of hardware and electrical goods, including radio parts.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Telephone messages during Thursday failed to develop any information about an alleged highway robbery that is supposed to have occurred about 8.30 Wednesday night on the new state highway near Little Rest.

The first heard of this mysterious affair was about 4.30 Wednesday evening, when a telephone message from an evidently highly excited person to Chief John McFarland, who was at his home, informed him that a man who buys calves through this territory had been held up at Little Rest by three men who had a large automobile and robbed of a considerable sum of money.

Before Chief McFarland could get any information that would help him in properly getting in touch with the situation the excited man hung up the receiver—and put the officer entirely out of touch with the situation.

It was pointed out Thursday afternoon, following a canvass of people living inside the Connecticut border near Little Rest and ascertaining that they knew nothing about the affair, that the telephones just across the Rhode Island border are in the Providence telephone exchange and that in all probability the emergency message came from one of those stations.

There are certain things about the affair that leave little room for doubt that a highway robbery took place over in that territory) but getting details about it here on Thursday seemed for the time being an impossible undertaking. There are long stretches of territory on this new route to Providence that offer ideal opportunity for holdups at night. Miles of the route are sparsely settled.

The impression here is that whoever telephoned for the police did so in the belief that the robber car headed toward Danielson and that it could be stopped here for examination—but the caller spilled the beans by getting excited and not giving any coherent statement that would aid in the capture.

Send this advertisement to The Plaut-Cadden Co., Norwich, with your name and address and you will receive a Book of Old Fashioned Songs free.—adv.

Louis St. Onge, 59, died Thursday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. James Phillips, at Wauregan. Mr. St. Onge had lived formerly with another daughter in New Jersey. His wife had been dead for years.

Miss Martha Bradford was found lying dead, clad only in her night dress, on the floor of a room in her apartment in what is known as the old Burlingham house on Main street, adjoining the public library Thursday afternoon about 4 o'clock. Dr. George M. Burroughs, medical examiner, who was called to view the body, said that in all probability Miss Bradford had been dead since morning. She had been ill with the grip and the indications are that the illness had affected her heart, causing her death unexpectedly.

Thursday afternoon Mrs. Francis Jaegar, a resident near School street, came to make a social call on Miss Bradford. She found the door locked and, going down stairs, made the fact known to Miss Mildred Terry, who went back up stairs with Mrs. Jaegar and, employing a Bender instrument that could be slid in between the door and the casing, slipped off the button that was holding the door closed from the inside. Entering they found Miss Bradford dead.

She was last seen alive Wednesday evening about 8.30 when Miss Felicia C. Terry called upon her. At that time she declared she had had an unusually comfortable day. She was fully dressed and apparently in her usual cheerful state of mind.

No one in the house heard her fall, so it has been impossible to determine just when she passed away.

Miss Bradford had lived in the house where she died for about 20 years. She was a native of Canterbury and spent the early part of her life in that town. For years she was employed here in mills and in homes as a domestic. She leaves a brother, Waterman Bradford, and a brother-in-law, Edward St. John, both of Canterbury. Charles Aldrich of Moosup is a nephew and Ella Gates of Princeton Depot, Mass., is a niece. Miss Bradford, who never married, was about 76 years of age. The body was taken in charge by Undertaker L. F. Wood and is at his funeral rooms.

Send this advertisement to The Plaut-Cadden Co., Norwich, with your name and address and you will receive a Book of Old Fashioned Songs free.—adv.

Whatever the need of money to meet the town's expenditures it was very evident Thursday after announcement had been made that it may be necessary to raise Killingly's tax rate to 22 mills that right here is where scores of taxpayers are going to balk. They have been complacent during the war years and the post-war years and have watched the tax rate soar even after a general re-valuation that it was forecasted would mean a reduction in rates. Many of them appear to have undergone a change in heart, however, and the prospect of paying 22 mills set them saying some mighty caustic things Thursday afternoon and evening.

The budget that will be submitted to the annual financial meeting of the town next week is certain to be very carefully scrutinized and if there is any chance for pruning the promise is that it is to be clipped until it shows a total that can be covered by a rate of no higher than 18 mills, if that is possible. The feeling of those protesting seems to be that the time is at hand to check tax rate advances even if Killingly has to go without some things that many would like to see it have.

Since the activities of dog officials resulted in ten prosecutions in the town court Town Clerk Preston has received a number of applications to register dogs. Mr. Preston is of the opinion that comparatively few dogs remain unregistered in Killingly, though there has been much talk to the contrary.

A. A. Jacques returned here on Thursday morning after spending the winter in Florida. Mr. Jacques said that he saw the first snow and ice he has looked at this winter in New York on Wednesday. He had a pleasant visit in the southland and returns in excellent health.

Rev. Frederick L. Williams of St. Andrew's church, Norwich, preached at the Thursday evening Lenten service at St. Alban's church.

Dr. Hugh Campbell of Norwich will come here next Tuesday to conduct a clinic at the health station in the town hall building. This is the first clinic since January.

The annual borough caucus to nominate officials for another year is scheduled for next Tuesday evening. No announcements have been forthcoming of candidates to oppose those now filling elective offices of the borough.

About 90 will be in attendance at 7 o'clock this evening at the first banquet of the Danielson Rod and Gun club. It is being held early in order to allow those who attend to go later to the boxing exhibition in the town hall.

Mrs. Sidney Stone was elected as president of the ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church at a meeting of the organization held with Mrs. W. H. Judson. Mrs. W. E. Keach is first vice president, Mrs. A. P. Burns second vice president, Mrs. Ella Woodworth secretary and Mrs. W. J. Young treasurer.

Settled Stomach Trouble Quick

MI-O-NA Tablets act in a jiffy because they are packed in sanitary, air-tight tape which preserves full strength. Overcome at once acid stomach, the causes of headaches, gas, heartburn and palpitations, indigestion and dyspepsia. Don't let these conditions become chronic, when harmless MI-O-NA is so easy and economical to take. Guaranteed and sold by all druggists.

Mi-O-NA

The Lee & Osgood Co.

LOUIS E. KENNEDY
DANIELSON
Undertaker and Embalmer
Special Attention to Every Detail.

F. W. TILLINGHAST & SONS,
Successors to
F. H. & F. W. Tillinghast,
Central Village, Conn.
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
and EMBALMERS.
Tel. Moosup 61-5. Night Call—Danielson 51-4.

WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH AT DANIELSON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Danielson, March 15. — Screams were the first warning about 10.15 Thursday morning of a tragedy being enacted in the home of Mrs. Rosanna Gaudette, 11 Union street, and those who rushed there to give aid found Mrs. Gaudette with her clothing wrapped in flames. Everything possible was done to save her from further injury, but every effort was unavailing and the woman expired in agony within a few minutes on the veranda of the house, to where she had been carried.

Excepting for a young man who is a member of the household, Mrs. Gaudette, a woman 73 years of age, was alone just before the happening that caused her death. It appears that she was engaged with her household duties when a pan containing grease boiled over and probably set the kitchen afire. It is believed that Mrs. Gaudette in her hurry to squelch the blaze ventured too close and her clothing became ignited.

Miss Justine Longo, living in another apartment in the house, rushed to aid Mrs. Gaudette, and Albert Bernier, Nicholas Longo and Peter Senecal were among the first to respond to the calls for help. This group wrapped rugs around Mrs. Gaudette and carried her to the veranda. She was beyond aid, however, and died within a very few minutes. Rev. Joseph Moussier, M. S., was summoned to administer the last rites of the church, but she was dead before his arrival.

In the meantime an alarm from Box 24 had called out the fire department to extinguish the fire in the Gaudette apartment, which was on the second floor of the Augustus Longo house. The fire did not prove difficult to control and was extinguished promptly, the loss, chiefly from smoke and water, being between $400 and $500.

Mrs. Gaudette's body was taken in charge by Undertaker L. E. Kennedy. She was terribly burned from head to foot, practically all of her clothing having been consumed.

Mrs. Gaudette, a native of Canada, was the widow of Eli Gaudette and had been a resident of Danielson for more than 30 years. Her tragic death brought forth expressions of regret from all who have come to know her during her long residence here and to appreciate her many womanly virtues.

Mrs. Gaudete leaves nine children. They are Mrs. Georgianna Boucher, Miss Marie, Arthur and Eli of Danielson, Joseph of Springfield, Mass., Mrs. Heriunse Lamoreaux of Moosup, Napoleon of Springfield, Vt., and Sister Hosora in a Hartford convent and Sister Albertine in a convent at Northampton, Mass.

PUTNAM

One of the largest funeral congregations assembled at St. Joseph's church at North Grosvenordale for years attended the solemn high mass of requiem there Thursday morning for Philip Wolsard, former selectman and postmaster at North Grosvenordale and a member of the board of trustees of the Putnam Savings bank.

Rev. Bernard M. Donnelley, pastor of the church, was celebrant, Rev. U. O. Bellerose of Taftville, deacon, Rev. Leo Sabinac of Providence, sub-deacon and Rev. J. A. Quinn of St. Joseph's church master of ceremonies. Rev. Adrian Dykemans of St. Mary's church this city, was within the sanctuary.

The music of the mass was played by Prof. Aurele Forest, organist of Providence, and the mass was sung by a quartet made up of Arthur Gagne, Wilfred Patron, Arthur LeMay and Frederick Patron of Providence.

The bearers were Dr. Emelin Rock, Telesphore Biron, Claudemir Hamil, Nerre Coderre, Philip Despeiteau and Pierre O. Faucher. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Many from this city attended the service at which were representatives of the Thompson town government, the democratic state central committee, the Putnam Savings bank, various fraternal organizations and associations with which Mr. Wolsard had been identified. There were many beautiful floral remembrances.

Two divorce cases are listed to be heard, a few matters are on short calendar and ten cases are listed for assignment when the superior court meets here this (Friday) morning at 11 o'clock, with Judge Allyn L. Brown presiding. The divorce cases are those of Isabelle Charlebois vs. Mike Charlebois; Mollie Gannon Hempsted vs. Frank J. Hempsted.

A case listed for reference to Judge M. A. Shumway as state referee is that of Lucy T. Troening vs. August Troening.

The cases on which assignments likely will be asked are: Cornelius D. Shea vs. Nellie Shea, executrix; Nelida Archambeault vs. Docite E. Jette, adm.—these two cases to go to jury; Bronislaw Sawyneski vs. Gulf Refining Company; Jessie McK. Webster vs. Burt W. Webster; General Mortgage and Loan Corporation vs. Florence M. Johnson; Leon H. Frink vs. Charles Lavalee; Frank Poblocki and Annie Poblocki vs. John Ciesyuski; Arthur King, et al., all appeal from probate; Bugbee Mfg. Co. vs. Samuel Eisenberg; William A. Tator vs. Mary C. Moore.

At Birmingham, Ala., where N. Waldo Kennedy of Eastford, formerly of this city, has been engaged during the winter is promoting the interests of the Loyal Order of Moose, a meeting of the organization has just been held which was addressed by Thomas R. Marshall, former vice president, and John Hays Hammond. Messrs. Marshall and Hammond have been serving in that territory as members of a federal commission investigating the coal problems. The meeting was arranged by Mr. Kennedy and during the course of the programme a reading was given by Kenneth B. Kennedy of Eastford, who also has been in the south during the winter period.

Ralph C. Jenkins, superintendent of schools, is the new president of the Men's club, which held its annual banquet Wednesday evening at the Congregational church—the members afterwards attending a picture show at the Bradley theatre. The banquet and all of the features of it were pronounced Thursday a very fine success. There were suggestions of St. Patrick's day in the green favors and in the table decorations and ices.

The club is non-sectarian. It meets weekly—at noon on Sundays—in the parlor of the Congregational church and the members discuss some live topic. The club anticipates a year of activity under the leadership of Mr. Jenkins.

It was understood Thursday that the new Putnam Center stop for trolley cars is but a temporary arrangement, to remain effective during the period that building operations continue at the First National bank building. The cars are now stopping where they stopped long ago for Putnam Center and patrons of the road are in no way inconvenienced by the change, which became effective Thursday.

In contemplating the fact that the grand list of the town of Putnam as just revised and completed is $8,580,664—a few thousand dollars less than a year ago—there need be no apprehension that Putnam has reached its growth and started to recede. Building operations planned for 1923 will more than offset the shrinkage this year and add a very substantial gain. There are those who anticipate that the next grand list will be at least $250,000 larger than the one just completed.

O. F. Bancroft and a party of five drivers will leave here this evening for Elizabeth, N. J., from which city they will drive half a dozen new cars to Putnam. They expect to return here some time during Monday.

Rev. J. W. Metcalf, pastor of the Baptist church at Dudleyville, will give the first of a series of entertainments arranged by the Senior Men's class of the Putnam Baptist church when he delivers a travelogue dealing with his last year's trip to Europe here on Friday evening of next week. Ruth Morrison Brown, the chief reader, of Boston will also assist at this affair.

For many who have more or less rigidly observed the Lenten season Saturday, St. Patrick's day, will be a period of slight relaxation and indulgence in amusement, being regarded as the equivalent of the European Mi-Careme. Some whist parties, and one dance have been planned, among other diversions.

All the town tax collectors in the surrounding towns are in the limelight this week as the result of their official notices that they are about to start the annual collection of taxes, which is good news in view of the fact that the public has just got the income tax matter off its chest.

Announcement was made that the Woman's board of the Day Kimball hospital has a quarterly meeting scheduled to be held next Thursday afternoon, March 22, in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Eleanor Carpenter left Thursday to spend the week end with her sister, Mrs. Kenneth Bullard at Winthrop, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Jenkins of Baltic were among those who were at North Grosvenordale Thursday to attend the funeral of Philip Wolsard.

John Kennedy, member of the town school committee of Thompson is circulating a petition asking that the selectmen of that town call a special town meeting to pass upon the proposal that $55,000 be appropriated for the erection of a four-room school at Mechanicsville, of which part of Thompson Mr. Kennedy is a resident.

It is claimed that the present school at Mechanicsville is inadequate for present needs; that its location is undesirable on account of its nearness to a river and a state road over which there is heavy traffic and to a trolley line. It is understood that the French River Textile company of Mechanicsville stands ready to donate a site for the proposed school.

Quinebaug, a section of the town of Thompson, has an epidemic of typhoid fever, a dozen new cases having developed during the past week or ten days. A temporary hospital has been established in an available dwelling.

Mrs. George L. Padgett is visiting in New York and before her return here will go to Englewood, N. J., to visit with Mrs. Stanley Eldridge, formerly Mrs. H. C. Meinken, of this city.

At a meeting arranged by the Parent-Teachers' association to be held Monday evening at the high school building Prof. Frederick Very will be the speaker. His subject will be, "What Is Music? Is it Science or Art? It Is the Easiest and Hardest Thing to Understand."

Judge Thomas E. O'Donnell of Kansas City, is to address the members of Putnam Order of Eagles at their ball here next Tuesday evening, treating particularly on the order's Old Age Pension fund.

The annual Every Member canvass by the Methodist church is scheduled for next Sunday afternoon and it is hoped to materially increase the weekly pledge amounts.

P. J. Ryan who has been ill at his home for seven weeks, is able to be out again and is rapidly regaining his strength.

LISBON

Roy Cote of New York was with his family here over the week end.

Mrs. Enoch Chaney entertained the Newent Ladies' Aid society Wednesday afternoon. Considerable sewing was done and plans perfected for the food and apron sale which is to be held in conjunction with the Pomona Missionary society at Jewett City Congregational church.

Leon Young of Griswold, who recently returned from a trip to Florida, was a visitor Sunday at G. A. Kennedy's.

Mrs. H. J. Kendall has received from her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Bottomley, pictures showing Hialeah, Fla., as it is today and as it was two years ago, when building operations began. It is now called Miami's fastest growing suburb.

LEFFINGWELL

Mrs. Silas W. Leffingwell has returned to her home after visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Nolan in New York city.

S. Eugene Rogers is confined to his home with grip.

Nine from Leffingwell were at the Odd Fellows' dance in Norwich Saturday evening.

Miss Victoria Dodd has returned from New York after visiting her sister there.

Seven members of the Ladies' Aid society held a business meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Alfred H. Beebe to make plans for a food sale to be held in Norwich in the near future. Mrs. Forrest C. Leffingwell is in charge of the sale, Mrs. S. Clinton Rogers and Mrs. A. H. Beebe are solicitors. Mrs. Orrin H. Leffingwell is in charge of the aprons and Mrs. N. E. Whiting of the advertising.

Wilford—During the last three or four weeks considerable interest has been manifested in the constant rumor, relative to the formation of a republican club to keep with the trend [illegible]

TRY IT AND YOU'LL BUY IT

RICKENBACKER

A Car Worthy of the Name

5-Passenger Phaeton $1 35

4-Passenger Coupe $1885

5-Passenger Sedan $1985

F. O. B. DETROIT, MICH.

VIBRATIONLESS CARBONLESS

In the Rickenbacker these two most destructive forces are eliminated by

TANDEM FLYWHEEL AND NEW AIR CLEANER

Let Us Prove These Assertions —— By Demonstration

E. B. PATTERSON, Inc.

391 Williams Street, New London, Conn.
Phone 2157

SUPPORTED BY WANDA HAWLEY

THE STAGE PLAY THAT HAD ALL BROADWAY LAUGHING, MADE INTO A SWIFT LOVE-COMEDY AS BRIGHT AND SPARKLING AS A NEW GOLD PIECE. COME EARLY IN ON YOUR SHARE OF LAUGHS.

COMEDY, "WEST IS EAST"—UP-TO-DATE NEWS

COMING 3 DAYS ONLY—STARTING SUNDAY

The Little Church Around the Corner

WITH HOBART BOSWORTH AND REAL STAR CAST

Today Saturday BREED THEATRE Today Saturday

Charles Jones

—IN—

Bells of San Juan

A TRULY WESTERN STORY FOR LOVERS OF WESTERN PICTURES

RUTH ROLAND, in "THE TIMBER QUEEN"

PATHE NEWS || LEE COMEDY

ST. PATRICK'S NIGHT

DANCE

ROSELAND

SATURDAY, MARCH 17.

PAPER CAPS, CONFETTI, STREAMERS AND BALLOONS.

PHILHARMONIC DANCE ORCHESTRA

DANCING FROM 8.30 TO 12.

GENTS 55c. LADIES 35c.

DANCE

SATURDAY NIGHT, MARCH 17,
IN MILMER'S HALL, MOOSUP, CONN.
MUSIC BY ED. MEANEY'S ORCHESTRA OF PROVIDENCE.
GENTS 75c, LADIES 50c.

Social and Dance

UNION HALL, Voluntown

MARCH 16th, 1923

MUSIC BY

MOREY'S ORCHESTRA

(THREE PIECES)

ADMISSION—GENTS 65c
LADIES 35c—NO TAX

BIG DANCE

FRIDAY NITE, MARCH 16th

Lebanon Grange Hall

ROSEN'S ORCHESTRA

Round and Square Dances

BROADWAY

TODAY AND SATURDAY
CONTINUOUS SHOW SAT.

KEITH VAUDEVILLE

THE ACT OF A 1000 LAUGHS

CLIFFORD

THE HYPNOTIC MARVEL, IN "HYPNOTIC HUMOR"

LAUGHS, SCIENCE, COMEDY

LEAHY BROS.

IN NOVELTY GYMNASTICS

CARLE and INEZ

IN A DOORSTEP ROMEO

LEW BRICE

SONGS, STORIES, STEPS

HOIER and HYLOFF

COMEDIANS

—ALSO—

DOROTHY DALTON

in "DARK SECRETS"

DANCE

ARMORY — NORWICH

SATURDAY, MARCH 17th

8:30 TO 12:00

MUSIC BY

HAPPY EIGHT

OF NEW LONDON

LADIES 40c—GENTS 60c

It's a Battery B Affair

ANNUAL CONCERT AND SOCIAL

BY THE UNITED DIVISION AND LADIES' AUXILIARIES, ANCIENT ORDER HIBERNIANS OF NORWICH

STATE ARMORY

FRIDAY EVE., MARCH 16th, 1923

Music by HERBERT H. J. SMITH'S ORCHESTRA—(10 Pieces)

PROFESSOR CROWLEY, Prompter

CONCERT 8 TO 9 O'CLOCK

The Dancing Programme Will Include New and Old Numbers

Tickets—Gentlemen 75c—Ladies 50c
Tax Included

Bugbee and Wulf
DEPARTMENT STORE

PUTNAM, CONN.

READY-TO-WEAR DEPARTMENT

Spring Coats, Suits, Wraps, Capes

Prices, $13.50 to $59.50

Every day now, new goods are put on our racks, and you should make YOUR selection early.

Easter will soon be here, but do not wait until the last minute rush.

NEW SPRING DRESSES

Some Beauties Just Opened

CANTON CREPES, FLAT CREPE, ALLTYME CREPE, BROCADES, PRINTED CREPES AND SATIN

All the best shades, sizes from 16 to 46.

Prices, $13.75 to $35.00

MILLINERY DEPARTMENT

Spring Hats of Distinction

AS COLORFUL AS A GARDEN IN JUNE

Lanvin Green, Cocoa, Flame, Bisque, Gray, Rust, Navy, Brown, Rose and Black. It seems to us as though these colors are enough to make any collection of millinery a success.

A VARIED ASSORTMENT THAT MAKES SELECTION A PLEASURE

Cuticura Soap The Velvet Touch For the Skin

WINSOL

A GUARANTEE OF QUALITY

Try it before you buy it

EVERY day people buy SANALT, the Sensible Tonic, because it has been recommended by others whom it has helped—but we want you to try this wonderful rebuilding medicine—at our expense.

"I was convalescing from a severe illness," writes one who tried Sanalt, "and was very weak and run down. So I got a bottle of Sanalt. Now I am full of 'pep.' I never felt better in my life and owe it to a few bottles of Sanalt."

Don't put up with poor health. Come in and get a sample of SANALT—FREE

H. M. LEROU, 827 Main St.
CHAS. C. TREAT, 115 Franklin St.

The Talking Machine Shop

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Victrolas — Pianos — Brunswicks

This New 1923 Model Brunswick

Complete with 10 selections of music, 300 steel needles, record brush, and bottle of polish—

$163.00

This New 1923 Victrola No. 210

Complete with 10 selections of music, 300 steel needles, record brush, and bottle of polish—

$103.85

TERMS $5.00 DOWN—$1.50 WEEKLY

No Interest or Extras of Any Kind.

New Brunswick Record Hits out every day only at our store.

New Victor Record Hits out every two weeks.

NEW PIANOS AND PLAYERS FROM $295.00 UP

Saxophones, Banjos, Drums, Ukeleles, Violins, Guitars, Xylophones, Bells, and Musical Goods of All Kinds.

The Talking Machine Shop

Everything Musical — 24-34 FRANKLIN SQUARE

NOANK STORE DESTROYED BY FIRE—LOSS PLACED AT $10,000

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Noank, March 15.—The store of F. J. Rathbun on Front street was destroyed by fire about 5.30 o'clock Thursday morning. The store was stocked with groceries and ship chandlery. The loss is estimated at $10,000.

About 5.30 o'clock the watchman on duty nights at the shipyard was returning from his duties and noticed smoke coming from the building. He at once notified Mr. Rathbun and the alarm was turned in. When Mr. Rathbun arrived at the store he found the back door unlocked, which gave evidence that someone had been in the building during the night.

The firemen responded at once and did splendid work in saving the surrounding buildings, but the fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to save the building. The building was only partially covered by insurance.

The firemen did all that was possible to do with the present equipment. Had they had different apparatus, however, they would have been at work fully 10 minutes earlier.

Neil McErison, one of the firemen, received a bad cut on the hand while at work on the neighboring property. The B. F. Hoxie Engine company of Mystic were called, but the building had collapsed before their arrival. They were the means, however, of apprehending the man who gained entrance to the building. On their return to Mystic they overtook a pedestrian and asked if he would like a ride. He was carrying a bundle which accidentally broke open, disclosing packages of cigarettes and tobacco. Becoming suspicious at once, A. C. Haas, who was on the fire truck, notified the officers upon arriving in Mystic, and the man was taken into custody and later turned over to Groton town officials.

FOR YOUR NEXT BREAKFAST TRY OUR HOME-MADE SAUSAGE

THUMM'S DELICATESSEN

40 Franklin Street

LIBERTY HILL

Rev. W. S. Wentworth attended the ministers' meeting at Willimantic on Monday.

The Men's club had a meeting in the church rooms Tuesday evening. Although stormy and bad traveling, 18 were present. Highways and crop raising were discussed. Milo and Frank Davoll provided refreshments.

The Ladies' sewing circle met for work Thursday afternoon.

The snow has disappeared quite fast since Sunday.

Mrs. Henry V. Oehlers has presided at the church organ Sundays during the ill health of the organist, Mrs. Clarence Adams. Henry V. Oehlers is chorister.

Miss Nancy R. Fuller has been in ill health for a few weeks.

Milo Davoll visited his brother, Fred Davoll, in Willimantic Sunday.

Last Sunday was an exceptionally fine day after a long period of stormy Sundays.

The C. E. meeting will be led by Mrs. E. E. Caples Sunday evening. Meeting begins at 7.30.

The Woodstock Dairy

HAS RECEIVED ANOTHER LOT OF

OTTO STAHL'S FAMOUS

BACON

WHICH WILL BE SOLD ON FRIDAY and SATURDAY

Sliced 29c pound

Strip 25c pound

The Regular Retail Price on This Bacon Is 40c Pound

YOUNG'S APPLY TORCH TO NEW LONDON CONTAGIOUS WARD

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 15.—The city's contagious ward was threatened with destruction this afternoon through incendiarism and but for the timely discovery of the blaze and the quick response to a still alarm by the fire department, the building would probably have been destroyed.

The fire was started through the maliciousness of three youths, and it is probable that they will be arraigned before the juvenile court within a day or two.

The boys went to the building, which was vacant, about noon and finding the place unoccupied they forced an entrance into the cellar. Then, going to the upper floor, they procured inflammable material, principally mattresses from the cots, and ignited them after placing the bedding in the middle of the floors of three of the rooms. After the fires were well under way, the boys left the ward and watched developments. They did not have to wait long, for the fire was observed by nurses at the Mitchell ward, and a still alarm sent in to fire headquarters.

The Allen Hook and Ladder company, the Nameaug and Niagara Engine companies and the Northwest Hose company responded. With the arrival of the firemen the interior of the building was ablaze and appeared as if doomed. Lines of chemicals were stretched to the building and the three fires attacked, with the result that the fires were subdued, but not until after two of the rooms had been extensively damaged.

Altie Bates, a woman of the unfortunate type of New London, and who has been a frequent offender of the law, with the result that she has been prosecuted in the police court a number of times, died suddenly this morning at the home of Mrs. Mary Marino of No. 10 Shaw street, death resulting from heart trouble, probably aggravated from the use of alcoholic drinks. During the early morning hours the Bates woman suffered vomiting periods and Mrs. Marino endeavored to relieve her by the application of household remedies. The treatment failed to relieve the victim and when she gradually became weaker a physician was summoned, but hardly had the latter entered the door of the house than the woman succumbed. Medical Examiner Heyer was notified and he pronounced death due to heart disease.

So far as is known, the woman had no relatives in New London.

Edith Newberry, the 16 year old Elizabeth, N. J., girl who was taken into custody yesterday by the New London police when she was found residing on East street with Felix Palmer, a Filipino sailor from the United States coast guard academy, as man and wife, is back home in Elizabeth today. This morning, shortly after 8 o'clock, the girl's mother, Mrs. Lena Newberry, arrived here and she was given the custody of the girl. Palmer is being held a prisoner pending the arrival of an officer from Elizabeth to escort him back to that city for trial.

Chief petty officers have interested themselves in Palmer's case and already have started negotiations for providing a surety on the accused man's bond of $2,000. Palmer will be arraigned in the police court Saturday morning on a charge of rape, but it is believed that by that time an Elizabeth officer will be here and that the complaint will be amended.

It is believed that the mystery surrounding the robbery of the store of Nathan Peck at the submarine base will be solved within a few days and that it will be determined the break was perpetrated by sailors. Two sailors have been taken into custody by the naval authorities and will be given a hearing within a few days.

The sailors were arrested when it was determined that they had offered for sale a quantity of cigarettes and of the same brand as was stolen from the store, recently in New London.

Madison Gifford, 12 years old, son of Mrs. Emma Gifford of No. 132 Williams street, is being sought by the police, as the youngster has been absent from home since last Saturday. The mother of the youth today sought the aid of the authorities in locating the boy after her attempts to do so were unsuccessful.

The boy departed from home to go to Manchester, Conn., to testify in a court case in which his father was interested, being accompanied to Manchester by Mrs. Pearl Lewis. Since that time no trace of the boy has been found.

A thief operated at the Ford service station, corner of Main and Richards streets, last night, for when the place was opened for business this morning it was revealed that the garage office had been ransacked. The plunder obtained was $84.91 in cash and $45.50 in checks. The police were informed of the burglary and they are at work on a clue that may bring about an arrest before the end of the week.

Although Eugene Partlow, late of No. 219 Meridian street, Groton, who was struck by an automobile, owned and operated by Dr. John N. Dimon of No. 161 Montauk avenue, on Bank street, died more than ten days ago at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital as a result of his injuries, Coroner Jeremiah J. Desmond of Norwich has failed to render a report as to whether the New London physician is guilty of criminal negligence, a finding which would bring about the arrest of the doctor, charged with manslaughter. Medical Examiner Heyer filed his report with the coroner over a week ago.

The Scott-Merritt Wrecking company has received no advices from their wrecking outfit, which was dispatched to Orient Point late yesterday afternoon in an endeavor to float the steamer Cape Cod of the Thames River line, which went ashore in a dense fog Wednesday morning. The local office of the company stated, however, that favorable conditions prevailed today for floating the steamer and that they expected a report to that effect tomorrow.

The Cape Cod was bound from Norwich and New London to New York.

A writer with a vivid imagination produced the story the New York papers carried Thursday about the steamer Cape Cod, ashore at Greenport. The predicament of a number of "passengers" was described in detail and the story said they were clinging to the rail of the boat. The line would like to see these "passengers," the despatches told about.

The Uneeda restaurant on lower Bank street has gone out of business. There was not patronage enough to warrant the operation of the place and the owner closed it.

Block Island fishermen who come to this port say the stories that are being printed in some of the papers about vessels laying off the island with cargoes of liquor aboard is the veriest "rot." They declare that there is more liquor brought into New London in a month than gets into Block Island. And the prohibition agents declare that New London is one of the dryest sections of the state.

The suggestion a few days ago, that the city of New London should proceed next fall to pave Montauk avenue with brick or better still to asphalt that avenue meets with quite general approval. Bank street, Washington, State and Broad streets are pointed to as the best roads the city has and the roads that cost less to keep in repair than any roads New London has.

Bank street was paved with Belgian blocks more than ten years ago and it is as good as ever today except where there are slight depressions. State and Broad and Washington streets are brick paved and the roads are wearing splendidly. Asphalt or brick pacing on the chief avenues of travel, Montauk, Ocean and Pequot, would be in nature of permanent improvement, expensive at first but inexpensive after that. The work could be accomplished by paving one avenue each fall until all the work is accomplished.

Edward Prentis of the Brainard and Armstrong company is in New York for a stay of a few days.

The force of revenue department clerks, who have been engaged receiving income tax reports a fortnight, concluded their work in this line at 8 o'clock tonight. The number of persons appearing before clerks to file their tax the last few days was far less than was anticipated and in the closing hours that the office was opened but very few persons liable to tax made returns.

Frank M. Lanphere has sold a parcel of land on Raymond street to James P. Shea.

Attorney John C. Geary has departed for several weeks' trip to Cuba.

The funeral of Mrs. Emma McMoran, widow of Charles McMoran, was held this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at her late home, No. 10 South Ledyard street. The services were conducted by Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth.

Robert, the seven months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jackson of No. 10 Home street died this morning. The body will be forwarded to Bridgeport where the funeral and interment will take place.

Patients at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital who were able to return to their homes today were Mrs. Frederick Harvey of East Lyme, John Ferra of Westerly and Mrs. Benjamin Cutler of Stonington.

NORWICH MEN HELD FOR TRANSPORTING LIQUOR

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, March 15.—Joseph Basile and Charlie Lavanto of Norwich, the former of 410 Main street, and the latter residing at 4 Lake street, were apprehended at midnight Wednesday when they stopped the Ford car in which they came to New London from New Haven on the way to Norwich. They had a five-gallon can of alcohol and a glass jar holding a gallon of stuff that tested 40 per cent. alcohol. Sergeant Samuel Luck and Frank Philiopena, the latter a patrolman, were on special duty on Bank street at the time the alleged bootleggers drove up to the Firemens lunch and proceeded to refresh themselves. The officers looked into the car and there found the alcohol soaked covered with a blanket. They waited for the owner and occupant of the car to come from the restaurant and then arrested them. Basile, who had the driver's license claimed he did not know how the alcohol came to be in the car. He said he did not own it and did not believe it got into the car unless the policemen placed it there. That was a story that aroused the officers to search further and then they found the glass jug. They searched Basile and on his person found a revolver and a dozen slugs that went with it. These were confiscated by the officers. Basile had a permit to carry the gun, signed by Chief Linton of Norwich.

In the police court the men asked for a postponement of their cases that they might get Attorney Stewart of Norwich to defend them. The case was continued till Saturday and the men were held, Basile in $1,000 and Lavanto in $500. The men were taken to jail, but later they were released, the former in the custody of his attorney and the latter on a bond.

It is understood that Basile claims he is a barber and that he has a permit to carry alcohol.

The police are wondering what sort of an arrangement there was between Henry Cozen, a man who was sent to jail Monday when he was fined $35 in the police court and could not pay, because almost as soon as Cozen was jailed he was released as the husband of the woman on whose complaint he was prosecuted for a breach of the peace paid his fine. Mrs. Cozosky, residing at 28 Cedar street, is the woman who secured the conviction of Cozens.

WAUREGAN

Philip Johnson started for school in New York state on Sunday afternoon.

William Moffitt has had the grip.

E. Milton Tracy has finished his labors for the Wauregan company, having been employed by the firm nearly 50 years.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Bethel entertained their niece from Worcester over the week end.

J. A. Atwood has gone south for a vacation.

Alphege Ballergeon of West Wauregan has sold his residence there to Treffle Corbeile.

Leo Farland, who has been in the Day Kimball hospital since Sept. 24 of last year, has been released and returned home last Saturday. It will be some weeks yet before he will be able to walk about on his injured foot and leg.

Miss Olive Johnson of Willimantic spent the week end at her home here.

WILSONVILLE

John Sabosir returned from New York this week.

After being closed for a week, school reopened Monday.

Frank Wilson, who was injured by a falling tree, is able to be out and around.

Mrs. Ida Childs entertained friends from Webster and Ashford Sunday.

Anna Sabosic entertained friends from Webster Sunday.

Kate Haggerty, who has been in Webster, is at her home again.

MR. AND MRS GOOD CITIZEN

Are you interested in the Salvation Army?

Do you want to help in its great task?

READ THE WAR CRY!

Sincerely,

Capt. & Mrs. Chas. Carpenter

OPENING SALE

119 Main Street, Corner Market Street — Norwich, Conn.

THE PRINCIPALS UPON WHICH OUR BUSINESS IS BASED

1—DEPENDABLE MERCHANDISE ALWAYS
2—LOW PRICES
3—NO TRANSACTION COMPLETE UNLESS CUSTOMER IS SATISFIED
4—MONEY CHEERFULLY REFUNDED

Our new store is now ready. Let us welcome you, assuring you that we shall be equally glad to see you whether you come to buy or to look. We are offering values for our Opening Sale, opportunities for savings that cannot be equalled.

Sale Starts Saturday, March 17th, at 9 A. M.

HEMSTITCHED TABLE CLOTHS
Colored Borders or Plain White
$1.00
Extraordinary Value

Fruit of the Loom Muslin
Selling Regularly at 25c a yard
Our Price 19½c a Yard
Limit 10 Yards to a Customer

FILET LACE SCARFS
ALSO SOME LACE EDGE SCARFS
With Linen Centers
59c Each

MUSLIN SHEETS
For Replenishing Bedding Supplies

You will best judge the worth of these good values by noting the quality of the sheets themselves. Made of a good quality muslin—fine, even weave and perfectly bleached. Sheets are cut straight and true and neatly finished.

54x90 NORFOLK, each	88c
72x90 PALMER, each	$1.39
72x90 MOHAWK, each	$1.69
81x90 SAMOSET, each	$1.49
81x99 MOHAWK, each	$1.79
SPECIAL 72x90 IDEAL SHEETS	95c

TURKISH TOWELS
YOU'LL SELDOM FIND SUCH GOOD WEIGHT AND QUALITY IN TURKISH TOWELS AT THESE PRICES.

Blue Stripe Borders, each	19c
Fancy Plaids, double threads, 4 for	$1.00
Assorted Plaids, Monogram Place, 3 for	$1.00
Plain White, Red and Blue Border, ea.	29c
Extra Large Plain White	49c
Extra Large with Fancy Borders	49c

HEMMED PILLOW CASES OF CLOSE WEAVE MUSLINS

45x36 IDEAL, each	25c
42x36 PRIMROSE, each	29c
45x36 PRIMROSE, each	34c
42x36 SAMOSET, each	35c
45x36 SAMOSET, each	39c
LACE EDGE PILLOW CASES, 45x36—2 FOR	$1.00

PURE LINEN TOWELING
4 Yards $1.00

GLASS TOWELING
Blue Stripe and Pink Stripe
15c Yard

Kitchen Towels
With Loop String to Hang Up
15c Each

HUCK TOWELS
Large Size
Red Stripe Borders
12½c Each

WELL CHOSEN CRETONNES
Floral and Oriental Designs
These new patterns will appeal to you at once. In floral and oriental designs, and chosen with an eye to pleasing color combinations.
36 INCHES WIDE
19c, 24c, 29c, 34c yd.

MERCERIZED SUNFAST DRAPERY
New Designs—High Lustre
79c a Yard

TERRY CLOTHS
Reversible, Double-Faced
New Spring Designs
95c a Yard

YARD-WIDE CURTAIN MARQUISETTE
Pretty Drawn Work Borders, Also Cross-Bar Scrims with wide Tape Borders—
19c a Yard

CURTAIN MADRAS
New Designs
White and Ecru
39c a Yard

40-INCH WIDE FILET NETS
Beautiful Patterns to Select From, at—
59c a Yard

DRESS GINGHAMS
Most wanted assortment of colors and pretty checks—
29c and 34c a Yard

TISSUE GINGHAMS
Exceptional Quality
Broken Plaids, Pink, Blue, Orchid and Black—
59c a Yard

CREPONGE RATINE
Old Rose, Tan, Cadet Blue and White—
59c a Yard

PAISLEY VOILES
Pretty Patterns to Select From
59c a Yard

CREPE GINGHAMS
In an assortment of pretty checks and plain colors
39c a Yard

KRINKLE BED SPREADS
Requires No Ironing

63x90	$1.95
72x90	$2.19
81x90	$2.29

54-INCH ROUND TABLE CLOTHS
With Lace Medallions
Scalloped Edge
Special $1.25 Each

FLOWERED CREPE
For Undergarments
29c a Yard

BLANKETS
66x80, Double, Wool Finish, Nice Plaids
$3.00

COMFORTERS
Full size, clean Cotton Fillings, Flowered Silkaleen Covered—
$2.50 Each

CRIB BLANKETS
Pink and Blue Check
Size 29x39—Double
Pair 69c

WANDERLUST

Beyond the East the sunrise, beyond the West the sea,
And East and West the wanderlust that will not let me be;
It works in me like madness, dear, to bid me say goodby!
For the seas call and the stars call, and, oh, the call of the sky!

I know not where the white road runs, nor what the blue hills are,
But man can have the sun for a friend, and for his guide a star;
And there's no end of voyaging when once the voice is heard,
For the river calls and the road calls, and, oh, the call of a bird!

Yonder the long horizon lies, and there by night and day
The old ships draw to home again, the young ships sail away;
And come I may, but go I must, and if men ask you why,
You may put the blame on the stars and the sun and the white road and the sky!

—Gerald Gould, in Indianapolis News.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

"What was that old lady complaining about?" asked the grocer.

"About the long wait," answered the assistant.

"She must be very hard to please. Yesterday she was complaining about the short weight," mused the grocer."—Chicago News.

"You are charged with stealing. What have you to say?"

"I'm under the doctor's orders, your honor. He told me to take things easy."—Boston Transcript.

"Johnny, don't you know it's Sunday? You mustn't play marbles out here on the sidewalk. Go into the back yard if you want to play."

"All right, mother, but what day of the week is it in the back yard?"—Khaki Call.

Policeman—"No loafin' here—move on!"

Victim—"But I've a right to loaf here if I want to."

Policeman—"Is that so? Come with me—yer under arrest for impersonatin' an officer."—American Legion Weekly.

KALEIDOSCOPE

There are men who wouldn't dare to read the declaration of independence to their wives.

The number three was the perfect number of the Pythagoreans, who said it represented the beginning, middle and end.

At some places the force of the sea dashing on the rocks on the shore is said to be seventeen tons to the square yard.

A portrait of Professor A. A. Michelson, one of the world's leading physicians and the man who measured the giant star Bateiguese, has just been added to the portrait collection of the University of Chicago.

Our international manners should be as good as our morals. They make for peace, for intercourse without friction, for usefulness. They disarm fear. The strong man owes peculiar consideration to weaker folk. It is so with nations. German arrogance raised up a world hostile to Germany long before the great war.—Theodore Woolsey in Law Journal.

The guns of Battery F, 4th field artillery of the United States army, stationed at San Antonio, Tex., are mountain howitzers, each of which weighs 800 pounds. These guns are 3.8-inch, having a range of 5,000 yards, and are disassembled while on the march, four mules carrying the parts. Only a few minutes are required for the batteries to wheel into line and go into action.

The newest method of putting out a fire is to shoot it out. A fire-extinguishing compound is packed into cartridges in the shape of a dry powder and is discharged from a pistol. It is a German invention, and in Berlin watchmen are now provided with pistols of this kind. The powder used is simply carbonate of soda—a familiar chemical commonly employed in fluid extinguishers—and the cartridge containing it forms the barrel of the weapon. Fired with a trigger, the cartridges distribute the powder in a spray, which is so effective that one or two shots will quickly smother a fierce localised blaze. Even a gasoline fire is promptly subdued by this treatment, which is particularly recommended for emergency use by automobilists. Perhaps before long every driver of a motor car will be provided with such a pistol as an item of necessary equipment.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Speed Up
—5c Everywhere

Don't lag. Eat little raisins and speed up.

Delicious when you're hungry. New life when you're tired.

1560 calories of energizing nutriment per pound—75% fruit sugar, in practically predigested form—therefore almost incredibly effective.

Furnish food-iron also.

Get little red box now and try. —5c everywhere.

Little Sun-Maids
"Between-Meal"
Raisins

HOUSE PASSES BILL FIXING 15 DEPUTY SHERIFFS IN THIS COUNTY

(Special to The Bulletin)

Hartford, March 15.—Among bills passed in the house today was that defining the number of deputy sheriffs in each county, which gives 15 for New London county, and another act authorizing the city of Norwich to sprinkle streets.

Speaker Nickerson presided when the house was called to order at 11:11.

Favorable reports were received from the committee on the petitions of Frank P. Bydgton of Hartford, Frank T. McManus of Hartford and Dr. John W. Molburn of New Haven, for restoration of rights and they were unanimously granted.

A recess was requested by House Leader Buckley, that he might confer with chairmen of committees, who had matters on the calendar not yet starred for action and recess was taken. Bills were then called and passed, including the following:

Senate bill 146, amending the charter of the Eastern Connecticut railway company and changing its name to the Norwich and Hallville railway, empowering the East Lyme Traction company to purchase or otherwise acquire any or all of the present railway now owned by the Shore Line Electric Railway company from its junction with the tracks of the Connecticut company at the corner of Montauk avenue and Bank street in the towns of New London and Waterford to Keeney's corner, for the town of Southington whereby the town, by a majority vote may release to the title owners all rights which the inhabitants of the town may have acquired by dedication and by grant for the purpose of a public green to certain land, an act amending the charter of the city of Danbury authorizing the Rockville water company to issue bonds, authorizing the town of Windham to issue bonds for $125,000 for the erection and equipment of additional school buildings, creating the West Suffield Cemetery association.

An act concerning costs in commitment for contempt of court, authorizing the comptroller to purchase an addition to the grounds of the state library and supreme court building. This property had been approved by the banks for $65,000. The comptroller had an option on the property for $55,000, and the committee on appropriations recommended the purchase. Other bills passed were an act correcting an error in the act concerning voters, an act amending the charter of the city of Hartford relating to the sinking fund, an act whereby the repair and upkeep of state aid roads are taken over by the state, authorizing railroad companies to operate gasoline motor cars, restricting the amount of capital stock to be issued by banks and trust companies, and an act fixing terms of courts of common pleas.

CALENDAR

Matters starred for action and passed were, an act incorporating the east and West Insurance company of New Haven, an act concerning the Connecticut railroad advisory committee, an act authorizing certain banks and trust companies to act as treasurer or tax collector of certain municipalities.

SENATE.

The committee on the judiciary reported unfavorably on the bill to limit the amount deducted from the wages of employes on account of tardiness to an amount in proportion to the time actually lost. The bill was rejected.

Other unfavorable reports were received from the committee on the judiciary as follows: On unwarranted strikes and lockouts; that messengers of the general assembly shall not be paid more salary by the state than their compensation as messengers; concerning intimidation; concerning the employment of mechanics and laborers on public works; concerning unwarranted strikes and lockouts. The bills were rejected.

The committee on banks reported unfavorably on the bill concerning the incorporation, powers and supervision of credit unions. The bill was rejected.

Calendar.

There were three matters on the calendar starred for action, and only two of these were taken up for consideration. The senate passed the bill authorizing the Northwest school district of Hartford to issue bonds to the amount of $400,000 at a rate of interest not greater than 5 1-2 per cent., after the bill was amended on the motion of Senator Trumbull, to clarify the extent of the district's allegations. The senator said the district was within the 5 per cent. limit of indebtedness.

A substitute to senate bill No. 102, authorizing the city of Hartford to issue bonds to the amount of $1,500,000 to defray the cost of main water pipe extension was passed. Senator Trumbull said the city of Hartford was, with the addition to its debt of $1,500,000, within the limit of 5 per cent.

The bill concerning the property exemption of soldiers, sailors and marines from taxation was recommitted to the committee on finance.

The committee on the judiciary reported unfavorably on the bill to reimburse holders of liquor licenses for money paid for licenses. The bill was rejected.

The committee on the judiciary reported in the state senate a bill to increase the number of superior court judges to 18, including the judges of the supreme court of errors, appointed by the general assembly upon the nomination of the governor. The bill was tabled for calendar and printing. If this bill is enacted there will be two more judges added to the present list.

The senate adjourned to Friday at 11:15.

WOULD ALLOW BANKS TO COLLECT TOWN TAXES

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, March 15.—Among the bills on which action was taken today was senate bill 825, which is an innovation in the powers of state banks and trust companies chartered by special act of the general assembly prior to March 27, 1917, empowering them to act as treasurer or tax collector of any town, city, borough, district * * * on submission of the state or of any municipality and may be chosen to so act by ballot or otherwise.

This will allow many small towns to have their taxes collected by a bank or trust company that is under the supervision of the state bank examiner. On motion of Mr. Darbie of Killingly the bill was tabled.

Another bill from the senate having been adopted by that body was passed by the house today. It provides that the governor may appoint a special advisory railroad commission which "shall consist of not less than five members, one of whom shall be designated as chairman. Such shall make such investigation of the transportation needs of Connecticut and New England as public interest may require. They may hold public hearings, and in accordance with the interests of the state of Connecticut may co-operate in any investigation or hearing with railroad commissions in other states investigating similar problems. The commission shall serve without pay and shall hold office until the rising of the next general assembly.

STONINGTON

Thursday morning W. Lester O'Brien, who has charge of the local trolley line of the Groton and Stonington Traction company addressed the Stonington High school students at assembly hall, on a most interesting and educating subject, Safety Talk to Children.

In part Mr. O'Brien said:

Everywhere, on every hand, throughout the land, we find railroad companies, railway companies, manufacturing plants, municipalities and the like, making strenuous efforts to reduce the enormous number of accidents that are daily occurring. Never is there a day that we pick up the newspaper but what we can read of people killed or injured in accidents of some nature or other. The daily toll goes on. Who are they that will be injured before the day is gone? Who are they that will meet with an accident tomorrow? Will you and I be one of them? We do not know, but we do know that if we exercise reasonable care and good judgment, that our possibility of an accident will be greatly reduced.

A great number of municipalities have recognized the automobile hazard and are taking steps to reduce the number of accidents by the establishment of intelligent laws—publicity campaigns and the strict enforcement of existing laws. In communities where organized efforts have been made to reduce accidents, there has been a noticeable decrease, while on the other hand where there has been no action in this line, accidents have increased alarmingly. In the United States for the year ending 1922 over 10,000, a third of which were children, were killed by automobiles, and a number greatly in excess of this were injured or crippled for life.

It has been proven that the safeguarding of machinery and the education of workmen 90 per cent of the industrial accidents could be prevented and it is safe to say that accidents in which automobiles and pedestrians or occupants are injured, could be reduced in the same proportion with the proper education of the automobilist and the pedestrian.

We in the electric railway industry are making every effort to reduce accidents in which the trolley is concerned, by safety meetings, safety campaigns and publicity campaigns, and the effort has been responsive of good results. In fact there is no time in the history of the trolley industry that riding has been any safer than it is today. In the industry as a whole accidents of all kinds, excepting one have been reduced about 40 per cent over the past five or six years. This one exception being collisions with automobiles which has increased instead of decreasing. We do not want to have accidents, because we do not want to injure or kill anyone. When the trolley car conductor tells you not to get on or off the car before it stops, he does it because he understands, from experience and instructions that he receives that it is dangerous. He is instructed to warn you and care for you as if you were one of his own.

When he says you cannot ride on the rear platform, he is doing what he knows your mother or dad would do if they were in the same place, and because his instructions say that he should not allow you there. He knows that youngsters full of life as you are, are apt to start fooling and maybe someone will get pushed off the car, or fall off as the car rounds a sharp curve. He tells you not to play or fool to the extent that you might break a seat or window. He knows that someone is liable to get hurt.

This year there has been very little damage from this source and the action of the children of this school as a whole, is very creditable to this institution as well as to the children themselves.

Keep the following in mind:

Make the street car stop before you get off.

Face forward in getting off, eyes front.

Before leaving car look both ways for automobiles.

In passing behind a car first peek around the corner to see what is coming.

Keep wide awake crossing streets. Walk fast, but do not run.

Don't touch any loose wires. They may be alive or crossed with something that is alive.

Maybe you have heard the Safety Scouts platform:

I will bear in mind the value of human life and a sound body.

I will take no risks to endanger my body or any of its parts.

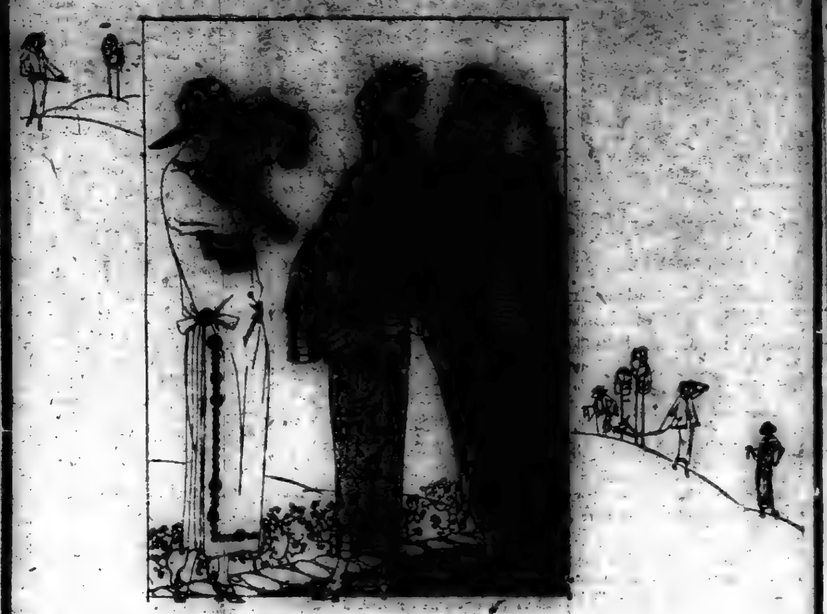
I will do nothing to endanger the life or limb of any other person.

I will be vigilant not only for my own safety, but that of others in the street or indoors, on foot or in conveyance, anywhere and at all times.

The Wequetequock Community club met Wednesday evening. The members held a social, with refreshments. Friday evening the juniors will be in charge of the social. The committee is composed of Misses Agnes Shaw, Ethel Merrill, Helen Carlit, Kennedy McShane, Vernon Stinson, and John LaFountain. On next Thursday Miss Gladys Stratton will be here and take up the work already started in caning chairs.

Mrs. John Andrews is confined to her home, with an attack of pneumonia.

William H. Hobart of Elm street is convalescing at his home, being able to sit up a little every day.



Spring Openings

Breaking away from the drab monotony of the winter, The Boston Store comes out in all the colorful beauty of Spring. New styles—new colors—charming adaptations of styles which were new when the world was young—all make an appeal well nigh irresistible.

Millinery, Wraps, Coats, Suits,
Dresses, Art Embroidery Goods,
Floor Coverings and Draperies,
Linens and Domestics
The Boys' Shop
The New Men's Shop
Dress Accessories of All Kinds

That Will Meet With the Approval of the Most Critical Buyer---
FOR HERE YOU WILL FIND
The Latest In Shoe Styles
FOR SISTER — MOTHER — SON AND FATHER

WE LEAD IN SHOE STYLES

HIGH GRADE SHOES
BOOT SHOP
168 MAIN STREET NORWICH
AT POPULAR PRICES

YOU WILL FIND IT HERE FIRST—ALWAYS

Markow's Grand Sale Remnant Store
263 Main Street — Norwich, Conn.

A SALE OF NEW MERCHANDISE OF DEPENDABLE QUALITY AT LOWEST IN THE CITY PRICES

READ EACH AND EVERY ITEM — YOU CANNOT AFFORD TO MISS A SINGLE ONE.

BLEACHED COTTON CLOTH, value 25c	17c	SCRIM, 36-inch, value 19c, yard	10c
UNBLEACHED COTTON CLOTH, 36-inch, value 19c	12½c	SUNFAST DRAPERY, value $1.00 yard	75c
ENGLISH LONGCLOTH, 36-inch wide, 10 yards	$1.75	TINSEL SILK, all colors, for Lamp Shades, yard	$1.25
TOWELING, value 19c a yard, yard	10c	DIMITY, 40-inch, value 29c, yard	19c
DRESS GINGHAMS, 32-inch, value 35c	22c	MARQUISETTE CURTAINS—SPECIAL VALUE, PAIR	$1.69
PERCALES, 36-inch, value 25c	17c	BUNGALOW APRONS, value $1.25	75c
CRETONNE, 36-inch, value 35c	25c	MARY PICKFORD APRONS, value 69c	49c
MADRAS SHIRTING, 36-inch, value 35c	19c	ENVELOPE CHEMISE, value 96c	50c
EPONGE, 36-inch, all colors, value 79c	49c	CREPE BLOOMERS, value 59c	39c
PLAID EPONGE SKIRTING, value 89c	59c	WAISTS, value $1.69	$1.00
CURTAIN MADRAS, value 59c	39c	SLIP-ON SWEATERS, value $3.95	$1.89
		GIRLS' KHAKI KNICKER SUITS	$1.95
		LADIES' SILK HOSE, Tape Seam	$1.00
		LADIES' ITALIAN SILK HOSE, value $2.25	$1.00

Also Showing a Complete Line of Silks and Dress Goods.

TO FARMERS

A LESSON IN CO-OPERATION

(Written Specially for The Bulletin)

I feel disposed to criticize this morning, to pick flaws, to find fault, to say unpleasant things.

You don't have to read on if you don't want to. That's where you always have the whip hand over you, old John Farmer. He may fill columns with what he takes for ideas and mental outputs; what he thinks wisdom. While you, after reading the first few lines and making up your mind as to his probable drift, can calmly turn the paper over and read something else that's more interesting.

At the same time, let me suggest, remind you that a much wiser thing than either you or I once remarked: "Faithful are the wounds of a friend, but the kisses of an enemy are deceitful." And as a matter of cold, modern shrewdness, it may be added that is generally more comfortable to listen to the weaknesses of an ally than to patch up your broken nose after an enemy has punched you into the gutter.

A little study in contrasts between Michigan, U. S. A. and Denmark in Europe has led me to wonder why on earth the farmers of this country are pitting behind the farmers of a little hooked-up an "effete" monarchy? Why we are being mowed while they are making it? Why we are suffering from profiteers while they pay no tribute to such robbers? Why we should be undergoing the pains of a remorseless deflation, while they haven't even heard the word? Why we should be the victims of a whole hierarchy of "men higher up," while they are themselves the men highest up, and what they say goes? Why we are in the doleful dumps, while they are striding of Easy street?

Here's the way it came about: I happened to read of a woman in Lynchburg, Va., who bought a peck of potatoes the other day from her grocer. While peeling one of them, she found, cunningly inserted in a round hole evidently made by a cheese-taster, a tiny note, reading:

"I got 24 cents a bushel. What did you give?"

She had given 80 cents a peck, i. e. $1.28 a bushel. Lynchburg is about 400 miles from Detroit as the crow flies.

Now, as any potato grower who has bought certified seed and high grade fertilizer and high-waged labor and high-priced bags knows perfectly well, no farmer whether in Michigan or Connecticut or Virginia can raise good marketable potatoes and haul them to his railroad station for 24 cents a bushel. Not and make a cent on their sale.

Likewise, as every potato-eater either side of Mason's and Dixon's line knows equally well 96 cents is altogether too much, in proportion to charge for passing along a 24-cent bushel of potatoes.

Yet that is just about what has been and is constantly going on in Michigan and Virginia and forty-six other states. Consumers are paying big prices for the necessities of life; farmers are getting skimpy low prices for raising the same. Both are discontented and both are getting mad.

Naturally, as an old farmer, my keenest sympathies go to the man with the hoe. He certainly is getting what the boys used to call "a raw deal." That is, he lives in these great, glorious free and independent and a little-too-much-stuck-up United States.

If he happens to live in Denmark, on the contrary, he is fat, rosy, well-fed, well-paid, prosperous and getting into his own pocket every red cent he prings [sic] to market. For his farming there is practically no charge for freights. Why? How? Why is there here be this difference? What's the explanation of this difference?

Denmark is a small country, would scarce be noticed sticking out into the North sea. Its area is not much greater than that of Vermont. Its soil isn't so good. Its climate is worse. It can't raise its own potatoes or wheat or, during seven months in the year can even sturdy cattle be given a run in pasture; for half seven months they must be kept up and dealt for. And practically all the grain fed them has to be bought abroad. Much of it must, in these United States.

The farms of Denmark are small. More than half are of less than thirty acres each. The man owning so much as a hundred acres is regarded as a sort of plutocrat. Experience has shown that 30 acres is usually enough to enable a farmer to support his family in comfort, and educate his children. He rarely owns more than seventy thousand shall furnish farmers. The are doing it nicely.

Now don't interrupt with a sneer about the accordingly low standard of living of those Danish farmers. Who wants to live the way they do? I hear somebody asking that.

Not so fast, bucko. Don't try to shoot off your gun at half-cock. According to close and careful observers who have traversed Denmark from end to end and from corner to corner, high roads and back roads, big farms and "little farms" the average Danish farm house is a perfectly comfortable, wholly adequate and highly desirable home, even by the most exacting standards. A majority of them, even out in the remotest country districts, have telephones and electric lights. Incidentally it may be noted that only two out of every thousand Danish farmers are unable to read and write. A very large percentage are trained in agricultural schools. They are not only mighty good farmers, but many of them are also skilled mechanics, practical chemists, trained plant-breeders. A recent visitor says: "Socially and politically they are of a higher grade than perhaps any other farmers on earth."

And they're making money; making it every day, and making it with comparative certainty. Not millions, of course; no year, who is fit to be a farmer wants to make millions out of other people's needs. But they're making all they themselves think they deserve and earn.

Well, you'll say, that's surely a fine picture. What's the explanation? It's just one word:

Co-operation.

In the first place, soil, climate and constricted field forbid the Denmark farmer to raise hay or grains. Taught by experience and good sense he restricts himself, practically, to just three products, butter, eggs and bacon. He has to buy pretty nearly all his cow, pig and chicken feed abroad. He has to sell pretty nearly all his butter, eggs and bacon abroad. Therefore, he must do three essential things:

First, he must make the best butter, and supply the best bacon and eggs. Furthermore, these products must be standardized, so that every shipment shall be just as good as every other shipment, and every package as good as every other package.

Second, he must sell at the highest market prices and get back, himself, the full price paid.

Third, he must buy his supplies at the lowest prices and pay no toll-takers for handling them.

All these three things co-operation does for him. There are about 250,000 farmers in Denmark and 244,000 of them belong to co-operative associations. They make their own rules, set their own standards, appoint their own agents, and then hold themselves sternly up to a rigid and inflexible obedience.

To meet the first condition, that of standardized production, they have their own inspectors and packers, who see to it that no package of Danish goods goes out unless it is gilt-edged and perfect. Every purchaser knows that, when he buys a pound of Danish butter or bacon or a dozen Danish eggs they are all O. K. As a result every purchaser is willing to pay the highest market price, knowing that

Let the Hen Create Your Nest Egg—

Just a few square feet of back yard space and a dozen or more good laying hens will soon establish you with a worth-while nest egg.

You don't have to be an expert to succeed with poultry either. Care in selecting your stock, and common sense in feeding and caring for them is all that is required.

The Wilkinson Poultry Book contains much helpful information for the beginner. We'll gladly mail you a copy FREE. Write for it today.

R. Allison Gray Co. Pittsburgh, Pa.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Holt Power-Light

GENERATES 110-VOLT CURRENT

OPERATES 20-25 WATT LAMPS

HAS NO STORAGE BATTERIES

HAS A 2-INCH PULLEY FOR POWER

WAS THE MOST ECONOMICAL PLANT ON MARKET TO OPERATE.

PRICE $295.00, F. O. B. DETROIT.

F. O. PLUMMER, Agent

STERLING, CONN.

COLDS and a RAW, SORE THROAT

RUB QUICKLY! WHEN YOU APPLY CAMPHOROLE

Colds Go Over Night—Sore Throat in 15 Minutes

Then you'll know why thousands use CAMPHOROLE and have you, special it on your nose, chest, throat or back and feel it take hold and quickly break up a stubborn cough and end all the threat and chest misery. It's also unequaled for Headache, Neuralgia and the dreaded pre-monitions of the "flu" and lungs are penetrated by powerful healing vapors which reach the very seat of the disorder with each breath. A healthy pilgrim, sleeping nearby three tents, and feeling the very irritated lining of the throat, nose and bronchial tubes, gently and safely. Specified for Colds, Bronchitis, Tonsilitis, Influenza, Catarrh and Bronchial Pneumonia. Manufactured in Atlantic City, N. J.

Dr. Hoyt's Camphorole

Freckle-Face

How to The Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

Do you know how easy it is to remove those ugly spots so that no one will call your freckle-face?

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength, from your druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of freckles and get a beautiful complexion. The sun and winds of March have a strong tendency to bring out freckles, and as a result more Othine is sold in this month. Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove the freckles. Get an ounce from your druggist today and begin to remove the ugly spots and get a beautiful complexion.

No Corn Too Tough for "Gets-It"

It's just wonderful how "Gets-It" ends corns and calluses. Put a few drops of "Gets-It" on a hurting corn and Presto! The pain stops at once, forever. Soon the corn loosens from the true flesh and you just lift the corn off with the fingers, root and all, complete. Money back guarantee. Costs but a trifle anywhere. E. Lawrence & Co., Mfr., Chicago. Sold here by Pitcher & Service and Lee & Osgood Company.

Intriguing Glimpses into Fashion's Crystal

Formal Spring Opening Days

FRIDAY — SATURDAY

MARCH 16th AND 17th

Exception gives place to realization. The new style tendencies, so fraught with interest to every woman, now takes form. All the Whims and Fancies of the Mode are found in our showing of Women's Spring Apparel — Coats, Suits, Capes, Dresses. We invite inspection.

SPRING MILLINERY MODES

During Spring Opening Days the most complete collection of beautiful Hats we have ever presented will be displayed. Here are the best interpretations of the Sports Mode, the Tailored Mode, the Dress Mode, as famous French designers have conceived it, and as skillful American designers have adapted it.

Colors include beguiling green lines, topaz, the new mountain haze shades, crushed berry tones, and a large group of oriental color combinations that so prominently prevail. Black, too, is ultra smart.

Styles number among the chin cloches and poke of hair-cloth, faille and taffeta, uniquely smart with ribbon plaitings and handcraft, twine, tulle folds, and beautiful flower and feather trimmed modes.

THIS STORE CORDIALLY INVITES YOU TO VIEW THE NEW MODELS.

THE PORTEOUS & MITCHELL CO.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

GALES FERRY

The funeral services of Charles H. Chapman of Ledyard, were held at the Methodist Episcopal church at Gales Ferry, on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. W. D. Woodward conducted the services and spoke from these words: Let me die the death of the righteous and let my last end be like His. The choir of the church sang two hymns, If On a Quiet Sea, and My Gracious Lord I Own Thy Right. Mrs. Eugene La Fontaine, organist. Both selections were liked by Mr. Chapman, who for many years was organist and director for the choir of this church. Mr. Chapman at the time of his death was trustee of the church and had been for many years always promoting its welfare with his support. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends and beautiful flowers, testifying to the esteem in which he was held and to the passing of a good man.

The interment was in the village cemetery near the church, and the bearers were Carlos W. Allen, Groton; John Bolles, Uncasville; Edward E. Lester, Ledyard; Courtland E. Colver, Submarine Base.

At Sunday morning worship in the M. E. church, Rev. W. D. Woodward spoke from Zachariah 14:20, the theme being, The Bells of the Horses. Preceding his sermon, Rev. Mr. Woodward spoke in behalf of child welfare work, using these words, Fathers, provoke not your children to wrath. Contributions were asked for in the drive, for boy scout work now going on. All contributions forwarded by Rev. Mr. Woodward to executive Scoutmaster F. E. Burdick, New London.

Assistant Superintendent Dudley C. Perkins was in charge of the Sunday school session and the banners for both offering and attendance, were awarded to Mr. Perkins' class of boys.

Miss Marion Rogers of Cristobal, Panama, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Rogers of Gales Ferry arrived here on Tuesday owing to the continued illness of her mother, Mrs. Rogers, who was dismissed from the Lawrence Memorial hospital, New London, on Wednesday.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus W. Hurlbut, with cottage adjoining, situated on the village street, was wired for electric lighting last week.

Dudley C. Perkins, who has been spending the winter in Anthony, R. I., was a visitor over Sunday with his family at his home at Perkins place.

Commander Guy Davis and Mrs. Davis of New London, were callers Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Alpin at the Ferry.

Boyce B. Allyn, collector of the magnet fund for the M. E. church of Gales Ferry, reports the members of the Live Wire club, organized for the benefit of the fund, as having a membership for the month of February; new members 9; gifts from 24 member; $14.75; total amount to date, $2,898.95.

Among those from Norwich who attended the funeral of Charles H. Chapman on Wednesday afternoon at the M. E. church here were Mr. and Mrs. Lyman L. Chapman, Mrs. Charles H. Winchester and Mr. and Mrs. J. Otis Winchester.

Rev. W. D. Woodward attended the Union Lenten service in the Methodist Episcopal church of New London, Monday evening, and heard Bishop E. W. Hughes speak.

Mrs. Stephen Perkins of Brier Hill, Groton attended the funeral of her uncle, Charles H. Chapman on Wednesday afternoon, in the M. E. church.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Coman and son, Herbert, were recent visitors, at their former home in North Grosvenordale.

Nelson Parker has returned from a business trip of one week in Baltimore, Md.

Mrs. Latham E. Smith with Miss Eleanor Smith visited the latters parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Smith in New London.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver R. Wulf recently of Waterbury, who took breakfast with Miss Caroline B. Freeman, coming here by early train en route to Putnam and Norwich to Mt. Vernon, N. Y., on Thursday morning, received callers while at the home of Miss Freeman. Friends gathered at the railroad station here, to wish them happiness in their new home in Pasadena, California, where they are due on March 28, when they left on the 11.43 train, en route to the home of Mrs. Wulf's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Jones of Mt. Vernon, from where they will leave for California.

Owing to the weather conditions on Monday afternoon the meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society to have been held at the home of Miss Caroline B. Freeman's The Bowerie, was not held.

Selectman J. Edmund Norman was the only person in attendance from this section at the town meeting held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the town hall, at Ledyard Center. A 23 mill tax, the same as last year, was voted.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Buckingham, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Noyes, Mrs. Edward H. Latimer and Miss Caroline B. Freeman of the Ferry, were attendants, during the production of the Glorious Girl, given in Norwich Monday afternoon and evening and Tuesday evening of last week at Broadway theatre. Mrs. Buckingham as Alice, the curio shoppe girl, had the leading role.

The Village Improvement birthday party, scheduled for Saturday evening, at the Country Club house, will not be held, owing to illness and weather conditions.

Mr. and Mrs Blackell from Brooklyn, N. Y., have taken Twin Oak cottage on the village street. Mr. Blackett is connected with the Sub Base.

BALTIC

The town school committee held their monthly meeting Wednesday and issued orders on the town treasurer to pay school bills contracted during the month of February.

Alfred Lemoine, Henri Foisey, Theodore Lucier and Arthur Cote represented Court Sprague, No. 90, F. of A., Tuesday evening at Court City of Norwich, F. of A.

Mrs. Hattie Mathews who has been confined to her home with an attack of pleurisy and pneumonia is again able to be around.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Jodoin were in North Grosvenordale Thursday attending the funeral of Philias Wolsard. Mr. Wolsard some thirty-five years ago was manager of a general store here for the firm of J. H. Wolsard, where now stands the R. C. church.

JEWETT CITY

The Ladies' society of the Congregational church met at the home of Mrs. Abraham Zegeer on Thursday afternoon, twenty-three being present. Mrs. Richardson, the president, who had charge of serving the supper for the recent Masonic Ladies' Night, reported one hundred dollars as the sum to be handed to the treasurer of the society, as the net proceeds. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. William Dealtry, Mrs. L. G. Buckingham, Mrs. N. B. Parkhurst, Mrs. H. C. Webster and Miss Marianna Kummer.

Mrs. Walter Marshall entertains the Harmony club this afternoon.

Send this advertisement to The Plant-Cadden Co., Norwich, with your name and address and you will receive a Book of Old Fashioned Songs free—adv.

Mrs. Martin Wallace is quite ill at her home in Lisbon and Mrs. Laura Barber is at her home in Jewett City.

Miss Margaret K. Lyden, R. N., the district nurse, who started on her duties November 23 has made 553 calls up to March first, and collected in money $328.80 for these calls. In November she made 77 visits, in December 146, January 212 and February 194. In November the insurance company paid $5.60, December $42.90, January $70.25 and February $70.55 of the money she received. An erroneous idea seems to have been gained from the announcement of her hours in which she will make calls, which are between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. It should be distinctly understood that the nurse will be ready at any hour day or night to answer an emergency call. The hours of 8 a. m. and up to 5 p. m. are when she makes her visits. A doctor has office hours, but he answers calls at any time, and so does the nurse. Her work is proving of the utmost value in the town, especially when it has been impossible to get a nurse in several serious cases.

Sister Rose of the Sisters of Charity of Our Lady, Mother of Mercy congregation of this village is a sister of the deceased.

Many local automobilists are attending the automobile show in Boston.

LYME

Mr. Chen, a Chinese student at Yale, preached here last Sunday and also talked to the church school.

The L. B. S. met last Thursday. Miss Gladys Stratton of the New London county farm bureau was present and gave the last lesson in chair seating. Mrs. J. S. Daniels, Jr., served dinner.

The young people enjoyed a dance at the hall last Friday night.

Mrs. Mary Daniels of Norwich is the guest of Mrs. Guy Wiggins at North Lyme.

Robert Mudy and family are on the sick list.

Mrs. William Crook entertained Robert Bartlett and Mr. Chen of New Haven last Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. James Lord is ill. Dr. Bradeen is attending her.

Ernest Clark of Deep River was a guest at L. Bill's last Sunday.

Mrs. Guy Wiggins was in New London Thursday.

Robert Sawyer was in Essex on business last week.

LEBANON

On Sunday morning at the First Congregational church the pastor, Rev. W. O. Foster, gave the second sermon in the series, subject, Neglect, from the text found in Hebrew 2: 1-4, showing that sin is the worst disease in the world today and the result of neglect in neglecting God's remedy. To avoid these things we should do to-day's duty today. On March 14 the third sermon will be given. The subject will be Spiritual Sight.

A feature of the Y. P. S. C. E. service Sunday evening was a "testimonial" meeting. One person read the scripture lesson, Matt. 25: 14-30, 2 Peter 1: 10, then handing the Bible to the next person, each in turn read a verse, speaking or improvising a hymn, making a line per each member present.

At the town hall on Saturday evening, at 7:30, Mr. Hatfield of Norwich will meet the committee in charge to reorganize the C. E. C. A. of Lebanon. All young men and boys between 14 years of age are urged to be present.

LATE WINTER COLDS OFTEN FATAL

TAKE NO CHANCES—USE VAPOR-ETE

Eminent medical authorities have recently called attention to the fact that the greatest number of deaths from pneumonia occur during the late winter and early spring. That is why it is of the utmost importance, at this time of year, to get rid of a cold as quickly as possible. Give it no chance to develop into pneumonia or influenza.

Sterling's Vapor-Ete acts on a cold in head or chest in two ways at once. First its medicated properties destroy the germ that caused the cold, and secondly, its healing, soothing vapors penetrate deep into the air passages restoring the membranes to a normal, healthy condition and thoroughly breaking up congestion.

Simply rub Sterling's Vapor-Ete on the throat and chest at bedtime and place a little of this healing antiseptic ointment up the nostrils and breathe that cold away. Be sure to get the genuine Sterling's Vapor-Ete from your druggist. A 25 cent jar will do the trick. Look for the Sterling Trademark.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Day's total sales, 1,062,000 shares.
20 industrials averaged 104.74, net low .54, high 1922, 104.26; low, 96.96.
20 railroads averaged 89.32, net low .9, high 1922 90.63, low, 84.53.

Market Was Speculative

New York, March 15.—Week-end profit taking and some short selling in the late dealings halted the early upward movement of prices in today's market but the usual leaders showed comparatively small net changes on the day. Bullish trade advices, lower money rates and more favorable foreign political news had a cheerful effect on speculative sentiment.

Heavy buying of Sinclair on speculative expectation that the directors would place the stock on a $3 annual basis at the next meeting, April 11, was one of the day's features, nearly 100,000 shares changed hands during the day, the closing price, 35 3-4, representing a net gain of 2 1-2 points on the day. Marland advanced 1 1-4 points but the other oils were inclined to be reactionary, standard oil of California dropping 2 points to 90 3-4 on overnight announcement of new financing, but recovering later to 91-14.

U. S. steel, Baldwin, Studebaker, Corn rodupts, United States Rubber, the Pan American issues, Cosden and Producers & Refiners all closed within a halp point of yesterday's final quotations.

Independent strength was shown by a number of speculatives, notably United States ndustrial alcohol, Reynolds Spring, Jewel Tea, preferred, Jones Brothers tea, Associated dry goods,Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies and Brooklyn Edison, the net gains ranging from 2 to nearly 3 1-2 points.

The traditional "selling on the good news," following the announcement that the directors of the Louisville & Nashville railroad had declared a 62 1-2 per cent. stock dividend and placed the new stock on a $6 basisg forced the present stock down more than 6 points to 142 7-8, but it rallied back to 146, off 4, just before the close. Atlantic Coast Line, which owns practically 51 per cent. of the outstanding L. & N. stock, also reacted, but closed 3-4 higher at 121 3-4, up 3-4. Lackawana, Delaware & Hudson and Norfolk & Western were the other conspicuous heavy spots in the rail list.

The sharp 15 point rally in French francs, which were quoted above 6.20 cents for the first time in over a month, was the feature of the foreign exchange list. Demand sterling sold just above $4.69 5-8. Canadian exchange was again heavy.

Call money opened and renewed at 5 per cent., but dropped to 4 1-2 at noon, closing at that figure. Time money continued quiet with brokers biding 5 1-4 an bankedrs asking 5 1-2 for all maturities. Commercial paper continued to move in moderate volume with the prime names commanding 5 per cent.

STOCKS.

The following is a summary of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange up to 2 P. M.:

	High.	Low.	Close
Allied Chem & D	79¾	78¼	78¼
Allis Chalm	49¾	48¾	49¼
Am Ag Ch	34⅜	33¼	34⅜
Am Beet Sugar	48	46	46¾
Am Beech Mag	58¼	56	56¼
Am Can	104	102¾	103¾
Am Can pr	112	112	113
Am Car & F	183½	182	182¼
Am Cotton Oil	17½	17	17
Am Cotton Oil	17	17	17
Am Cotton Oil pr	31	31	31
Am Hide & L	12¾	12¾	12¾
Am Hide & L pr	73¼	73¼	72½
Am Tel & Tel	135¼	135¼	135¾
Am Tobacco	157½	157	157
Am Wool	106¼	105½	106¾
Am W P pr	29¼	28¾	29¼
Anaconda	53¼	51½	53
Associated Oil	136½	136¼	136¼
Atchison	104¾	104	104
Balt & Ohio	54¼	53¼	53½
Balt & Ohio pr	59¾	59¾	59¾
Beth Steel	66¼	64¾	64¾
Beth Steel B	69¾	68¼	68¼
Brook Rp Tr	8¾	8	8¼
Brook Rap Tr ctf	7	6¾	7
But Cop & Z	10¾	10¼	10½
But & Sup Cop	25¾	24¾	24¾
Canadian Pacific	147	147	147
Cent Leather	39	38¾	38¾
Cent Leath pr	79	78¾	79
Chand Motor	75¾	74¾	74¾
Ches & Ohio	74	73½	73½
Ch & Gt Western	6¼	6	6¼
C M & St P	25¾	25¾	25¾
C M & St P pr	44¾	44	44
Ch & N W	87	86¼	86¾
Ch & N W pr	117¾	117¾	117¾
C R I & P	38¾	37¼	37¾
Cuba Cane	29¾	29	29
Chino Copper	39¾	39¼	39¾
Cosden	67¾	61	61¼
Cosden pr	107½	107½	107½
Crucible Steel	93¾	92	93
Crucible Steel pr	93	93	93
Del & Hudson	117½	116½	116½
Dome Mines	41⅜	41	41⅜
Erie	12¾	12¾	12¾
Erie 1 pr	19¾	18¾	19¾
Fisher B Co pr	100	110	110
Gen Electric	138¾	136½	136¾
Gen Motors	15	14¾	14⅞
Gen Mot 6 p c db	84¾	84½	84¼
Gen Mot 7 p c db	99¾	99¼	99¼
Great North pr	78¾	78¼	78⅜
Great North C F Sub	33⅞	33⅝	33⅞
Hudson Motor	31⅞	30⅞	31
Hupp Motor	28⅞	28½	28¾
Illinois Cent	115¾	115¼	115½
Inspir Cop	40¾	40¼	40¾
Int Har pr	11¾	11	11
Int Mer Mar	43⅜	43	43½
Int Mer Mar pr	15⅝	15½	15⅝
Int Paper	56⅛	56	56¼
Int P pr stpd	71⅝	71⅜	71⅝
Kennecott Cop	42⅞	43	43
Keystone Tire	9½	9¼	9¼
Lehigh Valley	69	68⅝	68⅝
Marlin Rockwell	15	14½	15
Maxwell Motor A	61⅜	61	61
Mexican Petrol	275	272	272
Miami C Cop	11⅞	11¾	11¾
Mo Pacific	18½	17⅞	18⅛
Mo Pac pr	47⅛	46⅝	46⅝
Nt End & St	73⅝	72	72
N Y Air Brake	38½	36¼	38¾
N Y Air Brake A	50	50	50
N Y Central	98⅝	98¼	98⅜
N Y N H & H	19⅝	19¼	19⅜
Nor & West	113¾	113¼	113¾
North Pacific	80	79¾	79¾
Pacific Oil	45⅞	45	45
Penn R R	46¾	46½	46⅝
Pierce Oil	4⅜	4⅜	4⅜
Pierce Oil pr	40	40	40
Ray Con C	15⅞	15½	15⅝
Reading	78⅞	78¼	78¼
Reading 1 pr	51	51	51
Reading 2 pr	52½	52¼	52½
Rep I & St	61⅞	61	61
Rep I & S pr	96	95½	96
South Pac	94¼	93⅝	93⅝
South Ry pr	69⅞	69⅜	69⅜
Tenn C & C	12⅝	12½	12⅝
Tobacco Prod A	83¾	82¾	84⅛
Tobacco Prod pr	111½	111½	111½
Tob Prod A	84¼	83¼	83¾
Union Pacific	142¼	142	142
U S Rubber	63	62¼	62¾
U S Rub 1 pr	104	103¾	104
U S Steel	168¾	167⅝	167¾
U S Steel pr	119⅞	119⅝	119⅞
West Pacific	18⅞	17⅞	18⅝
West Un Tel	116⅝	115¾	116
West Air Br	119¾	119¾	119¾
WWest Mfg	65⅜	64¼	64¼
Willys Ov	7⅜	7¼	7⅜
Willys Ov pr	52⅝	51¾	52
Worth P & M	36½	36¼	36¾

Metal Market

New York, March 15.—Copper ady. Electrolytic, spot and futures 17. Tin strong, spot and nearby 51.50; futures 51.25. Iron steady; prices unchanged. Lead steady. Spot 8.35 a 8.50. Zinc firm. East St. Louis spot and nearby delvery 7.85 a 7.95. Antimony, spot 3.75, a 3.87.

Money

New York, March 15.—Call money easier; high 5; low 4 1-2; ruling rate 5; closing bid 4 1-2; offered at 4 3-4; last loan 4 1-2; call loans against acceptances 4 1-2.

Cotton

New York, March 15.—Cotton-spot quiet; middling 31.95.

Bond Market

New York, March 15.—Chief interest in today's bond market was centered in the overnight announcement that the $400,000,000 offering of treasury certificates of indebtedness has been heavily oversubscribed. The $7,500,000 American Chain Company six per cent. debentures, offered today, also were absorbed quickly. Listed bonds moved irregularly within narrow limits in dealings on the New York stock exchange.

U. S. government bonds showed a tendency to sag, losses ranging from four to sixteen cents on $100. The victory 4 3-4s were up four cents. While French securities enjoyed a slight advance temporarily, the 8s receded fractionally before the close. Mexican 4s dropped 1 1-4 and the 5s, 1 3-4.

Railroad mortgages continued to be reactionary, Erie prior lien 4s, dropping 1 3-8, and St. Paul convertible 5s, "Katy" 6s, and the adjustment 6s, being down fractionally. Cuba railroad 7 1-2s and New Orleans, Texas & Mexico income 5s, each advanced one point. In the industrial group, Westinghouse Electric 7s were up one point, while Punta Alegere sugar 7s off 1 3-8, and Standard Oil of California, down 1 point, were the outstanding heavy spots.

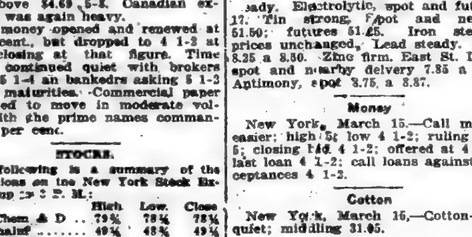
Total sales (par value) were $10,378,000.

Public offering at 99 1-4 to yield 6 5-8 per cent. was made today of $4,500,000 1 to 15 year 5 1-2 per cent.

A TRUE ECONOMY CAR

25 to 30 MILES PER GALLON

The Victor-Pagé Aero-Type Four



The wonderful air-cooled motor that propels this car is an exclusive design incorporating many distinctive patented features

AN AIR-COOLED CAR THAT DOES NOT OFFEND CONVENTION. THE MANY NEW PATENTED FEATURES GIVE MORE COMFORT, SAFETY, ECONOMY AND DURABILITY ALONG WITH A SIMPLICITY OF CONSTRUCTION THAT REDUCES UP-KEEP AND REPAIR COSTS TO A LOWER FIGURE THAN ANY AIR-COOLED CAR YET PRODUCED.

WRITE OR CALL FOR COMPLETE DETAILS

VICTOR PAGÉ MOTORS CORPORATION

218 THAYER BUILDING, NORWICH, CONN.

FACTORY STAMFORD, CONN.

UTILITY LINE FROM $650.00 AND UP

DEMONSTRATIONS GIVEN DAILY

From Thursday, March 15th to Monday, March 19th

THURSDAY	FRIDAY	SATURDAY
PLAINFIELD	OCCUM	WILLIMANTIC
MOOSUP	VERSAILLES	WINDHAM
CENTRAL VILLAGE	BALTIC	TAFTVILLE
WAUREGAN	NORWICH	NORWICH
DANIELSON		NEW LONDON
NORWICH

ASK FOR A DEMONSTRATION

Do not miss this chance of seeing the car with the many new PATENTED FEATURES. The greatest advance in Automobiles up till now. We want you to look them over—Ask Questions—Find out what makes them different. SEE US ON MAIN STREET wherever there is a crowd — that's where the PAGE AIR-COOLED CARS WILL BE!

TO BEGIN ON SALTS

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity — acid stomach—and not as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation; then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases, which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, while it is effervescing, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief often follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of stomach sufferers with excellent results.

Equipment trust certificates of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad company. The offering was authorized by the receiver of the company subject to the approval of the interstate commerce commission.

Liberty Bonds.

	Highest.	Low.	Close
U S Lib 3½s	101.18	101.66	101.06
U S Lib 1st 4¼s	98.08	97.92	98.00
U S Lib 2d 4¼s	97.98	97.98	97.86
U S Lib 3d 4¼s	97.98	97.98	97.86
U S Lib 4th 4¼s	98.50	98.30	98.40
U S Lib 4th 4¼s	98.08	97.94	98.00
Victory 4¾s	100.18	100.04	100.00
Treas. 4¼s	99.46	99.28	99.30

Quoted in dollars and cents per $100 bond.

Foreign Exchange.

With the exception of sterling all quotations are in cents per unit of foreign currency:

Sterling—	Yesterday.	Year Ago.
Demand	$4.68½	$4.34
Cables	4.68¾	4.34⅝
France	6.22	5.83
Guilders	39.40	37.60
Marks	.0048¼	.0365
Lire	4.81½	5.43
Swiss francs	18.57	19.40
Pesetas	15.37	15.55
Belgian francs	5.35	8.26
Kronen	.00114¼	.012
Sweden	26.57	25.00
Denmark	19.12	20.88
Norway	18.14	17.20
Greece	1.19¼	4.40
Argentina	37.00	31.40
Brazil	11.00	32.45

Chicago Grain Market

Chicago, March 15.—Wheat values averaged higher here the greater part of the day, a good class of buying late in the session, bringing about a reaction from an early decline which resulted from reports of favorable weather in sections of the winter wheat territory. The closing was heavy at a net loss of 1-8 to 1-2c with May $1.19 to 1.19 1-8 and July 1.14 3-8 to 1.14 1-2; corn was unchanged to 1-4c higher; oats advanced 1-4 a 3-8c and provisions to 17 1-2c up.

Beneficial rains over some dry sections of the winter wheat belt and a blizzard which struck western Kansas, where there has been considerable drought since last July, gave the wheat market an easy undertone start today. There was a good class of buying around 1.18 3-4 for May, the same as has been the case recently trade on the whole, however, was not large and the market connections bought moderately on the dips and when the market failed to break, shorts covered. In the final hour of trading, the market underwent another sinking spell of selling credited to southwestern acount.

Corn was under pressure most of the day. A few local traders bid up orn in the final trading and forced shorts to cover but some reaction was noted at the finish.

Oats held within narrow limits and in the main reflected the action of corn.

Provisions were influenced by the strength in hog values.

Chicago Grain Market.

	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
May	119⅞	118¾	119⅛
July	115⅛	114¼	114⅝
Sept.	113⅝	112⅝	113⅝
Corn—
May	74	73¼	73⅝
July	76¼	75⅛	75⅞
Sept.	77⅜	76⅛	76⅞
Oats—
May	44⅝	44⅜	44⅝
July	44⅜	44¼	44½
Sept	43	42⅝	43

Livestock Market

Chicago, March 15.—(U. S. department of agriculture)—Cattle receipts 13,000; beef steers uneven; weak to 15 lower; medium to good heavy shewing most decline; little change on desirable yearlings and handyweight steers; top natured steers 10.00, weight 1,575 pounds; several loads heavy steers 9.85; bulk beef steers 8.25 a 9.35; few head light mixed yearlings 10.00; best long yearlings in load lots 9.75; she stock fully steady; choice 660 heifers 7.40; few loads 7.75 a 8.00; bulls strong to 10c higher; veal calves largely 25c higher; stockers and feeders firm; bulk desirable veal calves to packers 8.50 a 10.50; upward to 12.50 to shippers; bulk stockers and feeders 6.50 a 8.00.

Hogs receipts 28,000; strong to 5c higher closed firm; bulk desirable 155 to 255 pound average 8.45 a 8.65, top 8.70; bulk 240 to 300 pounds butchers, 8.30 a 8.35; packing sows around 7.50; desirable pigs mostly 7.25 a 8.00; estimated holdover 12,000.

Sheep receipts 16,000; fat lambs steady to strong; top 14.60 to packers; city butchers and shippers; bulk desirable wooled lambs 14.10 a 14.50; clipped lambs largely 11.25 a 11.75; some fresh shorn up to 12.00; full clipped up to 13.50; practically no fed yearling wethers offered; sheep scarce, 3 loads 106 pound ewes 8.70; one load 102 pound wethers 8.75.

OCCUM REVOLVER CASE GOES OVER IN COURT

In the police court Thursday morning a Montville man paid a fine for drinking to excess. Two men who engaged in a melee in local eating house early Thursday morning settled matters by paying $2.15 each.

The case aginst Peter Delisle of Occum went over until March 17th, bonds being provided. The arrest was made by Constables Disco and Filliger on warrant sworn out by M. E. Antokol of 36 Pearl street, who claimed that Delisle had threatened him with a revolver.

For Today and Tuesday
Extraordinary Values In Living Room Suites

Presenting a Remarkable Opportunity For You to Choose from a Wonderfully Complete Assortment At Very Substantial Savings

3 Elegant Pieces Covered In Tapestry, Velour or Genuine Leather

Large, deep seated Davenport, low back Chair and high back Wing-Chair of full spring construction with spring pillow arms or roll arms. Of the best upholstering throughout, with removable spring cushions and covered in tapestry, genuine brown leather or beautiful brown velour $225.00

Three-Piece Bed-Davenport Suite Which Serves a Twofold Purpose

A roomy, comfortable Living Room Suite by day and at night the davenport can be quickly converted into a full size bed. The three pieces are of substantial oak construction, finished in golden. Backs and spring seats upholstered in excellent quality brown imitation leather $112.50

3-PIECE VELOUR OVERSTUFFED SUITE

Sofa, Arm Chair and Arm Rocker of spring construction with roll arms and removable spring cushions. Covered in fine quality beautiful blue velour..... $155

Three Pieces Upholstered in Genuine Leather

Built as you see it here with roll arms, spring seats, backs, edges and removable spring cushions. All three pieces—Sofa, Chair and Rocker—are roomy and unusually comfortable, the workmanship throughout guaranteeing life-long service and the utmost in comfort. Covered in genuine brown leather. A wonderful value at this price $195.00

3-PC. TAPESTRY OVERSTUFFED SUITE

Sofa, Arm Chair and Arm Rocker with spring seats, backs, edges and roll arms. Splendidly upholstered, with removable cushions and covered in durable tapestry of attractive pattern.... $137.50

3-Piece Suite With Mahogany Frames

Sofa, Arm Chair and Arm Rocker with backs and spring seats, covered in attractive tapestry or blue velour. Strongly made with mahogany frames, beautifully finished. SALE PRICE..... $85

3-Piece Suite With Mahogany Frames

Settee, Arm Chair and Arm Rocker with upholstered spring seats and slat backs. Sturdily built with richly finished mahogany frames. Just the thing for the small living room..... $72.50

Nine-Piece Dining Suite in Walnut

54-inch oblong table, 45-inch china closet, 48-inch buffet, one arm chair and five side chairs with genuine leather seats. A high grade suite of unusually fine workmanship, at a special low price. In the Queen Anne design, finished in American walnut.. $206.75

3-Pc. Bedroom Suite with Full Vanity

Three very attractive pieces in oak, beautifully finished in polished golden. Consists of bow-end bed, chiffonette and full vanity dressing table, embodying the best cabinet making throughout. You will be proud to own this suite and it's a wonderful value $153.00

BEAUTIFUL SILK SHADE Bridge Lamps

Regular $20.00 Value

$12.95

These Lamps have silk lined silk shades with silk fringe and mahogany shafts of attractive turned design. They are very popular because of their beauty and utility. Complete with cord and plug.

OVERSTUFFED CHAIR OR ROCKER

Of the fireside type with spring seat, spring back and roll arms. Deeply upholstered and covered in tapestry $37

The Best Place to Buy Your Victrola and Victor Records IS HERE!

The best service, the largest selection of Victor Records, the largest variety of Victrolas and the easiest terms make buying here safe, easy, pleasant and satisfactory.

Don't delay owning that Victrola — Investigate our easy terms.

We will deliver a complete Victrola outfit to your home for as little as $1.00 down as as little as $1.00 weekly.

ALL MODELS FOR $25 UP

Specials From the Jewelry Dep't

GENTLEMEN'S 17-JEWEL GOLD FILLED WATCH

Men's 17-Jewel Open Face Watch. Has beautiful gold-filled, plain or engraved case. $25.00

Ladies' 15-Jewel Gold Filled BRACELET WATCH

Convertible style, with beautiful gold filled case, fitted with dependable movement. Fine timekeeper, and fully warranted — SALE PRICE.... $25.00

25 PIECES COMMUNITY SILVER PLATED FLATWARE

6 knives, 6 forks, 6 teaspoons, 6 tablespoons, butter knife and sugar spoon. Plain pattern; heavily silver plated, and sold with 50-year replacement guarantee. In handsome lined case.. $12.75

INDESTRUCTIBLE PEARL NECKLACE

24-inch size, with gold clasp and graduated pearls of beautiful, creamy color. Guaranteed indestructible. In handsome lined case— $2.90

Victor Records for St. Patrick's Day

Killarney—Minstrel Boy—Where the River Shannon Flows—Sweet Genevieve—When Irish Eyes are Smiling—When I Met You—Mother Machree—Little Bit of Heaven—Medley of Irish Jigs—Medley of Irish Reels—Macushla—Sweet Inniscarra—(And the following by John McCormack)—Mother Machree—My Wild Irish Rose—My Irish Song of Songs—That Tumble Down Shack in Athlone.

MAIN STREET NORWICH

The Plaut-Cadden Co.

BANK STREET NEW LONDON

Bulletin Want Advertisements Will Sell It

DIED

Bulletin, Norwich (Conn.), Fri., March 14, 1924. 9

COOK—In Preston, March 14, 1923, Annie T. Cook, aged 58 years.

MARRIED

WESCOTT — TOLSON—In Preston, March 12, by Rev. S. S. Robbins, Norman L. Wescott of Norwich and Miss Elizabeth Tolson of Plainfield.

DIED

COOK—In Preston, March 14, 1923, Annie T. Cook, aged 58 years.

FUNERAL NOTICES

GRIFFITH—In Preston, March 13, 1923, John Griffith.

Funeral at his late home on Saturday morning, March 17, at 9 o'clock. Requiem mass in the Sacred Heart church at Norwich Town at 9 o'clock. Interment in St. Mary's cemetery, Greeneville.

GURSKAIS—In Plainfield, March 14, 1923, John Joseph Gurskais.

Funeral at his late home in Plainfield Saturday, March 17, at 8.30 a. m. Requiem high mass at St. John's church at 9 o'clock. Burial in St. Ann's cemetery, Crumhill, R. I.

BROWN—In Colchester, March 14, 1923, Nancy Leonard Brown widow of Joel T. Brown, aged 81 years, 11 months. Funeral Saturday at 2 o'clock at the home of her son, F. C. Brown, Colchester.

HOLMES—In Montville (Palmertown), March 13, 1923, Thomas Holmes, aged 69 years.

Funeral at his late home in Palmertown, Saturday afternoon, March 17, at 2.30 o'clock. Buried in Comstock cemetery.

BRENNAN—In Danielson, March 14, 1923, Miss Elizabeth J. Brennan, aged 69 years.

Funeral at her home in Danielson Saturday morning at 8.30 o'clock, with services at St. Joseph's church at 9 o'clock.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the relatives and friends for the many kind acts and expressions of sympathy during the illness and death of our husband and father, John Newton. We are also deeply grateful to those who sent flowers, especially Court Wequonnoc No. 83, F. of A.

MRS. JOHN NEWTON.
MR. AND MRS. MARTIN WORLIKEN
MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR NEWTON.

Church & Allen
49 MAIN STREET
FUNERAL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS
Lady Assistant
HENRY E. CHURCH
WM. SMITH ALLEN
Telephone 682-3

CUMMINGS & RING
Funeral Directors and Embalmers
322 Main Street
Phone 216-2 Lady Assistant

GAGER
FUNERAL DIRECTOR AND EMBALMER
PROMPT SERVICE—DAY OR NIGHT

The Henry Allen & Son Co,
50 MAIN STREET
Funeral Directors and Embalmers
Lady Assistant Telephone 419-3
DAVID H. WILSON

Shea & Burke
Funeral Directors
41 Main Street

GEORGE G. GRANT
UNDERTAKER AND EMBALMER
Tel. 1366 Providence St., Taftville.

HOURIGAN BROS.
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
Norwich and Jewett City

FLORISTS

FERNS, flowering shrubs, plants and cut flowers. Maplewood Nursery Co. Tel. 914-2. Free delivery. April4

TRUCKING

GEORGE LAMBERT — Moving and trucking, sanding, trucks for hire. 21 Cliff St. or Depot. Tel. 617-12. jn24

Est. 1876. Tel. 136.
ARTHUR H. LATHROP
Auto Trucking and Teaming. Furniture and Piano Moving.
Spetucket St.

C. H. SOELYN, 373 West Main St. We move everything anywhere. Special attention given to moving boilers and machinery. Tel. 1288-3. nov8d

Long Distance Moving and Expressing. Zimmerman, 17 Boswell Ave. Tel. 1241.

TEAMING and moving, long distance trucking a specialty. John J. Ford, 225 Main St. Phone 792.

C. H. SHEFFLEY & SON,
Shetucket St. Phone 122.
LONG DISTANCE MOVING.

PAINT AND WALLPAPER

ORDERS taken for New Haven Wall Paper Co. Call and see samples. Mrs. A. M. Kennedy, 50 Union St. mar14WF6

JOHN F. AMBUEN & CO., painting, paperhanging and decorating; estimates cheerfully furnished. 196 Laurel Hill Ave. mar15d

CHAIN WALLPAPER CO., 21 Willow St., near Broadway Theatre; 10c, 12c, 15c. Sample in combination new book of ideas. T. E. McClenathan, Mgr. Ja23d

FOR SALE—Paint, $1.85 per gal., Varnish $3.50 grade; wallpaper, 10c per roll. Miss Bisgar, 123 West Main St., next to Eye Station. mar9d

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

IMMEDIATE LOANS

To the great number of honest people who need credit to pay overdue debts or to give their families opportunities they otherwise could not have. We lend up to $300 at legal rates on home furniture without removal, repayable in convenient installments. Our aid is immediate and confidential.

CALL, WRITE, OR PHONE 1-6-6-4.

Beneficial Loan Society
16 STATE STREET
NEW LONDON, CONN.

PRINTING

PRINTING of all kinds promptly and [illegible] The Bulletin Co.

Bulletin Want Advertisements Will Get It

WANTED—Male

WANTED—Salesmen to solicit orders for upholstering, also trimmers and helper; salary or commission. Address Box 1441, Norwich, Conn. mar16d

WANTED—Second hand furniture; highest prices paid. Norwich Furniture Co., 6 Main St. Telephone 1914-5. mar15d

WANTED—Truck driver. Apply H. P. Wentworth Coal, Wharf St. mar15d

WANTED—Man to take care of furnace and house and do chores. Apply 26-4 Washington Ter. mar16d

WANTED—Painters and machinists on gasoline engines. Apply Eastern Boat Co., Niantic, Conn. mar16d

WANTED—Man to take care of furnace and house and do chores. Apply 26-4 Washington Ter. mar16d

WANTED—Man to milk cows on farm; steady employment. Apply Thomas Bank and Pearl Sts., Mohegan. mar16d

WANTED—Man to take charge of gasoline engine and pump. Apply Wm. Cummings Co., Willimantic, Conn. mar16d

WANTED—Men to work in mill; steady employment. Apply Wm. Cummings Co., Willimantic, Conn. mar16d

WANTED—Men to work in mill; steady employment. Apply Wm. Cummings Co., Willimantic, Conn. mar16d

WANTED—Man to milk cows on farm

RAIN, WARMER TODAY; CLOUDY, COLD TOMORROW

The Bulletin

Norwich, Friday, March 14, 1924.

THE WEATHER.

Conditions.

The storm that was central over New Mexico Wednesday night has moved rapidly northeastward, and its center was over the middle Mississippi valley Thursday night. It has been attended by strong shifting winds and by precipitation almost generally between the Rocky and the Appalachian mountains. Pressure was abnormally high Thursday night off the north Atlantic coast, and it was high and rising over the southern Rocky mountain region, but it was again falling rapidly over the far northwest.

The storm over the middle west will move rapidly northeastward attended by rain and strong shifting winds and probably gales almost generally Friday in the Atlantic and east gulf states, Tennessee, the Ohio valley and the lower lake region. It will be preceded by rising temperature in the middle Atlantic and north Atlantic states Friday, and it will be followed by a change to much colder weather which will overspread the Ohio valley, Tennessee and the east gulf states Friday and Friday night and the Atlantic states and the lower lake region Friday night and Saturday.

Generally fair weather will prevail in the Washington forecast district Saturday, except that local snow flurries are probable in the lower lake region.

Storm warnings are displayed on the east gulf coast from Bay Saint Louis, Miss., to Cedar Keys, Fla., and on the Atlantic coast from Jacksonville, Fla., to Eastport, Me.

Winds.

North of Sandy Hook, Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Strong southeast and south winds and gales; overcast thick weather and rain Friday.

Forecast.

For Southern New England: Rain and warmer Friday; Saturday cloudy and colder.

Observations in Norwich.

The Bulletin's observations show the following changes in temperature and barometric changes Thursday:

	Ther.	Bar.
7 a. m.	24	30.00
12 m.	36	29.86
6 p. m.	28	30.79

Highest 36, lowest 26.

Comparisons.

Predictions for Thursday: Increasing cloudiness, followed by snow.

Thursday's weather: Fair; continued cool; southwest wind.

SUN, MOON AND TIDES.

	Sun		High Water	Moon
	Rises.	Sets.		Rises.
Day.	a. m.	p. m.	a. m.	a. m.
13	6.07	5.49	5.30	7 8.50
14	6.05	5.50	6.12	8 9.51
15	6.04	5.51	7.09	10 2.51
16	6.02	5.52	8.00	11 4.28
17	6.00	5.54	8.46	5.05
18	5.59	5.55	9.25	5.56
19	5.57	5.56	10.03	Sets.

Six hours after high water it is low water, which is followed by flood tide.

TAFTVILLE

The funeral of John Newton was held at his late home on Norwich avenue Thursday afternoon, Rev. Edwin G. Crowdis, pastor of the Taftville Congregational church, officiating. The bearers were William Brown, Allan Bogle, William Smith and Thomas Addison, all members of Court Wequonnoc, No. 88, Foresters of Aspetuck, of which organization the deceased was a member. The many beautiful floral forms included: Pillow, wife; wreath, Arthur Newton and Martin Wehrlstein wreath, grandchildren; spray, Miss Holmes; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brooks; spray, Miss Mercer; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sidebottom; standing wreath, Court Wequonnoc, No. 88, F. of A. Among the out of town people attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hadfield of Pawtucket, Mr. and Mrs. William Wood and daughter of New Bedford, Mass., Mrs. Jennie Coloney and Miss Alice Bridge of Pawtucket, and Mrs. Mercer and Miss Holmes of Plainfield. Burial was in Maplewood cemetery, Norwich, where Rev. Mr. Crowdis read the committal service. Undertaker George G. Grant had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Albert J. Aberg is confined to her home on North A street by an attack of grip.

Members of the English-speaking Children of Mary society, the Rosary society and the Ladies' auxiliary, A. O. H., who are holding a turkey supper Saturday evening, met Thursday evening to arrange the final details.

The Dramatic club met Thursday evening in the parlors of the Taftville Congregational church.

William Delaney of South A street has accepted a position in Springfield, Mass.

Thursday being the final day for the filing of income tax returns, there was a rush of village people to Norwich to consult the deputy collector of internal revenue.

Percy Miner of Providence street, who has been laid up with grip, is able to return to his work.

The Thursday evening basketry class met this week in the Red Cross rooms in the Ponemah building.

Mrs. Arthur Letender of Norwich spent Thursday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lambert, of North B street.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Laramie of Plainfield are the guests of Mr. Laramie's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Smith, of North B street.

A number of automobile owners, now that April 1st is drawing nigh and spring weather is here, are sending in their applications for registration. Several local people have purchased new cars this spring. Marbles and tops have appeared for some time now and kites are being flown by all the small boys in town. A local gardener in commiting his diary found that last year at this time he was setting out plants and shrubbery. A flock of robins was noted in the village both Wednesday and Thursday, and Mrs. Victoria Jacques Plante captured a small white butterfly that had flown through the window of her millinery shop this week.

Mrs. Earle M. Weed of North Third avenue spent Thursday with her sister, Mrs. Floyd Parish, of Hartford.

Announcements are being received in town of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sullivan of Cleveland, O. Mrs. Sullivan was before her marriage Miss Annie Hemzler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gottlieb Hemzler of Massasoit avenue.

Dr. Martin E. Mullen of Hunter's avenue has purchased a new Cleveland coach.

Piles

Can't Be Cured From the Outside.

Internal treatments seldom cure Piles.

Many do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through the stagnant parts. Internal treatment is the same safe method.

L. S. Leonhardt, M. D., for at work seven years says to find a real Internal Pile remedy. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEMO-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEMO-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It's easy to take, and comes always by famed at Lee & Osgood's, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

GETS WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION FOR LOSING HALF SIGHT OF ONE EYE

Finding that Guiseppe Miehl, 56, 653 Bank street, New London, an employe on June 7, 1918 of the New London water and sewer department of New London, has lost 50 per cent. of the usefulness of his left eye by an accident on that date, Commissioner J. J. Donahue has awarded him workmen's compensation at $9.00 per week for 52 weeks. Payments up to August 14 have already been made so that rate under an agreement of Aug. 7, covered payments since Sept. 5 are to be made at once in a lump sum and weekly thereafter during the remainder of the 52-week period.

Since last September various examinations have been made and medical treatment administered in an endeavor to correct the vision to the fullest extent possible and at the time of the hearing, March 9, it was found that the eye had reached the maximum amount of improvement, although the eye specialists treating the claimant and estimating percentage of loss of vision at this time expect that still further improvement may result.

The workmen's compensation claim of Frank Rajashewski, of No. Main street, Jewett City, against the Aspinook Co., of that place has been dismissed and disallowed because of the claimant's failure to appear in person or by a representative at the time a hearing was set for March 9 at the compensation commissioner's office in Norwich.

PROVISIONS OF BILL FOR SOLDIER BONUS

The following is the bill before the Connecticut legislature for the soldier bonus from the state:

An act in recognition of the patriotic services of residents of the state who served in the army, navy or marine corps of the United States during the war.

Section 1—There shall be paid to each officer or enlisted man and army and navy nurse duly recognized as such by the war or navy department, who was commissioned or mustered into the federal service, and reported for active duty on or after April 6, 1917, and prior to November 11, 1918, and each officer, enlisted man or nurse who enlisted or was enrolled in, or was mustered into the federal service and who had been called and reported for active duty in the United States army, navy or marine corps, and United States coast guard, after said April 6, 1917, and prior to said November 11, 1918, and any man who served during said period in the regular army, navy or marine corps and who was at the time of entry into said service a bona fide resident of the state of Connecticut the sum of ten dollars for each and every month or major fraction thereof in such service subsequent to April 6, 1917, and prio to November 11, 1919.

Section 2—In the case of the decease of any person who would if alive be entitled to the benefits under this act, the aforesaid sum shall be paid to his dependents, if any, and otherwise to his heirs at law; provided, if there be more than one dependent or heir at law, payments shall in either case be made in such proportions as the soldiers bonus board shall determine in determining the order or precedence so far as practicable the following order shall be observed: Wife, children, mother, father, sister, brother and other dependents. No rights to payment under this act and no payments under this act shall be subject to the claims of creditors, capable of assignment, recarded as assets legal or equitable of the estate of the deceased, or made the basis for the administration thereof.

Section 3—No person shall be eligible for any benefit under this act who shall have received a dishonorable discharge from the service of the United States of (2) shall have deserted from the service of the United States, or (3) shall have received a soldier's bonus or payment from any other state or who shall have on file an application for th esame, or (4) who by reason of conscientious objections served in a non-combatant capacity, or (5) who have been guilty of fraud or wilful evasion of the selective service act or the rules or regulations of the war department in force thereunder, (6) whose actual service in the army, navy, marine corps or nurse corps was less than sixty days.

Section 4—Whoever knowingly makes a false statement, oral or written, relating to a material fact in supporting a claim under the provisions of this act, shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars or imprisoned for not more than one year or both. Offenses under this section shall be prosecuted by the attorney general.

Section 5—No woman other than an army or navy nurse shall be entitled to receive any benefit under this act excepting as a dependent or heir at law of the deceased person who if alive would be entitled to benefits under this act.

NON-SUIT ENTERED IN $100,000 ALIENATION CASE

Motion for a non-suit was allowed in the superior court at New London Thursday by Judge C. G. Avery in the $10,000 suit of Thomas J. Pfeiffer against his father-in-law, Sergeant A. C. Matthews, for alienation of the affections of Mr. Pfeiffer's wife, who is Sergeant Matthews' adopted daughter.

Pfeiffer claims that on March 21, 1921, Matthews enticed Mrs. Pfeiffer to Matthews' home and has been detaining her without his consent and that her love and affection has been alienated from her husband.

The case was on the assignment list of the superior court and when it was called for trial Attorneys Brown and Haines of Norwich, counsel for the plaintiff, were not on hand, and Attorney George C. Morgan, for the defendant, asked for a non-suit, and Judge Avery entered the judgment.

ARM CAUGHT IN GEARS AT YANTIC WOOLEN MILL

Arthur Rogers, aged 16 years, employed at the Yantic Mill of the American Woolen company was painfully injured Thursday afternoon about 2 o'clock when his left arm became caught in the gears of his machine. The flesh on the forearm was torn down to the muscle and that on the arm was also badly torn.

Dr. Clarence D. Thompson was summoned and took Rogers in his car and on the way to the hospital met the ambulance and transferred his patient. At the hospital the injury was treated. It is believed that the arm can be saved. Rogers, however, will be laid up for about two months, because of his injuries.

Y. M. C. A. BIBLE CLASS DISCUSSED SABBATH QUESTION

On Wednesday evening at the weekly session of the local Y. M. C. A. Bible class, the topic for discussion was, "My Attitude Toward the Sabbath," and the scripture used was Mark 2:23 to Mark 3:7. Among other points brought out were the following:

At first the Jewish authorities carped little for the new sect headed by Jesus, but as the number of followers of the Nazarine increased, they became jealous and inasmuch as they had always been the center of authority, when a new teacher with a new authority appeared and continued to gain adherents, they determined to put a stop to it. This spirit is abroad today for it has always been difficult for a man who believes himself to have the only right ideas to admit that others have better ideas. The Jewish leaders of Christ's day stuck to the letter of the law, while Jesus followed the spirit, and consequently his teachings cut deeper into life; for instance they construed the law, "Thou shalt not commit adultery" to mean that unless they were guilty of the very act they lived up to the requirements, but Jesus, interpreting the spirit of the law, said, "whosoever shall look upon to lust" hath already committed adultery. He realized that "the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life."

It is supposed that the Jewish leaders held conferences as to what should be done with this new teacher, and they sent out what might be called detectives to watch Him and to dog His steps, so that when his decipes on the Sabbath plucked the corn they at once accused them of breaking the law of the Sabbath; they called plucking corn reaping and when the decipes rubbed the corn between their hands to get the chaff out they called that threshing, thus showing how unreasonable they were in their interpretation of the law. Jesus did not Himself pluck the corn, but He readily made the cause of His decipes' His own as He always did. Jesus demonstrated His aptness in argument when He referred them to David, whom they revered, reminding them that He on one occasion ate the shewbread, which was according to their narrow interpretation, a sin. This argument put them to silence and He finally told them that "the Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath." This statement however, does not permit us to do as we please on God's Holy day, though many are doing just this and consequently the Sabbath has almost become a holiday instead of a holy day.

To the question, "What is the Saben in the class, but they all agreed that a man on the Sabbath should look out for his highest interests and his highest interests are his soul interests. No man can look out for his own best interest unless he is looking out for the interests of others; the seeking for selfish pleasure on the Sabbath is not contributing to one's own interests nor the interests of others.

The closing question in the class was, "What attitude would Jesus take toward the Sunday movies, the Sunday newspapers, Sunday baseball, etc. etc.? In the discussion of this question the general opinion was that He would not favor these things, therefore His followers should abstain. It was suggested that while certain practices might not do us harm, there is a danger that our influence will harm others.

STEAMER CAPE COD HAS BEEN HAULED OFF ROCKS

The Norwich office of the Thames River Line received word Thursday that the steamer Cape Cod had been hauled off the rocks at Orient Point, near Greenport, L. I., where she went aground in a fog early Wednesday morning. She was on her way to Norwich from New York and was headed for Greenport where she makes a stop on every trip. The boat had no passengers on this trip.

A wrecking crew from New London, with a diver, went to work on the boat as soon as possible, a hole in her bow was patched up and she was hauled off and towed to New York for repairs. The boat will be put back into service as soon as possible. Meanwhile the other freight boat which the Thames River Line operates, the John M. Worth, will continue the service.

The spot where the vessel ran ashore contained 12 feet of water. The 50-ton cargo on the boat was not damaged by water.

The Cape Cod is 151 feet in length, has a 32.1 beam and 12.5 depth, and was built in Essex, Mass., in 1900.

PRESENT CLAIMS FOR ALEXANDER LAKE FISHING

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, March 14.—A hearing was given today before the committee on fish and game of the question of opening Alexander lake in the town of Killingly to the public for fishing. It was stated that the lake abounds in edible fish which the public is not allowed to take out.

The bill asks that fishing may be allowed there three days in the week—Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

The bill was supported by Representatives Keith and Duvert of Putnam, J. Fred Ashe of Pomfret, Dr. F. H. Hutchins of Pomfret and Munyon of Thompson, Walter Bryden of Pomfret, John F. Carpenter of Putnam, and Representative Merrill of Bristol.

Mr. Carpenter stated that the lake had been stocked by the state. The Goodyear company, which controls the Williamsville Water company, has assumed control of the lake, while owning only about one hundred feet of the lake front, and has posted the shores, prohibiting fishing. At the same time under the 1919 statute the company has issued permits to a favored few and the general public is excluded.

Representative Merrill favored the bill on general principles. The state had provided the fish, the public should be allowed to use them.

Dr. Hutchins said that the large number of cows pasturing on the shores of the lake and the horse and stables caused far more pollution than it was possible for the fishes seen to produce.

Henry E. Back of Danielson appeared in opposition on the part of the Goodyear company. This company has control of the waters under a charter given in 1881. Use of the water for domestic use began in 1893. He claimed that the prohibition was for the health of the public. This lake should not be exempted from the provisions of the 1919 law, and other sources of domestic supply still remain under the provisions.

It was brought out that a number of water supply companies in other parts of the state granted permission for fishing under proper restrictions. The water is delivered one and one-half miles below the source of supply, and is carried by a six-inch pipe.

Mr. Carpenter also called attention to the fact that the Goodyear company owning a very small amount of the shore, cut out the adjoining owners.

Mr. Back was subjected to a sharp examination on his claims.

POINTS OUT MAN HE SAYS SOLD HIM LIQUOR

Benjamin Gromko, 4, who runs a restaurant on Sixth street near North Main street, was arrested there Thursday afternoon by Officers Casey, Delaney and Smith after a Taftville youth had pointed him out as the man who sold him liquor. Later Gromko gave bail for his appearance in court.

Charles Chappell and Charles Laporte, both of Taftville and both 20 years old, were arrested for intoxication on Washington street near Fanning avenue, after a resident of the neighborhood had reported them to the police. Officers Delaney and Smith made the arrests and when the two were brought to police headquarters they told that they had got their liquor at Gromko's.

One of the men was taken along to identify Gromko when the police went to arrest him.

NEW TROLLEY FARE RATE WILL BEGIN ON APRIL 1

When the first of April arrives trolley passengers who ride on the cars of the Connecticut Co., in this state will begin to get the benefit of a 7 1-2 cent fare instead of the present fare of 8 1-2 cents.

On and after April 1st the metal tokens or tickets which are now sold three for 25 cents will be sold at the rate of two for 15 cents.

Tickets may be purchased at the company's offices or at regular agencies in lots of twelve for ninety cents, twenty-four for $1.80 and sixty for $4.50 and from conductors either two for fifteen cents or four for thirty cents. In order that they may have a supply available at all times, conductors are not required to sell more than four tickets at one time.

SETTLEMENT IN SUIT FOR INJURIES BY AUTO

The case of Blanche A. Fontaine of Norwich against the Continental Sugar & Products Co. of New Haven, which was scheduled for trial before Judge Christopher L. Avery and a jury in the superior court in New London Thursday, was settled. The plaintiff claimed that on March 5, 1921, she was struck and severely injured by an automobile owned by the defendant and driven by John R. Tierney of New Haven, while crossing the road in the village of Occum.

Vegetable Specialist Gives Instruction.

In the farm bureau office Wednesday evening Mr. Wilkinson, extension vegetable specialist of Connecticut Agricultural college, led a discussion, illustrated with slides on starting early plants.

Growers in the vicinity derive much benefit from these timely and instructive lectures.

The market growers are to continue their advertising campaign the coming years and the planting of the first seeds this month is significant of the active season.

Next Monday evening the topic will be grading and packing vegetables.

Deep River.—It is understood that a cargo of coal will be sent here soon. At present the local supply is exhausted and many residents are without fuel.

Our STYLISH CLOTHES will make you feel proud

Do not put off buying your new Spring clothes. Now is the time to buy them so you will enjoy them for a long time.

We are ready to show you our NEW SPRING CLOTHES. We know you will find a suit to please you in color and pattern and we can fit you to a "T."

And the price will be "down-right" low for the "up-right" quality.

See our new Spring Hats and Furnishings.

Wear our good, "Nifty" Clothes.

QUINN & DESMOND

283 MAIN STREET PHONE 1375

ELOPERS WED AFTER ELOPEMENT AND MARRIED IN SECRET

Napoleon J. Turcotte of 115 Central avenue and Miss Elizabeth Tatro of Fitchville, 19 years old, daughter of Mrs. Arthur Cotnoir, eloped Tuesday and were married that evening in Preston by Rev. Frank S. Robbins at his home in Preston City.

The couple traveled by automobile to the Preston town clerk's where they obtained a marriage license, each being named in the license as a resident of Preston the groom's age given at 22 and the bride's at 21. They were unattended when they reached the magistrate and immediately after the ceremony they drove away in the machine in which they had come.

Mrs. Tatro had had the police of New London and Norwich on the lookout for the couple ever since Tuesday evening, when she notified police headquarters that her daughter was missing from home and that she feared she had gone away to marry Turcotte.

Thursday it was learned by the Norwich police that the couple had been seen in this city and the information was that they might be at the theatre. Watch was kept for them, but they were not found.

MARRIAGE OF PRINCESS YOLANDA TO BE APRIL 9

Rome, March 15 (By the A. P.)—The marriage of Princess Yolanda, eldest daughter of King Victor Emmanuel, to Count Calvi Di Bergolo, has been definitely fixed for April 9. The civil ceremony will be performed in the large hall of the royal palace, and the religious ceremony in the Pauline chapel within the quirinal. The date will not be changed, it is stated, in the event of the death of former Queen Milena of Montenegro, the bride's grandmother, who is gravely ill at Antibes, France.

Princess Yolanda and her fiance, accompanied by Duke Borea D'Olmo, prefect of the royal palace, today visited the hall and the chapel giving instructions as to the arrangements for the two ceremonies.

It is the custom for brides of the House of Savoy to give presents to their girl friends. Yolanda is giving jumpers made by herself, in each case remembering the special tastes and favorite color of the recipient. In thus giving her time and interest she felt that her gifts would be much more acceptable than jewels or other purchased articles.

All the members of the royal family are expected to be in Rome for the wedding. Premier Mussolini will act as notary of the crown, and Tomasso Tittoni, president of the senate, will actually perform the civil marriage.

PROTEST KING GEORGE CALLING ON POPE PIUS

Winnipeg, March 15.—The Grand Lodge of Manitoba, at its 51st annual session today, adopted a resolution setting forth that King George had been ill advised if he seriously considered calling on Pope Pius on his proposed visit to Italy this spring, and protesting against what was termed much unconstitutional action.

The resolution, ordered forwarded to the secretary of state for foreign affairs, was adopted after the City of London, No. 45 had circularized every grand lodge in the world, asking them to protest against what it alleged was "an outrage upon the Protestant constitution and liberties of the English-speaking nation.

"Under the bill of rights," said today's resolution, "our crown is banned from holding any communion with the See of Church of Rome, and these are not the days in which constitutional safeguards ought to be flouted.

"Moreover we must earnestly, emphatically and unanimously add our

MAGICAL BEAUTIFIERS FOR WOMEN

Women everywhere are trying all kinds of beautifiers, only to find that their effects are transitory. The first requisite of beauty is health. Without it the eyes lag, eyes are lusterless, dark circles appear beneath them, the complexion becomes sallow, and almost invariably the underlying cause is some ailment peculiar to women. There is a very inexpensive remedy for this condition in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for nearly fifty years has been relieving women from some of the worst forms of female ills. Why not let it restore you to health and beauty and the joys of living.

If house windows had three panes of glass, an inch apart occupants would be warmer in winter and cooler in summer.

COLCHESTER

The eighth grade of the Center grammar school has just received 40 certificates of penmanship from Harry Houston, supervisor of writing, in New Haven. The number including 90 per cent. of the class.

Henry West has purchased the Slayton residence on Mill street. The purchase price was $4,000.

Bernard Connors of Naugatuck is in town for a few days, having been called here by the death of his grandmother, Mrs. Fred J. Hudson.

Judge Buell is confined to his home on South Main street with influenza.

Eugene Beebe, clerk in the local postoffice, is sick with influenza.

Joseph Londen motored to Norwich Tuesday.

C. F. McIntosh left town Thursday morning for a few days' visit with his niece in New London.

E. H. McCall of Lebanon was calling on friends in town Wednesday.

A large crowd attended the auction sale of horses at the Mike Levine farm, one mile from the village, on the New London turnpike. Several out of town buyers were present.

Irving Horowitz motored to Willimantic Tuesday.

David Gilmore of Providence and Robert Gilmore of New Haven were in town calling on their sister, Miss Helen Gilmore, on Norwich avenue, who is seriously sick with pneumonia.

At the annual meeting of the Colchester Chamber of Commerce the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, A. T. Van Cleve; vice president, Frederick O. Brown; secretary, Fred E. Baker; treasurer, Dr. A. L. Stebbins; directors, John Condren, Pincus Cutler, Samuel L. Sterg, Leon Broder and Joseph Agranovitch. It was voted that the meeting go on record as being opposed to the new rates in residential lighting.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY AND THEIR 80TH BIRTHDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Marsh, the latter celebrated the gathering of relatives, friends and former neighbors Wednesday evening at their home, 181 Peck street, in observance of their 52d wedding anniversary, also the 78th birthday anniversary of their eldest son, Ralph Henry Marsh. There were 35 or more present.

Among the relatives present were Mrs. Marsh's father, Henry Crosk, of Maine, who has been passing several weeks at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, also Mr. and Mrs. Hugh MacDonald, the latter a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marsh. The evening was devoted to whist and music. The hostess served delicious cake, ice cream and punch to the guests, who in turn presented Mr. and Mrs. Marsh one-half dozen silver spoons. Ralph Marsh was also remembered with birthday gifts.

The Marsh family moved to Peck street a little over two years ago from Norwich Town, where for several years they were esteemed neighbors and friends with those within the circle where they resided.

QUICKLY HEALS SORES AND CONQUERS PILES

Also Stops Itching of Eczema Almost Instantaneously.

"Peterson's Ointment Co., Buffalo, N. Y.—I want to tell you how much I do love Peterson's Ointment for the good it has done me. My sore was on my left leg, was 4 1-2 inches by 2 1-2 inches wide—is all healed up beautifully now, and then too it was so soothing, such a relief. I can't say enough praise for the good it has done me and will say a good word in your salve's favor. Very truly yours, Miss Mate Kull, Sigel, Ill.

"I'd rather get a letter like that," says Peterson of Buffalo, "than have John D. Rockefeller give me a thousand dollars. It does me a lot of good to be able to be of use to my fellow man.

"For years I have been selling through druggists a large box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT for 35 cents. The healing power in this ointment is marvelous. Eczema goes in a few days. Old sores heal up like magic; piles that other remedies do not seem to even relieve are speedily conquered."

It stops chafing in five minutes and for scalds and burns it is simply wonderful.

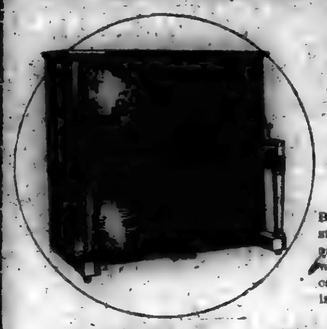
THE PLAUT-CADDEN CO.

Remarkable Values In Guaranteed Upright And Player-Pianos

If you contemplate purchasing an Upright or Player-Piano, by all means see these exceptional offers before you decide. They represent the utmost in piano value and are guaranteed to give long, perfect satisfaction in every way.

NEW 88-NOTE UPRIGHTS,

WITH FREE STOOL, SCARF AND DELIVERY



$245

TERMS ONLY

$2.00 WEEKLY

NO INTEREST

Beautiful, sweet-toned instruments with splendid action. Designed and built with the utmost skill and care. Rich mahogany finish.

88-NOTE PLAYER-PIANO

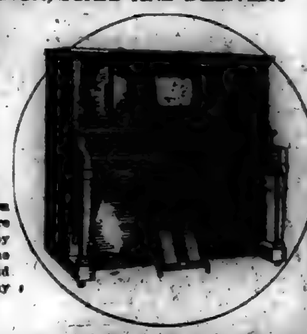
WITH FREE BENCH, SCARF AND DELIVERY

$325

TERMS ONLY

$3.00 WEEKLY

NO INTEREST



These Players have been very slightly used, but are in perfect condition. They are equipped with all the modern player devices and have beautiful mahogany cases.

We Invite You to Come in and Hear The AMPICO in the Chickering

Reproduce in All Its Perfection the Playing of the World's Greatest Pianists. It Is a Musical Treat to Hear This Marvelous Instrument.

The Plaut-Cadden Co.

EVERYTHING IN MUSIC AND EVERYTHING FOR THE HOME

135-143 Main Street (Established 1872) Norwich, Conn.

Norwich Bulletin

VOL. LXV.—No. 66 POPULATION 29,685 NORWICH, CONN., SATURDAY, MARCH 17, 1923 12 PAGES—6 COLUMNS PRICE TWO CENTS

LABOR TROUBLE IN TEXTILE INDUSTRY TO BE WIDESPREAD

Workers in Lawrence Are Ready to Line Up With Those in Fall River For a Ultimatum of a Wage Advance or Strike—Membership in Fall River 36,000, in Lawrence 32,000—At Fall River There Is No Indication of An Agreement on Arbitration — President McMahon Has Been Authorized to Call a Strike At Any Time—April 2 Is Set as the Date When Wage Increase Should Be Effective.

Boston, March 16.—The movement for a wage advance to textile operatives in New England, of whom there are 360,000, gathered strength today with formal demand by the Fall River Textile council for an increase of 15 per cent. That center of 36,000 workers, employed in eleven cotton mills, now stands doubly committed to a wage raise demand, the United Textile Workers of America having asked a 29 per cent. increase there some weeks ago.

Although indications have been that other mill centers would allow the issue of mere pay to be fought out through a strike in Fall River, for which both Textile council and United Textile Workers' leaders have authority, word came from Lawrence that the United Textile Workers' membership there was ready to line up with Fall River for an ultimatum of a wage advance or strike. Lawrence employs some 32,000 persons on woolens worsteds and cottons. Demands for higher wages will also be made in Fitchburg, a woolen and worsted center, it was announced. Lowell and Manchester, N. H., were among the centers which indicated that they would hold their hands until events had shaped themselves in Fall River.

The Textile council of the latter city, in making its demand on the Fall River Manufacturers' association today, set April 2 as the date when the increase should be effective, but asked for a conference on the matter at an early date. The executive committee of the mills' owners, who have previously declared they would close the mill gates and suspend operations rather than grant an advance that they say the mills cannot afford, considered the demand, but made no reply.

The United Textile Workers have authorized President Thomas F. McMahon to call a strike at any time, but he announced from New York today that he would try to arrange a conference between mill workers and manufacturers at Fall River Sunday before taking strike action. The New England conference board of the U. T. W. is scheduled to meet in Boston that day, but it was expected the scene of this meeting would be changed to Fall River and the situation in this section considered and a general policy decided upon.

Efforts of the state board of conciliation and arbitration, through Agent Fred M. Knight, to bring the contending parties at Fall River together have developed no indication of an agreement on arbitration. The contest between the Textile council and the U. T. W. for control of the situation there, which will now be waged with varying demands, for the advance as the issue of the jurisdictional struggle, has complicated the situation. Agent Knight said the board stood ready to lend its aid in any form that the parties to the dispute might decide. Along with the demands for advance in pay today came announcement from the Germania mills at Holyoke and the Hadley mills at South Hadley Falls, both textile plants, of wage increases of 10 per cent.

The Ludlow Manufacturing association, employing about 6,000 persons, and the Plymouth Cordage company, which has about 1,200 operatives engaged in work somewhat resembling that in the textile centers now considering wage demands, have granted increases of about 10 per cent. in recent strikes.

KU KLUX KLAN TO BREAK SUPER-GOVERNMENT IN U. S.

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 16.—Rev. W. J. Mahoney, imperial kiokard of the Ku Klux Klan, said in a brief address to the state legislature here today that "this country has a supergovernment. We must break it. We will."

Mahoney spoke vaguely in a tone that was hardly audible, saying if the address were on some occasion or to some other body he might elaborate more on his subject. His talk lasted only three minutes. Silence from house members attended the klansman's exit after he had concluded.

The only statement the imperial kiokard would make to newspapermen was that he is preparing a booklet on "America's super-government."

He is scheduled to address the local organization of the Ku Klux Klan tonight.

LEFT $1 TO HIS WIFE AND $100,000 TO CHAUFFEUR

Metuchen, N. J., March 16.—Dr. Charles M. Freeman, of Metuchen, who died recently left a will in which he cut off his wife, Mary Wilkins Freeman, widely known novelist, with $1, left $200 to each of four sisters and gave the remainder of his $100,000 estate to his chauffeur, Harry Mohring, of this place, it became known today.

Dr. Freeman and his wife separated in October, 1922. Mrs. Freeman lived in one house in Metuchen and Dr. Freeman in another with his chauffeur.

Giant Immigration Project

Sir George Pearce, Premier of New South Wales, who approves of the biggest immigration scheme ever undertaken. Parliament has confirmed the agreement with the imperial government—the governments of the Australian Commonwealth and New South Wales, by which 3,000 British settlers will be placed on land at a cost of 6,000,000 pounds. The New South Wales contribution and Imperial government's cash will bear one-third of the cost, while the Imperial government will provide the entire amount for the third share.

INCOME TAX XRETURNS REFLECT PROSPERITY

Washington, March 16.—Evidence of prosperity, almost nation-wide, was given in the last income and profits tax payments to the government, treasury officials declared tonight, basing their statement on figures which, although incomplete, support their earlier estimate of receipts of four hundred million dollars between March 1 and 15.

One of the reasons given for the view that business conditions improved throughout last year and are continuing on the upgrade was that although the general level of federal tax rates has been lowered as compared with the rates upon which last year's payments were based, treasury figures indicate the aggregate amount of taxes collected during the first half of March this year will far exceed the collections for the same period last year, when they totalled about $336,000,000. Reports to the treasury tonight showed that this amount had been exceeded probably by fifty million dollars.

Officials also declared there had been an unusual number of payments for the full year, although the law permits payment in installments. This it was asserted, showed that taxpayers with small incomes had ready money and had disposed of their obligation to the government promptly.

Income and profit-taxes paid to the treasury in March 1922, amounted to $93,000,000 and that figure has been accepted as properly representing the quarterly tax payment since only a negligible percentage of the payments for the quarter are made in advance of March 1. For the present month however, there is every indication, according to those who watch the government's income, that the total will be greater although none would hazard a guess as to the extent.

LIQUOR SOLD OPENLY IN SALOONS IN GARY

Indianapolis, Ind., March 16.—Federal prohibition agents, newspapermen and others testifying today in the Lake County liquor conspiracy trial told of alleged "wide open" conditions in Gary. Floyd M. Durrell, a former deputy constable, testified that he and another constable collected campaign funds among known liquor law violators, for use in the election of Mayor Roswell C. Johnson, Prosecuting Attorney Clyde Hunters and others.

Liquor was sold openly in cafes and saloons in Gary, according to federal agents, Lads Wein and Floyd Wright, who said they visited many places where they purchased whiskey, gin, wine, beer and brandy, which was turned over to Bert Morgan, federal prohibition director in Indiana, to be used as evidence.

Mrs. Gabbiel Lakorh testified that Nick Juricich, a deputy sheriff and defendant in the present trial, had supplied 25 gallons of whiskey for her wedding celebration which was held in a dance hall at Gary. Many members of the police force attended the celebration, she testified and all drank the liquor.

TO RELAY RADIO MESSAGE ACROSS THE CONTINENT

Hartford, March 16.—The radio amateurs of Canada will attempt to relay a message across the continent in a series of tests on March 24, 25 and 26, at which time they will endeavor to break the American transcontinental record of January, 1921, it was announced at the American Radio Relay league headquarters here today.

In a preliminary test just completed a message was relayed from Vancouver to Toronto and return in an hour and ten minutes. The American amateurs made a record across the continent and return in six and one-half minutes. The distance covered by the proposed three-day relay test from Vancouver to Montreal is approximately 3,890 miles.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

French Favor Naval Limitation.

Paris, March 16 (By the A. P.)—The chamber of deputies' foreign affairs sub-committee formed to study the Washington conference treaties has adopted the report of M. Guernier, which in effect recommends ratification of the limitation of naval armaments pact. The full committee will deal with the report at its next meeting.

STORM INJURED MANY PERSONS IN NEW YORK

New York, March 16.—Freakish in its variations from gale velocity to breezes of barely 12 miles an hour, the edge of one of the severest wind and rain storms that has swept the eastern part of the Great LaLkes region in years today struck New York.

Many persons were injured here, although only one was reported seriously hurt. Roy Harris is suffered a fracture of the spine when struck by a piece of coping blown from an uptown building. Others received broken legs and arms, cuts from broken glass and minor injuries.

Clear and much colder weather, with the wind veering from the south to the northwest, was predicted for tonight and early tomorrow. The temperature was expected to drop from its maximum of 54 degrees today to 28 degrees before morning.

18 PERSONS KILLED BY TORNADO IN MISSISSIPPI

Memphis, Tenn., March 16.—Eighteen dead, approximately 100 injured and property damage estimated at between $300,000 and $400,000 made up the know toll tonight of a tornado which swept seven Delta counties in northern Mississippi last night, demolished one village—Savage—and left a trail on property damage and dead and maimed in a dozen or more towns and farming settlement. Several hundred are homeless.

NUMEROUS CELLARS WERE LOODED IN SPRINGFIELD

Springfield, Mass., March 16.—A steady downpour of rain today and tonight resulted in the flooding of numerous cellars throughout the city and caused difficulties for the trolley and telephone companies. The Connecticut river is rapidly breaking up under the force of the rain and it is feared that large amount of water flowing into it will cause a sudden rise. Large masses of ice are moving southward.

BOSTON EXPERIENCED A DARK AND RAINY DAY

Boston, March 16.—After several half-hearted attempts earlier in the day, rain fell heavily here this afternoon. Simultaneously a darkness almost as of night settled over the city. The official temperature mounted to 54 and in the suburbs the streets were made almost impassable as the great piles of snow were melted and sent rushing through gutters and over sidewalks.

GOOD SHOWING BY THE N. Y. SHIPBUILDING CORPORATION

New York, March 16.—Despite the depressing effect of the curtailment of operations as a result of the treaties on limitation of armaments and the material falling off of international commerce, the New York Shipbuilding corporation's annual report for 1922, made public tonight, discloses net income of $1,026,267, compared with $1,996,559 in 1921.

After paying dividends of $300,000, the corporation showed a surplus for the year of $726,267, compared with surplus of $1,196,559 in 1921, when dividend distributions amounted to $800,000.

The company suspended work on the U. S. S. Washington as a result of the limitation of armaments conference but is continuing the construction of the battleship Colorado, and on the Saratoga, originally designed as a battle cruiser but is to be completed as an aeroplane carrier. The corporation turned out the fuel ship Kamoi for the Japanese government during 1922.

CHARTERS GRANTED BY FEDERAL FARM LOAN BOARD

Washington, March 16.—The federal farm loan board, taking another step toward starting the machinery of the new intermediate farm credits system, today granted charters under the agricultural credits act to the federal land banks at Columbia, S. C., St. Louis and Baltimore.

In announcing that the charters had been granted, Commissioner Lobdell of the farm loan board, expressed the hope that it would be possible to have similar action completed with respect to the other nine banks within ten days.

The board has begun the drafting of the code of rules for the system and upon completion of this work, which Commissioner Lobdell said was going forward rapidly, will determine the interest rate at which money will be made available to the producers' organizations or to banks loaning to producers.

PRIORITY TO BE GIVEN TO FORMER NAVAL OFFICERS

Washington, March 16.—An executive order was issued at the White House today exempting from civil service regulations shipping commissioners at United States ports and giving former naval and naval reserve officers priority in filling the positions.

Explaining the order, Secretary Hoover said the purpose was to make available for the work men of large seafaring experience and to open a certain number of positoins for officers thrown out of their professions by the naval reduction.

Only one vacancy now exists in the office of commissioner—that at New Orleans.

The other ports where there are commissioners are Providence, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Newport News, Norfolk, Galveston, Portland, Me., San Francisco and Seattle.

PORTLAND, ME., HAS HAD 121 INCHES OF SNOW

Portland, Me., March 16.—The fifty-year record of 121 inches of snow, established during the winter of 1886-7, was equalled today. After depositing 1.2 inches, the exact amount needed, the storm turned to rain, which began to soften the three feet of snow still remaining on the level here. Rubber boots and overshoes then became conspicuous, particularly in the suburbs. Prospects for bettering the record are considered good, it being recalled that 14 inches fell in April last year.

Artist's Model was Murdered and Robbed

Bruises on Face and Throat Indicate That Slayer Had Used Chloroform Before Strangling Her.

New York, March 16.—Reports of medical examiners who performed an autopsy today on the body of Miss Dorothy Keenan, artists' model, found dead in her West 57th street apartment yesterday with an empty chloroform bottle on the floor, virtually proved the police theory that the young woman was murdered and robbed of her jewels.

A chemical analysis of the brain showed it to be saturated with the anesthetic, and it was also found in the lungs. Medical Examiner Norris said the chloroform had been inhaled. Bruises were found on the face and neck, indicating that the person administering the chloroform had met resistance.

Investigators said they hoped to obtain valuable information from two men, known only as "Marshall" and "Wilson," who had called at the young woman's apartment frequently. Marshall was said to be wealthy. Wilson was his secretary. Marshall's visits were closely guarded, according to the elevator boy in the apartment house and Miss Keenan's colored maid. They said Wilson, the secretary, always entered the residence first, leaving his master outside in his automobile. When he found the "coast clear" Wilson would signal to Marshall to come in.

Marshall, it was reported to the investigators, was the donor of many valuable jewels to Miss Keenan. The young woman's jewels, valued at $10,000, have not been found. Whether she had them in the apartment, or in a safety deposit box, the police were unable to learn.

The model's mother, who lives at another address, said her daughter met Marshall some months ago and that he last visited her Wednesday night. She added that he was "out of the city" today, but probably would return tomorrow. She was certain that he had not had anything to do with her death.

Counsel for Albert Guimares, the model's friend, who was arrested early today when police found a pistol in his hotel room, sued out a writ of habeas corpus for his release this afternoon after he had been held without bail as a material witness in magistrate's court. The writ is returnable tomorrow before Supreme Court Justice Mullan.

Guimares, under indictment in Boston for larceny from clients of a brokerage firm, now bankrupt, had been sought by the police of that city for months.

New Advocate General Of The Army

Col. Walter A. Bethel, who served as judge advocate general of the American Expeditionary Forces, has been nominated by the President as Judge Advocate General with the rank of Major General, to succeed Major General E. H. Crowder, who retires at his own request to accept the post of American Ambassador to Cuba. Colonel Bethel has had a brilliant military career, and it is understood that he was strongly recommended for the post by General Pershing.

Women Appeal to the Judiciary Committee

Woman's Party Members Ask That Women be Placed on Equality Before the Law With Men.

Hartford, March 16.—The national woman's party made its appeal to the judiciary committee of the general assembly this afternoon to place women on equality before the law with men. It was heard, through members of the party, on a score of bills which were drawn to make many changes in laws in force in Connecticut at the present time. The Women's League of Voters had requested that a bill to make women eligible for jury duty should not be heard at this time as that body did not wish to appear in the same hearing with the national women's party.

When the bills of the party were taken up Mrs. N. E. Derecktor of Meriden made both a general presentation as well as a specific one on most of them.

One bill would establish the legal status of a woman; another would give equal immunities and the same rights to women; another would prevent discrimination in the matter of wages where women do equal work with men; another making a husband's presence no defense for a woman's crime; another to raise the age of consent of girls to 18 years as it is in western states, and to make 21 years the age at which a girl may marry without her parents' consent. There was also a jury bill.

Senate bill 567 concerning divorce gives the court the right to allow either party to change name. Senate bill 541 declares that every child would be the legitimate child of its natural parents; making such child an heir of its parents and providing the procedure of establishing parentage.

On a jury bill Mrs. Derecktor thought that by removing disqualifications of women o njuries it would improve the atmosphere of the courts. Mr. Bell asked Mrs. Derecktor if women "want to be given the right of opportunity for jur service because they might enjoy it or merely to display their position. Mrs. Derecktor said they wanted the right to serve.

Mr. Bell said: "I want to know if a majority of the women want to serve on the jury, will they enjoy it or will they sacrifice the time in a disagreeable task?"

Mrs. Derecktor declared that was not the question at all. The point sought was to remove the disability which now exists.

Later Mr. Bell declared the bills were a "glittering generality." He asked the meaning of one clause in a bill which would make the general assembly declare that this legislation was needed for the "preservation of the public health." Mrs. Derecktor said that was to indicate the attitude of the assembly.

Professor Lieyellen of Yale followed with an analysis of some of the bills which he said was to change a law which still carried the idea enunciated in olden days that a man must be present when the wife commits a crime and which gave that husband the right to "gently coerce her with a stick no larger than the thickness of his thumb."

Miss Elsie Hill spoke next and told the committee that the party was not seeking to set up a new code of laws but to equalize the laws as they relate to women.

WALL COLLAPSE CAUGHT EIGHT BROOKLYN FIREMEN

New York, March 16.—Eight Brooklyn firemen were caught tonight when walls of the H. C. Bohack Grocery Company building destroyed in all night fire collapsed and buried them under tons of debris. Dug out by their comrades, they were found to have been only slightly injured.

Three firemen were injured in fighting the blaze earlier in the day. The fire started in the basement of the building and for a time threatened other structures in the section. Mayor Hylan came from his home nearby. More than 500 firemen were engaged in the fight against the fire. The police estimate the loss at $150,000.

MME. JOHANNA G. TAUSCHER SUES NEW YORK TRIBUNE

New York, March 16.—Mme. Johanna Gadski Tauscher, prima donna, has filed suit for libel here against the New York Tribune and its musical critic, Henry E. Krehebiel, for $250,000 damages each.

The alleged libelous matter, as described in the Tribune's account of the suit today, is based on an allusion in an article by Mr. Krehbiel to the sinking of the Lusitania and a subsequent celebration at the home of "one of the singers of opera." The article did not mention Madame Gadski or her husband, Captain Hans Tauscher, but she contends she was the singer referred to.

THE SHAMROCK

The orchid needs the jungle heat,
The rose the garden mold,
The violet a shady nook
And mosses damp and cold,
The poppy will not bloom without
The kisses of the sun,
The ivy ever green must have
A wall on which to run.

But there's a plant that flourishes
Alike on land and sea,
In snow or sand or city streets,
Or spaces far and free—
Though many a weary mile from where
The River Shannon flows,
Wherever there's a Celtic heart
The little shamrock grows.

—Minna Irving, in New York Herald.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS

The New York cotton exchange voted to close on Good Friday and the following Saturday.

Two cargoes of raw sugar, aggregating 18,192,240 pounds, reached Boston from Cuba.

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould, Jr., have been divorced at Nice, France.

Calbe Harlan Canby, Sr., 87 former president of the Chicago board of trade, died from pneumonia.

The town of Savage, Mississippi, 40 miles south of Memphis has been wiped out by a windstorm.

Arthur L. Stern, one of the best known clothing manufacturers in the country, died in Rochester, N. Y.

Another case of smallpox was recorded in Stamford, making five listed in that city.

F. E. Merrick, vice president of the Electrical Appliance Manufacturing company, Waterbury, died at his home there, following a brief illness.

A uniform program has been adopted by the building trades in Haverhill, Mass. to restore the wage scale of 1920 and 1921.

The "pork-pie" hats and poke bonnets of the mid-Victorian period will again be worn in London, the trade authorities say.

Mrs. Gertrude Flemming was injured when she jumped from a second story window in Windsor, Conn., after a fire was discovered in her home.

C. A. Emery, cashier of the Farmers Mechanics bank, Honesdale, Pa., closed by the state banking commissioner, was arrested charged with irregularities in his accounts.

Celebrities joined with patriotic organizations in dedicating a medallion of the late Theodore Roosevelt aboard the liner President Roosevelt in New York.

The general school board in Rockville awarded the contract for the new West district school, which will cost $107,500 to the H. Wales Lines company, of Meriden, the lowest bidder.

Mrs. Josephine Hoyt of Stamford, widow of George H. Hoyt, who was president of the Stamford Savings bank, died at Tampa, Fla., at the age of 79.

A locksmith was called by raiding dry agents to open the safe in the bar room of a hotel in Springfield, Mass., where whiskey and champagne were diocated and seized.

Establishment of the Cheney Fellowship in Organic Chemistry at Yale University, for which Cheney Brothers, silk manufacturers, are to give $1,000 a year for two years, was announced.

Frank W. Thompson, town treasurer of Troy, Me., the past four years, has been missing since February 27 and town officials after an investigation have been unable to account for $5,847 of the town's funds.

An invitation to foreign nations to send war ships to attend the 25th anniversary of the founding of Greater New York, was forwarded by Mayor John F. Hylan through Secretary of State Hughes.

Clerk Harold F. Illy of the Waterbury internal revenue office has been appointed deputy collector to succed Charles H. Wilson, resigned by Colonel Robert O. Eaton, collector for Connecticut.

It is reported in Mexico City that William G. McAdoo is on his way to Mexico City for the purpose of beginning negotiations for the restoration of American-owned property in Chihuahua, seized by the Mexican government.

Licenses of 26 small hotels, cafes and drink purveyors in Boston, have been suspended or revoked by the Boston licensing board in its joint effort with the police department to close up places where liquor is persistently sold.

After a thrilling chase through Milford Center, Vincent Llolo, 22, of New Haven was re-captured by a railroad detective, from whom he had made a getaway while aboard a Springfield express.

Announcement was received in Meriden of the death in Florida of Charles F. Cuno, aged 60, Meriden manufacturers, who recently donated about $60,000 to the Meriden Boys club for a permanent summer camp.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bickell, 66, wealthy widow of C. C. Bickell, founder of the Bickel Tobacco company, and J. Remus Knight, 28, a student at the Baptist Theological seminary were married in Louisville, Ky.

Bertha Liane, a Finnish girl who came to Boston as a stowaway on the steamer Bellingham Washington's birthday, was again ordered deported by immigration authorities at Washington.

To reach Biddeford, Me., in time to attend the funeral of his son, Captain Hiram Ulmer, of the Burnt Island coast guard station was forced to travel 20 miles on snow shoes, the snow packed roads being otherwise impassable.

Harmon P. MacKnight of Somerville, Mass., was arrested and furnished $1,000 bonds on charges of holding himself out as a practitioner in medicine and practicing without being registered.

Former Governor Marcus H. Holcomb was discharged by Judge John W. Banks from his duties as receiver for the Shelton Bank and Trust company. The judge commended Mr. Holcomb on the efficient manner in which he handled the receivership.

Six men and four women were arrested in New Canaan by state police and local officers, who visited eight houses armed with search warrants. Liquor was found in two of the houses the police reported.

A lightning bolt, which struck the sea 100 feet in the wake of the Albania during a severe electrical storm Tuesday night, shook the ship as if she were a leaf in a hurricane and knocked her captain and the first officer senseless on the bridge.

Postmasters throughout the country have been notified by Postmaster General New that the "strictest economy commensurate with public convenience" must be practiced during the next few months to avoid a postoffice deficit for the current fiscal year.

BERLIN DENIES RUMORS OF NEW REPARATIONS OFFER

Official Circles in Berlin Emphatically Refute Report That German Government Has Requested the Initiation of Negotiations—Belgian Forces Have Occupied Harbors in the Ruhr and Have Arrested the Manager of August Thyssen's Colliery Near Boulanger.

Berlin, March 16.—(By the A. P.)—Official quarters here tonight emphatically denied reports emanating from Berlin or elsewhere to the effect that Germany has made precise reparation proposals to France, or formally requested the initiation of negotiations.

At government headquarters it was stated that the German attitude remains exactly as it was outlined by Chancellor Cuno in the reichstag; that Germany is not barricading the path to negotiations, but that formal discussions must vouchsafe to Germany complete freedom from any duress of impingment on her equality of rights.

The report that Hugo Stinnes, the industrialist leader, is negotiating with a wing of the French industrialists also was denied tonight at the headquarters of Stinnes in Berlin. It was stated, however, that Herr Stinnes had been approached by French interests, to whom he replied that negotiations must be left to the government.

HARBORS IN THE RUHR OCCUPIED BY BELGIANS

Berlin, March 16.—(By the A. P.)—Belgian forces have occupied the harbors at Walsum and Schwelgern, in the Ruhr, belonging to the Thyssen concern, say as Essen despatch to the Boersen Courier today. They also arrested the manager of August Thyssens colliery near Boulanger.

GERMAN GOVT TO CONFER WITH INDUSTRIALISTS

London, March 16.—A despatch to the Times from Berlin says a conference has been arranged between representatives of the German government and leading industrialists to discuss the situation with regard to reparations.

TO CHANGE METHOD OF QUOTING U. S. GOVT BONDS

New York, March 16 (By the A. P.).—The method of quoting United States government bonds on the New York stock exchange will be changed within the next two weeks so that the minimum fluctuation will be fixed at 1-32 of one point instead of the present decimal system with its minimum of two cents on $100, it was learned today. While this will increase the present minimum fluctuation, it will still permit of a much narrower movement than that in other listed bonds, which are quoted in eighths of a point.

The decimal system was instituted during the war at the request of the United States government, which wanted the narrowest practicable quotation in order to provide the maximum stability in price during the distribution period. Now that the bonds have been well distributed, the need for this extremely narrow fluctuation is said to no longer exist.

The clause in the British war debt agreement which permits the payment of principal and interest in United States government bonds at par will, it is believed, have a stabilizing effect on prices.

WORCESTER METHODIST CHURCHES TO COMBINE

Worcester, Mass., March 16.—Trinity and Grace Methodist churches, the two largest Methodist organizations in Worcester, have voted to combine. This will give the new organization, a membership of 2,000, which will make it the largest Methodist church in New England and one of the largest Protestant churches in the same territory.

Rev. Dr. James E. Wagner, pastor of Trinity church, and Rev. Burton L. Jennings of Grace church, will be copastors, with equal rank in preaching and directing the pastoral work.

The two congregations will have first joint service on Good Friday.

STEAMERS PURCHASED BY THE FORD MOTOR COMPANY

Superior, Wis., March 16.—Reports that the Ford Motor company of Detroit is behind the purchase of the steamers Sonora and Sultana, which changed hands last week, are current in local marine circles here. It is understood that the vessels will be remodeled and used for the transportation of automobiles from Detroit to other lake ports.

Resigns To Devote Life To League Of Nations

Leon Bourgeois, who was re-elected President of the Senate, at the reopening of that body, in Paris, last month, has sent in his resignation. M. Bourgeois, who is now in Nice, well-known French watering place, says he is determined to devote his life to the development of the League of Nations, which he claims is Europe's only salvation. He has represented France on the League Council, and has also been one of the French representatives to the Assembly. He played an important part in the creation of the League and his project was one of those upon which the final covenant was drafted.

JACK PICKFORD FIGURES IN LIQUOR CONSPIRACY

Los Angeles, Calif., March 16.—Jack Pickford, motion picture actor, and his sister, Mrs. Alan Forrest known on the screen as Lottie Pickford, will be summoned before a federal grand jury as a result of a series of raids last night which disclosed what seemed to be evidence of a coastwise conspiracy to violate the Volstead act, it was stated tonight by H. H. Dolley, federal prohibition agent.

Dolley said he had obtained from alleged bootleggers arrested las taight what he considered valuable evidence against a number of prominent business men, motion picture actors, both men and women, and several other persons not so well known.

He stated all of the information obtained had been placed in the hands of Joe Burke, U. S. district attorney, for submission to the grand jury.

Pickford announced tonight that he visited the offices of Dolley at the latter's request and that while there offered to make statements to him or to the grand jury then, or whenever it was desired.

Mr. Burke said the alleged plot and its ramifications appeared to be extensive and that all information in his possession would be guarded closely until it could be given to the grand jurors.

Prior to these statements, officers arrested P. A. Jordan and J. G. Irving. They were leaving the residence of Mae Wallace in the Hollywood district; Dave Lerner, also was arrested in that part of the city, and three men who gave their names as Manice Mascagno, Guilio Nuccio and Luis Repanda, at a bonded winery on Aliso street.

Dolley said the federal officers found bonded liquor in the automobile of Jordan and Irving and asserted they were making deliveries to customers.

Dolley also charged the men had conspired to "supply a large clientele" in Hollywood with liquor; that Lerner shipped supplies from San Francisco to Jordan and Irving, who, when Lerner was unable to meet the demand, took their orders to the Allied street winery to be filled with "moonshine."

Dolley said the federal grand jury would be asked to return indictments.

He stated that in the possession of Jordan and Irving were found checks issued by Jack Pickford for $60 and $115 and added, that one of the men under arrest had admitted having sold the actor half a case of gin and a case of Scotch. From the same men was obtained a list of alleged patrons, including Pickford and Mrs. Forrest. Dolley declared From them and from the others arrested was obtained further information implicating other prominent people including other representatives of the film industry.

Pickford, accompanied by four attorneys, visited Dolley after their arrests, Dolley announced and asked permission to go before the grand jury to explain how his checks happened to be in the possession of the arrested men. After a consultation with Mr. Burke, the request was denied. Then, it was added, Pickford asked permission to make a statement to Dolley, in the presence of his four attorneys, but that request also was refused.

"Clients of the alleged bootleggers are scurrying wildly for cover," said Dolley.

The men under arrest were charged with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws and held in $10,000 bonds each.

BOUND TO KEEP EVEN WITH U. S. GOVERNMENT

Washington, March 16.—The treasury's "conscience fund" was enriched by $500 today through one man's belief that turn about is fair play.

The observer of the golden rule whose name is unknown to the treasury and whose home city was not disclosed, wrote the following letter to Secretary Mellon, explaining his contribution:

"The government having returned to me money which it unlawfully collected, I am enclosing $500 which I withheld from the government because of the wrongful treatment accorded me by your agents when I was forced to pay to the government an amount in excess of that here returned to you.

NIKOLAI LENINE CONTINUES TO SHOW IMPROVEMENT

Moscow, March 16.—(By the A. P.)—Nikolai Lenine, the bolshevik premier, who was stricken several days ago with apoplexy, continues to show improvement, according to the official bulletin issued today.

The bulletin said that improvement was noted in the general health, speech and the use of the paralyzed right arm. His temperature was [illegible] centigrade, [illegible] his pulse is

WILLIMANTIC

NORWICH BULLETIN

Willimantic Office ... Telephone 1600

Dr. William E. Hinsley and Mabel Lowe appeared before the local police court Friday morning on the charge of failure to remove ice and snow from sidewalks abutting their property, a violation of the city ordinance. It was stated in the complaint, read by Prosecuting Attorney Kelley that Mr. Lesco's sidewalk, which is on Meadow street, was in a dangerous condition. Mr. Lesco stated that he had been a resident here for twelve years and that Meadow street was in poor condition. The accident was largely caused on ice and when the latter came the water ran from the street, onto the sidewalk and froze there. Both men asked to have their cases continued and Judge Frank H. Bunn granted a continuance till next Tuesday.

Rhoda Ray Dimock of Merrow and Miss Sarah Scully White of South Coventry were married Wednesday morning in South Coventry by Rev. Charles G. Johnson. They were unattended and the double ring service was used. The groom conducts a store of allround use in addition is a veterinarian with a wide practice in Tolland, Mansfield and Willington. The bride is connected with the Connecticut agricultural college as a home demonstrator in Tolland county with headquarters in Rockville. Mr. and Mrs. Dimock will make their home in Mansfield.

Residents of this town and city are anxiously awaiting to hear the result

CHEST COLDS
Apply over throat and chest
VICKS VAPORUB
Over 17 Million Jars Used Yearly

THE H. C. MURRAY CO.
MURRAY'S BOSTON STORE
WILLIMANTIC, CONN.

Our 34th Anniversary Sale
CLOSES TONIGHT

Look through this list of special offerings for this Anniversary Sale and we are certain you will find some articles of interest to you for your personal use or for the home, at prices that cannot be duplicated for some time to come.

RUG DEPARTMENT
Heavyweight Rubber Door Mats, value 75c—for 44c.
Fluff Comfortable Remnants—2 for 44c.
Good but slightly shoddy, slightly soiled Axminster Rugs, were 90c to $1.50—To close out, at 44c each.
9x12 Linoleum Rugs, were $2.19—for $1.44
8 3-4 x 10 6 Axminster Rugs—for $2.44.
Fine Quality Chenille Rugs, were $1.98—for $1.44.
Heavy Cottage Rugs, were $1.98—for $1.44.
Fine Quality Couch Covers, 50x50—for $2.44.
Fine Axminster Rugs, Animal designs or Oriental, were $4.50—for $3.44 ea.
Carpet Rugs, 4 1-2 x 9 ft. long—for $2.44 each.
Heavy Reversible Rugs, value $3.25—for $2.44.
Full size Wool Cotton Mattress, value $14.98 for $10.44.
Fine Floss Mattress, full size, 32 lbs., value $25.00—for $21.44.
Fine Axminster Rugs, value $41.00 and $45.00—for $35.44.

DRESS FABRICS
36-inch Suiting Serge, in new Spring shades—2 1-4 yards for 44c.
36-inch Scotch Cloth, all colors—2 1-4 yards for 44c.
Good quality Chambray, assorted colors—5 yards for 44c.
One lot of good quality Dress Gingham, in checks and stripes—2 1-2 yards for 44c.
36-inch Fancy Check Suiting, suitable for Sport Skirts—44c a yard.
36-inch new Spring Novelty Suiting, value 75c—2 1-2 yards for $1.44.
One lot of 36-inch Dress Gingham, value 35c and 75c—for 44c a yard.

DOMESTICS
6x36 Pequot Pillow Cases—44c each.
6x36 Pillow Cases—2 for 44c.
Imported Fancy Ticking, suitable for Pillow Slips or Cases—44c a yard.
17x30 All-Linen Hemstitched Huck Towels—44c each.
36-inch Table Damask—44c a yard.
Good size Turkish Bath Towels—44c each.
16x22 Turkish Towels—2 for 44c.
Bleached Cotton Crash—4 yards for 44c.
All-Linen Bleached or Brown Crash—2 yards for 44c.
81x90 Bed Sheets—$1.44 each.
White Bed Spreads—$1.44 each.
90x70 Single Plaid Blankets—$1.44 ea.
Brown Cotton, good quality—10 yards for $1.44.

TOILET ARTICLES
Bayer's Aspirin Tablets—2 dozen size—2 bottles for 44c.
$1.00 Creme Lemon—for 44c.
Large size Sykes' Comfort Powder—for 44c.
Holmes' Frostilla—2 bottles for 44c.
Mesck's Sugar of Milk—for 44c.
Small size Father John's—for 44c.
California Syrup of Figs—for 44c.
Large size Milk of Magnesia—for 44c.
Pompeian Face Powder—for 44c.
Mavis' Face Powder—for 44c.
2 cans Mavis' Talcum Powder—for 44c.
3 cans Colgates' or Williams' Talcum Powder—for 44c.
6 cakes Palmolive Soap—for 44c.
3 cakes Lane Castile Soap—for 44c.
Box Highland Writing Paper and Envelopes—for 44c.

READY-TO-WEAR IN THE ANNIVERSARY SALE

NEW SPRING COATS, $13.44 AND $20.44
New Spring Coats, in Camel's Hair, Tweed and Plaid Back—Just the kind of a coat you need for early Spring wear—SPECIAL $13.44 and $20.44.

NEW SPRING DRESSES, $20.00
New Spring Dresses, in the season's leading materials and colors—SPECIAL $20.00.

NEW SPRING SUITS
New Spring Suits, in Twill, Tricotine and Polo—This is a good opportunity to purchase your Easter Suit—SPECIAL $20.44.

SPRING SKIRTS
Spring Skirts, in Twill, Serge and Sport Models, were $5.00—SPECIAL $2.44.

SPECIAL IN WINTER COATS
One lot of Winter Coats, in such materials as Pandora, Marvella and Bolivia, plain or fur-trimmed, were $40.00—To close out at $20.44.

APRONS
Bungalow Aprons, in Percale and Gingham, were $1.98 — for $1.44.

PETTICOATS
Mercerized and Mercerized Figured Petticoats, in black and colors, were $2.98—for $1.44.

WAISTS
Tailored Waists, in the new Spring styles, white and fancy, were $2.98 and $3.98—for $2.44 quality for $1.44.

HOUSE DRESSES
Made of good quality Percale and Gingham; fully lapped style or Kimono models, were $2.98—for $2.44.

MIDDIES
Paul Jones' Middy Blouses, for Misses and Women, white and colors, were $2.50—for $1.44.

UNDERWEAR
Muslin Underwear, Night Gowns, Petticoats and Combinations, were $1.98—for $1.44.

NORWICH BULLETIN

Willimantic Office ... Telephone 1600

Mrs. Mary Ann Bradley, 76, died at her home on Prospect street Friday morning after a short illness. She was born in Ireland, the daughter of Patrick and Mary Ann Bradley. She came to this country when a young girl and lived in Willimantic for many years. She was a member of St. Joseph's church. She is survived by a son, Patrick Bradley of Willimantic and a daughter, Mrs. Mary Ann Bradley of Willimantic. Funeral services will be held Monday morning at 8:30 from her late home and at 9 o'clock from St. Joseph's church. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

PITTSFIELD CLUB TO TRAIN FOR 1923 SEASON AT THE FAIRGROUNDS

Norwich is to become the southern training camp for the Pittsfield club of the Eastern League, according to information given out here on Friday by those in a position to know. President Wayland of the Pittsfield club has been in Norwich during the past few days making the necessary arrangements for bringing the Pittsfield club here for the two weeks previous to the opening of the Eastern league on April 25.

The Pittsfield club will consist of 20 to 25 players, regulars and recruits and will make their headquarters at the Wauregan hotel, reservations having already been made at the hotel. Manager Gus Gardella will be in charge of the squad which will arrive here on Tuesday, April 10th.

President Wayland said while here that his object in coming to Norwich was that the heavy snows in Pittsfield had put the Hailies' grounds in such condition that they could not be used in time to get his team into shape. Norwich, he said, was sure to be free from snow by the first of April and that his team could get in at least two weeks' practice before the opening of the season.

It is understood that the Fairgrounds have been secured for a playing field and will be put in shape for the team.

The Pittsfield club is a fast combination and in 1921 won the Eastern league pennant. Local people will have a chance to se some early baseball as there will be practice games many days during the stay here.

VILLA TO FIGHT DARCEY AT WATERBURY MARCH 24TH

New York, March 16.—Pancho Villa, former American flyweight champion, will meet Willie Darcey of New York at Waterbury, Conn., March 24 to lift his suspension by the Connecticut boxing commission for refusal to meet Abe Goldstein at Waterbury, Conn., the same date.

This announcement was made tonight by Tom Pahey, who is associated with George Mulligan in promotion of bouts at New Haven. Villa and his stable mate, Elino Flores, were suspended today by the Connecticut commission, the latter because he had called off his match with Pete August, scheduled for the same time as the Villa Goldstein match.

The New York commission was to consider tomorrow suspending both Filipino boxers as it has a cooperative agreement with the Connecticut commission whereby each observes the rulings of the other.

ELKS TAKE THREE GAMES FROM TAFTVILLE KACEYS

In the second of the series of bowling matches between the Norwich Elks and the Taftville Kaceys the local team took three straight games at the Taftville alleys on Friday evening. Gladue of the Kaceys had high single with 110 and Dugas had high total with 301. The scores:

Kaceys.

Gladue	83	98	110—291
Pep	73	84	84—241
Troiand	98	76	81—255
G. White	93	82	82—257
F. White	90	92	100—282
	437	432	457—1326

Elks.

Enos	93	98	85—275
Purdon	93	94	91—268
J. B. Caron	78	93	99—270
Cambles	94	94	95—283
Dugas	107	86	188—301
	464	455	478—1397

NORWICH WEST ENDS BEAT NEW LONDON

At the Aetna alleys on Thursday evening the West Ends of Norwich defeated the New London Y. M. H. A. by a total of 16 pins. The New Londoners came up with a fast aggregation of bowlers and tried in vain to wrest the honors from the Norwich team. The scores follow:

Norwich.

M. Sadinsky	84	87	101—272
E. Budnick	86	84	108—278
B. Hyman	102	88	98—288
B. Shabecoff	96	90	109—295
I. Budnick	101	99	89—289
	469	448	505—1432

New London.

Goldberg	85	85	89—259
Siff	92	88	119—299
Levine	86	94	84—264
Sharkey	96	92	82—270
M. Budnick	105	86	113—314
	464	455	487—1406

Next week the West Ends roll the Submarine Base. The West Ends challenge any fast team in the eastern part of the state for home and home games.

High School Basketball.

Medford, Mass., March 16.—Two Massachusetts and two Connecticut high school teams will meet in the semi-finals for the New England Interscholastic basketball championship at Tufts College tomorrow. In the second round tonight teams representing Vermont and New Hampshire were eliminated, and Brockton High, last year's champion was defeated by Naugatuck, Conn., High.

Fitchburg High defeated Montpelier, Vermont, High, tonight, 24 to 14. Wilby High of Waterbury, Conn., defeated Edmunds High of Burlington, Vt., 18 to 17. Naugatuck, Conn., High defeated Brockton High, 25 to 15.

In the semi-finals tomorrow Fitchburg High will meet Wilby High of Waterbury, and Northampton High will clash with Naugatuck High.

BOSTON PLAYERS ADVANCE IN BROOKLINE TENNIS

Brookline, Mass., Mar. 16.—Only W. T. Tilden, 2nd, of Philadelphia, and Miss Brenda Hedstrom, of Buffalo, N. Y., stood tonight in the way of greater Boston victories in all three of the national women's singles, doubles and mixed doubles championship tournaments.

In the singles section Miss Leslie Bancroft, the country's number two ranking player, and Mrs. B. E. Cole, 2nd, formed the local survivors of today's semi-final play. Each reversed early season defeats at the hands of their opponents, Miss Bancroft winning 6-0, 6-2, from Mrs. F. H. Godfrey who won from her in Florida, and Mrs. Cole defeating Miss Lillian Scharman of Brooklyn, victor in her home city recently, 6-3, 6-2.

The doubles finalists will be Mrs. Cole and Mrs. Godfrey opposed by Mrs. George W. Wightman, and Miss Bangroft. The latter advanced today over Miss Scharman and Miss Ceres Baker, of East Orange, N. J., whom they defeated 6-1, 6-3, 6-1.

Tilden was as severe in the mixed doubles play as has been in men's competition and with Miss Hedstrom eliminated Mr. Godfrey and H. R. Guild, of this city, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2. The opponents of Tilden and Miss Hedstrom tomorrow will be Mrs. Wightman and B. N. Dell, of Boston. They won from Irving C. Wright and Mrs. Cole, 6-3, 6-2.

DRAWINGS MADE FOR DAVIS CUP PLAY

New York, Mar. 16.—Seventeen nations—four in American zone and thirteen in the European zone—today were drawn for competition for the Davis cup, international team tennis trophy held by the United States.

Representatives of twelve of the seventeen challenging nations witnessed the draw, which was in charge of Julian S. Myrick, of New York, chairman of the Davis cup committee of the U. S. Lawn Tennis association, and George W. Wightman, of Boston, vice president of the association.

In the American zone, Canada was drawn against Japan and Hawaii against Australia in the first round.

Argentine drew a bye in the upper half of the draw for the European zone and thus will play in the second round against the winner of the first round match between Czecho-Slovakia and Switzerland. The other two matches in the upper half are: India vs. Ireland and France vs. Denmark.

The six remaining European competitors were drawn in the lower half, first round matches bringing Spain against Roumania and British Isles against Belgium. Italy and Holland both drew byes and were paired in the second round.

The results of the first sectional draw in Davis cup history were regarded by tennis officials as proof of its advantage over the old single draw system. It was pointed out that, except in a few unavoidable instances, the necessity of extensive travelling, which has resulted in past years in numerous defaults, was practically eliminated.

Spain and France, picked by experts as two of the strongest challengers, are in opposite halves of the European zone. Japan, in view of the reported inability of most of Australia's veteran players to take part in this year's contest, looms as the most likely finalist in the American zone.

Winners in the respective areas of play will meet in the United States on August 16, 17 and 18 to decide the challengers for America's laurels. The challenge round is scheduled for August 31, September 1 and 2 at Forest Hills, N. Y.

WILLIE LEWIS, BOXER, IN TOILS OF LAW

New York, Mar. 16.—Willie Lewis, former middleweight boxer, was held by Magistrate Ryttenberg in West Side court in $500 bail today on a charge of illegally possessing intoxicants.

Lewis was arrested in a raid on the Uptown Brokers' club where the police said they found Scotch and rye whiskey. He claimed to be secretary of the club, but the police declared he conducted the place, and that liquor was being sold there.

Lewis, who now manages several well known pugilists, played a part several years ago in bringing the ring game into popularity in France and also was credited with guiding Georges Carpentier into prominence.

SIX WORLD'S TITLES AT STAKE DURING COMING SEASON

New York, Mar. 16.—(By The A. P.)—Six world's boxing champions will defend their titles in New York during the coming outdoor season, according to present plans of promoters. It is possible that this list, promising one of the most active fistic programs in years, may be augmented by one or two other championship contests.

Two of the title bouts have been arranged as attractions at the Polo grounds, the first between Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, and Eugene Criqui, his French rival, on June 2, and the other between Jimmy Wilde, English holder of the world's flyweight belt, and Pancho Villa, former American 112-pound champion, on June 16.

MAY STAGE $100,000 MOTOR BOAT RACE

St. Augustine, Fla., Mar. 16.—Charles F. Hopkins, Jr., chairman of the Ponce De Leon celebration regatta committee, in receipt of the refusal of Horace Dodge to race his Baby Halo against Gar Wood's fastest speed boat for $100,000 side bet is now attempting to arrange a contest between the two boats on April 4, 6 and 6, over the local course for the unlimited power boat championship of America.

TODAY'S SPORTS.

Racing.

Meeting of Jefferson Parish Fair Assn. closes at New Orleans.

Meeting of Cuba-American Jockey club at Havana.

Meeting of Tijuana Jockey club at Tijuana.

Tennis.

Meeting of executive committee of U. S. Lawn Tennis Assn. at New York.

Bowling.

Annual tournament of American Bowling Congress at Milwaukee.

Swimming.

New England intercollegiate championships at Boston.

National interscholastic championships at New York.

National and Central A. A. U. championships at Detroit.

South Atlantic A. A. U. championships at Baltimore.

Track.

Annual indoor games of Morningside A. A. at New York.

Western Intercollegiate Conference indoor meet at Evanston.

Southern California Conference championships at Pomona.

Basketball.

New England interscholastic tournament at Melford, Mass.

Indiana state interscholastic tournament at Indianapolis.

Oregon state interscholastic tournament at Salem.

Idaho state interscholastic tournament at Moscow.

Gymnastic.

Western interscholastic conference championships at Columbus, O.

Wrestling.

New England intercollegiate championships at Boston.

Western intercollegiate conference championships at Columbus, O.

Boxing.

Eugene Criqui, European featherweight champion, sails for America.

Battling Siki vs. Mike McTigue, 20 rounds, at Dublin.

Tommy Lynch vs. Charley Goodman, 12 rounds, at Brooklyn.

VILLA AND FLORES FACE SUSPENSION IN NEW YORK

New York, Mar. 16.—Possible suspension in this state of Pancho Villa and Elinores Flores, Filipino boxers, as a result of the ban placed on them in Connecticut for cancelling bouts scheduled in Waterbury, will be considered tomorrow by the New York state athletic commission.

It was believed that the New York body would make the suspension effective within its jurisdiction because of a working agreement with Connecticut boxing authorities under which the action of both is mutually recognized.

Villa's withdrawal was said to be the result of discovery that his contract to box Jimmy Wilde, of England, for the world's flyweight title at the Polo grounds, in June, contained a clause preventing the Filipino from engaging in any other bouts before then.

LANGFORD TO TEACH FIRPO THE FINE POINTS

New York, March 16.—Sam Langford, "The Boston Tar Baby," will be engaged by Rickard to teach the finesse of boxing to Firpo, it was learned tonight. Langford, in his day, was one of the most skillful men in the ring and one of the hardest hitters. By many he was considered the superior of Jack Johnson when "Lil Arthur" held the crown. Johnson did not risk his title against the Bostonian.

Langford will aid Jimmy DeForest in polishing Firpo's work and attempt to teach the Argentinian to refrain from warning his opponent when he is getting ready to strike.

Lebanon Beats Baltic Bantams.

In one of the fastest basketball games played in several years at Lebanon the village second team defeated the Baltic Bantams on last Wednesday evening by the score of 34 to 30 in an overtime game. At the end of the first half the score stood 13 to 12 in Baltic's favor and at the end of the second half the teams stood at 28 to 28. In the five minute overtime period the Lebanon five score three baskets to Baltic's one. This is the third time Lebanon has won from Baltic.

Exhibition Game.

Los Angeles, March 16.—

Chicago Nationals	3	9	2
Los Angeles Pacific C. L.	2	8	4

(10 innings).

Hodges, Kaufmann, Weiss and O'Farrell; Hartnett; Wallace, Robertson, McQuaid and Baldwin, Tyrell.

"Young Doug" Fairbanks To Star

"I'll try anything that Dad does," said Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., to the reporter who interviewed the lad in Paris just after he signed up there as a movie star this month. "I'd just as soon take a chance on jumping off the top of a building or something like that—if there was a net underneath." A healthy, smiling, fair-haired, blue-eyed school boy of 13 years. Doug is not worrying about the movies just now. He'll return to Hollywood soon to study the art in which he has just launched. Just now he is busy teaching the French kids to play baseball.

MLLE. LENGLEN PROVES HER SUPREMACY OVER HER HATED RIVAL MRS. MALLORY

Nice, Mar. 16.—(By The A. P.)—No one could be found tonight to challenge the right of Susanne Lenglen to the supreme title of the women's tennis world.

After the overwhelming defeat she administered to the American champion, Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, 6-0, 6-0, in the semi-finals of the Nice tournament today, all were agreed that there was no woman in sight likely to dethrone the French star for some time to come.

Mlle. Lenglen was magnanimous in victory and Mrs. Mallory dignified and courageous in defeat, and when they shook hands with apparent cordiality after the match both were given hearty applause by the great crowd of spectators.

Mrs. Mallory refused to talk to the newspapermen but Susanne said she was overjoyed at her success, not because of the victory over Mrs. Mallory personally, but because it gave her the chance "to get back at the American sporting writers," by whom she say she was ill-treated in 1921 after her default to Mrs. Mallory at Forest Hills.

"Perhaps they will see the error of their ways now," she added, "and realize how unfair they have been to me, who had to go on a strange court 48 hours after landing from the boat. I am sure Mrs. Mallory can play a better game than she did today. She was bothered by the light and other conditions to which she is unaccustomed.

"I was ill myself and depressed and could not play my best game in America, but that is ancient history. I bear no ill will toward anyone."

Mlle Lenglen said it was improbable that she would ever play in the United States again. She has received an offer of $40 for an exhibition match at Durham, England, and another of 200,000 francs for twelve matches in America.

"The Americans," she said, "must lose sight of the fact that I would forfeit my standing as an amateur if I accepted their offer. As for Durham, that town must be near the Scotch border."

DAUBERT'S CONDITION IS REPORTED IMPROVED

Cincinnati, March 16.—Jack Daubert, veteran first baseman of the Cincinnati Nationals, who has been seriously ill from influenza and pneumonia at his home in Pottsville, Pa., is slightly improved today according to word received here. It was said that Daubert will not be able to play ball even under the most favorable conditions before May.

NO MORE TICKET SCALPING IN JERSEY

Trenton, N. J., Mar. 16.—Governor Silzer today signed the Marshall bill making ticket scalping a misdemeanor. The measure was introduced at the request of the Princeton Athletic association, which desired to break up the practice of ticket scalping at football games. The bill covers all amusements.

A Card Challenge.

Ponemah Council, No. 34, Knights of Columbus, issues a challenge to any council in the eastern part of the state for a cribbage and pinochle tournament. The council would like to hear from White Cross council and the John J. Sysnott Council of Baltic. W. J. Donnelly, Box 201, Taftville, is the chairman of the committee that issues the challenge.

James Traded for O'Rourke

Toronto, March 16.—Shortstop Jones on whom the Rochester club had waived claims, has been traded for Frank O'Rourke of the Portland, Pacific coast league, club, according to a message from Manager Dan Howley of the Toronto team, at Columbus, Ga.. Portland added a cash payment in the exchange, it was said.

Princeton Beats Harvard.

Cambride, Mass., Mar. 16.—Princeton defeated Harvard in a gymnasium meet here today, 38 points to 7.

Exhibition Game.

Bradentown, Fla., Mar. 16. — St. Louis (N) 4; 11; 2. Boston (N) 3; 8; 4; 10 innings.

Cut in Brown Squad.

Providence, R. I., March 16.—Thirty-six Brown baseball aspirants survived the initial cut in the squad made by Coach Walter Snell this afternoon. About ten players, including veterans and second team men from last year have failed to report. Among the survivors of the cut are ten pitchers, four catchers, four first infielders and seven outfielders.

Harvard Fencers Win.

Cambridge, Mass., Mar. 16.—Harvard fencers defeated Dartmouth here today, seven matches to two.

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

New York city is the home of six boxing champions. They are: Frankie

The annual Harlem River regatta of the New York Rowing association is to take place Memorial Day.

The Cubs will play about 30 spring exhibition games. That makes about a fifth of a season played before opening day.

John J. McGraw has already sent three players to San Francisco in exchange for O'Connell and he will send still another.

Denver Grisby, a recruit from Eapulpa is doing some hard hitting for the Cubs. He got two home runs in a seven inning game.

Frank Chance says that changes in the lineup of Boston Americans are absolutely necessary, thus making the opinion unanimous.

John Ertle, one-time recognized bantamweight champion, has again entered the roped arena and is ready to mingle with 118-pounders.

Adelbert Capes of Ilion, N. Y., outfielder, has been sold by the Pittsfield club of the Eastern League to Toronto of the International league.

The California Yacht club of Los Angeles has mapped out a string of races embracing all styles of aquatic competition from May 13 to Oct. 20.

Because so many major league clubs train in Florida Commissioner Landis may establish winter and spring headquarters in this state.

Coach Blood of Passaic High school has received an invitation from acting Mayor Murray Hulbert of New York to play the High School of Commerce, champions of New York.

From all accounts Frankie Woodward, former Eastern leaguer, is sitting pretty down at Sequin with the White Sox. He must have improved in more ways than one since he pitched here last fall.

Rutgers is one college that did not profit greatly from the foot ball season last fall. The profits were only $69.16, and mind you, Rutgers does not pay George Sanford, its football coach, any salary.

A measure proposing a loan of $160,000 to the Michigan Agricultural college for construction of an athletic stadium is to be presented to the legislature soon. It will have the approval of Gov. Groesbeck.

A dozen bats consigned to Manager Herman Bronkie of the Brasscos have been received at the club office. The bats were sent as a gift to Bronkie, former St. Louis Brown star, from the Draper & Maynard company.

Frankie Frisch declares that he doesn't know to this day who nominated him for the presidency of the baseball players' union. Frankie says further that he doesn't know if there still is a players' union.

Luque Rodriques, a right handed pitcher, a Comanche Indian, has been signed by the Cincinnati Nationals and will report for spring training at Orlando, Fla. This is his first tryout in the major leagues. Rodriques is from Harlington, Tex.

The Browns lost the pennant last year because they had no reserve strength and they haven't picked anything up but rookies this winter. Lee Fohl must find a third baseman and a good utility infielder and have more luck with his young pitchers.

Team play is the secret of success achieved by the Celtic basketball team of New York city. The players are all big fast and clever. In 150 games recently played they won all but 4, many being staged on floors and cages in cities throughout the east and mid-west.

Weak pitching is responsible for poor hitting among college players, according to Jack Slattery, former Harvard coach, who holds that with better pitching there would be better hitting. That is why he is glad to see such a person as Joe Wood become a college coach.

The entire student body of Colgate University will be rewarded for their great support of athletic teams at the Hamilton, N. Y., institution. The students will be taken to Utica, Oct. 27 on a special train to see the Colgate vs Ohio Wesleyan football games and expenses paid.

Genaro, American flyweight; Joe Lynch, world bantamweight; Johnny Dundee, New York state featherweight champion, and American junior lightweight; Benny Leonard, world lightweight; Johnny Wilson, world middleweight and Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight.

The United States Referees' union, the body embracing soccer football officials, is made up of 400 members throughout this country and is gradually spreading. It has been decided to wear new uniforms consisting of blue pants and coat, also blue stockings with a white stripe boarder. A neat shield over the coat pocket will read, "U. S. R. A."

ANDRE KNOCKS OUT WAGNER IN SECOND

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Danielson, March 16.—Five extra bouts kept 600 fans in an uproar of applause at the town hall Friday evening from start to finish, the bouts furnished a sensation and the crowd was kept at a high pitch of excitement. In the star bout of the evening scheduled to go ten rounds, Sailor Andre of Framingham put Honey Gil Wagner of Hartford down for the count after two rounds of whirlwind boxing. This appeared to be a popular victory to the crowd and reversed the results of a bout held here several weeks ago when Wagner knocked out Andre in four rounds.

In the seventh round of the semi-final scheduled to go eight rounds, Dick Bell of Poughkeepsie won a decision over Young Starkey of Portsmouth, N. H., who went down for the count after a great battle.

The preliminaries were extra fast, in the first of these Young Supermaunit of Wauregan and Kid Dumas of Putnam went four fast rounds to a draw. Another fine bout, between Tommy Weeks of Plainfield and Young Berube of Danielson, went four rounds to a draw.

The fans are clamoring to see these two fast boys matched for a longer bout. Willie O'Dowd of Central Village got a decision over Young Rhody of Rasseag, whose seconds called it off when their man went groggy after four rounds. O'Dowd was ranked by the crowd and Young Rhody loudly applauded as he left the ring.

Frank Barber acted as referee and gave fine satisfaction. An announcement from the ring was that Kid Miller of Norwich challenged Willie O'Dowd of Central Village. The bout probably will be staged here.

HOUSE SOLD OUT FOR SIKI-McTIGUE BOUT

Dublin, March 16.—(By the A. P.)—The fight between Battling Siki, European heavyweight champion, and Mike McTigue in the Scala theatre tomorrow night was the big topic of conversation in Dublin tonight. There was a great rush on the booking office, and nearly all the seats, ranging in price from 25 shillings to £9 have been sold.

Leaves Large Family.

A microbe was born at 11:37 a. m. and died at 11:56 the same morning, leaving 107,358,640 descendants with no visible means of support. Just because you happen to be feeling strong and well today, do not snub the insurance agent.

India Nation of Farmers.

The large majority of the population of India are engaged in agricultural pursuits, nearly 200,000,000 being engaged in tilling the soil or dependent for their living upon those so engaged.

Thinness of Spider's Thread.

A scientist once compared a hair of his beard with a spider's thread under a microscope and estimated that it would take 10,000 threads to equal one hair in substance.

Welcomed Everywhere.

Record-breaking sales mark the widespread endorsement of the new Willys-Knight. Seven beautiful new models, each powered by the marvelous Willys-Knight sleeve-valve engine that improves with use. Many owners report 50,000 miles of smooth performance in their Willys-Knights without a single engine adjustment.

Week for the Willys-Overland Advertisements in The Saturday Evening Post

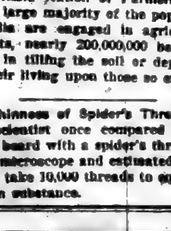
WILLYS-KNIGHT

Touring 5-pass., $1225 Roadster 3-pass., $1225 Sedan 5-pass., $1795 Coupe-Sedan 5-pass., $1595
Touring 7-pass., $1425 Coupe 3-pass., $1495 Sedan 7-pass., $1995 ALL PRICES F. O. B. TOLEDO

THE ENGINE IMPROVES WITH USE

OVERLAND SALES & SERVICE CO., 252 Franklin St.
PLAINFIELD, CONN.—DANIELSON, CONN., RAILROAD AVENUE
H. H. STARKWEATHER, SUB. AGENT

16 Standard Favorite Songs



$2.98 For All

"The Rosary"
"Home Sweet Home"
"Dixie"
"Comin' Thro' the Rye"
"Silent Night, Holy Night"
"My Wild Irish Rose"
"Goodbye"
"I Hear You Calling Me"
"Silver Threads Among the Gold"
"Macushla"
"Schubert Serenade"
"Little Mother of Mine"
"Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming"
"Mighty Lak' a Rose"
"Mamie's in the Cold, Cold Ground"
"Love's Dream is O'er"

EIGHT DOUBLE-DISC Full Size 10-Inch Records

Here are the songs that never grow old—the favorites you remember as long as you live, ballads that touch every heart. Just the music that should be in EVERY HOME. Eight full size double face records—16 wonderful old-time songs, quality guaranteed to equal highest priced records. All for only $2.98. Can be played on any phonograph.

Send No Money. Don't send a penny now. Pay the postman only $2.98, plus postage, on arrival. Money back at once absolutely guaranteed if you are not more than pleased. Write postal or letter NOW.

KELLEY & COWLES, Inc.
98 PRATT ST., HARTFORD, CONN.
"HOME OF EVERYTHING MUSICAL"

LITTLE JACK RABBIT

By DAVID CORY

Captured by Wicked Wolfe

"Where are you going?" asked the pretty canary bird, as Little Jack Rabbit hopped around the little white bungalow his knapsack bouncing up and down on his back and his striped candy cane swinging from his paw.

"Over to see Uncle Lucky," replied the little bunny boy and away he hopped down the path through the brambles and out on the Sunny Meadow. By and by, after a while, and a skip and a smile, he came to the Shady

Chippy Chipmunk asked: "Where are you going, little bunny rover?"

Forest. As he hopped under the old rail fence, Chippy Chipmunk asked:

"Where you going, little bunny rover?"

"To see Uncle Lucky," replied the little rabbit and away he hopped up the Shady Forest trail winding in and out among the trees, but, oh dear me! All of a sudden, just like that, he heard a dreadful growl and before he could hop away to safety, somebody grabbed him by the throat.

"Ha, ha, ha," again chuckled Mr. Wicked Wolf dropped the little frightened bunny into a big empty gunny sack. Then throwing it over his shoulder, he started off for his den in the Shady Forest.

"Ha, ha, ha," again chuckled Mr. Wicked Wolf, "what a nice dinner Mrs. Wolf and I will have tonight."

"Oh dear me!" thought the little rabbit, "Mother will never see her little bunny boy come hopping up the path in the Old Bramble Patch."

"Ha, ha!" chuckled Mr. Wolf for the third time as he hurried along with the poor little rabbit.

"Oh, oh, oh!" cried the frightened little bunny boy all alone in the sack on the back of the big wicked wolf, "What shall I do, what shall I do?"

Just then, a little voice from the tree top whispered:

"Haven't you a knife in your pocket?"

It was Bobbie Redvest's voice, so low and sweet, that Mr. Wicked Wolf, who was a little deaf, never heard it.

"Oh, oh! oh!" thought the little rabbit, all atremble, his little knees going clitter, clatter and his little heart pitter patter, "I wonder if I have?" and he looked through his pockets one by one, his little pink nose trembling with fright like a tiny star on a frosty night. At last, oh joy! and a catch of his breath, he found his knife in the handkerchief pocket of his coat.

Then, he waited, all alone in the sack—on the back—of the big Wicked Wolf.

There, it came again, the little voice from the treetop:

"Cut ——a hole ——in the sack——
Oh, so——care——ful——ly!"

Dear, dear me, just as I was going to tell you what happened next, the printer called me up and said:

"Hello, hello, David Cory,
If you don't hurry with your story,
We'll print our morning paper
Without your little rabbit tale."

So, please boys and girls, wait for the story to hear what happened after that.

(Copyright, 1923, by David Cory)

MAIL-AD

FILL OUT AND MAIL TO

THE NORWICH BULLETIN

NORWICH, CONN.

10c a Line. Average 5 Words to a Line — Wants, To Let, For Sale, Etc.

Name..... Classification.....

R. F. D. or Street..... Number of Insertions.....

Post Office..... Am't Enclosed.....

Write complete ad below including name and address — Or if blind address is wanted mark X here ☐

DELCO-LIGHT

Protection from Night Prowlers

Delco-Light affords protection from night prowlers. Electric lights around the buildings and grounds may be turned on from the porch or inside the house, making the yard and premises as bright as day.

WRITE FOR CATALOG

CARL W. BROWN
UNCAS NATIONAL BANK BLDG.
NORWICH, CONN.

MAKES NIGHT AS BRIGHT AS DAY

NORWICH BULLETIN and Courier

127 YEARS OLD

Published every day in the year except Sunday. Subscription price $5 a week; $20 a month; $60 a year.

Entered at the postoffice at Norwich, Conn., as second-class matter.

Telephone Calls.

Business Department, Office, 480.
Bulletin Editorial Rooms, 35 & 3.
Bulletin Job Room, 35-2.

Willimantic Office, 21 Church St. Telephone 210.

Norwich, Saturday, March 17, 1923.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news despatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

All rights of republication of special despatches herein are also reserved.

CIRCULATION

WEEK ENDING MARCH 10th, 1923

11,708

"PROJECT NEVER ABANDONED."

From all indications the representatives of the Southern New England railroad from Palmer to Providence are painting just as rosy an outlook for the completion of that stretch of road as possible. It must be done now or not at all. It rests with the legislatures of two states to extend the charters, and such action is not likely to be secured if nothing is going to be done.

Had representatives of the road gone to the legislators and said that there was absolutely no chance of resuming work there would be no charter extensions. The vice president of the road tells the Rhode Island legislature that it certainly will be finished and infers that it will be done within two years. President Smith of the Central Vermont says: "I want to make it very clear that the Grand Trunk and the Central Vermont have never abandoned the Southern New England project."

Even though there has been no abandonment of the project President Smith doesn't say it is going to be built right away, or that it ever will be built, but lets it be inferred that it may be some day.

Having put something like seven million dollars into the plan it is the most natural thing in the world that those who have a hold on the possibilities of such construction should want to retain the right to build in the hopes of getting some of their money back. But is Canada, for Canada is now the owner of the lines interested in this extension, going to utilize money which is needed on the roads within the provinces to develop railroads in New England?

The road may get the extension of its charters in the two states, and it is probably no more than right in view of conditions which have been prevailing that they should, but there are a good many who take the view that that will not mean the completion of that extension by appropriations from the dominion government. Railroads are requiring money for other purposes these days than in building costly extensions that are not called for.

CANADA AND COAL.

Not only this country but Canada has been aroused by conditions of the past several months to demand better protection against a coal shortage. Canada depends to a large degree upon this country. There is an agreement between the nations that Canada will get a certain tonnage, and it was because of that that there was the reluctance to shut off the exportation of coal to the neighbor to the north during the last two months. Canada was obliged to experience a curtailment of its allotment but such as was due to go there was no more seriously hampered than that coming to New England.

Canada has nevertheless been brought to the realization of the fact that it is depending upon this country for fuel and that something should be done as soon as possible to decrease that dependence.

It hasn't gotten to the point where it urges less consumption of coal, for it is felt that it can be obtained in other markets, but it may well give more serious consideration to the opportunities that exist in that country for the utilization of its great amount of water power that is now going to waste. Through that, Canada could not only greatly reduce the amount of coal required, but it could produce more electric current than it could use and in that field would find it profitable to develop it for the purpose of distributing it in this country among the states south of the border.

Just how far Canada will go in the attempt to obtain greater independence concerning fuel has not been indicated. It has the chance to better itself, not only by getting cheaper power from another source, but also to build up a highly profitable power development system with product for export as well as home consumption.

Great waste is now being experienced wherever waterpower is permitted to go undeveloped. Canada will do well to give it a thought when it is probing the coal situation, and what applies to Canada holds exactly as good for New England.

A VALUABLE SERVICE.

A service that comparatively few have an opportunity to see in operation, but which is nevertheless of the utmost value to transatlantic shipping, is the patrol work that is done by government vessels in that part of the Atlantic where the icebergs menace the steamship lanes.

Plowing through the ocean without any point of destination, but constantly seeking and noting the presence of ice floes in the north Atlantic and communicating the knowledge obtained to vessels headed in that direction must be monotonous and more or less hazardous work. It is, however, a protective measure of great merit. It is known that at this time of the year, and for some time to come, the routes of the steamships are crossed by the large number of bergs coming down from [illegible]. Whatever information can be given concerning the location of such an ice field and its extent is most valuable to navigators. Instead of being obliged to shape their course anew after discovering much ice they know in advance what to expect and how to avoid it.

After the patrol starts its work there is little ground for the excuse being offered that captains of vessels did not know of the ice field until it was too late.

The Titanic disaster was too serious to permit any more chances of the kind being taken. Two nations are united on the need and importance of the patrol service. They pay the expenses and they get the benefit of the information based on conditions. It may never be known how many lives are saved as the result of such preventive measures but that is inconsequential as long as it is known that Titanic disasters are not being repeated each year and increased safety is assured ocean travel.

LOOKING OUT FOR OURSELVES.

Chairman Johnson of the house immigration committee is enthusiastic for the further restriction of immigrants. His bill for reducing the number permitted to come into the country to two per cent of those here two decades ago will be pushed by him in the next session, it being his conviction that such a restriction would be none too great for the good of the country.

The next session of congress will not assemble until the last month of this year. It will be a considerable time before it gets down to the business of considering any change in the immigration law and conditions throughout the country may undergo a decided change in that time.

Cutting down the number of admissions was proposed as a wise measure following the war. It was urged not as a permanent but temporary policy, and it has served to keep out a large number of those who would have been disposed to rush to these shores during that period of unemployment.

We protected ourselves and we are still doing so with some modifications. We have gone from a period of industrial stagnation to prosperity. We have reached the point where the department of labor declares "Employment is greater during the present period, with one exception than ever before." We have got to the point where much trouble is being experienced in getting common labor. The lack of the immigrant in connection with this service is noted. By the time congress is knuckling down to business again the situation may be such that a modified rather than increased restrictions concerning desirable immigrants may be warranted.

THE FAR EAST AGAIN.

With China demanding the abrogation of the treaty with Japan which contains the famous 21 demands, and Japan quickly refusing such a request new interest is bound to be manifested in the far east.

When Japan faced China with that treaty and its demands it was in a position where it could not resist. It signed, and while the terms have been displeasing it has continued for the past eight years.

China has experienced the good results of the withdrawal of the Japanese from Shantung and it is now anxious to get rid of the burden which it considers is imposed by this treaty. It wants that increased freedom from Japanese influence which it believes would come from the termination of that treaty.

It had been hoped that the Washington conference had cleared up the situation in the far east so that better relationships would prevail. Much good was done by that conference relative to the far eastern situation, but this treaty was not eliminated. It was left with the two countries to settle themselves.

China is therefore taking action at this time to accomplish that object. Japan gives no encouragement to its ambitions. It is in fact throwing cold water upon them. It doesn't forebode improved neighborly feelings, but perhaps it may yet dawn upon China that its plea might get a much better reception were it a fact that conditions were entirely harmonious at home. Japan doesn't want to open the door there any faster than it has to but China does little to strengthen its own position.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

St. Patrick' day, and the day for the wearing of the green.

The middle of the month and official spring on the next line of the calendar.

Great Britain has been experiencing some of those elections that are a surprise to the victors.

It is a bit hard on those who have been obliged to defer their plans for getting in their early peas.

The man on the corner says: Those who are stirring up the sugar prices are not sweetening any dispositions among the consumers.

It may not seem like it but two months hence the god old strawhat season will be with us once more. The groundhog cannot upset that.

Not exactly what would be regarded as baseball weather but it is always darkest just before dawn and no season escapes its cold setbacks.

Sir Eric Geddes declares Great Britain is being taxed out of existence but none in the Berlin government could make that claim about Germany.

The soviet government of Russia is strongly opposed to the league of nations. Possibly that is why Senator Borah thinks the soviet government ought to be recognized.

A Pennsylvania man drank bad liquor and died. That has gotten to be a common experience in the past year or two, but it goes on just as if nothing of the kind ever happened before.

There is a demand just now that all public daredevil stunts like those by the human flies should be forbidden. But it will all be forgotten in a few days until the next case revives it.

It now remains for someone to concoct a scheme for outdoing the fake perpetrated by the Michigan young woman. It will be too much of a publicity opportunity for some to resist.

THE MAN WHO TALKS

Last week in this column a certain application was made of the old saying that "necessity was the mother of invention." Let me here apply it to finding a substitute for anthracite coal. Sure as fate—or, better still, sure as providence—this discovery is sure to come. If there is any psychology in the repetition of history it is this: when the people have struggled to the limit with some unfortunate condition, something is always found to better that condition. Years ago there was the question of transportation; the old stage coach was not equal to the increasing population, hence the steam railroads. The dim and smoky tallow candle was not equal to the increasing demand, hence in turn, kerosene, gas and electricity. The day of anthracite coal and its profiteering is passing. May there not be something in the alleged discovery of bottled sunlight? We laugh at it, of course, so we did at Darius Green and his flying machine, but, we don't now. It may be that $16.50 per ton for coal is doomed.

Suppose we look at this proposed substitute for anthracite coal squarely in the face and see whether the proposition is pure "bunk" or whether it is scientifically reasonable. It has been clearly established that the source of all heat is the sun, and that different natural products have been selected for its storage. Coal is one of them, wood is another, oil is still another, and so on. Now it is not unreasonable, much less impossible, for man to discover some means for heat storage, and this is claimed to have been already done. As we can now store up non-heat for cooling purposes in summer, why should it be impossible to store up heat itself for warming purposes in winter? It is claimed that heat can be stored in great quantity in vast non-conducting receptables for winter use. At least on a small scale it is asserted that the experiment has been successful.

It seems to be a necessary condition of long life that we criticise something at some time before we are called home. Those who fail to do it usually die young. We are expected to do this whether we have the critical ability or not, for if we fail here we have no chance of shining in social life. To help us get into high (?) society, the Creator has kindly invented the weather, and as an extra stroke of kindness has invented New England weather. If a man can't wax eloquent over the demi-semi-quavers of the weather within a radius of 150 miles of Worcester, Mass., he doesn't know enough to shine in the society of boobs. To succeed in criticism there must be a background of safety. For instance, to tell a prize fighter that his mouth with its immediate vicinity was modeled after a hippopotamus would not be particularly successful. But one can whack the weather to his heart's content and it will neither strike back nor talk back.

While all Europe is so woefully lacking in political harmony (yes, and in all other kinds of harmony) it is refreshing to read what was accomplished at the Central American congress recently held in Washington. It would seem that just as the nations of Europe are drifting farther and farther apart, those that compose the confederacies of America are coming closer and closer together. For many years Central America was dominated by foreign opinion, and foreign opinion before our rapid expansion following the Civil war was decidedly hostile. It might have been natural that the Old World should have looked at our democracy as a dangerous experiment in government, and therefore it seemed to be the policy with some countries to poison the minds of the people against us. With many of the backward peoples it succeeded. The Spanish influence which prevailed in so many states to the south of us did not look with favor at the United States. But as we grew to be the leading nation in the world, in point of wealth and influence, this feeling was modified. The recent conference showed this as never before.

What advancement has been made in the last few years in the artistry of advertisements! This is in no small measure due to the improvements made in photography, and especially with the uses made of color. Fifty years ago advertisements were entirely lacking in artistic execution. To say that they were crude expresses it but mildly. Of course, they were expected to catch the attention, otherwise they would not have been advertisements, but they could not long hold the attention because of their crudity. In recent years it has become a profession to illustrate for magazines; for the advertisements as well as for the printed articles. It is true beyond all question that pleasing the eye with artistic drawings pays for itself in the increased sale of the periodical. The whole effect is educative.

While attempts are being made to embellish the things we know, equal efforts are being put forth to lessen the world of the unknown. Among the latest of the more scientific discoveries has doubtless been the finding of the influenza germ, which has until recently escaped the expert's eye because of its extremely small size. Dr. Simon Flexner of the Rockefeller Foundation, who discovered it, says that it is the smallest germ yet found. The advancement made in bacteriology at the Foundation in the last few years has made this discovery possible. It now only remains to isolate the germ—which is not a difficult matter—and discover what antidotes will most effectively overcome it, and this, too, is not difficult. So that it is safe to say that the discovery of the germ will soon be followed by its eradication. Influenza will then take its place with other conquered germinal diseases.

The real implements here in the United States with which graves are dug are not the pickaxe and spade but the knife and fork. Of course, pickaxe and spade play their part in this human comedy, but not until after the house run has been made—after the knife and fork has got in its perfect work. This statement does not apply to starving Armenia or famished Russia, where knives and forks are getting rusty, and where people die so fast that pickaxes and spades are of little use. It does, however, apply to this great country of the overfed. With us the prevailing disease is Americanitis, or some ailment of the digestive functions, brought on by overeating or injudicious eating. Now when a man's food begins to play golf in his stomach it raises Cain generally. The whole alimentary canal goes on a strike, and if it is long continued he will get into the region of blue devils where he will welcome the pickaxe and the spade.

Stories That Recall Others

Not Easy to Learn to Cook.

This bride of three months lives in an apartment and has become very friendly with her neighbors. She strolled into a company of other women who have their habitat in the same building, sat down and said she was tired. Of course another woman asked what she had been doing.

"Just preparing dinner for my husband," she said, "and for one who never cooked before it was some task."

"How did your beloved like it?" another neighbor asked.

"He was proud of me," replied the bride glowing through her weary countenance.

"Review the menu," came the chorus.

"All right," came back from the bride: "Sliced tomatoes, boiled eggs, canned corn, lettuce, chocolate, dried beef and hot rolls from the bakery. I tell you it's no easy job to learn to cook in three months."

They Would Average.

Mrs. A. received two chickens from her mother, who lived in the country. She tried to persuade them to lay eggs, but they wouldn't. She fed them everything she could but still success was not attained. One day a letter came from her mother. "I am getting an average of ten eggs a day. How are your eggs averaging?" she wrote.

That very day one of the hens laid an egg. And when daughter answered she said: "So far our average has been one egg for every three months. But if you'll keep writing about your hens and rousing the spirit of competition in them, I'm sure they'll raise their average."

SUNDAY MORNING TALK

Running the Race

There are in us two selves, the carnal and the spiritual, one or the other must gain the upper hand. One or the other must be the servant of the other, in this as in the choice between God and mammon there can be no temporizing, no half-way measures. Our higher nature must subjugate the love or it will inevitably be dominated by it.

What of the consequences of this choice? Romans 8:6 tells us: "For to be carnally minded, to be governed by the desires of our lower nature) is death, but to be spiritually minded is life and peace." And the next verses tell us why that is true: "Because the carnal mind is enmity against God; for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be. So then they that are in the flesh (that is, living for self) cannot please God. It is necessary that we should bring our wills into conformity with the will of God, but it is the control of the body which we are now speaking.

The athlete (every Greek was interested in athletics) trains for the foot race. He is temperate in all things, he endeavors to do nothing that will impair his vital energy, he indeed begins his striving long before the contest, and all the care he takes of himself, all the self-control he exercises is in order to gain the crown, or rather wreath of laurel, that is the reward of the victor.

But, says Paul, we are striving to obtain a crown that will not perish like a wreath of laurel leaves—an incorruptible crown. The inference is that surely we shall strive no less strenuously for this spiritual crowning than the athlete does for his earthly crown.

In Hebrews 12:1, we are further encouraged to run the spiritual race by being told that we are "compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses." Here is the language of the arena again. All about us on five stands, tier upon tier of seats, are the spectators mentioned in Hebrews 11. Heavenly spectators—Noah, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Moses and so on—are watching us strive for this crown that shall never perish, which every one can win and which no one shall take from us. The race does not run for all eternity.

Shall we do less than the athlete? Shall we not also "lay aside every weight?" shall we not lay aside also "the sin which doth so easily beset us?" and shall we not "run with patience the race that is set before us?"

And shall we not keep our eyes steadfastly fixed on Jesus, who Himself is the goal of our race, and who Himself ran the race before us? Shall we not run steadily, shall we not contend manfully, when we remember that it is all for Him who loved us, and washed us from our sins in His own precious blood, and that all honor and glory which we owe to Him will be His?

[illegible]

Washington, Nov. 13, 1817.

Sir: Yours of the 29th ult reaches me at Norfolk a few days past. The office of Attorney General of the United States which you have done me the honor to tender to my acceptance I shall be ready to enter upon its duties as soon as the forms of qualification can be completed.

I am, Sir, most respectfully,

Your obd. serv't,

WM. WIRT.

To the President of the U. S.

The "forms of qualification" evidently were completed on the day this letter was written, for Mr. Wirt's appointment is dated Nov. 13, 1817.

Mr. Daugherty was particularly interested in the form of calling cabinet meetings in 1818 which was revealed by a note on a very small sheet of paper addressed to Mr. Wirt as follows:

The secretary of state presents his compliments to the Attorney General of the United States, and submits, by direction of the president, for his consideration and official opinion upon each case, the enclosed papers in relation to the Mutineers received on board the American ship Galen, from the British ship, Sir Joseph Banks, and brought into the port of Boston to be delivered to the British Consul there to be sent to England for trial—and 2dly to the conduct of Captain Felix, commander of the British ship Beaver at New Orleans concerning a deserter from the British service, who went on board that vessel and was detained by the Captain.

The original papers are sent to Mr. Wirt, and he is requested to return them to this office.

JOHN QUINCY ADAMS.

Department of State, Nov. 13, 1817.

Aaron Burr Insisted For Treason.

Records concerning the Aaron Burr treason case proved of great interest to Mr. Daugherty especially as the facts discussed in the documents related to Ohio proceedings, the attorney general's native state. John C. Wright, district attorney for Ohio, wrote the attorney general from Steubenville under date 1st July, 1818, asking what he shall do in the matter of the "indictment against Aaron Burr and Herman Blumerhogat for treason which have been a long time pending in court. * * * without any reason assigned." He adds: "I have applied to my predecessor in office to know the situation of these cases and why they are continued and have received for answer that as the wishes of government were unknown on the subject they were continued for want of such knowledge. I can see but one use in keeping these causes on the docket of the court, and that is to give it an appearance of business. I wish your advice, sir, what steps to take in these cases—if they are to be retained on the docket had I not better take measures to arrest the defendants and bring them to trial? If not would it not be better to not press the indictments and so finish them?"

No reply to this letter has been found among the department of justice files, but history records that no action was taken against either Burr or Blumerhogat (sometimes spelled "Blennerhassett") after they had discharged at the trials held at Richmond in 1806 and 1807.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Charles F. Brush, the Cleveland scientist and electrical engineer, who today enters upon his seventy-fifth year, is known as the man who lighted the world with electricity. He it was who devised the system of a series of arc lights working from one dynamo, the same system that is still used for lighting the streets of the large cities throughout the world. Born in one of the suburbs of Cleveland, Mr. Brush attended the public schools of that city and then took a course in mechanical engineering at the University of Michigan. It was while engaged in business as an iron and ore commission merchant that he conceived the idea of the arc light. His invention was exhibited at the Philadelphia exposition in 1876 and its merits were almost immediately recognized. In the years that followed Mr. Brush realized a large fortune from this and other of his inventions and improvements in the field of electric lighting.

[illegible]

Today's Anniversaries

1687—Murder of La Salle, the explorer of the Mississippi and Illinois country.

1754—Madame Roland, a prominent factor in the French Revolution, born. Died by the guillotine in Paris, Nov. 8, 1793.

1800—Seven hundred sailors perished in an explosion which destroyed the British warship Queen Charlotte, off Leghorn.

1820—St. Patrick's Day was celebrated in St. Louis for the first time.

1836—A constitution was adopted for the Republic of Texas.

1878—Carlo Patti, distinguished musician brother of Adelina Patti, died in Cincinnati.

1898—A strong fleet of United States war vessels was mobilized at Key West in anticipation of the war with Spain.

1920—Five deaths resulted from a great blizzard in North Dakota.

1923—Gen. Felix Diaz, Mexican soldier and revolutionary, was assassinated near Orita.

Today's Birthdays

Lady Patricia Ramsay, only daughter of the Duke of Connaught and first cousin of King George, born 37 years ago today.

Pierce Butler, associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, born in Dakota county, Minn., 57 years ago today.

Nathan E. Kendall, the present governor of Iowa, born at Greenville, Iowa, 56 years ago today.

J. Morton Howell, the United States minister to Egypt, born in Auglaize county, Ohio, 60 years ago today.

Rt. Rev. Edward P. Allen, Catholic bishop of Mobile, born at Lowell, Mass., 70 years ago today.

Wives of Famous Men

Virginia Clemm, Wife of Edgar Allen Poe.

Virginia Clemm was cousin to Edgar Allen Poe, the famous American poet, and it was while he was living with her mother that he fell in love with Virginia. At that time she was only thirteen or fourteen years old. She was extremely beautiful and charming. Despite her youth she was exceedingly intelligent and completely won the heart of her cousin, who was only twenty-six himself. They were married in Baltimore, or rather, they were licensed to be married in that city, but there seems to be no record of a marriage by a minister. There is a tradition affirming the fact that the Rev. John Johns performed the ceremony, but inquiries by the biographers leave the question anything but definitely settled. A letter to Rev. Johns' son received the following reply:

"* * * Replying to your favor of Nov. 1st, let me say that the records of the marriages performed by the Rev. Dr. Johns in Baltimore are, I presume, to be found at Christ church, Baltimore. We have no traditions or other information."

In answer to a letter to Christ church came this information:

"There is no record of Poe's marriage in the books of Christ church, in the years 1834, '35 or '36."

However, we do know that although they lived in poverty, they were far happier with each other than many a wealthier couple. Poe's great love for his wife never grew cold, and he inspired him to write many of his best works. Her extremely pallid face, set with large black eyes, and enhanced by a wealth of raven hair, was a perfect appearance. [illegible] contrasted her [illegible] were not destined to live long together. Virginia, naive, innocent, confided daily in [illegible] pretty frock and [illegible] before she died. Mrs. Graves [illegible] gives us a pathetic description of the death-bed:

"There was no clothing on the bed which was only straw, but it was white counterpane and sheets, and [illegible] on the straw bed, supported by her husband's greatcoat, with a tortoise-shell cat on her bosom. The cat, they tell us, was the only means of warmth, except as her husband and [illegible] her hands and feet. Mrs. Clemm [illegible] with the adoring [illegible] of her husband, [illegible] Virginia Poe leave this world as a better one."

COMPENSATION AWARD FOR WIDOW OF JAMES STONE

In the workmen's compensation claim of Mrs. Anna L. Stone of 12 Degen street, Groton, on account of the death of her husband, James Stone, an employe of the Mary Louise Whip & Leather Co. Commissioner J. J. Donahue has ruled that Mrs. Stone is entitled to payment of $18.46 for 2 6-7 weeks of 11.33, which covers the actual period of disability result-

[illegible]

Kinney Bros.

BETTER FURNITURE FOR BETTER HOMES AT GUARANTEED LOWEST IN THE CITY PRICES

We Solicit Your Patronage on Four Cardinal Points:

1—QUALITY — Artistic, Dependable Furniture that Transforms Any House Into a Home.

2—ASSORTMENT — So Large and Varied That You Are Sure to Find the Right Style for Your Home.

3—LOW PRICES—Fully Guaranteed to Be the Lowest in the City.

4—We Suppose That Most Norwich Knows These Things But It Doesn't Hurt to Repeat.

HOURIGAN BROS.

COMPLETE HOME FURNISHERS

CRAWFORD COOKING RANGES

62-66 Main Street

Lincoln said, "Saving is Having"

You SAVE when you buy "SALADA"

The Best is Always the Most Economical

300 Delicious Cups to a Pound

BLACK (Ceylon and India) MIXED and GREEN

Sold in Sealed Metal Packets Only.

Liberty Cash Market

WASHINGTON SQUARE NORWICH, CONN.

SPECIALS FOR SATURDAY ONLY

SMALL SMOKED SHOULDERS, lb. 10½c

CORN-FED STEER BEEF ALL KINDS BEST STEAKS, lb. 28c

Regular 35c Value

LEAN, TENDER POT ROAST, lb. 12½c

FRESH BEEF LIVER, 3 lbs. 23c

LEAN PORK CHOPS, 3 lbs. 50c

PORK LOINS TO ROAST, lb. 16c

HONEY COMB TRIPE, 3 lbs. 23c

OUR SPECIAL FRANKFORTS, lb. 15c

CREAMERY BUTTER, lb. 55c

No smarting no burning when you use Resinol

Just prompt and blessed relief from the torment itching and burning of eczema or kindred disorders. This soothing, healing ointment goes to the right to the root of the trouble, restoring skin health in a surprisingly short time. No longer an experiment but a [illegible]

CARPENTERS WANTED

AT 7:30 P. M. SATURDAY, A FACTORY REPRESENTATIVE OF

ATKINS SAWS

will demonstrate these celebrated tools at the store of the

EATON-CHASE CO.

129 Main Street, Norwich

SOUVENIRS FREE

Also Free Saw for Some One. Ask for Ticket.

Good Teeth and Good Temper

Are characteristic of the Atkins Saws always.

That is because they are made of the best steel in the world — Silver Steel — by men that know how.

ROTARY DISTRICT ELECTS COOPER FOR PRESIDENT

George H. Cooper of Pittsfield, Mass., was elected district governor of the 38th district Rotary clubs at a luncheon in New Haven, Friday. He will succeed Donald A. Adams of New Haven. Howard C. Conant of Holyoke, Mass., withdrew in favor of Mr. Cooper and the selection of the latter was unanimous.

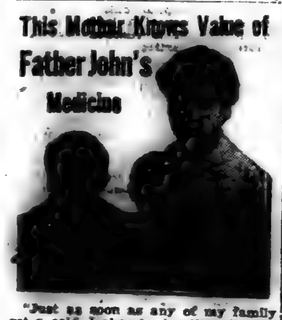
Speakers at the sessions included Prof. William R. Vance of Yale; J. W. Clarke of New London; Dan Berglund of Pittsfield, Mass.; Walter B. Adams of Holyoke, Mass.; Charles Chapman of Waterbury; the Rev. Arthur Griffin of Rutland, Vt.; Paul Dessureck of Westerbury and Arthur M. Brown of Norwich.

"LITTLE MINISTER" ON SCREEN FOR WOMEN'S MEETING

In spite of the storm on Friday evening a fair sized audience gathered in the auditorium of the Hugh H. Osgood Memorial for the March meeting of the Parish House department of the Women's Federation of Park Congregational church. A Paramount photoplay of six reels, entitled "The Little Minister" adapted from the book of Sir James Barrie was shown.

A building permit was issued this week for the erection of a new church for St. Boniface's parish, New Haven. The church will be built on State street, with a frontage of 50 feet and a depth of 119 feet.

This Mother Knows Value of Father John's Medicine



"Just as soon as any of my family get a cold, I always give them Father John's Medicine. One of my babies as well as my husband had pneumonia two years ago, and I believe that Father John's Medicine helped them to regain their health. I always use Father John's Medicine just as soon as any of us get cold." (Signed) Mrs. John E. Nichols, 2716 Hazel St., Erie, Pa.

For building up strength to resist colds and coughs as well as to get rid of them, Father John's Medicine has proved its value by more than 67 years of success. It is the standard family medicine in thousands of homes all over the country. Guaranteed free from alcohol and dangerous drugs in any form.

IF YOU HAVEN'T YOU SHOULD SEE THE NEW LINE OF Social Stationery

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED

It is the best ever and so reasonable.

Fine as an EASTER GIFT.

The Cranston Co.

Norwich, Saturday, March 17, 1923.

VARIOUS MATTERS

Today is St. Patrick's Day.

Light vehicle lamps at 6.35 o'clock tonight.

Bridge score pads, the latest, Franklin Press, Chestnut street.—adv.

Much of the snow and ice disappeared during the heavy downpour of rain Friday.

Final certificates of dissolution have been filed by the following corporations: Longworth Wetherby Co., Inc., Middletown; Hall's Market Co., Meriden.

The Eleventh District club of Bridgeport has filed articles of association. Its purpose is the civic, social and literary advancement of its members.

Frederick E. King of Ware, Mass., has resigned his position as assistant master mechanic for the Otis company to accept a place with the Goodyear company in Goodyear.

A good sum was realized for the benefit of the New London Order of the Eastern Star hospital at Wallingford at a card party given by the Women's Auxiliary to the Masons.

"Absolutely the only way to control small pox is by means of vaccination," said Prof. Yandell Henderson of Yale in speaking of legislation pending in the legislature.

The Konold Co., Inc., of New Haven has elected the following officers: President, George H. Bussman; vice president, Henry G. Jacob; secretary and treasurer, George T. Jacob.

Noted medium, Mrs. Bradley at Spiritual Academy Sunday.—adv.

The National Metal and Paper Co., of Norwich has elected the following officers: President, Israel Hankin; secretary-treasurer, Fred Herman; board of directors, the officers and Bella Dembo.

Ralph O. Wells, representing the grocers of the state, appeared before the committee on agriculture Thursday in opposition to a bill which would prohibit the sale of milk diluted with cocoanut oil.

Announcement has been received at Constantinople from Angora that the project of Rear Admiral Chester, New London native, to supply Turkey with all the agricultural machinery it needs, has been accepted.

The Citizens' Loan Co. of Hartford has filed a certificate of organization at the office of the secretary of the state. The company has a capital of $10,000 divided into 100 100 shares of $100 par value.

Thirty miles to the gallon. That's what the Page air-cooled cars give.—adv.

Officials of the Westerly Girl Scouts announced that the sales conducted by the girls have proved very successful and that all the articles which had been put up to be sold had been disposed of.

Rollin U. Tyler, democratic candidate for governor in 1920, appeared before the legislative judiciary committee in opposition to a bill to give the town of Westbrook a fee simple title to West Beach in that town.

The Suffield Post of the American Legion No. 79 which was to have conducted a drive for the Salvation Army Relief Fund from March 19 to 24, has postponed this campaign indefinitely owing to illness among the members.

Scallops, clams, oysters, shrimp and finnan haddie at Powers Bros.—adv.

The Connecticut Council of Catholic Women have secured a vacation house for the girls of Connecticut. Beautifully situated, high in the Litchfield hills in Lakeville, it is surrounded by ample grounds that slope down to a large lake.

The Brainard and Armstrong social club visited the Pioneer Hose Co., of Groton and played a series of games Thursday night. The visitors lost to the firemen by the final score of 21 to 25. After the games refreshments were served.

More than $3,700,000 in cash, checks, and money orders was received at the internal revenue office between sunrise and midnight Thursday in the heaviest last-minute rush of income tax returns since the World war.

Rhode Island Daughters of the American Revolution held their 29th annual conference at the Providence Biltmore hotel this week and elected Mrs. George H. Fowler of Pawtucket state regent to succeed Mrs. Samuel H. Davis of Westerly.

Mrs. Francis Deming Hoyt of Lakewood, N. J., has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Hope Palmer, to Robert Larkin Brooks of Los Angeles. Miss Palmer's father was the late Tyler R. Palmer of New London.

An all-day session of the Ladies' Aid society of the Poquonnoc Bridge Baptist church was held Thursday in the home of Mrs. M. L. Trail. At noon a variety lunch was served and during the day four quilts, in preparation for a coming sale were tied.

Shrimp, clams, oysters, shad and finnan haddie for Saturday. Broadway Fish Market, 40 Broadway.—adv.

It is very probable, according to ports, that the 349th Co., C. A. C., R. I. N. G., of Westerly will soon become a field artillery unit. If this change materializes, the outfit will become an 8-inch Howitzer battery. The coast artillery work will be continued.

An agreement has been reached by the Connecticut Commercial Fishermen's Association and the state board of fisheries and game to propose the enactment of legislation putting a license, or tax, on all Connecticut commercial fishing boats except those used for oystering.

Miss Nancy Templeton, daughter of Governor Charles A. Templeton and Mrs. Templeton, who is captain of the sophomore class basketball team at Smith college, was the winner of the interclass basketball tournament. She was given two silver cups at the close of the tournament.

Distinctively different air-cooled cars. A Victor Page product made in Stamford, Conn. Many demonstrations given.—adv.

The Cheney Brothers, silk manufacturers, of South Manchester, have offered to pay Yale university $1,000 a year for two years, this money to be used for a fellowship in organic chemistry in the Graduate school. The fellowship will be known as the Cheney Fellowship in Organic Chemistry.

The legislative committee on claims has voted to report favorably a bill paying $110 to Guiseppi Bartolotta of Middletown to reimburse him for expenses incurred on account of the illness and death of his son, Settino Bartolotta, while in the service of the Connecticut National Guard.

Former Senator John F. McDonough of Naugatuck is mentioned for state deputy of the Knights of Columbus for Connecticut. Senator was the leader of the senate at the session of 1913 when the democrats were in control of it. He is the judge of the probate district of Naugatuck.

PERSONALS

Angus Park of Hanover is spending several weeks in Atlantic City, N. J., stopping at the Hotel Traymore.

Mrs. George Fine, who has been visiting Mrs. Herman Ettenbelt on Montauk avenue, New London, has returned to her home in Putnam.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Frederick J. Brown.

After a short illness Nancy Lombard, widow of Frederick J. Brown, died Thursday at the home of her son, Frederick Otis Brown of Colchester.

Mrs. Brown was born in Lebanon on April 14, 1841, the daughter of Orlenzo and Hannah Bailey Lombard, and on April 15, 1866 was united in marriage to Frederick J. Brown. Of this union there were three children, Mrs. E. H. McGill of Lebanon, and Frederick Otis Brown of Colchester, a second son, Ernest, having died in 1879. There are several grandchildren.

Mr. Brown died in Lebanon several years ago. He was well known having been county commissioner, a member of the republican state central committee and had held town offices in Lebanon.

Thomas Holmes

Thomas Holmes for many years a resident of Palmertown, died there Friday. He was 67 years of age and had been ill scarcely a week from pneumonia. He was a laborer. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Delia Holmes, who is employed at the Palmer Bros. Co. mill.

Mrs. Sherman A. Beebe.

The long and peaceful life of Jennette Wetherill, beloved wife of Sherman A. Beebe, came to a close at 8 o'clock Friday morning at her home on the Canterbury turnpike.

Mrs. Beebe was born September 13, 1855, in East Haddam, the daughter of Elijah and Jennette Merrill Wetherill, and was united in marriage to Mr. Beebe in Portland, on March 12, 1878.

Mr. Beebe engaged in farming in East Haddam and later bought the Waldo E. Bingham farm at Norwich Town, continuing in the business with success. While living on the Canterbury turnpike Mrs. Beebe made a host of friends who learned of her death with the deepest regret.

Besides her husband she is survived by the following children: Mrs. George T. Clark of Hartford, Lewis Beebe of California, Mrs. Hadley Potter of Montville, Mrs. Calvin Beebe of New London, Mrs. Nelson Smith of Glastonbury, Rachel and Sherman of California, Edward of Norwich Town, and Dwight Beebe of Morristown, Vermont.

William James McManus.

After an illness of about two weeks William James McManus, 6 months old son of James Francis and Helen Weeden McManus, died Friday night at 6.20 o'clock at the home of his parents, 80 Chestnut street. The child was born September 21, 1922 and was an only child. He is survived by his parents.

PRETTY ST. PATRICK'S WHIST BY CATHOLIC WOMEN'S CLUB

The annual St. Patrick's whist by the Catholic Women's club was carried out with social and financial success Friday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock at the Buckingham Memorial with a large attendance.

Green and white were the attractive decorations and dainty original favors found a ready sale.

At whist the prize winners were the following: first, Miss Mary O'Neil, individual salt and pepper shakers; second, Mrs. James Casey, silver salt shaker; third, Miss Maud Delaney, embroidered handkerchief; fourth, Mrs. John Foley, box of candy; fifth, Mrs. Francis Twomey, cut glass tooth pick holder; consolation, Mrs. Joseph Marshall.

Those taking the prizes at bridge were Mrs. John Bowne, first, fancy basket; Mrs. Nelson Disco, second, embroidered towel; Mrs. Patrick Batterby, third, embroidered guest towel; fourth, Mrs. Madden, silver thimble; fifth, Mrs. W. T. Driscoll, pack of cards; consolation, Mrs. J. E. Ellers.

Mrs. James P. Sheridan was general chairman with the following committee Mrs. John Cleary, Mrs. J. J. Casey, Mrs. John Gallivan, Mrs. Thos. O'Neil, Mrs. J. J. O'Rourke and Mrs. John Lupton. Mrs. F. L. Farrell was in charge of the bridge room and Mrs. J. J. Dutton in the whist room.

During the afternoon Anna and Margaret Coleman entertained delightfully with violin and piano duets and solos. Miss Katherine Farrell and Margaret Sheridan had charge of the favors. The scorers were the Misses Elizabeth Portelance, Alice Founch, Agatha Murray, Eleanor O'Neil, Arleen Kennedy and Mary Foley. Miss Margaret McManus was chairman of the scorers, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Marshall and Mrs. John Kennedy. The committee on prizes consisted of Mrs. Francis Diggins, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Frank L. Farrell and Mrs Nelson C. Disco.

WILMINGTON MEN AND WOMEN ARRESTED HERE

Two married men with two women who are not their wives, according to the accusation made against them by the police of Wilmington, N. C., were arrested here Friday night in two Franklin square rooming houses and are held for the Wilmington police. The men are brothers.

Frank Risley, 32, was found with Betty Beaton, 26, and Silas P. Risley, 26, was found with Alice Reeves, 28. The latter couple have two children, a boy of about 3 years and a girl aged 8 months.

Alice Reeves was allowed to remain at the rooming house in order to take care of her children but the other three were locked up at police headquarters.

The information lodged against Frank Risley charges him with transporting and selling intoxicating liquor and the other man is charged with abandonment.

Request to look the men and women up was received by Chief George Linton during the day from the Wilmington police with a warning that it was thought the two men might resist arrest. Accordingly when Capt. D. J. Twomey sent the officers out to bring them in Friday night he dispatched a squad that included Sergeant Kane, Officers Ryan, M. Carroll, Fenton, P. Murphy and Sharvan. There was no resistance offered.

Recall Soon After Alarm

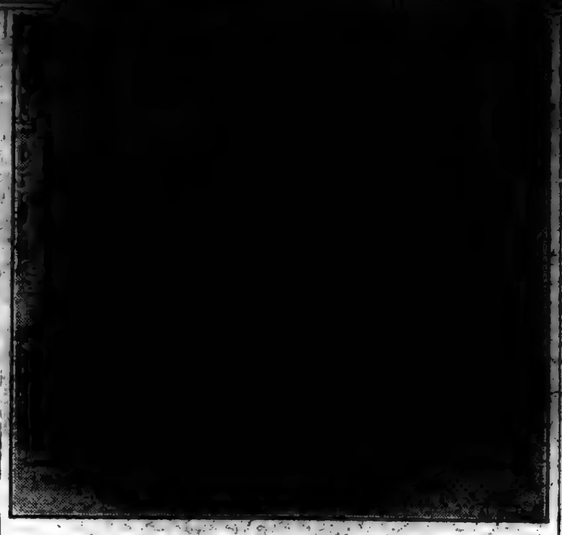
At 2.40 this (Saturday) morning smoke coming from a brooder in the cellar of the store of Charles D. Sherman, 53 Mt. Pleasant street, caused a fire alarm to be rung in from Box 19 at the corner of Ward and Mt. Pleasant streets. The recall was struck as soon as the firemen reached the place and the two recall strokes were ringing before the alarm on the court house bell had finished sounding.

Workmen's Compensation.

The following workmen's compensation agreement has been approved by Commissioner J. J. Donohue:

J. F. Denison, New London, employer, and Wm. Metzermacher, New London, employe, nail puncture in ball of foot, at rate of $12.83.

Honesty never has to crowd anybody in order to make a living.



SACRED HEART CHURCH, TAFTVILLE

TAFTVILLE SACRED HEART CHURCH
50th ANNIVERSARY OF FIRST MASS

Sacred Heart church of Taftville will observe today the 50th anniversary of the celebration of the first mass in the parish. There will be a banquet tonight (Saturday) at Parish hall, and on Sunday the last mass will be a special commemorative service, with Rev. John Tyler, assistant pastor of St. Mary's church in Jewett City, as the speaker.

The organization of the Taftville parish dates back to the days when the Ponemah mills had been in operation only a few years. There are a few now living in the village who can remember the day when first mass for Catholic employes of the mills was said, and have watched the growth of the church from a very humble beginning into one of the finest parishes in the diocese of Hartford.

The earliest Catholics to settle in Taftville were Canadian French and Irish. At that time William Tucker was the superintendent of the Ponemah mills, and for the benefit of the Catholics residing in the mill village he arranged with Rev. Daniel Mullen, at that time pastor of St. Patrick's church in Norwich, to celebrate a mass. Calling his Catholic employes together, Mr. Tucker presented them with the key to the primary building of the Wequonnoc school, and it was in that building that Father Mullen offered the first mass on St. Patrick's day, 1873.

At that time, and for some little time after that, Taftville people attended mass at St. Mary's church in Greeneville, when it was not celebrated in the little schoolhouse in Taftville. Father James J. Reynolds was appointed pastor at Jewett City in May, 1872, at which time Taftville became one of his dependencies. After the death of Father Reynolds, which occurred in January, 1875, Rev. John Fennell attended Taftville as pastor at Jewett City. From that time mass was celebrated at stated intervals in the schoolhouse and occasionally at Occum. When services were held in Occum, Taftville people walked to that village to attend, and when the services took place in Taftville, the residents of Occum and Versailles came here.

In the fall of 1875 work on the church (now the parish hall) was begun. It was completed in 1876 and dedicated by Bishop Galberry in March, 1877. Upon his removal to Norwalk, Father Russell was succeeded by Rev. Thomas P. Joynt, who also attended Taftville until June, 1883, when Taftville and Occum were separated from Jewett City, and Rev. James J. Thompson appointed first resident pastor of the new Sacred Heart parish at Taftville, having at that time a Catholic population of 1,630. In January, 1885, Rev. Maurice J. Sheehan was appointed assistant to Father Thompson. A convent and school were commenced in April, 1886, and completed in March, 1887. Father Thompson's period of service terminated with his death in 1894, his successor being Rev. Terrance Dunn, who remained until the following May. Father Dunn was succeeded by Rev. John Synnott, who began his labors on May 16, 1894.

Among the achievements of Father Synnott's administration were the liquidation of the parish indebtedness of $7,100, the erection of a chapel and community room for the Sisters, the renovation of the school and the purchase of a tract of land on Oct. 30th, 1897, 200x512 feet, and the building of a handsome parochial residence. This new property and rectory were at that time valued at $12,000. Father Synnott also put a metal ceiling in the church. The entire church property then comprised the church, convent, school, rectory, about two and one-quarter acres of land on Providence street and two acres on School street, and a cemetery which was purchased in 1895 and blessed by Bishop McMahon in May of the same years.

The school was conducted by ten Sisters of Charity, Sister M. Benoit, directress. When first opened, 300 children presented themselves for enrollment. The parish by this time had grown to a population of 2,300 souls, and it was plainly seen that a new church would be necessary to care for the coming generation. Accordingly work was started on what is now the basement of the present church and as soon as possible services were held in it, and the old church given over to other parish uses. Father Synnott died in December, 1901, and was succeeded by Rev. John Quinn, who in turn was succeeded by Rev. Arthur O'Keefe in 1902.

In 1906 one of the most disastrous fires that ever visited the village wiped out the school and menaced the convent on School street. All plans for the completion of the church had to be abandoned, as the parish set itself to work to provide themselves with a new brick school with convent adjoining. Father O'Keefe was succeeded by Rev. John Stapleton, who left in 1914, the present pastor, Rev. U. O. Bellerose, coming to take up the work.

Father Bellerose had been a former assistant pastor at the church in 1902 and the joy of the parishioners knew no bounds when he returned as pastor of Sacred Heart church. He is an indefatigable worker and organizer, and it is greatly due to his energy and labor that Taftville can boast the splendid church edifice it has today.

When Father Bellerose took up the reins he found it necessary to carry on the completion of the church, which was in itself a stupendous task. And with this done, he immediately set to work to pay off the parish debt, which had accumulated to the amount of $85,000. Loyally supported by the members of the church, he organized a drive for the raising of money to pay off the mortgage, and in a very short time had $65,000 pledged, of which $58,000 has already been paid in. This was in 1921, and since that time a great deal of money has been spent in improving the property and keeping it up; $4,400 was spent for new walks on Providence street and Hunter's avenue, and at the present time only $15,000 remains on the church debt.

The church is truly a testimony to the untiring efforts of its pastor and its members. The interior, with its altars and stained glass windows, compares favorably with many of the larger and richer churches of the country. The assistant pastor of the church is Rev. Henri F. Chaput.

Before the new church, convent and school were built, the estimated valued was $35,000. Today the bound value is $325,900, with a reproduction value of $334,735. This includes the rectory, parish hall and garage.

At present there are 630 pupils enrolled in the school, and 13 teachers.

Since the time of dedication by Rt. Rev. John J. Nilan, bishop of Hartford, in August, 1916, the parishioners who were among the few attending the first mass in the little schoolhouse 50 years ago, and who are still members of the parish, have realized what a great result has come from their religious effort and humble beginning.

CROWD FILLED ARMORY FOR ST. PATRICK CELEBRATION

The celebration of St. Patrick's day by the two divisions of the two Ladies' Auxiliaries of the Ancient Order of Hibernians filled the armory with a crowd of over 1,000 Friday evening for the concert of Irish music and the dance that followed. The event set a record for Norwich in the celebration of St. Patrick's day for a number of years past.

From 5 to 9 o'clock a fine concert of Irish airs was rendered by Herb Smith's orchestra, and the big feature of the entertainment was a drill given by the degree team of 25 members of Ladies' Auxiliary, No. 54. They were dressed in white with shoulder sashes of green, white and yellow and wore green carnations in their hair. Under the leadership of Mrs. Margaret Peterson they went through their evolution with the precision of West Point cadets, forming the cross, the anchor, the shamrock and the star, and receiving enthusiastic applause for their admirable work.

Those comprising the team were Margaret Peterson, Charlotte Bellows, Mary Shea, Margaret Kearns, Nellie Moore, Katie Connell, Dora Moran, Barbara Sullivan, Anna Connell, Mary Langlias, Mary E. Sullivan, Theresa William, Margaret O'Connell, Madeline O'Connell, Mary Fallon, Jennie O'Connell, Margaret Slattery, Mrs. Joseph Cox, Nellie McCarthy, Mary Shugrue, Catherine Coughlin, Eva Hyde, Maria Roach, Nellie Nagle. They had been drilled by Neil Crowley, assisted by Mrs. Julia Brock.

Chis O'Leary, pipe major of the Worcester Irish Warpipe band, furnished another feature with his pipe music and at the intermission played for the Irish jigs and reels which were danced by John McCarthy and Mrs. Nellie Moore, John P. Murphy and Mrs. Barney Keenan, Roger Tighe and Mrs. Margaret Peterson, who were joined by others from the audience as the music drew them on the floor.

The successful celebration was carried out under the following committees: Division 1—Edward Sullivan, M. J. O'Connor, M. B. Burke, Henry McGill, Peter T. Sullivan; Division 2, George A. Drescher, Joseph J. Cox, M. M. Murphy, J. F. McVeigh, J. J. Dutton; Auxiliary 13—Mrs. Dennis Sullivan, Miss Mary Hartie, Miss May Nolan, Miss Annie Edwards, Mrs. James Delaney; Auxiliary 54—Mrs. Julia Brock, Miss Margaret Caples, Miss Catherine Coughlin, Miss Nellie McCarthy, Miss Margaret Peterson.

Four little girls in white dresses with shamrock hats sold green carnations during the evening.

BACKUS HOSPITAL CAN TAKE NO MORE PATIENTS

Friday night the William W. Backus hospital had 83 patients, which meant that every available bed in the hospital was occupied except four emergency beds.

These four beds can be used only for emergency cases and for nothing else so that the hospital cannot take in another patient now unless it is an emergency case.

Superintendent F. Leon Hutchins has accordingly issued orders that no more patients can be received until there have been a number of discharges and the prospects are that there will be no beds available for a number of days. The only empty beds at the hospital now are in the building for contagious cases.

Continued to March 17.

IN JAIL FOR TRIAL FOR NOANK BURGLARIES

Henry C. Wilmont, 18 years of age, arrested on arson and theft charges growing out of the robbery of the general store in Noank Thursday of Frederick I. Rathbun and the Noank railroad station, and the burning of the store, pleaded not guilty when arraigned in Groton town court at 4.30 Thursday afternoon before Deputy Judge C. Tyler Landphere. Probable cause was found and the youth, after testimony for the prosecution, was bound over to the May term of the superior court. Bond was fixed at $2,500 and in default Wilmont was committed to the county jail in New London pending trial.

DEATH OF MRS. O'REILLY, AT THE AGE OF 97

Ellen Barker, widow of Thomas O'Reilly, aged 97 years, one of the oldest residents of Norwich, died at 11.45 o'clock Thursday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mary Conlon of 54 West Thames street. Mrs. O'Reilly suffered a shock about two weeks ago and since that time rapidly lost strength until the end. Although only a few years distant from the century mark of life Mrs. O'Reilly possessed al her faculties until she suffered the shock and her many friends delighted in hearing her tell of the old days when she was a girl. Her knowledge of the history of the country in the early 80's was remarkable and she was also well posted on the happenings of the present day. During her last illness she was tenderly cared for by her daughter.

Mrs. O'Reilly was born in County Monaghan, Ireland, August 1, 1827, the daughter of James Barker and Elizabeth Duffy Barker. When four years of age she came to New York city with her mother and spent her girlhood days in that city. In 1847 when 20 years of age she was united in marriage to Thomas O'Reilly in St. Patrick's old cathedral, then located in the heart of New York city, by Cardinal McCloskey, then a curate at the cathedral. Mr. O'Reilly at that time engaged in construction work on the New York Central railroad between New York and Albany and had when a boy worked carrying railroad ties for the first railroad built out of New York. On their honeymoon trip they went up the Hudson by canal boat as was the custom in those days.

After residing in New York for several years the family moved to Virginia where Mr. O'Reilly was employed in the construction of the dam on the Potomac river. While in the south the Civil war broke out. Mrs. O'Reilly, then residing in Harpers Ferry. The Confederate troops approached the town and during one night bombarded it and Mr. and Mrs. O'Reilly took their children, and at midnight left their home, leaving all their belongings behind, except the few they wore or carried with them.

After losing all they owned in Harpers Ferry Mrs. O'Reilly went with her husband to Canada where he continued in construction work. They resided in that country for five years during which time her husband's health failed, and he passed away in 1884.

Mrs. O'Reilly and children returned to New York in 1885 where at that time her two brothers were well known, James Barker being an alderman and a Tammany leader under "Boss" Tweed, while Patrick Barker was a sea captain sailing out of New York.

Mrs. O'Reilly later moved to Canterbury, Conn., where she lived for about ten years and came to Norwich to live with her daugher, Mrs. Mary Conlon of 54 West Thames street, making her home in this city for the last seven years of her life.

Mrs. O'Reilly leaves four children, two sons, James of New York city and Michael of Brooklyn, N. Y., and two daughters, Sister Mary of the Convent of the Good Shepherd, New York city, and Mrs. Mary Conlon of Norwich. A son, Patrick, and a daughter, Margaret, died about 38 years ago. There are also two grandchildren in New York city.

Mrs. O'Reilly was an upright Christian woman and came from a family that did not believe in touching liquor in any form. She was very seldom ill, and attributed her long life to moderate living. For a month or two before she was very active and took keen interest in the lives of those about her. The many friends she had made while in Norwich learned of her death with deep sorrow.

Mooseheart Legion Whist.

The Women of Mooseheart Legion gave a whist Thursday evening at Moose home on Laurel Hill avenue. Six tables being played. The prizes were awarded as follows: Ladies, first Mrs. Rose Carter; second, Mrs. Louise Manchester; men's, first, Warren Andrews; second, L. W. Staubly; consolation prizes, Miss Clara Karkutt and J. Witche. The scorers were Mrs. Vera Sterry and Mrs. Eugene Boyens.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Miss Sarah P. Browning and Miss Laura Subert have returned from a most enjoyable month's tour in the south.

PLAINFIELD

The March meeting of the Lincoln club was held in the vestry of the Congregational church on Monday night and a large number of men were present to enjoy the new room, enlarged, thoroughly equipped with heat and lights and beautifully decorated. Over a hundred men sat down to the tables to be served with a chicken pie supper, which had been carefully prepared by the men. The committee in charge of the supper were the following members: Carl Mathewson, chairman, Edward King, John Lees, Elmer Greene, Ernest Wilde, Charles Dodge. The Camp Fire Girls acted as waitresses under the direction of their guardian, Mrs. Henry Fontaine.

The supper was served promptly which afforded an opportunity for a social half hour when the meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock by the vice president, John Kingsley. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Walter Lathrop, and the treasurer's report given by Cecil Butler. The chairman of the special committee on the new trunk line, Edward Hall, reported on the attendance at the hearing in Hartford and called on other members of his committee who responded briefly. The new chairman of the welfare committee, Benjamin Dawson, outlined the work which this committee have in hand.

The visiting committee had an excellent report which was not given as its chairman, Elmer Greene, was busy with the supper arrangements in the kitchen. The membership committee brought in eight new names which were voted in as members of the club.

The president, Ray W. Greene, returned from the shop meeting in time to present a most interesting program of entertainment, consisting of the following talents: Readings by Mrs. Mira W. Frink of Brooklyn; piano duet by Miss Helen Gallup and Mrs. Agusta Nolan; vocal selections by Mrs. Ralph M. Hill and selections by the male quartette composed of the following singers: Rev. Greene, Christopher Krauss, Sidney Mathewson, Philip Peterson, Roy Barstow, pianist. The readings and music were highly appreciated and

Bulletin's Pattern Service

3991

A JAUNTY APRON MODEL

When you work in the garden or serve tea, and for other equally interesting indoor duties, this apron will afford pleasing protection.

It is cut in four sizes: Small, 34-36; medium 38-40, large 42-44, extra large 46-48 inches, bust measure. A medium size requires 2 5-8 yards of 36-inch material.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

Send your order to The Bulletin Pattern Dept., 1133 Fulton St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Send your order to The Bulletin Pattern Dept., 1133 Fulton St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

TERMINAL

SPECIAL SUNDAY DINNER

11.30 to 9 p. m.

Chicken Creole

or

Consomme Julienne

Fried Scallops Tartar Sauce

Half Broiled Spring Chicken

Mashed Potatoes Succotash

Choice of Ice Cream

Assorted Cakes Coffee

$1.25.

Ye Chocolate Shoppe

49 BROADWAY

SPECIAL FOR SATURDAY

All kinds of Hard Candy pound 39c

Peach Bloss... ..... 39c

Assorted M... ..... lb. 39c

American C... ..... 39c

Buttercups, ... 39c

2 LBS. C... ...COVE

Chocolate Al... ... 63c

Chocolate C... ... 69c

After-Din... ... 59c

Jumbo No... ... 59c

Fruit Nougat... ... 59c

Assorted C... ... 59c

Chocolates ... Sons pound 59c

Liquid Cher... ..... 69c

Liquid Fire... ..... 69c

2 LBS. OF ...ROVE

Peppermint P... ... 29c

2 pounds 50c

Butter Creams, ... 49c

Assorted Chocol... lb. 29c

Fresh Bon Bons, ... 69c

Stuffed Dates, lb 69c

Cocoanut Kisses, ... 39c

Cream Mints, lb 39c

Peanut Brittle, lb 25c

Corn Crisp, lb 29c

Salted Peanuts, lb 29c

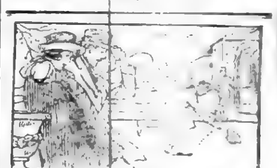
Salted Mixed Nuts, lb ... 80c

Salted Almonds, lb $1.00

ALL KINDS OF EASTER EGGS

Ye Chocolate Shoppe

49 BROADWAY



"When the stormy winds do blow"

So goes the old song, and it would be good advice to add

DRINK Baker's Cocoa

It is warming and sustaining, for it has genuine food value, and may be safely indulged in any hour of the day, for it is stimulating only in the sense that pure food is stimulating.

It is delicious too

Made only by

Walter Baker & Co. Ltd.

Established 1780

DORCHESTER, MASS.

Booklet of Choice Recipes sent free.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Information developed during Friday is to the effect that the man who was held up Wednesday night was Edgar White and that the affair took place right on the Connecticut-Rhode Island border, about five miles east of here. White's loss is represented as $150 in cash.

It appears that White was on his way home and was just turning from the state highway leading to Providence, at Little Rest, to take a side road to his home when three men in a large automobile stuck him up with a gun and made him deliver his cash. The men then made off in the direction of Danielson, but no message was received here about the affair in time to check up cars coming through Reynolds street. This may be chiefly due to the inadequate information given by some excited person to Chief John McFarland and to the fact that the informer hung up before needed information could be obtained from him.

This is the first holdup reported on this important stretch of highway, and it isn't at all a pleasing bit of news for scores of motorists who use the route.

More than 100 members of the Danielson Rod and Gun club met each other as members of the organization for the first time Friday evening at a banquet held at the Attawaugan hotel, but if the success of his affair may be taken as a measure of good fellowship of the club, it is certain that there will be many similar occasions in the future—and lots more time for exchanging fish and game stories with which each and every member is loaded. It was a great occasion and established beyond doubt that this organization has the membership and enthusiasm and the prestige to bring about better fishing and hunting conditions in eastern Windham county by lending its efforts to restocking operations on a scale larger than ever has been attempted in this area.

Richard Bannigan presided as toastmaster at the post-prandial exercises. Supt. John W. Titcomb of the state fish and game commission, the honor guest of the club, was the speaker of the evening. Supt. Titcomb, with many years of experience as head of state fish and game department both in this country and in South America, impressed the membership deeply with what he had to say in a general discussion of the fish and game conditions in the state and what may be done, with proper co-operation of such organizations as the Rod and Gun club, to vastly improve them. Mr. Titcomb's address was generously applauded.

Landlord William E. Brown, who rates as a great trout fisherman—as witness his remarkable catch of April 1, 1923—served the hunters and fishermen a fine dinner and won the appreciation of the attendance.

The menu included:

Tomato Bisque
Table Celery
Boiled Fresh Salmon Hollandaise
Potatoes Natural
Roast Stuffed Spring Chicken
Cranberry Sauce
Mashed Potatoes Green Peas
Shrimp Salad Mayonaise
Brick Ice Cream
Assorted Cake
Salines
Domestic Cheese Demi Tasse

Plans for the trout fishing season, now near at hand, and for trapshooting, restocking and various other topics were informally discussed by the club members before, during and after the banquet. Their enthusiasm is evidence that they hope to do great things and that their club will be the medium through which they can accomplish a great deal more than could be achieved as individuals or groups.

Send this advertisement to The Plaut-Cadden Co., Norwich, with your name and address and you will receive a Book of Old Fashioned Songs free—adv.

That any group may not have opportunity to take advantage of the absence of a large attendance to slip something over, as the saying is, attention is called to the fact that the annual borough caucus is called for next Tuesday evening at the town hall. This is the caucus at which nominees are selected each year.

Happily, politics do not enter in any material degree into the selection of borough officials, a fact that has contributed largely to getting splendid citizens to serve without having to make a fight for election. The non-partisan plan has worked splendidly in Danielson and there is no real demand for a change.

It is easy to overlook the fact that a comparatively small group may slip into an annual borough caucus, however, and control it, turning out such ably and experienced officials, for instance as Warden W. A. Burrows, who is a democrat, and Bailiff John McFarland, who is a republican. It is not to be inferred that there is any drive against these officials. Their names are mentioned as typical of the high grade officials that are now rendering service to the borough—the warden without pay—and of the need of guarding against their being a nomination through the negligence of those who appreciate and value their services yet fail to be present at the caucus that has the nominations to make.

What has been said of Warden Burrows and Bailiff McFarland applies with equal force to the town clerk and treasurer and the members of the court of burgesses. The present organization is experienced, conservative and economical. Citizens who have an appreciation of this are indeed ungrateful if they do not attend the caucus that is to have the opportunity of renominating them.

That young lady from Escanaba must have slipped a hot water bottle under the arm of the hearty Old Weather Man sometime during the early hours of Friday morning and set him into such a sweat as to fairly deluge this section of Windham county.

The southeaster was the first real smash at winter's armor that Danielson has seen since one might reasonably expect winter to be on its way and giving place to spring, officially due to arrive some time next Wednesday. Driven on the wings of a gale, tons of water poured down on Danielson and the surrounding territory, cutting away the snow and ice and making ponds of sections of streets and running streams in other parts of them. And there was no kicking about the storm. It was welcome—as the forerunner of the vernal season and the return of the birds and flowers.

The stories from off Block Island have started inquiries hereabouts for sea-going Fords.

Mrs. Abbie E. Wood, mother of Elmer C. Wood of Attawaugan, is dead at home in Putnam.

State Officers Merrill Keith has been engaged at Putnam in checking trucks for over-weight loads. Three drivers have been ordered to appear in the Putnam city court Monday morning.

Officials engaged in the enforcement of the log laws are continuing their activities in towns hereabouts.

The county tax—made necessary by the loss of license revenue—is one of the important items that is going to boost Killingly's tax rate to 21 to 22 mills, in all probability.

The new public comfort station at the town hall building is completed and will be opened in the near future.

James A. Hennessey of Attleboro was a visitor with friends in Danielson on Friday.

Miss Arline E. Babcon of the Willimantic Normal school has been acting for a few days as substitute teacher at South Windham in the absence of the regular teacher, who has been away on account of the illness of her husband.

Look at our window display for your new Easter footwear. Every pair you see marked as low as $4.85, $5.85 or $6.45 will be better than you can buy elsewhere, providing you are looking for quality, style and fit. Every shoe sold is fully guaranteed. Buy your shoes and save money. Geo. E. Davignon, 118 Main street, Danielson.—adv.

Rivers here were rising rapidly late Friday afternoon as the result of the heavy down pour of rain and melting snow, but at sunset there was no indication of flood conditions.

Frank Barber, who still rates as the premier bowler of eastern Connecticut, received many congratulations Friday for his victory over Fred Dugas at Taftville Thursday in a finish that brought him victory after he had trailed practically all through the series.

Main street through the business section had much the appearance of a river during the greater part of the daylight hours of Friday, when the first real heavy rainstorms since January 1 was getting in its work.

Examination of the body of Mrs. Rosanna Gaudette shows that she was frightfully burned when she met death at her home, on Union street Thursday morning.

Miss Dora Mathieu, who is a patient at St. Francis hospital in Hartford, is expected to return to her home here during the coming week.

Judge and Mrs. Milton A. Shumway, who have been in the south, are at their home here.

Attorney Harry H. Bush was at Hartford to appear before a legislative committee in behalf of a client.

PUTNAM

Following a short calendar session of the superior court, Judge Allyn L. Brown presiding, held at Putnam Friday morning, one divorce case was heard and granted and court was adjourned for one week, when what will probably be the last short calendar session of the March session will be held.

Not a single case has been tried this session of court. There are two small assignments for next week Friday, when Judge Brown comes here to hold short calendar. These may or may not be heard. Probably the unusual condition is because cases have not been claimed. The law office of Torrey & Geismer being destroyed by fire, there were no cases claimed by this firm as their records are in a rather uncertain shape. Brother lawyers, realizing this, also refrained from claiming cases against them. In addition to this, State's Attorney Searls, whose firm, Searls, Russell & Bradford, usually claim many cases, is spending a month in the south.

Among the short calendar matters was the contested divorce case of Lucy Troening vs. August Troening. The husband lives in New York and the wife in Mootup. In the case of the Moss Electrical company, judgment by default was entered for $536.80. This was an action on four notes given for work done in the defendant's inn and not paid when they became due. The defendant made no appearance. The case of Frank and Annie Pobiecai vs. John Ciedzynski was assigned for next week Friday. This is an injunction wherein the plaintiff enjoined the defendant from using a passageway to his farm in Wilsonville. The only other case assigned was that of the General Mortgage and Loan company vs. Florence M. Johnson. This is in Danielson case and is to foreclose a mortgage of about $30,000. This was also assigned for Friday, Judge Brown stating that he did not intend to return to Putnam after that date unless there was some urgent need.

The divorce case heard was that of Mollie G. Hempsted vs. Frank J. Hempsted. They were married in 1880, she living in Chicago and he in Willimantic. They lived in Willimantic after their marriage, and are living there no, although the husband has not lived in the same home with the wife since 1912. The petitioner testified that she keeps a boarding house on Main street and has done so for the past 13 years. It was 13 years ago that her husband went on a drunk, she said, and at the end of seven days returned and got his clothes and said he was never going to return, and he never did except for a couple of times over five years ago, when he appeared in an intoxicated condition.

She said he had never furnished her any support. James M. Smith, who for 24 years was selectman of Willimantic, testified to the petitioners good character and also that he had not seen husband and wife together in years. Emma Lawrence of Hartford, who lived for some time with the plaintiff, and William Smith, one of her boarders, both testified that husband and wife had not lived together in a long time.

State police officials are again stocking up motor trucks operating through this section with a view to keeping their loads down to the minimum set by the state. Julius Guerin, operating a truck out of Woonsocket, was the first driver found operating contrary to the motor vehicle laws, but in his case the offense was not overloading. He was presented in the city court, charged with operating a truck under numbers belonging to another truck, to which he pleaded guilty. He was fined $10 and costs, a total of $45. Attorney Arthur S. Macdonald represented him in court. The truck that figured in this case was said by the local police to have been loaded with wool.

Three more truck drivers have been ordered to appear in the city court Monday morning. They will be charged with driving overloaded vehicles. One of these machines is said to have had an overload of about 1,000 pounds. The state has established a platform scales on School street in this city and careful take will be kept on trucks throughout the year.

Incidental to the careful check-up now being placed on motor trucks operating over the highways of this section, a number of truck drivers have been arrested on charges of operating their machines without proper registration. Some of these drivers have been fined as much as $100 and costs, as a result of which they have found it more profitable to register their trucks properly.

Send this advertisement to The Plaut-Cadden Co., Norwich, with your name and address and you will receive a Book of Old Fashioned Songs free—adv.

Whatever it portends it is beginning to come to general notice that peaceful working is placid in this city and in surrounding towns have been quite thoroughly organized during the winter months. This is of very special interest in view of the fact that practically all of the mills in this city and surrounding territory have heretofore been unorganized.

This organization movement, practically perfected just ahead of the spring season and at a time when a strike is being talked in Fall River, one of the great textile centers of the country, becomes of more than passing interest. It is understood that the chief argument used in bringing about the organization in this city has been a promise that the union would help restore the 48 hour week, which was dispensed by longer working hours in numbers of mills hereabouts, something more than a year ago.

Attention also has been called by organizers to the fact that the textile unions are held to be credited for the improved working conditions in textile plants in New England and for boosting the wage scales to the present level. These arguments have had a strong appeal and have brought many into the newly formed unions.

From available information it would appear that the weavers are the best organized to date in Putnam. No publicity has attended the organization movement, which has gone on quietly and by individual canvass.

This organization movement also has progressed in Danielson and other mill centers in the town of Killingly, and it now so far advanced as to be a matter of surprise to those who have not known about it.

Mrs. Abbie E. Wood, 80, widow of Edwin R. Wood, died Thursday afternoon shortly after 4 o'clock at the home of her son, Edwin L. Wood, near Putnam Heights. Mrs. Wood had been a resident of Putnam for 40 years. She was born in Burrillville, R. I., her maiden name being Abbie E. Cruff. Her husband, who has been dead for years, was a veteran of the Civil war. Mrs. Wood was for years an actively interested member of the Methodist Episcopal church, gave much time to charitable work, and was also a member of the Woman's Relief corps. She leaves two sons, Edwin L. of Putnam and Elmer C. of Attawaugan; also a grandson.

The committee on fish and game of the state legislature has held its hearing on the bill providing for fishing in Alexander's lake on certain days of each week and heard arguments both for and against the proposition. Among the prominent proponents of the bill was Representative Luther M. Keith of this city, chairman of the appropriations committee. P. J. Sheridan, owner of Wildwood park, and other land around the lake, also appeared in favor of the bill, which had the support also of Pomfret citizens. Attorney Harry E. Back, representing the Goodyear Mills, Inc., appeared in opposition to the measure. There was no indication by the committee of its attitude pertaining to the measure, although it was said that there is a chance that there may be another hearing upon it before the committee on public health.

In usually well informed circles there appears to be a tendency to believe that the Alexander's lake fishing bill has a chance of being passed, although not so much confidence is felt relative to the measure that would allow bathing in the same body of water.

A Hudson touring car that has been abandoned in a field on what is known as the David Clark place out on Killingly avenue was brought into this city by the police operating under the direction of Captain Remi Delage and stored Friday. The machine has been in the field for about a week, and little is known as to how it happened to be there. Captain Delage said Friday that the number plates were taken off the machine last Sunday and that there was nothing in the car that would help establish the ownership of it. It is a machine that has seen several years of use and is not very valuable.

Putnam Trade school will hold its annual open night on Tuesday, March 27, from 7.30 to 9.30. During this time the public will be invited to inspect the various departments in operation and see exhibits of type jobs accomplished by students as a part of their regular instruction in the trades.

Specific jobs will be analyzed for their educational content, technical knowledge, math, trade terminology, manual dexterity and skill, the results being shown on suitable placards accompanying the particular job to which they apply. This will enable the visitors to discern the quality of subjects taught as related to the more apparent manual operations.

The value of a trade training can only be measured by the years of useful contribution in the productive channels of life to which it lends itself. There is also, manifest in vocational training an influence on the development of character that comes with habits of industry and the stimulus which accomplishes learning to construct in accordance with a definite plan.

Exhibits and displays of home economics products will also be shown in an especially arranged manner at the high school auditorium. The public will be invited to come and see.

Announcement was made of the marriage this week of Miss Leona Bogardus of West Thompson and Dewey Tetreault of this city. They will make their home here. The bride has been employed at a local restaurant. The groom is a driver for the American Railway Express company.

Mrs. Mark Gallant spent Thursday and Friday visiting in Hartford with her daughter, Miss Lorena Gallant, who is a student nurse at the Hartford hospital training school.

James M. Smith, for more than a score of years a selectman of the town of Windham, was one of the Willimantic visitors in Putnam on Friday.

A number of the Putnam members of the Rod and Gun club recently organized at Danielson were in that place Friday evening to attend a banquet of the organization and to hear an address by John W. Titcomb, superintendent of the state fish and game commission.

Art Galleries of Florence will be the subject next Monday afternoon at the meeting of the Putnam Delphian chapter at the Israel Putnam school.

The selectmen of the town of Putnam have appointed William Jarvis dog warden of the town, succeeding Nelson Clair, whose term has expired. Mr. Jarvis also is a special deputy on the commissioner on domestic animals.

Miss Marjorie Bradford was a visitor in Hartford on Thursday.

Mrs. Herbert J. Smith is at Lakehurst, N. J., to remain for several weeks.

Windsor Clark, about 30, of Woodstock venue, is a patient at the Day Kimball hospital. He became ill Feb. 14 with a malady resembling sleeping sickness and was removed to the hospital Feb. 24.

Centenary Achievements and Needs in the Home Field will be the subject of a stereopticon lecture at the Methodist church Sunday evening.

Sheriff Charles A. Gates of Willimantic was a visitor in Putnam on Friday.

Miss Mary Vale is visiting with Miss Mae Gorman at Wterbury for a few days.

LEDYARD

The annual business town meeting was held at Ledyard Center on Monday afternoon. First Selectman Calvin R. Main was moderator and William I. Allyn clerk. There was quite a large attendance. A rate of 24 mills was laid, the same as last year; 5 mills for schools, 8 mills for roads and 7 mills for miscellaneous. There was a discussion about collecting back taxes.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Holdridge, who have been visiting relatives in Mystic, Riverpoint and Providence, R. I., have returned home.

The passing on of Charles H. Chapman of the Lester district removes one of the older residents of the town. Mr. Chapman had held many offices of trust in the town of Ledyard and his honesty and good judgment made him a valuable asset to any trust with which he was connected.

VOLUNTOWN

Unity circle, No. 1856, Companions of the Forest of America, at their meeting on Monday evening observed their first anniversary in an informal manner. During the business session, which was presided over by the chief companion, Mrs. Bessie La Liberty, routine business was transacted and several applications were received. Remarks were made by Deputy Thomas McDonald and also by Deputy George La Fave of Quinebaug circle of Jewett City. At the close of the meeting the amusement committee served refreshments consisting of sandwiches, cake and coffee, and an enjoyable social hour followed. There was a large delegation from Quinebaug circle of Jewett City in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Dr. John H. Hoover and Mrs. Louis H. Ritchotte are enjoying a trip to New York, Philadelphia and other points, making the trip in Peter Magrey's car.

On Tuesday evening Thomas McDonald represented Court Liberty at the past chief rangers' night given by Court City of Norwich at Norwich.

Parties from this village attended the theatre in Norwich on Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown and Albert Brown were in Groton recently to attend the funeral of Eugene Partelo.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Clarke were in Groton Tuesday to attend the funeral of William P. Kilbourne, father of Mrs. E. E. Clarke.

CANTERBURY GREEN

The Christian Endeavor meeting was held with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Safford on Sunday evening. Next week it will be at Mr. Havenum's, with Louis Safford leader.

A teachers' meeting at the Frost schoolhouse this week was attended by the local teacher, Mrs. Edward Lovell.

Mrs. Frank Nelson and daughters, Helen and Julia, are in New York this week to attend the wedding of Mrs. Nelson's brother, which takes place Saturday.

A party of relatives and neighbors spent Saturday evening at the home of Henry Davis. Saturday was Mr. Davis' birthday.

Mrs. Milo Appley has been visiting in Hartford as the guest of Mrs. Lillian Frink.

The Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs. James Lathrop Tuesday afternoon. The usual program was followed. Mrs. Nelson will entertain at the next meeting in two weeks.

A chimney fire Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Harriet Kenyon made considerable excitement. Neighbors responded and with their help the fire was extinguished.

THOMPSON

The Thimble club enjoyed a sleigh ride to the home of Mrs. John O. Fox last week. And next Thursday are to meet with Mrs. May Reynolds at West Hill farm.

The Windham County Ministers' union met at the parsonage here last Tuesday.

The W. C. T. U. meeting for this month has been postponed two weeks.

Word was received last week of the death at Rev. Newton I. Jones, a former pastor here.

Miss Sarah A. Munyan attended a library meeting in Putnam Tuesday.

Miss Ida Tait is with Mrs. M. L. Eddy, who is convalescing from a recent operation.

Mrs. E. M. D. Merrick, who is ill, is improving. Mrs. White and Mrs. Jackson have been caring for her.

Mrs. F. M. Knight has returned from a week's visit in Providence.

The following real estate transfers have been received for record at the town clerk's office: Franklin D. Lawson to Josephine E. Bussis, lot at Shelter Harbor; William Ruther to Clara E. Brainard, land and buildings on Potter Hill road; Hannah Crandall to town of Westerly, tract of land on High street; Susan A. Rose to Angelo Speranza, tract of land on Granite street; Flora P. Chipman to George S. Bradley, lot at Pleasant View; Mary S. Demeral to Charlotte A. Barnett, tract of land at Pleasant View; Daniel J. Carey to Jennie Carey, undivided one-half interest in three lots in Fairview park; Clara M. Marriott to Florence Collings, land and dwelling on Spruce street; Franklin D. Lawson to Walter L. Bogert, eight lots at Shelter Harbor; Franklin D. Lawson to Earle Tuckerman, land at Shelter Harbor.

Send this advertisement to The Plaut-Cadden Co., Norwich, with your name and address and you will receive a Book of Old Fashioned Songs free—adv.

The regular session of the Third District court was held Friday morning with Judge Turano presiding. In the case of state vs. Genaro Serbidio charged with non-support, on motion of the defendant's attorney the defendant was discharged. Mrs. Serbidio testified that although she had been to the overseer of the poor and that she was the mother of eight children, the children never lacked food or clothing.

In the case of the state vs. Frank J. Mallaney charged with being an idle person he was found guilty and placed on probation and was obliged to pay the costs of the court.

STONINGTON

The engagement is announced of Miss Florence Lee of West Barrington, Vt., and William Theodore Tweedell, coach and teacher, of the manual training department of the Stonington High school.

NOANK

Fellowship Day was one of the most interesting events in the history of the Noank Baptist Church. A most interesting meeting was held Wednesday afternoon and supper was served at 6.30. About two hundred members of the church were seated at table. Rev. George R. Atha of Groton Heights church, Groton, Rev. H. E. Karapp of Forbers, Mass. Rev. H. E. Gates, pastor at large of Connecticut were speakers during the evening. Letters were read from the absent members and other members of the church gave short talks. It was an enjoyable event and one long to be remembered.

ATTAWAUGAN

Samuel Mitchell has returned to his home in Manchester, N. H.

Mrs. Timothy has returned to Holyoke, Mass., having spent several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blackmar.

James Maguire of Danielson was a caller in this place Sunday.

Thomas Cafferty has been confined to his home with grip.

Mrs. George Attwoods and children of Norwich visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weeks, Sr., over Sunday.

Mrs. Emma Weaver has been ill.

Miss Mae Waterhouse and Mrs. Howard Thyng and child of Chester, Pa., were called here last week on account of the death of their father, Edward Waterhouse.

Albert Rollinson has resigned as overseer of the weaving department, on account of ill health. He was presented a purse of gold containing $25 by his friends and employes. He has been with the Attawaugan company for the past 19 years.

Robert Bateson of Three Rivers has taken charge of the weaving department and has moved his family here.

ABINGTON

Mr. and Mrs. John Butler of New Britain are visiting Mrs. C. M. Sharpe.

Miss Elizabeth Whittlesey of Newark, N. J., is spending a few weeks with Miss Hutching.

Arthur Grosvenor, who has been spending the winter in the south, returned home Saturday.

Ray Harris is working for the Manasset Manufacturing company of Putnam.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Sharpe are in Boston for a few days.

C. A. Sharpe had installed a waste outfit in his store.

Former Governor and Mrs. Everett J. Lake returned to Hartford Wednesday from Belleair Heights, Florida, where they have been for the past two months.

MOTHERS, DO THIS —

When the Children Cough, Rub Musterole on Throats and Chests

No telling how soon the symptoms may develop into croup, or worse. And then's when you're glad you have a jar of Musterole at hand to give prompt relief. It does not blister.

As first aid, Musterole is excellent. Thousands of mothers know it. You should keep a jar ready for instant use.

It is the remedy for adults, too. Relieves sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, chilblains, frosted feet and colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia). 30c and 60c jars and tubes.

Better than a mustard plaster

MUSTEROLE

Quite some contract, wasn't it? But say! She didn't have a bit of trouble and hardly lost a chick." The

STANDARD COLONY BROODER

Patented

is a wonder! Makes three chicks grow where one grew before; cuts coal, meat cost and operating expenses to less than half, and takes less than one-fourth the time and labor required by other brooders. We guarantee the "Standard" to do all any other brooder can do, and do it better, at a cost of less than 9 cents a day. Used by over 100,000 big and little brooders everywhere. Capacity 100 to 1000. Burns coal and regulates itself.

We guarantee the "Standard" and you may write the guarantee to suit yourself. Isn't that fair?

QUINEBAUG STORE
Danielson, Conn.

DANIELSON CASINO,
STARKWEATHER BLDG.
BOWLING AND POCKET BILLIARDS
FOUR ALLEYS THREE TABLES
WEDNESDAYS LADIES' DAY.
Bowling is the sport for all. Prizes given away every Saturday.

ALBERTUS F. WOOD
Funeral Director and Embalmer
PHONE 147 DANIELSON

ROUGH, PIMPLY SKIN Cleared Up In Few Days

No woman need have a repulsive, unsightly skin—the chances to one it's caused by constipation and a lazy liver, which is easily and quickly remedied. For a good, safe, purely vegetable regulator which will keep your system clean, as nature intended,

TAKE SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS

At all Druggists 25c a box
Schenck's Seaweed Tonic
Over 40 Years the Standard

CUTICURA HEALS PIMPLES ON FACE

In Blotches, Festered and Scaled Over, Itched and Burned Badly.

"My trouble began by pimples breaking out on my face. They were in blotches and festered and scaled over. The pimples itched and burned so badly that I could not sleep. The trouble lasted about two months. I tried different remedies without any effect. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and got relief. I continued using them and in about two weeks I was healed." (Signed) Miss Margaret Meehan, Ridgeway, Maine, July 15, 1922.

Clear the pores of impurities by daily use of Cuticura Soap and occasional touches of Cuticura Ointment as needed to soothe, soften and heal. They are ideal for the toilet, as is also Cuticura Talcum for perfuming.

Cuticura Soap shaves without mug.

THE BROOKLYN SAVINGS BANK

STATEMENT, FEBRUARY 17, 1923
STATEMENT, FEBRUARY 17, 1922

DEPOSITS $3,969,965.33
SURPLUS AND PROFITS 354,073.54
TOTAL ASSETS $4,324,028.87

$1.00 OPENS AN ACCOUNT.
INTEREST RATE 4½ PER CENT. PER ANNUM.
YOU MAY DEPOSIT BY MAIL.
J. ARTHUR ATWOOD, President
WM. H. BURNHAM, Vice-Pres. SIDNEY W. BARD, Sec. and Treas.

Piles Cured in 6 to 14 Days

Druggists refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles. Stops Itching, Tumors and Pain. The first application gives ease and rest. 60c.

SPRING STYLES
SPECIAL PRICES FOR SATURDAY

Women's Black Oxfords, Women's Tan Oxfords, Women's Patent Sandals, Women's Kid Sandals — All $6.00 values..... $4.85

Women's $5.00 Patent Sandals.. $3.85

Women's $5.00 Tan Oxfords and Two-Tone Oxfords. $3.75

Women's $5.00 One-Strap Tan Sandals..... $2.45

Women's $5.00 Tan and Black Oxfords..... $3.25

Women's Oxfords, sizes 3 to 4½, B and C widths. Our regular $6.00 grade, for $2.95

Men's New Oxfords, Black or Brown..... $4.85

A lot of Men's Oxfords, $5.00 and $6.00 grades — Odd lots, to close out for... $2.95

Men's $6.00 Tan Shoes — Spring Style..... $4.95

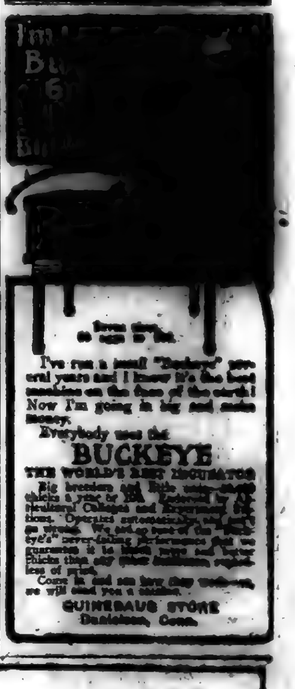
CHILDREN'S SHOES — A lot of $2.50 and $3.00 Children's Fine Shoes, odds of lines at special price for Saturday..... $1.95

CHILDREN'S SHOES — Fine Turned Shoes, $2.00 and $2.50 grades, odd lots, to close out for..... 85c

SEE WINDOW DISPLAY FOR OTHER SATURDAY BARGAINS

BARROWS
90 MAIN STREET

WESTERLY



I've run a small "Buckeye" several years and I know it's the best medicine on the face of the earth! Now I'm going in big and make money.

Everybody uses the

BUCKEYE

THE WORLD'S BEST LIQUID MEDICINE

Big bottles and little ones—most always choice a year for 25 years. Guaranteed 75% Chilblains, Colds and Fevers, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Pneumonia, Influenza, Bronchitis, Asthma, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Backache, Kidney Trouble, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Sick Headache, Dizziness, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Female Complaints, Indigestion, Constipation, Piles, Malaria, Blood Poisons, Eczema, Running Sores, Scalds, Burns, Bruises, Cuts, Boils, Felons, Corns, Bunions, Frost Bites, Chilblains and all Skin Diseases. Guaranteed to satisfy or money refunded. Over 6,000,000 bottles sold. Ask your neighbor! Sold by druggists everywhere. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00. Manufactured only by Dr. Peter Fahrney & Sons Co., Chicago, Ill.

Come in and see how they work—and we will send you a booklet, free.

QUINEBAUG STORE
Danielson, Conn.

Take Fruit-a-tives for Headaches

Whether your Headaches are caused by Indigestion, Biliousness, or Weak Kidneys—"Fruit-a-tives" — made from fruit juices and tonics—will always give relief. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ogdensburg, N.Y.

Ottawa, Can. London, Eng.
Christchurch, N.Z.

ECHOES FROM THE LODGE ROOMS

EAGLES

Norwich Aerie, No. 347, is planning one of the biggest meetings of the year, on Monday evening, March 19th, when state officers will be guests of the Aerie and hear an address by Judge Thomas McDonald of Kansas City, Kas., a prominent member of the Eagles.

The entertainment committee has been busy planning a meeting filled with action, following which a collation will be enjoyed.

Judge McDonald is known for his knowledge of the order and will speak on facts concerning the order. In his address he will no doubt have considerable to tell of the old age pensions of the order and the multiple benefits derived from being a member of the Eagles. His subject will be The Fraternal Order of Eagles The Most Progressive Fraternity in the U. S. A.

JUDGE THOMAS O'DONNELL
Of Kansas City.

Notice of the meeting has been sent to members of the fraternity in Norwich and surrounding towns, and from all indications there will be a large gathering of members at the home of the Aerie, on Shetucket street on that evening. Norwich Aerie is expecting to turn out 100 per cent. strong to welcome this well known member of the fraternity to the Rose of New England.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

Wauregan lodge, No. 6, held its regular meeting Tuesday evening at Buckingham Memorial, with a large number of members present. Chancellor Commander Dr. Kopland Marshall was in the chair and considerable routine business was transacted.

Plans were made for a big whist to be given by the lodge in April and the following committee was selected to make arrangements: Rudolph Herschel, chairman, Albert Moran, William Mackie and Samuel Ableman.

Ten candidates received the 3rd degree in Jewett City on Thursday evening and the degree team reported that at the next meeting of the lodge eight candidates would receive the first degree.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the dance to be given by the lodge in May reported progress, and that plans were being made to make it the biggest affair of its kind ever given by the Pythians of Norwich. The lodge also discussed the possibility of giving a minstrel show sometime in the fall, action to be taken at some later meeting.

An important matter of business discussed was that of the forming of the headquarters for D. O. K. K. in this city. At present the only headquarters in the state are in New Haven, making it a long trip for Pythians of Eastern Connecticut. The new headquarters in Norwich will give Pythians of this part of the state a playground near at home. Already 300 candidates have signified their intentions of joining the organization and when plans are complete the candidates will march across the deserts of Connecticut to Norwich and the festival will begin. A huge street parade will take place and Pythian members of the D. O. K. K. from all parts of the state will gather in Norwich, park their camels, and join in the fun.

ODD FELLOWS

Shetucket lodge, No. 37, held its regular meeting Tuesday evening in Odd Fellows hall on Main street with Noble Grand Edward Smith in the chair. Considerable routine business was transacted and a class of nine candidates was worked in the first degree by Degree Master John J. Parsons and staff.

Plans were also made for an entertainment and banquet to be held on April 3rd. It is customary for Shetucket lodge to hold an entertainment and banquet on the night when the third degree is worked, but as this date falls on March 27th this year, a date conflicting with another organization, the Odd Fellows are to celebrate on the first Tuesday in April. The committee in charge of the affair, who claim that the meeting will be one of the best ever held by the organization is composed of the following members, N. G. Edward Smith, V. G. Howard; Warden, Albert Fairbanks; L. S. N. G. Louis Waters; R. S. S. S., Walter D. Kelley; Organist Milton Osborn.

Freeman O. Woodward has tendered his resignation as superintendent of the Odd Fellows' home at Fairview, Groton, to take effect March 21. Mr. Woodward retires in order to devote the rest of his days to his farm at Hamburg on the Connecticut river. Mrs. Woodward, who is the matron of the home, will sever her connection with the institution at the same time.

Mr. Woodward has been superintendent of the home for 20 years, prior to which time he was superintendent of Red House farm in Waterford. Originally he came to Waterford from New York state. His decision to retire is a source of regret, not only to the management of the home, but to the residents there, who thought highly of him.

It is understood that Herbert J. Phillips of Waterbury, past grand master of the grand lodge of Connecticut and republican member of the board of tax commissioners of Waterbury, will be Mr. Woodward's successor although no definite appointment will be made to fill the vacancies caused by the retirement of Mr. and Mrs. Woodward until the annual meeting of the Odd Fellows' Home corporation on March 21.

Mr. Phillips will be very much at home in his new work, for there is not a better known Odd Fellow in the state of Connecticut. He has held every office in Nohakogan lodge, Anchatawae encampment and T. B. Marvin canton of Waterbury, and just completed last year the round of offices in the grand lodge of Connecticut, retiring as grand master of the grand lodge and being now grand representative. The Odd Fellows home at Groton is one of the most modern institutions of its kind in the country and it is the intention of the order to expand the plant under Mr. Phillips' direction.

EASTERN STAR.

Sachem Chapter, No. 57, held its regular meeting Tuesday night at Odd Fellows hall, Main street, with Worthy Matron Mrs. Louis H. Geer in the chair. Routine business was transacted and several names were balloted upon. Following the meeting the members enjoyed a social time.

OWLS

Norwich Nest, No. 1396, met in regular session Tuesday evening in Owls hall on Main street, with a good attendance. President John Waltz was in charge of the business session and routine business was transacted. The nest also voted to give the death benefit fund to the relatives of Samel Lambert, late of Occum. Following the meeting a social hour was enjoyed, during which various members entertained with vocal and instrumental selections.

GOLDEN CROSS.

At the closing session of the 35th annual meeting of the Grand Commandery of the United Order of the Golden Cross of Connecticut, held in New London Wednesday afternoon, the following officers were chosen to serve for the ensuing year: Grand commander, C. H. Otis, Hartford; grand prelate, Mrs. B. I. Morton, New Britain; grand vice commander, Mrs. Ella S. Miller, Bristol; grand keeper of records, H. W. Adams, Hartford; grand treasurer, C. H. Mohrs, Thomaston; grand herald, M. J. Munsch, New London; warden of the inner gate, Mrs. A. S. Snavely, New Haven; warden of the outer gate, Mrs. Henrietta M. Payne, New London; past grand commander, Mrs. Isabel M. Hansen, Hartford; representative, C. H. Otis, Hartford, and George H. King, Ansonia; alternate, Mrs. Jennie L. Barbour, New London. The installing officer was Supreme Commander J. F. Burlingan of Providence, R. I.

JUNIOR AMERICAN MECHANIC

Buckingham Council, No. 14, held its regular meeting at the Buckingham Memorial Wednesday evening with a good attendance. Routine business was transacted and plans were made for a visit by the local council to Rosevelt Council in New London on April 9th. Announcement was made at the meeting that Councillor A. E. Atchison is a patient at the W. W. Backus hospital undergoing an operation for appendicitis.

The social committee announced that they were planning for an entertainment in the near future, but would not divulge the nature of the entertainment at the meeting.

Following the regular session a social hour was enjoyed and the meeting broke up at a late hour.

MANCHESTER UNITY.

H. H. Osgood lodge, No. 6920, held its regular meeting in Odiorne hall Friday night with Noble Grand Sylvester Tarbox presiding. Regular routine business was transacted and the following delegates were elected to represent the local lodge at the district convention to be held in Waterbury on the fourth Wednesday in April: First delegate, Thomas Addison; second delegate, P. G. M. Edward Crooks; third delegate, P. G. John Woods; first alternate, P. G. James Johnson; second alternate, P. G. Sterling Nelson.

HAMPTON

Rev. A. Avery Gates preached in Scotland last Sunday afternoon.

A meeting of the Hampton Poultry club will be held at Miss Euddy's next week Thursday at 1.30 p. m. The

[illegible]

SOUTH LYME

Mrs. George Card of Orange was a recent guest of her mother, Mrs. C. B. Waterhouse.

Raymond Hutchings and family were given a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Hutchings, parents of the groom. A number of out of town people were present. After a banquet evening, the people left on the best wishes for Mr. and Mrs. Hutchings, who, after they will reside. Mr. Hutchings is well known here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Foster were New London visitors Wednesday. Mrs. Annie Schnabel was also a New London visitor Wednesday.

Mrs. Frank Chapman visited the Old Lyme graded school recently.

Angelo Fuldi has his sawmill running again after a long period of idleness.

[illegible]

GURLEYVILLE

The public school was closed Thursday afternoon and Friday for a backward meeting at Mrs. Hall's home.

Miss Alfreda Walker arrived home Thursday from Norfolk, Mass., for the Easter vacation.

Mrs. John Upton of Willimantic is spending some time with her mother, Mrs. Rupkewitz.

Leon Hinsdale of Hartford was a recent visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hinsdale.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mann and [illegible]

[illegible]

SOUTH LYME

Norman Rathbone of New London spent the week end with his family here.

Mrs. George Card of Orange was a guest guest of her mother, Mrs. C. B. Waterhouse.

Raymond Hutchings and family were given a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Hutchings, parents of the groom. A number of out of town people were present. After a banquet evening, the people left on the best wishes for Mr. and Mrs. Hutchings, who, after they will reside. Mr. Hutchings is well known here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Foster were New London visitors Wednesday. Mrs. Annie Schnabel was also a New London visitor Wednesday.

Mrs. Frank Chapman visited the Old Lyme graded school recently.

Angelo Fuldi has his sawmill running again after a long period of idleness.

[illegible]

GLOBE DEALER HELD FOR LIQUOR VIOLATION

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 15.—Gilbert Lafayette, a glue dealer and shipper at 100 Meat street, in the Odd Fellows' building, was arrested this morning charged with having intoxicating liquor in his possession with the intent to sell or exchange the same for coin of the country. Police Sergeant Hick made the arrest when he went into the Lafayette store and found about a quart of whiskey in a half gallon jug. The contents of the jug tested 14 per cent. alcohol.

Lafayette admitted that he was the possessor of the whiskey and claimed that he had purchased some time that night for his own personal use—for way of solace. The reputation of the Norwich place was what led the sergeant to make the search of the store for liquor. He found a case of empty jugs there and garnished the top of a shoe box in the back part of the store. Lafayette gave a bond for his appearance in the police court Saturday and he was released.

Related Uncle Of King Of Greece

Prince Andrew (Andreas) of Greece, brother of the late ex-King Constantine and uncle of the present King George of Greece, who was exiled on account of his part in the late Greek war.

COOKS On All Subjects All Kinds
Subscription to all American and European Publications.
SHEA'S NEWS BUREAU
UNION SQUARE

DAMASCUS STEEL PRODUCTS
Hack Saw Blades that don't break. Butcher Knives that a hammer won't break; sharpen with a file.
STEAK KNIVES
COLD CHISELS
PINCERS, PLIERS, ETC.
THE HOUSEHOLD
BULLETIN BUILDING
74 FRANKLIN STREET
TELEPHONE 521-4

OBSTINATE COUGHS
When resistance is lowered and you come down with a cold that runs into an obstinate cough, your trouble is more than surface deep. You need an easily absorbed tonic-nutrient, mixed with your blood to nourish and enable you to get a fresh hold on strength.
SCOTT'S EMULSION
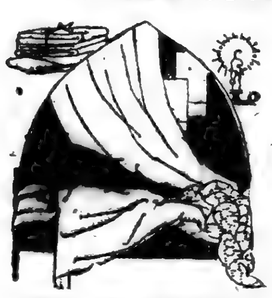
For nearly fifty years Scott's has been helping break up colds by building up strength. Try It!
The medicinal grade of cod-liver oil used in Scott's Emulsion is the famous Nor. & Scot. product, made in Norway and tested in our own American laboratories. It is a guarantee of purity and outstanding excellence.
Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J. 19-12

The Boston Store
Now at Reid & Hughes Corner

Opening of Newly Located Departments
ART EMBROIDERY — LINENS — DOMESTICS
FLOOR COVERINGS — DRAPERIES



LINENS AND DOMESTICS
(NEAR MAIN ENTRANCE)

LINEN GLASS TOWELING
An 18-inch Linen Toweling, in checked design, blue and white or red and white. Sold regularly for 45c a yard—
SPECIAL 29c

PURE LINEN BUREAU SCARFS
Handsome $1.39 Scarfs with scalloped edge. They are 18 by 45 inches in size—
SPECIAL 98c

LINEN TABLE NAPKINS
Very attractive Napkins, in pretty floral designs. Unhemmed, in 18 by 18 inch size. The usual price is six for $2.00—
SPECIAL 6 FOR $1.50

LINEN TABLE DAMASK
Several designs including the shamrock, fleur de lys, and lily of the valley. It is 72 inches wide and worth $2.00 a yard—
SPECIAL $1.75

ENGLISH NAINSOOK
A yard-wide Nainsook of the finest grade. The regular price is 55c a yard—
SPECIAL 39c

WHITE DOMET FLANNEL
A firmly woven Flannel, 27 inches wide, always sold for 25c a yard—
SPECIAL 16c

HEMMED SEAMLESS SHEETS
Good sheets, 81 by 90 in size, and actually worth $1.75—
SPECIAL $1.39

PILLOW CASES
Regular 40c Cases, in two sizes, 42 by 36 and 45 by 36—
SPECIAL 35c

CROCHET BED SPREADS
Full size Spreads, in a variety of styles, all worth a good bit more than the opening price. Choice of white, pink and blue—
SPECIAL $2.29

ART EMBROIDERIES

LUNCHEON SETS
Five-piece Luncheon Sets, in striking applique designs. A style very popular—
49c A SET

BATH TOWELS
Towels of firm weave and good size, stamped with pleasing designs for embroidery—
SPECIAL 35c

ART EMBROIDERIES

OYSTER LINEN CENTERS
Real Linen Centers, in the much used oyster white shade. The stamped embroidery designs are very pretty—
SPECIAL 98c

OYSTER LINEN SCARFS
Same quality, and in the same stamped designs as the centers.
SPECIAL 98c

"ART WEAVE" CENTERS
Scarfs, too, in the best novelty weave on the market. Stamped, ready for embroidering—
SPECIAL 45c

ART FLOSS
Something new for sweater making. There are twenty-one pretty colors. Comes in one-ounce banks, eight of which are enough for a slip-on—
OPENING SPECIAL 8 FOR $1.00

FLOOR COVERING AND DRAPERIES
DURING OPENING
TWENTY-FIVE 9 BY 12 RUGS
AT LESS THAN WHOLESALE PRICES

SEAMLESS AXMINSTERS
Were $69.00 ..... SPECIAL $48.00
Were $55.00 ..... SPECIAL $40.00
Were $45.00 ..... SPECIAL $30.00

SEAMLESS VELVETS
Were $55.00 ..... SPECIAL $40.00
Were $45.00 ..... SPECIAL $32.00

BIGELOW WILTONS
Were $125.00 ..... SPECIAL $88.00
Were $ 95.00 ..... SPECIAL $73.00

HAIRFS INLAID LINOLEUM
New designs and colorings. The regular price is $1.50 a square yard—
SPECIAL $1.29

CONGOLEUM (Gold Seal) RUGS
Size 7-6 by 9, in a good line of patterns and colorings—
SPECIAL $8.35

NEW CRETONNES
Twelve handsome new patterns, bought to sell for 35c a yard, and all are one yard wide—
SPECIAL 25c

QUAKER NET CURTAINS
All new Spring stock, and have been in but a few days. Filet Net with lace edge, and all are 3½ yards long. Regular price $3.50 a pair—
SPECIAL $2.98

The Boston Store's Apparel Shop
SPRING OPENING

A beautiful selection of the colorful Spring garments has been brought together in the Apparel Shop. Through the medium of prints the limitless variety of ornamentation coming from Oriental motifs has been brought to your doors. Beautiful Silks and Worsteds and Wools in novelty and staple weaves and exquisite colorings have been developed, making this Spring show one of the most beautiful we have ever seen.

SOME ESPECIALLY ATTRACTIVE VALUES WHICH HAVE BEEN COMMENDED BY EARLY SHOPPERS.

COATS — CAPES AND WRAPS
AT TWO POPULAR PRICES

COATS
$15.00 and $19.75
Swagger Coats in the newest Overplaids, Polo Cloth and sturdy Tweeds. Smart garments with the new sleeve and flaring lines. Both notch and convertible collars are shown.

Full Length Capes
$19.75
Attractive Capes, full length and lined throughout. Some have corded collars, others collars of moufflon. Fancy buckles make themselves useful and well as ornamental.

FULL LENGTH WRAPS—EMBROIDERED AND SILK LINED—ONLY $19.75

The Boston Store Boys' Shop

25 DOZEN
"BELL" BLOUSES
55c
You probably know the "Bell" Blouse. It is well made. A soft-finish Percale has been used in these, the patterns all being small and neat, the colors strictly guaranteed. All sizes from 7 to 16.

ALL-WOOL
"KID" CAPS
69c
Caps, made, not alone in boy sizes, but of boyish shape and proportions. These caps were not made for men, but for boys. They look it, too. All sizes.

12 DOZEN
WASH SUITS
$1.45
Oliver Twist and Middy Models, these in wash materials of splendid quality. We guarantee the colors, and there are all sizes in the assortment.

15 DOZEN
KNICKER PANTS
$1.00
Good sturdy mixed wool Pants, in sizes 6 to 16. Good tweeds and mixtures made up the assortment, some lined and some not. They are built for service, and are most unusually priced.

ALL-WOOL
SERGE MIDDY SUITS
$5.00
Made of good, navy blue serge, all-wool, in sizes 4 to 16. They are mighty smart little suits, well cut and well made in every particular. All are trimmed with braids, either black, white or gold, and have sleeve emblem.

All-Wool Boston Store
Double Service Norfolk
Suits—$6.95
Our guarantee is back of every one of these suits. In quality, style and finish, they are right. Coats are fully lined with serge or alpaca and the two pair of knickers are likewise fully lined. They are built for wear. All sizes from 8 to 18. Tweeds and Mixtures.

KEEPING FAITH
The boys' Shop sets a high mark for itself. We will carry only such merchandise as we can fully guarantee for service and satisfaction. We intend to merit your confidence and patronage, and are here to serve you in every way.

WE SPECIALIZE IN Boston Store
Double Service Suits
Two Pair of Pants to a Suit
Fully Lined and All-Wool

WE ARE SOLE AGENTS FOR
"Kaynee" Boys' Blouses
AND YOUTHS' SHIRTS. Blouses and Shirts of style and reputation.

We carry a most complete line of WASH SUITS, in all materials, colors, combinations and styles. We guarantee all colors.

Our showing of JUVENILE AND JUNIOR NORFOLK SUITS is large and attractively priced.

We have extra KNICKERS, HATS, CAPS, NECKWEAR, PAJAMAS, BELTS, SUSPENDERS, COLLARS, 'N'EVERYTHING.

THE NEW
Boston Store Men's Shop
SPECIALLY PRICED OFFERINGS

DROPSTITCH FIBER SILK SOCKS
Handsome, silky socks with clocks, in contrasting colors. We show them in black, navy, cordovan and grey. All sizes—
75c A PAIR

CUT SILK NECKWEAR
Ties which have just arrived for Easter selling. New Spring Tweeds, in four handsome sets of six colors each. Regular dollar ties—
65c APIECE

PERCALE SHIRTS
The washable, wearable kind in good, conservative checks and stripes, of the kind you like to wear. All colors are guaranteed. Sizes 14 to 17—
85c EACH

SILK STRIPE SHIRTS
Another newly arrived lot of Spring Shirts in handsome stripe designs. Properly made, and all colorings guaranteed fast. All sizes in stock—
$1.59

NON-WRINKABLE SILK AND WOOL TIES—Something new and good..... 85c

THE NEW SPRING HATS

Exquisite in coloring, charming in design, and simply exquisite in every way are the hats we show for our opening display.

In the wonderfully large and interesting collection are hats of all types, for all types of faces and figures. You will find yours here, and at a price you will be pleased to pay.

A FOOD SALE, TODAY — DOWNSTAIRS STORE

The Parent Teachers' Association of Laurel Hill Avenue will hold a Food Sale in our Downstairs Store, Today at 9 o'clock.

CLAIMS LABOR PROPAGANDIST URGED ACTS OF VIOLENCE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 16.—Ernest Scheiffer, a labor propagandist, will be arraigned in the police court on Monday. He was arrested some weeks ago, but the case has not come to trial because of the desire of counsel to have it deferred. Scheiffer is charged with inciting railroad workers to lawlessness and to acts of violence against the New Haven road. He was charged with the same offense at New Haven, and cause has been found for his trial in the superior court for that county and he has been held for appearance there in a bond of $5,000. That is the amount of the bond under which he is held for appearance in the New London court next Monday.

It is understood that the railroad company will produce four witnesses to substantiate the claim that Scheiffer counselled the derailment of trains and the hindrance of railroad work in other ways. It will be claimed, it is understood, that Scheiffer addressed gatherings of the striking railroad shopmen in this city as well as other railroad workers and urged them to acts that would be violence. Following his advice would have seriously interrupted the prosecution of railroad work. He will, it is said, be represented by Attorney David Slade of New Haven and perhaps by other counsel.

The prosecution will be conducted by Attorney Daniel M. Cronin, prosecutor of the police court, and he will have assistance if he decides that he should have other services in the case. The witnesses for the state are understood to be men who heard what Scheiffer said and who made notes of his talk and his advice in anticipation of just what has occurred in his prosecution here. Scheiffer made a determined effort to get clear of further prosecution in the New Haven court, but it was deemed that there was cause for holding him for the court that had jurisdiction in a case of the seriousness of that which the city court heard and he was bound over.

The city of New London has had serious trouble with Truman's brook which has its source far back on Jefferson avenue and beyond and which, during winter storms and indeed in downpouring of rain in immense quantity at frequent intervals. Today was one of those times and during the heavy downpour in the afternoon many of the storekeepers on lower Bank street anticipated that their places of business would be flooded. They had to stand at the entrances of the stores and sweep back the water as it rose to the sills of the doors. There seems not to be an outlet of sufficient capacity to carry away the water that comes through the brook also the culverts are choked up and the water does not find passage to Shaw's cove which is the outlet of the drain. Many of the residents along the section where the overflow occurs declare that the catch basins have not been cleared out and that they are now choked with refuse matter of a variety of sorts and that the water cannot get through to the cove.

The city has spent a lot of money at various times in trying to remedy the matter but it is apparent that the right means have not yet been adopted to insure the passage of the water from the brook. The brook passes into Bank street from the Ryan property and that seems to be the cause of the trouble.

It is understood that several worthless checks have been passed upon local merchants during the past few weeks and that the parties who obtained the money on them are to be brought to prosecution. There was a time when the fact that an account at a bank had been overdrawn unknowingly by the maker of a check was an excuse for obtaining money by means of a worthless check, but that time passed when the legislature made a statute that the negotiation of a worthless check by the maker was a misdemeanor and was punishable by fine or imprisonment.

Coal is more plentiful now than it has been in months and the coal yards are not turning away anyone emptyhanded who seeks a moderate supply. There certainly is no reason why coal should not be transported through the Sound now, if it can be obtained at the port of lading for there is no ice in the waters between here and the coal ports. The price of the coal holds up where it has been for many months.

Tailors are scarce in this city and nearly all the shops that do an extensive business are seeking that sort of workers.

A couple of alleged New Yorkers, who claimed they were "tough" attempted to take liberties at the O'Leary restaurant early this evening and an employe of the place stepped out and called Detective Hammond to take charge of them. The fellows got away as soon as the officer appeared and thus avoided arrest.

Isadore Miller, proprietor of a small store, No. 54 Bank street, was victimized of $56.16 this month, it was revealed today when Miller received word that a check he had cashed for a stranger was worthless. Miller reported his loss to the police, but the chances are that the crook is many miles from New London as the transaction occurred the 5th inst.

According to Miller a stranger appeared at the store and requested that a check that the latter possessed be cashed for him as he needed the money. Miller accommodated the fellow and deposited the check a few days later only to have it returned today as worthless. The check was drawn on the Pittsburgh Trust Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., and was signed by "Edward Thompson," and made payable to "Thomas Brady."

The streets of New London were never in more need of repair than at the present time and to put some of them in condition for summer traffic will entail the expenditure of a huge sum of money. The cost of repairing the streets will be far greater than it would be but for the fact that but little attention was given to repair work a year ago because City Manager Barlow desired to keep the expenses of the city at a minimum the first year with him at the head of the government. As a result the streets, particularly Ocean, Pequot and Montauk avenues are in such a condition now with the snow and ice gone, that it has become necessary to start repairs in order to insure safety to vehicles.

Ocean avenue is perhaps in the worst condition for that section south of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad bridge, is nothing more than a mudhole with depressions almost the entire distance to Ocean Beach. Montauk avenue is not much better, while the least damage through neglect and weather elements exists on Pequot avenue. Montauk avenue is now receiving attention by the surface being smoothed and bluestone applied. Many of the other streets, but not so prominent to travel by autoists will have to be given early attention if safety is to be provided.

Mrs. Charles Morgan of Waterford underwent an operation of a serious nature at the hospital today.

The Connecticut company experienced with much annoyance, as did the public this afternoon when three trolley cars were derailed at the same time at the junction of Bank and Truman streets, the derailments being caused by dirt being washed on the rails, particularly at the switches, by a heavy downpour.

Rock Zekos, a Pole, who has been in the police court a score of times in a few years for various offenses, was there today for an attack upon his wife, who it is said is struggling to keep a home and support four children ranging in ages from 11 to 6 years, the oldest a girl and the youngest a boy. Zekos manages to get what liquor he wants. He gave his wife a dollar of his earnings and then threatened to kill her unless she returned the money to him, it is said. Now he is in jail for ten days but his sentence will keep him twenty days for there are attaching costs that amount to $10.

Business men are pretty well disgusted with the sort of weather that has come to this section during the last three months. They say the weather has been "all winter," and that they are tired of it.

The city has asked contractors to bid on the erection of two school houses in this city, one to be a portion of the proposed junior high school to be erected at the corner of Williams and Mercer street on what is known as the Harris lot and the other on the corner of Union and Federal streets and to be known as the Stanton school. This latter property was bought from the Chappel estate and the building on it has been used for school purposes, but it does not fill the bill and a new school house is to be erected there. This lot is the one which Councilman Gragan told the council last Monday night was adequate for the building which it is proposed to put there and which he argued was sufficient to meet the needs of the city without buying the Williams property at State and Huntington streets. If we have not all the land there we want we should buy adjoining property was the argument of Councillor Gragan. The council finally took that view of the matter and ordered that the proposed building should be constructed.

Councillor Scott put the clinching nail in the scheme by saying that the city had experimented enough with school houses and that it should now do something that would meet the needs of the city. The junior high school has been a bone of contention a long time. The city issued bonds for the erection of the building but found that the sum appropriated was not sufficient to provide such a building as was desired so now a wing of the building is to be erected and the main structure will be erected when the city furnishes the needed funds by an additional bond issue. The members of the council and those of the school board have held several conferences as to the wisdom of beginning the erection of this school building, but they could not agree until last Monday. New London has spent a very large sum of money on its school buildings in the last twenty years or so but it has something to show for what it spent.

Advices from Lawrence hospital are to the effect that Police Lieutenant Benjamin Beebe, a patient there, is making slow progress toward recovery from the effects of a shock he sustained about ten days ago.

Joe Basile and Charles Levanto, the former a Norwich barber, and the latter a man without occupation so far as known, will come to trial in the police court at New London Saturday morning at 9.30 charged with transporting alcoholic liquors for purposes of sale and exchange. The men ran into the clutches of Police Sergeant Samuel Rick and Patrolman Frank Philopens at midnight Wednesday when the officers were in plain clothes and were doing special duty on Bank street.

It is expected that there may be a drop in the price of rentals of store property on lower Bank street during the summer. There are now several stores without tenants and they are said to be other premises that will be without tenants in the near future. The price of property in that section of the city is declared to have doubled in value since 1915 and rents have been boosted to correspond to the advanced valuation. It is said that the increased value placed on property by its owners during the war was a stimulus to the Manufacturers' Appraisal company of Philadelphia, which recently made an appraisal of New London properties for purposes of assessment.

Patients discharged at Lawrence Memorial Associated hospital today were Frank Mitchell of Shaw street and Mrs. Cecil Heckler of East Lyme.

The funeral of Miss Jennie M. Gleason, a former resident of New London, who died at Washington earlier in the week, was held at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church this morning at 9 o'clock. A requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. Alexander Wollschlaeger. The bearers were Frank Q. Cronin, James F. Ahearn, M. H. O'Neill, John F. Sheridan, H. W. O'Neill and Frank M. Joseph. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Margo O'Meill of Bellevue place is confined to his home by an attack of grip.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lewis of Granite street will depart Saturday

(Continued on Page Ten, No. Four)

HATHAWAY'S
Meats and Groceries

Phone 1720-1721 — 67 WEST MAIN STREET

Saturday Specials

Fresh Pork to Roast, cut from small Corn-Fed Pigs, a bargain per pound 20c

Leg Spring Lamb, the best, per pound 35c

Fresh Shoulders, half skinned, good and lean per pound 16c

Lamb to Stew, a bargain, per pound 10c

Native Turkey, extra fine young Hen Turkey, per pound 65c

Capon Roasting Chickens, average 6-7 lbs. per pound 55c

Beef for Stew, cut from our best beef, per pound 15c

Beef Liver, 2 pounds for 25c

CORNED BEEF SALE from Saturday morning until we close Saturday night. We will sell you a good lean piece of Corned Beef, per pound 5c

Butter Sale—Our best Tub Butter, no better made—per pound. 55c

Native Eggs, large and brown—dozen. 43c

Pure Lard, the best 3 pounds for 45c

Maine Corn—A Special—2 cans for 25c

Chase & Sanborn's Seal Brand Coffee, lb. 45c

Hawaiian Pineapple, large can 35c

FOR SATURDAY WE HAVE A SHIPMENT OF FRESH STRAWBERRIES

California Peaches, large size can 35c

Smoked Shoulders, while they last per pound 12c

Beef to Pot, Special, cut from the best part of the chuck, lb.... 18c

Don't forget that we carry the Best and Heaviest WHIPPING CREAM in the city.

Premier Fruit Salad per pound 35c

Cauliflower, Spinach, New Carrots, Green Peppers, New Cabbage and Fresh Tomatoes.

The Porteous & Mitchell Co.

Easter Is Drawing Near

Visitors to the Store Today Will Find a Great Showing of Beautiful Apparel, and All the Accessories That Are Necessary to Make the Easter Toilet Complete. We Invite Inspection.

Our Men's Store

Everything in Men's Wear—Outfitters to Man and Boy

Clothing, Hats, Shirts, Underwear, Hosiery, Neckwear, Etc.

IT'S TIP TOP WEATHER FOR TOP-COATS

—and you can't make a better choice than one of the smart, new models from the House of Kuppenheimer. Black and white type cannot convey the beauty of the new fabrics. Soft Velours with handsomely colored backs in plaid and check designs. Plain fabrics in distinctive new shades — uncommon color combinations. These Top-Coats demonstrate the exclusive style of

KUPPENHEIMER GOOD CLOTHES

Set the style pace for your circle of friends. Be first with the new clothes idea. Let the others follow you. You'll be admired and respected. You'll feel brisk and alert. Kuppenheimer good clothes will do all this for you: they are an investment in good appearance.

KUPPENHEIMER SUITS — $40.00, $45.00 and $50.00

OTHER GOOD SUITS ..... $30.00 and $35.00

HANDKERCHIEFS FOR EASTER

We are making a very extensive showing of the most wanted styles of Women's Handkerchiefs for Easter, in all the newest kinds of embroidery—at 12½c to $1.00 each. Buy them for personal use—buy them for gifts.

BOYS' CLOTHES FOR EASTER

Easter is near at hand. Let us help you supply the needs of the Boy for Easter wear.

Boys' All-Wool Golf Caps, extra good value, at 59c

Other good values in Boys' Caps, at $1.48 and 95c

Boys' Hats, new styles for Spring, price range $1.95, $1.49, $1.25 and..... 95c

Boys' Kazoo Suspenders, with garter attachment, sizes 4 to 18—at 60c

Boys' Ideal Underwaists, sizes 3 to 12, at 60c

WE SELL THE WELL KNOWN "KAYNER" AND "BELL" BLOUSES — ALWAYS AT RIGHT PRICES.

Boys' Lined Knickers, sizes 8 to 17—Special price $1.00

Boys' Washable Suits, in Oliver Twist and Middy styles, value $2.00—Special price $1.29

Boys' All-Wool Navy Serge Middy Suits, sizes 3 to 8—Special price $4.85

Boys' Junior Norfolk Suits, Navy Serge and neat all-wool mixtures, with two pairs of straight trousers, value $8.50—Special price $7.89

Boys' All-Wool Norfolk Suits, neat mixtures, sizes 8 to 18—Special value at.. $6.75

Boys' Norfolk Suits, of All-Wool Navy Serge—with two pairs of Knickerbocker Trousers, sizes 7 to 18—Special value at $9.50

Boys' Norfolk Suits, stylish all-wool mixtures, sizes 8 to 18, value $16.50 — Special price $14.50

REMEMBER—WE ARE THE AUTHORIZED BOY SCOUT OUTFITTERS, FOR NORWICH AND VICINITY.

Spring Opening

TODAY (SATURDAY)

Presenting the latest modes in Women's and Misses' Apparel—Suits, Coats, Capes, Blouses, Dresses and Gowns for every occasion.

Our Spring Showing of Exclusive MILLINERY

Comprises the best interpretations of the Sports mode, the Tailored mode, the Dress mode, as famous French designers have conceived it and as skillful American designers have adapted it.

This store cordially invites you to come in Today and view the new Fashions.

WOMEN'S SILK HOSIERY FOR EASTER WEAR

Prices for good quality Silk Hosiery are so reasonable this season that the demand will be greater than ever for Easter wear. We carry nearly every good make—Phoenix, McCallum, Pontex, Gold Stripe, etc.

We show good quality Silk Hosiery as low as $1.00 a pair, and up to $6.00 a pair for high grade Novelty Hosiery.

Be sure and see our line of Women's Full-fashioned or "three seam" Hosiery, at $1.95 a pair—the value is unmatchable.

WOMEN'S GLOVES FOR EASTER

Women's Gloves for all occasions—at the lowest prices obtainable. Our showing includes Silk, Chamois finish and Kid Gloves—long and short—in all the wanted colorings. We especially feature the "Trefousse" French Kid Gloves—there are none better.

2-clasp "Dorothy" Kid Gloves, fine quality, Trefousse French Kid Gloves, with self color and contrasting stitching, colors and black, white, mole, beaver, brown, black with white and white with black, at $2.50

The Trefousse "P. K." Kid Gloves, with handsome embroidery, in shades of beaver and brown, at.... $3.50

The Trefousse "De Lorme" Kid Gloves, in black, white and shades of brown, at $3.00

Strap-Wrist French Kid Gloves, very fashionable, in black, white and mode, at $3.25

Women's Strap-Wrist Suede Kid Gloves, a very stylish Glove for Spring, handsomely embroidered, at $3.50

Extraordinary Values for Saturday From Domestic Department

One bale of "Fruit of the Loom" Bleached Sheeting, regular value 25c—Special price 19c

500 yards of Indian Head Brown Sheeting, 10 to 20-yard lengths—Special price a yard..... 15c

Size 81x90 Unbleached Sheets, good quality sheeting, very serviceable, value $1.25—Special price.. 95c

500 yards of Bleached Crash Toweling, regular value 19c a yard—Special price 12½c

Size 18x36 Hemstitched Huck Towels, soiled and mussed, value 79c—Price to close..... 49c

58-inch Bleached Table Damask, in four attractive designs—Special price a yard 49c

60-inch All-Linen Table Damask, half bleached, good medium weight, assorted patterns, value $1.50 a yard—Special price $1.19

Cotton Batting 98c, Value $1.50

Size 72x90 Cotton Batting, weight 3 lbs., fine quality cotton—Special price 98c a bale, value $1.50.

Easter Lilies

By Katharyn Kane and Mills.

Ere mid June skies' promise lays
Mountain peaks and woodland glens,
Majesty over valley strays,
Sometimes nestled lowest and humble—
Beauty needed everywhere.
Footprints leaves on many strands,
But her home is wholly there!
Angels told their wings and rest,
In that land of the West—
Beauty's home, Killarney,
Ever fair Killarney.

Imitation's ruined shrine
May suggest a passing wish,
But man's faith one no'er declines
Such God's wonders teaching by.
Castle Leagh and Glenmacy,
Mountains Tore and Eagle's Nest;
Still at Muckross you must pray
Tho' the monks are now at rest.
Angels wonder not that man
There would fain prolong life's span—
Beauty's home, Killarney,
Ever fair Killarney.

No place else can charm the eye
With such bright and varied tints;
Every rock and tree you pass by,
Verdure brighter or more imprints.
Virgin there the green grass grows,
Every morn's spring's natal day;
Bright-hued berries dot the snows,
Smiling winter's frown away.
Angels often chasing there.
Doubt it Eden were more fair,
Beauty's home, Killarney,
Ever fair Killarney.

Music there for Echo dwells,
Makes each sound a harmony;
Many-voiced the chorus swells,
Till it fabits to ecstacy;
While the charmed ones below
Seems the Heaven above to vie;
All rich colors that we know
Tinge the cloud-wreaths in that sky.
Wings of angels on bright shine,
Glinting back soft light divine,
Beauty's home, Killarney,
Ever fair Killarney.

SPRING SONG.

I will be one with budding leaves,
With wind and song be one,
While frozen hearts of mountain streams
Are melting in the sun.

With my own heart I will set forth
In rediscovery,
And smile to see how quickly spring
Must have her way with me.

For old regrets that hang like leaves
Grown rusty on the stem,
Can only cling until hope buds
To take the place of them.

Aye, sorrow is the wench that keeps
A hearthstone in the rain—
But who would have her mind the house
When spring comes by again.

One day my feet will take the road,
Still faithful unto grief,
And I shall fall before a sun,
Be vanquished by a leaf.
—Helen Frazee-Bower, in New York Herald.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Mrs. C.—Why did you give the girl such a good recommendation? I find her impossible. I don't know what to do with her.

Mr. D.—That's just the reason I had to do it in order to get rid of her. I was in the same fix as you are now.—Detroit News.

"Well, little chap," said the stranger in the family, picking up one of the children, "what are you going to be when you are a man?"

"Nuffin'," said the child.

"Nothing? Why so?" asked the stranger.

"Because," replied the child, "I'm a little girl."—Judge.

Johnny—"Wonder where all the mosquitoes go to; there's not one left now."

Tommy—"Why they go to Florida for the winter and when they come back in the spring they've grown up to be flies; everybody knows that."—Exchange.

"What in the world coming to?" exclaimed the reformer. "It's when is it coming to that interests me," retorted the tired business man.—Buffalo Commercial.

"Do you observe the golden rule in business?"

"Strictly," replied Mr. Dustin Star. "There may be substitutes for temporary convenience; but when it comes to a final settlement, gold is the real money, every time."—Washington Star.

"The neighbors are talking about how stylish you're dressing," remarked Si Simlin.

"Tain't style," replied Farmer Cornhusk. "Every time my boy Josh buys a new suit o' clothes I have to wear his old ones."—Washington Star.

KALEIDOSCOPE

If all the people on earth could stand side by side they would form a line which would encircle the earth about 15 times.

The little English town of Spennymoor has a woman as sole minister of its Congregational church. She is Miss Norah Thompson, who has made a name for herself as an excellent preacher. She has officiated at marriages, baptisms and funerals and is fully qualified for every duty.

A music mania has descended upon Japan, according to a Japanese journal, which clearly has an editor with an unsympathetic ear. This same editor has a discerning eye, however, for he notices that Germany is supplying most of the instruments which support the "mania." German goods of other kinds, too, traveling to Japan are said to be increasing by leaps and bounds.—The Nation's Business.

The sport of boomerang-throwing is peculiar to the Australian aboriginal, the boomerang being a thing of his own invention, and being in a way the most remarkable weapon in the world. I have seen an Australian aboriginal stand in the street of a city, throw his boomerang right around a substantial modern building, and have it returned to his hand without moving from the spot. Needless to say, boomerang-throwing is seldom seen in the large centers of population; but in the country districts it is indulged in not only by blacks, but by white people, who find it a most fascinating game of skill. — Albert Goldie, in Adventure Magazine.

FOR YOUR NEXT BREAKFAST TRY OUR HOME-MADE SAUSAGE

THUMM'S DELICATESSEN

40 Franklin Street

THE SOCIAL CORNER

NOT FAILURE, BUT LOW AIM IS CRIME.

SOCIAL CORNER POETRY.

The Song of the Unsuccessful.

We are the fellows from whom fate barred
The gifts that are good to hold,
We meant full well and we tried full hard,
And our failures were manifold.

And we are the ones of these people who
We are meekness stamped flesh down.
Yes, we had to sweat for our brother's sin,
And bear the victor's crown.

The smiling-ones, who all but moved.
From their teeming tribe we come;
What was there wrong with us, O Lord,
That our lives were dark and dumb?

We are the best-talented, who, still
Unfatigably minded of the goal,
Of them we are: It seems Thy will
To harrow mine in soul.

We are the hard-hunt folk, who strove
Shrewdly, but in vain;
We lost and lost, while our competitors throve,
And still we lost again.

We are the destined of those whose way
Wind, fretful, with fruits and flowers;
Baby and lamb we were meant as they,
But the prizes were not ours.

A mighty army our full ranks make,
We shake the graves as we go;
The hidden streets and the close heartbreak,
They hath have brought us low.

And while we are laying bare inward ends,
Spirit and dishonored and sad,
Our epitaph this, when once we have died:
"We weak if here and the last."

We wonder if this can be really the close,
Life's fever cooled by death's truce;
And we cry, though it seem to our dearest of foes,
"God, give us another chance!"

By Richard Burton.

—Cast in by Bessie.

A Friend's Face.

The face of a friend, how it shines
In the darkness,
How often amidst all my sorrow
Lovely rose!
It comes, when the trial of loss, long
and
Has made troubled blessings so
Exceedingly dear!

The heart is oppressed, and is lonely
no longer,
My terrors and treasures are all at rest,
And the very child was despair is Changed bright and cheery
Illumined at once by the face of a friend.

—Cast in by Ruby Bell.

ANSWERS AND INQUIRIES.

AGATHA: Cards forwarded as requested.

ELIZABETH: Letter sent to address desired.

DON'T WORRY: Card received and forwarded.

BLUETT: Your name has been added to the Social Corner list.

NEMA: Letter forwarded as requested.

CLUB No. 1: It is a delightful pleasure to share in your anniversary feast. Taking the cake is second only to the eating. Many thanks.

THE WAY OF THE WORLD.

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner: Do you ever stop suddenly in the turmoil of this rushing, tearing, busy world and ask yourself what is it all about, anyhow?

Work striving, striving, striving! And what for? Such endless work, such endless worry, rush, pell-mell—oh! Really isn't it wonderful that some of us live through it? We cannot stop sometimes and ask ourselves what it's all about, and whether we are getting in the right turns for the striving, the effort, the checkpoints after talents. If our ambitions are of the right kind, the returns will come in so fast that we can't keep track of them. That's true.

Christmas and its days are an ennual time of year to take an inventory of our thoughts; of the way we are spending our precious hours that are slipping away so fast—we don't realize it until our hair gets gray, and the little wrinkles about the eyes grow strangely and sadly visible.

There is one institution, however, that is really worth striving and rushing after; and that is self-betterment. Self-betterment means making oneself agreeable, kind, good—generally sweet to know.

We all want to look pretty. That's a foregone conclusion and there isn't the slightest use in disguising it. The instinct was born in Eve. Why do we want to look pretty? For our own self respect, and because our friends will like us more if we are dainty, sweet—a sort of pleasant picture for tired eyes.

Add to this a natural cheerfulness, an even disposition, charming personality, and these are the qualities that come from beautifying the inside of the head and the living of the heart.

Here is a little creed, a little exclamation to help us: To be a woman who is always living heart above the common every-day type, to learn to speak because we think and because we have something finely, bright, cheery or interesting to say, not because the air is rather calm and one shrinks a few voice vibrations might stir it up.

To be dressed and dressed not for anybody's sake or for any reason but for the greatest reason of all—for the sake of having a clean, clean, beautiful conscience. To keep respect of speech and actions, behavior, opinions and thoughts—to be unbiased.

To be kind and sweet, considerate and charitable for it is in these things and deeds that the only real reward for all the scribbling, cares, sufferings, tired nerves and heavy spirits.

To be loved not because we are madly striving, but because we are worthy of the respect, regard, because we are good and true and filled with human sympathy and long tender emotion!

Isn't that an ambition really worth while? Isn't that creed worth living up to?

Chas. Jennie, Calla Lyons: I was glad you walked up and let it have the great pleasure to meet you.

Social Corner Sisters: Please allow me to send my most thankful acknowledgment for the sunshine you send to the memorial harbor you a little, quiet one. Some day I will write a poem of great pleasure. I will not attempt to express the satisfaction I felt when I opened my subscription box. I think it is splendid to be remembered by the dear ones. It is an expression of kindly regard. Which, I assure you is mutual.

Cordially yours,
KITTY LOU (Dec. 22).

HOW TO GET RID OF LITTLE RED ANTS.

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: I am nothing this Beautiful morning that we have a harbinger of spring. It has been very tiresome for all the shut-ins through the cold winter weather, spells indeed. Soon we will be planning to enjoy the Social Corner meetings and greet each member once more and forget the cold days of winter. I hope the sisters who have been sick will soon be able to walk out in the bright sunshine which will send health. I am sending in recipe for getting rid of the fleet of little ants which make trouble for the housekeeper in spring. Procure small quantity tincture camelic, take one-half teaspoon and shake amount of sugar, dampen with few drops of water, place in shallow dish. For red ants mix tincture camelic with cream or fresh butter and you will make be rid of them.

SALOME.

GREETINGS FROM A CORNER FRIEND IN FRANCE.

Social Corner Editor and Friends: Chow isn't that impressive and doesn't it sound as if I was going to make a brilliant oration? Well! Just to drop the formality I say Friends because for many years I have had the pleasure of reading your interesting contributions, but am not a member. In these days of wireless invention it is very easy to keep in contact with our friends and in listening in I have heard the words of wisdom from Practical Polly's Smiles and Laughter. Now I shall take off my wig when I next meet her so that she will not have the chance to do it for me. Seriously though we all know that she practices what she preaches in this article and that you would not have to look back many minutes to have heard her laugh or to have heard her say something funny to make someone else laugh and we know also that it has covered many a bitter heartache, from her friends, and a cheer Mr. Cure might very well add it to his formula. Some time ago I spent a couple of days in the hotel at Nancy where he makes his headquarters and receives people from all over the world. I wish that all of you might be here to enjoy this glorious sunshine and warm temperature; the blue sky and beautiful flowers which are in bloom and hear the blue waters pounding on the beach and see the mountains quite near covered with snow which make a beautiful background for it all. You can take long walks amidst beautiful scenery (if you are a good walker and enjoy it) or you can travel by car, train or trolley at small expense, or if you are rich enough you can travel by autobus or private auto. You pay your money and take your choice.

The annual carnival has just ended and it was a brilliant spectacle. No doubt some or many of you will see the pictures in the movies but not hear the colors will be missing. The battle of the flowers was wonderful with its long line of hundreds of autos and carriages beautifully decorated with flowers. The ladies dressed in beautiful costumes, with hats or hair decorated with flowers to match the color scheme of their carriages and some of them with crepe paper wigs which were dyed in different colors—red, blue, green and others. Their dresses were of some thin summer material, low neck and short sleeves, and they seemed to be quite comfortable while I was not too warm with my coat on. They had quantities of little bouquets with which they pelted each other as the carriages passed and repaid each other in the procession. Also those on the sides of the route and it was all very gay and amusing. Also the throwing of the confetti in the streets in the evening with its bands of gay maskers playing all sorts of pranks.

The French people certainly do know how to enjoy life and if they only learn to mix a little of Polly's homely practicability with their fun they would be more progressive in some ways. At any rate they are like her in one respect, they cover their wounds with smiles and gaiety.

I hope I have not wearied you with my long chatter, but I did want Practical Polly to know how famous she is getting. Hats off (and my wig) to Practical Polly and her theory.

AN OUTSIDER.

Nice, France.

KEEPING UP WITH THE DELINQUENTS.

Dear Social Corner Members and Editor: I am another of the delinquent writers, so just to keep up with the other delinquents will add my little mite.

I see some of the sisters do not like winter any more than I do, especially one like this one. I will surely be glad to see the good old summertime.

Am glad to see so many new writers and so many of the older ones. Am sorry to read of so many of the sisters passing on.

I had the pleasure of attending one of the meetings in the Buckingham last summer while visiting in Norwich. I had a lovely time, and saw many of my old friends and acquaintances, and hope to visit there again this coming summer. I cannot see to read or write, but my son's wife reads all The Corner letters to me. She also does my writing.

Myrtle Twenty: I presume you have your garden all started in boxes already. Am wondering how your sister and her "hubby" are, as I have not heard for a long, long time.

Keziah Doolittle: Trust you have kept well this winter. I got as far as this month without a cold, but had to be in style and get one. Am better now.

Calla Lily: Hope you get your book, and I guess you will. Perhaps you have it by now.

OLD TIMER.

CHATTY LETTER FROM WHIRLWIND.

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: It has been a long time since I have written to the Corner, but I have read what the other sisters have written. Wonder how many of the sisters have little chicks. I have one little black pullet which was three months old the first of the present month. We found her in the garden nearly frozen, brought her in and thawed her out and now she is a regular hen. We call her Tramp, but have never been able to find out where she comes from. I also have seven other chicken, which are four weeks old today. My hens are laying fine and have been all winter. I think Twice Twenty will be interested to hear of the little chicks as her sister has early chicks, and I hope I beat her out this time.

Reading about memory pens and taking thankful time like all such affections as I had two other pens with all colored ribbons from friends. Many of whom have passed on. I still have a bundle with pin and write chatty to match made of dimes, half dimes and the three-cent piece. I keep them very handy. I have pieced many quilts and have never yet quit them; they never were finished and kept over in the spring now. And those lutterigh albums with their verses of all kinds, such as "Friendship's fond page, will not fail me," "In my heart's world let me write," and "The rose is red, the violet blue, sugar is sweet and so are you." I never owned one, but brother and sister both had one.

Cretin: Am wondering who you spent Thanksgiving with in Southington. So you think it a pretty place? I, too, think it quite pretty, especially in summer. It is my home town.

Ny Kummer: Where have you been? Glad to see your name among the writers once more.

Twice Twenty: Quite a pretty piece of poetry with all our names included. Hope you had a nice time at Wilmesville. Have you any little chicks yet?

Sweet William: I'll say you surely did make your needle fly.

Grateful Gray: Yes, I am a member of the grange, but have only gotten as far as the state grange. I see by the last paper there is another sister a grazer. Glad to make hands with you, sister. I was Ceres for three years.

Vira: I am going to try your cocoa cake and hope I have as good luck as I did with Ny Kummer's.

Will ring off for this time else there will be no room for the other letters, and so many new ones. Is it not time to set the page all filled and running over?

WHIRLWIND (Oct. 17).

SOME OF THE OLD-FASHIONED REMEDIES.

Dear Social Corner Sisters: It is truly gratifying and refreshing to see how well one part of The Bulletin has filled up within the last few weeks, and also to see that so many new ones have joined in to keep our numbers good, for many of the older members have passed on to the far country, and they keep slipping away one after another.

I can endorse Mandy's cure for pneumonia, the scourge of New England, someone has rightly named it. I have great faith in the onion remedy, although, of course, I don't suppose any one remedy will cure every case, and many times people wait too long before dosing for pneumonia and the disease is so far advanced that it is of no use. Don't wait and wonder about it, but begin on the first symptoms of a fight, hard cough and soreness in the chest, and keep at it till it loosens up.

As a child I was subject to tight, hoarse colds, coming on suddenly, and many times do I remember my parents putting hot onion poultices on my all night, which always brought relief. The only trouble about poultices in such cases is that too many let them stay on too long till they begin to get cold and clammy, and are not careful about the changing. They let in too much cold air on the surface in changing to a fresh poultice. But none of the treatments of today will ever shake my faith in some of the old remedies.

I knew of a case where two of the family had died with pneumonia and the third one was not supposed to live through the night. Two of the neighbors who were watching with him that night, as it was the custom in country places not so many years ago for the friends and neighbors to take turns in looking after sick people nights, thought that as he could but die anyway they were justified in trying an experiment. So they tried the hot onion treatment, and when the doctor came next morning he was much surprised to find the patient still alive and much better, and as far as I know he is living yet. I also tried it successfully on a neighbor of mine who was taken suddenly sick with pneumonia symptoms. We couldn't get a doctor there till evening, and I set to work with the hot onion poultices on her chest and back, and the soles of the feet. I also gave her onion syrup made by slicing raw onions and putting in a dish with alternate layers of sugar and setting in a warm place to start the juice. It is a sickening dose and I would much rather take any other kind of cough syrup or mixture I ever knew, but we didn't happen to have any other on hand, so this was a makeshift. But anyhow, when the doctor got there that night he was generous enough to say that the treatment had saved her from an attack of pneumonia, for she was practically out of danger then.

As I remarked before there is no remedy that is infallible, and will cure every case, but this can do no harm and sometimes does a great deal of good.

And while speaking of old-fashioned remedies, don't some of the older sisters remember the bunches of dried herbs stowed away in attic or storeroom in our childhood days, teasy and boneset, commonly called thoroughwort, which was also good for a cough, combined with licorice root, slippery elm bark, flaxseed and molasses and cooked to a syrup, pennyroyal and catnip, spearmint and peppermint, hoarhound and wormwood, which last was a remedy not to be despised for sprains and bruises when it was steeped strong and vinegar or alcohol mixed with it.

But oh, the bitterness of it! In fancy I can smell that sharp, pungent fragrance now, and the impossibility of getting the stain and bitterness off your hands after wringing cloths out of the decoction I shall never forget. But I love to gather some herbs now and again for old time's sake and the memories they awaken and, for most of us who have a grain of sentiment in our souls, the fragrance of each flower and plant has some association for us, and we travel back in fancy to some tender or joyful scene of the days gone by.

And now I will close by thanking the editor for the agreeable surprise of my yellow slip and sign myself as ever,

IOLA.

MA OF GREENE GABLES' ROLLS.

Dear Social Corner Folks: I was very much disappointed not to be able to get to the meeting March 7. But poor "Bub" had a fall and was unable to go and I would not go without her and to tell the truth, I didn't feel very well myself at that time and with the very bad weather everything seemed against us. We were both very sorry not to come, but hope in April we may have better luck.

I want to tell Grandma Gray, and all the rest, I used my last squashes today, March 10th, and made eight squash pies, and unless I use canned squash I cannot make any more until next fall. I'm making rolls lately and we think they are very nice. There is only one trouble and that is they won't keep because they eat them up so quick. I'll tell the sisters how I make them. I take three cups of milk, scald and let cool, pour over three tablespoons sugar, four of butter, one half, add yeast cake, dissolved in a little warm water, add four cups Pillsbury flour, let rise until it's creamy, add one egg, one cup sugar, one and three-fourths cups flour, four even teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one teaspoon vanilla extract. Cream butter, sugar, then add eggs and beat well, add one-half of the milk, beat well, one-half of the flour which has been sifted with baking powder and salt, beat again, add remainder of milk and heat again. Then add remainder of flour and flavoring and beat again. This makes two nice large layers.

Will close with best wishes to all the Corner members.

STUDENT.

LIKES COCOA CAKE RECIPE

Dear Sister of the Social Corner: This is my first letter since became a member of the Corner and I want to tell Vira her cocoa cake recipe was fine.

Best wishes to all.

AVON (July 2.)

DOING UP COLLARS AND CUFFS

Dear Social Corner: Seeing that someone inquires about how to do cuffs and collars in cold starch, I will give my way. Wash in the usual way, dip in boiling starch, when dry and ready to iron dip in cold starch. I use elastic starch and roll them in a dry cloth a few minutes and then iron on both sides until dry. Fold collar at crease. Cuffs iron on the wrong side by starting at one side and roll as I iron. Then they are shaped. Either put in pail or round cake pan and place on shelf to range or open oven door and let air. They will be very stiff.

I wish the sister who sent it in would repeat her muskmelon cake recipe.

L.

PARTIAL TO WOVEN RAG RUGS

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner: It is some time since I have written but as I see so many of the older sisters' names I thought I would add my mite. It is coming the time of year when we commence to think of the things we wish to do to get ready for the beautiful summer, which looks so attractive to us all after the cold snowy winter. Housecleaning comes about the first thing and I have been saving carpet rags to make some woven rugs, if I can find some one to weave them. They are so light to shake and can be washed and look like new when cleaned in that way.

C. E. S.: What have you been doing this winter? I think you love to piece quilts.

Lola: Won't you tell us more of the old days you remember?

Aunt Jerushy: We all enjoy your letter, but do not see them very often.

J. H. R.: I suppose you are still listening hoping to hear that blue bird sing. Hope you are still gaining.

With best wishes to all,

BARBAR.

GLAD FOR MANY THINGS

Dear Editor and Sisters of the Corner: I do enjoy your letters, Neighbor Eveready and think the Corner is getting better every day in every way if that is possible, for the members that write have very interesting letters, leaving mine out. Mine barely escape the wastepaper-basket. How ready the sisters are to answer a request for recipes or anything. But who's who? Give us a clue; if you know me I must know you.

I have been thinking of how many things we have to be glad and thankful for. Glad for a kind Heavenly Father's care and provision, for the changes in season, for the beautiful flowers and songs of birds that we soon shall hear, then the many friends we have and many things that cannot be mentioned. By the way I am glad so many fed them this winter and brought the notice before others. I love to watch them after the crumbs I throw out. Who said hare ground? Guess we will be glad to see it again. This has been an old fashioned winter and we will be glad to see spring come again. Glad of health after sickness, glad of the kindness shown in sickness and bereavement. We are glad even that the great piles of snow are going and the cold nearly past. The shortage of fuel nearly made us loose our tempers, but even that brought out the large heartedness of those who tried to relieve the suffering caused by it. One man who worked for a large coal dealer worked over

WHERE NAZARETH CHURCH WAS LOCATED.

Dear Editor and Corner Sisters: I have enjoyed reading the letters in the Corner, and saw Historian's inquiry about the records of the Nazareth church. I can't tell about the records, but can tell him where the church was. It was in the third school district at Hodge Pond. It was on the road from Edgetown village to Pendleton. Him on the east side and a few rods south of the road going past the Levi Fish place now called the Denison place. It was taken down and built into the Dean house over the line in Griswold now the Ira G. Briggs place. There are a good many descendants of Moses Hume now living.

Best wishes for the Corner.

A. W. L.

GREETINGS FROM STUDENT.

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner: It has been some time since I wrote but as I am feeling blue, or a little discouraged, thought I would try and cheer myself up by writing to the Corner. The dearest Corner in the world.

Red Clover: Was surprised to see you at that hour of the night. But you are working for a good cause. May God bless every one of them.

Red Rose: Was glad to see you. Think you are doing fine. Hope some day you will get your reward.

Nannie Lou: Spring is coming. Hope it brings good health to you. You have been shut in so long.

Prairie Chicken: I remember the blizzard of 1888. I had just recovered from scarlet fever and had not been allowed to go into the kitchen with the rest of the family. And it had snowed and one window was completely covered and the other nearly covered in a snow drift and my mother let me enter the kitchen for the first time in many weeks.

Lo: I tried your pineapple sponge pie recipe and had good luck. It is hard to cook and see good things to eat and not dare to eat.

Pocahontas: I want to copy some of your quilt patterns. I don't have much time to sew now, but I may some time. The umbrella pattern was so cute. At the next meeting will try and come and bring my needle and thread.

Deliah Deal: How are you? I have been sick in bed. I got so discouraged, but when I thought of others that had not been out all winter I made up my mind I was not so bad off after all.

I will send my recipe for a

Layer Cake: One-third cup of butter, one cup of milk, one egg, one cup sugar, one and three-fourths cups flour, four even teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one teaspoon vanilla extract. Cream butter, sugar, then add eggs and beat well, add one-half of the milk, beat well, one-half of the flour which has been sifted with baking powder and salt, beat again, add remainder of milk and heat again. Then add remainder of flour and flavoring and beat again. This makes two nice large layers.

Will close with best wishes to all the Corner members.

STUDENT.

SUCCESS OF THE SOCIAL CORNER

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner: I was very glad of the opportunity to attend the club meeting held at Norwich on March 7th, and although the early morning was very stormy, which probably prevented many from coming, there was a very good attendance, about 75 being present. As usual the cordial greetings were exchanged, both for those who had met for the first time, as well as those who have met on former occasions. A fine dinner was served to the Social Corner family, and enjoyed by all, as we sat together at the long tables. Social visiting was the important feature. Many of the sisters had brought along their light fancy work and exchanged ideas with each other. Joan favored us with lively selections on the piano. As the anniversary meeting came to a close, Sister Olga and myself went out to call on Kitty Lou, and had a delightful little visit. This being the 13th year of the Social Corner it appeals to me as a success. Whenever or wherever I see the word corner or hear it spoken, my thought turns to Social Corner. Recent I read an article entitled "What is success?" and the answer given was the four "corner" of success are S-A-V-E. To apply these same four letters on the corners of the Social Corner page then place four r B-E-S-T, along with them, would render a complete definition of the "success" attained by the Social Corner. To save the best for our page brings results. Also the many outside deeds of kindness have found their way into many corners. We may not enumerate the many successful accomplishments of the Social Corner body, as too many responses are unavoidably silent. In a few lines I have written ideas that appeal to me as a basis for the continuous work of the Social Corner:

"There are many corners in this walk of life,
Some are bright and some are dark,
Those who have a light to give
May they share a gleaming spark.

Four corner on every page
In each two letters stand
S-A-V-E B-E-S-T.
Success writes the band.

There are hearts both loyal and brave,
There are sisters that are kind and true,
Then give to others, the best you have,
And the best will come back to you.

Give love, and love to your life will flow,
A strength in your utmost need
Have faith, and a score of hearts will show
Their faith in your word and deed.

For life is a mirror of each and all,
It is just what we are, and do,
Then "save" for the Corner the "best" you have,
And the best will come back to you.

JENNIE (June 5th).

ANOTHER BLODGETT VERSION.

Dear Social Corner Friends: When I read about Miss Blodgett in a recent letter I thought I would write an addition to it as I used to hear it. The little boy was in the habit of making rhymes, and wrote the following:

A little mouse sat on the stairs,
To hear Miss Blodgett say her prayers.

The teacher saw it and gave him two minutes to make another one, so he made the other one:

Here I stand before Miss Blodgett,
She's going to strike and I'm going to dodge it.

I have saved the poem in prose of scrubby Spice. Guess everyone will be glad to see the "beautiful old hare ground." My yard was nearly bare, when along came another snow and spread a blanket over it again.

I saw a flock of bluebirds, seven in number, on March 7, so I think summer is coming—sometime.

Free Air: Your letter was good for the blues. Write again.

Rosy Posy: Try one or two teaspoons of sugar in your turnip when you put it on to cook.

The poems in the anniversary number were fine.

Best wishes from

SILENT PARTNER (Dec. 25).

THE LITTLE OLD RED SCHOOL-HOUSE.

Mr. Editor and Social Corner Writers: Once again my thoughts turn to the Social Corner, and the good times we have all enjoyed together in the past. When we had smaller numbers than now and met at the different homes. How we did enjoy ourselves at Aunt Abby's home, the Doctor's, Scottie's and Crimson Rambler's. Sure we all did our bit to entertain each other, but of course as years come and go we fall off, like the leaves from the tree in the fall, and drop out of sight by the wayside. Thirteen years have brought many changes to us all, and as I see the older ones drop out, one by one, I think of of other things that are disappearing from time to time, and especially the little old red schoolhouse. It is almost out of existence now. But how many of our leading men and women got their start in the red schoolhouse.

It stood usually on a knoll, or hill, fenced around with a stone wall, one door in front opening into a hall, which usually had two doors, one at each end to enter the room proper. When I first went to school up in old New Hampshire I was drawn to school on a handmade sled. We had to go two miles. Then when we got there the fire had to be built and we sat on hard, long benches, with two aisles usually between and our classes were heard standing with our toes on a crack in the floor. Some days, but happy days just the same, and hundreds of our older men who are holding office under the government, were sent to the same kind of a school as these. Many in these days went for the sake of learning and not to play. We only had a 15-minute recess in the morning and the same after lunch, and went home at 3.30, wading in snow, sometimes walking in it, laughing, shouting, a happy, healthy band. If the teacher boarded at your house for a week you were simply it. And how the old mothers put out to it. It is like saying put out to it now-a-days. And perhaps that is why the younger generation do not seem to feel the same love and respect for the old schoolmarm that those of older years have.

And now gone are the little red schoolhouses. You have stood by the side of the road for many a weary year; you have taken your children daily and now you, too, are done with your duty in this sphere. You are to higher planes where the girls and boys that love you so well and they will ever hold in memory's shrine the thought of all you have been and done for them in days gone by.

MANDY.

SONGS THAT NEVER WEAR OUT.

Dear Folks: I wish to thank all for telling your favorite hymns, especially those who have written me personally. Church hymns and sacred songs are closely connected. Only Tuesday evening I listened in over the radio to hear a large congregation hundreds of miles away so steadily singing I Need Thee Every Hour. A large number of our favorite songs were written by Fanny Crosby, the blind hymn writer, who was always happy; also P. P. Bliss, whom I heard sing once. I mention a few of the almost unlimited number: Hymns written by Rev. Charles Wesley in 1740 (No. 37); Tell Me the Old, Old Story (No. 54); Just As I Am (No. 97); Jewels (No. 159); O Happy Day (No. 117); My Faith Looks Up to Thee (No. 45); Every Day and Hour, by Miss Fanny Crosby. A dear friend of mine who had met with bereavement once told me that Fade, Fade Each Earthly Joy (No. 79) was his sweetest song.

I like the good old Methodist song Standing on the Promises.

Grace: I can never forget those good songs we once sang together.

Oleander: A beautiful thought of yours of using a hymn for a daily motto. This is my favorite: Keep in Touch With Jesus.

Rural Delivery: Am sorry you are to leave your eastern home. We would like more of your nice letters from your new home out in the land of perpetual sunshine. Please retain your membership in the Social Corner. So long, and good luck to you.

I have pasted this in my hat: "Day by day in every way I am getting better and better."

JIM.

HOW TO USE UP LEFT-OVER YARN.

Dear Social Corner Sisters: Spring is on its way! A robin and the pussy willow have been seen.

A good way to use up left-over yarn is to knit or crochet an afghan. This is done 16 squares or blocks of pretty harmonizing colors. As a rule there will be a little left from sweaters, stockings or anything we knit or crochet. A crocheted block about 4x4 inches is a good size. These are all crocheted separately and then sewed or crocheted together, the last row being of black. Several pretty colors can be arranged in one block.

Hope to hear from the sisters as to their ideas. Here's hoping for better weather soon.

AGATHA (March 17).

PIECES A QUILT EACH YEAR.

Dear Social Corner Sisters and Editor: The "hit or miss" letter from Free Air impressed me, especially as she has pieced a quilt, the "statehouse steps." We are doing work along that line in our Ladies' Aid society and I have pieced a quilt each winter for the past few years and given to my nieces. The past winter I have been doing other work, but may piece my quilt yet before July 4th.

Sister Jill: Think you must have lived in Lebanon at one time. I recall the picnic for which Peggy Anne prepared and was disappointed. I also attended the wedding and silver wedding anniversary you mention. And as you were neighbor to my sister-in-law and niece at one time, I am trying to trace you out.

Sister Lo: Your pineapple sponge pie sounds fine and I will test it soon, using the canned goods, which I think will be all right.

ELIZABETH.

A NEW CORNER MEMBER.

Dear Social Corner: Would like to write a line to the Social Corner, as I would like to be a member. Have tried different recipes and had good results. Hoping this does not find the waste basket. Will take as my pen-name

BLUETT.

GRATEFUL FOR MANY REMEMBRANCES.

Social Corner Editor and Sisters: Is it time I wrote again? It is quite a long time since last I wrote, and while The Corner page keeps full without me, I want you to all remember I am still one of The Corner even if it is a year since I have had the privilege of meeting with you. I read all the letters each week and wonder as I read the letters of the new members Who's Who and if there are any I know.

I see one of these and I have the same birthday date, but probably not the same year, and I'd like especially to know who she is.

Bee True: I was so glad to see your letter in last Saturday's Corner, for I never have heard a word from you since I sent you two cards and a badge long ago, except once through Vira, when she met you at Etta Barber's; as I have written you two letters since then but received no reply from either I had begun to think you had gone west again.

I'd like to know what has become of Capitola. She called on me last October and said she was coming to spend the day with me soon and I have never heard or seen anything of her since. Have inquired after several of the meetings at the Buckingham but can learn nothing. Capitola, why don't you, like John, "speak for yourself"?

How I would like to meet with you all and have a nice visit with the sisters I have met and meet the new ones. But the days would have to lengthen a good deal to be long enough to do it all in one or even two days.

I say that Nannie Lou had been sick, and was sorry for her. I wish I could get a card like the one Betsy Trotwood sent me. I'd send it to you Nannie. It would cheer you up and give you a laugh and a remembrance of Josiah.

And Canterbury Bell, I see you have been shut in all winter, too. Some winter we have had, don't you think? I have been on the ground three times since last August, but many of the sisters, besides numerous other friends have remembered me by gifts, letters and cards. I had over 50 of these at Christmas time, and every week during the past year one or more from some of you that have brought cheer and loving thoughts that have been help of comfort and help to me. You remember the little verse:

Little deeds of kindness,
Little words of love,
Make this world an Eden
Like the Heaven above.

And how full this World is of those people who are always doing those same kind, thoughtful things for some one. If we would only be more thoughtful our own lives would be much happier and more worth-while.

I received the card you sent a week or two ago, Sister Stella, and appreciated greatly. Will write you as soon as I can. Am sorry you are not well, Sister Lo, and hope you will be better soon. Will write you as soon as I can.

With all regards and kind wishes for each member of the Social Corner, the editor included; I'll close.

DELIAH DEAL (June 3).

SOME GOOD HINTS BY DOCTOR.

Dear Editor and Social Corner: It is so long since I have written, suppose I ought to sign my name Rip Van Winkle.

My tablets have been all used up for some time but expect another supply about bed til you can't wait for those perhaps I might write a prescription for a trip to the New Jersey coast. It is quite popular just now and a sure cure for senile ailments. Oftentimes when you think you have a cold coming, light a joss stick and breathe up the smoke and if the cold is only just started it will stop it.

For a persistent, hacking cough, take a spoonful of honey with a very little borax sprinkled on it. I know this will help.

Another thing that the modern doctors don't take any stock in, or claim they don't, is a poultice of boiled onions put on the chest for a congested cold. I have had personal experience with this and know it is a fine remedy.

On retiring take a drink of hot sugar, have a hot flat and hot water bottle in the bed and by getting a good sweat you may save yourself a siege of sickness. Of course one of the first rules is a laxative as the circulation is never good where there is an accumulation of waste. If you must get your feet wet, take off your shoes and stockings to dry; don't try to dry them on your feet.

Thanks to those who have enquired for me, including Rural Delivery. Hope he sends us some letters from his new home.

Strawberry: Am glad Bobby has recovered.

Chatterer: I watched to see you go by to the anniversary but missed you.

Old Glory: Glad to see you again.

DOCTOR.

GREETINGS FROM CRIMSON RAMBLER.

Dear Friends of the Corner: Here I come for a little chat with you all, after a long silence. I must admit I have been rather delinquent of late about my writing to the Corner, but have read all letters with much interest, and when so many have extended me a call to the colors, I must respond.

Rural Delivery: No! My ink bottle has not received a call from Jack Frost. I have become rather lazy, I think that must account for my silence, but will try to call more often.

Necia: Although rather late I will extend thanks for your kind message a few weeks ago.

Calla Lily: You are all right. You are certainly the right person in the right place, always with a kind word and the glad hand for every one, no favorites and no partiality. I don't like unkind criticism.

Balsam Fir: Your card with reading matter at hand. It was delightful and well worth reading. Kind regards to Ned.

Yes, Agatha, your instructions were received O. K. Thanks for all your trouble. Could you solve that Social Corner puzzle? I know you will think I am an artist of no small ability. How about it? I hope you did not think a diamond cutter cut that star. Far from it, it was cut by a dull pair of scissors.

Am very much surprised to hear we are to lose our faithful writer, Rural Delivery, but trust he may drop a line once in a while so we may know how he likes his new home, as we are always anxious to know folks enjoy the changes they make. All good wishes go out to him in his new home. We shall certainly miss his letters. They were always full of good cheer.

Bonie: Card received. Many thanks for kind sentiments. I believe I received one from you last year under a different name.

Maple Leaf: Why don't you come up sometime and go to the meetings and get acquainted? You certainly will meet a jolly lot, and will never regret it. I enjoyed your meeting with me the first, and I thank you for nice present received. Guess it was intended for March 5. Tried my best to get to your place the third, but it was no go. Also what I told you about the funeral was the reason, I think, that we did not go. should liked to have attended that.

With all good wishes to the Corner.

CRIMSON RAMBLER. (March 5.)

SHARING OTHER PEOPLE'S TROUBLES.

Dear Editor and Sisters: Such a lot of good advice about blues this week, seems we must all have the regular spring fever. But speaking of trouble, can't you always find some one far worse off than you? For the last two months in practically every letter I have received from friends has had trouble to express—some real and some imaginary. Suppose I answered, "I have worse trouble than you, don't put an extra burden on me!" I don't answer that way, though sometimes I do feel that it is an extra load. Some say no one wants to hear your troubles. That may be all true enough, yet without listening sympathetically to others, how are we really to know the true soul of the friend? How are we to know that by turning a cold shoulder to the other fellow's burdens, whether they seem insignificant to our healthy mind or not, it isn't the last straw to driving that one to a desperate end? If we could only keep in mind the fact that every expression of our faces, every word that we speak is influencing those about us! We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to place ourselves, as we read anywhere of Jesus putting the burden of His own soul before that of the most trifling affliction of those who sought help?

There once lived a man of about forty-five years near my home. I do not know where he made his home before he moved into a tiny two room shack in our neighborhood. He was totally blind when I first knew him. He earned a half-way living by sawing wood for those who had pity enough to hire him. Living alone, cooking his own meals, his hands hardened to the burns of the stove and accidents he was bound to have. He used to come walking up the road like a warrior, his cane swinging in the air and occasionally striking about him to show him that he had not wandered too far from the side of the road. He used to have a short stick as a measure for the length of the wood to be sawed. It was a sad sight, yet he never complained. He was always singing as though he was without a care in the world.

At last my parents induced him to let them finance a trip to the Eye and Ear Infirmary in Boston. One eye was removed and to the other enough sight was restored to enable him to see with a strong glass. Such a happy man!

About this time I was away from home working at my profession. I was young, and oh, so homesick. Peter, which was a nickname I called him by, as he said, Maud, suited me to perfection, as I was like the Maud of the Sunday papers, used to write me the most heartening letters, just full of good advice, a few of which he enclosed every week. Peter—it never entered my head to call the old fellow, he had seen all there was of life and experience, especially that part of it which I was still there. Among the things used to send to cheer me was a piece of Walt Mason entitled, Why Worry.

When I'm inclined to weep and wail because my luck seems kind of rough, I always think of William Wax, who lies down by the railroad track and lost both legs some years, ago, by being frozen in the snow, but he never heard him whine or curse his fortune or repine. With cheery smile he went his way, upon his crutches day by day. And later, when he lost both arms, his brave heart remained all coward alarms. We here him from the sawmill door, all crushed and splattered with his gore, and still he cried, "Li-ting-a-ling! I cannot dance, but I can sing!" He kept on singing in his shack, and then one day he broke his back. We put him in a plaster cast, and then he died surely well at last, but still he cried in tones of joy, "I'm your little sunshine boy!" And later on this human wreck fell from his house and broke his neck, and then a gun blew off his head, and still he wore a smile and said, "Such trifles do not worry me, and I am always full of glee!" So when grim woe my bosom racks, I always think of William Wax, to whom no ill could sorrow bring and then I dance and whoop and sing.

Thirty-Two: Make a solution of one teaspoon of boric acid, one of soda and one of salt to one quart of water and wash your eyes. You will be surprised at the result. This is fine for sores, too.

The editor is wondering if I am wound up for the day, but just whisper to him,

DON'T WORRY. (Sept. 26.)

MAY THERE BE MANY MORE CORNER ANNIVERSARIES.

Dear Editor and Corner Sisters: I hope that none of the older sisters will forget the Corner's birthday and that we will reiterate the saying that we utter each year, "Bless the old Corner" and long let it live to celebrate many and many birthdays because of the associations of the past with the many dear sisters who have gone to the beyond and for the help and pleasure it will give us in the future."

The Corner has been a helpful stepping stone in our lives, our ideas have broadened in the interchanging of thoughts and ideas, the club meetings have given us amusement and entertainment and have helped us socially. We have made many new and staunch friends and the recipes, household helps and suggestions for fancy work have been a great help and aid. The shut-ins surely have been helped substantially and their lives have been brightened and cheered by the sisters' letters, visits, cards, flowers, fruit, etc., all of which have given them new courage to press on and to make the best of what is. We could go on and enumerate many ways in which the Corner has helped us.

Last, but not least, to the sweet and sacred memories of our dear sisters who have passed on, for their influence will still live on and remain with us, so let us endeavor to make the Corner what our dear departed editor meant it to be. So I say, may we celebrate very many Corner birthdays.

I wonder if the sisters know that Balsam Fir has been real sick, though she is better. Perhaps some cards from the sisters would cheer her up.

DIANA.

WHEN HOUSECLEANING.

Dear Social Corner Sisters: In housecleaning time clean painted walls with ammonia water, using four tablespoons of ammonia water to six quarts of clear water. Then

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Day's total sales 929,000 shares.
20 industrials averaged 103.84; net loss .81. High 1923 106.92; low 96.96.
20 railroads averaged 88.67; net loss .66. High 1923 90.82; low 84.53.

MARKET WAS SPECULATIVE.

New York, March 16.—Speculators on the decline successfully attacked the general list in today's stock market, but net losses in most of the popular shares were held to fractions. Interruption in wire traffic to western points, which have been supporting the market with buying orders, and the usual week-end profit-taking, aided the operations for the decline.

The initial attack was centered on the Mexican oil issues on the overnight announcement of the chairman of the Standard Oil Company of New York that American companies operating in Mexico were destined to lose half of their $500,000,000 investment there. Pan-American A and B dropped to 79 1-2 and 73 3-4, respectively, but recovered later to 80 3-4 and 7 1-8, where they were off 1 3-4 and 1 3-8 on the day. Virtually all the other oils also lost ground, although Mexican Petroleum, ordinarily inactive, jumped 16 points on a turnover of 200 shares.

Lima Locomotive and Air Reduction established new high records for the year at 72 3-8 and 70, respectively, but the former reacted at the close to 71 1-2, up 1 1-4, with the latter retaining its 3 1-2 point gain. U. S. Industrial Alcohol touched 73 1-4, a new top, dropped to 71 and then rallied to 71 3-8, off 7-8. Simmons Company advanced nearly 4 points to 34, also a new peak price, on reports that sales for the first quarter of this year are nearly 140 per cent. over those of the corresponding period last year.

U. S. Steel, Baldwin and Studebaker again showed fractional losses. A bad break in Piggly Wiggly just before the close sent that stock down nearly 11 points to 65 1-4. The Market Street Railway issues broke 2 to 7 points during the afternoon but with the exception of the prior preferred, which showed a net loss of 1 1-2, they recovered their loss and moved to higher ground.

Further weakness in Louisville & Nashville, which closed 3 1-2 points lower, and Atlantic Coast Line off 1 1-4, featured the railroad group, which was again reactionary.

Call money opened at 5 per cent but dropped to 4 1-2 at noon, closing at that figure. Only a moderate amount of time money is coming into the market, bankers demanding 5 1-2 and brokers offering 5 1-4 for all maturities, some business being done at the lower figure. Commercial Paper was more active with prime names still commanding 5 per cent.

French francs continued to be the feature of the foreign exchange market, selling above 6.30 cents but receding later to around 6.24, yesterday's quotation. Demand sterling opened off to below $4.69 in reflection of the large volume of grain, cotton and sugar bills being offered here. Other changes were small and unimportant.

STOCKS.

The following is a summary of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange up to 2 P. M.:

	High.	Low.	Close
Allied Chem	78¾	78	78¾
Allis Chalm	48¾	48¾	48¾
Am Ag Chem	24¼	24¼	24¼
Am Beet Sugar	47	46	46¾
Am Bosch Mag	56½	56	56
Am Can	102	101¼	101¾
Am Car & F	123	121	123
Am Cot Oil	16¾	16½	16½
Am Cot Oil pr	81½	80½	80½
Am Hide & L	13½	12	12
Am H & L pr	73¼	72¾	72¾
Am Int Corp	31¼	29¾	30¼
Am Tel & Tel	123¾	122¾	123¾
Am Tobacco	167¾	166	167
Am Woolen	51¾	50	51¼
Anaconda Cop	134¼	128¾	126¼
Atchison	103¾	103¼	103¾
Balt & O	39¾	38¾	39¾
Beth Steel B	53¾	53¼	53¾
Beth Steel pr	60	60	60
Brook Rap Tr	67¾	67¾	67¾
Brook Rap Tr pr	94¾	94¼	94¾
Brook Rap Tr	5¾	5	5¼
Brook Rp Tr offs	6¾	6¾	6¾
But Cop & Z	19¾	18¾	19¾
But & Sup C	34¾	33¾	33¾
Canadian Pac	147	146¾	146¾
Cent Leather	24¼	23¾	23¾
Cent Leath pr	79	78¾	78¾
Chandler Motor	74¾	74¼	74¾
Ches & Ohio	72¾	72¼	72¾
Ch & Gt W	5¾	5¾	5¾
Ch & Gh W pr	14¾	14½	14¾
C M & St P	26¾	26	26
C M & St P pr	43¾	43	43
Ch & N W	86	85¼	86
C R I & P	37	36¾	36¾
Chile Cop	29¾	29¾	29
Chino Cop	30¾	29¾	30
Cleden	61¼	60¾	61¾
Cosden & pr	103¾	103¾	103¾
Crucible Steel	82¾	80¾	81¼
Del & Hudson	116	115¾	116
Dome Mines	41¼	41¼	41¼
Erie	13¾	13¼	13¾
Erie 1 pr	19¾	19¼	19¾
Erie 2 pr	13¼	13¼	13¾
Fisher Body O pr	100	100	100
Gen Electric	187¼	185	185
Gen Elec w I	11¾	11¼	11¼
Gen Motor	15	14¾	14¾
Great North pr	78	77¼	77¼
Great North Or	34½	33¾	34¼
Hudson Motor	31	30¾	30¾
Hupp Motor	38¼	37	37¾
Inspir Cop	40¼	40	40
Int Harvester	93¾	92¾	93¾
Int Mer Mar	11	11	11
Inter Mer Mar pr	46¾	43¼	43¾
Kennecott Cop	43	43	43¾
Lee Hab & T	51¾	50¾	50¾
Lehigh Valley	68¾	67¼	67¾
Maxwell Motor A	61	60	60
Mexican Petrol	343	326	333
Miami Cop	29¾	28¾	29
M K & T new	16¾	15¾	16¾
Mo K & T pr n	42¾	42¼	42¾
Mo Pacific	17¾	17¾	17¾
Mo Pac pr	46¾	44	46
Nat En & St	73	70¾	71¾
N Y Air Brake	37	36¾	37
N Y Air Brake A	50	50	50
N Y Central	98¼	97¾	98¾
N Y N H & H	19¾	19¾	19¾
Nor & West	123¾	123¼	123¾
Pacific Oil	45	44¾	44¾
Penn R R	46¾	46¾	46¾
Ry Steel Sp	13¾	11¾	11¾
Ray Con C	16¾	15¾	15¾
Reading	78¾	77¾	78
Replogle St	38	37¾	37¾
Rep I & St	69¾	69	69¾
South Pac	93¾	92¾	93¾
South Ry	24¼	23¾	23¾
So Ry pr	69¾	69¾	69¾
Tenn C & C	13¾	12¾	13¾
Tobacco Products	57¾	56¾	57
Tob Pro A	24¼	23¾	23¾
Union Pacific	141¾	140¾	141¾
Union Pac pr	74¾	74¾	74¾
U S Rubber	63¾	61¾	61¾
U S Rub 1 pr	103	103	103
U S Steel	108	107¾	107¾
U S Steel pr	120	119¾	120
West Un Tel	115	114	114¾
West Mfg	64¾	64¼	64¾
Willys Oland	7¾	7¼	7¾
Worth Pump & M	36	36	36

METAL MARKET.

New York, March 16.—Copper firm. Electrolytic, spot and futures 17@17 1-4. Tin strong. Spot and nearby $51.37; futures $51.12. Iron steady; prices unchanged. Lead, steady; spot $7.25@7.50. Zinc steady. East St. Louis spot an dnearby delivery 7.35@7.95. Antimony, spot 8.75@8.87.

MONEY.

New York, March 16.—Call money: steady; high 5; low 4 1-2; ruling rate 5; closing bid 4 1-2; offered at 4 1-2; last loan 4 1-2; call loans against acceptances 4 1-2.

COTTON.

New York, March 16.—Cotton—spot quiet; middling 31.05.

BOND MARKET.

New York, March 16.—There was little buying power evident in today's dealings in bonds on the New York stock exchange and prices generally continued reactionary. U. S. government bonds were steady, changes being confined to four cents on $100. Foreign obligations also were relatively firm, most of the European issues advancing fractionally.

Tractions, which heretofore have held up fairly well, suffered in today's transactions. Interborough Rapid Transit 6s, and Third Avenue Refunding 4s, each off a point, being the outstanding weakspots. Railroad liens continued in supply with few takers, but losses were held to fractions.

There was some speculative interest in the sugar company liens, Punta Alegre Sugar 7s advancing one point, and South Porto Rican Sugar 7s, fractionally. Industrials for the most part, however, gave ground, Colorado Industrial 5s receding 1 1-2 points and Tobacco Products 7s, one point. Portland Railway, Light & Power 5s gained a point.

Total sales (par value) were $10,713,000.

The investment market continues to absorb new issues with apparent ease. Public offering was made of $6,900,000 40-year first mortgage five per cent gold bonds, series "E" of the West Penn Power Company at 99 and accrued interest. Several small issues also were marketed during the day.

Liberty Bonds.

	Rate.	Low.	Close
U S Lib 3½s		101.10	101.04
U S Lib 1st 4¼s	98.08	97.94	98.92
U S Lib 2d 4¼s	97.92	97.82	97.86
U S Lib 3d 4¼s	98.40	98.30	98.30
U S Lib 4th 4¼s	98.04	97.94	98.00
Victory 4¾s		100.02	100.06
Treas 4¼s	99.26	99.26	99.30

Quoted in dollars and cents per $100 bond.

Foreign Exchange.

With the exception of sterling all quotations are in cents per unit of foreign currency:

Sterling—	Yesterday.	Year Ago.
Demand	$4.69¾	$4.56⅝
Cables	4.69 5-16	4.56⅝
France	6.25	9.00
Guilders	39.44	37.86
Marks	.0043¼	.26
Lire	4.82¾	5.11
Swiss francs	18.63	19.45
Pesetas	15.46	1556
Belgian francs	5.40	8.42
Kroner	.0914¼	.014
Sweden	26.61	26.05
Denmark	19.25	21.00
Norway	16.17	17.40
Greece	1.93	4.45
Argentina	34.56	31.60
Brazil	11.15	.....

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, March 16.—Revival of export demand for wheat caused shorts to cover freely and tended to lift all grains to higher levels on the Chicago Board of Trade today. At the finish wheat showed a net gain of 1 3-8 to 2 1-8 with May $1.21 to 1.21 1-8 and July $1.15 7-8 to 1.16. Corn was up 1 to 1 1-8; oats rose 1-4 to 3-8 and provisions were unchanged to 10c higher.

The wheat market showed firmness from the start, because of the strength in Liverpool where the market advanced readily when a sudden development of a shortage of cash grain abroad became apparent. The market there was not affected by the action of the American markets the previous day but the markets on this side of the Atlantic were quick to reflect the action at Liverpool and values rose sharply. The sudden upturn caught a number of traders here short and led to general buying.

There was a good volume of commission house buying also, a number of orders coming from foreign clients. Trade also was influenced by reports of prosperity, as indicated by income tax returns and by the better character of the foreign political news, cable advices indicating that Germany is anxious to settle the reparations controversy and is said to be making advances that may lead to results.

Removal of hedges against export sales of Manitobas in the last few days also was taken considerable wheat out of the pit and the market has been showing stubborn resistance to pressure. It was said that export sales were estimated around 3,000,000 bushels Manitobas.

Corn and oats were on the upgrade with wheat and while there was considerable pressure at times the close was at the top.

Provisions were higher with the strength in Liverpool and a decrease in local stocks during the past two weeks.

Chicago Grain Market.

	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
May	121⅛	119⅝	171⅛
July	116	115	115⅞
Sept.	114⅛	113¼	114⅜
Corn—
May	74⅝	74	74⅜
July	77	76¼	77
Sept.	78	77½	78
Oats—
May	44¼	44⅜	44⅝
July	45	44⅝	44⅝
Sept	43¼	43⅛	43⅛

F. H. KENYON, General Agent.
GEO. M. DELAP, Special Agent.
JAS. L. FOORD, Special Agent.
A. N. PREMO, Special Agent.
Hartford, Conn. New York, New Haven.

A TRUE ECONOMY CAR
25 to 30 MILES PER GALLON
The Victor Pagé Aero-Type Four

The wonderful air-cooled motor that propels this car to an exclusive design incorporating many distinctive patented features

AN AIR-COOLED CAR THAT DOES NOT OFFEND CONVENTION. THE MANY NEW PATENTED FEATURES GIVE MORE COMFORT, SAFETY, ECONOMY AND DURABILITY ALONG WITH A SIMPLICITY OF CONSTRUCTION THAT REDUCES UP-KEEP AND REPAIR COSTS TO A LOWER FIGURE THAN ANY AIR-COOLED CAR YET PRODUCED.

WRITE OR CALL FOR COMPLETE DETAILS

VICTOR PAGÉ MOTORS CORPORATION
218 THAYER BUILDING, NORWICH, CONN.
FACTORY STAMFORD, CONN.

UTILITY LINE FROM $850.00 AND UP

DEMONSTRATIONS GIVEN DAILY
From Thursday, March 15th to Monday, March 19th

THURSDAY	FRIDAY	SATURDAY
PLAINFIELD	OCCUM	WILLIMANTIC
MOOSUP	VERSAILLES	WINDHAM
CENTRAL VILLAGE	BALTIC	TAFTVILLE
WAUREGAN	NORWICH	NORWICH
DANIELSON		NEW LONDON
NORWICH

ASK FOR A DEMONSTRATION

Do not miss this chance of seeing the car with the many new PATENTED FEATURES. The greatest advance in Automobiles up till now. We want you to look them over—Ask Questions—Find out what makes them different. SEE US ON MAIN STREET wherever there is a crowd — that's where the PAGÉ AIR-COOLED CARS WILL BE!

Money-Savers For Saturday

PORK LOINS To Roast, lb. 15c
Fresh Cuts—7 to 8 Pound Average

PORK CHOPS, 2 pounds 35c

FRESH PIG SHOULDERS, lb.... 15c
These Shoulders have all surplus fat and skin removed.

BEEF QUALITY CORN-FED STEERS
LEAN POT ROAST BEEF, lb..... 12½c
FINE CUTS CHUCK ROAST BEEF, lb. 15c

STEAKS, lb.. 25c
SIRLOIN, ROUND, PORTERHOUSE

PRIME RIB Roast Beef, lb. 29c
READY FOR THE OVEN
BONELESS — ROLLED

EGGS, FRESHLY GATHERED EVERY EGG GOOD 3 Dozen $1.00

Mohican Special CUP CAKES, doz. 24c

MOHICAN CREAMERY BUTTER, 2 lbs. $1

PURE SILVERLEAF LARD, 3 lbs... 40c

Fresh, Lean Chopped STEAK, 3 lbs. 25c

ONE TON LEAN CUTS Corned Beef, lb. 5c

FRESH KILLED CHICKEN, lb.. 35c

ARMOUR'S SUGAR CURED
SMOKED SHOULDERS, pound 12½c

CRACKERS, NATIONAL BISCUIT MILK, OYSTER, SODA 3 lbs. 39c

FINE A No. 1 POTATOES 15 Lbs. Peck 25c

SWEET POTATOES 6 Pounds 25c

BEST BREAD FLOUR 1-8 Bbl. Sack..... 99c

RIPE STRAWBERRIES Basket 55c

CAMPBELL'S Soups or Pork and Beans, can 10c

SWIFT'S GENUINE Legs of Spring Lamb, lb..... 35c

Fresh Mohican BREAD, 1 lb. loaf... 5c

THE MOHICAN COMPANY

SLATER HALL
MUSICAL COURSE
Friday Evening, April 6th
AT 8 O'CLOCK
FRIEDA HEMPEL
The World's Greatest Soprano
In Jenny Lind Concert
Assisted By
LOUIS P. FRITZE
FLUTIST
COENRAAD V. BOS
ACCOMPANIST
TICKETS $3.00 — TAX EXEMPT
Tickets on Sale at The Cranston Co., Broadway. Mail or Phone Orders Will Be Given Prompt Attention.

ST. PATRICK'S SOCIAL AND DANCE
GIVEN BY
R. S. Society, of Plainfield
At Community House
Saturday Night, March 17, '23
MUSIC BY
Ideal Singing Orchestra
OF WEBSTER, MASS.
DANCING 8:00 TO 12:00
A GOOD TIME IS GUARANTEED
AUTOS WILL BE TAKEN CARE OF ADMISSION 50c TO EVERYBODY
Refreshments Will Be Served

DANCE
ARMORY — NORWICH
SATURDAY, MARCH 17th
8:30 TO 12:00
MUSIC BY
HAPPY EIGHT
OF NEW LONDON
LADIES 40c—GENTS 60c
It's a Battery B Affair

ST. PATRICK'S NIGHT
DANCE
ROSELAND
SATURDAY, MARCH 17.
PAPER CAPS, CONFETTI, STREAMERS AND BALLOONS.
PHILHARMONIC DANCE ORCHESTRA
DANCING FROM 8.30 TO 12.
GENTS 55c. LADIES 35c.

EAGLES' ROOMS
MONDAY, MARCH 19th, '23
Judge MacDonald
OF KANSAS CITY
WILL GIVE A PUBLIC ADDRESS ON THE
"OLD AGE PENSION AND EAGLEDOM"
THE PUBLIC INVITED
EAGLES' ROOMS AT 8:00 P. M.
29 SHETUCKET STREET

Will Be Completed In Two Weeks
VENICE
Formerly known as the Chelsea Boat Club has been remodeled and turned into a beautiful Open-Air Dancing Pavilion for Summer — Gas. steam heated for Winter—Also a beautiful Lodge Meeting Room. We are ready to rent the entire premises to a responsible party. See A. M. Pasnik of The Pasnik Co., Norwich.

DANCE
SATURDAY NIGHT, MARCH 17, IN MILNER'S HALL, MOOSUP, CONN. MUSIC BY ED. KEARN'S ORCHESTRA OF PROVIDENCE.
GENTS 75c, LADIES 50c.

DANCE
TONIGHT
PALMER HALL
FITCHVILLE

NUMBER FOUR

(Continued from Page Eight)

for a two months' recreative trip in the south.

Two sailors from the submarine base, who were taken into custody Thursday by naval authorities because of suspicion pointed towards them as being the thieves who recently burglarized the store of Nathan Peck, located just outside the naval reservation, were given a preliminary hearing yesterday afternoon. The sailors admitted their guilt and will be given a court martial within a few days.

The arrest of the sailors resulted when they attempted to dispose of some of the cigarettes stolen from the place to New London merchants.

Frederick Cannon, a Boston negro, and employed as a dining car cook, is under arrest here, being held for the authorities of Boston on a charge of non-support. He will be taken back to Boston tomorrow to be tried.

Cannon was arrested by Detective Sergeant Charles Hammond following the reception of a request to do so from the Boston police. The officer, who had a description of Cannon, spotted him on North Bank street and took him into custody.

The New London police today received a request from Mrs. M. Meyer of 1010 New street, Asbury Park, N. J., to assist her in locating her sister, whom the former believed was residing in New London. Mrs. Meyer did not know her sister's marriage name, but her maiden name was Lizzie Eager. Mrs. Meyer stated that she desired to find her sister so that the estate of their father, William Eager, whose death occurred in Long Branch twenty years ago can be settled.

ATTEMPT MADE TO BURN NEW LONDON HOUSE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 16.—It became known this evening that an attempt was made early this morning to destroy by fire the residence at No. 33 Tilley street of S. Butleman, a Bank street merchant. Although the incendiary was detected at work by a baker, a report was not made to the police until fifteen hours after the attempt to fire the house had been made.

About 5.30 o'clock this morning S. Meyer, a North Bank street baker, entered the hallway of the Butleman house to deposit an order. As he opened the door he came upon a stranger, who was fumbling near an ice box and close to a partition. The baker was ordered from the place with a threat of receiving bodily injury if he made an alarm. Meyer retreated and a few seconds afterwards the stranger came from the house. Later it was discovered that a bundle of papers had been placed between the ice box and partition and ignited and although the woodwork was scorched it did not become ablaze.

Meyer was afraid to impart his find to the Butleman family until this evening and it was then that a report was lodged at the police station.

BUS DRIVERS' LICENSE IS INDEFINITELY SUSPENDED

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 16.—Nathan Peck of No. 216 Huntington street, who operates a store at the navy yard and also a bus line between the submarine base and Norwich, believes he is having his share of misfortune lately, for recently he has been haled into the police court several times for automobile law violations and a fortnight ago his store was robbed. His latest trouble occurred today when Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel caused Peck's license to be indefinitely suspended because of an accident Peck figured in on Main street about three weeks ago.

While Peck was operating his bus towards State street the vehicle collided with a private owned touring car, the latter auto being considerably damaged. Peck failed to report the accident and neither could he show an operator's license to Patrolman Slesnitsky, who was near at hand, stating that the license was at his home. Slesnitsky also failed to report the accident at the police station, but the owner of the machine damaged complied with the law and filed a report at the motor vehicle commissioner's office. When the report of the accident was not received from the New London authorities, the state's office took the matter up with the New London police and Slesnitsky was ordered to cause Peck to appear in court. When the information was received at Hartford that Peck had been fined $25 Commissioner Stoeckel took further action in suspending the operator's license.

JUDGE RESERVES DECISION IN DIVORCE CASE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 16.—Three divorce actions were scheduled to be tried before Judge Christopher L. Avery in the superior court here today, but only one of them was disposed of. The suits of Florence R. Frechette against Ralph O. Frechette of New London and Georgia Staples Treadway against Norris M. Treadway, also of New London, were continued. The action to go to trial was that of Mary S. James Perham, an employe of the Connecticut College for Women, against Cornelius E. Perham.

Mrs. Perham brought her action on the grounds of impotency. She testified that she interrogated Perham as to his conduct and desired him to submit to a physical examination, which he refused to do. Some time afterwards, Mrs. Perham instituted the suit for divorce and when the action was served on Perham he sought and found her, with the result that he inflicted a beating to her and was penalized in the police court. With the conclusion of Mrs. Perham's testimony, which was corroborated by another witness, Judge Avery reserved his decision.

BREED
THEATRE
SUNDAY, MONDAY, TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY

He Pulled The Favorite
That a dark horse might win—so the judges said as they branded him for life as a crook. But—the Girl's heart told her the Boy was honest, the charges untrue, and love showed the way to save him from evil for herself.

A Thrill A Minute—Action Galore

JACK PICKFORD
in
"GARRISON'S FINISH"

(Based on W. A. H. Tarbox's novel of the same name)
Supervision and Screen version by Elmer Harris
Direction by Arthur Rosson
Photography by Harold Rosson

Topics of the Day | Educational Comedy

Today—Continuous Show—1:30 to 10:15
CHARLES JONES, in "BELLS OF SAN JUAN"
RUTH ROLAND, in "THE TIMBER QUEEN"
PATHE NEWS — LEE COMEDY

STRAND
SUNDAY NIGHT ONLY
FRANK MAYO
—IN—
CAUGHT BLUFFING
A STORY OF BIG MEN — BIG CHANCES—IN THE KLONDIKE WHERE MEN TAKE THE LAW IN THEIR OWN HANDS. SO THRILLS GALORE.
CHAS. HUTCHISON
in "SPEED"
SENNETT COMEDY
"ROOM 23"
TODAY—LAST TIMES.
JACK HOLT, in
"NOBODY'S MONEY"
CONTINUOUS SHOW
MATINEE, CHILDREN 10 CENTS

—STRAND—
JUBILEE WEEK
MON., TUES. AND WED.
(CHAS. E. BLANEY'S GREATEST ROMANTIC MELODRAMA
The Little Church Around the Corner
WITH A GREAT CAST
HOBART BOSWORTH
CLAIRE WINDSOR
KENNETH HARLAN
WALTER LONG
PAULINE STARK
MARGARET SEDDEN
ADDED ATTRACTION
H. C. WITWER'S
TREMENDOUSLY POPULAR COLLIER'S WEEKLY STORIES BROUGHT TO LIFE ON THE SCREEN.
Fighting Blood
ROUND NUMBER 1

BROADWAY
TODAY—KEITH VAUDEVILLE—FIVE ACTS — ALSO PARAMOUNT PICTURE—CONTINUOUS SHOW SAT.—MAT. CHILDREN 15 CENTS
SUNDAY NIGHT ONLY—7:00-8:45—PRICES 20c-25c
GEORGE MELFORD—PARAMOUNT PICTURE
BEHOLD MY WIFE
FEATURING MILTON SILLS, ELLIOT DEXTER, MABEL JULIAN SCOTT AND OTHERS.
COMEDY, "OILS WELLS"—NEWS
MONDAY, TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY
KEITH STANDARD VAUDEVILLE
FIVE ACTS AND PHOTOPLAY FEATURE
ALICE LAKE, in
"MORE TO BE PITIED THAN SCORNED"

RESERVES DECISION IN WIFE'S DIVORCE ACTION

Judge Christopher L. Avery heard the divorce case of Mary S. James Perham of Shapley street, New London against Cornelius E. Perham in the superior court there Friday morning. Impotency was charged. Mrs. Perham, whose maiden name was James, was married to her husband on June 21, 1920. Both parties are negroes. She asked to resume her maiden name. Judge Avery took the papers.

Unclaimed Letters.

Unclaimed advertised letters in the Norwich, Conn., post office for week ending March 17, 1923: James Dandrea, Cornelius Deacons, Albert Douglas, Mrs. C. H. Schneider, Miss Alice Sherry, Mrs. B. Sneberki, Mr. Albert Tapes.

SUNDAY SUBJECTS.

Norwich.

At Park Congregational church, sermon at 10.30; service by the pastor, Rev. Dr. G. H. Hove. Sunday school at noon.

At the Mohegan Mission, 16 Shetucket street, praise and prayer service, 10 a. m. Bible class and Sunday school at 2 p. m. Preaching at 3 and 7.30 p. m.

At Christ Episcopal church, holy communion, 8 a. m., holy communion and sermon 10.30, church school 12 m., young people's society, 6.30, evening prayer, 7.30.

At St. Andrew's church, holy communion at 8 a. m.; morning prayer and sermon at 10.30; church school and instruction class at 12 m. Evening service at 7.30.

At Christian Science reading rooms, 315 Thayer building, 10.45 a. m., service, subject, Substance. Sunday school, 11.45 a. m., open to pupils up to the age of twenty years.

At the Third Baptist church, Rev. F. W. Klein will preach, morning subject, Incredible Become True; evening service, By the Grace. Sunday school at noon. Christian Endeavor at 6.30.

At Trinity Episcopal church there will be holy communion at 8.30 a. m., morning prayer and sermon at 10.30; church school at noon, and evening prayer and sermon at 7.30 p. m.

At the Greeneville Congregational church, 148 Prospect St., Rev. Charles H. Ricketts, pastor, morning service at 10.30. Sunday school at 12 m. Other services of the week at the usual hour.

At Grace Memorial Baptist church at 10.30 a. m., sermon subject, How Shall We Escape if We Neglect? Evening service at 7.30 p. m., sermon subject, Deliverance. Rev. E. L. Thomas, pastor.

At the Spiritual Academy, Park street, Mrs. Isabel C. Bradley of Boston, noted ballot medium, will speak and will give ballot readings and clairvoyant descriptions at 2.30 in the afternoon and at 7.30 in the evening.

At the First Baptist church, Rev. E. C. Dunbar, pastor, 10.30, morning worship, subject, What Is a Christian? Junior church Sunday school at noon. 6 p. m., Young People's service; 7 p. m., evening worship, The Power of a Hidden Life.

At the United Congregational church, Alexander H. Abbott, minister. Morning worship at 10.30. Mr. Abbott will preach. Children's talk, The Magnet; sermon, The Law of the Threshold. Church school at noon. Home time at the Community House at 6.30, when Orias Dodge will speak on Some Aspects of Forestry.

At the Central Baptist church, Rev. David A. Pitt, D. D., pastor, 10.30 a. m., morning service, Rev. F. S. Burket of China will bring the message. Noon, Sunday school. City Bible Class for Men, 3:30 p. m. Sunday school at Preston chapel, 1.30 p. m., Young People's meeting, 7.30 p. m., evening service. The ordinance of baptism. The pastor will speak on What Happens When One Becomes a Christian?

At the Church of the Good Shepherd, Universalist, Rev. A. N. Foster, minister. Morning worship at 10.40 o'clock. Sermon by the minister: "The Religion of Good Works." This is the last in the series on "Signs of a Renaissance in Religion." Sunday school at 12. Young Peoples' Christian Union at 5.30. A special Lenten service will be held Friday evening, March 23, at 7.45 o'clock at which Rev. A. N. Foster will speak of the "Passion Play" of Oberammergeau which he witnessed last summer.

New London County.

Leffingwell: Morning worship at 11 o'clock. B. Y. P. U. at 7.30 p. m. will be led by Jesse Rogers. His subject will be, Factors For Making the World Better; How Can We Help? Matt. 5: 13-16.

Preston City: At Preston City Baptist church, morning worship at 11 a. m., Rev. H. B. Hetherington will preach. The Lord's supper will be administered. Bible school at noon. Evening service at 7 p. m.

Fitchville: The services at the Fitchville Baptist church: At 11 a. m., divine worship with sermon by Rev. Benjamin F. Nye; 12.15 noon, the church Bible school; 7 p. m., an illustrated sermon, Abide With Me.

Jewett City: At the Methodist church, Rev. Herbert Wilbur's subject is The Duty of Reverence, and in the evening, Temptation. Epworth League at 6.

Rev. E. E. Scates' Sunday morning subject at the Baptist church is The Same Forever. The evening subject is The Imperative Quest. C. E. at 6.15 p. m.

Hampton Adams of Yale university will preach at the Congregational church Sunday morning. Ethel Thompson leads the C. E. meeting at 7 p. m.

Windham County.

Wauregan: At the Wauregan Congregational church, the Lenten sermon will be on Who and What Is Jesus Christ; evening sermon on Jewels From King Solomon's Treasure. Church school at 12; teachers' training class Monday evening at 8 o'clock; Young People's meeting on Thursday evening at 7.30.

Willimantic—At the First Congregational church of which Rev. Harry S. McCready is the pastor, the church school will meet in the church house Sunday morning at 9.45 o'clock. The Disciples' class will meet in the Grey room. The morning worship will be at 10.45 o'clock and the subject of the sermon will be "The Lamb." At 7 p. m. the Sunday evening institute will meet in the church house. After the study hour the classes will assemble to hear Miss Elizabeth Maynard of the School of Religious Pedagogy, Hartford, a student summer worker in Colorado under the Congregational Sunday School Extension society.

Tolland County.

Mansfield Center—At the morning worship at the First Congregational and First Baptist churches the sermon by Rev. H. W. Tillinghast will deal with the origin of evil, the subject being announced as Is There a Personal Devil? The topic for the Christian Endeavor service is Factors for Making the World Better; How We Can Help. A. W. Buchanan is the leader at the Center.

Obituary

MRS. ELIZABETH A. BRADLEY.

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Bradley, 74, died at her home, 1 Lincoln avenue, Friday morning at 8 o'clock after a long illness. She was born in Ireland, the daughter of Thomas and Mary Ann Bradley, and had lived in Norwich for many years. She is survived by a son, Thomas Bradley, and a daughter, Mrs. Mary Ann Bradley, both of Norwich. Funeral services will be held Monday morning at 8.30 o'clock at the home and at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's church. Burial will be in the family lot in the Catholic cemetery.

MRS. MARY A. BRADLEY.

Mrs. Mary A. Bradley, 74, died at her home, 1 Lincoln avenue, Friday morning at 8 o'clock after a long illness. She was born in Ireland, the daughter of Thomas and Mary Ann Bradley, and had lived in Norwich for many years. She is survived by a son, Thomas Bradley, and a daughter, Mrs. Mary Ann Bradley, both of Norwich. Funeral services will be held Monday morning at 8.30 o'clock at the home and at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's church. Burial will be in the family lot in the Catholic cemetery.

The Connecticut company's net earnings for 1921 showed a gain of $634,400 over the net income for 1921, according to figures published in the Wall Street Journal.

A Bulletin For Sale Advertisement Will Sell It

BORN

CHASE—In Jewett City, March 9, 1923, a son, Chauncey H. Chase, Jr., to Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey H. Chase.

DIED

BURNET—In Mystic, March 16, 1923, Rebekah, wife of Hiram Burnet, in her 74th year.

HALLETT—In Shelby, N. Y., March 9, 1923, Gustavus H. Hallett, formerly of Ledyard, and Preston.

BEEBE—In Norwich, March 16, 1923, Salena J., wife of S. A. Beebe, aged 51 years.
Notice of funeral hereafter.

FUNERAL NOTICES

CONWAY—In this city, March 16, 1923, James Conway of 155 Cliff street.
Funeral at his late residence Monday morning, March 19, at 9.15 o'clock. Requiem mass in St. Mary's Memorial church at 9 o'clock. Burial in family plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

MCMANUS—In Norwich, March 16, 1923, William James, beloved son of James Francis and Helen Weeder McManus, aged 5 months and 25 days.
Funeral at the home of his parents, 30 Chestnut street, this (Saturday) afternoon at 3 o'clock.

BROWN—In Colchester, March 14, 1923, Nancy Lombard Brown widow of Fred J. Brown, aged 81 years, 11 months.
Funeral Saturday at 1 o'clock at the home of her son, F. O. Brown, Colchester.

HOLMES—In Montville (Palmertown), March 16, 1923, Thomas Holmes, aged 67 years.
Funeral at his late home in Palmertown Saturday afternoon, March 17, at 2.30 o'clock. Burial in Comstock cemetery.

O'REILLY—In Norwich, March 16, 1923, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Conlon, Ellen O'Reilly, in her 92th year.
Funeral at her late home, No. 54 West Thames street, Monday morning, March 19 at 8 o'clock. Services at St. Mary's church, Baltic, at 8.45 o'clock. Burial in St Mary's cemetery, Baltic. Please omit flowers.
New York World please copy.

BRADFORD—In Danielson March 15, 1923, Miss Martha Bradford, aged 76 years, a native of Canterbury.
Funeral services Sunday at 2 p. m. at A. F. Wood's undertaking rooms, Danielson. Friends invited.

IN MEMORIAM

REV. L. W. FRINK
February 27, 1850—
March 17, 1921

IN MEMORIAM.
In ever loving memory of
BEATRICE,
the dearly loved daughter of Susannah E. and the late Harry Metcalf, Died March 17, 1922,
sadly missed.
Her Brother, MRS. HARRY METCALF.

Church & Allen
18 MAIN STREET
FUNERAL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS
Lady Assistant
HENRY E. CHURCH
WM. SMITH ALLEN
Telephone 328-3

CUMMINGS & RING
Funeral Directors and Embalmers
322 Main Street
Phone 328-3 Lady Assistant

GAGER
FUNERAL DIRECTOR AND EMBALMER
PROMPT SERVICE—DAY OR NIGHT

The Henry Allen & Son Co.
25 MAIN STREET
Funeral Directors and Embalmers
Lady Assistant Telephone 416-3
DAVID H. WILSON

Shea & Burke
Funeral Directors
41 Main Street

HOURIGAN BROS.
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
Norwich and Jewett City

FLORISTS

FLOWERS flowering plants and bulbs. Maplewood Nursery Co. Tel. 944-2. Free delivery. aprl4

TRUCKING

CHARLES LAMBERT — Moving and trucking, dumping trucks for hire. 21 Cliff St., or Comm. Tel. 617-12. jn24

Est. 1876. Tel. 134.
ARTHUR H. LATHROP,
Gen. Trucking and Teaming. Furniture and Piano Moving.
Shetucket St.

C. B. MORLEY, 283 West Main St. We move everything anywhere. Special attention given to moving boilers and machinery. Tel. 1582-3. nov24

Long Distance Moving and Expressing. Stonemason. 17 Boswell Ave. Tel. 1241.

TRUCKING and moving, long distance hauling a specialty. John I. Ford, 333 Main St. Phone 764.

C. H. BROADLEY & SON,
Shetucket St. Phone 325.
LONG DISTANCE MOVING.

PAINT AND WALLPAPER

JOHN F. AMBURN & CO., painting, paperhanging and decorating; estimates cheerfully furnished. 180 Laurel Hill Ave. mar15d

CHAIN WALLPAPER CO., 21 Willow rear Broadway Theatre; 10c, 12c, 15c, bought in combination; new, best of styles. T. E. McClenathan, Mgr. jan21d

FOR SALE—Paint, $1.35 per gal., regular $2.50 grade; wallpaper, 10c per roll. Max Blazer, 123 West Main St., next to Five Stairs. my14

MUSIC

ERNEST E. BULLARD
Teacher of the Violin
Phone 727-4
Silas Black
I Have a Few Shares to Lend.

HELEN L. PERKINS
TEACHER OF SINGING
Phone 894 Studio, Allen Bldg.

A Bulletin Want Advertisement Will Get It

WANTED—Female

WANTED—Women to do fancy work at home spare hours; material furnished; good pay; stamped envelope brings particulars. Underwood Art Goods Co., Portsmouth, Ohio. mar17d

MARRY if lonely; for results, try me; best and most successful "Home Maker;" hundreds rich wish marriage soon; strictly confidential; most reliable; years experience; descriptions free. "The Successful Club," Mrs. Nash, Box 556, Oakland, Calif. mar17d

TYPISTS — Earn $25-$100 weekly, spare time, copying authors' manuscripts. Write H. J. Carnes, Authors' Agent, Tallapoosa, Ga., for particulars. mar17d

LADIES, everywhere, make $25 weekly easy selling "Ojay waterproof laundry aprons," sanitary aprons and bibs; samples free; write quick. Ojay Manufacturing Co., Cleveland, Ohio. mar17d

WANTED—Maid for general housework; competent cook; references required. Mrs. W. B. Young, 10 Huntington Place. mar17d

WANTED—Housekeeping, by American lady with daughter, 10 years; wages good home rather than high wages. Mrs. M. J. Jenckes, 34 Bulkeley Place, New London. mar17d

WANTED—Girl or woman to assist with housework. Pasnik, 79 Williams St. mar14d

WANTED—Middle aged woman to assist with light housework. Address M. D. V., care of Bulletin. mar14d.

WANTED—Male

DO YOU want sole agency for Dr. Blair's 100 famous home products? All or spare time. Write Dr. Blair Laboratories, Dept. 11, Lynchburg, Va. mar17d

SALESMEN—$1,000 per month; best proposition on the market; get busy and get exclusive territory. United Chemical Co., Eau Claire, Wis. mar17d

MEN wanted for U. S. mail service; $115 to $190; experience or correspondence course unnecessary. Write E. S. Bishop, Drawer 579, Joplin, Mo. mar17d

WANTED—Good man to work on farm; married or single. A. W. Harvey, Stonington, Conn. Tel. 44-2. mar17d

WANTED—Men to cut wood; $3.50 per cord. John D. Ripley, Stonington, Conn. Tel. 44-13. mar17d

WANTED—Salesmen; real producers; complete co-operation; nursery stock in big demand; persistent men earn large commissions, paid weekly; investigate. Perry Nurseries, Brighton, N. Y. mar17d

WANTED—Electricity taught by experts; earn while you learn at home; electrical book and proof lessons free; satisfaction guaranteed and position secured. Write to Chief Engineer Cooke, 2144 Lawrence Ave., Chicago. mar12d

WANTED—N. F. A. student, for spare time. Fagan's Smoke Shop. mar17d

SALESMAN—Side line to bankers; no samples; 10 to 15 minutes; commission basis; big money; advise counties you work, present line, home address, etc. American Perforator Co., 27 Thames St., New York City, N. Y. mar17d

WANTED—By large corporation, two bright men to handle income disability protection contracts; chance to become district managers; liberal commissions and permanent renewals. Continental Casualty Co., 75 Fulton St., New York City. mar17d

WANTED—Men over 18 willing to travel; make secret investigations, reports; salary and expenses; experience unnecessary. Write J. Ganor, former gov't detective, St. Louis, Mo. mar17d

GET U. S. government jobs; railway mail clerks, city carriers; $1,400-$2,200 year; steady; common education; list positions free; write immediately. Franklin Institute, Dept. 31-W., Rochester, N. Y. mar8S

WANTED—Firemen, brakemen; beginners $150-$250 (which position?). Railway, Bulletin. mar28W

WANTED—Man to take care of furnace and horse and do the work around the place. Phone 35-4 Willimantic Div. mar16d

WANTED—Tailors and finishers on sack coats. Apply George McCormack Co., Tailors and Haberdashers, corner Bank and Pearl Sts., New London. mar15d

WANTED—Man to run freight elevator. West Side Silk Mill. mar15d

WANTED—Boy, at least 16 years of age. Apply West Side Silk Mill. mar15d

WANTED—Increase your income! Sell insurance covering all accidents and diseases; limited and full coverage policies; premium $5 yearly upward; natural death benefit; direct home office contract; liberal commissions; write now for district. National Accident Society, 320 Broadway, New York City. Established 1885. mar12d

WANTED—Men to cut wood; $3.50 per cord. John D. Ripley, Stonington, Conn. Tel. 44-13. mar17d

WANTED—Salesmen; real producers; complete co-operation; nursery stock in big demand; persistent men earn large commissions, paid weekly; investigate. Perry Nurseries, Brighton, N. Y. mar17d

WANTED—Electricity taught by experts; earn while you learn at home; electrical book and proof lessons free; satisfaction guaranteed and position secured. Write to Chief Engineer Cooke, 2144 Lawrence Ave., Chicago. mar12d

WANTED—N. F. A. student, for spare time. Fagan's Smoke Shop. mar17d

SALESMAN—Side line to bankers; no samples; 10 to 15 minutes; commission basis; big money; advise counties you work, present line, home address, etc. American Perforator Co., 27 Thames St., New York City, N. Y. mar17d

WANTED—By large corporation, two bright men to handle income disability protection contracts; chance to become district managers; liberal commissions and permanent renewals. Continental Casualty Co., 75 Fulton St., New York City. mar17d

WANTED—Men over 18 willing to travel; make secret investigations, reports; salary and expenses; experience unnecessary. Write J. Ganor, former gov't detective, St. Louis, Mo. mar17d

GET U. S. government jobs; railway mail clerks, city carriers; $1,400-$2,200 year; steady; common education; list positions free; write immediately. Franklin Institute, Dept. 31-W., Rochester, N. Y. mar8S

WANTED—Firemen, brakemen; beginners $150-$250 (which position?). Railway, Bulletin. mar28W

WANTED—Man to take care of furnace and horse and do the work around the place. Phone 35-4 Willimantic Div. mar16d

WANTED—Tailors and finishers on sack coats. Apply George McCormack Co., Tailors and Haberdashers, corner Bank and Pearl Sts., New London. mar15d

WANTED—Man to run freight elevator. West Side Silk Mill. mar15d

WANTED—Boy, at least 16 years of age. Apply West Side Silk Mill. mar15d

WANTED—Increase your income! Sell insurance covering all accidents and diseases; limited and full coverage policies; premium $5 yearly upward; natural death benefit; direct home office contract; liberal commissions; write now for district. National Accident Society, 320 Broadway, New York City. Established 1885. mar12d

Wanted, Laborers

Apply 7 A. M. Monday

Thames Coal Co.

MAN WANTED

A good husky, willing Man to work in our Tannery.
THE ULMER LEATHER CO.
Norwich, Conn.

WANTED

FIFTEEN LABORERS
RICHMOND RADIATOR COMPANY

WANTED

SPINNERS for Night Work, on Davis and Furber Mules. Apply Joseph Hall & Son, Inc., Trading Cove Mill.

WANTED

ROPING CARRIER
JOSEPH HALL & SON, Inc.
Trading Cove Mill

WANTED

An efficient male bookkeeper—one capable of taking charge of office. State experience and salary. Permanent position.
Address BOX J., Bulletin.

BUILDING

HARDWOOD Flooring, parquet and strips laid and scraped; all kinds of carpenter work done; estimates given. Ivar Johnson, 157 Maple St. Phone 609-12. jan16d

WILLIAM C. YOUNG, Carpenter and Builder, Mill Work and Jobbing. 59 Wood Main St. Phone 871. dec9d

WHEN YOU WANT to put your business before the public, there is no medium better than through the advertising columns of The Bulletin.

A Bulletin Want Advertisement Will Get It

WANTED—Miscellaneous

GENTLEMAN, 49, unnumbered, worth $67,000, wants wife. Q-Box 382, Club, Zanesville, Ohio. mar17d

MARRY—Thousands congenial people, worth from $1,000 to $50,000, seeking early marriage; descriptions, photos, introductions free; sealed; either sex; send no money. Address Standard Cor. Club, Grayslake, Ill. mar17d

THE LEADING Matrimonial Club; best, largest, established 19 years; thousands wealthy members wish marriage; confidential description free; only honorable, sincere people of both sexes need write. The Old Reliable Club, Mrs. Wrable, Box 26, Oakland, Calif. mar17d

PRETTY bachelor girl, worth $65,000, will marry. Club, Box 55, Oxford, Fla. mar17d

WANTED—Used National cash registers. M. J. Curran, 114 Lafayette St., Norwich, Conn. mar17d

WANTED—More salespeople in towns and cities; 150 products, extracts, spices, soaps toilet articles; easiest sellers; no advance in prices; on market 34 years; no bond required; hustlers make $1 hour. Write W. T. Rawleigh Co., Ct. 850, Memphis, Tenn. mar10d

WANTED—Furniture, stoves, etc., and antiques. Ward Bros., 45 Jackson St. Willimantic. Tel. 422-3. mar14TuThS

"LOUIS D. WARD pays big prices for used furniture and antiques. Box 388, Norwich. jy13TuThS

WANTED—Have your portable electric lamps made to order by Spicer, Glacken & Spicer, 39 Otrobando Ave., Norwich Town, Conn. Prices reasonable. mar13TuThS

WANTED—The J. R. Watkins Co. will employ a lady or gentleman agent in Norwich; Watkins products are known everywhere and our salespeople make big incomes; investigate this opportunity; full particulars and valuable sample sent free to hustlers who mean business; write today. The J. R. Watkins Co., Dept. 86, 64 Washington St., North, Boston, Mass. mar10d

MARRY RICH—World's leading correspondence club for lonely people; many worth to $400,000; quick results guaranteed; confidential list free. Honorable Ralph Hyde, 54, San Francisco. mar10S

RANCHER, worth $50,000, wants wife. Ladies, write H-Box 5 Club, Cimarron, Kans. mar3d

YOUNG LADY, worth $50,000 pretty, will marry. K-Box J Club, Cimarron, Kans. mar3d

WOULD you write a wealthy, pretty girl? Stamped envelope, please. Lois Sproul, Cleveland, Ohio. feb17d

WANTED—Vaults and cesspools to clean. H. L. Harris, R. F. D. 1, Box 139. apr3d

WANTED—To rent tenement of five rooms, for young couple. Address Box 268, Bulletin. mar15ThS

WANTED—By business man, room, vicinity Washington and School Sts. Tel. 1730. MacKay, 87 Washington St. mar14d

ALL THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS close March 17, St. Patrick's day. Try our Della Casa mild cigar, 10c straight; Andora, mild 7c cigar, four for 25c. Fagan's Smoke Shop. mar13d

WANTED—Small children in private boarding home. Phone 196-2. mar13d

MIRRORS resilvered in my own shop, at M. A. Sadusky's, 15 Bath St. Phone 719. mar7

MIRRORS resilvered; glass for every purpose. Norwich Glass Co., 5 Bath St. Tel. 2169. feb21d

WANTED—Second hand furniture; highest prices paid. Norwich Furniture Co., 6 Main St. Telephone 1914-2. jan11d

INTERNATIONAL S. and Realty Agency, real estate of all description, insurance, steamship tickets, notary public, John G. Cheneski, Agt., 160 North Main St., Pulaski Hall Bldg. nov4d

WANTED—Highest cash prices paid for second hand furniture, household goods, antiques, store fixtures and tools; try me before selling. N. Weisinger, 23 Market St. Phone 527-2. jy6d

WANTED—Second hand antique furniture; best prices paid. A. Bruckner, 102 Franklin St. Phone 712-5. my30d

WANTED—Antiques, tools and second-hand furniture. H. B. Tiger, 55 Franklin St. Phone 717-3. jan31d

WE BUY and pay highest prices for second hand furniture and books. Kremens, successor to King, 44-50 Water St. Phone 1305. sep13d

WANTED

By manufacturer of food products, about 35,000 square feet, on ground floor, for use as warehouse and distributing agency; preferably with side track facilities. Write Box 35, Bulletin. mar14d

WANTED

To rent or lease a house of seven or more good sized rooms, modern, and with steam or hot water heat; Chelsea Parade section preferred; occupancy by May 1st. Write BOX 575, Bulletin. mar6d

WANTED — WEAVERS

Will Take on a Few Learners
THE FALLS COMPANY
Yantic Street

POULTRY

DON'T KILL your baby chicks with makeshift chick feed. It's much cheaper in the end to use reliable Park & Pollard and Worthmore chick feed. Boston Grain Co., Willimantic. mar17STuTh

FOR SALE—Hatching eggs from carefully mated, heavy laying Single Comb Reds, $2, $3, $5 per 15; standard type and color, bred to win and lay. C. A. Ricker, Norwich Town, Conn. mar8ThSTuThS

FOR SALE—Eggs for hatching; White Wyandottes, Martin's strain direct; Mammoth Pekin ducks. Florence Browning, Plain Hill. mar10S

FOR SALE—White Wyandotte eggs for hatching; 13 for $1, 30 for $2, 50 for $3. R. W. Dearmley, Jewett City, Conn. mar15d

FOR SALE—S. C. R. I. Red eggs for hatching from white diarrhea tested stock. W. W. Service, Norwich, R. D. 1. Tel. 1852-3. mar12d

FOR SALE—Magic Cackey brooders; there are no substitutes; top and bottom automatic draft control is patented; rat proof feature; chicks thrive better; get catalogue from agents; discount prices. C. C. Hewitt Co., Uncasville, Conn. feb2d

BABY CHICKS; free feed; popular breeds; prepaid guaranteed delivery; send for catalog. Roy Clark, E. Hartford, Ct. jan3d

HALL BROTHERS' baby chicks. White Leghorns, Rhode Island Reds, Barred and White Rocks; heavy laying strains; chicks postpaid; catalogue. A. B. Hall, Wallingford, Conn. dec29d

COAL AND WOOD

FOR SALE—Well seasoned slab and hard wood. H. E. Beard & Son. Phone 616-4. mar15d

FOR SALE—Hard wood four feet long, delivered on car of C. V. anywhere between Willimantic and New London. Tel. Willimantic Div. 619-14. William J. Bowler, West Willington. mar14d

FOR SALE—Best dry hard wood; baskets or cords; lowest prices. Phone 542. jan14d

COAL AND SEASONED WOOD and kindlings in large or small quantities. Phone 594 or 1325-2. R. Shapiro, Willow St., formerly Durkee Lane. oct11d

THERE is no advertising medium in Eastern Connecticut equal to The Bulletin for business results.

A Bulletin For Sale Advertisement Will Sell It

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Grindstone, 60"x4". Right grit for farmers and mechanics. The Chelsea File Works, Inc., Sherman St., Falls. mar17d

FOR SALE—New milch cows, Jersey and Guernsey. John D. Ripley, Stonington, Conn. Tel. 44-2. mar17d

FOR SALE—Two separators, 2 size American, in perfect condition, and an old one. David Leventhal, Lakewood, Conn. Tel. Lebanon 21-2. mar17d

FOR SALE—Sherman garden tractor, with plow, furrower, cultivator and weeders. Box 137, E. D. 6, Phone 1873-14. mar17d

FOR SALE—Modern cottage home with all improvements, located on Laurel Hill Ave., Norwich. Burdick & McNicol, Thayer Bldg. mar16d

FOR SALE—Two standard varieties of strawberry plants, including Howard No. 17, Premier, Combined, Pearl the best berry grown, and Progressive Everbearer; reduced prices; catalogue free. S. B. Holdridge, Norwich, Conn., R. D. 6, Tel. Norwich Div. 1855-4. feb17S

FOR SALE—40 tons of manure delivered. Tel. 1484. mar13TuThS

FOR SALE—House of eight rooms with about half acre of land, belonging to the estate of the late Mrs. S. E. Offield, 53½ Main St. Inquire 502 Main St. Phone 475. feb27d

FOR SALE—New milch Guernsey cow, Jocha, 379 Asylum St. mar16d

FOR SALE—Inspected Maine seed potatoes, Green Mountains, Early Dehwares, Cobblers and Spaulding Rose. J. M. Young & Sons. mar16d

FOR SALE—Ford truck dumping body. Gilbert Auto Co., Jewett City. mar16d

FOR SALE—An upright piano in good condition; $36 cash takes it; easy terms if desired. The Talking Machine Shop, 24 Franklin Sq. mar15d

FOR SALE—American separator, medium size; all right, price $25; like new milch cows. Phone 35-23 Jewett City. mar15d

FOR SALE—One pair 5 year old Hanford working cattle. W. F. Willoughby, Canterbury, Conn., Box 19. mar15d

FOR SALE—A Victrola IV, installed in a beautiful console cabinet; $72.50 cash buys it; easy terms if desired. The Talking Machine Shop, 24 Franklin Sq. mar15d

FOR SALE—Five-acre lot on Yantic trolley line, containing two or more building lots. Phone 1903-2. mar12d

FOR SALE—Brand new full scale mahogany upright piano, very special at $245; fully guaranteed; terms $3 weekly. Plaut-Cadden Co., Norwich. mar10d

FOR SALE—Large cabinet model mahogany talking machine; bargain for $65 on easy terms. Plaut-Cadden Co., Norwich. mar10d

FOR SALE—Upright used piano, bargain for a quick buyer; $125, convenient terms, or a special discount for cash. Schwartz Bros. mar9d

FOR SALE—An upright Edison diamond disc phonograph, cost new $150, used only a few months, special at $75 cash; easy terms if desired. The Talking Machine Shop, 24 Franklin Sq. mar15d

FOR SALE—New stucco house on Elizabeth St., with large lot and henhouses, convenient to school and mills; town tax only. Call 218 Elizabeth St. Phone 474-14. mar9d

FOR SALE—At once, for cash, six-room cottage in good repair, near Connecticut college, five minutes from trolley, very near Thames river, has electric lights, pump in sink, furnace in cellar, veranda on three sides. If interested, write Box 500, Bulletin. mar6d

FOR SALE—Cottage of six rooms and bath, in excellent condition, hot water, with barn, garage and small tract of land, located inside city limits; price $4,800. Box 24, Bulletin. mar6d.

FOR SALE—Beautiful mahogany 88-note, fully guaranteed player piano, with free bench, free roll and free delivery; only $495, on terms to suit; investigate. Plaut-Cadden Co., Norwich. feb23d

FOR SALE—Buescher saxophones, Bacon banjos, Ludwig drums, violins, ukeleles, accordions and everything musical on easy terms. At The Tanking Machine Shop, 24 Franklin Sq. mar15d

FOR SALE—Upright piano, in A-1 playing condition; fine value for $95, on terms. Plaut-Cadden Co., Norwich. feb23d

FOR SALE—New cottage house, seven rooms and bath, lot 50x100 feet; price for quick sale $6,000. Phone 141-2. jan9d

FOR SALE — Herring-Hall-Marvin safes for office and household use; all sizes. Plaut-Cadden Co., Norwich. nov4d

FOR SALE

6 or 7-room two-family house on Prospect Street, Greeneville. Owner leaving town. Price very low.
A 7-room house in Thamesville, at a low price, with 1-2 acre of land. Owner needs money.
Within five minutes' walk to the Square—A two-family house, at a very low price.
THREE CHOICE BARGAINS!
SEE
COIT & SHOLES
TELEPHONE 2208

FOR SALE

New 7-Room Cottage
No. 124 Orchard Street
LOT 80x100 FEET
LIBERAL MORTGAGE IF YOU ACT QUICKLY.
PRICE $6,000
James L. Case
40 SHETUCKET STREET
Telephone 876

For Sale

AN OLD ESTABLISHED BARBER SHOP FULLY EQUIPPED FOR BUSINESS. MUST BE SOLD ON ACCOUNT OF OWNER'S ILLNESS. A GREAT CHANCE FOR A GOOD BARBER. FOR FULLER PARTICULARS INQUIRE OF
JOHN A. MORAN
Franklin Square

FOR SALE

Choice two-family house, desirably located on Prospect St., will be sold very reasonable if taken at once. For further particulars, inquire of
JOHN A. MORAN,
REAL ESTATE BROKER,
Franklin Square.

FOR SALE

$3,500 will buy six-room cottage with all city improvements, with lot 100x235, located near Pulaski Hall; only 10 minutes' walk from Franklin Square. For full particulars, see
A. V. COVELLO,
Real Estate and Insurance
37-3. 198 Cliff St.

A Bulletin For Sale Advertisement Will Sell It

FOR SALE

FOR SALE

MAIN ST. FILL STATION

The Standard Oil Company of New York has leased the property at the corner of Main and Broadway, Norwich, and has installed an Automatic Filling Station. The tanks and pumps are in place and the sale of gasoline and oils will be conducted by the Company's employees. The station will be opened for business on Saturday, March 17th, 1923, at 8 o'clock a. m. Courteous attention will be given to all customers and the public generally is cordially invited to visit the station on the opening day.
ANSON E. GROVER,
EDWARD CROOKS,
WILLIAM H. ALDRICH,
Fire Commissioners of the City of Norwich.

Just Off the State Road

40 acres good workable land, 400 cords of wood, fine spring, 11-room house, also wood house, horse barn, hen house, etc., would cost $4,000 to build—large poultry house, hen house on river. Price only $3,800, cash or terms.
TRYONS AGENCY
WILLIMANTIC, CONN.

FOR SALE

Three Apartment Houses, No. 28 Union St. Amount rentals $900.00. Price $7,000.00. Splendid central location.
THOS. H. BECKLEY
278 MAIN STREET
PHONES

$750 Cash Payment

BUYS A TEN-ACRE FARM, 7-ROOM COTTAGE HOUSE, BARN, 5 HEN-NERIES, FRUIT. IMMEDIATE POSSESSION. SEND FOR FARM BULLETIN—CHOICE OF 400.
WILLIAM A. WILCOX
FARM SPECIALIST
WESTERLY, R. I.

FARM FOR SALE

Farm of 100 acres, land well fenced and in high state of cultivation, keeping over 50 head of stock; large house, and barn to tie up over 50 head; several other buildings, including large silo, and all in excellent repair; running water in buildings; abundance of fruit; an opportunity to get possession of a modern dairy farm with no equal in Bulletin; 10 minutes' drive from Franklin Square. For particulars,
FRANCIS D. DONOHUE,
Shannon Bldg. Phone. Norwich.

For Sale

Six-family apartment house, all modern improvements, garage for 10 cars, located on Broadway; rentals, $960; a good investment at price asked. Several one and two-family houses; finest of locations; prices attractive.
Two desirable farms, consisting of 150 acres each, stocked etc., 30 acres level land, on state road.
JAMES E. MOOSER,
Real Estate, Insurance and Investments,
Thayer Bldg., Franklin Square.

INSURANCE

E. H. HARRIMAN the financier once said to a stock speculator who wanted a tip on the stock market that the best time to buy copper was between 10 and 3. We say to you that the best time to INSURE is NOW, THIS MINUTE—DON'T DELAY!

B. P. Learned & Co.
No. 28 Shetucket Street
Assuring Insurers Since May 1846

J. L. LATHROP & SONS
28 Shetucket Street
INSURANCE OF ALL KINDS

ALL KINDS OF INSURANCE
HAROLD S. BURT
129 LAUREL HILL AVENUE
PHONE 88-2

BEAUTY PARLOR

HAIR DYED

It is no obligation to call for consultation and ask about our Hair Dyeing in any shade and guarantee.
MME. LACKENBACH'S
BEAUTY SALON
1 WASHINGTON SQUARE

ARCHITECTS

W. F. MYER, Architect, Specialty Public Buildings, Supervision. Tel. 1519. feb19d

A Bulletin To Let Advertisement Will [illegible]

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Horse, weight 1100, 7 years old; will stand anywhere. [illegible]

FOR SALE—Two Thoroughbred Guernsey bull calves, 5 months old, 5 choice White Plymouth Rock hens, 1 farm wagon, 1 dump cart, 1 harness, 1 Concord buggy, 1 mowing machine, 1 horse rake, 1 seeder, 1 manure spreader, 1 stone spreader, 1 smoothing harrow, 1 two-horse cultivator, 2 one-horse cultivators, 1 Ellis disc, 1 disc plow, 1 express harness, 2 light driving harness, 2 set heavy team harness, 2 collars, 1 two-horse Roney shovel, 1 large iron kettle, 1 separator churn, paring bees, [illegible] sausage machines, [illegible] and sweaters, light pole, [illegible] carpenter's tools, some household goods, and other things too numerous to mention.
If stormy, sale will be next fair day.
mar17STuThS

JAMES H. HYDE, ... Auctioneer

AUCTION

Will be sold at public auction at the house of C. W. and J. E. Krisk, which is known as the Charles Kinsley place, on the Norwich and Willimantic road, one mile from Willimantic Junction on Norwich & Willimantic R. R. line, in the Town of Franklin,
WEDNESDAY, MARCH 21, 1923,
at 10 o'clock a. m.
One thoroughbred Guernsey cow, due to freshen in April; 1 thoroughbred Guernsey heifer, coming 2 years old; 1 thoroughbred Guernsey bull, 1 year old; 2 shoats, 50 choice White Plymouth Rock hens, 1 farm wagon, 1 dump cart, 1 harrow, 1 Concord buggy, 1 mowing machine, 1 horse rake, 1 seeder, 1 manure spreader, 1 stone spreader, 1 smoothing harrow, 1 two-horse cultivator, 2 one-horse cultivators, 1 Ellis disc, 1 disc plow, 1 express harness, 2 light driving harness, 2 set heavy team harness, 2 collars, 1 two-horse Roney shovel, 1 large iron kettle, 1 separator churn, parlor stove, kitchen stove, sausage machines, wheelbarrow and sweaters, light pole, [illegible] carpenter's tools, some household goods, and other things too numerous to mention.
If stormy, sale will be next fair day.
mar17STuThS

JAMES H. HYDE, ... Auctioneer

AUCTION

Will be sold at public auction at the house of C. W. and J. E. Krisk, which is known as the Charles Kinsley place, on the Norwich and Willimantic road, one mile from Willimantic Junction on Norwich & Willimantic R. R. line, in the Town of Franklin,
WEDNESDAY, MARCH 21, 1923,
at 10 o'clock a. m.
One thoroughbred Guernsey cow, due to freshen in April; 1 thoroughbred Guernsey heifer, coming 2 years old; 1 thoroughbred Guernsey bull, 1 year old; 2 shoats, 50 choice White Plymouth Rock hens, 1 farm wagon, 1 dump cart, 1 harrow, 1 Concord buggy, 1 mowing machine, 1 horse rake, 1 seeder, 1 manure spreader, 1 stone spreader, 1 smoothing harrow, 1 two-horse cultivator, 2 one-horse cultivators, 1 Ellis disc, 1 disc plow, 1 express harness, 2 light driving harness, 2 set heavy team harness, 2 collars, 1 two-horse Roney shovel, 1 large iron kettle, 1 separator churn, parlor stove, kitchen stove, sausage machines, wheelbarrow and sweaters, light pole, [illegible] carpenter's tools, some household goods, and other things too numerous to mention.
If stormy, sale will be next fair day.
mar17STuThS

STANTON L. BRIGGS, ... Auctioneer
Tel. Willimantic 642-4.

AUCTION

I will sell at public auction
WEDNESDAY, MARCH 21, 1923,
at 10 a. m.
my farm, located on Elek Hill, in the Town of Lebanon, stock and all tools. This will be a big sale. Watch for complete list.
WALTER E. BURGESS.
Mar14WF

FOR SALE—Automobiles

FRED J. & E. M. HOUSE CAR CO. will overhaul and repair your car; they quote the lowest prices in the city; service and satisfaction guaranteed. 375 Main St. Phone 1449-4. mar2d

FOR SALE—Chevrolet touring, Oldsmobile touring, Liberty touring, Paige 6-cyl. touring, Hudson 4 pass. coupe, Hupmobile roadster, Overland small truck. C. V. Tompkins, 45 Broadway. mar16d

FOR SALE — 1915 8 cyl. Cadillac 5 pass. touring car, with shock absorbers and balloon tires; total mileage 30,000 miles; mechanically all serviceable at low rate. W. R. Allis, 336 Broadway, mar8d

OXYGEN AIR system carburetor; another feature of the Franklin carburetor equipment is the separation of all dust and dirt from the air which enters the carburetor; under some conditions of travel it is necessary as much as a gallon of foreign matter from getting into the engine during each hour of travel; the process thus gives the Franklin motor its phenomenal speed and grit in car acceleration as noted at the pit in the hearings and cylinder walls, which is also an exclusive K. H. Keefe, 21 Maple St., Dayville, Conn. Tel. 236. mar17d

AUTO PARTS FOR ALL CARS

Chevrolet Parts, Buick Parts, Oldsmobile Parts, Overland Parts, Maxwell Parts, Studebaker Parts, Etc., Etc.

GEARS, AXLES, SPRINGS, STARTING, LIGHTING, RADIATORS, RIMS, TOPS, BODIES, MOTORS, REAR ENDS, TRANSMISSIONS, TRUCKS, TRACTORS.

Norwich Auto Wrecking Co.
We Take 'Em Apart and Sell the Parts.
Tel. 2150 41-49 N. MAIN ST.
NEAR SCOTT & CLARK

ADAMS TAVERN GARAGE
[illegible]
TIRE REPAIRING AUTO PAINTING
122 [illegible] STREET

A Bulletin For Sale Advertisement Will Sell It

FOR SALE

Auction Notice

BY
WEBBER BROS.
AUCTIONEERS,
[illegible]
51, Danielson, Conn.

[illegible]
THURSDAY, MARCH 22, 1923,
at 10 o'clock a. m.

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

CLOUDY AND COLDER TODAY AND TOMORROW

Norwich Bulletin

FULL ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES

NORWICH, CONN., SATURDAY, MARCH 17, 1923.

Norwich, Saturday, March 17, 1923.

THE WEATHER.
Winds.

North of Sandy Hook: Strong north and northwest, probably gales over south portion diminishing Saturday; weather overcast, probably rain.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Strong north and northwest, probably gales diminishing Saturday; weather overcast, probably rain.

Conditions.

Fair weather will prevail almost generally in the Washington forecast district Saturday with lower temperature in the Atlantic states but the eastward advance on the northwestern disturbance will be attended by increasing cloudiness and rising temperature Sunday, and precipitation mostly in the form of rain is probable as far as the middle Atlantic and North Atlantic coast by or during Sunday night.

The disturbance that was over the Mississippi valley Thursday night moved rapidly northeastward with increasing intensity to the lower St. Lawrence valley where it was centered Friday night. It was attended by general precipitation mostly in the form of rain and by strong shifting winds and gales east on the Mississippi river. The highest wind velocities reported were as follows: Buffalo, N. Y., 80 miles an hour from the west, New York city and Sandy Hook, N. J., 76 miles an hour from the south.

The temperature was higher Friday in the Atlantic states, the plain states and the Rock Mountain and southern plateau regions, while colder weather overspread all the other sections.

Storm warnings remain displayed on the Atlantic coast from Cape Hatteras to Eastport, Maine.

Forecast.

For southern New England: Cloudy and colder Saturday; Sunday mostly cloudy, becoming unsettled by Sunday night.

Observations in Norwich.

The Bulletin's observations show the following changes in temperature and barometric changes Friday:

	Ther.	Bar.
7 a. m.	45	30.00
12 m.	52	29.90
6 p. m.	50	29.80

Highest 52, lowest 45.

Comparisons.

Predictions for Friday: Rain and warmer.

Friday's weather: Rain, warmer, southerly wind.

SUN, MOON AND TIDES.

Day.	Sun Rises.	Sun Sets.	High Water.	Moon Rises.
	a. m.	p. m.	a. m.	a. m.
12	6.07	5.49	5.20	2.28
13	6.05	5.50	6.13	3.09
14	6.04	5.51	7.09	3.51
15	6.03	5.52	8.00	4.28
16	6.00	5.54	8.46	5.05
17	5.59	5.55	9.35	5.34
18	5.57	5.56	10.03	Sets.

Six hours after high water it is low water, which is followed by flood tide.

TAFTVILLE

While leaving the house of some friends on North Main street, in Norwich, Thursday evening, where she had been calling, Mrs. Edward St. Amour of South B street, slipped and fell, spraining her wrist. She walked to the home of some other friends in Greeneville, and Dr. Paul Gadle was summoned, and he brought her home in his automobile, where she was attended by Dr. George M. Thompson.

The Camp Fire Girls met Friday evening at the home of their guardian, Mrs. Edwin G. Crowdis, at her home on North Third avenue. This being a ceremonial meeting, the symbolic candles were lighted.

Dr. George M. Thompson and Miss Helen G. Thompson of North Second avenue are spending a few days in Boston, Mass., where they are attending the automobile show.

Mrs. Joseph Burke of Norwich has been a recent guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gley of Lisbon.

Frank Scott of Providence street has resigned his position in the cloth room of Ponemah mills, and has accepted a position with the J. B. Martin Company.

Troop 3, Boy Scouts met Friday evening in the recreation rooms of the Taftville Congregational church, under the direction of Scoutmaster Victor H. Davis. A Saturday afternoon hike was planned, if the weather is pleasant, under the leadership of Assistant Scoutmaster George W. Meyer.

Daniel O'Connell, who has been confined to his home on North Fourth avenue for the past few weeks, with a serious attack of the grip, is able to be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Martin of Baltic have taken a house on South B street, and expect to move into it today (Saturday).

Proprietors of unincorporated businesses are busy making out their tax returns, which must be reported to the treasurer of the state. Corporations also are obliged to file a return with the tax commissioner before April 1.

Lorenzo Paradis of South B street has accepted a position with a Norwich silk mill.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Blanchette and family who have been residing on Terrace avenue, have left town.

Rev. U. O. Bellerose of Providence street has been a recent visitor in Groevenordale, where he officiated as deacon at a solemn high mass sung for Philip Woisard, a prominent citizen of that town.

Karl Hedler is confined to his home on Terrace avenue with an attack of the grip.

Local naturalists have noted the arrival of bluebirds this week.

You Cannot Hide Your Fat

Goodness is the one misfortune you cannot hide from yourself or from those around you. If too-thin, your dressmaker or tailor and the dollar-counter, but the growing carry a burden they cannot conceal. There is one sure way to reduce your weight surely and quickly. The formula is Marmola Prescription, which removes the fatty tissues and fat-forming foods to solid flesh and energy, helps the general health and digestion, permits you to eat substantial food, and leaves the skin clear and smooth. This Marmola prescription is now condensed into tablet form. Each tablet contains an exact dose of the same harmless ingredients that made the original prescription capable of reducing the overfat body steadily and easily without the slightest ill effects. Take but one tablet after each meal and at bedtime until the normal weight is reached and the bodily health completely restored. Ask your druggist for Marmola Prescription Tablets or send one dollar to the Marmola Company, 4613 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich., the price the world over, and you will receive enough to last you a week on the road to slender and happiness.

HOUSE APPROVES LOCAL OPTION ON SUNDAY BASEBALL AND FOOTBALL

(Special to The Bulletin)

Hartford, March 16.—In the house today the judiciary made favorable report on a substitute bill providing for local option on the question of professional baseball and football on Sundays between the hours of 2 and 6 p. m. The bill was tabled for calendar and printing.

The house assembled at 11.15 with a slim attendance, only about one-third of the members being present.

Unfavorable reports were received from the committee on military affairs on the bill making an appropriation for building an armory for the Putnam Phalanx, creating an air service in connection with the national guard, and an appropriation to the Second Company, Governor's Foot Guard, at New Haven, to assist in celebrating the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary. Chairman Fenton in explaining the Putnam Phalanx bill said that the needs of the national guard were greater and should have precedence. As to the foot guards at New Haven, the first company at Hartford had raised the funds for a similar celebration.

The bill abolishing tolls on highway bridges was received from the senate and placed on the calendar.

The use of the hall of the house was granted to the committee on cities and boroughs for a hearing on the report of the commission appointed by Governor Lake in 1921 on uniformity of municipal charters.

Bills reimbursing Col. Henry S. Dorsey of New London for services, state terminal at New Haven and exempting buildings used for housing purposes from taxation, were rejected.

Forfeited rights were restored to Walter J. Skinner of Milford.

On motion of Mrs. Nevins of New Fairfield, the house adjourned till Tuesday, March 20, at 11.15.

SENATE

The committee on forfeited rights reported favorably on the bill to restore forfeited rights to Albert A. Greenberg of New Britain. Senator Kenealy in explaining the report of the committee said that Greenberg about a year and a half ago was found guilty of extortion in the superior court. He was fined and sentenced to jail but the jail sentence was suspended. Greenberg was the liquor prosecuting attorney in New Britain at the time. He was subsequently disbarred. Senator Kenealy said the case arose out of an illegal liquor transaction in which a man named Dennison demanded $500 from a man named Valeria for liquor sold him.

It was alleged that Greenberg threatened Valerio with prosecution if he did not "hand over" the money to Dennison. Greenberg's defense was that he did not threaten Valeria with prosecution but to bring a civil suit. However, Greenberg was found guilty in the superior court. At the hearing before the committee on claims no one appeared in opposition to Greenberg's petition but State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn. Mr. Alcorn appeared as a private position and not as state's attorney. Senator Kenealy said he had a high opinion of State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn and he commended his activities in the liquor cases. He placed no state's attorney about Mr. Alvorn. But the committee thought that Greenberg had been sufficiently punished and that his disbarment was keenly felt by him. Since his disbarment Greenberg has been engaged in the real estate business. A member of prominent citizens of New Britain, among whom were Judge George W. Klett and the two representatives of the town appeared in behalf of the petition before the committee.

There was no opposition to the report of the committee. The bill restoring forfeited rights to Greenberg was passed.

REV. J. R. DANFORTH GIVES THIRD LUNCHEON TALK

The heavy rain storm Friday noon had no effect on the attendance at the third noon luncheon meeting at the local Y. M. C. A. when the parlors were filled with business men to listen to Rev. Dr. J. Romeyn Danforth of New London whose topic was "The Creditable God." President James C. Macpherson presided. The men joined heartily in singing "How Firm a Foundation," after which Hugh Kinder rendered a solo, "Faith Of Our Fathers." This was followed by Rev. Charles H. Ricketts in an earnest prayer.

The heart to heart talk by Dr. Danforth was most impressive. He said in part:

Credibility is not necessarily faith. Some years since my mother and father were taking a trip down the Nile, and the natives day by day asked my father to tell about America, and among other things he told them that in the winter time the rivers in America often froze over so that people could walk on them; they did not believe him; they ever after that called him a liar, but he was not a liar; they had never seen anything like that, and so could not believe that it could be possible. There are those persons who, because of their limited vision refuse to believe certain things are credible. We cannot force men to believe; Jesus could not do that, but we can make it easy for others to believe, and we can also make it hard for them to believe. Jesus always made it as easy as possible. We had our ideas of God when we were children, and as we have grown old, these ideas have grown; some of the things that we learned in childhood we do not wish to forget, but as we grow older we must grow broader and bigger in our outlook. There is an influence in the world today that came out of Nazareth nineteen centuries ago, and that influence is constant; it never changes and never will; we know that nations have existed and fallen; we do not know how long our civilization will endure, and it is well that we do not know, but however, long it remains, Jesus Christ will still be the one great enduring influence in the world, and what He tells us of the Father we believe.

No matter what happens of joy or sorrow, Jesus Christ still remains and in a very real sense we believe what He said, "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end."

Next Friday, Dr. Danforth will speak on the topic, "Pilate's Verdict."

SOCIAL WORK CONFERENCE WITH NOTABLE SPEAKERS

The advance program of the Connecticut Conference of Social Work has just been issued from the press and is to be broadcasted throughout the state next week. Its long list of distinguished speakers from within and without Connecticut gives evidence of the important place the conference has won for itself in public opinion. Fifty-seven persons are participating in the program which covers the field of both private and public welfare work. Over five hundred delegates are expected to register in New Haven during the conference session April 11-14. A feature of this year's program is the number of speakers drawn from state agencies and institutions. Among those represented are the state prision at Wethersfield, the Connecticut reformatory, Long Lane farm, Middletown, Gaylord Farm Sanatorium, the state hospital, Middletown, the state board of welfare, state board of health, the state board of education, the Massachusetts reformatory for women, the Massachusetts department of public health, and the public school system of New Haven. The proceedings will be opened by President James Rowland Angell of Yale university, at 2 p. m., Wednesday, April 11th. The Diocesan Bureau of Social Service will hold its annual meeting presided over by Rt. Rev. John J. Nilan immediately following the conference session on Sunday, April 15th.

FORMER NORWICH DRUGGIST MAY BE POSTMASTER

Howard H. Rockwell, who was a clerk in the Lee & Osgood drug store here about ten years ago, until he purchased a drug store in Bridgeport, is being mentioned as a "dark horse" candidate for the postmastership in Bridgeport. It is reported that the choice will be between Mr. Rockwell and Fred Wettstein, who is at present chief clerk of the motor vehicle commissioner's office.

The political talk is that the "dark horse" is going to win. According to the Bridgeport Herald, Rockwell is a republican but has kept aloof from all factions and has no enemies. Considering that it has been the tradition to give the postmastership only to such men as have been recognized political leaders, the appointment of a man like Rockwell would smash precedent with a large crash.

PROSPECTS LOOK GOOD FOR EARLY ADJOURNMENT

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, March 16. — But three committees were on the bulletin as holding hearings today. The cities and boroughs committee had before it several bills relative to the town of Manchester. The judiciary committee considered several bills relating to the legal status of women. The education committee will have bills concerning employment of children in school hours.

The appropriations committee held executive sessions before and after the regular session of the assembly. The committees on finance and fish and game were also in executive session to consider bills that were for hearings before them.

The prospects still look good for an early adjournment. The finance committee will have given hearings on all matters referred to them by Friday next. It will take some time to determine their action as they have several perplexing problems before them. The committee on fish and game have but two bills left for hearing. The roads, rivers and bridges committee will have finished by the end of the week and the agricultural and military affairs expect to do the same. The appropriations committee expect to report by the 10th of April. No report will be made on new constitutional bills till near the end of the session. On Tuesday next the bill introduced by Mr. Deloy of Harwinton will be heard by the committee on the judiciary. It is a bill in which all municipal water companies have an interest as it materially increases in taxation on property occupied by these companies located in towns other than the source of delivery. It will be opposed by representatives from municipal plants.

The first roll call vote of the session will be taken next week when the house votes on the adoption of the constitutional amendment resolution proposing an amendment allowing the governor of the state to veto an item or items in the appropriations bill without vetoing the whole bill. The rules provide for a yea and nay vote on the resolution to submit the amendment to a vote of the people.

CLAIM TAX IS KILLING MOTION PICTURE THEATRES

Motion picture theatre owners and operators in the state claimed at a hearing held Wednesday afternoon by the legislative finance committee on a bill repealing the tax on tickets of admissions that the tax of five per cent. is stifling the industry by reducing patronage and thus driving many theatres, especially those in the small towns, out of business.

The bill was opposed by Tax Commissioner Blodgett, who refuted the claim of the theatre men by quoting tax receipts from motion picture theatres showing that the receipts for September, 1921, were $44,425, compared with $46,019 for September, 1922, and for January, 1922, $46,913, compared with $50,351 for January, 1923.

Commissioner Blodgett pointed out that the state gets only half of the revenue from this source, the rest going to the various countries, and asserted that if the counties were deprived of this revenue they would be obliged to levy an additional tax on the town treasuries, which would ultimately have to be borne by the very people and others who the theatre men claimed were opposed to the tax. This latter assertion of Commissioner Blodgett was substantiated by several county commissioners, some of whom declared that if the people who pay the tax knew the counties are using the money tax for widows' pensions and the maintenance of institutions they would have no objection to paying it.

Judge Alexander W. Creedon, representing motion picture owners of the state, claimed the theatre men have to pay 14 different kinds of taxes and that the federal and state taxes alone amount to 20 per cent of the gross receipts. He characterized the levying of the state tax on gross receipts. He characterized the levying of the state tax on gross receipts as an unjust procedure, asserting that the tax should be levied on the net receipts.

ORGANIZE KADIMAH TO WORK FOR PALESTINE

The Kadimah (Forward), a club to work for the Keren Hayesod (Palestine foundation fund), has been organized by about 60 Hebrew boys and girls of this city, who held a meeting at the Norwich Hebrew Institute. The following officers were elected: President, Israel Stamm; vice president, Lewis Sears; corresponding secretary, Helen Lowenberger; financial secretary, Henry Brainard; treasurer, Benjamin Sachner. The following committee chairmen were appointed: membership, Henry Bass; publicity, Charles Turetsky; notifying, Lucy Gilman.

MOTION LIST MATTERS BEFORE JUDGE AVERY

Judge Christopher D. Avery in the short calendar session of the superior court at New London Friday morning accepted the report of Attorney Morris Lubchansky, as a committee of sale, in the foreclosure proceeding of P. L. Shea against Benjamin Berkowitz of a second mortgage on property in Howard street, formerly the New London Bottling Works, and four dwellings adjoining. Attorney Lubchansky sold the property at public auction Tuesday afternoon to Mr. Shea for $13,500. Daniel M. Cronin is the attorney for the plaintiff.

Judge Avery also entered supplemental judgment, allowing Attorney Lubchansky $200 for services and $30.60 for disbursements, and Appraisers P. H. Shurts, Sidney H. Miner and Thomas C. Dillon $15 each for services. The property was appraised at $20,000.

The court also accepted the report of James R. May, temporary receiver, showing that he had collected $1025 from rents from his appointment in June 23, 1922, to March 16, and disbursements of $716.40, leaving a balance on hand of $318.60.

The matter of the claim of Westinghouse Traction Brake Co., as a preferred claim against the Shore Line Electric Co., was referred to Attorney Hibbard R. Norman of Norwich, as a committee of the superior court for a hearing.

In the case of James McFall against Elizabeth McFall, an order was passed for $25 for counsel fees to defend, payable in two weeks.

On the motion of a more specific statement in the case of Wallace vs. Loomis, the judge took the papers.

RADIO PROGRAMS

Saturday, March 17.

WJZ Newark (360 Meters).

7 p. m.—Uncle Wiggily Stories by Howard R. Garis.

8.30 p. m.—Fashions.

8.45 p. m.—Concert by the Marx Male Quartet of Passaic, N. J.

WBZ Springfield (422 Meters).

7.30 p. m.—Bedtime story.

7.45 p. m.—Literary evening.

8 p. m.—Special St. Patrick's Day program by Denis Hogan, tenor; Mrs. Bessie Brown, pianist; Francis Bailey, violinist. Program by pupils of Mrs. Mackay of the Springfield Conservatory of Music.

KDKA Pittsburgh (360 Meters).

7.30 p. m.—The visit to the little folks by the Dreamtime Lady.

8 p. m.—Address.

8.30 p. m.—St. Patrick's Day concert. Bertram Burke, Irish folk songs; Arthur Love, accompanist, violinist and humorist. A fiddler's contest, given by old-time fiddlers in the Pittsburgh vicinity.

WGY Schenectady (370 Meters).

12 m.—U. S. Naval Observatory time signals.

12.30 p. m.—Noon stock market quotations.

12.45 p. m.—Weather forecast on 485 meters.

KYW Chicago (400 Meters).

(Central Time.)

6.30 p. m.—Children's bedtime story.

8-9 p. m.—Musical program courtesy of Lyon & Healy concert and artist department, and Isham Jones and his orchestra, from the College Inn, Hotel Sherman, Chicago. Program will be announced by radiophone.

9 p. m.—News, sports and weather report.

9.05-9.25 p. m.—Under the Evening Lamp, a service including stories, articles and humorous sketches.

WGI Medford Hillside (360 meters)

6 p. m.—New England forecast. Late news flashes. Early sports news.

6.15 p. m.—Condition of Massachusetts Highways.

6.30 p. m.—Boston police reports.

6.45 p. m.—Code practice, lesson No. 21.

8 p. m.—Evening program. 1. health talk by Arthur E. Baird. 2. Concert under direction of Mrs. Angie Laurie Hirser, soprano; John Heiser, pianist. 3. Readings by Miss Elsa L. Williams.

Sunday, March 18.

KDKA Pittsburgh (360 Meters).

10.45 a. m.—Services of the East End Christian church, Pittsburgh, Pa., Rev. John Ray Ewers.

2.45 p. m.—Bible story for the children, Sleepy Watchman, by Rev. W. A. Logan, pastor of the Alpha Lutheran church, Turtle Creek Pa.

3 p. m.—Concert by St. Stephen's church, Sewickley Pa.

4 p. m.—Organ recital by Charles Heinroth, organist and director of music, Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh, Pa., from Carnegie Music Hall.

4.45 p. m.—Vesper services of the Shadyside Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, Pa., Rev. Hugh Thomson Kerr, pastor.

7.30 p. m.—Services of the Calvary Episcopal church, Pittsburgh, Pa., Rev. E. J. Van Etten, rector.

WJZ Newark (360 Meters).

10.30 a. m.—Musical program.

11 a. m.—Services from the West End Presbyterian church, Amsterdam avenue and 105th street, New York, sermon by Rev. A. Edwin Keigwin, D.D., pastor.

3 p. m.—Unforgetable Moments in Palestine, by Rev. Graham C. Hunter, rector of the Church of the Covenant for the past eight years.

4.45 p. m.—Something for Everybody.

5.30 p. m.—Readings and records from the Bubble Books That Sing, by Ralph Mayhew.

6 p. m.—Coming Events Cast Their Shadows Before — What Present World Shadows Augur.

7.15 p. m.—Estey organ recital direct from the Estey Auditorium, New York city.

8 p. m.—Americanism by Assistant Secretary of Navy Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., who is in President Harding's cabinet, holder of the D. S. C., U. S.; Legion of Honor and the Croix de Guerre, of France. Albert S. Kellam, New York state commander of the American Legion will talk on The Legion and Its Service Work.

8.30 p. m.—Program arranged for Vivian Tobin who is playing in Give and Take, at 48th Street theatre, being the only woman in the cast and Genevieve Tobin who is playing in Polly Preferred, at the Little Theater.

8.45 p. m.—Concert by the Waldorf-Astoria Symphonic orchestra, Joseph Knecht, conductor.

9.55-10 p. m.—Arlington Time Signals, weather forecast.

10.01 p. m.—Concert by Kay Dove Henderson, a young New York concert soprano.

KYW Chicago (400 Meters).

(Central Time.)

11 a. m.—Central church services from Orchestra Hall. Dr. Frederick F. Shannon, pastor. Musical program under the direction of Daniel Protheroe.

3.30 p. m.—Studio chapel services from Westinghouse Station KYW. A special musical program will be arranged.

7 p. m.—Chicago Sunday Evening club services from Orchestra hall, Chicago. Special musical program by the choir of one hundred, under the direction of Edgar Nelson.

WGI Medford Hillside (360 meters)

4 p. m.—Twilight program. 1. Concert by Miss Nesta Williams, pianist; John Smith, violinist; Miss Ruth Fisher, reader; James R. Houghton, baritone and director. 2. Adventure Hour.

6.30 p. m.—Boston police reports.

8.30 p. m.—Federal church service conducted by Rabbi Louis E. Epstein, assisted by the Berkeley Chorus, Mrs. Florence Lowell, director.

9 p. m.—Musicale by the Berkeley Chorus, Mrs. Florence Lowell, director.

WGY Schenectady, N. Y. (370 Meters)

11 a. m.—Service of State Street Presbyterian church. State Street Presbyterian church choir: Mrs. Edna Parkhurst, soprano; Miss Ruth Hay, contralto; E. A. Hannay, tenor (formerly of Norwich, Conn.); John A. Chapman, bass.

4.30 p. m.—Vesper service.

7.30 p. m.—Service of State Street Presbyterian church.

SOCIAL CORNER

(Continued from Page Nine)

A light yellow sky at sunset is the sign of wind.

When you see northern lights you may expect cold weather.

Hazy weather is thought to prognosticate frost in winter, snow in spring, fair weather in summer, and rain in autumn.

Storms that clear in the night will be followed by a rainstorm.

If the ice on the trees melts and runs off, rain will come next; but if the wind cracks off the ice, snow will follow.

When the leaves of trees show their underside, there will be rain.

When the odors of flowers or fruit are unusually noticeable, rain may be expected.

When the sky is full of stars, look out for rain.

If a cat washes herself smoothly, the weather will be fair; if she washes "against the grain," take your mackintosh and umbrella with you.

If a rooster crows at night, he will get up with a wet head.

Six weeks from the time the katydid is heard there will be a frost.

Flocks of crows signify a cold summer.

Best wishes to all.

SILVER LOCKS.

RECALLS DAYS OF CLIFF STREET SCHOOLHOUSE.

Editor and Social Corner Sisters: As some of the sisters have written about their early school days, I will add my bit. I wonder if any sister knew or remembers the Cliff street school house standing opposite the foot of Elm street, that runs from Cliff street to the city cemetery. I don' know what the building is used for at this time, long since abandoned for school purposes. There was one floor above for the older scholars and the lower floor was for the younger children when I attended and both girls and boys learned to sew, carrying patchwork to school. The blocks were four square basted by their mothers and served over and over. When I came into the family of Mrs. —— there was a quilt of which she had pieced most of the blocks in school. She attended the Long Society school in Preston, a low brick building now used for town business, voting, etc. The public schools were termed free schools in those days. For a while I attended a private school on Union street, now Broadway. When I was older I came back to the Cliff street school. Cliff street hill was a fine place for coasting—one of the best in the city, both for old and young people. We would go to the square around into Franklin street.

In the first writing book I had there was no copy written, the teacher writing it, as the pages were filled. I think most of the scholars were in so much of a hurry to get the page filled, that the last lines were not as good as the first, judging others by myself. All scholars that could read had among their books a New Testament from which there was reading every morning, each one reading a verse, going around twice. I think The Lord's prayer was repeated in concert. These things were dropped a long time ago, because some who sent children did not want them to learn the teachings of our Bible. There used to be singing a number of times during the morning and afternoon session. When the Cliff street building became too small to accomodate all the pupils the school was held in the vestry of the old Universalist church. School hours were from 9 to 12 in the morning and 1 to 4 in the afternoon, with 15 minutes recess at both sessions the girls and boys going by themselves.

The old songs a sister mentioned wer also familiar to me. I used to sing them, too. I don't know but one sister that I am acquainted with, and that is North Dakota, who I knew when we were young girls. Her people moved out of the city and we lost track of each other. Through the Corner we have renewed our friendship.

Best wishes to editor and sisters.

ROSE OF SHARON. (Jan. 4.)

GUSTAVUS H. HALLETT DIED IN SHELBY, N. Y., AGED 90

Gustavus H. Hallett, who was 90 years old on the first of January last, died in Shelby, N. Y., on March 9. The funeral was held on the 11th with burial in West Shelby.

Mr. Hallett was the son of the late Samuel and Louise Hallett and was born in Ledyard, but spent the large er part of his life in Preston before going to Shelby about 30 years ago. He was a carpenter by trade and considered an expert in his line.

He is survived by his wife and two sisters, one in Shelby and one in Vermont. He was a nephew of Mrs. and Mrs. George A. Frink of Otrobando avenue.

FUNERALS.

Mrs. Fred Hudson

Funeral services for Norah Sullivan, beloved wife of Fred Hudson, were held Friday morning at 8.30 o'clock from her late home in Colchester, with a requiem mass at St. Andrew's church at 9 o'clock, Rev. Philip Mooney conducting the mass. Several hymns were sung during the mass by the choir of the church. Relatives and friends attending the service came from Hartford, Naugatuck, New Haven, Norwich and other places. The floral forms were beautiful and were numerous.

Burial was in the family plot in St. Andrew's cemetery where a committal service was read at the grave by Rev. Father Mooney.

Arrangements were by Shea & Burke

Charles H. Chapman.

Funeral services for Charles H. Chapman of the Lester district of Ledyard, were held Wednesday afternoon at the Ledyard Methodist Episcopal church, services being conducted by Rev. William D. Woodward, pastor of the church. Rev. Mrs. Woodward spoke from Numbers 23:10, "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like His". The choir of the church, of which Mr. Chapman had been a member for years, sang two of the old time hymns of Methodism, "If on a Quiet Sea," and "My Gracious Lord, I Own Thy Right". Relatives attended the service from Norwich, Ledyard, Groton, Waterford, and Poquonnoc Bridge. There were many beautiful floral pieces.

Burial was in the family plot in the Gales Ferry cemetery where Rev. Mr. Woodward conducted a committal service. The bearers were nephews of Mr. Chapman, Edward Lester of Ledyard, John Boles of Waterford, and Carl Allyn of Groton, and a cousin, Courtland F. Colver.

Mr. Chapman died Saturday, March 10th, at his home in the Lester district of Ledyard after a short illness of pneumonia. He was a prominent man in Ledyard and leaves many friends to mourn his loss and sympathize with his family in their time of sorrow.

Mrs. Amos Lucy.

Funeral services for Mrs. Amos Lucy, aged 82 years, were held Friday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at her late home in Hallville, relatives and friends attending from Norwich, Hanover and other places. There were many beautiful floral pieces testifying to the esteem in which she had been held by her many friends. The service was in charge of Rev. Thomas H. M. Ockford, rector of St. James' Episcopal church, Poquetanuck, and during the service the choir of the church sang, "Rock of Ages." Burial was in the family plot in Poquetanuck cemetery where Rev. Mr. Ockford read a committal service. The bearers were four sons, William, Amos, Arthur and George Lucy. Arrangements were by C. A. Gager.

Jane Lucy, widow of Amos Lucy, died at her home in Hallville Tuesday after a short illness, during which she was tenderly cared for by her daughter, Mrs. Jennie Grady. Besides her daughter and four sons, Mrs. Lucy leaves several grandchildren. Mr. Lucy died about six years ago.

Special Music at St. Patrick's Church

On sunday evening at St. Patrick's church a special program of Irish Airs will be played before the vesper service. The Fourth Word, baritone solo, of the Seven Last words of Christ will be sung by Frank R. Murdy. The sermon will be preached by Father Donohue of Bridgeport, who is one of the best known orators of the state.

Will Address Vegetable Growers.

By error it was stated that the vegetable specialist from Storrs college would speak next Monday evening, March 19, before the meeting of the Norwich market growers upon grading and packing vegetables. The date should have been April 19 and not March 19.

Russia sable skins frequently command $3,000 each in New York.

THE BIG Fire and Water Sale

NOW GOING ON

10 Thames Street

A. KIVLEWITZ

The S&W Self-Service Grocery Co.

272-274 Main Street Norwich, Conn.

153 Central Avenue, Corner Sixth Street Greeneville, Conn.

Bedard Building, Prospect Street Moosup, Conn.

Let Us Show You How To Save On Your Saturday's Shopping

FRESH KILLED FOWL Pound 39c

MILK-FED ROASTING CHICKENS, lb..... 39c

FRESH PORK, lb.... 19c Small Pork Loins Whole or Half—Either End

LEAN FRESH SHOULDERS, lb.... 13½c

CORNED SHOULDERS Pound 15c

LAMB
Small Legs of Lamb, lb. 34c
Lamb Fores, lb..... 22c
Loin Lamb Chops, lb.. 43c
Stewing Lamb, 2 lbs.. 25c

WE CUT EXTRA HEAVY STEER BEEF ONLY
ROLLED RIB ROAST Pound 30c
BEST CHUCK ROAST Pound ..... 15c to 18c
POTTING CUTS OF BEEF, lb..... 12c
ROUND STEAK, lb.. 25c Whole Slice

HAMS, lb..... 23c Whole or Half

SMALL SMOKED SHOULDERS, lb... 13½c

PLATE CORNED BEEF, lb..... 7c

FRESH MADE SAUSAGE, lb..... 25c

A FULL LINE OF COOKED MEATS Give Us a Trial Once and Be Convinced

BORDEAUX CATSUP 8½ ounce bottle..... 10c

CAMPBELL'S PORK AND BEANS, can.... 10c

SUNKIST HAWAIIAN PINEAPPLE, Sliced Large can 42c

ARGO RED ALASKA SALMON, can..... 27c Very Fancy and Nice

2 LBS. OF FANCY LARGE CALIFORNIA PRUNES 29c

2 LBS. OF FRESH FIG BARS 25c

JUST RECEIVED A FULL LINE OF BEECH NUT PRODUCTS TRY A JAR OF JAM OR SLICED BACON

AUTOCRAT COFFEE Pound 36c

CLOVERBLOOM BUTTER, lb..... 54c

BLUE TIP OR BIRD'S EYE MATCHES, box.. 5c

SODA OR OYSTER CRACKERS, lb..... 12c

EXTRA FANCY BALDWIN APPLES Peck 69c

FINE GRAPE FRUIT 5 FOR 25c

RIPE TOMATOES Pound 29c

FANCY GREEN PEPPERS, lb..... 15c Nice and Sweet

LARGE ASSORTMENT OF FLORIDA AND NAVEL ORANGES AT A BIG SAVING

SUGARED COVERED DATES, lb..... 15c

BULK DATES 2 pounds for 25c

FANCY TABLE APPLES Dozen 29c

NICE CELERY Bunch ..... 10c While It Lasts

JUST RECEIVED SPINACH, RADISHES, SPANISH ONIONS, NEW CABBAGE, NEW CARROTS, ETC.

WAIT ON YOURSELF—IT PAYS—GET THE HABIT

Matchless Values At The Pasnik Co.

Special for Today Only
Ladies' full size Batiste Bloomers, flesh or white.... 39c
Ladies' Embroidered Petticoats with dust ruffle 50c
Ladies' Gowns, flesh or white 50c
Ladies' Rubber Kitchen Aprons 29c

NEW MERCHANDISE COMING IN EVERY DAY

You Will Be Astonished to See the Wonderful

COATS — SUITS AND CAPES

we are showing this year, at prices lower than ever before.

SAMPLE MILLINERY—$3.97 and $4.97

COPIES OF $10.00 AND $15.00 MODELS

THE PASNIK CO. SELL FOR LESS

WE OPERATE FIVE STORES—ONE AT WESTERLY ON HIGH STREET OPPOSITE WESTERLY FURNITURE COMPANY

Bulletin

VOL. LXV—No. 67 POPULATION 29,685 NORWICH, CONN., MONDAY, MARCH 19, 1923 EIGHT PAGES—64 COLUMNS PRICE TWO CENTS

FRENCH SOLDIER SHOT DEAD AT ESSEN RAILWAY STATION

Three Germans Have Been Arrested on Suspicion of Having Done the Shooting—A German Who Tried to Evade Arrest Was Shot and Wounded—French Deny Rumors of Proposal for Negotiations From Berlin—Allies Continue to Seize Coal and Coke Properties.

Essen, March 18 (By the A. P.).—A French soldier was shot and killed at the railway station here today. Three Germans were arrested on suspicion of having done the shooting. A fourth German who tried to evade arrest was shot and wounded.

KRUPPS GET AGRICULTURAL CONCESSIONS IN RUSSIA

Berlin, March 18.—The representatives of the Krupps and the Russian government have signed an agreement regarding agricultural concessions in Russia granted the Kruppe.

Berlin despatches in January stated that advices had been received from Moscow to the effect that the soviet government had ratified an agreement granting large agricultural concessions in southern Russia to Krupps. The concessions were said to comprise 247,900 acres of land, which was to be intensively cultivated by a special company to be formed with the aid of British capital.

SEIZ COAL AND COKE PROPERTIES

Duesseldorf, March 18.—(By The A. P.)—Reports of negotiations designed to settle the Ruhr problem, which are numerous here, have not altered the Franco-Belgian plans for taking over the coke and coal properties of the Germans. It was announced today that two additional shafts of state-owned mines had been occupied by order of the commissioner of control. The Blumenthal mine near Recklinghausen is guarded by French troops, and the French are planning to begin the shipment of coke to France immediately.

The exact number of mines now in the hands of the French and Belgians are not known from official sources, but according to the Germans the number is seven.

The French are continuing to load coke cars by means of German-Polish labor; several hundred of these men are working for the French. They are quartered at the mines and are eating and sleeping under the protection of troops. Steam engines and other apparatus are being brought from France and Belgium to facilitate the loading of the cars with the thousands of tons of coal on hand.

From Aix-La-Chapelle it is reported that several thousand miners of the Anna mine belonging to German capitalists have opened negotiations with the Belgians for the purpose of reaching a working agreement. The men ask for a seven hour day, payment in Belgian francs and certain food allowances. It has been announced that because of the refusal of German mine owners to pay 40 per cent. tax to the French and Belgians the first penalties had been applied by the commission of control.

The mine owners have been granted more time to consider the matter of payment, but if they continue their obstinate attitude after April 15 they will be arrested and courtmartialed.

The Franco-Belgian commission, which is considering the new monetary system for the Ruhr and Rhineland went to Essen today for consultation with the engineers mission and army technical experts. This commission is headed by Director Jansen of the National Bank of Belgium, and includes Directors Strohl and Graveare, of the Bank of France. It will return to Paris next week.

EDITORS APPROVE FRENCH OCCUPATION OF THE RUHR

Spokane, Wash., March 18—Of 333 editors of newspapers members of the Associated Press throughout the United States who have responded to a questionnaire sent out by the Spokesman-Review, "239 have voted emphatically yes" as ot the approval of the French invasion of the Ruhr valley, the newspaper stated today in its final summary of replies received.

Sixty five voted "emphatically no", 24 were conditionally favorable and four were undecided, the newspaper said.

The question asked the editors was: "Do you approve the action of the French, Belgian and Italian governments in going into the Ruhr region to collect defaulted deliveries of coal and wood promised by Germany in the Paris peace treaty ?"

MEMBER OF GERMAN REICHSTAG ARRESTED

Paris, March 18.—A formal charge of inciting to offenses calculated to endanger the safety of the state has been lodged against Emil Hoellein, member of the German reichstag for Thuringen, who was arrested here last night as he was leaving a communist gathering. The charge is based on the manuscript of a speech in his own handwriting found upon Hoellin.

FRANCE TO IMPOSE RUHR EXPENSE ON GERMANY

Paris, March 18.—(By the A. P.)—Without hazarding any opinion as to when the Ruhr problem will be solved, French officials when faced with a direct question unhesitatingly answer that it surely will be settled satisfactorily to France and Belgium.

In preparation for direct negotiations, which France is convinced Germany sooner or later will request, the French government has prepared revised up-to-date figures showing the amounts expended to repair damages caused by the German armies in France. The expenditures are divided into two categories, property and personal.

The figures show that at the end of 1922 there had been spent on repairs of property damages about 54,000,000,000 francs and on personal damages about 32,000,000,000 francs, including 16,000,000,000 for military pensions—a total of 86,000,000,000 francs. An additional expenditure is shown of 800,000,000 francs for restoration damages in Alsace-Lorraine, the payment of which the treaty of Versailles did not impose on Germany, and of 8,000,000,000 francs. Interest on loans which France was obliged to float in consequence of Germany's defaults. Thus France's entire expenditure has been 95,000,000,000 francs since the armistice. The official estimate concludes that another 48,000,000,000 francs will be required to repair property damages in the revastated regions.

TO SUBMIT BUDGET TO FRENCH SENATE COMMITTEE

Paris, March 18.—(By the A. P.)—Premier Poincare and Minister of Finance De Lasteyrie have been urgently requested to appear before the senate finance commission tomorrow in an effort to expedite the long pending 1923 budget, which has been held up by a divergence in views on how to meet the deficit. Many senators have expressed opposition to balancing the budget with a loan, but dislike the responsibility of trimming expenses sufficiently as the margin is too small to cover the deficit without crippling the administration.

The budget presented by the government explained as being roughly equivalent to the interest on expenditures chargeable to Germany. The chamber of deputies has accepted the government's revision of estimates of receipts, so that the deficit now on paper is only 1,500,000,000 francs.

TO INSPECT PRESENT POLICY IN THE RUHR

Paris, March 18.—(By the A. P.)—Minister of Public Works Le Trocquer, accompanied by M. Guillaume, director of mines, will leave for the Ruhr tonight to look over the situation under the present policy of occupying mines and seizing coke, which was initiated last week by M. Frantzen, who has succeeded M. Coste, as inspector-general of mines and head of the imperial mission the Ruhr.

It is said in government circles that M. Coste returned to Paris because of business and ill health, but political observers opposed to the government regard his replacement as permanent and as being due to France's failure to obtain any appreciable amount of coal from the Ruhr.

FRANCE HAS RECEIVED NO PROPOSAL FROM GERMANY

Paris, March 18.—The government today issued an official denial of a London story to the effect that Herr Von Hoelsche, the German charge d'affaires, had approached the foreign office with a proposal to negotiate a settlement of the Ruhr and reparations questions.

CONGRESS OF INTERNATIONAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Rome, March 18—(By the A. P.)—America and Mussolini were outstanding features of the opening session this afternoon of the second congress of International Chamber of Commerce. The American delegation was larger than any of the other visiting delegations, numbering 140, while chief interest centered in the speech of the Italian premier, which was applauded throughout. All of the speakers mentioned America's great representation enthusiastically.

Mussolini's presence at the convention was made the occasion for a great turnout on Fascisti, the premier' own bodyguard, "Mussolini's musketeers," acted as a guard on honor. The musketeers were all picked men, representing Italy greatest war heroes to the number on thirty-eight.

The premier was accompanied by General Diaz, ex-premier Tittoni, Count Rossi, Signor de Nicola, president of the Chamber of Deputies, and other officials of the government.

In his address to the delegates Mussolini, voicing in behalf of his government a harty welcome to the delegations and diplomatic missions, went on to say: "The fact that your important congress is held in this capital only five months after the movement which brought into power the young forces of war and victory offers to the world the best proof that the Italian nation is rapidly regaining normalcy in its political and economic life.

CARING FOR THE TORNADO SUFFERERS IN MISSISSIPPI

Memphis, Tenn., March 18.—With the death list standing at 28, the Red Cross and other agencies of relief are undertaking the task of providing for the many families rendered homeless by the tornado which swept through Savage and other north Mississippi towns Thursday. C. G. Crane, in charge of Red Cross work at Savage, has reported that 102 houses were destroyed.

Although 125 or more persons were injured, a score of them seriously, it is not thought that more deaths will be reported.

SEPARATIST LEADER SERIOUSLY WOUNDED

Cologne, March 18.—Joseph Smeets, the German separatist leader, who was attacked and wounded yesterday by an unidentified assailant, is in a very serious condition. Examination has disclosed a puncture of the skull from a bullet, with accompanying paralysis of the right side.

Smeets' secretary and brother-in-law, Krueger, who was attacked at the same time, died on reaching the hospital.

The public prosecutor has offered a ward of a million marks for the apprehension of the assailants.

TWO ARMY AVIATORS SUNRED TO DEATH

El Paso, Tex., March 18.—Jay C. Richenbach, 36, and Kenneth P. Brown, 23, reserve officers of the United States army air service, were burned to death at Fort Bliss this afternoon when their DeHaviland plane in which they were making a practice flight crashed to the ground in full view of hundreds of spectators.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Gift of 400,000 Francs

Paris, March 18—William Nelson Cromwell of New York has given 400,000 francs to General Dubail, chancellor of the Legion of Honor, as a subscription toward the building of a museum of the Legion of Honor. Six hundred thousand francs previously had been raised toward the million francs necessary for the building, and the new gift therefore completes the fund.

Swallowed Gems Worth $800

Geneva, March 19—(By the A. P.)—A Swiss dealer in precious stones named Dingle, while playing with his five-year-old daughter in a nursery and showing her cases of diamonds, rubies and sapphires, suddenly was called to the telephone.

When he returned he found the child choking. She had swallowed gems worth 800 pounds. A doctor was hastily called, but the little girl was dead, having been strangled by a diamond which entered the thorax. An operation was necessary to extract the stones from the child's throat and stomach.

CHIEF ARBITER OF THE OUTDOOR SHOW WORLD

New York, March 18.—Thomas J. Johnson of Chicago, was named chief arbiter of the outdoor show world, with powers similar to those enjoyed by former Judge Landis in baseball and Will Hays in the motion picture industry, at an eeting of 150 delegates of the showmen's legislative committee today. The delegates represented amusement parks, circuses, carnivals and fairs in all sections of the United States as well as amusement manufacturers.

Mr. Johnson, who bears the title of general counsel and commissioner of the committee, was given the power to censor and regulate all outdoor amusements, and members pledged to remove objectionable features from the profession. Showmen failing to join the organization or to adhere to its rules would be "outlawed," it was said.

The committee pledged to banish "49 shows," certain types of dancing exhibitions, "Hawaiian village" and shows for "men only" from programs, and to bar employment to any user of liquor or drugs. Games of chance operated by mechanical devices was eliminated and money prizes would be forbidden. All improper or dangerous rides and devices would be barred from amusement parks and carnivals, it was said, as well as "snake eaters" and freaks of objectionable character.

The new commissioner of the industry will seek cooperation of mayors and police heads in all cities to regulate the profession, it was said, and to enforce the ban on prohibited shows and devices.

FUND TO BUY ARMS FOR THE IRISH REBELS

New York, March 18.—After chasing Irish Free State sympathizers through a cellar and into the streets when they attempted to heckle speakers, a mass meeting of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish republic tonight subscribed $6,400 in cash and $7,000 in pledges with which to buy arms and ammunition for the republican cause.

"Thousands of young Irishmen are on the hillsides tonight and will carry on the fight until the last English soldier has left Ireland," Major Michael Kelly, who presided, declared. "The republican government is the only government on Irish soi itonight."

Condemning the execution of the 67 Irish republicans, Peter Golden declared "George Washington would have done in this country just what De Valera is doing in Ireland."

The republicans, he said, wanted an "Irish Ireland, not an English Ireland."

MINISTERS WITHOUT THEOLOGICAL TRAINING

New York, March 18.—Half of the ministers of the United States are without theological training and of the remainder, only one-half are college graduates, Rev. Dr. Remsen B. Ogilby, president of Trinity college, Hartford, Conn., declared today. He spoke at services in St. George's church, commemorating the 100th anniversary of the college.

"A passion for truth and the ability to dig it out and to face the facts of science is demanded in the training of theological students today," he said. "They should not be hedged around by a narrow spirit in sectarianism or racial prejudices. There should be a close touc hbetween students and teachers, because quantity production is hard to apply to education."

FIRE DAMAGE OF $20,000 IN CENTER OF STAMFORD

Stamford, March 18.—Damage estimated at $20,000 was caused here tonight when fire swept through a three-story building in the heart of the city. The fire, of unknown origin, started in the cellar of a fruit store conducted by John Gardella and spread rapidly through an airshaft to the top of the building. The entire roof was destroyed.

Much dmage was caused in apartments on the upper floors of the structure, while paraphernalia used by several lodges was destroyed when the fire spread to Mechanics' hall on the second floor.

STORM WARNING ISSUED BY WEATHER BUREAU

Washington, March 18.—The weather bureau tonight issued the following:

"Advisory southwest storm warning 10 p. m., Capt Hatteras to Eastport, Maine. Disturbance central over Indiana will move rapidly northeastward with increasing intensity and be attended by strong south and southwest winds probably reaching gale force Monday morning and shifting to northwest during Monday."

WORSHIP OF AMEN-RA, ANCIENT "SUN GOD"

New York, March 18.—With drawn curtains concealing the altar, an Egyptian service, portraying the worship of Amen-Ra, the ancient "sun god," was held today at St. Mark's-in-The-Bouwerie by Rev. William Norman Guthrie. The service was prepared from religious writings on ancient Egypt and included reading of a canto from the "Gospel of Osiris."

FREE STATE TROOPS WOUND GENERAL ENNIS

Dublin, March 18.—(By the A. P.)—Free State troops patrolling the Rutland square district of Dublin at midnight last night fired on General Thomas Ennis, who was shot in the thigh. Detective William Egan sustained two leg wounds.

Blizzard Sweeping Over Great Lakes

Cold Wave That Originated in the Northwest is Moving Eastward.

Chicago, March 18.—The Marchion roared again over the Great Lakes region tonight and the weather forecaster definitely postponed a reappearance of spring weather at least until the middle of the week.

Chill blasts sweeping out of the northwest struck the Great Lakes region early today on the heels of a high wind which tonight was accompanied by a fine snow that in some sections reached the proportions of a blizzard.

Near zero and sub-zero temperatures were forecast for the northwest and Great Lakes regions tonight and the cold weather was predicted to continue about 48 hours.

While the cold was most severe in the northwest, it made itself fielt throughout practically the entire country and was sweeping on eastward tonight.

WORST BLIZZARD IN IOWA IN QUARTER OF CENTURY

Boone, Iowa, March 18.—One of the worst blizzards in a quarter of a century was sweeping this part of the state today. Trains were stalled in snow drifts on both sides of Boone, traffic facilities of the city were paralyzed and churches were unable to hold services.

SEARCHING FOR SLAYER OF DOROTHY KEENAN

New York, March 18.—Funeral services for Dorothy Keenan, artist's model, who was chloroformed in her apartment early last Thursday, were held today at the home of her mother. It had been announced that the funeral would not be held until tomorrow, but the date was advanced to outwit an anticipated morbid throng.

The police worked on a new theory today in their search for the model's slayer. A Philadelphia detective arrived in New York and started a search of the "White Light" district for a man who is believed to have robbed many wealthy women of that city after he had made them unconscious by giving them a sleeping potion. Circumstances surrounding these robberies were said to tally closely with those connected with the robbery and murder of Miss Keenan. It was also said that the man was sought in Kansas City for jumping bail of $6,000 after being held for robbery.

Local police, it was said, were working on still another clue. It was learned that what Broadway terms a "grifter," a man who picks up his living by obtaining information embarrassing to wealthy persons and then selling that information, had been violently jealous of the pretty model. It was reported that he had often threatened her. This man, it was said, has never been out of the sight of the police since Miss Keenan's body was found, but thus far there has been no actual evidence that would warrant his arrest.

SPEEDING AUTO RAN INTO CROWD IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, March 18—Julia Kolonko, 17, was killed and a policeman seriously injured early today when a speeding automobile ran into a crowd waiting for a trolley car at Ridge and Allegheny avenues. The motor car did not stop and its driver has not been apprehended. Witnesses said it was traveling at least fifty miles an hour and with the side curtains drawn it was impossible to tell how many persons it contained.

The toll of dead and injured might have been greater had it not been for the heroism of the policeman, Joseph McCadder, who ran in front of the machine and with outstretched arms, pushed a half dozen persons out of its path. He then tried to leap to safety himself, but was too late. He was hurled several feet, suffering a possible fracture of the skull, internal injuries, several broken ribs and a fractured hip.

RAILROAD POLICE GUARDED DERAILED COAL TRAIN

Fitchburg, Mass., March 18.—A special freight train bearing more than 300 tons of coal to Boston, after having rested on the roadbed for sixteen hours near the Wachusett station, four miles from here on the Fitchburg division of the Boston and Maine railroad, tonight was again Boston-bound. The seventeen cars were derailed when an archbeam on a truck on one of the cars broke and caused the rails to spread.

Railroad police guarded the coal while wreckers were sent for. Each of the cars remained upright, although the road bed was torn up for several hundred feet.

Traffic was re-routed while tracks were blocked by the wreck. The east bound tracks were not cleared until this evening but the west bound line was opened to traffic early today.

SENATOR JOHNSON HAS ARRIVED AT CHERBOURG

Cherbourg, March 18—(By the A. P.)—United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson arrived here today on board the steamer George Washington from New York. Mr. Johnson said he had come to Europe after four years of parliamentary work to rest, and not to investigate, as it had been said he would.

The senator left this evening for Paris, whence he will go to the Riviera and then visit Italy and England, starting on his return trip home June 7.

When asked his opinion regarding the Ruhr occupation, Mr. Johnson replied:

"I am an American and have no advice to offer France. I have no desire to visit Germany."

REV. EDWIN CURTIS HAS RESIGNED HIS PASTORATE

Brookline, Mass., March 18.—Rev. Edwin Curtis, pastor of the Brookline Presbyterian church, who was chosen head of his congregation by an overwhleming vote despite the refusal of the Boston Presbytery to install him, today resigned his pastorate. The installation of Rev. Mr. Curtis as pastor of the church after having filled the pulpit for a year was opposed by a minority of the congregation who accused him of having baptized a dog and having asked a blessing on "French fried potatoes." A legal fight resulted in the court upholding his election as pastor.

Higher Stock Prices Reflect Prosperity

Building Construction Thus Far Gives Promise of Record-Breaking Year.

New York, March 18.—Irregularly higher stock prices with the industrial averages establishing another new top since the spring of 1920, another moderate reaction in the bond market, continuation of the rising price tendency in commodities with new highs in Cuban raw sugar, cotton, copper and zinc. A brisk rally in French exchange and a slight easing of the sterling rate were the chief characteristics of this week's financial and commodity prices.

General trade and business news continues very encouraging. February export statistics, published during the week, showed a total of $310,000,000 for the month as against $250,619,000 in the same month last year and $335,893,000 in January of this year. Domestic consumption of cotton in February totaled 566,000 bales compared with 472,000 in February, 1921. Building construction thus far gives promise of another record-breaking year, reports of 187 leading cities showing a total of $229,922,966, an increase of $74,275,651 over February of last year and an increase of $23,349,366 over January, which is considered unusual in view of the fact that February ordinarily is the hardest month of the year. Car loadings of revenue freight for the week ending March 3, the latest statistics available, totaled 917,896, the largest this year and an increase of 124,781 over the preceding week.

Payment of slightly more than $4,000,000 by the British government on its war debt this week, leaving principal and interest due of $4,600,000,000, was favorably regarded by the financial community because it represented the first step in carrying out the debt agreement recently between the two countries.

SIGNS OF CONTINUANCE OF INDUSTRIAL REVIVAL

New York, March 18 (By the A. P.)—Reports of increased business and hesitating speculative markets were features of the past week in trade and finance. All signs point to the continuance of the industrial revival, which has now reached a point where the volume of the country's production probably exceeds anything on record.

Steel output is still growing and steel prices are still rising and railroad traffic is extraordinarily large, but the gains are not limited to the heavy industries. Textile mills are fully employed, automobile makers are working at top speed and the oil and building industries are flourishing. Retail trade also is reported to be excellent.

In the steel industry the advance in prices has now arrived at a stage where promises to develop resistance on the part of consumers. The effect is not a marked one and strong demand for early bookings is still apparent. Nevertheless, it is stated in the trade that a few building projects have been laid aside because of present prices and that high cost of materials may curb the buying of railroad cars.

Production of steel is in excess of 90 per cent of war-inflated capacity and is believed to be about equal to current consumption. The keen demand is thought to come from a desire to enlarge stocks and to ensure future supplies. Taking the broader view, the trade is now attempting to forsee the situation which is likely to exist during the latter part of the year. Opinion on the point shows considerable diversity.

Cotton furnished a number of interesting side lights o nthe situation. For one thing, publication of the census bureau's report on consumption by American mills during February showed that the high daily rate of January had been exceeded, despite the maintenance of high prices. Meanwhile the commodity itself rallied sharply and rose to new high levels, the May future commanding as much as 31.59 cents. As the week closed, a demand by the Fall River Textile Council for a 15 per cent increase in wages of cotton textile workers was announced. Thus, in a sense, the cotton industry epitomized the trend of things in the present revival.

ELDERLY MAN BURNED TO DEATH IN CLINTONVILLE

Wallingford, Conn., March 18.—Frank Clinton, 65 years old, was burned to death early this morning in Clintonville, near here, when fire, starting from an overheated oil stove in his room, destroyed the house in which he was a boarder. Medical Examiner J. H. Buffam conducted an investigation after the body was removed from the ruins.

Clinton had gone to bed last night several hours earlier than the other occupants of the house and had lit an oil stove in his room for warmth. It is believed that this stove caused the fire. Carl D. Norberg, owner of the house, said that he was awakened by smoke this morning and found Clinton's room a mass of flames which soon spread to the rest of the house. Norberg led his wife and child and one other boarder to safety. The house was burned to the ground.

WELFARE WORK FOR THE JEWS IN EUROPE

New York, March 18.—More than 400 delegates from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Connecticut met today to establish a permanent organization to conduct welfare work among the Jews of Russia, Poland and other European countries. The delegates are members of the American society for the promotion of trades and agriculture among Jews.

Municipal Court Justice Jacob Panken, president of the society, said the organization desires "to build a productive people, to afford the Jews an opportunity to earn their livelihood by productive labor, to teach the children trades, to furnish the artisan tools and to give those who are willing to till the soil an opportunity to do so."

BURIAL OF THE LATE QUEEN MILENA OF MONTENEGRO

San Remo, March 18—The body of the late Queen Milena of Montenegro was interred today in crypt of the Russion church beside that of her husband, who died two years ago. The ceremony was private, only relatives and the local authorities attending.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS

Net income of the Norfolk and Western railroad company in 1922 totalled $14,554,889, an increase of $4,611,808 or 44.92 per cent. over 1921.

A carload of fireproof coal was dumped on the South Boston flats by the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad.

The disappearance of Obert Slatten of Lexington, former consul of Norway at Boston, who has not been seen since 26 last became known Saturday.

Germany's floating debt increased during the first ten days of March by 767,000,000,000 marks, it was announced, reaching a total of 4,445,000,000,000 marks.

Frank S. Ambrose, for ten years bookkeeper for Samuel Cabot, Inc., manufacturing chemists, Boston, was arrested on a charge of larceny from the firm.

Veterans of three wars were in place in the line of march of the parade marking the 147th anniversary of the evacuation of Boston by British forces Saturday.

Thousands of dollars worth of high grade silks and finished silk waists for women were stolen from the factory of Samuel Seder & Bro., shirt waist manufacturers in Worcester.

George Brown, 77, is in jail in Defiance, O., after he told neighbors he had killed his daughter, Calla, 54, because he thought she would be better off dead.

The Methodist Episcopal conference at Asbury Park, N. J., adopted a resolution condemning the use of alleged unorthodox text books among student clergy.

Rev. Gaston Leval O. P., professor of college, has been made president of Aquinas college at Columbus, Ohio, to succeed Rev. S. M. Welch, O. P., who has served two terms of six years each.

The earthquake felt in several cities in southeastern Europe on Thursday caused considerable damage along the Dalmatian coast, especially at Ragusa and Cattaro.

Richard B. Comstock, president of the Rhode Island Bar association and prominent in the political and civic life of the state, died this afternoon at a hospital in Providence, following an operation.

Mrs. Maude Cushing Storie was convicted of killing her first husband, Claude Cushing by a jury in circuit court in Cassopolis, Mich., and immediately sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge L. Burgett Des Voighes.

The Goodyear Tire and Rubber company announced an increase of ten per cent. in prices for tires for pleasure cars. This increase follows the recent granting of a ten per cent. bonus to factory workers.

Kleoner Jack, of Stamford, Conn., who have been serving a term at Governor's island for desertion from the army in the Panama Canal zone and the police have been asked to find him.

Donald B. MacMillan expects to get away early in June on his next Arctic expedition in the schooner Bowdoin and may go as far as Etah in Greenland for a series of educational motion pictures.

William A. Foster of New Rochelle, N. Y., a Wall street broker, sued the North American Oil company for $72,500 which he claims is due for services in securing the listing of the stock of the company on the New York stock exchange.

Alvin W. Owsley, commander of the American Legion, in an address in New Orleans, declared he was through "pussyfooting" as to the conduct of the Veterans' bureau.

French and Spanish at Providence

Four persons are dead and one is suffering from smoke and prostration as a result of a disastrous fire that took out a whole family in rooms in the rear of a bakery in Everett, Wash.

Dr. William Fletcher Russell, dean of the College of Education, State university of Iowa, has accepted the appointment as director of the international institute at Teachers' college in New York.

The preliminary conference of representatives of France, Great Britain and Italy will open this week in London under the presidency of Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary, to study and define the attitude of the allies to the Turkish counter-proposals to the Lausanne peace treaty.

Negotiations for an exchange of tutors between Harvard university and Oxford and Cambridge universities next year were completed by President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard during his recent trip abroad.

Jack Dunn, Jr., 27 years of age, son of Jack Dunn, owner and manager of the Baltimore International league, died in Baltimore early yesterday morning of lobar-pneumonia. Young Dunn had been secretary of the Orioles for several years.

Subpoenas for the missing members of the defunct stock brokerage firm of Dillon & Co., which failed in 1921 for $300,000, were ordered issued by Peter B. Olney, Jr., referee in bankruptcy, to be served upon the witnesses "wherever they may be found."

Two boys were suffocated by smoke when fire swept their home in Chelsea, Mass., yesterday. The victims John Amorullo, 14 years old, and Thomas, 11, were overcome while trying to fight their way through the flames to safety.

The Right Rev. Ferdinand Brossart, bishop of the Covington, (Ky.) Catholice diocese, has relinquished his duties, owing to ill-health, and the Rev. Joseph A. Flynn, vicar-general of the diocese, has been appointed administrator to serve until a successor is named by the pope.

A slight rise in the general level of wholesale prices in February compared with January was reported by the labor department, which at the same time announced that between Jan. 15 and Feb. 15 there had been a decrease of 1 per cent. in the retail cost of food to the average family.

A gigantic pageant allegory depicting the birth and development of the nation and closing with "The Dance of the States" will be the culminating event on the four day program for the gathering in Washington during the first week in June of the Imperial Council of the Mystic Shrine.

FRAMING CAMPAIGN FOR THE RENOMINATION OF HARDING

Advisers Are Considering the Selection of Topics President Harding Will Discuss During a Country-Wide Speaking Tour—Will Hays, Charles Hilles and Ambassador Harvey Are Being Considered as the Pre-Conventing Manager of the Harding Campaign.

Washington, March 18.—(By the A. P.)—The movement for the renomination of President Harding, which first took tangible form in recent conferences among a group of his friends here, has developed to a stage where details of the personnel and program of pre-convention organization in his behalf are receiving active attention.

For the present the most virile topics of these discussions relate to the choice of those who are to head the organization, and to various features of the country-wide speaking trip the president himself is expected to make during the summer. Already a tentative itinerary for the trip is under consideration in quarters close to the White House, and Mr. Harding's advisers are putting their heads together to aid him in his selection of the topics he is to discuss.

Attorney General Daugherty's announcement in Miami yesterday, that the president would be a candidate again, accepted here as further confirming the impression which has been current, for some weeks in political circles, is expected to hasten the work of formulating a definite program and a definite backing with which he can go before the country. The attorney general who was the Harding pre-convention manager in 1920, is regarded as certain to have a prominent place also in the campaign that is now beginning.

Because of his ill-health and his official duties, however, Mr. Daugherty's friends intimated do not expect him to again shoulder the heavy burden of active pre-convention work he carried three years ago. Various names have been mentioned for tha ttask in the conferences of Harding supporters, the list including among others, Will Hays of Indiana, and Charles D. Hilles of New York, both former national chairmen, and Colonel George Harvey, now American ambassador at London.

Some of the friends of Mr. Hays recently have been particularly urgent in their suggestion that he be brought prominently into the Harding pre-convention organization, with a view to his selection as chairman of the national committee in case Mr. Harding is renominated. A number of conferences on the subject have been held here and in New York, and more are in prospect. Meantime Mr. Hays himself is saying nothing for publication, though his supporters appear perfectly satisfied that he would respond to any call to service which the party might make upon him.

Mr. Hilles also is regarded as willing to help, although he is said to be in no sense a candidate.

In some well informed quarters, it is expected that Colonel Harvey, sometime during the coming winter, will either resign his post at London or secure a leave of absence and will return to the United States to do whatever he can toward Mr. Harding's renomination. So far nothing definite in that direction has been done, nor is any announcement expected for some weeks. It would be a surprise to some of those who know the inside story of the present republican lineup, however, if the colonel were not on the ground, actively at work, long before the national convention assembles in 1924.

Back of all these immediate considerations lies the question of control of the party machinery in 1918, when, if President Harding is rounding out a second term as his friends believe he will be, a vigorous fight may develop for the party nomination. The supporters of Mr. Hays and other possible chairmen are not unmindful of the fact that a chairman elected after the 1924 convention would be expected to naturally hold over until after the 1928 convention, and might be a powerful factor in determining how the cards are dealt in that year's pre-convention contest.

President Harding is expected to give thought to this situation in coming conferences at St. Augustine, and in later consultations after he returns to Washington. Meantime, also, he is expected to seek the advice of his friends on the nature of the speeches he is to make during the summer, and the places in which he should make them.

As it now stands, the plan for his trip contemplates his departure from Washington during June for a speech making swing which will take him to about 20 principal cities, including two or three on the Pacific coast. He probably will not invade the home state of Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, who is the perennial choice of the Wisconsin delegation for president, but is likely to speak next door in Minnesota and the Dakotas. He has been advised to make his speeches a clear cut and direct accounting for his stewardship during the first two years of his administration, and to endeavor to assure the people by an explicit explanation of what has been done in Washington that great progress has been made toward the "normalcy" he promised in 1920. That is all a question, however, to be decided finally.

Should the president decide to return to Washington from Florida by way of Ohio, it is possible that he will say a word to the people of his own state first of all. He has been invited also to speak in New York a little later and in June he is expected to to make an address at the National Shriners' convention in Washington, just before he leaves on his trip in the west.

Although Attorney General Daugherty in his statement yesterday predicted that only one candidate would appear against Mr. Harding, there are many indications that those who in the past have supported other aspirants are not yet convinced that the renomination should be bestowed without a fight. It is taken for granted that Wisconsin at least will vote for Senator La Follette, and in the past few days the friends of Senator Johnson, of California, and of Major General Leonard Wood, both of whom were numbered in the "big three" of the last convention, have talked over the possibility that an opportunity may present itself to again put their respective candidates before the voters.

Whatever has been done for Senator Johnson and General Wood, however, has received no public endorsement by these and their personal friendships are not known definitely to some of those most interested. The supposition is general that any decision as to the actual organization of pre-convention campaigns by these groups will await the reaction which is expected to follow the speech making trip of the president. Should the trip demonstrate the enthusiasm for him that his supporters predict for it, the futility of any serious opposition to his renomination, they say, be obvious to everyone.

SAVED BY CREW OF A COAST GUARD CUTTER

Cape May, N. J., May 18.—Radio, the coast guard cutter Kickapoo, and a lifeboat launched at night in an unusually heavy sea, were instrumental in saving the life of John H. Steel, one of the crew of the Fenwick Island lightship who was stricken with appeidicitis last night, 30 miles off the coast, it was learned today.

When wireless operators at the naval radio station here received a message from the Fenwick explaining Steel's grave condition and stating that without immediate medical aid he was believed he could not live through the night. Captain R. C. Weightman of the Kickapoo put out at once in the high sea and stiff northwest wind.

Captain Lynch of the Lewes coast guard station, at the breakwater, notified in advance, called out that station crew a midnight. With skill and daring that drew praise from hardy men for miles around, the crew brought the lifeboat through the surf.

The big, uncoveredy craft barely escaped being overturned in the breakers, but reached open water without mishap and tied up alongside the cutter, a few hundred yards from shore. Steel was again lowered in a hammock and taken aboard.

A waiting automobile rushed him to the government hospital at Lewes, where an operation was performed immediately. Surgeons said today he would recover.

PLANS FOR THE TEXTILE STRIKE IN FALL RIVER

Boston, March 18.—Thomas F. McMahon, international president of the United Textile Workers of America, left for Fall River tonight, after informing a meeting of the New England conference board of that organization here today that plans had been perfected for a strike of operatives in the cotton mills in the Fall River district.

A general mass meeting will be held in Fall River tomorrow night, President McMahon said, at which a strike vote will be taken as a result of the failure of cotton goods manufacturers to accede to the demand for a 29 per cent increase in wages made by the United Textile Workers. The operatives, he said, have informally declared themselves in favor of walking out in order to enforce their demands.

Fall River, where 36,000 workers are employed in 111 textile mills stands doubly committed to a wage increase, demand as the Fall River textile council made formal demand for an increase in wage of fifteen per cent on Friday. A contest for control of the situation in Fall River is in progress between the textile council and the United Textile Workers of America, and the situation has been complicated by the different demands made upon the manufacturers.

ANDERSON DEFIES "THE WHOLE WET BUNCH"

Yonkers, N. Y., March 18.—William H. Anderson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, declared tonight that he defied "generally and specifically the whole wet bunch," in their efforts to obtain publication of the names of contributors to the league funds. He spoke at the regular Sunday night service of the Bryn Mawr Presbyterian church.

Mr. Anderson attacked John D. Rockefeller, Jr., recent statement in which "he seemed to approve" public should know that his closest adviser on this question . . . has made repeated efforts to eliminate the Anti-Saloon league superintendent because the league would not quit fighting the wealthy wine and beer nullificationists of New York city.

"Mr. Rockefeller never made any suggestions to the Anti-Saloon league, directly or indirectly, until after his hostile hired man, Raymond D. Fosdick, acquiesced in the false statement that the Messrs. Rockefeller are contributing $100,000 to the Anti-Saloon League of New York instead of the true figure of $25,000."

PHYSICAL CONDITION OF NICOLA SACCO IS FAIR

Boston, March 18.—The physical condition of Nicola Sacco, convicted murderer, whose hunger strike of 11 days was broken last night at the Boston Psychopathic hospital where he was taken for treatment and observation as to his sanity from the Dedham jail by order of the court, was reported today as "fair" by Dr. Arthur Pattrell, executive officer of the hospital. A report on the patient's mental condition will be made on March 27.

Sacco was ordered committed to the Boston hospital yesterday after three alienists had testified that an examination had shown him to be mentally ill and subject to illusions.

The prisoner, who is being closely guarded night and day, partook of orange juice and barley gruel during the day. Propped up in bed he was permitted to converse with his wife. Fred E. Moore, general counsel for the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee which is conducting the fight for a new trial, and Mrs. Glendower Evans, society woman, who has been active in efforts to prove Sacco and Vanzetti innocent.

The report issued at the Psychopathic hospital said that [illegible] the patient's mental condition [illegible] March 27, the patient [illegible]

WILLIMANTIC

NORWICH BULLETIN
Willimantic Office
61 Church Street Telephone 1443

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the local division of Hibernians staged their annual St. Patrick's day minstrels Saturday evening in the Loomer Opera House. The scene for the production was depicted as an A. O. H. garden party and the time as March 17, 1923. William J. Moriarty was toastmaster and the show was under the able direction of George A. (Remington) Bartlett. The excellent cast was as follows: Head waiters, Paul Lavin and John Farrell; waiters, Ada Howlett, Madeline Bertoncene, Virginia Haggerty, Phyllis Robarge, Helen Cotter; Marion McCarthy; guests, Edocheville, Master Jack Costelo and Agnes Welch, Mary Arthur Roy; specialties, and Shea, Ernest Herrick, Mrs. ill, William Corby, Mrs. Esned, Clare Roy, Evelyn Lavmber of delightful musical were rendered as follows: Marion McCarthy; Crinoline s. Esther Larned; Wearing of n, Welch sisters; Gee, But I Go Home Alone, Helen Cot- were heard humorous bed ies by John F. McKenna on adcasting station W. K. Z. Q. dst'ning on Some Radio, Edcheville; Kiss Mamma, Kiss tle Miss Evelyn Lavin, Irish nest Squires, Josephine Zaolins in the Morning, Madecene.

dience was delighted by the e of a number of accompcers of local talent and Inttle Sally Foss, daughter of Mrs. Frank H. Foss, solo thel Mathieu, Clair Mathieu, onsiderable fame; Eleanor lair Lombardo, Ruth Costello pia Hinds.

el, Agnes Squires, Jennie The chorus was well chosen sted of 37 of this city's minrites. As an opening the ndered Nellie Kelley, I Love n South and Everybody's nainder of the program was as follows: The Little Red se, Little Clare Roy; I Old Ireland, William J. Hot Lips, Virginia Haggerng Sam, Ernest Herrick; Senator, recital by William You Got to See Mamma, ette; Call Me Back Pal o' k Costello; Fifty-seven Vadance taught by Lou Tracy) Shea; Tomorrow, John FarSong, Arthur Roy and Mrs. Somebody Lied, Paul Lavin, inale, entire company.

mmittee in charge of the arts for the minstrels consisted llowing: Mrs. Ellen Bacon, Mrs. Mary McCarthy, Miss oraa, Miss Ella Hussy, Miss nch, Miss Ellen Lynch. Mrs. Dubreuil was the pianist, and ute was pianist for the chilecorations were by Clayton adies' Auxiliary have exheir gratitude to all those ed in any way to make their 1923 minstrel the great success that e ed to be.

stitution which has come to be l importance in connection l ideal chamber of commerce ers' Night." Since its institu- years ago it has grown to interesting to both farmers ber of commerce members. nday) night's meeting promis a largely attendid and in- one and invitations have also sent out to associations, and all the agriculturalists in unding territory. A fine as been arranged for the The Connecticut Agricult- e quartet will render a num- sections and Michael J. Farrs, the well known vocal also favor with solos. Charles L. Beach of the col-

HURTEAU AND OSSE CORP.
HOLD FURNISHINGS AL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS.
Street, Willimantic. Conn.
Phone 641-2

M. SHEPARD
ing Fillmore & Shepard
Director & Embalmer
TH ST. WILLIMANTIC
ONN. Tel. Connection

lourey Bros.
AL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS
Willimantic, Conn.
(Lady Assistant)

lege, Professor William F. Kirkpatrick of the poultry department, Professro George C. White of the Dairy Work school, and Professor H. J. Baker, director of extension work at the college will all be heard at this meeting.

The meeting will be called to order at 7.30 o'clock and a buffet lunch will be served free by a committee from the chamber of commerce.

Extensive plans for an active season are already in the work under the direction of various committees of the Country club. It is planned to have a professional golf player on the local links by the first of April and the playing will begin as soon as the greens are in good condition. The club has joined the state association and teams will be entered in the tournaments of the association.

One interesting match scheduled for this season is that of the local lodge of Elks vs the Philadelphia lodge which includes some of the best players in the state of Pennsylvania. The Knight Templars are also scheduled for several matches.

A committee is investigating the building of tennis courts and clock golf, both will probably be built during the coming season. The club house is now completed in every way and affords a fine locality for dancing, teas and card games.

As a result of the vote taken at the last meeting of the school aboard that an inspector of the state board of education be sent here to investigate certain matters at Windham High school, formal application was made the following morning to State School Commissioner A. B. Meredith by Walter R. King of the town school board and he was informed that the matter would be attended to.

The inspector is expected to arrive this week. Last week, Dr. W. P. S. Keating, Mrs. Robert H. Fenton and H. Clinton Lathrop of the school committee, made a thorough tour of the school and they stated that their observation was of a most satisfactory nature.

Frank Bickford Hook, died at the age of 75 at his home, No. 19 Lincoln avenue Saturday morning after a long illness. The deceased was born in Boston, Mass., August 28, 1847, the son of Abram and Lovey (Bickford) Hook. He was a conductor on the old New England railroad for many years, and later on the New Haven railroad. Twenty-five years ago he gave up railroading in New England and went to Mexico and various southern railroads. Mr. Hook retired fifteen years ago and made his home on the Brown farm just over the city line in the town of Columbia, until recently. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jennie (Brown) Hook. He was a member of Washington Commandery, Knights Templars, Hartford.

Mrs. Amanda Michaud who died Friday night at her home on Temple street was born in Mamaqog, R. I., but had been a resident of this city for some time. Besides her husband she leaves her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Tetreau, three sisters, Mrs. M. Menard of Putnam, Mrs. A. Rosa of New London and Mrs. A. Raddigan of White Rock, R. I., and one brother, Henry Tetreau of Linwood, Mass.

The remains of John Kay were conveyed Friday evening on the 6.40 o'clock train to the home of his sister, Mrs. Luke O'Neill of Pleasant street, Cumberland Hills, Woonsocket, R. I., from where the funeral will be held.

Arrangements in this city were in charge of Killourey Brothers.

Captain Joseph R. Morrison of Company C., 169th Infantry, has received instructions that the regiment will camp at Niantic two weeks, from August 1-15, and that it was expected that all unit commandants would have their commands up to numerical strength. The local company now has 64 men and three officers.

Justice of the Peace George H. Andrews of the town of Mansfield heard cases against personal tax delinquents at his home at the Ridges, Saturday afternoon. Four appeared but three showed certificates showing that they were not liable to tax. One man from Eagleville had the charge against him nolled on the payment of the costs of $15.75, plus two dollars for the personal tax collector.

Rev. O. S. Beaumeister of the local St. Joseph's church, who has been giving the course of Lenten sermons on Wednesday evenings at the Immaculate Conception church, Hartford, delivered the St. Patrick's lecture in that church Sunday evening in conjunction with a special musical program which was rendered.

Miss Arline E. Babson of Danielson, a student at the Willimantic Normal school, has been acting for a few days as substitute teacher at South Windham in the absence of the regular teacher who has been away due to the illness of her father.

Miss Ada Littlefield, is conducting classes at the Ridges grammar school, each Saturday because of the fact that she lost one week due to illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fregeault of Main street have purchased the two-tenement house at 260 Summit street from Ward J. Porter.

The Connecticut Agricultural College Glee club gave a concert in North Haven Saturday evening. Sunday night they sang in Guilford. The club consisted of twelve men and Mrs. H. D. Newton, the director. Oscar D'Esopo, '25 acted as reader. This is the second series of concerts this year given by the club.

Miss Helen B. Lincoln of Smith College, Northampton, has been recommended by the spoken English departments of the college to try out for the Vox club, one of the most important literary clubs on the campus. Miss Lincoln is a graduate of W. M. I. class of 1921. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Lincoln of New London, formerly of this city.

Mrs. Robert A. Robinson, who has been spending several weeks with relatives in New York city, has returned to her home at the Ridges.

Edward B. Hills, a member of the junior class at Wesleyan university, spent the week-end with his uncle, P. S. Hills at the Ridges.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher C. Case of Windham street are entertaining Mrs. Case's mother, Mrs. Frederick Case for a week or ten days after which she goes to Waterbury.

Mrs. Dewey Tatro of East Thompson was a visitor with friends in this city Sunday.

John Leo Sullivan returned Sunday afternoon to resume his studies at St. John's Prep school in Danvers, Mass., after a few days in this city.

Miss Jean Howie of New Britain spent the week-end with her mother in this city.

HELD FOR TAKING MONEY FROM CONSTABLE'S POCKET

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, March 18. — John Freedman of Montreal and Boston and his companion, Frank Oberle of Jamaica Plains, spent Sunday night in the local police station and will be brought before the Andover town court Monday morning. John Freedman is charged with theft and it is said has admitted his guilt. Up to Sunday night he maintained that Oberle was not involved. Both were lodgers at the local police station Saturday night and Sunday morning they left early in the direction of Hartford. While on the road they were met by the Providence Dairy truck, driven by Constable William Kelly of this city, and they asked for a ride. Constable Kelly consented and proceeded on to Andover where he stopped and left a consignment of milk cans. Kelly took off his coat and left it on the wheel of the truck and Oberle came out to help unload the cans. When Kelly was ready to proceed on his way the two men suddenly showed a desire to walk and leaving the truck they started toward Bolton.

Constable Kelly became suspicious and looked in his coat pocket and discovered that $7 that he had had was missing. He immediately went to Deputy Sheriff A. L. Frink in Andover and told his story. Deputy Sheriff Frink made a hurried trip to Bolton and awaited the coming of the two men who were apprehended as they were coming along the railroad tracks.

The men were taken back to Andover and were brought before Judge Faulkner. The money was found in Freedman's vest pocket and he pleaded guilty to the charge. They were taken to the local police station and locked up.

COLCHESTER

The funeral of Mrs. Fred J. Hudson was held at St. Andrew's church Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. A solemn requiem mass was sung by Rev. Philip J. Mooney. At the offertory Gus Gregory sang Face to Face. The bearers were John Condren, Robert A. Millar, David Shea, Timothy F. Kelly, James F. Purcell and Patrick Carr. There was an abundance of flowers. The burial was in St. Andrew's cemetery. Relatives and friends from Hartford, Naugatuck, New Haven and Bridgeport attended.

Mr. and Mrs. William Tynan of Amston were callers in town Thursday.

Roger Foote of Lebanon was a caller in town Thursday.

Mrs. Frederick J. Brown, widow of F. J. Brown, died at the home on her son, Fred O. Brown, on South Main street, Wednesday night at the age of 84 years, from pneumonia. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Edward McCall, of Lebanon, and one son, Frederick O. Brown, of this place.

Miss Maggie Tynan of Naugatuck was in town Thursday attending the funeral of Mrs. Fred J. Hudson.

Carl Jones of Hebron was calling on friends in town Thursday.

Charles A. Williams has returned from a week's visit with relatives in East Hampton.

Leonard Siebert of East Hampton was a caller here Friday.

Wooster lodge, F. and A. M., held their regular meeting in Masonic hall Friday evening.

The Ladies' Benevolent society of the Congregational church met in the ladies' room in the chapel Friday afternoon to sew. Supper was served at 6 o'clock. At 7.45 in the audience room the members of the C. Y. P. S. gave an entertainment.

Mrs. Timothy Nutter has returned to her home in Whitinsville, Mass., after a few days' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Roper.

Arthur Holmes of New London was a visitor in town Thursday.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

Bartholomew Mullins, aged 54, died at the home of his sister, Miss Julia Mullins, Friday night after a protracted illness with myocarditis. He had lived in Stafford Springs the greater part of his life and had for a number of years been employed as a spinner in the local woolen mills. He leaves four brothers, Thomas, Edward and John Mullins of Stafford Springs and Daniel Mullins of Springfield, and one sister, Miss Julia Mullins, of this town.

A meeting of the guarantors of the Stafford Chautauqua will be held at the Business Men's room Wednesday evening to elect local officers and committees.

At the regular meeting of Stafford grange to be held Tuesday evening eight candidates will be given the third and fourth degrees.

Mrs. Lawrence Sartori, who was operated on at the Johnson Memorial hospital several days ago, is making a good recovery.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church will meet at the home of Mrs. A. C. Eaton Wednesday afternoon.

Henry Goyette and Pheno Gresson have gone to Clinton, Mass., where they have secured employment.

Services were resumed in the Universalist church Sunday. No services have been held in this church for the past few Sundays on account of the illness of the pastor, Rev. Charles H. Puffer.

Grimsby, England, where tradition says the Danes first landed in their invasion of Britain, is now a famous seaport.

Cuticura Talcum is Fragrant and Very Healthful

THE WIDE-AWAKE CIRCLE

Boys' and Girls' Department

Rules For Every Member

1—Write plainly on one side of the paper only, and number the pages.
2—Use pen and ink, not pencil.
3—Short and pointed articles will be given preference. Do not use over 300 words.
4—Original stories or letters only will be used.
5—Write your name, age and address plainly at the bottom of the story.

POETRY FOR THE WIDE-AWAKES

The Three Musketeers.

Jack's daddy calls them "The Three Musketeers."
I think it's a very good name.
They're out for adventure when daylight appears,
Until they're in bed it's the same.
They're banded together for good and for ill;
Young Jack and George Junior, and handsome wild Bill.
Their ages combined are not great, you will find.
They're just little rogues, but we mothers don't mind!

We mothers call them "the three little dears."
They really are manly young scamps,
As brave as were ever The Three Musketeers—
As eager for fun and for tramps.
The neighbors all call them—well, I wonder what!
Why, rascals and vandals and such, like as not!
The mischief they mix! They are all up to tricks!
You see, these gay divils are only just six!

Jack's daddy calls them "The Three Musketeers."
A trio of soldiers they were.
The leader of all of them each mother fears
Must surely belong just to her.
For Jack's full of monkeyshines, Bill's full of fun,
And George—well, he's just a small son of a gun!
D'Artagnan, I trow, was a little bit slow
Compared to The Three Musketeers that we know!
—Anne Campbell, in Detroit News.

A Mongrel.

Billy, my dog, is mongrel bred,
But his heart is a heart of gold,
And his love as true as ever they knew
In the dauntless days of old.

Billy, my dog, is a common cur,
And wanting in pedigree;
But there never was knight more brave in fight
In defense of his own than he.

Billy, my dog, is a watchman bold,
And the thief or the robber grim
Who would throttle myself to steal my pelf,
Must reckon first with him.

Dogs and men, I have known them long;
But give me a comrade true
Who will never betray or turn away,
And, Billy, old boy, it is you!
Yes, Billy, old boy, it is you!
—Mrs. T. W. Brown, in Dumb Animals.

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDE-AWAKES.

Two little girls, on the way home from school one day, were discussing plans for a party. Let's invite Mary, said one of the girls. No, I don't want her, came the quick answer. She isn't anybody; why, her father is only an ashman.

Now that little girl was looking at life from a wrong angle. She placed herself above Mary, as much as to say that she was somebody and Mary wasn't. She failed to realize that Mary was just as good as she, and that Mary's father's work was just as honorable as the work her own father was engaged in, in spite of the fact that he had a big office.

It is a mistaken idea that one person is better than another because he or she is in more fortunate circumstances. A man's real worth is not counted in riches or jewels; it is counted in kind deeds, kind thoughts, generosity, clean living and honesty. Some of our greatest men were once poor boys.

So you should not look down on others simply because they haven't as much money or as many nice clothes as you have. The world has little use for vain, selfish, snobbish people. What the world wants is real men and women, and the poor boy can be just as much of a real man as the rich boy.

WINNERS OF PRIZE BOOKS.

1—Ebba J. Oikkonen, Moosup—Heidi.
2—Bertha Hall, Moosup—The Outdoor Girls at the Hostess House.
3—Haven Mercier, Plainfield—Try and Trust.
4—Donald Royce, Norwich—Strong and Steady.
5—Ida M. Roode, Voluntown—The Girl Scouts' Triumph.
6—Anna Dicky, Colchester—The Tale of Kiddie Katydid.
7—Carl Chafitz, Norwich—Bound to Rise.
8—Helen Browning Woodmansee, Preston—The Girl Scouts' Triumph.

Winners of prize books living in Norwich may secure them by calling at The Bulletin business office after 10 o'clock Monday morning.

LETTERS OF ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Doris Anderson, Danielson—I received the book you sent me, which was very nice, and want to thank you for it.

Mary Lewis, Preston—I thank you very much for the prize book you sent me entitled The Girl Scouts' Triumph. I have read it through and like it very much.

James McGee, Gales Ferry—I received the book, Strong and Steady. It is a book which a boy enjoys reading. I want to thank you for the interesting volume.

Viola Troenig, Moosup—I received the book entitled The Girl Scouts at Home, which I am very much pleased with, as it is very interesting. Many thanks.

Julia Dickey, Colchester—I received the book The Girl Scouts at Home, for which I thank you very much.

Ruth G. Miller, Norwich Town—I received the nice book that you sent me as a prize and I have read it all through. I like it very much and thank you for it.

Bessie E. Gitlin, New London—I want to thank you for the books I have received through your kindness.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE-AWAKES.

A Story About Finland.

Dear Uncle Jed: I am a Finnish girl and I want to tell you about Finland, the country from which I came. Finland is a little country in the northern part of Europe whose population is three million inhabitants.

There are thousands of lakes in Finland, many rivers and waterfalls. There are both summer and winter in Finland. The summers are very beautiful. In the northern part of Finland, in the middle part of summer, the sun does not set at all. The winters are very severe, for they are long and cold. All of the buildings in Finland are built of logs, so that the people and the animals will not freeze. Most of the people live by farming, while others who live in cities work in mills.

Every year Finland sends products to other countries. Finland is divided into eight states. Each state has its own capital city, but Helsingfors is the capital of the country of Finland. There are 39 cities in Finland. Long ago Russia ruled over Finland, but now it has its own ruler. In the year 1919 the people elected their own ruler because they did not want Russia to rule longer. After every three years the people elect a new ruler.

I cannot tell you much about the schools in Finland because I was only 8 years old when I came here, and I only had time to go to school one winter. I learned to read and write in the Finnish language. I came to America in the year 1921. When I came here I lived in Vermont, then in New York, and now I am living in Connecticut.

I go to Wylie public school. I like my teacher very much. Her name is Miss Margaret Tanner. My teacher says that I learn my lessons very quickly. I like America better than Finland, and I would not like to go back there to live, only I would like to see my grandfather and grandmother, of whom I am very fond.

EBBA J. OIKKONEN, Age 11.
Moosup.

The Bees.

Dear Uncle Jed: Bees are very curious little things. I suppose they are the most useful of all the insects. They are only about an inch long and yet what wonderful work they do. All summer long they make much honey and wax for us. They know, too, about every flower in our gardens, and all the signs of the weather, and they are kind to their children. The honeycomb makes wax and the wax is used in a great many ways. The bees never get lazy. I hope that the Wide-Awakes will enjoy this story.

IDA M. ROODE, Age 12.
Voluntown.

Likes the Cold Weather.

Dear Uncle Jed: This is my first letter to the Wide-Awakes. I want to tell you how much I am enjoying the cold winter weather.

I live at the top of two small hills, which gives me a long slide. Sometimes we go over a bump which sends us up in the air off our sleds and then we come down on our sleds again. I think that it is great fun.

I have a little sister, age 6, who goes sliding with me. I hope you will like this letter.

CLINTON DRESCHER, Age 8.
Norwich.

A Walk in the Woods.

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about my walk in the woods, which was a very beautiful one. One day my cousin, who was living with me at that time, and I started to walk in the woods and to admire the wonderful things which Mother Nature had planned very beautifully.

We started about 10 o'clock in the forenoon for our walk. We carried a basket of lunch with us.

We walked on and on into the woods, where we saw birds of all descriptions and the most remarkable flowers that we had ever seen.

We gathered as many as we could easily carry on with us. As we walked still farther on, we came to a cleared space where some woodchoppers had spent many days of hard work. Here we sat down and ate our lunch, which tasted very nice to us, because we were very hungry.

After we had eaten our lunch we gathered up our flowers, which had scattered about, and started on, admiring the beautiful things as we walked.

At last we thought that we had better start for home, as it was getting late, but as we turned around we could not imagine which way to turn but we walked one way. We did not know in which direction we were going, but we soon came to a wagon path which looked familiar. We followed this path and soon arrived home. We were very tired but happy.

BERTHA HALL, Age 14.
Moosup.

St. Valentine.

Dear Uncle Jed: A long time ago in a small town or village, there lived an old priest called Valentine. This man was good to the poor. He visited them in times of sickness, and often brought gifts to them. If he went out he was always sure to have a group of children following him. He was loved by both young and old.

But there soon came a day, when he fell ill and could not go to see them any more. Seeing that he could not go out he sent his gifts to the people instead of delivering them himself. Later he died and the poor people mourned long for their only true friend. Seeing that he had been so good to them, the people called him "Saint Valentine."

The day on which he died is called "St. Valentine's Day," the day on which many people send kind wishes to their friends.

JULIETTE LAMOUREUX.
Putnam.

The First Boat.

Dear Uncle Jed: Very long ago the children had no books. Instead of having teachers like we do now, they had nature and animals for their teachers.

They would watch nature and the animals all day long. They would watch the seal dive for the ducks, and also the sea gulls. They liked the sea very much.

One day, while watching them a boy had a splendid idea. He thought that if he could but make a frame work for the seal skin he had, he probably could make something useful to float about in.

So taking some willow boughs he made a frame work upon which he tied the seal skins. Putting it in a pool near by, he paddled out with his hands. Later he used branches to paddle about.

The people later took his idea and also made boats, crude, perhaps, but very useful.

HAVEN MERCIER, Age 13.
Plainfield.

A Funny Feeling.

Dear Uncle Jed: One morning as I was about to leave for school and had put my rubbers on, I told my mother that there must be something in my rubbers. But she said it was only the rubber heel on my shoe made it feel so funny. All the way to school I felt it. We passed into school and I took my rubbers off but I found nothing in them. All during school hours I thought of what could be in my rubbers and I could not keep my mind on my lessons. At recess as I was putting on my rubbers a small rubber ball rolled out. My brother had put it in before I left the house. I guess I did not search my rubbers thoroughly. It was this that caused the funny feeling.

DOROTHY IRENE NORMAN,
Norwich. Age 11.

Is In Fourth Grade.

Dear Uncle Jed: I am a boy in the fourth grade. My name is John Natorski. We are learning about long measure by heart. Twelve inches make one foot, three feet make one yard, five and one-half yards or sixteen and one-half feet make one rod, three hundred and twenty rods make one mile, and five thousand, two hundred eighty feet make one mile.

JOHN NATORSKI, Age 12.
Danielson.

At Lord's Point.

Dear Uncle Jed: I want to tell you about my trip to Lord's Point last summer. We had a lovely time. I went in bathing every day, and I also learned how to swim, which is great fun after you learn how. Near our cottage was a huckleberry patch and I spent many happy hours there picking huckleberries. We left here August 19th, and came home Labor Day as I had to get ready for school. How I wish I could have stayed longer. I have been to Lord's Point for two summers now and I expect to go to Pleasant View for my vacation next summer. So do you wonder, Uncle Jed, how I long for the summer to come.

MIRIAM SEIDEL, Age 9.
Norwich.

Likes Jack Rabbit Stories.

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to write you a letter. I go to school and am in the second grade. I like the little Jack Rabbit stories. My mother reads them to me. I like to go to school.

VERNA RICHMOND, Age 6.
Hopkinton, R. I.

Helping Mother.

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written a letter to you. This morning I wiped the dishes and at noon after I got through eating I took the dishes out to the sink and at suppertime I helped mamma set the table. I help mamma dust the chairs and the bedroom too. I go down cellar to get the potatoes for mamma. I have a little baby brother and I love to hold him.

GERTRUDE WOODMANSEE,
Age 8.
Preston.

Likes to Go to School.

Dear Uncle Jed: I am a little girl five years old. I go to school and am in the first grade. There are seven children in my grade. I love to go to school every day that I can. This is my first letter to Uncle Jed.

PHYLLIS BENNETT, Age 5.
Preston.

Is Seven Years Old.

Dear Uncle Jed: I am a little girl and my name is Dorothy. I go to school every day. I have a baby sister named Grace. She is very cunning and we all love her. I am glad winter is most gone and spring will soon be here so I can play out of doors more.

DOROTHY MILLER, Age 7.
Norwich.

A Russian Immigrant.

Dear Uncle Jed: My grandfather, David Schmidt, lived in a little village nestling among the Russian hills. The sun shone peacefully down on the fields where there was grain in abundance. My grandfather worked early and late as did the other farmers of the village. He made a poor living because his wages were low and taxes high.

A revolution was declared. The people decided to be no longer tyrannized by the czar. In a few months the little village had changed from a peaceful little hamlet to a place of bloodshed and disaster. My grandfather took an active part in the revolution and he helped to obtain the people's wish for a democratic government.

My grandfather had tasted the life of a free man and he wanted more of this life. He had heard of America where everybody is equal and so he decided to come to this country. He set eyes on this country Feb. 22, 1906. The following morning my grandfather first set foot on his new country. He went straight to his brother's house which was situated in the heart of New York city. He looked and looked but could not comprehend how a city could grow so large in so short a time. He stayed in New York six weeks and then went out west.

The country was all that he had hoped it would be. He had learned that after five years, if he passed the test he could become an American citizen and could vote.

When the five years were up he went to court to get his papers and he passed the examination and when he came out he was a full fledged American citizen.

After receiving his citizen papers my grandfather sent for his wife and children. He had acquired a little sum of money and owned his own home. He was very proud to think that he was an American citizen. When his family reached here he was a very proud man. My grandfather sent my uncles, Max and Albert, to school and they in a few years graduated from public school and entered high school.

LESSIE E. GITLIN, Age 13.
New London.

My Trip to Hartford.

Dear Uncle Jed: One Sunday morning at 7 o'clock we started for Hartford. We rode two and one-half hours. We went to St. Joseph's cathedral and after dinner we went to Capitol Park. As there was a carnival there at that time we enjoyed ourselves very much. There were many interesting things. At 5 o'clock we started for home and we reached there at 7 o'clock. On my way home I saw many calves, a Shetland pony. I saw field after field of tobacco. After reaching home I was very tired but happy at the end of my trip.

ANNA PERINGER, Age 13.
Norwich.

Papa's Cows.

Dear Uncle Jed: Papa has a milking machine and he can milk two cows at once. He can milk much quicker than he can by hand. Papa has twenty-one cows and I know all the cows' names and I know where the cows stand, too.

Papa has some water cups in the barn. When the cows put their noses on something the water comes and the cows can keep their cups full all the time.

Once I had my picture taken standing on a cow's back.

HELEN BROWNING WOODMANSEE, Age 6.
Preston.

The Chipmunk.

Dear Uncle Jed: When I came home from school one day I found my favorite kitten with a chipmunk in her mouth. It was the chipmunk which had lived in the hollow tree in my garden.

When I caught my kitten I took her and shook her till she dropped the chipmunk. Poor little chipmunk! He could only limp away and hide himself. The little chipmunk was a favorite of mine.

What a lonely world it would be if all the little animals were dead.

Good wishes to the Wide-Awakes.

IDA M. ROODE, Age 13.
Voluntown.

How Paper Is Made.

Dear Uncle Jed: I was a young spruce tree, straight and tall. I thought I was good for nothing. One day I saw some men coming towards me. One said, "Here is one, but we will wait a while before we cut it down." This made me feel proud. A year went by. The same men came to cut me down. My bark was removed. I was cut into blocks two feet long, and I was drawn with many other friends, to a place near a river. I wondered why they left me there. Weeks went by; the ice began to melt; men came and pushed us down the river with poles.

Thus we floated for many days until we came in sight of a large factory. We were pushed in, one by one in a narrow passage and onto rollers that crushed me so hard that I yelled with pain. Later I was pounded into pulp, and put in a barge to cool off and then set out in the sunshine to dry.

Soon I was dried and then I was packed into bales to be sent off to all parts of the country. Being put on a car I was off to the next place which was a school, with many boys and girls. One girl drew a large, beautiful picture on me, and when the others saw it they said, "How beautiful it is." This made me very happy. She took me home to be shown to her parents.

CARL CHAFITZ.
Norwich.

My Exciting Experience.

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have sent you a letter so I will tell you about my exciting scene.

One day while we had some guests dining with us, we saw a crowd of people running down the street and dragging hose. We went to see what was the matter. At the end of the block one house was on fire and the other one starting. The wind was blowing and that made it worse.

At the other house the people were getting the furniture out of the windows. The people that were fleeing by were all excited.

Finally they got it all out, but the loss was over $5,000.

VICTORIA GOLOB, Age 13.
Columbia.

The Red Balloon.

Dear Uncle Jed: I've decided to write a story on the "Red Balloon."

It was the Fourth of July, and some of my friends came down to the house to have some fun. We went picking huckleberries, and from there went swimming. It was a long walk home, so when we got back we were tired and laid down on the grass under the apple trees.

We were talking when all of a sudden I spied something red high up on a fir tree, about two hundred yards away. We all jumped and tried to see what it was. One girl said it was a bird, another said it was the reflection of the sun.

I ran into the house and called out my big brother. He couldn't make out what it was. "Well," he said, "Let's go down." To our surprise what should it be but a red balloon. You ought to see the smiles on our faces. The next thing was how to get it down. One boy ran back home and got an axe, with it my brother chopped the fir tree down, and that is how we got the balloon.

We played with it till it burst, and it all ended with a "Perfect Day."

ANNA DICKEY, Age 13.
Colchester.

A Strange Visitor.

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to the Wide-Awakes and I hope they will like my story. One cold, February afternoon there appeared on our farm a tall strange looking man. He had black hair, brown eyes, and was of a dark complexion. I greeted him kindly and he came into the house.

My parents knew the man and were very happy when they saw him, but I did not know him. I thought I would ask mother who he was, she told me it was my uncle who had come from the war. I was very much surprised because I had not seen him for a long time.

That night after supper he told us many stories about the war and I became very much interested. I told my uncle that when I saw him last he was not so thin and old. After listening to many sad as well as funny stories, I went to bed to dream of fighting many battles.

PAULINE MARTISHA, Age 14.
Preston.

Long Lost Mary.

Dear Uncle Jed: A poor little girl was once peddling oranges at a railroad station of a small southern town. She had made very few sales during the morning, and was turning away, tired, and discourage, when a belated passenger came hurrying along, and seeing the tempted fruit in the child's basket stopped and asked the price. "Five cents each," said the little girl. "Then give me two dozen," replied the passenger. "Oh!" said the little girl with a smile, "I haven't sold two dozen for a long, long time."

After she had handed the oranges to him, and had received the money, the passenger asked her name, and she replied, "Mary." "Mary what?" said he. "I don't know, for you see when I was very small I remember I was with a woman. I think it was my mother, and I got lost, and then I remember that after a while the woman I live with now, came and

(Continued On Page 4, Col. 7)

THE LITTLE JACK RABBIT PICTURE FOR COLORING

Little Jack Rabbit Picture For Coloring.

"Hip, hip, hurray!" shouted Little Jack Rabbit, hopping out of his warm little bed in the Old Bramble Patch. "As soon as I've wound my gold watch I'll look out of the window to see what kind of a day it is."

It certainly was a beautiful day, but oh dear me! Right there on the Sunny Meadow stood Danny Fox. Yes, sir. There stood that wicked old robber waiting for the little rabbit to hop out of the Old Bramble Patch.

"Hello, Danny Fox!" shouted the little bunny from his bedroom window. "What do you think?"

"There's to be a story or two
About me and you!"
"I don't care," replied the old fox
"If it's a story or three
About you and me;
I'll take mighty good care
I'm not caught unaware
My den in the rocks
Is a pretty safe box."

"Maybe it is," replied the little rabbit "but some day when the children know me better, I'm going to make a call on Uncle Dave. Maybe I'll bring him a bunch of pretty red clover tops and a lollypop from the Lollypop Tree."

"Oh, ho," sneered Danny Fox.
"You'd better stay here in the Old Bramble Patch,
Or a blue-coated copper, a rabbit might catch!"

Then away went that old robber to find a stray chicken near the Old Farm Yard. But just as he came in sight the Weathercock on the Big Red Barn began to sing:

"Look out, look out!
Here comes a fox:
He's sneaking along
In his tiptoe sox."

"Bow, wow!" barked Old Sic'em, the Kind Farmer's dog.
"Moo moo!" went Mrs. Cow.
"Cock-a-doodle-do," crowed Daisy Doodle.
"Quack, quack!" said Downy Waddles.
"Cluck, cluck!" went Fanny Feathers, while Turkey Tim opened his great wings and looked as fierce as a Turk.

Just then the Kind Farmer came to the kitchen door and away went Danny Fox off to the Shady Forest. He was afraid of the Kind Farmer.

"Ha, ha!" laughed Little Jack Rabbit from his window in the Old Bramble Patch. "Danny Fox is a great old coward. He doesn't dare talk to anyone but little rabbits and chickens and he doesn't speak to them if he can sneak up behind and catch them first. Oh, how I hate that wicked old robber!"

Just then, Lady Love, the little bunny's mother rang the breakfast bell, so downstairs hopped the little rabbit and in next Saturday's story I'll tell you what a narrow escape he had from Mr. Wicked Wolf.

THE H.C. MURRAY CO.
MURRAY'S BOSTON STORE
WILLIMANTIC, CONN.

HER A DRESS the New Spring Fabrics

ian remembers some fav- e of her girlhood days s just began to count. daughter such a dress attractive Printed Silk ich in vogue this season. Butterick Counter you only the new styles in ts but hats as well. closed with each pat- you how to lay out, d finish your garment. BUTTERICK PATTERN WITH THE DELTOR.

DRESS 4276 TRIMMING 10126
PATTERN 15¢ DELTOR 15¢
BUTTERICK DESIGN
Including Instructions for Sewing Circle

MLLE. LENGLEN CONGRATULATES MISS RYAN ON HER VICTORY

Nice, France, March 18.—(By The A. P.)—Unselfish in defeat, Suzanne Lenglen today threw her arms about Miss Elizabeth Ryan when Lenglen, paired with Count Soumarokov-elston lost the final in the mixed doubles tennis championship to Miss Ryan and Randolph Lycett 6-4, 7-5.

"You deserve to win," exclaimed the French girl. "You played magnificently. One must lose sometime, and I prefer losing to you rather than to anyone in this world."

"I realize that I am very short of my best playing form and am entirely responsible for our defeat," gallantly broke in Count Soumarokov-Elston to Mlle. Lenglen."

Lenglen and Miss Ryan are the best of friends. They play together in the women's doubles and have lost only one set in two years, this to Miss Kathleen McKane and Mrs. Lambert Chambers. In the woman's singles Mlle. Lenglen has met Miss Ryan twenty-three times and never lost a set to the American girl.

DRASTIC CHANGES ADVOCATED IN BASKETBALL RULES

New York, March 18.—Drastic changes in basketball rules, particularly in regard to free throws for fouls, were recommended by the executive committee of the Eastern Collegiate Basketball league today. The proposals will be submitted to the national joint rules committee at its meeting on April 10.

Each member of the team who is fouled would be required to try for goal under the proposed change, to do away with the individual goal tossing star.

A ten-foot zone across the court, creating a 20-foot strip in all, that forwards and guards could not enter until after the tip-off also was proposed.

Other recommendations regarding the application of violation rules, application of the 17-foot zone rule and adoption of uniform rules were proposed.

Coaches from the principal eastern colleges attended the session at which the executive committee was re-elected.

DATES ANNOUNCED FOR SEVEN BIG TENNIS TOURNAMENTS

The seven important tennis dates for the season, as announced yesterday, follow:

June 25—Intercollegiate and interscholastic championships, Merion Cricket club, Philadelphia.

July 2—National clay court championships for women, Park club, Buffalo.

July 9—National clay court championships for men, Park club, Buffalo.

Aug. 13—National women's championship, West Side Tennis club, Forest Hills, L. I.

Aug. 20—National doubles, veterans' doubles, mixed doubles, father and son, boys' and junior national championships, Longwood Cricket Club, Chestnut Hill, Mass.

Aug. 31, Sept. 1 and 2—Davis Cup, challenge round, West Side Tennis club, Forest Hills, L. I.

Sept. 10—National men's championship and veterans' singles championship Germantown Cricket Club, Philadelphia.

BLANC SEING WINS TIA JUANA DERBY

San Diego, Calif., March 18.—Blanc Seing, owned by William Daniel and trained by A. G. Blakeley, today won the Tia Juana derby over eight of the best three years old in the west, in 1.53 1-5. He was half a length ahead of Spot Cash, from the stable of Harry Payne Whitney. Spot Cash and Blanc Seing made it practically a two-horse race after the first half. Prince Til Til, from the Meadowbrook stable, who came third, was six lengths behind Spot Cash at the wire. Knighthood, coupled with Spot Cash, was fourth. The race was a mile and an eighth.

The winner got $6,825. Blanc Seing is entered for the Kentucky derby. His victory today was popular with the crowd, which made him favorite.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS TO CONFORM TO I. A. F. RULES

New York, March 18.—Athletic rules governing competition were revised to conform with those of the International Athletic Federation today at a meeting of the executive and advisory committees of the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America. No move towards changing the distance in track competitions to the metric system was made, however.

Rules were adopted to govern track meets, designating the number and duties of officials, but no drastic change in any particular rules was made.

FORMER EASTERN LEAGNE PLAYER PASSES ON

Cleveland, March 18. — William Zimmerman, formerly a catcher for Fall River, and other clubs of the old Eastern league, died today in Los Angeles, where he had made his home for several years, according to advices received here tonight. He was a brother of the famous Chief Zimmer.

When Chief Zimmer managed Little Rock of the Southern association, William was business manager of the club.

NEW LONDON WOMAN WINS GOLF PRIZE AT PINEHURST

Pinehurst, N. C., March 18—Mrs. John D. Armstrong of New London, Conn., led the field in this week's clock tourney at Pinehurst and won the prize with a round of 22.

The leading scores:

Mrs. John D. Armstrong, Shennassossett 22; Mrs. M. J. O'Connell, Uniontown 23; Mrs. Ralph Hammer, Lexington 24; Mrs. J. Raymond Price, Oakmont 24; Mrs. John H. Wright, St. Albans 24; Mrs. W. K. Stebbins, Yountakah 24.

To know how good a cigarette really can be made you must try a—

LUCKY STRIKE CIGARETTE

It's toasted

PRINCETON HAS NINE DATES ON LACROSSE SLATE

Princeton, N. J., March 18.—A schedule of nine games was announced for Princeton's 1923 lacrosse team. Five of the contests will take place in Princeton. The schedule:

March 24, Stevens at Princeton; March 31, Mount Washington at Baltimore; April 7, Crescent A. C., at New York; April 14, John Hopkins at Baltimore; April 20, New York University at Princeton; April 28, Harvard at Cambridge; May 4, Rutgers at Princeton; May 9, Syracuse at Princeton; May 19, Yale at Princeton.

LASKER WINS AGAIN FROM MARSHALL AT CHESS

New York, March 18.—Edward Lasker of Chicago, challenger for the American chess championship, won the second of his matches with Frank J. Marshall, titleholder, today. The game was adjourned from Saturday, the challenger winning with a passed pawn in 50 moves. The third of the series will be played tomorrow.

YALE STUDENT MAKES "HOLE-IN-ONE" CLUB

New Haven, March 18.—Another member was added to the roster of the "hole-in-one club" today when Winton M. Bernardin, a junior at Yale university, made the eighth hole on the Racebrook Country club course in one strike. The hole is 130 yards and the ball rolled in despite the snow and ice surrounding the cup.

PREP SCHOOLS INVITED TO YALE TENNIS TOURNEY

New Haven, March 18.—Invitations to compete in the 29th interscholastic tennis tournament under the auspices of Yale university have been sent to 75 eastern preparatory and high schools, it was announced tonight. The tournament will be held at the Yale courts May 19.

TINGLE WINS FLYWEIGHT TITLE OF THE FAR EAST

Manila, March 18 (By the A. P.)—Billy Tingle, Australian, won the flyweight champion of the Far East here today by defeating Blasco Concepcion, Filipino. Tingle received the referee's decision at the end of a 15-round bout.

Wanderers Play Stonington.

The Baltic Wanderers will play the A. V. A. A. basketball team of Stonington Wednesday night on the Baltic gym surface. Stonington has a fast team and has a record of winning the last six games played. The Stonington team plays on a small surface and is coming up to even up the series, the Baltic team plays a return game with Stonington on April 6th.

The Baltic Bantams are looking for a preliminary game next Wednesday night. Ring 69-21 for information.

Exhibition Games.

At New Orleans, La.—

New York Americans 4 7 0.
New Orleans, Southern 2 5 1.
Batteries: Mays, Bush and Arthus, Benough, Thomas, Walker and Downe.

Los Angeles, March 18.—

Chicago Nationals 4 4 0
Los Angeles (Pacific) 6 11 1

Batteries: Alexander, Dumovich, Kaufman, Cheeves and Hartnett; Hughes, Jones, Hanna and Baldwin, Rego.

British Polo Team at Pinehurst.

Pinehurst, N. C., March 18.—Members of the British international indoor polo team arrived today to prepare for the opening of their outdoor season. The first game of a series of four matches against the Blue and Green teams of the Sandhill polo club will be played tomorrow.

Goldstein Elected Dartmouth Captain.

Hanover, N. H., March 18.—Allen V. Goldstein, of Philadelphia, was chosen captain of the 1924 Dartmouth basketball team after the game with Cornell at Ithaca last night. It was announced today. Goldstein has played regularly on the varsity five for two years and has twice won his letter in football. He is a junior.

Snodgrass Beats Johnston.

Los Angeles, March 18.—Harvey Snodgrass, of Los Angeles, today defeated William M. Johnston, of San Francisco, formerly national tennis champion, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, in the finals of the men's singles in an invitational tennis tournament here.

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

The record gate for a soccer game —$65,000—was established in 1921 at Tottenham.

With Percy Haughton coaching its gridders, Columbia is bound to be on the football map next fall.

Manager Mitchell of the Braves believes he has mighty fine pitching prospects among his young twirlers.

Cornell had 38 hockey and 60 basketball teams playing a regular schedule at Ithaca the past season.

Rumors of a pending sale of the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Boston Red Sox have been broadcasted several times of late.

Ken Williams already has his eye on the ball and his teammates predict a great season for the Browns' star slugger.

The Giants' new uniforms are the same as last season—gray or white with perpendicular stripes and "barber pole" stockings.

Pitcher Jim Edwards, who has been coaching Mississippi College for six weeks, has joined the Cleveland Indians at Lakeland, Fla.

That the Davis Cup competition has become the real world's tennis classic is shown by the record entry list for the big event.

During the coming summer New York boxing fans will have an opportunity to see virtually all the champions in contests in Gotham.

Eugene Corrie, the noted London boxing referee, picked Mike McTigue to defeat Battling Siki in the St. Patrick's Day bout in Dublin.

Both Willie Hoppe and Jake Schaefer started their brilliant billiard careers as boy wonders at the age of six, and both became champions.

The Yankees expect their new stadium, the largest baseball plant in the country, to be completed in time for their opening game with the Red Sox on April 18.

However, even if the $75,000 beauty's shoulder does not improve, it's likely that Riconda and Heinie Scheer will be retained by Mack as utility men in the infield.

Eddie Collins, star second baseman, announced recently he had come to terms with the White Sox. He will leave in a few days for the training camp at Sequin, Texas.

Instead of training out at a police station, the Brasscos will go through their setting up exercises at the new state armory at Waterbury, until the park is in condition.

The tournament for the open polo championship of the Southern states will be held March 24 to April 2 on the field of the Camden polo club, Camden, S. C.

Hank Lavallee, who was up with the .300 hitters last year, has a sore arm and hence has not been figuring, in the reports coming from the Yankee camp, by whom he was drafted.

Yale basketball, hockey, wrestling and swimming teams have all come through, so it will be up to the Eli baseball and football outfits to round out a banner year for sports at New Haven.

The reports from the Pacific coast training camp are to the effect that the Chicago Cubs are in excellent shape and at least two weeks ahead of the other big league teams in the way of condition.

Jack Blackburn figured that the California climate would help him to make a comeback, but climate ran second to Father Time and the veteran negro boxer had to admit that he was through with the game.

Waterbury is going to give two Springfield youngsters a chance. They are George King, a righthanded pitcher, and Bernard Trauschke, an infielder. Both have played with fast Springfield teams.

Strong opposing teams forced St. Paul to play at top speed to win the championship of the western division o fthe United States Amateur Hockey association, while in the eastern division the Boston A. A. teom had things all its own way.

Zeb Terry, infielder of the Chicago National League baseball club, who retired from the diamond to enter the real estate business in Los Angeles, has declined to rejoin the club despite tempting offers said to have been made by Manager William Killefer.

Jack Coombs, coach of the Williams baseball nine, is working daily in the cage with a selected squad of twenty-five men which he hopes to develop into one of the strongest nines which has represented the purple in recent years.

Jack Slattery, Fordham baseball coach, will not have the services of last season's colored second team pitcher, Brown, a lefthander, as Brown will not be eligible. There are now no promising left-handers on Slattery's squad of baseball pitchers in the cage.

Passaic High School's basketball team, holder of the world's record for consecutive victories has won the New Jersey state championship for the fourth time in as many years by defeating Asbury Park, 54 to 29, in a sensationally contested game.

It's rather a mystery why Paddy O'Connor didn't pick out the armory as a training place for the Hartford club instead of choosing the Taj Mahal on Market street. There's enough room for a couple of teams to practice in besides all the facilities necessary.

Ed Stauffer may be let out by the Cubs for further experience. Stauffer was drafted by the Chicago club. It's possible he may return to the Brown Derbies, as Bridgeport has a priority claim on him. Last year he won seventeen games and lost seventeen.

Harvard's football ticket committee is still striving to work out the problem of the seats for next year's Yale game at Cambridge. No policy as yet has been decided on, but the committee seems to have pretty much made up its mind to cut the allotment of the players and coaches and extend the list to which only one seat will be given.

R. C. Durant, California automobile manufacturer and sportsman, has nominated four Durant Specials for the eleventh annual 500-mile sweepstakes at Indianapolis which will be run on Memorial Day. The nomination of Durant's four cars brings the total entry to eight. Cliff Durant, as he is known to auto racing fans, owns more speed cars than any other American.

Norwich, for the past two seasons, has been given baseball under the name of the "Kaceys" and has lost heavily. Whisperings from the "Rose of New England" town have it that players must not ask for deposits in the Norwich Savings Institute if they would secure berths on the Norwich team, provided the management takes another forlorn chance—Hartford Courant.

Robert McAllister, New York's "Flying Cop" equalled the world's record of 7 1-5 seconds for 70 yards at the State Armory in Hartford, Saturday evening at the Kevin Barry club games while 2,000 odd people marvelled at the speed of the policeman-athlete.

TODAY'S SPORTS

Racing.

Meeting of Jefferson Parish Fair Assn. closes at New Orleans.
Meeting of Cuba-American Jockey club at Havana.
Meeting at Tijuana Jockey club at Tijuana.

Golf.

Southwestern championship tournament opens at Hot Springs, Ark.
Annual Tin Whistle championship tournament opens at Pinehurst.
Bellair amateur championship tournament opens at Bellair, Fla.

Handball.

National A. A. U. senior championship opens at St. Paul.

Basketball.

Michigan State championship tournament opens at Detroit.

Skating.

Metropolitan indoor championships, at New York.

Bowling.

Annual tournament of American Bowling Congress at Milwaukee.

Boxing.

Frankie Genaro vs. Harold Smith, 10 rounds, at Chicago.
Joe Lynch vs. Joe Burman, 10 rounds, at Chicago.
Pancho Villa vs. Young Montreal, 8 rounds, at Philadelphia.
Elinois Flores vs. Dan Rogers, 8 rounds, at Philadelphia.
Pepper Martin vs. Frankie Edwards, 12 rounds, at Brooklyn.

SIKI'S DEFEAT BRINGS JOY TO SOME, PLEASING TO MANY OTHERS

Paris, March 18.—(By The A. P.)—"Battling" Siki's defeat by Mike McTigue in Dublin Saturday night caused much rejoicing among the enemies of the Senegalese fighter in Paris, and was received with the keenest of disappointment by his admirers.

Shorn of all discussions as to whether or not the referee's decision was partial, sporting men in Paris today expressed the opinion that Siki, with the advantage of weight and reach, should have disposed of McTigue inside of the twenty-round limit.

The defeat of Siki, sporting men declared, will end the Siki boom which those followers of boxing in France assert, has been "smoked up" with an intensity totally unwarranted by the negro's fistic ability.

"Siki seems to have hit McTigue with everything but the water bottle in his corner," said the Lightweight Gaillard, who seconded Siki in his fight against Carpentier when the negro dethroned the French idol. "But he couldn't bring McTigue down," he added.

The general opinion here now seems to be that while Siki's victory over Carpentier was not a fluke. It was won over a man who is unable to stand much punishment and who must win his fight within the first three or four rounds of a battle. Siki is credited as having one redeeming feature by ring followers—his ability to take punishment.

A return battle between Carpentier and Siki, which has been advertised for September 14, is considered to have been greatly endangered by virtue of McTigue's defeat of the black man.

Why Not?

It was Memorial day. The whole village was out at the cemetery cleaning away a year's growth of briers and weeds and decorating the graves. One woman was busy pointing out to a stranger the places where different ones were buried. She seemed to be familiar with the whole graveyard. Her little boy was listening to every word. He finally inquired: "Mother, where is my little grave?"

One of World's Great Rivers.

The mouth of the Yenisei is only open for a few weeks in the year. One of the largest rivers in the world, the Yenisei, which flows into the Arctic sea at Yenisetsk, is in its lower reaches four or five miles wide.

O. K. Till Their Fuse Blew Out!

Their meeting was mutual. She being immediately attracted by his magnetic personality, while he was not repelled, for his lips soon made contact with hers, and the sparking grew intense. He proposed with lightning-like precision, then they were united. Their friends were electrified. Wasn't it shocking?—K. K. Loafbourrow in Detroit Free Press.

W. S. PAPPAS & CO.

Stock and Bond Brokers

28 Shetucket St., Norwich, Conn.

281 Washington Street, Boston
86 Weybosset Street, Providence, R. I.

ACCURATE EXECUTIONS ON NEW YORK AND BOSTON STOCKS NEW YORK AND BOSTON CURB

Private Wires, New York, Boston, Providence, Norwich
Our Suggestions for INVESTMENT and PROFIT broke all records for the last six months. Why not place your name on our list?

WESTERLY

A New London man was arrested in Westerly Saturday night, following reported robberies on Greenman avenue. He gave his name as Samuel Taylor and his address as Broad street, New London.

The police had been notified about 7.30 that the house of George Stillman on Greenman avenue had been entered. Sergeant Ferguson and Officer Champlin went to the Stillman house. At the junction of Main and Cross streets they saw a suspicious looking character walking up the street. As the lights of the automobile shone on him he turned his head from side to side. He was taken to the police station and was searched. About 150 pennies, an old dollar bill and a knife that had apparently been used in cutting the putty on window panes. He told very conflicting stories from beginning to end.

The officers summoned Chief Brown and he questioned Taylor. The officer became confident that Taylor knew more than he was telling. He was put in a cell and shortly after a telephone call from A. E. Ralston, manager of the Monroe Incorporated of Westerly, was received, stating that his house had been ransacked. An open-faced gold watch had been stolen and other small articles. Chief Brown and one of the other officers went to Ralston house and took with him the watch that they had found on the man. Mr. Ralston and his wife both identified the watch as belonging to Mr. Ralston.

Taylor, who was in the cell during the discussion about the watch, tore off the back of the watch and deposited it in the toilet. While this investigation was going on another report cam efrom the Foster farm on Beach street, stating that the maid employed had given notice to Mrs. E. E. Foster that her room had been broken into and $127 in bills was taken.

The police are of the opinion that this money might have been deposited with a portion of the watch and Monday the plumbing at the station will undergo an inspection in the hope that some of the money will be found.

As the Foster farm is the point farthest from the center of the town it is thought that the robber made his first attempt there and worked his way back into the town coming from the Foster place to Ralston's and thus to Ralston's place on Greenman avnue.

As there have been a series of Saturday night robberies it is thought with the apprehension of Taylor that the origin of some of the other breaks might be revealed. He will be arraigned in the Third district court Monday.

The Amherst combined musical clubs gave a very successful concert and musical program at the town hall on Broad street Saturday afternoon. The concert was given under the auspices of the Merrill Post, No. 16, American Legion. There was a very good attendance and the sum of $190 was realized. This will be used in fitting up their rooms on Broad street.

A play was given at the Immaculate Conception [illegible] night. The title was the Irish Alen. The program was given in the afternoon for the benefit of the old women of the convent. The program proved to be [illegible] and unusually impressive.

Miss Claire Keegan spent the week end in Carolina.

Isaac Smith has returned from business trips to Boston, Mass.

Irvine H. [illegible] spent the week end in Carolina.

[illegible] the Lawyers [illegible] New London Saturday.

The Noblest Classic.

The translation of the Bible is the remarkable and interesting event in the history of translations; it is an illustrious monument of the age, the nation, the language; it is, properly speaking, less a translation than an original, having most of the merit of the former as to style, and all the merit of the latter as to thought; it is the noblest, best, most finished classic of the English tongue.—T. S Grimke.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT

By DAVID CORY

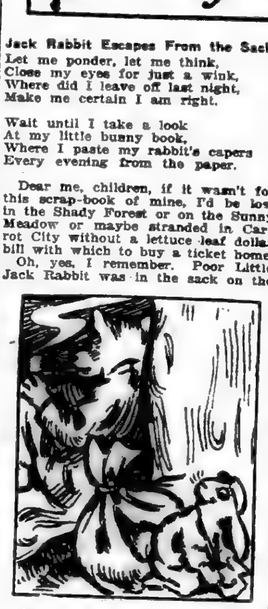
Jack Rabbit Escapes From the Sack.

Let me ponder, let me think,
Close my eyes for just a wink,
Where did I leave off last night,
Make me certain I am right.

Wait until I take a look
At my little bunny book,
Where I paste my rabbit's capers
Every evening from the paper.

Dear me, children, if it wasn't for this scrap-book of mine, I'd be lost in the Shady Forest or on the Sunny Meadow or maybe stranded in Carrot City without a lettuce leaf dollar bill with which to buy a ticket home.

Oh, yes, I remember. Poor Little Jack Rabbit was in the sack on the back of Mr. Wicked Wolf. Dear, dear me! To think that our dear little bunny boy is a prisoner! It makes me shiver for fear that we'll never get him out of that dreadful bag.



The voice from the tree-top whispered: "Wait——a——minute."

All atremble, the little rabbit opened his knife and made a slit in the bag. Oh, so qui—et—ly. Then, thrusting out his little head, he was just going to hop away when the little voice from the treetop whispered:

"Wait——a——minute."

"Oh, dear me!" thought the little rabbit. "I don't want to wait—I want to get away."

But he minded the little voice, and it was mighty well he did, for just then, Mr. Wicked Wolf stopped short and said, "Oh, dear me, I'm getting tired. I guess I'll sit down and rest on this old log," and down he sat. Then, letting the sack slip down from his back to the ground, he took his old corncob pipe out of his pocket, filled it with tobacco, and scratching a match on his furry trouser leg, started in to smoke.

"Now's your chance," whispered the little voice from the treetop.

Out jumped the little rabbit and he was just about to hop away, when, oh dear me, again the little voice from the treetop whispered:

"Wait——a——minute."

"Oh, oh, oh," thought the little bunny, "I don't want to wait. I want to get away," but he minded the little voice from the treetop.

"Pick up——that stone——and put it in——the sack——. Oh,——so——care——ful——ly."

Dear, dearest me! Here we are and your Uncle Dave can't find space in the paper to tell you what happened after that until tomorrow.

(Copyright 1923 by David Cory.)

MAIL-AD

FILL OUT AND MAIL TO

THE NORWICH BULLETIN

NORWICH, CONN.

10c a Line, Average 5 Words to a Line — Wants, To Let, For Sale, Etc.

Name..... Classification.....
R. F. D. or Street..... Number of Insertions.....
Post Office..... Am't Enclosed.....

Write complete ad below including name and address — Or if blind address is wanted mark X here ☐

16 Standard Favorite Songs

"The Rosary"
"Home Sweet Home"
"Dixie"
"Comin' Thro' the Rye"
"Silent Night, Holy Night"
"My Wild Irish Rose"
"Goodbye"
"I Hear You Calling Me"
"Silver Threads Among the Gold"
"Macushla"
"Schubert Serenade"
"Little Mother of Mine"
"Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming"
"Mighty Lak' a Rose"
"Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground"
"Love's Dream is O'er"

$2.98 For All

EIGHT DOUBLE-DISC Full Size 10-Inch Records

Here are the songs that never grow old—the favorites you remember as long as you live, ballads that touch every heart. Just the music that should be in EVERY HOME. Eight full size double disc records—16 wonderful oldtime songs, quality guaranteed to equal highest priced records. All for only $2.98. Can be played on any phonograph.

Send No Money. Don't send a penny now. Pay the postman only $2.98, plus postage, on arrival. Money back at once absolutely guaranteed if you are not more than pleased. Write postal or letter NOW.

KELLEY & COWLES, Inc.
98 PRATT ST., HARTFORD, CONN.
"HOME OF EVERYTHING MUSICAL"

for some food and a [illegible] man to drink. When [illegible] looked in the little old [illegible] found that she only had one bread and half a goblet of [illegible] she gladly gave to the man [illegible] she told him that was all she [illegible] threw off his coat and a [illegible] fairy appeared in his place.

"Oh!" cried Jack and his mother the same time.

"To thank you for your kindness" said the fairy, "I will give you a purse. The more you take out of it the more is in it. Jack thanked the fairy and she disappeared and [illegible] that time on Jack and Jack's mother lived happily to the end of their lives.

MINNIE LIFSCHITZ, Age 12
Uncasville.

My Dog Queenie

Dear Wide-Awakes: In reading the stories of the Wide-Awakes I noticed that several of the boys and girls have animals for pets, so I thought I would write and tell you about my dog.

Her name is Queenie. You will know from her name that she is a female dog. Queenie is a cross between a collie and a shepherd. She is all white and [illegible] and has a white line down the front of her face. The rest of her is brown and black.

She is very clever, too. She will shake hands and stand on her hind legs. She comes when we call [illegible] "Queenie."

I have [illegible] my dog and I hope [illegible] Wide-Awakes will write [illegible]

WOODS, Age 12
Parker.

From Europe to America

Dear Uncle Jed: We started from [illegible] 7th. We took a train to [illegible] Passage to Hamburg which took [illegible] hours. We were ill [illegible] We looked at [illegible] around the [illegible] from Hamburg [illegible] sail to England across [illegible] channel. It took [illegible] to reach Grimsby, England [illegible] to London. We stayed in London [illegible] days and saw all the [illegible] things. Then took a train to Southampton. From there [illegible] to America. We had a [illegible] voyage and [illegible] sick. But finally arrived safely in New York [illegible] were very glad to get to land [illegible] States again.

I go to [illegible] school and my teacher is Mr. [illegible] Lee.

I am in the [illegible] grade and hope to write you a [illegible] letter in the future.

MARY HEINIGE.
Gurleyville.

Thomas Hooker

Uncle Jed: Thomas Hooker was born in England (1586). After being graduated at Cambridge college, he took orders, preached in London and was chosen lecturer at Chelmsford in 1626. Having been silenced by Laud for non-conformity he established a grammar school and about 1630 went to Holland where he preached at Delft and Rotterdam.

In 1633 he came to New England and settled at what is now called Cambridge, Massachusetts, but being discontented led his congregation to Connecticut and founded Hartford.

He was a remarkable and able preacher of earnest zeal and he had been called the Luther of New England. It was his custom to preach without notes. Almost 200 of his sermons were sent to England where about half of them were published.

During the settlement of Wethersfield, Windsor and Hartford, four associates held a general court and later the [illegible] appointed delegates to take part with the magistrates in the councils of the court. At the opening of the session of this body May 1638, the Rev. Thomas Hooker preached a remarkable sermon in which he declared, "that the choice of public magistrates belong until the people by God's own allowance."

The death of the Rev. Thomas Hooker in the summer of 1647, was a severe blow to Connecticut.

SUSAN TEROY, Age 13.
Griswold.

The Life of George Washington

Dear Uncle Jed: George Washington was born February 22, 1732. He was born on a plantation in Virginia. His father was a planter and had many slaves. His mother's name was Mary Ball Washington, who was born in England. George's father died when George was 11 years old. George was a leader in his school. His companions chose him for a captain when playing war. When George was 15 years old his brother Lawrence died and left him his estate. When George was 16 he became a public surveyor and surveyed the governor's land. In October one of a military school. The French and Indians were bothering the settlers by making forts on their land. The English sent Braddock with a troop of soldiers. Washington tried to tell Braddock that Indians fought behind trees, but he would not listen. When Braddock was near the fords a volley made Braddock reel. Washington's coolness and bravery saved the army.

George married Martha Custis, a widow of an officer who had been killed. Washington became commander-in-chief of the American army. After the Revolutionary war was over he became the first president of the United States. He was reelected. After the term was over he died with pneumonia at Mount Vernon. Washington was six feet tall, weighed over 200 pounds.

AUGUST MILLER, Age 12.
Franklin.

Saw Strange Tracks

Dear Uncle Jed: My sister and I go down [illegible] swamp and scatter corn for the birds and bread for the rabbits. One morning we saw some tracks. They looked like big cat tracks. We never kind of animal made them. We have had big long chats. We [illegible] know what animal made it. [illegible] we heard afterward that a lynx had been seen in a place about three miles [illegible] here, and we wondered if it could have been that which made the tracks that we saw.

LOIS GILL, Age 10.
Jewett City.

Has Pet Dog

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about my pet dog. He is black brown and white. He runs after us where ever we go. He would follow me to school if I would let him.

One morning I started for school. When I looked around I saw that he was following me. I took him in my arms and took him home. I shut him in the house and went to school.

When I got home from school I went on the ice and he followed after me.

He slipped on the ice but he did not mind it. He likes to play just the same.

GRACE GRAY, Age 12.
Moosup.

Stamp Collecting

Dear Uncle Jed: I think stamp collecting is a very interesting and instructive hobby. I have about 2,300 stamps in my collection, some valuable, some common. I have them from nearly all parts of the world. There are many peculiar ones with [illegible] boats, men, women. I buy stamps from different stamp companies. The stamps are on sheets of paper called approval sheets.

DONALD BOYCE, Age [illegible]
Norwich.

STORIES WRITTEN BY WIDE-AWAKES

(Continued from Page Two)

took me. If I don't bring home any money, she whips me," answered Mary. The passenger had been very much interested when she had said her name was Mary for they had had a little girl called Mary and she had been [illegible] Mary, whom they had searched since she had been lost, so he said, "Mary, bring me to your home." "Oh!" said Mary, "She will beat me if I do."

Big the man took her by the hand. Anyway, she thought, if she does want to beat me, he will protect me, so she led the way. After a while the girl led the way into a dusty, little house. A woman was sitting by the table and she said, "Mary, and me that money that you [illegible] for?" but she stopped short for [illegible] looked up and saw the man. "What do you want here?" said she, "you haven't any business here." I have come to settle up [illegible] with you," said he. He began telling her the story of Long Lost Mary. The woman was angry when he had finished. "Well," said she at last, "I suppose she will have to go."

Mary and her father (as I shall call him) took the next train home.

JAMES HADDAD, Age 13.
Willimantic.

Lincoln's Home.

Dear Uncle Jed: Thomas Lincoln, Abe's father, built a log [illegible] without a floor [illegible] or wood was. They had the [illegible] furniture. A log, smoothed on [illegible] was used as a table; the [illegible] were made of pole [illegible] with [illegible] and resting on [illegible] sticks; the chairs were log blocks roughly hewn.

There was [illegible] bed, a very simple [illegible] was put [illegible] The cabin had been [illegible] there were [illegible] Abe's bed was at the [illegible] each [illegible] be climbed on a [illegible] of pegs driven into [illegible] and was made of straw covered with skins of wild animals.

MIRIAM TAYLOR, Age [illegible]
South [illegible]

Kindness Is Rewarded

Dear Uncle Jed: It has been a [illegible] time since I have written [illegible] have decided to write [illegible] Once upon a time [illegible] there lived a little boy, [illegible] his name was Jack. [illegible] was a poor [illegible] and he was [illegible] Jack's mother [illegible] a widow [illegible] and her husband [illegible] for her son [illegible] and he was [illegible] for her son [illegible] and [illegible] Jack was [illegible] and he was [illegible] and [illegible] Jack was [illegible] and [illegible] Jack [illegible] and [illegible] Jack [illegible] and [illegible] Jack

NORWICH BULLETIN and Courier

127 YEARS OLD

Printed every day in the year except Sunday, Independence period like a week; 156 a Sunday, 52-53 issues.

Entered at the Postoffice at Norwich, Conn., as second-class matter.

Telephone Calls:
Bulletin Business Office, 35
Bulletin Editorial Rooms, 35-2
Bulletin Job Room, 35-3

Willimantic Office, 21 Church St., Telephone 210

Norwich, Monday, March 19, 1923.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

All rights of republication of special dispatches herein are also reserved.

CIRCULATION

WEEK ENDING MARCH 17th, 1923

11,960

GOOD SIGNS.

While there has been serious hampering of fuel transportation that has not been the only commodity which has been seriously delayed in the past several months. Those who have had anything to do with the shipment of goods know that business has been badly handicapped by the inability to move supplies of one kind and another. In the glut of business that has been offered to the railroads, the aim has been to meet the fuel situation first and then move as much other freight as possible.

That the situation is improving is indicated by the announcement to the effect that the railroads of the east are prepared to lift such embargoes as it was necessary to establish. That means that improved weather conditions are lightening the burden and that they are otherwise better able to handle the business. The demand for coal is not over but the situation has changed greatly for the better.

The lifting of embargoes should mean a big step toward the movement of goods which have been side-tracked that necessities might be transported. With the railroads excited to handle the business of an ordinary summer and fall in a restricted period of less than half that time it was inevitable that there should be some business offered the roads that would have to suffer, especially when efforts to cripple the efficiency of the roads had been made at the same time that coal production was being held up.

It has been fortunate that the transportation situation has been no worse during the winter of 1922-23, but with the removal of the embargoes it will be some time before there will be a clearing up of the accumulated freight so that normal conditions will again prevail. Big loadings and heavy movements of freight will continue even under the improving conditions. It is one reflection of the prosperous conditions throughout the country and it is gratifying to know that the railroads are steadily getting the mastery of the struggle they have been engaged in for many months.

PROTECTION OF SAVINGS.

When foreigners who have amassed some wealth in this country and been encouraged to trust it to some of their own nationality for safe-keeping or to be sent to relatives back home find that they have been robbed of their earnings, it is by all means the time for impressing upon them the importance of placing their funds in trustworthy institutions, even though they may have no actual ties with the country from which they came.

Those who come to this country may have had banking experience in the old country. Probably more of them have not, although the advantages of it as permitted in this country are quickly appreciated. The unfortunate part of their eagerness to benefit lies in the fact that they are disposed to place too much trust in many instances in those who are unworthy of it. Instead of depositing their funds with an established bank they rely upon some agency or individual to do the right thing by them because he came from the same part of the world that they did.

While the banking of funds is to be heartily encouraged too much emphasis cannot be placed upon the importance of getting the protection and advantages of a strong and sound banking institution. Safety is quite as important as putting the funds at work, and protection of principal and interest is assured to a high degree when so placed.

In this connection it is not surprising that attention is being directed at this time to the opportunities which are offered in this respect by the postal savings system. With the government guarantee back of it the danger of loss is overcome. It ought not to require many instances where those who have been entrusted with funds have disappeared or lost them to turn others from such risks.

THE MER ROUGE DECISION.

That the authorities recognize that justice has not been done by the grand jury decision which found no bill against those charged with the deaths of two men at Mer Rouge, La., is shown by the statement of the attorney general that he will not permit the matter to drop but will endeavor to secure indictments from another jury.

Certainly conditions as revealed by the cases which have long been before the country are such that they ought not to be ignored. Just what plan the state proposes to follow in its further efforts are not revealed but apparently it must contend with the attitude which is being maintained toward lynch law conditions in that locality. If justice cannot be obtained from those who are in sympathy with a disregard for the law efforts should not rest there. It is in fact a test of the law in that community.

The horrible details connected with the slaying of the prisoners at Mer Rouge reveal a deplorable state of affairs. If those who countenance it are going to permit and encourage its continuance it means the breakdown of all authority and mob rule gets a positive foothold. There have been other instances where life has been taken in an equally lawless manner, where lives are snuffed out and men tortured to death without having been found guilty of the offense charged. The longer it is permitted to go unpunished the worse the situation becomes.

Whether the attorney general will be any more successful in another attempt is problematical. The progress made thus far doesn't indicate it. He must deal with the same locality for his jury, unless he can get it picked elsewhere, and to judge by the action of the grand jury that found no bill there is a preference for lawlessness over the support of the law. It is one of those cases which reflects seriously upon the whole country, and in the meanwhile the murderers go unpunished.

THE RESULT OF PROSPERITY.

Reductions have been made in certain federal taxes. Not as much is demanded by Uncle Sam as was once the case. The revenue from the income slumped as the result of the changes. This was to be expected, but there is an unmistakable reflection of the conditions that exist through the nation when it is indicated by the returns just filed that much larger payments have been made to the government in settlement of this tax than was the case a year ago at this time.

That of course speaks for itself. It means that the national income is larger and consequently a larger tax is being paid in spite of the fact that there have been revisions of the tax laws. Larger incomes and larger taxes give unmistakable evidence of the business conditions throughout the country. Conditions have been steadily growing better and there is no indication of any relaxation.

The removal or reduction of what was considered handicapping taxes encountered no little opposition. In fact not as great a reduction in connection with surtaxes was made as was advocated in certain circles, where the purpose was to remove the cause for investing such large sums in tax free securities. How much has come out of that class into the taxable list because of the modification there is no way of telling.

That it pays its part is not improbable. On the other hand with industrial activity at its best for some time the bigger business has undoubtedly served to fatten the treasury through larger production, larger sales and larger incomes. It is the answer to present day prosperity.

EXTENDING RECOGNITION.

While Senator Borah may continue to rant in his efforts to bring about the early recognition of Russia and Mexico, there is no doubt but what popular support will go to Secretary Hughes in the position which he has taken concerning these governments.

It is expected that this government will look after the property rights of its citizens in other countries. Inasmuch as that is the case, Secretary Hughes believes in getting some assurance of protection before extending recognition. He has maintained that there must be a guarantee against a confiscatory policy and that is prompted by our experiences. It is well known how faithful have been the promises which were made in order to get the benefit of recognition, and also how quickly they have been forgotten after recognition was extended.

This cannot be forgotten. It indicates a weakness that is going to continue as long as it is accepted. That Obregon has established a government that is functioning better than certain predecessors is not overlooked. Because of that, efforts have been made to bring about the agreement that will remove all obstacles to recognition, and promote more friendly relations.

Borah's plan is to continue to keep going ahead and taking chances in the hope that it will work out all right. He would keep following a bad and unwise policy, and would be the first to make a howl over conditions in case recognition was extended and old practices were resorted to. Sanity guides the course that Secretary Hughes is following.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

There is no evidence as yet that March is running a temperature.

Skirts are coming back long now simply because the last styles called for shorts.

It is useless to try to understand March. All there is to do is to make the best of it.

"Shot by 18 month Baby." This indicates a new and interesting plaything for the baby.

The man on the corner says: Those running pushmobiles have no fear of the high prices of gasoline.

Germany seems to be resorting to all conceivable methods of getting the French out of the Ruhr, except paying.

No complaint has been heard for a long time about the clouds of dust—not even with the March winds blowing.

Anthracite mines are said to be behind on their orders. Some of the consumers had gotten that impression also.

Now that Columbia is paying $15,000 for a football coach, how much larger will its endowment fund have to be made?

Now they are talking about putting a tax on radio outfits. That ought to cause some whistling and jamming of the air currents.

That submarine that smashed the concrete dock in Groton ought to have been employed a few weeks ago to break up the ice in the Thames.

The president of the New England coal dealers thinks the Massachusetts pure coal bill would cause trouble. Would it be any more troublesome than the fireproof coal it is intended to prevent?

The master of a liner says the rum fleet off the coast is a menace to navigation. Does that impose the same obligation upon the government to remove it that would be the case with a derelict?

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

A too hot iron will fade the material.

Kerosene will remove rust from scissors.

Cold tea will act as a fertilizer for house plants.

Choose a cool day for airing the pillows and bolsters.

Use cheesecloth for dusting. It will absorb the dirt and is readily washed out.

Irons can be kept smooth by washing them in strong soapsuds and carefully drying them. Always keep your irons in a box, where they will always be dry.

Perspiration stains may be removed from white clothes by dampening the article with lemon juice and salt before the clothes are put into soap and water.

After thoroughly sweeping and cleaning the rugs or carpets wipe them with a cloth wrung out of diluted ammonia. This will brighten the most faded floor covering.

The shabby appearance of the old umbrella may be greatly diminished by sponging with a cold solution of strong tea. The color will be revived wonderfully.

Tiny paper flower baskets filled with needles, thread, tape, etc., are just the thing to keep in a guest room.

If cold-storage eggs are opened the night before, they will have lost their odor of mustiness.

If windows are washed with warm water, a little ammonia should be added. You will have very little labor and most satisfactory results.

The paper from bolts of ribbon is just the thing for placing under organdie, crepe and other soft materials when sewing it, so there will not be puckering. Keep in the machine drawer where it will be handy.

Crisp lettuce, sliced cucumbers, tomatoes and onions, and bacon minced, with mayonnaise and spread between slices of hot buttered toast fill the important role on a sandwich luncheon.

When soap comes from the store remove the wrappers that it may dry out and not waste so badly when used.

SHELVES.

Open shelves in your kitchen and pantry may have a quaint look, but they are less desirable than the closed sort, because they do not keep out the dust. Dishes that are not used every day have to be washed afresh when they are kept on open shelves. Of course, there is the advantage that open shelves are less expensive than those with glass doors, and this is something to consider now that building costs are still so high.

As a substitute for the glass door on an open shelf, a curtain of unbleached muslin or some other closely woven cotton fabric is a good idea. This might hang by means of rod rings from the curtain rods so that it can be easily drawn back and forth. Bear in mind that it should be washed fairly often. The rod rings for that reason are not so desirable, for they are difficult to put through the wash. You might then put the curtain in a slot hem right over the rod or you might hang it by means of small curtain pins attached to the rod rings.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Rub fresh lemon thoroughly into a sponge that has soured and rinse it in several waters (lukewarm). It will become as sweet as when new.

Hard foods are a necessary part of a hygienic diet. The teeth need exercise, it must be remembered. Therefore, one way of keeping teeth in good condition is to eat hard foods, such as breadcrusts, toast, hard fruits, nuts and fiberous vegetables. Hard food causes the saliva and gastric juices to flow. If in addition to being hard the food is dry, the greater the flow of the saliva and gastric juice.

If you feel that you would like to use soap and water on the complexion, and most people do feel that way, a fine grade soap made from olive oil, such as the best quality castile, will be soothing and cleansing to a skin that will feel drawn and parched after the use of almost any other kind of soap.

The best way to beautify the feet is to rest them. If you cannot follow out my plan of the other day try wearing felt house slippers when ever possible, indoors and even out. The toes and toenails should meantime be given scrupulous care, and in this way the feet are left perfectly free most of the time. Sometimes old, ugly nails will drop off and a better looking nail will be found growing underneath, which if allowed to grow without pressure, will mature perfect in shape.

TO CARE FOR RIBBONS.

Ribbons play such an important part in the modes of the day that it is well to keep in mind the fact that ribbons if properly cared for can be kept in good condition for a long time. Many ribbons of good quality may be washed in pure soap and water and freshened up to look like new. Hat ribbons should be brushed and kept free from dust; bandeaux, girdles and sashes that get mussed in the wearing should be pressed often. Where a snap or hook and eye may be utilized instead of tying the ribbon each time, it is wise to use the snaps and hooks. Lingerie ribbon trimmings and many dress trimmings may be attached to a small safety pin, hidden beneath the bow or flower. Where ribbon must be drawn through lace or hems, it should be removed before washing. A good way to save time and energy is by attaching a tape to one end of the ribbon before it is withdrawn, putting the tape through as the ribbon is pulled out. After the laundering the ribbon should be attached to one end of the tape and drawn through as the tape is drawn out.

A PRETTY BEDSPREAD.

A bedspread is made of unbleached cotton with a four-inch border of colored crepe put on straight on the outer edge and scalloped on the inner. The only other trimming is a center motif of colored crepe appliqued on in the form of a basket. This is then "filled" with simple flower designs of several colors. Blue or pink crepe bordering a spread should match the color scheme in the room to be most effective.

FOR THE POCKET.

Pockets have taken unto themselves a new quirk. These exceedingly popular adjuncts are seen today in every shape and depth and now they are ornamented with a long, dangling tassel with a bit of jade or amber or bead work on it much like a seal on a watch fob.

DICTATES OF FASHION.

Pleated berthas with inch-wide borders of Paisley are used to trim black frocks.

Headdresses for evening wear have taken the form of fitting across the head instead of around the forehead.

Evening wraps are beaded.

White evening gowns sometimes have shoulder straps and narrow girdles of black.

Diminutive silk handkerchiefs are worn tied at the wrist.

Hats in beige color, turned up at the back and trimmed in wing feathers are making their appearance.

The small cloche of black satin, trimmed at either side with orange blossoms, is in favor.

Blue twill, with sleeve facings of henna, also pipings of the same color, are being shown in exclusive shops.

A pale yellow dinner frock had for its only ornament an iridescent butterfly perched on the left shoulder.

Heavy Egyptian headdresses of cut steel are in evidence.

Lace frocks in neutral color tones are being draped over foundations in high colorings.

Small shoulder shawls, the exact copies of the larger Spanish shawls, especially in white with colorful embroideries, are in vogue.

Cloth coats widely banded in fur around the neck and down one side are being worn.

The full skirted effect continues to vie with the draped dress.

For evening, the front drape stressed by Paris is noticed more and more.

White crepe with printed designs in black filet is much in evidence at Palm Beach.

Bright silver cloth is combined with heavy satin or velvet in a jade green.

Jacquettes in multicolored embroidery, suggesting stained glass windows, are finding favor.

RIBBON HATS.

One of the best looking hats introduced this spring is trimmed with a wide shaded moire ribbon in the popular Mountain Mist color. This ribbon is shirred five times at the lower front edge, placed around the crown to stand up and flare backward and is caught at the back of the crown with a snap. The ribbon trimmed hat is the leader of the season.

Ribbons of every kind, in every width and shade, vie with each other for fashionable approval. Big tailored bows, crushed bows, cockades, cabochons, ribbon flowers and foliage, ribbon swirls, anything in ribbon, are first choice in trimming for the coming season. Many hats depend entirely on ribbon for trimming. Others have artistic ornaments, flowers or lace in combination, but the preference seems to be given to bows, which appear in front—in back—on one or both sides.

GOOD COOKING TIPS.

Dust the pans in which little cakes are to be baked with flour instead of greasing with butter.

Blueberry pies need a little salt in the berries to give them savor. A dash of black pepper also helps.

Pour boiling water over hardshell clams. After standing in it a few minutes the shell will open easily.

Rub the inside of a chicken with lemon when preparing it. This whitens the flesh and makes it tender.

Two teaspoons each of malted milk and instantaneous chocolate make an excellent drink with boiling water.

Fish will not be greasy or sodden if the fat in which it is fried is almost boiling hot when the fish is put in.

Into ramekins put a little cooked spinach. Break an egg in each, dust with salt, pepper and cheese and stir.

Toast sticks are novel to serve with bouillon. Cut a loaf of bread into quarter-inch slices, brush with melted butter, cut into quarter-inch strips and brown.

Add one pound of diced cheese to a can of heated tomato soup; when cheese is melted, stir in one egg slightly beaten; add red pepper and serve on toast.

Shape mashed potatoes into pears with cloves for stems; roll in beaten egg, brown in the oven, and serve on lettuce.

SOME NEW THINGS FOR BABY.

Carriage robes of soft, wooly eiderdown, bound in a five-inch satin ribbon, are quite the thing for the layette. The ribbon may either be applied flat with the corners mitered or this ribbon can be shirred and placed flat on the sides, top and bottom, and gathered within four inches of each corner.

A carriage strap, which makes a most acceptable gift, is one that is made of two lengths of half-inch rubber, both covered with the ribbon gathered over it. These two covered pieces are caught at either end with an attractive bow, from which are suspended on short lengths of ribbon, two or three playthings.

Baby slippers are made by taking a one and one-half inch ribbon and whipping it to the fine little padded soles, shirring sufficiently in the front to allow for foot comfort. Straps may be attached to the back or across over the instep and snapped on in the front to hold them.

Narrow baby ribbon crocheted with the same instructions which one follows for other crochet, makes beautiful and soft silky baby caps. Tiny bows of varying sizes of dainty ribbon flowers, sewed on to safety pins, to be attached and detached at will, are growing more and more popular. These beauty pins may be used for the shoulders or the back of the little baby dress, or to keep the little house coats snugly fastened.

Bows, about three inches wide, attached to larger safety pins, are particularly utilitarian as the decoration for fresh pillow covers each day. The larger bows of eight and ten loops of wide satin ribbon attached to blanket pins, make possible the use of one bow for many blankets.

A cunning baby bonnet may be made by taking a length of ribbon, eight inches wide, and shaping it to fit the baby's head, with a circular piece in the back to which the ribbon is gathered.

CONCERNING WOMEN.

Miss Millicent Woodward, England's champion typist, probably owns the most valuable hands of any girl in Great Britain, she having recently insured them against injury for $25,000.

The Bath Club, one of the most exclusive in London, now admits women to its membership and already more than 400 feminine members have been enrolled.

Miss Minnie MacFarland is one of the pioneer women employes of the Reading Railway Company, she having been connected with the railroad for the past 33 years.

Charles University, in Prague, the oldest in the world, recently granted its first doctor's degree to a woman—Andela Kozakova being the proud possessor of the honor.

Mrs. Arthur Davenport, elected mayor of Ranson, W. Va., refused to qualify for the office because "the duties of the mayor of a small town require too much time."

HANGING A PICTURE.

All pictures in frames have a best place to hang or set, as in the case

GAY BATHING CAPS.

There is a delicious type of bathing cap which is very new this season. It is of flowered silk, made up of unpressed in small flowery patterns. A suit of black with huge yellow blossoms had a black bathing cap which one of those blossoms, cut out and appliqued, almost covered.

RECIPES.

Lemon Raisin Pies—Take three good-sized lemons and boil until soft. Put the juice in a dish, picking out the seeds, and chop the peel very fine. Seed and chop one cup of raisins and mix all together with one and one-half cups of molasses. Stir well and add a little flour and water. Do not hurry the baking, or the contents will run out. This makes two pies. Bake with two crusts.

Minced Meat, Sauce or Gravy—For this use either chopped beef, lamb or veal. Heat in the frying pan. Brown a thinly sliced half onion in one tablespoon of beef or bacon drippings and one tablespoon of butter. Put the meat into this, turn with a fork until cooked, season and serve. Have ready a cup of tomato sauce or thick gravy and pour this in with the meat before you take it from the pan. If liked, you could make the chopped meat into cakes and roll them in flour before putting them into the fat. Cook until brown.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Reply to Mr. Troland.

Mr. Editor: In answer to Mr. Troland I wish to say that I believe he makes the great mistake of many others, when he does not recognize that the prophesy he mentions in Joel 2:28, is not yet fulfilled. And will not be fulfilled until after the time of trouble; and the kingdom is set up (our Lord's kingdom). I am sure Mr. Troland cannot say that the Spirit of the Lord is yet poured out upon all flesh, or that all as yet know the Lord, and if he reads this chapter again he will see that this prophesy is "afterward" as it plainly states. As also are all the texts on Free Grace; they are all meant for the millennium, and not for this time. This is just the trouble with most people, they have not done as advised in 2 Tim. 2:15. The new covenant has not yet gone into effect, God will pour out His Spirit upon all flesh when this new covenant does come into effect.

There are three covenants represented in (as types), Sarah Hagar, and Keturah, Gal. 4: 22-31, Gen. 25:1. And the whole subject becomes transparent when we see that the Abrahamic covenant (which needed no mediator) because it was God's unconditional promise, confirmed by His word, is the full broad statement of the divine plan, and that as the law covenant was added, to illustrate the inability of sinners to help themselves, and to manifest Christ Jesus as the Seed of promise. So the new covenant is added to the Abrahamic covenant, also not to hinder the blessing of every creature; but to make that blessing of knowledge and the millennial kingdom opportunities more effective; even unto everlasting life to those approved under it.

Requirements of the new covenant, are, faith, love, obedience and reformation to the extent of our ability. The church has many precious promises if faithful. The world also has wonderful promises, but they are distinctly different. And so few realize it, or see it, because they have mixed it all up. Church and world promises are not the same, therefore do not mix up well.

M. B. M.

Norwich Town, MMarch 14, 1923.

Urges New Building For Sheltering Arms.

Mr. Editor: While drives are becoming popular and much good has resulted from them, especially the Salvation Army drive, why not make one in the interest of the Sheltering Arms, if the money that has been left it is not sufficient? The excuse for not building the home during the war was accepted by all because there was given a good sensible reason but now that the war has been over for five years why cannot something be begun towards building the home that the inmates are entitled to? Perhaps if a fire should break out in the old home and some were burned to death something would be done towards building a new home. In case of fire it would be impossible for the nurses to take all the inmates to safety before the firemen reached them, especially since most, if not all the ladies are aged and would be unable to help themselves. Why not start very soon towards building them the home that would be to them like a paradise compared with the old building that they now call their home?

F. W.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Hon. George P. Graham, who is expected to become minister of railways of Canada when changes believed to be impending in the Dominion cabinet come about, held the same responsible post more than a decade ago under the Laurier government. His career in provincial and federal politics and public affairs has been a long and varied one. A native of eastern Ontario, the son of a pioneer Methodist minister, he began life as a school teacher, but soon abandoned that to become a clerk in a general store. This in turn he gave up at the age of 18 to enter newspaper work. In his new field he labored with distinction for many years as editor of several of the leading newspapers in Ontario. In public life he first attracted attention as a member of the Ontario legislature, of which body he eventually became leader of the opposition. In 1907 he was sworn in as a member of the privy council of Canada, became a member of the dominion house of commons in the same year, and took his seat in the cabinet a few months later.

THE PILL HOLD-UP

THIS usually happened and it was worth telling.

The drug clerk was just about to close up. It was pouring rain. The last pedestrian to rub his nose against the plate glass window, was far down the avenue when the clerk pulled off the electric lights and turned the lock. Then it all happened.

A man walked up to the door. "Say, man, I want a box of Beecham's Pills. Simply must have them!" he exclaimed. "Store's closed for the day," remarked the clerk as he pocketed the key. "Like-thunder it is!" shouted the late comer, "I've got to have a box of Beecham's Pills tonight." The altercation grew heated. There was an exchange of blows.

Then the clerk took off his broken glasses, unlocked the door and handed out a 50 cent box of Beecham's Pills.

Did you beat it?

Beecham's Pills are so pleasantly effective in making sick stomachs well, sluggish livers active, and lazy bowels to function as they should, that Beecham's steadfast friends and supporters sometimes overflow with strenuous enthusiasm.

At All Druggists—25c and 50c

Today's Anniversaries

1748—Elias Hicks, founder of the Hicksite branch of the Society of Friends, born at Hempstead, N. Y. Died at Jericho, N. Y., Feb. 27, 1830.

1858—British under Sir Colin Campbell relieved Lucknow after several desperate assaults.

1865—The Confederates under Gen. Joseph E. Johnston attacked a part of Sherman's army at Bentonville, N. C.

1873—The Illinois legislature passed a bill attaching severe penalties to intimidation used by strikers.

1877—First Turkish parliament opened in Constantinople.

1891—The Keystone National Bank of Philadelphia closed its doors on account of the defalcation of its president.

1900—John A. Bingham, former congressman and U. S. minister to Japan, died at Cadiz, O. Born at Mercer, Pa., in 1815.

1919—Fifty democratic members of the Missouri legislature asked U. S. Senator Reed to resign because of his attack on the League of Nations.

1922—Stefansson, the Arctic explorer announced he has set up the British flag on Wrangell Island.

1922—At Los Angeles, jury in the case of Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain, accused of murder, was unable to agree.

Today's Birthdays

Duke of Westminster, one of the wealthiest members of the British peerage, born 44 years ago today.

Sir Lomer Gouin, minister of justice in the Dominion cabinet, born at St. Grondines, Que., 62 years ago today.

William J. Bryan, three times of the nominee of the democratic party for president of the United States, born at Salem, Ill., 63 years ago today.

Moorfield Storey, eminent Boston lawyer and jurist, born at Roxbury, Mass., 78 years ago today.

Alice French ("Octave Thanet"), celebrated author, born at Andover, Mass., 73 years ago today.

Stories That Recall Others

The Third Class.

It was an old fashioned physiology the class was studying. The thingular teacher had just said there were two classes of skeletons—an endo-skeleton and exo-skeleton. An exo-skeleton is where the skeleton is on the outside of the skin like a turtle," she said, "and an endo-skeleton is when the skeleton is on the inside of the skin, like mine."

A little hand went up. "What do you call them, teacher when there's some meat between the skeleton and the skin?" the little voice piped.

No Restriction.

It was a wintry day and Geneva, age three, and her aunt had driven to the store. The little girl was picked up by a clerk and placed in a chair by the stove, and her aunt began loosening the many wrappings of the child.

"You can unbutton my coat, my dress isn't dirty."

The Canine's Palace

Los Angeles is to have a $50,000 hotel for dogs. A room for the night will probably cost two "bones," to speak in the language of the day.—Providence Journal.

When a woman gives her reason a man might as well cease to argue.

GET NEW STRENGTH FOR SUMMER HEAT

YOU need perfect health and bodily vigor to carry you through the long summer that is just at hand.

If you are thin and run down, easily tired, nervous and sleepless, you need the new strength and vigor which Gude's Pepto-Mangan has given to so many thousands of people. It will help wonderfully to create the buoyant, radiant energy and animation you need for the summer months.

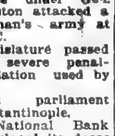
Your druggist has Gude's Pepto-Mangan in both liquid and tablet form.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan
Tonic and Blood Enricher

Escape Pile Torture! MUNYON'S PILE OINTMENT Gives the handy, comfortable applicator

For Colds, Influenza and as a Preventive

Take



Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets

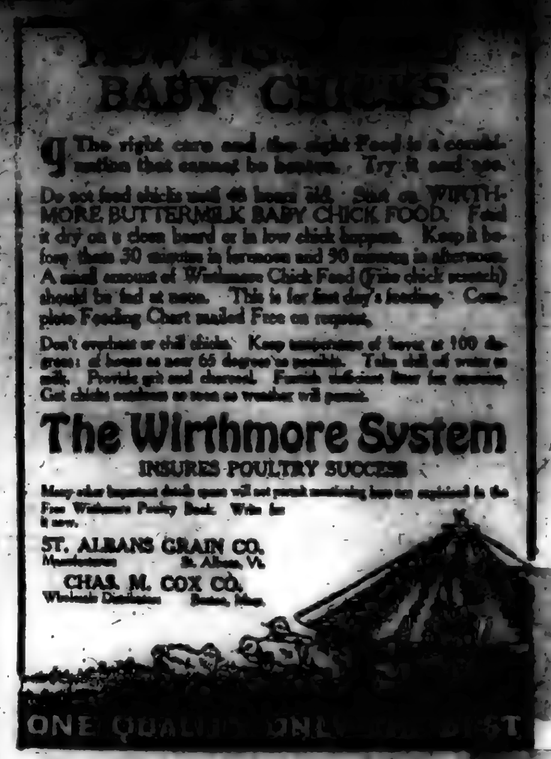
The First and Original Cold and Grip Tablet

The box bears this signature E. W. Grove

COOKS On All Subjects All Kinds

Subscription to all American and European Publications.

SHEA'S NEWS BUREAU
UNION SQUARE



BABY CHICKS
The right care and the right food is a combination that cannot be beaten. Try it and see.
Do not feed chicks until 48 hours old. Start on WIRTHMORE BUTTERMILK BABY CHICK FOOD. Feed it dry on a clean board or in low chick hoppers. Keep it before them 30 minutes in forenoon and 30 minutes in afternoon. A small amount of Wirthmore Chick Feed (Fine chick scratch) should be fed at noon. This is for first day's feeding. Complete Feeding Chart mailed Free on request.
Don't overheat or chill chicks. Keep temperature of brood at 100 degrees at floor as near 65 degrees as possible. Take chill off water or milk. Provide grit and charcoal. Furnish sufficient floor for exercise. Get chicks outdoors as soon as weather will permit.
The Wirthmore System
INSURES POULTRY SUCCESS
Many other important details space will not permit mentioning here are explained in the Free Wirthmore Poultry Book. Write for it now.
ST. ALBANS GRAIN CO.
Manufacturers St. Albans, Vt.
CHAS. M. COX CO.
Wholesale Distributors Boston, Mass.
ONE QUALITY ONLY—THE BEST

WE SELL AND RECOMMEND

WIRTHMORE FEEDS

TO MAKE HENS LAY, WEIGH AND PAY

YANTIC GRAIN & PRODUCTS CO..... Norwich
YANTIC GRAIN & PRODUCTS CO..... Yantic
BALTIC GRAIN & COAL CO..... Baltic
GREENEVILLE GRAIN CO..... Greeneville
MOOSUP GRAIN CO..... Moosup

We Sell and Recommend Wirthmore Poultry Feeds
One quality only—the best.
D. T. PHILLIPS
Phone 648-2 HAMPTON, CONN.

BOLL WEEVILS WERE KILLED BY BLIZZARD

Washington, March 18.—The February blizzard which overspread most of the cotton belt is believed to have killed off a large proportion of boll weevils which had gone into winter retirement, and it is the opinion of the government entomologists that during the initial period of production this year the cotton planters will have a good chance of a bottom crop.

It was pointed out, however, by the department of agriculture, in a statement today that should weather conditions during the coming season be unusually favorable for weevil multiplications, abnormally heavy damage might occur.

Doctors Say Colds Come From Germs

KILL THE GERMS WITH VAPOR-EZE

The way to get rid of a cold is to first get rid of the germs that causes it, by using Sterling's Vapor-Eze. Simply rub it on the throat and chest at bed time. Then, as you sleep, the healing, germ-destroying antiseptic vapor enters every air passage and penetrates right down to where the cold is lodged, killing the germ and breaking up the cold.

Sterling's Vapor-Eze is the quickest and safest relief for bad colds in head or chest, because it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and breaks up the congestion at the same time that it destroys the germ which causes the cold.

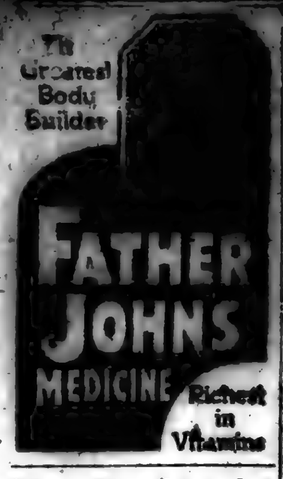
Sterling's Vapor-Eze is absolutely harmless. Do not stay stuffed up and miserable when relief is certain. Be sure to get the genuine Sterling's Vapor-Eze from your druggist. A 35 cent jar will do the trick. Look for the name "Sterling's."

The Chelsea Savings Bank

Franklin Square, Norwich, Conn.

On January 16, 1923, the State Examiners, represented by Messrs. Nielson, Prescott and Neil, examined this bank and found that the

Total Resources at that time amounted to	$11,867,410.76
Deposits amounted to	10,828,061.42
The Surplus and Profit and Loss Account, as per the books was	776,867.81
The interest account for payment of dividend which would be due March 1	258,991.40
Market value of securities over Book Value was	179,953.95
On March 1, after giving effect to the Extra Dividend of ¼ of 1%, and the Regular Dividend at the rate of 2% Deposits amounted to	11,239,731.06
Surplus or Guarantee Fund	821,296.80
Surplus or Guarantee Fund at Market Values was	1,023,693.00



Have You Seen the Latest Member of the Kodak Family?

No. 2C KODAK SPECIAL

A Kodak with many very decided improvements.

Now on exhibition and inviting your inspection at

CRANSTON'S

STONINGTON

The rain and wind storm of Friday played havoc here. The large smokestack at the shipyard, about 100 feet high and 28 feet in diameter, was torn from its base and blown over to the ground. This occurred during the afternoon. The huge chimney rested parallel with Gold street after it fell. This stack was erected during the war. A large telegraph pole blew down and rested across Gold street. Large limbs were blown from trees and heavy sticks of timber were blown from the lot of Edmund Hyde, where he is preparing to erect a new house on Elm street. Several barns were reported to have been blown down in the farming districts. Trolleys were off their regular schedule during the day and evening.

Friday evening at Borough hall members of Nina council, K. of C., and Daughters of Isabella presented an Irish play in a most excellent manner.

Everett James of Temple street returned home from a hospital in New London Friday.

Clifford and Oscar James, who have been employed at the Atwood Machine company, have severed their connection with them and have secured employment at Ashaway.

Mrs. Benjamin Cutler of Elm street, who has been a patient at a hospital at New London, has returned home.

Frank F. Dodge has returned from New York, where he was operated upon for the removal of his tonsils.

Oliver Chesebro of Elm street has returned from a trip to New York.

There will be no meeting of the Travel club on March 30th. On the 27th at 4 o'clock Mrs. Samuel H. Davis of Westerly is to address the club, her subject being Abigail Adams.

The summer home of Dr. C. Mallory Williams on Water street is being redecorated.

The Comfort club of Calvary Episcopal church will meet with Mrs. Mary Teed and Mrs. John F. Wilkins this (Monday) evening.

Dennis Gildea of Westerly, who has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Charles Kelley, has returned home.

On Sunday morning the First Baptist church service was conducted by Rev. Samuel H. Davis of Westerly owing to the illness of the pastor, Rev. Henry M. Thompson. At the evening service Rev. Dwight C. Stone presided and the cantata The Message Eternal was repeated.

DAMASCUS STEEL PRODUCTS

Hack Saw Blades that don't break. Butcher Knives that a hammer won't break; sharpen with a file.

STEAK KNIVES
COLD CHISELS
PINCERS, PLIERS, ETC.

THE HOUSEHOLD
BULLETIN BUILDING
74 FRANKLIN STREET
TELEPHONE 531-4

Copyright 1926 The Picture Advertisers, Box 17 Oregon City, Oregon

Need a Plumber?
Tel. 217
J. J. BARSTOW & CO.
22 Water Street

GLASS — PUTTY — PAINT
Hardware — Tools — Cutlery
Examine our line of Aluminum Ware
THE HOUSEHOLD
Bulletin Building, 74 Franklin Street

Norwich, Monday, March 19, 1923.

VARIOUS MATTERS

Light vehicle lamps at 6.37 o'clock tonight.

Rev. R. S. Burbet of China occupied the pulpit at the Central Baptist church Sunday morning.

A library is to be established at the Middlesex hospital for the patients and friends of the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. George D. MacDonald of New London left there Saturday for Lebanon, where they will reside in the future.

Rev. Gordon R. Bailey of Norwich Town is to be the speaker at the March meeting of the Brotherhood of the United Congregational church.

Bridge score pads, the latest, Franklin Press, Chestnut street.—adv.

The annual meeting of the Norwich Auxiliary of the McCall Mission is to be held this week with Mrs. W. Tyler Brown of Broadway.

A dinner complimentary to the New London people wintering at St. Petersburg, Fla., was given Saturday evening at the Yacht club at St. Petersburg.

Rev. Ralph George of Yale Divinity school conducted both morning and evening services at the Broad Street Christian church, Westerly, Sunday.

Mrs. Herbert Lawrence and Mrs. Gerard Ranger had charge of the children during the morning service Sunday at the United Congregational church.

New incorporations include Schuly and Ingram, New Haven, electrical supplies, $25,000; to begin with $5,000; Otto H. Schuly, Charles C. Ingram and Frederick H. Palmer.

Vital statistics reported at the office of the town clerk in Terryville for record during the month of February show a total of ten births, three marriages and two deaths.

Junior Week at the Connecticut Agricultural College will be from May 14 to 19. Baseball games, a banquet, tea dances and the junior prom will make up the program.

Knights of Columbus regular meeting Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. First degree, smoker.—adv.

A certificate of incorporation has been filed by the Tuftehad Corp., Milford, novelties, $50,000 capital; to begin with $5,200; Clarence H. Jones, Ethel M. Boynton, Florence V. Sage.

The U. S. civil service commission announces an open competitive examination for assistant in fisheries investigations, bureau of fisheries, on April 4. Entrance salary is $1200-$1400.

Articles of association for the formation of the Ella Wheeler Wilcox Memorial association, Inc., at Branford have been filed with the secretary of the state by a group of citizens of that place.

The first postage stamp ever issued by the government bearing the portrait of Grover Cleveland, president of the United States from 1885 to 1889, and from 1893 to 1897, will be on sale Tuesday.

Three hours of demoralized trolley service, washed-out roads, and crippled electric light service along the Pleasant valley road in Groton, due to a fallen high tension wire, were among the effects of the recent storm.

Rev. Dr. William Horace Day of the United Congregational church of Bridgeport will be the speaker at the forty-fifth annual meeting of the Connecticut Congregational Club to be held at Hartford Tuesday.

Plans for eliminating the quarry hole in Groton regarded as a death trap, where two weeks ago two children 5 years of age met death by drowning, are to be taken by the board of warden and burgesses of that place.

Anthony J. Loiacono of New London has been elected an associate member of the society of the Sigma Xi in Brown university, according to announcement made by Secretary R. F. Borden of the Brown chapter. Loiacono is a senior at Brown.

The eleventh annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to be held in New York, May 7 to 10, will be devoted for the most part to discussion of the transportation problems of the United States, and to the affairs of Europe.

Among the patrons and patronesses for the presentation of The Sun Temple by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Dramatic club will be Governor Charles A. Templeton and Mrs. Templeton; former Governor Everett J. Lake and Mrs. Lake.

Due to "racial differences," teachers trained in normal schools of Connecticut are being rejected by the school authorities of some towns of the state, it was disclosed by Secretary of Education Albert B. Meredith at a hearing before the appropriations committee.

At the office of the Thames River Line, Inc., it was stated Saturday that the Cape Cod was still aground at Orient Point and that, according to the latest word received, the boat was being left at the place where she ran aground until the insurance adjusters could arrive on the spot.

Financial authorities in New York and New Haven predict that the report of the "New Haven" road to be made public at the coming annual meeting, April 18, will show that the trolley lines made gains in 1922 over figures of 1921, net income being $3,071,464, against $1,196,596.

Despite the fact that all income tax returns were supposed to have been filed by midnight Thursday, thousands upon thousands of payments were received by mail Friday at the internal revenue office in Hartford. All bearing a "March 15" postmark were accepted as on time.

BRIEF STATE NEWS

Hartford—The candidacy of Alderman Hollis S. Candee for renomination as the republican candidate for alderman in the Eighth ward was unanimously endorsed at a meeting of the republican committee of the South section at the Republican club.

Hamden—The condition of Harold Dorman, five, brother of Burton Dorman, three, of West Shepard avenue, who died as the result of an attack of spotted fever, is now reported to show signs of improvement in his condition and hope is held out for his recovery.

Wallingford — The Wallingford Hose company held its annual banquet at the "Pines." The members of the court of burgesses were in attendance and other guests were Frank A. Wallace, Floyd Wallace, Clifford W. Leavenworth, Charles D. Morris and John W. Leavenworth.

Shelton—Many friends and acquaintances gathered to pay tribute to James E. Fair, deputy county sheriff, whose very sudden death occurred Sunday. The services were held from his late home and delegations were present from the Huntington Fire company and Farmill River grange and Patrons of Husbandry.

PERSONALS

Rollo N. Miller of 11 Church street is able to be out after a month's illness.

Miss Milliard, librarian of New London visited with friends in this city Friday.

Irving S. Whitney of New London visited with friends in town Friday evening.

Reginald J. Young of Tryonville was the guest of Marshall Shields over the week end.

Mrs. Jessie Wilson of 15 Otis street has been seriously ill at her home for the past two weeks.

James A. Whitney of Boston was the week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hussey Reed of Gardner's court.

OBITUARY.

James Conway.

After being in poor health for some time Jamies Conway died Friday at his home at 159 Cliff street.

Mr. Conway was the son of John and Mary Conway and spent the greater part of his life in Norwich. For many years he was a gatekeeper and later went into business for himself on Franklin street, retiring about a year ago.

